" He was a Man of Great Parts, and very Exemplary Vertues, allayed and discredited by some " Unpopular, Natural Infirmities; the greatest " of which was (besides a hasty sharp way of " expressing himself) that he believed Innocence of " Heart, and Integrity of Manners, was a Guard " strong enough to secure any Man in his Voy- " age through this World, in what Company so- " ever he Travelled, and through what Ways " soever he was to pass; and sure never any " Man was better supply'd with that sort of " Provision. —— An Excellent Preacher, and a Scholar of the most sublime Parts. And so, " without troubling themselves farther, they gave " Order for his Beheading, which he underwent " with all Christian Courage and Magnanimity, " to the Admiration of the Beholders, and Confu- " sion of his Enemies. Much hath been said of " the Person of this Great Prelate before; of his " Great Endowments and Natural Infirmities; " to which shall be added no more in this place " (his Memory deserving a particular Celebration) " than that his Learning, Piety and Vertue have " been attained by very few; and the greatest of " his Infirmities are common to all, even to the " best of Men. To which let me add this short Reflection, That this Fatal 30th of January, compared with the 30th of the same Month, (in a different, but not very distant Year) which we deservedly Celebrate in Dust and Ashes, doth naturally suggest the great Danger of the State whenever the Ecclesiastical Government is struck at: or, in other Words, it naturally leads us to believe, That the Fall of the Crown is never any farther distant from that of the Mitre, than the 30th of January is from the 10th; and that therefore the Good Old Saying, No Bishop, no King, however of late it seems to be forgotten, ought to be a standing Maxim of the English Government.

ISAAC BARGRAVE, D. D. Deanery, And Chartham, R. in Kent.

Cant. Cat. 1 Pantlly 133 Wood, Ath. Vol I. p. 812. Lloyd, Mem. p. 687

This Learned Gentleman was Born in Kent, Mert. Roll. Educated at Clare-Hall in the University of Cambridge, served Prince Charles in the Quality of a Chaplain, and continued in the same Station after the Accession of that Prince to the Crown. He was sometime Minister of St. Margaret's, Westminster; and in 1625, was made Dean of this Church. In 1623, he had Preached a Zealous Sermon against Popery, Evil Counsellours, &c. for which he was brought into some Trouble by the Court (as I apprehend it) notwithstanding which these True Protestants at the Beginning of the Rebellion fell upon him, Alarmed his House late at Night, when He was from home, breaking open the Doors, and after forcing his Virtuous good Lady to Dance Attendance after them with nothing but her Night-Gown cast about her, as she was rouzed out of the Bed, without so much as permitting her to draw on her Stockins: They also seized Young Mr. Bargrave, the Doctor's Son, and hurried him Prisoner to Dover-Castle. Some little time after this, underStanding the Doctor was at an Inn at Gravesend, they rushed into his Chamber (as he was undrest, and ready to go to Bed) with their Swords drawn; and carried him away Prisoner to the Fleet; where after he had lain Three Weeks, without ever being Examined, or so much as called to the House, he was at last indeed Released; but being an Aged Man, then, and other Ill Usage which he met with, Hastned his End. He had this Circumstance peculiar in his Sufferings, That the Ringleader of those Plunderers, one Colonel Sandys, was a Person whom the Doctor had been a special Means of saving from the Gallows not many Years before,

P. 68. You may find him first qualified therefore from this Lic. That, as well as in his Alarmed Deanery, whereby [illegible] plain by his Usage, he could Enjoy.

Merc. Rust.

Digitized by Google

See his Epitaph in the Append. to Cant. Sac. He hath some Sermons extant.

when he was Inditted for a Rape at Maidstone. Aſtrick in the fifties. He died in 1642, and was ſucceeded in this Deanery by

* See the Catalogue of Chichester, and Quære.

† Thoſe he Reſigned this Prebend upon his Promotion to this Deanery (of which, however, I do not find the leaſt Intimation) before the Prebendaries of this Church were diſpoſſeſs'd. Quære.

* GEORGE EGLIONBY, Deanery . . }
And
† Prebend of the 12*th Stall at* Weſtminſter. }

Cant. Sac. Part III. p. 123. Kenn. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 928. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 678.

He was Bred at Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and had been ſometime Maſter of Weſtminſter-School, was afterwards Tutor to George the Young Duke of Buckingham, and Inſtalled to the Prebend of Weſtminſter, September 28. 1638. He Died in October 1643; and therefore I muſt leave it as a Quare with the Reader, whether he ſuffered any thing in his Deanery, or not; though to me it ſeems Probable, that he was Wholly Deprived of the Profits of it, during the ſhort time of his Life after the Nomination: For he was never put into the Actual Poſſeſſion of this great Dignity by Inſtalment. He was ſucceeded in it by Whether he had expreſs Permiſſion to keep both the Deanery, or not, I cannot tell; but 'tis ſure, no one was admitted in Vice of Rochester after Dr. Turner, until the 18th of July 1660, when it was conferred on Dr Laney.

THO. TURNER, D. D. Deanery . . .
Deanery of Rochester. . . . . } Chancellorſhip. } In the Canon Reſidentiary. } Church of
And } St. Paul.
Prebend of Newington. }
St. Olave's Southwark, R. . . . .
And
Fetcham, R. in Surry, worth 140*l. a Year*.

Cant. Sac. Part III. p. 123 Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 928. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 678. † In 1641. ſaith his Epitaph: but that is doubtleſs a Miſtake.

He was Born at Reading, and Educated in St. John's College in Oxford, under the Tuition of Mr. (afterwards Archbiſhop) Juxton. He was at firſt Domeſtick Chaplain to Archbiſhop Laud, and after that, to his Majeſty. In Feb. † 1641. he was made Dean of Rochester, and in 1643, (as is before ſaid) Dean of this Church. He conſtantly adhered to his Majeſty's Cauſe, attended him in his Greateſt Calamities (particularly at Hampton-Court, and in the Iſle of Wight) and ſuffered afterwards Great Miſery, during the time of the Uſurpation; being Impriſoned, having Three of his Houſes plundered, and all his Goods and Books taken away; which were never Reſtored, nor any Satisfaction made for them; ſaving that Dr. Staunton, to whom the Committee of Surry had given the Books, ſometime after the Reſtoration, ſent to Mr. Francis Turner, afterwards Biſhop of Ely, and told him, He had got ſome Books which he thought might belong to him, becauſe they were his Father's, and ſo delivered him about Half a Dozen. At his Living of Fetcham, he was ſeized (probably in time of Service) by a Party of Horſe, for having ſent 120*l.* to the King; at which time they took the Common-Prayer-Book, and Trode it in the Dirt before his Face; put the Surplice upon one of the Troopers, tyed round with an Orange-Tawney Scarff; and then ſetting the Doctor upon one of their Horſes, they carried him, in this manner, Priſoner to the White-Lyon in Southwark; whilſt to his great Joy, the Profane, Ridiculous Trooper in the Surplice, imployed the Eyes of the Mobb, and himſelf paſſed along the more unobſerved. At that Living he was ſucceeded by one Fiſher, a Man of a very mean Character. When he came with the Sheriff's Lawz, Baſtiffs to Diſpoſſeſs Dr. Turner, the Doctor's Lawyer, Wood-cock, who hapned to be Big with Child, and ſo near her Time, that ſhe expected Hourly to fall in Travail; which obliged the Doctor to Requeſt of Fiſher, That ſhe might Tarry in the Houſe only to lay down her Burthen; and This Common-Piece of Humanity was denied him. But it pleaſed God that at the Reſtoration, when the Doctor came to take Poſſeſſion of his Rectory again, Fiſher's Wife was in the very ſame Condition; and he had the Confidence to make that very Requeſt to the Doctor which himſelf had formerly denied him; to which the Doctor (only firſt minding him of that Denial) Replied, You ſhall ſee I am a Chriſtian, In the Name of God let her Tarry and Welcome. Sometime after his being Diſpoſſeſſed of Fetcham, he Retired to his Eſtate in Hertfordſhire, where his Troubles were Renewed, and he was Summoned before the Committee at Hertford, one P——, a Ship-Carpenter being in the Chair, who charged him with MALIGNANCY, for Attending the King, and Praying for him; to which the Doctor anſwered, That his Duty as Chaplain, obliged him to the One, and that he never did the Other without Praying for the Parliament alſo, and that too by his Majeſty's Expreſs Order: However his Eſtate was Decimated, and he was forced to Fly into Wales; but he ſurvived the Uſurpation, was Reſtored to all theſe Preferments again, (that of Rochester, as before, excepted,) if I miſtake not, and Died at Canterbury October 8. 1672, Aged 81. He was a Practical, Uſeful Preacher, and continued in That part of his Miniſtry to the laſt; a great Example of Humility, and Chriſtian Simplicity, and of moſt Fervent Zeal to the Church. I cannot but reckon it a ſingular Reward from God, for his great Sufferings, and his Affection to the Church of England, That he was Bleſſed with Two ſuch Sons, as Dr. Francis Turner ſometime Biſhop of Ely, and Dr. Thomas Turner, the worthy Preſident of Corpus-Chriſti College in Oxford, yet Living.

One of his Succeſſors at his other Living of St Olaves was Baſtiffs Wood-cock, who Died 1649.

Wood, Hiſt. See his Epitaph. Cant. Sac. in the Appendix.

I know no reaſon to queſtion what is ſaid in the Sermon Epitaph.

WILLIAM KINGSLY, D. D. Archdeaconry of Canterbury.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 811. Cant. Sac. Part III. p. 123, 124. and in the Appendix pag. 7.

He had been Fellow of All-Souls College in Oxford, and ſometime Canon in the 8th Prebend of this Church. He Married a Niece of Dr. Abbot, Arch-Biſhop of Canterbury (by whom he had Sixteen Children,) was by that Prelate Collated to this Arch-Deaconry, Died January 29. 1647, and was, ſaith his Epitaph, A Perſon as Exemplary in his Life, as he was Sound in his Doctrine.

THOMAS PASKE, D. D. Sub-Deanery. }
And }
Canonry of the 5*th Prebend.* }

Mem. Reſt. p. 205. Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 125.

See Clare-Hall in Cambridge. I am not certain whether the Sub-Deanery be an Annual Office in this Church, or not.

WILLIAM BRAY, D. D. Canonry of the 1*ſt Prebend.* }
Prebend of Mapersbury, in the Church of St. Paul. }
And }
St. Martin's in the Fields, V. London. }

Lloyd, Mem. pag. 112. Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 124.

He was Bred in Chriſt's-College in Cambridge, was at firſt a Puritanical Lecturer ſomewhere in London, and very Popular as long as he continued ſo; but being afterwards made Chaplain to Arch-Biſhop Laud, he was as much Hated, as he had been before Admired by the Party. May 5. 1632. he was Collated to the Churches of St. Ethelburgh in London,

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 178.

Digitized by Google

London, and June the 12th following, to the Prebend of Mapesbury. March the 2d, that same Year, he had the Vicaridge of St. Martin's Conferred upon him, having just before Resigned his Church of St. Stevinburgh; but when he was Admitted to the Prebend of this Church, I do not find. He was one of the First Clergy-Men that the Rebellious Parliament took in Hand, which was for Licensing Two Books of Dr. Pocklington's; the one Intituled, Sunday no Sabbath; the other The Christian Altar; for which he was Enjoyed to Preach a Recantation-Sermon at St. Margaret's Westminster. January 12. 1644, the House proceeded to Sequester him from the Vicaridge of St. Martin's, and in the latter end of March following, his Books were Ordered into the Custody of Mr. Gregory, one of their own Ministers as I suppose: He was also Imprisoned, Plundered, and forced to Fly: He Died in 1644.

Full. Ch. Hist. L. XI. Cent. XVII. pag. 172.

See also Heylin's History of Laud p. 142.

Perfec. Undec. p. 43.

JOHN CASTILIONE, A. M. He was immediate Successor to Dr. Bray in this 1st Prebend, and Died not until 1688, being then Dean of Rochester; But whether he Obtained this Prebend in 1644, on the Death of Dr. Bray, or whether the Prebend lay void till the Restoration, I must leave with the Reader as a Quere. If the Former, he was a Second Sufferer in this Prebend; if the Latter, he belongs not at all to this List. I find him Prebendary here October 15. 1660, when he was Created D. D. at Oxford.

Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 124.

Wood, Ath. Vol II p 815 where for more of him, see also in Mr. Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol I. pag. 911.

THOMAS BLECHYNDEN, Canonry of the 2d Prebend.

Cant. Sac. Part. III. p. 124.

THOMAS JAXSON, Canonry of the 3d Prebend.

Cant. Sac. Part. III. p. 125. He was also Rector of Jue-Church in Rumney-Marsh, in this County Quere if thence Sequestred also.

He Died in 1646. I have been informed, That after this turned out the Prebendaries, they allowed him 80*l.* a Year, for Preaching a Lecture in this Cathedral; but in Half a Year's time they took off that also.

Bateffi Vitæ, p. 617. &c.

PETER DU MOULIN, Senior, Canonry of the 4th Prebend.

He was of the Family of the great Cardinal Du Moulin, sometime Arch Bishop of Tholouse, Bishop of Paris, and Titular Patriarch of Antioch. His Father's Name was Joakim Du Moulin, a Minister at Orleans. He was Born October 18. 1568, and Educated partly in the University of Sedan, partly at Corpus-Christi College in Cambridge; afterwards he went to Leyden, where he became Professor of Philosophy, and Taught also the Greek Tongue in the Divinity-College there; was after that one of the Pastors of the Protestant Church at Paris, and at length was offer'd the Divinity-Chair both at Leyden and Groningen, but he Excused himself from Accepting either of them, and continuing at Paris, was Favourite Chaplain to the Sister of King Henry IV. who persisted in the Protestant Religion after the Apostacy of her Brother. Whilst he remained there, he held several Disputes with Cardinal Perron, Cayet a Sorbon Doctor, and Others without Number, as well in Publick as in Private; and Acquitted himself in all of them, very much to his own Honour, and that of the Protestant Cause; but was for it often brought in Danger of his Life. Among these, and many other great Services which he did for the Reformed Religion, he undertook the Defence of King James's Confession of Faith, against Cuffetellus; whereupon that Prince wrote to him, as afterwards he often did; and at last, having a great desire to see him, sent for him over into England, where he tarried about Three Months, was made D. D. at Cambridge, and at his going off, had this Prebend Conferred on him by his Majesty, as also a Sine-Cure some Years after; but what the Name of it was, where it lay, or whether he was deprived of that also in the time of the Rebellion, I cannot Learn. After this he was a Second Time desired to be Divinity-Professor at Leyden, but he declined it again. Sometime after he was sent to the Synod of Alais, to be present at the Protestant Church at Paris; and at length having, at the Instance of the English Ambassador, wrote to King James in Favour of the King of Bohemia, the Letters were Intercepted; and Order was taken to Apprehend him; but he made his Escape to Sedan, and became Divinity-Professor there. Whilst he continued in that Office, he wrote to the Rebellers, disswading them from taking up Arms against their King. After this he was sent for a Second Time into England by King James, to Answer a Book which Cardinal Perron had wrote against that Prince: upon his Arrival his Majesty Nominated him to the Mastership of the Savoy, but afterwards Recalled that Nomination, and Conferred it upon his own Country-Man Dr. Balcanqual. He continued in England until the Death of King James; and then Returning to Sedan, Died himself there March 10. 1658, in the 90th Year of his Age.

Collated to it by the Arch Bishop, Cant. Sac. Part III. P. 125. but by the Order of his Majesty, as I judge it is here here.

See the Account of Time of his Works in the above-mentioned Life of him, by Dr. Bates.

JOHN JEFFRYS, Canonry of the 6th Prebend.

Cant. Sac. Part III pag. 126.

He was Admitted to it about 1629, and his Immediate Successor was Installed in 1660; so I presume he Died during the Usurpation.

SAMUEL BAKER, D. D. Canonry of the 7th Prebend. Prebend of Tottenhall in the Church of St. Paul. St. Mary-Hill, R. London . . . . . And Southwold, V. in Essex . . . . .

He was Intimately Acquainted with Dr. Bray, before-mentioned, Fellow-Collegian with him at Christ's-College in Cambridge, a Puritanical Preacher also himself, as Dr. Bray had been, in London, very Popular there on that Account, taken off from those Courses, and made Chaplain to Dr. Juxon, as Dr. Bray had been to Arch-Bishop Laud (to which last mentioned Prelate Dr. Baker likewise was very observant) and on that Account, as also for * Refusing to License every Fantastick Pretender against Popery and Arminianism, Incurred the same Odium with the Party, as his Friend Dr. Bray had done. He had sometime the Living of St. Margaret-Pattens in London, which he Resigned in 1637, being July the 5th that Year, Admitted to the Neighbouring Church of St. Mary-Hill; to which he was Admitted a Second Time (on what Occasion I know not) June 16. 1640. He was also sometime Rector of St. Christopher's, which he Resigned in the last mentioned Year, and was on April the 4th, that Year, Collated to the Vicaridge of Southwold; October 29. 1636, he was Collated to the Prebend of Tottenhall, and October 20. 1638, was Installed Canon of Windsor; but soon Quitted that Canonry again upon his Admission to the Lloyd, Mem. pag. 592. Wood, Ath. Vol I. p. 841. Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 215. Cant. Sac. Part III. Perfec. Undec. p. 43.

* Which Lloyd also makes one Part of the Quarrel that had with Dr. Bray.

Wood saith, the thirds of Dr. Robert Southwold, making of his own, but was a great Loss of Books, and Parsonage in that Office, the the Prebend of this Church. In the beginning of the Rebellion he was Sequestred, Pursevanted and Imprisoned; and died, if I mistake not, before the Restoration of his Majesty.

He Assisted in the Polyglot Bible.

Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 127. Wood, Ath. Vol II. p 287, &c. Where also for what he hath written.

JOHN READING, B. D. Canonry of the 8*th Prebend.*

St. Mary's in Dover.
Charthan, R. . . .
And
Cheriton, R. . . . .
} In Kent.

He was Born in Buckinghamshire, Educated in Oxford, became Chaplain to Edward Lord Zouch, was at length, on the Request of the Parishioners of St. Mary's in Dover, made Minister there October 2. 1616; and was held in great Esteem for his Preaching in those Parts. Afterwards he became Chaplain to the King. In the Beginning of the Rebellion he was Abused, Plundered, Imprisoned, and Banished for some time. In 1642, his Study was Rifled by the same Colonel Sandys, who had before Dragooned the Excellent Dr. Bargrave, and some Months after, was taken by Violence out of his House, by the Soldiers, and sent to Prison: Neither was this thought sufficient: for Sir Edward Boys (as long as he lived) persisted to Prosecute him to his utter Undoing. About the Year 1644, he was Inhumanly Seized by, in a cold Winter Night, taken out of his House by the Command of Major Boys, (Son of the abovementioned Sir Edward) Hurried to Dover-Castle, and the next day sent to that of Leeds; on the Pretence at least, of a Plot for the Surprizing of Dover-Castle by the Cavaliers; And on the same Account had several of the Town of Dover for his Fellow-Prisoners. On the Death of Dr. Bargrave, his Majesty Ordered Arch-Bishop Laud to give him the Rectory of Chartham, but he was not permitted to enjoy the Profits of it. In 1644, he Obtained the Rectory of Cheriton; but he was Plundered and driven from thence also; his Goods were indeed by the Committee of those Parts, Ordered to be Restored to him again; and by the help of that Order, and some Money, he Obtained them. In the Year 1650, he had a Publick Dispute with Fisher the Anabaptist, at Folkstone in Kent: About May 1660, he got himself Restored to his Cure at Dover, and spake a short Speech to his Majesty at his Landing there: Soon after he was Restored to his Prebend, and to the Living of Chartham, (but I do not find he Re-assumed Cheriton) and Died the 26th of October 1667. I must here also let the Reader know, That he was Reputed a Strict Calvinist, and much Esteemed by the Puritans at and about Dover; but not going in with them All their Lengths, and on the Contrary Discountenancing the Rebellion, in his Sermons and Discourses, he Suffered under them as severely as any of the highest Loyalists whatsoever. For these great Patrons of Moderation, though they Preach it up so formally to their Adversaries, will not yet give it so much as a Toleration among themselves.

Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 127. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. pag. 333, &c. Where also for what he Wrote.

MERIC CASAUBON, D. D. Canonry of the 9*th Prebend.*
And
Ickham, R. in Kent. . . . . .

He was Son to the most Learned Isaac Casaubon, (by a Daughter of the Famous Henry, Son of Robert Stephens,) Born in the City of Geneva, October 1599, brought Young into England, Educated at Christ's-Church in Oxford, and was Student of that House. His great Parts and Learning made him taken Notice of, not only in England, but in France; whither he was Invited with Offers of Preferment, but he refused them. He was sometime Beneficed at * Bleden, in Somersetshire, by the Favour of Bishop Andrews, and was also much Favoured and Patronized by Arch-Bishop Laud; who designed to have setled him either in Oxford, or London (which he should chuse) to have Continued the Examination of Baronius's Annals, which his Father had Begun; but the Confusions prevented that most useful Undertaking. During that Unnatural Rebellion, he was Abused, Fined, Imprisoned, and Forced to Sell a good Part of his Books: Although it must be Owned, That afterwards he might have had his Own Terms of Cromwell, would he have undertaken the History of that Civil War: And even upon his Refusal, the Usurper made him an Offer of a considerable Sum of Money; but he scorned to Accept of it. He was also Invited into Sweden, by the Famous Queen Christina, to Inspect the Universities; for which a Salary of 300 l. per Annum was to be setled on his Eldest Son for Life; but he rather chose to spend the Remainder of his Days in England. He out-lived the Usurpation, was Restored to his Preferments, and Died in July 1671; at which time he had been Canon Forty six Years.

* But Quere of how much Possest of This was at the time of his Sequestration.

See his Epitaph in the Appendix to Cant. Sac. pag. 10.

PETER HARDRESS, Canonry of the 10*th Prebend.*

Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 128.

I presume he lived to the Restoration; because he who was the Prebend in his Stall in 1703, was his Immediate Successor; as himself had Immediately Succeeded in it, Accepted Frewen, who was afterward the Suffering Bishop of Litchfield and Coventry.

GERARD JOHN VOSSIUS, Canonry of the 11*th Prebend.*

Great Hist. Dict. Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 128.

He was Born in 1577; and Studied at Dort with the Learned Ericius Puteanus. He was sometime Regent of the Colleges of Dort and Leyden, after which he was Promoted to be Professor of History in the last of these Universities; whence he was, at length, called into the Great School of Amsterdam. He died in 1650; and was one of the most Laborious and Learned Men of this Age, in History and Humanity.

Out of his Epistles may be had many Particulars of his Life, which I have not time to Collect.

HUMPHRY PEAK, Canonry of the 12*th Prebend.*

He was Admitted to the Canonry about the Year 1632, if I judge right of that Matter from the Death of Thomas Anyan, who immediately precedes him in Mr. Battely's List of the Canons of this Stall. His immediate Successor, as far as appears by the same List, was * William Barker; who, as I otherwise find, became not Canon until after the Restoration; so that if the Account of the Canons in this Prebend be compleat, Peak must of Necessity have been the Sufferer in it, and must have died, as I guess, under the Usurpation; because, unless I very much mistake, Barker became Canon here immediately upon the King's Return.

Cant. Sac. Part III. pag. 128.

* Whom see as New Coll. in Oxford.

——— ——— Preacher.
——— ——— Preacher.
——— ——— Preacher.
——— ——— Preacher.
——— ——— Preacher.
——— ——— Preacher.
} Each worth 30 l. per Annum.

——— ——— Minor

Digitized by Google

——— Minor Canony.
——— Minor Canony.
——— Minor Canony.
——— Minor Canony.
——— Minor Canony.
——— Minor Canony.

CARLISLE.

Life by Parr. JAMES USHER, D.D. Bishoprick. This Excellent Perſon, who was a Wonder of Learning and Piety, is ſo well known, that I ſhall not mention any thing of him, but what concerns his Sufferings under the Uſurpation. Upon the breaking out of the Iriſh Rebellion he fled into England; and in conſideration of his great Loſſes ſuſtained in Ireland, had this * Biſhoprick conferred upon him in 1642, for his Subſiſtence; and was allowed to hold it in Commendam with the Archbiſhoprick of Armagh: But the Conſuſions permitted him to Receive very little Advantage from it: For the Stewards and Agents which he employ'd there, partly by the Quartering of the Scotch and Engliſh Armies in thoſe Parts, and partly by the Enſuing Rebellion in this Kingdom, were either unable to receive his Dues, or unwilling to pay him what they Received. However, he made a ſhift to Subſiſt upon that little which he could get, until the Rebellion grew Prevalent; at which time the Houſes of Parliament having ſeized upon the Biſhops Lands, their Agents (or thoſe who took upon them to be ſo) Collected all the Arrears and Growing Rents of the Biſhoprick for their own Uſe. The chief of thoſe who were employed at Carliſle, was one Barker; who deſtroyed the Woods, pillaged the Caſtle of Roſe (he the Place of the Biſhop's Reſidence) and carried off many of the Stones to build his own Houſe and Barns. But, to obſerve that by the way, in the next Generation Barker's Name was clean put out: For he died ſoon after the Reſtoration; and his Son and Poſterity, together with the Houſes and Lands are in a manner quite Vaniſhed; that is, the Latter out of the Name, and the Former out of the Country. About the Year 1645, Mr. Lowther, who had been Conſtable of the Caſtle of Roſe, with about 20 or 30 Men, endeavoured to keep it for the Rightful Lord; but he was ſoon beat out of it by a Party of Colonel Heveingham's Regiment; who burn'd down the beſt and greateſt Part of it: in which Condition it remains, unrepaired, to this day. For this, and other like Good Services, Heveingham and ſome of the reſt of the Officers, had the Lands and Revenues of the Biſhop, Dean and Chapter for their Debentures; which they ſold to the Godly of that Country at an Under-value. However, in October 1646, the Parliament, to make ſome Amends for theſe Loſſes, ordered the Biſhop a Penſion of 400 l. per annum; but he never Received it more than Once or Twice; becauſe a Stop was put to it by the Independent Faction, who about that time over-crept the Preſbyterians. And, as he ſuffered in his Revenues, ſo did he in his Perſon likewiſe: For being ſought after in London, he was forced to Fly from Place to Place; and whilſt in Wales, he was plundered of his Choiceſt Books and Manuſcripts; one or two of which (and thoſe very Valuable) were never Recovered; but all the reſt were, by the Care of the Neighbouring Clergy and Gentry, diſcovered, and brought to him again. About the Year 1657, with much Difficulty and Great Friends (of which Mr. Selden was one) he obtained Leave to Preach publickly in London: Whereupon he was entertained by the Honourable Society of Lincolns-Inn, for their Preacher; and by that means obtained a Maintenance; but being forced to give it up upon the Decay of his Sight, the Small Subſiſtence which he afterwards had (beſides what the Countieſs of Peterborough generouſly afforded him) came to him, as I am informed, with much Difficulty, and by many Hands. He was delivered out of theſe, and all his other Troubles, March 21. 1655, at Rygate in Surry, and was Buried at Weſtminſter, chiefly, as 'tis generally thought, at the Charges of the Protector; who did indeed order 200 l. out of the Dreadands for that purpoſe; but it was never paid. His being ſo well known, makes it needleſs to add, That his Extraordinary Learning and Piety had rendred him Famous all over Europe: But I cannot forbear to obſerve, That this Biſhop was eſteemed ſo much a Favourer of the Puritanical Party, that they took the Umbrage of his Name (even in his Life-time, ſuch was their Impudence) to publiſh under it ſeveral things in Derogation to the Conſtitution of the Church: and at this very day pretend they would ſubmit to his Model of Epiſcopacy: Yet he could not eſcape Suffering under them. So little will they Encourage or Reward that Moderation, which they Recommend with ſo much Solemnity to their Adverſaries: Nor will they admit any one for their Friend, who is not thorough-paced, and ſtops at any thing ſhort of Root and Branch: Or, at the Sacrilegious very beſt, ſuch a one muſt be ſure to find a Reception among them ſuitable only to the Affection which they apprehend he bears to the Conſtitution of the Church; that is, a very Cool and Indifferent one.

* In which he ſucceeded Dr. Barn. Potter, who dying in Jan. 1641. had ſuffered ſomething in this Biſhoprick, though he was not wholly depriv'd of the Profits of it. See alſo Dr. Pearce's Life, by Clark, p. 283. who there ſeems to intimate that his Death was haſtned by the Troubles.

Life by Parr. See alſo his Life by Wood in Faſtis Oxon. Vol. II. p. 654. See alſo his Life in Latin, by Dr. Smith. p. 77.

THOMAS COMBER, D.D. Deanery.
Maſterſhip of Trinity-College in Cambridge,
And
* Warpeſden, R. in Surry. . . . .

* If I do not miſtake Lloyd Hiſtor. P. 444

He was born in Suſſex, Jan. 1. 1575, being the Twelfth Child of his Father. In his Youth he gave early Prognoſtications of his Future Eminence, in the ſeveral Parts of Learning. He had been Educated at Trinity-College in Cambridge; of which he was ſucceſſively Scholar, Fellow, and Maſter. There, in the Space of Three Years, he got the Knowledge of the Hebrew, Syriack, and Arabick Tongues: To which he after added that of the Coptick, Samaritan, Caldee, Perſick, French, Spaniſh, and Italian; and afterwards became a Noted Tutor, and a moſt Admired Preacher in that Univerſity. He ſpent ſome time in France with the Learned Du Moulin. After his Return he was made Chaplain to his Majeſty, and Advanced, as is before ſaid, to the Maſterſhip of his Own College; which he Governed with great Prudence and Exact Diſcipline, and was particularly Strict in managing the Elections of it; commonly making this Return, when he was ſollicited by Powerful Friends in favour of an unqualified Lad, Perſuade your Gardner to Plant a Withered Tree in your Garden. In the Years 1631, and 1636, he underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor with great Repute. At length being concerned in ſending the Plate of that Univerſity to the King, and Refuſing the Covenant, he was Impriſoned, Plundered, and Deprived of all his Preferments in 1642. But Theſe, and all his Other Troubles, particularly his laſt Sickneſs (which was a very Afflicting one) he underwent with a moſt admirable Patience and Meekneſs. For, as to the Former of theſe, 'tis ſaid, that he never paſſed a more ſevere Sentence on his Perſecutors, than that of God forgive them: And, as to the Latter, the Return which he always made, when asked on his Death-Bed, How he did? was never other than This, Very well, I thank God. When the See Athen. Vol. II. p. 444. &c.

Life by Parr. See alſo his Life by Wood in Faſtis Oxon. Vol. II. p. 447. &c.

The Author of this Life profeſſes to him Sam. and Sabbatarian, ſatisfactorily, but Penſion was reſtored by Cromwell.

Baxter's Vitæ. p. 744.

the Bleſſed Sacrament was Adminiſtred to him ſome time before his Death, he Pulled off all his Caps, ſat up in his Bed bare-headed, after Receiving, pronounced the Nunc Dimittis, and at laſt Departed in ſuch a Full Aſſurance of Faith, that he Exhorted ſeveral of his Friends to Prepare for Death; becauſe, ſaid he, I ſhall be loth to be happy without you. He rendred up his Soul to God, to receive the Reward both of his Doings and Sufferings, Feb. 28, 1633. He was, ſaith Lloyd, a Man of moſt Exalted Piety and Devotion, and of Great Charity in both its Parts, of Giving and Forgiving; having preferr'd ſeveral of his Predeceſſor's Servants for this Reaſon, becauſe there had been a Miſunderſtanding betwixt them Two. Neither was his Learning inferiour to his Piety. The Great Morinus, in one of his Pieces, makes very Honourable mention of him, and calls him Vir Clariſſimus. By his own Univerſity he was Juſtly eſteemed an Eminent Scholar; agreeable to which, is that Part of his Epitaph, compoſed by Dr. Duport, Dean of Peterborough.

Ibid.

Querel. Cantab. p. 17.

Librorum Helluo, Literarum Abyſſus,
Candor, Simpliciſtaſque, comitaſque,
Et miſta Gravitas, Suavitate.
Frons Jucunda, Decor Verecundus Oris,
Jecur Fide cavens, Cor abſque Fuco, &c.

ISAAC SINGLETON, A. M. . . . .
Arch-deaconry And Chancellorſhip Vic. of the Diocels.* } of this Church.
Alſo
Arch-deaconry of Brecknock And Canonry . . . . . } In the Church of St. David.
And Prebend of Broomsbury in the Church of St. Paul.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 700. Vol. II. p. 362. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 151. He was Born in the City of London, Enter'd firſt a Commoner in Brazen-Noſe-College, and afterwards became Fellow of All-Souls-College in Oxford. In 1614, he was made Prebendary of Brownſwood in the Church of St. Paul, and afterwards remov'd, unleſs See what is ſaid of That Matter in that Cathedral. I am much miſtaken, to that of Broomsbury in the ſame Church. In 1622, he was Chancellor of this Diocels; ſome Years after he became Arch-deacon of it. In 1640, he occurs Arch-deacon of Brecknock, and lived long enough to be Deprived of all his Spiritualities †, but Died ſoon after.

He hath Publiſhed a Sermon or two.

† His Temporal Eſtate alſo was declared Forfeited for Treaſon, by an Act of Nov. 13. 1662.

LEWIS WEST, A. M. Arch-deaconry, Prebend, . . . . . And Adenham, V. in this County. . .

Wood, Coll. Faſt II. p. 210.

He was a Man of Worth and Learning, Survived the Rebellion, enjoyed his Preferments again, and was the Only Member of the Chapter who out-lived the Uſurpation. He ſucceeded Mr. Singleton in this Arch-deaconry (who, as is before ſaid, Died ſoon after the Breaking out of the Rebellion) and ſo makes a Second Sufferer in it.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 98. Where alſo ſee what he wrote.

LANCELOT DAWES, D. D. Prebend. He was Born at Barton-Kirk in Weſtmorland, Educated at Queen's-College in Oxford; where he became Fellow, and was a Singular Ornament of that Houſe. His Firſt Preferment was his own Native Place of Barton; to which was afterwards added, beſides this Prebend, the Living of Aſpby in the ſame County. He was a Perſon of a Comprehenſive and Orthodox Judgment, Adorned with all Variety of Learning; and was ever held in great Eſtimation; which 'tis great Pity he had not Compleated, by a more Firm Adherence to the Cauſe of his Majeſty and the Church: For he ſubmitted to the Men of the Times; and by that means continued in the Poſſeſſion of his Livings to the time of his Death, which happned in February, 1653,4.

So that he could not claim a Plant in this Lib. were it not to Compleat the Account of this Church FREDERICK TONSTAL, A.M. Prebend And Caldbeck, R. in Cumberland. . . . .

He was a Learned Worthy Perſon, of a Good Family, and Died before the Happy Reſtoration.

RICHARD SMITH, B. D. Prebend. And
* ——— . . . . . .

He was a Man of Worth and Learning, and Died in 1643; by which time he had been Deprived of the Profits of his Prebend.

* I cannot learn the Name of the Perſon that ſucceeded him.

HENRY HUTTON, A. M. Prebend, And † Long-Marſton, . in Weſtmorland.

He was Son to Judge Hutton, Educated at Jeſus-College in Cambridge; of which he was Fellow, and Rector of that University in 1639. He ſucceeded Richard Smith, above-named, in this Prebend, and ſo was a Second Sufferer in it: For the Conſultions permitted him not to enjoy the Profits; neither did he out-live the Uſurpation. He was a very Reverend and Learned Perſon.

† Miſtaken.

In 1630. ſay ſome other Informations which I have received.

——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.

CHESTER.

JOHN BRIDGMAN, D. D. Biſhoprick. Sir Peter Leiceſter ſaith, that he was Son of Thomas Bridgman of Greenwey, in the County of Devon: But another Author affirms, that his Father's Name was Edward Bridgman, who was ſometime High-Sheriff of Exeter; and that this Dr. Bridgman was Born in that City. He was Educated at Magdalen-College in Cambridge; of which he became ſucceſſively Fellow and Maſter. He had alſo a Prebend in the Church of Peterborough, was ſometime Canon-Reſidentiary of the Church of Exeter, and married the Daughter of Mr. Hellier, (another of the Reſidentiaries of that Church, and Arch-deacon of Barum) He was likewiſe one of the Chaplains to his Majeſty King James I. by whoſe Favour he was made Rector of the Rich Church of Wigan in Lancaſhire in 1615, and in 1618, advanced to this Biſhoprick; to which he was Conſecrated the Year following. In 1621, he had the Rectory of Banger, which he held in Commendam for ſome time, and then Reſigned it, as I preſume, to his Son Henry. He Died at Morton in Cheſhire, according to Sir Peter Leiceſter, in the Year 1652, and the 77th of his Age, ſaith Wood: Although the ſame Author, in another Place, ſaith, that he died at Teddington in Middleſex, in the Year 1674. Which is a plain Miſtake as to the Time, whatever it may be as to the Hiſt. of Cheſhire, p. 167.

Prince's Worth. of Devon. p. 99.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 492. 781.

Camd. Hiſt. Fol. p. 90. whom ſee in that Church.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 622. who partly confounds him with his Son Dr. Henry Bridgman, afterwards Biſhop of Man.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 682.

Vide Vol. I p. 782.

Digitized by Google

the Place of his Death. Mr. Peirce, more agreeable to what Sir Peter Leicester affirms, saith, That he Died near the Year 1649. He was Father to the Excellent Sir Orlando Bridgman, sometime Lord-Keeper of the Great-Seal.

Leicester's Ant. of Ches. pag. 169.

Mr. Mallory, the preceding Dean, Died not till April the 3d, 1644; and had been by that time Sequestred.

WILLIAM NICOLLS, D. D. Deanery. He was of a good Family in Middlesex, Educated at Trinity-College in Cambridge, sometime Rector at Cheadle, in this County, became Dean on the Death of Mr. Mallory, in 1644. Died at Etchells in 1658, and lies Buried at Nordon Church in Cheshire. I find him also under Composition for his Temporal Estate, which he Redeemed at 143 l.

from Two Livings in Cheshire (where for more of him) and therefore Quære if he had not also before his Death, Suffered in the Revenues of his Deanery, for if so, he ought to be here Inserted immediately before Dr Nicolls, in a distinct Article, there having been Two Sufferers in this Deanery.

GEORGE SNELL, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Chester.

He died February 5, 1655, and lies Buried in St. Mary's Church in Chester. I find one of both his Names D. D. of the Univerſity of St. Andrew in Scotland, Incorporated at Oxford, June 16. 1621. Quære if He were the ſame Perſon with this Arch-deacon.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 840.

——— ——— Arch-deaconry of Richmond.

† Which I take to be an Officer Choſen out of the Prebendaries of the Church, or elſe to have a Preferred ſalary Annexed.

JOHN LEY, A. M. Sub-deanery †. He was Born at Warwick about 1583, (but Deſcended from an Ancient Family in Cheſhire) made Student of Chriſt's-Church in 1601; After that had the Vicaridge of Great-Budworth in Cheſhire beſtowed upon him; and, at the diſtance of ſome Years, was made Prebendary, and Sub-dean of this Church. He had alſo the Friday's-Lecture at St. Peter's in this City, and Once or Twice ſerved the Clergy of this Diocels in Convocation. He was one of thoſe very Few, out of all the Cathedrals, that Deſerted the Cauſe of the Church. He took the Covenant, was made one of the Aſſembly (and Latin Examiner to it) as likewiſe Rector of Aſhfield, and of Aſhley, in this County. He was alſo Chairman of the Committee for the Examination of Miniſters, and of that for Printing; one of the Ordainers of Miniſters, Preſident of Sion-College; Succeeded Dr. Hyde in the Rich Living of Bright-well in Berks; and in 1653, was one of the Tryers, and the Year following one of the Commiſſioners for Ejecting Scandalous Miniſters. Soon after, he got the Rich Living of Saly-Hill in Warwickſhire, and a little while afterwards, that of Sutton-Colefield in the ſame County. By all which the Loſs of this Prebend was Richly made up to him; and therefore I ſhould not Place him here, but to Compleat the Liſt of this Church. He died at Sutton (beforementioned) May 16. 1662; and was Efteemed a Perſon Learned, and well Read in the Fathers and Councils.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 130, &c.

See in Wood what he Wrote.

WILLIAM BISPHAM, . Prebend . . } And * Eccleſton, R. in this County.

* For I take them to have been the ſame Perſon.

He was either by Fear or Want, driven beyond the Seas; and forced to leave his Wife (in Extream Want) to the Charity of ſuch as would Relieve her; of ſuch it ſeems ſhe found not many: For ſhe was once day compelled by Neceſſity, to Apply her ſelf to Mr. Gelbourn (who ſucceeded her Husband in this Living; and was then Eating his Bread) to Beg Money to buy her a Pair of Shoes; which he had the Good Nature and Mercy to Deny her: Nor could ſhe get One Penny from him. Mr. Biſpham out-liv'd his Sufferings, and was Reſtored.

——— ESSEX, . Prebend.

CHARLES DUCKWORTH, . Prebend, He out-liv'd the Uſurpation.

EDWARD MORTON, D. D. Prebend, } And † Sephton, R. in Lancaſhire. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 889.

† I take the Sequeſtred Rectory of this Living, to ſome Years from the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary.

He was Deſcended from an Ancient Family at Morton in Cheſhire, Educated at King's-College in Cambridge; was ſometime, as I have been Informed, Benefic'd at Scaundiſh in his Native County; and was Chaplain alſo to the Lord-Keeper in the Year 1636; at which time he was Created D. D. at Oxford. He was turned out of his Living about the Year 1643 or 1644. His Wife had no Fifths paid her. He Survived the Uſurpation, was Re-inſtated in his Preferments, and was Father to Dr. William Morton, ſucceſſively Biſhop of Kildare and of Meath in Ireland.

ROBERT MORGAN, . Prebend. He lived to be Reſtored, was in 1666, Rector of Landdyffnan in Angleſey, and Arch-deacon of Merioneth; and the ſame Year Conſecrated to the Biſhoprick of Bangor. During the Uſurpation he kept up his Majeſty's Intereſt with the Gentlemen of Angleſey, Carnarvan, and Merioneth; and therefore Quære whether he was not Poſſeſſed of the Arch-deaconry of Merioneth before the Troubles, and conſequently the Sufferer in it.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 632.

——— ——— Petty Canonry.
——— ——— Petty Canonry.
——— ——— Petty Canonry.
——— ——— Petty Canonry.
——— ——— Petty Canonry.
——— ——— Petty Canonry.

The Authority upon which I have ſet down moſt of the Perſons here mentioned, as Sufferers in the ſeveral Prebends, is, that I find them in Poſſeſſion of their Prebends in the Year 1644.

CHICHESTER.

HENRY KING, D. D. Biſhoprick, } And * Petworth, R. in Suſſex. . . .

* And another Living ſometimes with his Falkam, recording to the Ordersof the Parliament.

He was the Eldeſt Son of Dr. John King, ſometime Biſhop of London, and Born at Worſnall in Bucks, in January 1591. He was Bred at Chriſt-Church in Oxford, of which he had been Student; was Succeſſively Chaplain to King James I. Archdeacon of Colcheſter, Reſidentiary of St. Paul's, Canon of Chriſt-Church, Chapelain to King Charles I. Dean of Rocheſter, and in 1641, was made Biſhop of this See. Though he was always Eſteemed to be Puritanically Affected, and was Promoted to this Biſhoprick to pleaſe that Party; yet when the Rebellion broke out, he was moſt Barbarouſly Treated by them; nor was he ſuffered to live quietly at his Friend's Houſe, (for ſometime at leaſt) when they could diſcover him. During the Uſurpation he lived moſt with Sir Richard Hobart (his Brother-in-Law) at Langly in Bucks; and, if I am not miſ-informed, was in a manner ſuſtained by his Charity. He lived to ſee the Reſtoration, had his Biſhoprick and Living again, and Died October 1, 1669. Wood ſaith that he was Eſteemed by many Perſons, the Epitome of all Honours, Vertues, and Generous Nobleneſs; and that he was a Perſon never to be Forgotten by his Church, but Tenants, and by the Poor: But adds, That being Diſcontented becauſe he was not Removed to a better

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 305. Where alſo ſee what he Wrote.

He Lived ſometimes with his Family, and Died at Chapel-Houſe, at the Lady Salter's near Falkam, where Mr. Hales Offi. ciated as Chaplain, recording to the Ordersof the Parliament.

Digitized by Google

Upon his Mo-nament this said, among other things, That he was Better See (as it was reported) he became a Favour-er of the Presbyterians in his Diocese.

That he was Antiquè, eâque Regiâ, Saxonum apud Dumnonios in Agro Devoniensi, Prosapiâ Oriundus; Natalium Splendore illustris Puerae, Doctrinâ & Virtutibus illustrior.

Nenc. Rep. Eccles. Vol I. P. 423, 717. Perfect. Undec. p. 43.

BRUNO RYVES, D. D. Deanery .... St. Martin's in the Vintry, R. London. Stanwell, V. Middlesex, ... And Masterſhip of the Hoſpital at Chicheſter.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 411.

He was Born in Dorſetſhire, Educated partly at New-College, and partly at Magdalen-College in Oxford. In 1628, he had the Rectory of St. Martin's beſtowed upon him; but in what Year he got the Other Living, I do not find. He was alſo made Chaplain to King Charles I. He loſt the Rectory of St. Martin's ſometime before the Vicaridge of Stanwell was Sequeſtred from him; being Deprived of the Former in January 1642; when one Salway was, by the Houſe of Commons ordered to Succeed him. At the ſame time he was alſo Plundered, Forced to Fly, and Shift from Place to Place: Upon which his Majeſty Advanced him to this * Deanery, and gave him the Maſterſhip of the Hoſpital likewiſe; But the Conſuſions permitted him to Receive little or no Profit from either till the Reſtoration; which he lived to, and was then made Chaplain to King Charles II. Dean of Windſor, and was Inſtalled the Third of September 1660. After that he had alſo the Rectory of Allen in Middleſex, as likewiſe that of Hayſly in Oxfordſhire, (if, at leaſt, this laſt Rectory be not an Appendix to the Deanery) and was alſo Scribe of the Moſt Noble Order of the Garter. He Died at Windſor, July 13, 1677. Part of his Epitaph runs thus:

* But he was not actually Inſtalled till July 13. 1660

Fide, Zelo, Affectu, } in Rebus { Regis, Eccleſiæ, Regni, } promovendis,

Toto nuperæ Rebellionis tempore, utrimi ſecundus, Celeberrimis hujus ſeculi Concionatoribus, à primo Juventutis Flore, ad Extremam uſque ſenectam, Annumeratus.

At which time he quitted the Deanery of Chicheſter. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 473.

Lloyd alſo adds, That he aſſiſted in the Polyglot. Mem. p. 556.

I am informed from another Hand, he lived many years on Charity. at Shafton in his Native County.

An Ancient Gentleman informs me by Letter, That Dean Reeves (for ſo he ſpells it, tho' I take him to be this ſame Perſon) was, with his Wife and Four Children, and all his Family, Taken out of their Beds at Midnight, Turned out of doors, all his Goods ſeized, and all that Night Lay under a Heage in the Wet and Cold. Next Day my Lord Arundel hearing of this Barbarous Uſage done to ſo Pious a Gentleman, ſent his Coach, with Men and Horſes; where he was kindly entertained for ſome time.

See in Wood what he wrote.

I ſhall only here tell the Reader, that he was the Author of the Celebrated Mercurius Ruſticus, or the Country's Complaint; which came out ſometimes in One Sheet, ſometimes in Two, in Quarto; and was Collected, and Published all together in 12mo. in 1646, and again in 1647, and at other times. Which I mention, to diſtinguiſh it from ſeveral other Pamphlets, publiſhed in thoſe Times, with the ſame Title.

WILLIAM COX, D. D. Chaunterſhip, And † Prebend of Nova Villa .....

† If at leaſt the Prebend be not annexed to the Chantery now in Southampton and Suſſex

See Exeter-Cathedral; For I take this to be the ſame Perſon with the Arch-deacon of Barum in that Church: And I chuſe there to relate his Sufferings; becauſe that City was the Scene of his moſt Barbarous and Accurſed Uſage.

JAMES MARSH, D. D. Chancellorſhip, St. Dunſtan's in the Weſt, V. London, And Cockfield, V. in Suſſex. .....

He was Admitted to the Vicaridge of St. Dunſtan's, June 21, 1631, and was Sequeſtred from it by the Houſe, July 12, 1643. He fled to the King at Oxford; where he Died ſome time before the Year 1647. See a Note at Dr. Richard Marſh, Dean of York.

Nenc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. Perfect. Undec. p. 43.

ROBERT NEWELL, . Treaſurerſhip. He Died in 1643; and probably under Sufferings at this Church; becauſe I do not find any other Perſon named to this Dignity till the Reſtoration: When Dr. Philip King ſucceeded in it. Which ſeems to intimate, that the Affairs of This Cathedral were then in Confuſion. But quære. See alſo the Church of Weſtminſter.

HENRY HAMMOND, D. D. Archdeaconry of Chicheſter.

See Chriſt-Church in Oxford.

WILLIAM HUCHENSON, D D. Arch-deaconry of Lewes, ... And † Prebend of Wiſborough. .....

† For I take this Arch-deacon, and this Prebendary to have been the ſame Perſon.

I find him Arch-deacon in 1641; and rather than give it the Reader for a Certainty. If he be the ſame Perſon with Dr. William Huchenſon, Canon-Reſidentiary of * Exeter (which to me ſeems probable. However, I leave this alſo as another Quære) then he Died in 1643: But whether he continued Poſſeſſed of This Arch-deaconry and Prebend to the Time of his Death; or if he did, whether his Sufferings had by that time followed him to this Church alſo, I cannot ſay. He was ſucceeded in this Arch-deaconry by

* Where ſo more.

And in his Prebend by Dr. Benſon; whom ſee after-ward.

THOMAS HOOKE, D.D. Arch-deaconry of Lewes, And Prebend of Middleton. .....

He alſo lived to ſee the Return of his Majeſty; reſigned his Arch-deaconry to Dr. Philip King in 1660; and was, as I find, in 1664, Deprived of this Prebend; but for what Cauſe I know not. See one of Both theſe Names in the County of Suſſex, and quære.

WILLIAM PAUL, D.D. ReſidentiaryShip And † Prebend of Seaford. .....

† For I take them to be the ſame Perſon. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 666.

He was Born in London, Educated at All-Souls-College in Oxford; where he was Elected Fellow in 1616. In 1632, he proceeded in Divinity (being then Rector of † Brightwell in Oxfordſhire) and anſwered the Divinity-Act with general Satisfaction. About that time he was alſo made Chaplain to his Majeſty, and ſome time after Reſidentiary of this Church. He lived to the Reſtoration, became Chaplain to King Charles II. Dean of Lichfield, and at laſt, (by the Intereſt of Dr. Sheldon) Biſhop of Oxford. He Died at Cuinner (which Living, together with that of Brightwell, he kept in Commendam with his Biſhopprick) May 24, 1665. He intended to have Built the Palace at Cuddeſdon; and had prepared part of the Materials in order to it, but was prevented by Death.

† I find by Wood, that he was Sequeſtred from this Living with his other Preferments, but whether he left it in the Rebellion, I make ſome Queſtion; becauſe Wood ſeems to be miſtaken in ſome part for his Loyalty.

——— ——— ReſidentiaryShip.
——— ——— ReſidentiaryShip.
——— ——— ReſidentiaryShip.

There

Digitized by Google

There are Four Residentiaries in this Church. I am not Informed of the Names of the Other Residentiaries ; and therefore who the Rest of them were, or whether All, or Any of the other Canonries were swallowed up by the Persons before mentioned in the other Dignities , I must leave with the Reader as a Quere.

AQUILA CRUSO, B. D. Prebend of Wettering.

He Died during the Usurpation.

† There was one Edward Boughen Sequestred from the Rectory of Wood-church in Kent ; (Of whom see Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 115.) who (that Author saith, he was informed) Lived to be Restored with his Majesty . And if so, he cannot have been the same Person with this Prebendary ; unless he Died between May the 29th, and August the 11th, 1660 ; at the time of which Last Date, Robert Pory, B. D. Succeeded in the Prebend, per mortem naturalem Edward Boughen . But Wood not being positive in the Circumstances of his Information about the Return of Mr. Boughen, tis possible they might be the same Person : And if so, the Reader may see in the fore-cited Place of Wood, a further Account of Him and his Writings.

JOHN NUT, . Prebend of Ferring And , in* Sussex.

* Ath. Iuvest.

He Died under the Usurpation. There was one Mr. Nut, a Clergyman, who supported Mr. Wilsham, the Sequestred Rector of Rusper in this County, and suffered very severely for it. That same Mr. Nut is also said to have lost Two Livings, which, 'tis probable enough, might be in this County ; but quere. I take him to have been the same Person with this Prebendary : However, quere That also.

†‡ See Canterbury-Church, and Quere whether this Generation be the same Person with Dr. George Eglionby, there mentioned. Wood, in Enumerating the Preferments of this Last mentioned Person, is wholly silent as to any Prebend of this Church : But if they were the same, it must be further inquired whether he suffered any thing in this Prebend, before he was nominated to the Deanery of Canterbury ; which in some measure have been, because of the Affairs of This Church were then in such Disorder, that no other Person was Collated (or at least, Installed) until August 18, 1660 , when Walter Jones, D. D. succeeded in it, per Mortem naturalem Geo Aglionby.

GEORGE †‡ AGLIONBY, D. D. Prebend of Woodham.

He likewise Died in the Time of the Usurpation.

‡ Quere if it be the same William Cartwright mentioned by Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 18. Wood is there wholly Silent as to any thing of this Prebend : However, it seems not Improbable, that they might be the same Person , but not being certain, I refer the Reader thither for a fuller Account of him, and leave it as a farther Quere, whether he suffered any thing in this Prebend before his Death (which happened in November 1643.) although it was it seems plain, that he had suffered here (for the Reason *) before alledged in Dr. Aglionby) no one succeeding in this Prebend till August 1660, when George Heath, A. M. came to it per mortem naturalem Will. Cartwright.

WILLIAM ‡ CARTWRIGHT , A. M. Prebend of Sarum.

He Died before the Restoration. See the Church of Sarum, and quere.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 471.

JOSEPH HENSHAW, D. D. . . . Prebend of Hurst. . . . . . Lewant, R. And Hasslost, R. } In Sussex.

* Which I take to be the same with Stedham cum Hayshot mentioned by Wood.

He was Born in this County, (but Descended from an Ancient Family in Cheshire) Educated at Magdalen-College in Oxford ; and when very young became Chaplain to John Digby, Earl of Bristol. After this he Obtained the Rectory of Stedham cum Hayslost, in his own County, was also* Vicar of Little St. Bartholomew in London, and Preacher to the Charter-House. In 1639, he proceeded D. D. and was then Prebendary of this Church. Upon the Breaking out of the Wars, he was despoiled of all, suffered much for the Royal Cause, and was a Brand snatched out of the Fire. In his Two Livings succeeded Two Violent Independents ; one of them, whose Name was Story, is well remembred by the remarkable Way of his being married ; which was This : Leading the Good Woman into the Church, with a great Concourse of People, he there asked her, whether She would have him ? To which being, no doubt, answered in the Affirmative, he desired the Company present to take notice of it : And then saluting her before them, he went immediately home, and to Bed likewise, not waiting till Night for the Consummation. But, to return to Dr. Henshaw ; Besides the Loss of his Preferments, he was forced also to Compound for his Temporals at 177 Pounds. However, he out-lived all his Troubles ; and July the 12th, 1660, was made Chaunter of this Church, in the room of Dr. Cox, deceased. Some Months after he was made Dean of it, upon the Promotion of Dr. Ryves to Windsor ; and in 1663, was Installed Bishop of Peterborough. He Died at London the 9th of March, 167⅚. ‡ Wood saith, he had been much in Renown for his admirable Way of Preaching.

* Saith Wood , and if so, 'tis probable Lost that Living also ; because we do not find in Mr. Newcourt , any Quere for Henshaw till towards the latter end of the Usurpation. But in truth, 'tis Here Wood is mistaken , and that the Mistake was occasioned by the writing the two Initial Letters of the Name only, viz. Jo. which equally stands for Joseph or John ; the latter of which Mr. Newcourt says, was the Christian Name of this Mr Henshaw of St Bartholomew, the Less. See Ryy Hist. Vl. p 298.

JOHN NAPPER, A.M. Preb. of Somerly. He Died before the Restoration.

MICHAEL GLYD, B.D. Prebend of Eartham. Eartham*, V. in Sussex, ... And Hawkly, R. in Hampshire. . . .

 Probably this Vicaridge and Prebend are annexed. Quare.

I am informed, that he was Dispossessed of his Livings by a Leading Man of these Times, without the least notice given him, or Reason urged against him. He was Succeeded in the Vicaridge of Eartham, by one Freeman, who, it seems, had the Character of an Active Busie K---- in these times. Mr. Glyd lived to the Restoration, and was Re-possessed of his Preferments; Altho' the Abridgment makes this Freeman, who surrendred Eartham to him again , an Ejected Minister. When he Died I know not ; nor any thing else of him, save that he Resigned his Prebend May the 11th, 1661 ; that he was reputed a very Loyal Good Man, and had a great Family when he was Sequestred.

See Cat. Vol. II. p. 291.

GEORGE EDGELY, D. D. Prebend of Heathfield, And Nuthurst, R. in Sussex. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p 718

*, I am not positively informed, of his Sequestration from this Living ; but my conjectures is, from what is here said of him in the Chancellor's Letter.

He was Created D. D. at Oxford, Feb. 22, 1643. Part of the Chancellor's Letter for that purpose was in these Words : He is a Prebendary of Chichester, and Rector of Nuthurst ; a Grave and Orthodox Divine. He is a Person that hath expressed his Loyalty, by his Active Services, and Passive Sufferings in these Times of Hostility, for the Defence of his Majesty's Person, Religion and Laws. He is so deserving this Honour, that he is beyond all manner of Exception. He is a Senior of the University of Cambridge, &c. By this 'tis plain, he was then a Sufferer. When he Died, I cannot learn ; it seems to me probable, that it was not long after : because he was succeeded in this Prebend by William Oughtred, whom I find possest of it at the Restoration ; and therefore he here followeth as a Second Sufferer in it.

Digitized by Google

William Oughtred, B. D. Prebend of Heathfield.

I take this Gentleman to have been the same Perſon with the incomparable Mathematician of both theſe Names; who is alſo mentioned by Lloyd among the Suffering Clergy: And if ſo, he was Born at Eaton about the Year 1573. Educated in the School there; afterwards he became Fellow of King's-College in Cambridge, and at length Fellow of * Eaton-College. He was alſo preferred to Albury in Surry, by Thomas Earl of Arundel; where, it is ſuppoſed by ſome, that he Died, but not in Poſſeſſion of that Living (unleſs he had Succeeded on a Sequeſtration) if I do not miſtake what Mr. Lloyd ſaith of Mr. Hanſley: Whom ſee at the Cathedral of St. Paul. He lived to ſee the Reſtoration of his Majeſty (of which Lloyd ſaith, he had a ſtrong Perſwation upon Principles of Art) and Expired June † 30, 1660, with a Circumſtance which was ſuch a Proof of Loyalty to his King, as there is hardly the like Inſtance to be found: For, upon hearing the News of the Vote at Weſtminſter, which paſſed May 1, for Reſtoring King Charles II. he Expired in a ſudden Extaſie of joy, in the 86th year of his Age. He had been much courted to Reſide in Italy, France, and Holland (tho' he was ſo little Noted in England) being a Perſon of ſingular Learning, and more particularly deſerving in the Mathematicks; which had lain ſo long neglected, and to which he gave a New Life, and a New Form too; reſtoring it to ſuch Maturity in ſo little compaſs of Time and Precepts, as would have been thought by any conſidering Perſon, to be the Work of many Ages and Volumes. I might add a great deal more of his Excellent Character, but I ſhall content my ſelf with juſt mentioning his extraordinary Modeſty; and ſubjoining out of Lloyd, that he was a Perſon of Meekneſs, Reſolution, Patience, Contentment, and a Plain and Solid Preacher.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 608. Full. Worth. in Bucks Great Hiſt. Dict.

* Saith Lloyd, but Quere further: alſo if the next Fellow thereto, who after he Reſigned upon his having preferred to Albury, was not preferred to Albury, or ſo ſtyled in his Fellowſhip.

† As Lloyd ſeems to the time of his Death; which however ſeems inconſiſtent with what Falconbridge concerning the manner of it in the Hiſt. Dict. (from his intimate Acquaintance Dr. Wallis) which therefore ſeems ſtrong ſhewing of May for the time of his Death; tho by Mr. Seller, as I ſhould judge. See what is ſaid at the Cloſe of Dr. Edgley inſt before.

John Gregory, A. M. Prebend of Brackleſham, And Prebend of Winterbourn-Earles in the Church of Salisbury. . . . . . }

This moſt incomparable Perſon was Born at Ame'ſham in the County of Bucks, in 1607, Educated at Chriſt-Church in Oxford, under Mr. (afterwards Biſhop) Morley, and having for ſeveral years together ſpent 16 of every 24 Hours in his Study, he became a Prodigy of Learning; and was by Dr. Duppa, then Dean of that Houſe, firſt made Chaplain of it, afterwards his own Domeſtick Chaplain, and, at length, Prebendary of this Church and of † Saliſbury, as that Worthy Prelate late ſucceſſively in each of thoſe Sees. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion he ſuffered in common with the reſt of the Loyal Clergy, and was reduced to ſuch Poverty, that he was forc'd to Retire to an Obſcure Alehouſe on Kiddington-Green near Oxford; and after ſome years died in that Obſcurity; but was, by the Contribution of ſome Friends, convey'd to Oxford for his Interment. Wood ſaith, that he attained to a Learned Elegance in Engliſh, Latin and Greek; and to an Exact Skill in Hebrew, Syriack, Caldee, Arabick, Ethiopick, &c. He was alſo well verſed in Philoſophy, had a curious Faculty in Aſtronomy, Geometry, and Arithmetick, and a familiar Acquaintance with the Jewiſh Rabbies, Ancient Fathers, Modern Criticks, Commentators, and what not? To which Lloyd adds, That he had an uſeful Command of Saxon, French, Italian, Spaniſh, and Dutch; and goes on (in his way) to ſay, That he was admirable for the Depth of his Rabbinical and Talmudical Reading, the Breadth of his Eaſtern and Weſtern Antiquities, his Peruſal of all Councils, his Command of all the Scholaſts, his Comprehenſion of all Architecture, Magick, Chymiſtry, Modes, Coins, Meaſures, Weights, Cuſtoms, Proverbs, &c. And laſtly, it was affirmed, That his Candle was not out one Night for 11 years together; That he was made uſe of by Arch-biſhop Laud, the Biſhops Lindſey and Mountague, as alſo Selden, in various Parts of Critical and Curious Learning; That he had a ſtrong Memory, quick Imagination, deep Judgment, invincible Patience, a good Nature, very Communicative, a downright plain and honeſt Temper, and a ſerious and holy Frame of Spirit. In one Word, I think he is allowed to have been the Miracle of this Age for Critical and Curious Learning. Though none of theſe Excellent Qualities could Screen him from the Barbarities of the Times. I have nothing more to add, but that he was ſucceeded in his Prebend of this * Church September 20, 1660, by his dear Friend Mr. John Gurgany; of whom more hereafter.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 50, &c.

† What Day and Year ſee in that Church.

About the middle of March 1646.

Ibid. where alſo ſee his Works.

Mem. p. 87. &c. out of Wood. Who ſays the Former part of his Character

* And poſſibly in that of Salisbury ; Query Reſtoration.

I find Gurganey likes aſt Prebendary after the Reſtoration.

George Benson, A. M. Prebend of Wiſborrow: And Cheſton, R. in Shropſhire. . . . . }

I preſume he was only Collated to this Prebend on the Death of Dr. † Huchenſon, and that the Troubles would not then permit him to be inſtalled (which ſhewing this Church to be in Confuſion at that time, ſeems to intimate, that Dr. Huchenſon had ſuffered ſomething before his Death) becauſe I find that he was not done till December 7, 1660; when he is ſaid to be Admitted per mortem naturalem Huchenſon, &c. He was Son to Dr. Geo. Benſon, one of the Suffering Canons of Hereford, Educated at Queen's College in Oxford, Ejected from his Rectory by the Committee of Shropſhire, and ſucceeded in it by one Mr. Bagley, a meer Layman, who never paid him any Fifths for the Subſiſtence of his Wife and Family. But Mr. Benſon living to the Reſtoration, ſued him, and Recovered 80 l. from him upon that Account. However, he Returned not to Reſide at Cheſton, but permitted one Mr. Bayly to have that Rectory. Aug. 1, 1660, he was made D. D. at Oxford, and was about that time made Arch-deacon of Hereford. In June 1671, he was Inſtalled Prebendary of Worceſter, and the Year after became Dean of Hereford; where he died in 1693, leaving a Widow, who was the Siſter of Dr. John Fell, Biſhop of Oxford.

† Whom ſee before in this Church, in Mr. Benſon makes a 2d Suſſer in this Prebend.

Wood, Ath Vol. II. p. 812

Ambrose Sacheverell, L. L. B. Prebends Burſalis.

Of whom I know nothing more, ſave that he did not Out-live the Uſurpation.

John Mantas, A. M. Prebend of Sidleſham.

He Survived the Troubles, was Reſtored, and Died poſſeſt of his Prebend about 1669.

Thomas Lockey, A. M. Prebend of Thorney.

He lived to ſee his Majeſty Reſtored, was Reinſtated in his Prebend, but Reſigned it ſoon after. One of both theſe Names was made D. D. at Oxford in 1660, had been Student, and was afterwards Canon of Chriſt Church in that Univerſity; and Died 1679. Quere whether he were the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary.

Wood, Ath Vol. II. p. 814

One Thomas Lockey had the Prebend of Bonifter-Prima in the Church of Sarum, July 21, 1660, per mortem Gilb. Hyde, which was Vacated by Thomas Bowerman ult. Sept. 11, 1660; and the Vicarage of Alton-Parcras Sept. 12. He Gave Deat, per mortem Tho. Mason, which he Reſigned Feb. 6. 1671, and was ſucceeded in it by Tho. Topping.

ED.

Digitized by Google

EDWARD ASHBURNHAM, A.M. Prebend of Waltham.

Quere if he be the same Person with the Sequestred Vicar of Tunbridge in Kent.

He Died before the Restoration.

THEOPHILUS KENT, . Prebend of Gates.

See the Church of Norwich, and quere.

He likewise Died before the Restoration.

NATH. FIELD, A. M. Prebend of Windham.

He Survived the Rebellion, and Died about the Year 1666.

* I find two of both his Names, Minister of Husborne-Tarrant in Hampshire, and one of the Assembly of Divines, as also a Preacher before the Long Parliament. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 830. and Another who was one of the Sufferings Prebendaries of Wells. It matter either of them be the same with this Person, or with one another, Quere.

*CHRISTOPHER TESDALE, . Prebend of Bargham.

He Died before the Restoration.

——— GELLINGHAM, . Prebend of Fittleworth.

He Outlived the Usurpation, was Restored in 1660, and Died in 1673.

STEPHEN GOFFE, D. D. Prebend Novæ Ecclesiæ.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 388. who is however wholly silent as to this Prebend.

This I take to be the same Dr. Stephen Goffe who was Son to the Puritanical Minister of Stanmer in Sussex, Educated at Merton-College in Oxford, Travelled into the Low-Countries, was Chaplain to the Regiment of Colonel H. Vere, was afterwards one of the King's Chaplains, employed as an Envoy in France, Flanders, Holland, and other Countries; and, during the Rebellion did his Majesty great Service beyond the Seas. But upon the Declining of the Royal Cause he turned Roman Catholick, and was Admitted into the Society of the Oratorians at Paris; where he had an Opportunity of serving several of his Country men, and particularly the Famous Mr. Abraham Cowley. Upon the Restoration he was Deprived of his Prebend, Succeeded in it October 11, 1660, by Robert Leeves, A. M. and Died at Paris in 1681.

See a very Large and Scandalous Character of him in the Legend Life p. 144.

See in Wood what he published.

GEORGE EDGAR, L. L. B. Prebend of Highleigh.

He Died before the Restoration.

Or R D

JOHN RYVES, D. D. Preb. of Bury, And Gunvill, R. in Dorsetshire, worth 180 l. a Year.

I take this Prebendary and this Rector to have been the same Person; tho' I am not expressly informed that they were so. He had (at the time of his Sequestration, as I apprehend it) a Wife and Ten Children, and died before the Restoration. Perchance he was some way Related to Dr. Bruno Ryves, the Suffering Dean of this Church.

One John Ryves, LL.B. was a mem[illegible] at the Church of Salisbury; but his Degree, and the Time of his Death, if rightly represented to me, plainly shew him to have been a different Person from this Prebendary, &c. However quære.

WILLIAM STOTEVILLE, D. D. Prebend of Selsey.

In 1641, I find one Tho. Holland possessed of this Prebend; but when he died (pro. ejected) or whether he was Deprived of the Profits of it, by the Confusions, before his Death, and the Succession of Stoteville to it, and consequently whether there were Two Sufferers in this Prebend, or not, Quære.

He did not live to be Restored. I take him to be the same Person with William Stuteville, but whom he mention'd by Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 740, who was created D. D. at Oxford, June 23, 1646, and is said to have done his Majesty especial Service in the West.

RICHARD MILESON, A. M. Prebend of Coleworth.

I find him Deprived of this Prelend 1660; and therefore take him to be the same Richard Milefon who was the Suffering Arch-deacon of Suffolk; where see more of him.

EDWARD FULHAM, A. M. Prebend of † Irthorn, ... And Wootton, R. in Oxfordshire. . . . .

† Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 811 saith, that he became Prebendary of Chichester in the Year 1660; but he was misinformed: For I find him Possest of this Prebend in 1649.

See one Dr. Fulham in Hinks, and quære.

" In the Year 1638, he was Proctor of the U- " niversity of Oxford, and Chaplain to the then
" Bishop Bancroft; and in those Stations, a stre" nuous Opposer of Prideaux and the Puritan
" Party, both by Argument and Power. In the " Year 1641, he was chosen Procurator Cleri for " that Diocese (being presented to the Rectory of " Wootton near Oxford by the King) and in that " Convocation a Zealous Promoter of Granting " large Subsidies for the Support of the Crown.
" These Behaviours fo incenfed the Faction, that " Articles were Exhibited against him in Parlia-
" ment, and he taken into Custody of the Serjeant
" at Arms; and from that time till the Restoration,
" suffered Imprisonments, Sequestrations and Plun-
" derings, and at last was forced to Fly into Italy.
" They * Extorted a Resignation
" of his Rectory of Wootten, to " obtain his Liberty: By which " means he was Insulted by the " Intruder when the King came
" in. In the Year 1660, he was " made Canon of † Windsor, of " which he died Possest in the " Year 1695, and now lies Bu" ried in the Chancel belonging
" to his Manner of Compton-
" Eastbury in the County of Surry: And of him a " Learned Divine made this Epitaph:

* For which Reason it is that I reckon Wootton to his Account as a Sequestred Living, and yet plain he took office to himself, by demanding it after the Restoration; which is intimated by what follows, of his being Insulted by the Intruder.

† He was also Vicar of Bray; and in the same Year he was likewise Created D. D. at Oxford. Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 395, 812.

He Resigned his Prebend in 1682.

" Hic jacet Edvardus Fulham, S. T. P.
" Regibus, Carolo Primo, & Secundo à Sacris;
" Pro utroque carcere, proscriptione, & exilio honestatus.
" Hoc tandem receffu, senagenarius, excessit è vita,
" Vicesimo primo die Dec. Anno Salutis 1695.
" Prisce Fidei, Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, Reliquiæ.

Wood, in the last-cited Place, of I rightly understand him, seems to insinuate, that he was permitted to Enjoy the Rectory of Hampton-Poyle in Oxfordshire during some Part of the Usurpation.

EDWARD STANLY, D. D. Prebend of Exeit.

See Winchester-Cathedral.

HENRY STRINGER, B. D. Prebend of Firles.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 713.

He Died under his Sufferings. I take him to be the same Person with the Ejected Warden of New-

Digitized by Google

New-College in Oxford; and if ſo, ſee more of him There.

EDWARD LANGHORN, . Prebend of Hampſted.

He did not Live to ſee the Reſtoration.

† They are doubtleſs Two, at leaſt, in all probability more: but I am not Informed of their Number in this Church.

——— ——— † Minor Canonry.
——— ——— Minor Canonry.

Or what ever other Title they may bear in this Church.

St. DAVID's.

ROGER MANWARING, D.D. Biſhoprick.

He was Born at Stretton in * Shropſhire, and Educated in the Univerſity of Oxford. He was ſometime Vicar of St. Giles's in the Fields, and Chaplain to King Charles I. Before whom preaching (July 27.) thoſe Sermons which he Afterwards Publiſhed, and Entituled, Religion and Allegiance; he was called in queſtion for it by the Parliament, Charged with Endeavouring to Deſtroy the King and Kingdom by his Divinity, and Cenſured to be Impriſoned; was Fined 1000 l. and ordered to make his Submiſſion, and was Diſabled to Have or Enjoy any Preferment or Office. However, the King ſoon after Pardoned him, and gave him the Rich Living of Stanford-Rivers in Eſſex; in 1633, made him Dean of Worceſter; and Two Years after Nominated him to this Biſhoprick. But the Party were not forgetful of him; and in 1640, his Troubles were Revived in Parliament; and tho' the Old Grudge lay ſtill at the Bottom of the Proſecution, Yet the New Crimes of Popiſh Innovations, Converſing with Papiſts, and being Sociable and Jovial, were Trumpt up againſt him. Upon which he was, (as Lloyd expreſſes it in his Way) Apprehended ſuddenly, Confined ſeverely, Fined heavily, Plundered violently, and Perſecuted from Place to Place continually; inſomuch, That for the two laſt Years of his Life, not a Week paſſed over his Head, without a Meſſage or an Injury; which he deſired God not to remember againſt his Adverſaries, and adjured all his Friends to Forget. Under theſe his Troubles he had nothing but a ſmall Temporal Eſtate left to Support him, and Died at Caermarthen, after he had endured many Miſeries, July 16, 1633. Lloyd ſaith, that he was an Excellent Critick in the Greek Tongue; but Wood ſeems to Leſſen that Part of his Character; and ſaith, That he had ſome Curioſity in Learning. He was of a Pious Life and Converſation, and very Charitable; as appears particularly, by One of the Three Great Deſigns which he had in purſuit; namely, the Redeeming of Captives. And tho' he labour'd under a very ſevere Character with the Puritans *; yet by the Royaliſts he was eſteemed Worthy of the Great Function which he bore; being a Perſon of great Zeal for the Church of England.

* Triumph of a Cheſhire Family; which Lloyd ſaith, was a Noble one.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p 619

Lloyd, Mem. p. 670, &c.

Full. Ch Hiſt. L. 2. Cent. 17. p. 129.

* Not without good Reaſon, as far as I can learn, in relation to the Accuſation againſt him of Straining the Prerogative in the matter of Raiſing Money without the Conſent of Parliament.

GRIFFITH HIGGS, D. D. . . . . Chaunterſhip, ... And * Canonry. . . . . .

* For as to Iwinfkerdyn, Camden, every one of the Executories and Arch-deacons in this Church, have a Canonry of courſe. Britan. p. 612.

I take the Chaunterſhip to be the Firſt Dignity in this Church: For it hath no Deanry belonging to it.

See Lichfield-Cathedral.

REES PRITCHARD, A. M. . . Chancellorſhip, ... Canonry, ... And † Prebend of Lowhadden. . . .

† Which is Annext to the Chancellorſhip.

He was Born at Lanymoddyſy in Caermarthenſhire, Educated at Jeſus-College in Oxford, became Vicar of his own Native Pariſh, and of Llamedy in this Dioceſs; Both which he was Qualified to hold, by being Chaplain to the Earl of Eſſex. He had alſo a Prebend in the Collegiate Church of Brecknock; which I ſuppoſe he was likewiſe Deprived of: But whether he loſt either of his Livings, I cannot tell. He was preferred to the Chancelloſſhip in the Year 1636, and Breathed his Laſt in the ſame Pariſh where he had drawn his Firſt Breath, about the latter End of the Year 1644: By which time I preſume the Affairs of This, as well as of the Other Cathedrals, were all in Confuſion; which is the only Authority that I have for placing him Here as the Suffering Chancellor.

Wood, Ath. Fol. II. p. 19 Where ſee what he wrote.

If at leaſt That Church had by the Time of his Death undergone the common Fate, which in the Time of the Rebellion attended other Collegiate Churches, of which quaere.

——— ——— Treaſurerſhip, And Canonry.

HUGH LLOYD, D. D. Arch-deacony of St. David's. . . . Canonry, ... St. Andrew's, R. } In Glamorganſhire. And St. Nicholas, R. } The Two valu'd at 200 l. a Year.

His Temporal Eſtate alſo was declared Forfeited for Treaſon, by an Act of No. 18. 1651. Scob. Coll. Part 2 p. 111.

He was Born in the County of Cardigan, and Educated partly at Oriel, partly at Jeſus-College in Oxford; of which Latter I think he became Fellow. He ſuffered much for the Royal Cauſe, was ſeverely uſed by the Men of the Times, and Forced after his Ejection, to Remove from Place to Place for his Security. He was allowed his Fifths for ſome Years, but at length deprived of them: And though Providence never ſuffered him wholly to Want, yet he was reduced to Hard Shifts for the Subſiſtence of a Numerous Family. Notwithſtanding which, He frequently Declared, That he lived as much to his Satisfaction then, as he did in the greateſt Affluence of Fortune. After the Reſtoration he was Promoted to the Epiſcopal See of Landaff; in Poſſeſſion of which he Died, about the Middle of the Year 1667, and about the 80th Year of his Age. He was a Very Pious, Learned, Charitable and Primitive Good Man.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p 669.

He was ſucceeded in the Living by one Miller, if I miſtake not.

In 1661.

ISAAC SINGLETON, A. M. Arch-deacony of Brecknock, And Canonry. . . . . .

See Carliſle.

He Lived long enough to Suffer in This Arch-deaconry, though he Died ſoon after the Rebellion broke out, and made way for a Second Perſon to Suffer here, viz.

WILLIAM NICHOLSON, A. M. Arch-deacony of Brecknock, . . * Canonry, ... Caermarthen, V. And Llandilowaur, R. } In Caermarthenſh.

* Wood calls him Reſidentiary; but whether all the 32 Canons of this Church are ſo Called, or if it is Peculiar to ſome of them only, I know not.

He

Digitized by Google

Heylin's Life of Laud p. 55.

He was Born at Stratford in Suffolk, Educated both in Grammar and Academical Learning, at Magdalen-College in Oxford, was Chaplain to Henry Earl of Northumberland, Master of the Free-School at Croyden in Surry; where he continued several Years, but at last Retired into Wales, and obtained the above-named Preferments; which he loft again foon after; and for a Livelihood submitted himself to Teach a Private School in Caermarthenshire; maintaining in the mean time, the Cause of the Church of England, by his Writings against her Adversaries. Having, by God's Providence, his Life stretched out to a greater length than that of his Own and the Nation's Miseries, he was, by the Interest of the Lord Chancellor Clarendon, Promoted to the See of Gloucester about the latter end of the Year 1660, had liberty to keep this Arch-deaconry in Commendam with it, and Died February 3, 167⅞. He was, saith Wood, a Right Learned Divine, well seen and read in the Fathers and Schoolmen: But above all, most Excellent in the Critical Part of Grammar; in which Faculty none in his time, or perhaps before, went beyond him. And he appears by his Writings to have been a Person of Great Learning, Prudence, Modesty, &c. To which accords that of his Epitaph.

In Concionibus, frequens; in Scriptis, nervosus: Legenda scribens, & faciens scribenda. Gravitas Episcopalis in Fronte emicuit. Pauperibus quotidiana Charitate Beneficus, Comitate erga Clerum & Literates, Admirandus. Gloriæ ac Dierum Satur, in Palatio suo, ut Vixit, pie Decessit, &c.

ROBERT RUDD, . Arch-deaconry of * Caermarthen, And Canonry. . . . . }

* Or of the other Arch-deaconry following. For I find by an Original Order of the Trustees for the Maintenance of Ministers, That the Profits of Mr. Rudd's Archdeaconry were Sequestred into the Hands of another Person. In that Order so it ended said to be Arch-deacon of St. Davids; which I take to be a Loose Expression (especially from such as understood little of Cathedral Affairs or Terms) meaning no other than This: That he was One of the Arch-deacons of that Church. And 'tis plain, for Arch-deaconry could not be either of the foregoing ones; unless Dr. Lloyd Refused to the Retaining of the Troubles; which I do not find the least Shadow of Reason to Conjecture

—— —— Archdeaconry of Cardigan, And Canonry. . . . . }

LEONARD MILBOURN, . Canonry, And Skelton, R. in Cumberland. . . }

He was Son to Dr. Milbourn, the then Late Bishop of Carlisle.

—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.
—— —— Canonry.

* After repeated Application to this Church, (as also to those of St. Asaph and Bangor) I have not been able to obtain a List of the Sufferers in them. Nor am I informed of their several Constitutions, any otherwise than from Camden's Britann. and the Valor Beneficiorum. By the Former of those I find there are 22 Canons in this Church: But whether they have Distinct Titles, and are appropriated to Peculiar Stalls; as also whether they are not sometimes called Prebendaries, I am not certain; but conclude the Latter; because I find 22 Prebends (the Exact Number of the Canonries here) belonging to this Church, in the Hands of the Welch Sequestrators in 1650.

Dr. Francis Mansell, Principal of Jesus-College in Oxford, who Died not till the Year 1665, had been sometime one of the Canons of this Church. Whether he was so at the time of the Dissolution of the Cathedrals (and consequently whether he was a Sufferer in one of Those Blank Canonries) quere. See Jesus-College in Oxford.

Wood Antiq. Lib. II. p. 119.

—— —— * Prebend of St. Nicholas. Prebend of Cledcy.

* Both these Prebends in the Valor Beneficiorum are said to be in Eccl. Menevensi.

As there is no mention made in the Valor Beneficiorum, of the Canons; so neither are any Prebends subjoined to the Dignities, as in other Cathedrals. And therefore I know not whether there are any other Prebends than the Three above-mentioned (the Two latter of which are also interspersed with the Rectories and Vicaridges) belonging to this Church. But I find about 30 other Prebends (interspersed also with the Parishes) in this Diocese, Of what nature they are, I am wholly ign orant. Whether any of them may belong to the Collegiate Church of Brecknock, (for that none of them belong to this Cathedral, seems to be intimated; because the Two above-mentioned are expressly named and distinguished from the others by the foregoing additional Note, viz. in Eccles. Menevensi) or whether they are a sort of Sine-Cures, or of what other nature they may be, I cannot tell. And as little am I informed whether they fell with the Cathedrals, at the General Dissolution; or whether the Incumbents in them were otherwise at all Sequestred. That some, if not most if them, were so, seems probable, from the Clear Riddance which the Sequestrators made in Those Countries. But then Who the Incumbents on them were, or How many of them might be the same Persons with those Sequestred from several of the Parishes, I can as little tell. The Titles of those Prebends, as they lye in the Valor Beneficiorum, follow: Prebenda of Llurian, Marthir, Hyddle, Llanvrock, Hwnre, Cenarth, Lledred, Llanhaddern, Llanhaeghe, Trallan, Llangarmarth, Llanwich, Llanfasfred, Clare, Lowis, Bochtoed Llanvader and Castlepain, Llandyllio, Llanbester, Llangaito, Samtheromon, Llandegle, Maughrre, Llandrindodd, Llandefilio, Llanheydroy, Trecllieigh and Betteor, Llangan, Llanvernagh, Llanarthney, Llanfarock.

—— —— † Minor Canonry. Minor Canonry. }

† They are probably Two at least; it may be more

For I am not informed of the Number of them.

DURHAM.

THOMAS MORTON, D. D. Bishoprick. He was a Gentleman of an Ancient Family, Related to Arch-bishop Morton, and was Born at York March 20, 1564. He was Educated at Cambridge, and had been Fellow of St. John's-College and Logick-Lecturer in that University. His fifth Parochial Preferments were in Yorkshire, if I mistake not; of which Long-Marston was One. Afterwards he was taken into the Family of the Earl of Huntington, in Quality of a Chaplain; to which Service his Dexterity and Acuteness in Disputing with the Remiss Recusants had recommended him. With Two of these he had a Publick Conference in York, to the great Satisfaction of the Gentry and Clergy of that County, who were the Auditors of it. And he was so happily Successful in this kind, that he converted very many, and Considerable Persons from Popery; of which Number Bishop Coosins is reckoned One, and Mr. Theophilus Higgons, the Sequestred Rector of Hunton in Kent, Another. About the Year 1603, he attended the Lord Ewry's Embassy into Germany; and on his Return was made Domestick Chaplain to the Earl of Rutland, as also D. D. About the same time he was Prebendary, and after Canon of York; and at length was made successively Chaplain to King James I. Dean of Gloucester and of * Winchester, Bishop of Durham, and Chancellor of the Garter. He died in his House at Eton in Buckinghamshire, Sept. 22, 1659. He was Buried in the Chancel of Eton Church, and had a Monument erected to his Memory, with a Latin Inscription upon it.

Fun. Serm. and Life, by Dr. Barwick. More of his Works and Character.

Life, by Clement Barkdale.

There is also another Life of him written by his Secretary, and finished by his Chaplain Lloyd, Mem. p. 449, &c.

* Whilst he continued in that Diocese, he had the Living of Alresford in Hampshire; and whilst Bishop of Chester, had the Living of Stopford (or Stockport, as I suppose) in Commin-ham.

Digitized by Google

of Coventry and Litchfield; and about the Year 1632, was Translated to this See; which he governed with Admirable Prudence and Equity. Among other moſt Excellent Deſigns, which he had purſued in his ſeveral Dioceſes, that of Augmenting Poor-Livings and Vicaridges, was one; which he continued to Proſecute after he was Advanced to this Rich Biſhoprick. The ſmall Place of Biſhops-Aukland was that which he began with; the Stipend of which he Increaſed from 16, to 80 Pounds per Annum; and that of the Chappel belonging to it, from 6, to 30 Pounds Yearly. And he had Purpoſed to do the ſame throughout the Reſt of this Dioceſs, had he not been Prevented by the Scotch and Engliſh-Tumults, which were then Increaſing; and afterwards carried on into an Open Rebellion. As long as he was Allowed to keep his Biſhoprick, he made likewiſe Four Neighbouring Gentlemen Judges of the Fines betwixt himſelf, and his Tenants; and was very Tender in the matter of Wrecks, Deodands, and Waraſhips, that what he took, was rather to Preſerve the Rights of his Succeſſors, than to Advantage himſelf. When the Rebellion broke out, he was an early Sufferer under it; and in 1640, I find an Order of the Parliament, for ſeizing his Rents. Being one of the Proteſting Biſhops likewiſe, he was Committed to the Black-Rod, where he continued four Months: And once more, during the Conſuſions, was taken into Cuſtody, for Baptizing a Child of the Earl of Rutland's, according to the Order of the Church of England, and Refuſing to deliver up the Seal of the County Palatine of Durham. He was alſo Turned-out of Durham-Houſe by the Soldiers, when they came to make a Garriſon of it; and in one of the Tumults in London, was in Danger of his Life from the Rabble; who Cried out, Pull him out of his Coach; and whilſt others Cried, No, He is a good Man; they were Anſwered, 'Tis no matter for that, He is a Biſhop. And himſelf after ſaid, He verily believed he ſhould not have Eſcaped Alive, had not a Leading-Man among them, Cried out, Let him go and Hang himſelf. But to make him ſome Amends for this Ill-uſage, the Commons Voted him a Better Subſiſtence than any of the Reſt of the Biſhops, which was † 800 l. per Annum: But that Vote took no other Effect, than that by Vertue of it, ſeconded with the Importunity of ſome Friends, he Obtained 1000 Pounds; with which he paid his Debts, and Purchaſed a certain Annuity for his Life. Under theſe his Troubles, he Retired firſt to his Patron the Earl of Rutland; after that to one Captain Saunders in Herefordſhire; thence to Mr. Richerſham's in Bedfordſhire, and at laſt going to London, with about 60 Pounds (which it ſeems was then his All) he was Overtaken on the Road by Sir Chriſtopher Telverton, who being known to the Biſhop, though the Biſhop was unknown to him; and in Diſcourſe, Asking the Old Gentleman, What he was? The Good Biſhop Replied, I am that Old Man the Biſhop of Durham, notwithſtanding all your Votes: For Sir Chriſtopher was not free from the Stain of the Times. Whereupon Sir Chriſtopher Demanded whither he was going? To London, Replied the Old Gentleman, to Live a little while, and then Die. On this Sir Chriſtopher entred into further Diſcourſe with him, took him Home with him to Northamptonſhire; where he became Tutor to that Son of his, which was afterwards the Incomparably Learned Sir Henry Telverton, and Prefaced this moſt Excellent Biſhop's little Piece of Epiſcopacy. After ſome time Sir Chriſtopher Died, and then Sir Henry (whom the Good Old-Biſhop had made a True-Son of the Church of England, and endeared to himſelf with the Affection of a moſt Tender Child) gratefully continued to Support him, till God was pleaſed to call him to a Greater Reward; which was September 21. 1659, in the 95th Year of his Age: At which time he had been 44 Years a Biſhop. He was a Perſon of a Grave and Sober Speech, a Sweet and Grave Countenance, of Upright and Sprightful Motion, and of a Vigorous Youth even in Old Age. He was ſo Temperate, that he ſeldom or never Uſed Wine, but at Meals; Exercited a frequent Abſtinence, would often deny himſelf ſome Part of that ſmall Pittance which he uſually allowed himſelf for Sleep, to Riſe out of his Bed, and ſpend in Prayer; and was otherwiſe ſo very Mortified, that he conſtantly lay on a Straw-Bed, till he was 80 Years of Age, and the Cramp would not permit him to do ſo any longer. He was a Perſon likewiſe of Incredible Induſtry, would often be at his Study before Four of the Clock in the Morning, and held his Time ſo Precious, and Husbanded it with ſo much Frugality, that when he Travelled in his Coach, he would always have one to Read to him. As for his Charity, beſides thoſe Inſtances of it already hinted at, he Built a Free-School at Biſhops-Aukland, and Endowed it with 24 Pounds per Annum; he Maintain'd ſeveral at the Univerſity on his own Charges; he gave 4 or 5 Hundred Pounds worth of Books to St. John's College in Cambridge, where he had his Education; and intended to have ſerled 100 Pounds per Annum for the ſame Uſe, had not the Execrable Rebellion defeated this and his other Noble Deſigns. He had alſo a certain Number of Impotent Perſons in a conſtant Penſion, and kept a conſtant Table for the Poor, beſides what was Daily given away at his Gate. But one remaining Inſtance of this Vertue, much Exceeds all that hath been hitherto ſaid; for in the Year 1603, when the Plague Raged at York, he made frequent Viſits to thoſe in the Peſt-Houſe there, and provided Relief for their Bodies, as well as their Souls; taking with him uſually a Sack of Proviſions, and not permitting his Servant to carry it after him, ſo much as to the Door. He alſo gave 10 Pounds to the Poor of the Pariſh where he Died, and 20 Pounds to a Servant; leaving only enough to Bury him, and to Erect a Modeſt Monument. After all this, it will be deemed Needleſs to mention the following Inſtances of his Hoſpitality; That he Entertained the King, and the Officers of the Army, at the Ceſt of 1500*l.* one Day; and that ſeldom any Scholar went away from him without a Sum of Money, as well as a Noble Entertainment. He was moreover a Perſon of ſuch Exalted Devotion, that he ſeldom Anſwered, at the End of any Prayer, with a ſingle Amen; would never Kneel on a Cuſhion, nor in his Laſt Sickneſs, ever Prayed with his Cap on his Head. He Proſeſſed at his very Laſt, the higheſt Eſteem for the Doctrine, Diſcipline, Government, and Worſhip of the Church of England; and Exhorted thoſe about him to continue Stedfaſt in it. He had a mighty Value for the Liturgy, gave expreſs Orders to be Buried by it, and took great Conſolation in the Church's Preparatives for Death, viz. Profeſſion of Faith, Charity, and Repentance; Abſolution, and Receiving of the Bleſſed Euchariſt. The Learned Stanhemius, Rivet, Willius, and other Great Men in the Foreign Churches, were his Acquaintance and Correſpondents. In a word, ſo many Excellent Qualities as this Great Man was Poſſeſſed of, would have made him the Veneration and Reverence of any other Perſons on Earth, but the Engliſh Diſſenters. Part of his Epitaph runs thus:

Poſt plurimas pro Sanctâ Eccleſiâ &c. tolerantiæ Afflictiones, Diuturnâ hoc Nomine Proſeſſâ, Jure, inde poſtulatâ; Hoc demum Anno Ætatis [illegible]

If ſtill he was at Litchfield to make an Addition to the Vicaridge of Pichley in Northamptonſhire, by Remitting a Conſiderable Part of his Fine.

† Indeed in deferred for ſome time to look after it; and when he did, found that the Vote contained no more, than only That ſuch a Sum ſhould be paid, but no mention by whom, or whence! And by that time he could procure an Explanation of that Order, to make the Penſion payable out of the Revenues of his own Biſhoprick, all the Lands and Revenues of it were Sold or Divided by the Party amongſt themſelves.

And among them one Carrington, who had been Born Blind: By which means he afterwards became a very Uſeful Perſon in the Miniſtry, whereas he moſt have been in a manner loſt to himſelf, as well as to the World.

Some of his Letters are Publiſhed at the End of the New Diſcovery of Prelates Tyrranny.

Digitized by Google

omnibus, Bonâ præterquam Famâ & Conscientiâ &c.

WALTER BALCANQUAL, D. D. Deanery. Mastership of the Savoy. . . . . And * Tatenal R. in Staffordshire. . .

* I take this to be one and the same person with Dean Balcanqual.

This Person was a Scotchman by Birth, Educated at Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, and in the Year 1618, (when he was Incorporated D.D. at Oxford) was Chaplain to King James I, by whom he had been, the Year before, made Master of the Savoy; which Mastership, a little time after he Resigned to the Arch-Bishop of Spalato, and upon the Return of that Prelate to his Errors and Country, Dr. Balcanqual had the Savoy again conferred on him. He was also one of the Divines sent from England to the Synod of Dort; where his Behaviour gained him a great deal of Reputation. In the Year 1634, he was made Dean of Rochester; and in 1639, had the Deanery of this Church bestowed upon him. In 1642, he was Sequestred from the Savoy, Plundered also, and Forced to Fly to his Majesty at Oxford. Afterwards he shifted from Place to Place for his Security; and at length fixing for the Safety of his Life, to Cuirk-Castle in Denbighshire, he Died there on Christmas Day 1645. Some Years after there was a Noble Monument set over his Grave, by that most Worthy Royalist Sir Thomas Middleton. He was, saith Lloyd, a Man of Great Prudence, and an Admirable Preacher: and his being pitched upon to Represent the Church of Scotland in the Synod of Dort, when he was very young, shews him to have been a Man of more than common Parts and Learning. His Death made room for Other Sufferers in this Great Dignity: For immediately upon it, his Majesty nominated

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 513, where also see what he wrote.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 522.

Perse, Undec. p. 41.

Ibid.

Of whom see more in the Church of Worcester.

CHRISTOPHER POTTER, D. D. Dean. Who dying about Two Months after, the King was pleased to Appoint WILLIAM FULLER, D. D. Deani And St. Giles's Cripplegate, V. London. . .

Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 317.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 729.

Perse. Undec. p. 41.

† For which reason I have mentioned him at that Church also.

Ibid.

This Excellent Person was Born at Hadleigh in Suffolk, Educated in the University of Cambridge, successively Chaplain to their Majesties King James and King Charles I. and about the Year 1636, (as Wood thinks) was made Dean of Ely. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion in 1642, he was Sequestred from his Living of St. Giles's, Plundered also and Imprisoned; and, as Wood adds, Spoiled of All for his Loyalty to his Prince. To whom he Fled at Oxford; where he was Incorporated D. D. and continued there till that Place was surrendred to the Parliament Forces. By this Account of him, 'tis plain he had † suffered about Three Years in his Deanery of Ely, before this of Durham was conferred upon him: Of the Revenues of which he was also deprived Fourteen Years. For retiring from Oxford, upon the Submission of that Garrison to the Parliament, he lived Obscurely in London, and died not till the Year 1659; which was the 79th of his Age. I find he was also forced to Compound for his Temporals with 100 l. And he had this peculiar in his Sufferings, that he was in a manner Persecuted even after his Death; for they denied him Rest in his Church of St. Giles's before-mentioned: Whereupon he was Buried in that of Vedasfius Foster-Lane. He was, saith Wood, Famous for his Prudence and Piety, a good Linguist, an Excellent Preacher, and without doubt, would have risen higher, had it not been for the Iniquity of the Times. One Part of his Epitaph seems very well worth noting; which is this:

Oh Fidem in Principem, & Constantiam in vera Religione, Bonis periturisque spoliatus, æternis in Cœlo fruitur. Tandem sepultura juxta Ritus Ecclesiæ, per Barbarem Pseudo-Vicarii, & Ingratitudinem eorum, inter quos ut Lucerna ardens, seipsum consumpserat, negatâ; Requiem, &c. Hic invenit, &c.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 509.

I had almost forgot to let the Reader know, that I find him taken into Custody by the Commons in 1641; and that his Place, by the same Authority, was secured, and melted down for the Use of the Common-wealth: As also that he Assisted in the Polyglot.

See in Wood what he published.

GABRIEL CLARK, D. D. Archdeaconry of Durham, . . . † First Prebend in this Church, . . Erlington, R. in this County, . . And Gresham-Hospital. All worth near 1000 l. per Annum.

† He was admitted to this Prebend in 1635.

He had been formerly Arch-deacon of Northumberland, to which he was Collated by Dr. Neile, then Bishop of this Church; and was by him also afterwards preferred to this Arch-deaconry in the Year 1620. Possibly he survived the Usurpation: For his Successor in the Prebend was not Admitted until 1662.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 513.

He had been also Chaplain to Bishop Neile. Heylin's Life of Laud. p. 53.

JOHN ROBSON, . Arch-deaconry of Northumberland, Sixth Prebend, ... Morpeth, R. in that County, worth 250 l. per Annum.

And in the Prov. of Canterbury. See Mat. Paris. Ad. Murimuth. Wilkins. Batwick after.

He was also Plundered, and died soon after; which was about the Year 1643: So that here were Two Sufferers in this * Arch-deaconry. The Second was See Mat. Leyett. in this Church.

ISAAC BASIERE, D.D. Arch-deaconry of Northumberland. Seventh Prebend of this Church. * Horwick, R. in Northumberland. Stanhope, R. } In the County of Durham. And Eggliffe, . } Both worth between 4 and 500 l. per Annum.

* Some of these possibly he still Sacrifices, as well as Wars and uncommon. He was admitted Prebendary here in 1641.

This Great Man was Born in the Isle of Jersey, had been Chaplain to Bishop Morton, who bestowed on him the Arch-deaconry, the Prebend, and the Living of Stanhope. In 1639, he was Incorporated D. D. at Oxford, as he had before been at Cambridge; and was about that time Chaplain to his Majesty. In the time of the Rebellion he was Sequestred, Persecuted, Plundered, and Forced to Fly, first to his Majesty at Oxford, afterwards from Place to Place here in England; and at last abroad, into Foreign Countries; leaving his Family behind him. Upon this occasion he resolved to make a Vertue of Necessity, and proposed to himself the Propagating the Doctrine of the English Church among the Greeks, Arabians, &c. To this end he went to Zant, thence to the Morea, (where he preached Twice in Greek, at a Meeting of some of the Bishops and Clergy) after that he Travelled through Apulia, Naples, Sicily, to Aleppo, Jerusalem, and over all Palestine. He likewise passed the Euphrates, and went to Mesopotamia; and at length returned to Constantinople.

Life of Bp. Morton, Two. p. 95.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 903: Where also see what he wrote.

See Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 731.

He hath Published a Letter giving an account of his Travels. And I have not seen it.

Digitized by Google

pic. He intended to have gone into Egypt, but was prevented. After this, he went into Transylvania, where he was entertained by Prince Georgo Ragozzi, and made Divinity-Professor. After the Space of 15 Years Absence he returned into England, about the time of his Majesty's Restoration, was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Arch-deaconry at leaſt, if not of his other Preferments, and Died at Durham in 1676, In the Publick Regiſter of the Univerſity of Cambridge, he is ſtiled Vir doctiſſimus, Ingenii & Doctrinæ ornamento præditus. I had almoſt omitted to tell the Reader, that he was Thrice ſhut up in the Sieges of Oxford, Carliſle and in a Confinement at Stockton-Caſtle, in following the Fortune of his Majeſty's Cauſe.

He was alſo Preſident of the Synod held at Mareivarhatheli in 1617 &c. Durell's Liturg. p. 9.

JOSEPH NAYLOR, D. D. Second Prebend, And Sedgefield, R. in this County, worth 600 l. per Annum. . . . . }

He had been Fellow of Sidney-College in Cambridge, and Chaplain to Biſhop Morton; who beſtowed theſe Preferments upon him; to the Former of which he was Admitted in 1636. He drew up the Additions to the Life of Biſhop Morton, which were afterwards Publiſhed; and Died in 1668.

Life of Bp Morton, two p. 83.

JOHN NEILE, A. M. Third Prebend. See York-Church. He was made Prebendary here in 1635.

THOMAS CARR, D. D. Fourth Preb. And Aickliffe, V. in this Church. . . . . }

He was Born in the County of York, Educated partly at Peter-Houſe, and thence Tranſlated to Jeſus-College in Cambridge. He was Preſented to the Rectory of Hugget in Yorkſhire, and to this Vicaridge, by the Moſt Noble Earl of Strafford, to whom he was Chaplain; and paid his Attendance to him at the time of his being Murthered on Tower-Hill: not long after which he Died himſelf, in a manner Heart-broken; having, as I make no queſtion, Suffered as well in This Prebend, as in his Living; becauſe no Admiſſion, (occaſioned, as I apprehend, by the Confuſions) was obtained by his Succeſſor; who was

He became Preb. in 1630.

Whether he left this Living or not, I am not Expreſly informed; but 'tis no ſo farme probable that he did.

JOHN BARWICK, B. D. Fourth Prebend. In which he therefore makes a Second Sufferer, And Fellowſhip of St. John's College in Cambridge. . . . . }

Tho' he was thus A. M. when he was turned out of his Fellowſhip in Cambridge, yet in the Year 1645, (before the Vifer Diſquiſition of the Catholicks) he was made B. D. at Oxford.

I make no Scruple to ſet him down as a Suffering Prebendary here, ſeeing his Collation to the Prebend, although he was not Admitted, gave him a Title to it in Equity. But I muſt add, that he occurs likewiſe in the Eighth Prebend of this Church; and that I have not ſufficient Notices exactly to Determine whether he removed from that Prebend to This, on the Death of Dr. Carr; or from This Prebend to That, on the Death of Mr. Maxton; and conſequently cannot ſay in which of the Two he ought rather to be placed as a Sufferer. But as he could not Suffer in Both, ſo quare whether any one was after Nominated, and ſuffered in the Other.

This Excellent Perſon was, as Wood conjectures, Chaplain to Biſhop Morton about the Year 1645; and by him Preferred to this Prebend. He was Born in Weſtmorland, and Educated in the Univerſity of Cambridge, as appears by his Fellowſhip. After being Deprived of which, though then in a very weak and ſickly Condition, he Adhered firmly to the Cauſe of his Majeſty, and the Church, both * undertook, and managed ſucceſsfully, many Matters of the greateſt Difficulty and Danger, in purſuit of his Duty to each of them; and for that Cauſe was ſhut up in a Dire and Loathſome Priſon, where he ſuffered Inhumane and Barbarous Uſage, and was near Famiſhed (ſaith Winſtan. Loyal Martyrol. p. 87.) being as Lloyd adds, fed only with Bread and Water for ſeveral Years: Which however, had an Effect much beſide that which, no doubt, his Perſecutors intended, as conducing, in a ſurpriſing manner, to the Recovery of his Health; which the Learned † Dr. Sydenham takes Notice of, as a thing very well worth Remark, in theſe words: In Languido hoc ſtatu, cum Vir egregius, Regis Partibus tunc temporis Tyrannide Oppreſſis, faviſſe Deprehenſus eſt, ac in arctiſſimam Carcerem conjectus, loco Potus Ordinarii meram Aquam bibere; præter omnem ſpem & Expectationem, Revaluit.‡ Whilſt he continued in this Durance, his Majeſty was Graciouſly Pleaſed to take what Care for him the Poſture of his Affairs would permit, ſuſtain'd him for ſome Part of the Time, as I conjecture, and at length Exchanged him, or at leaſt offered ſo to do, for a Priſoner of Note, who had fallen into his Hands. All theſe Troubles he underwent with a conſtant and undaunted Spirit; but at length ſeeing an End, as well of the Publick, as of his own Private Miſeries, he was (in conſideration of what he had both Done and Suffered) on his Majeſty's Reſtoration, Rewarded Firſt with the Deanery of this Church, which he held but a few Months; and afterwards with that of St. Paul's; to which he was Elected October 15th, 1661, and Inſtalled the 19th following; and had been alſo Collated to the Prebend of Oxgate in that Church the 16th of the ſame Month. He Died in 1664, in the 53d Year of his Age, and gave †, if I miſtake not, 100*l.* to St. Paul's Cathedral.

* As appears by the Manuſcript Life of him, wrote by his Brother Dr. Peter Barwick, and from ſome Original Letters that paſs'd between him and Sir Edward Hyde, both which are Lodged in the Library of the College, from which Letters it alſo appears that he was principally concern'd in a Matter of the greateſt Importance to the Church, for that in 1649, there being but very few Biſhops ſurviving, and their Lives not like to laſt Long, it was thought neceſſary to Provide for the continuance of their Succeſſion by new Conſecrations. Many Letters paſs'd between Sir Edward Hyde, afterwards Earl of Clarendon, and Dr. Barwick, from June 1659, to April 1660. concerning the proper Methods of effecting this important Matter, but the KING's Happy Reſtoration ſoon put an End to their Fears for the Church, and made a better Proviſion for the Succeſſion of her Biſhops, even than thoſe her Loyal Friends had Projected.

† Pharmac. Ration. Part 2da, p. 181.

‡ Epiſtle of Vorter Serm. and Life of Morton.

In 1661. I find him Poſſeſſed of the Rectory of Houghton in the Spring in Durham, which he Reſigned that Year to Dr. Will. Sancroft.

Inſtalled November the 18th. 1660. South Mr. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 52.

† New View of London. p. 404.

Heylin's Life of Land. p. 33.

ELEAZER DUNCON, D.D. 5th Prebend And Houghton R. in this County, worth 250*l.* per Annum. }

He had been Chaplain to Biſhop Neile, was Admitted to the Prebend in 1627, and Died before the Reſtoration. Mr. Barnſton Gee, one of the Ejected Fellows of Clare-Hall in Cambridge, in his Preface to Mr. Herbert's Country-Parſon, ſaith that he was a great Sufferer, and a very Worthy and Learned Perſon. See the Church of York, and Quare.

MATTHEW LEVET, . 7th Prebend. And Sub-deanery of Rippon. . . . . }

Life of Biſhop Morton by his Secretary. B. p. 4.

He had been Educated at St. John's College in Cambridge, under the moſt Learned Biſhop Mor-

t. t.

Digitized by Google

ton, who afterwards, viz. in the Year 1634, bestowed upon him this Prebend. I guess that he Died in the Year 1643; (because in that Year Dr. † Bezire succeeded in this Prebend) by which time I suppose he had suffered in the Revenues of his Preferments; in Those, at least, of This Church, if not at Rippon also; of which quere further. He was a most Painful and Learned Preacher.

† He is most therefore made a 2d Sufferer in it. See him before.

ANTHONY MAXTON, A.M. 8*th Preb.*
Wolfingham, . . . } R. R. in this And County, worth
Middleton, in Teesdale. } 270*l. per Annum.*

He was by Birth a Scotch-man, and a very Learned Perion. He was Promoted to this Church by Bishop Morton, on the Recommendation of his Majesty; was Admitted to this Prebend in 163—, and Died, as I conjecture, soon after the Breaking out of the Rebellion; but late enough, as I suppose, to suffer in this Prebend. See what is said immediately after Mr. Barwick's Preferments in this Church.

Life of Morton, p. 97.

GEORGE MOORCROFT, A. M. 9*th Prebend.*

His Succeſſor was Admitted in 1660; ſo that poſſibly he Died under the Uſurpation.

JOHN GOSIN, D. D. 10*th Prebend.* To which he was Admitted in 1624. See Peterborough-Cathedral.

FERDINANDO MOORCROFT, A. M. 11*th Prebend.*

He was Admitted to it in 1619. I believe he Died Early in the Troubles; becauſe another Perſon was Collated to this Prebend before the Diſſolution of the Cathedrals. But I believe Mr. Moorcroft had however ſuffered in it; becauſe that Succeſſor of his (on account of the Conſuſions, I conjecture) was not Inſtalled. It was

RALPH BAINBRIDGE, . 11*th. Prebend.*

See one Mr. Bambrigg, a Chriſt-College Cambridge, and quere.

In which I make no queſtion to ſet him down as a Second Sufferer; becauſe his Collation gave him an Equitable Title to it. I believe he Died before the Reſtoration; becauſe his immediate Succeſſor was Admitted in 1660.

WILLIAM JAMES, A. M. 12*th Preb.*
And
Ryton, R. in this County, worth 150*l.*
per Annum. . . . . .

Some, if not Moſt of the Prebendaries, were likewiſe Plundered, Impriſoned, &c.

ELIAS SMITH, A.M. Minor Canonry.
And
* Bedlington, V. in Northumberland.

* and Bedlen, V. in Durham-Biſhoprick; miſtly in the Admiſſion-books of theſe Times, Bedlin be wrote for Bedlingtom, and placed in Durham, by Miſtake for Northumberland, which is in no at Proximity.

WILLIAM SMITH, A. M.
RICHARD WAKELIN, A. M.
* MATTHEW COOPER, A. M. } Minor Canonries, each worth 20*l. per An.*
JAMES GREEN, .
THO. WANLESSE, A.M.

* See the County of Durham, and quere.

MATTHEW WREN, D. D. Biſhoprick. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 630

He was Deſcended from a Family of this Name in the Biſhoprick of Durham; but Born in the City of London. He was Educated in Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge; of which he was Greek-Scholar and Fellow. Whilſt he was there he held a Philoſophy-Act to the Preſence of King James I. to the great Satisfaction of that Prince: Soon after he became Chaplain to the Learned Biſhop Andrews, then Maſter of Peter-Houſe in Cambridge; where he underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor: After this he attended Prince Charles into Spain, in Quality of his Chaplain; and after his Return, was Advanced to This See, through the ſeveral Preferments of a Prebend of Wincheſter, the Deanery of Windſor, Sworn Regiſtracy of the Moſt Noble Order of the Garter, Clerk of the Cloſet, a Prebend of Weſtminſter, the Biſhopricks of Hereford and Norwich, and the Deanery of his Majeſty's Royal Chapel. He was one of the moſt Early Sufferers of all the Clergy, and the very Firſt Biſhop that was Deprived by the Rebel Parliament. December 22, 1640. I find a Committee of Parliament ordered to draw up a Charge againſt him, on a Petition from the Inhabitants of Ipſwich; and July 5, 1641, he was Voted unworthy to hold any Spiritual Promotion. However he had his Liberty at That Juncture, when the Biſhops made their Proteſtation; and concurring in it, was Impriſoned with the Reſt, till May 5, when they were all Releaſed on Bail, by the Houſe of Lords. After which, Retiring to his Houſe at Downham, he was ſoon Apprehended by a Party of Soldiers, and brought back again to the Tower; where he continued till the End of the Year 1659, without any Charge or Accuſation formed againſt him. During this time of Confinement, having no other Books but the Bible, and a Lexicon which he had uſed at School, he drew up thoſe Papers, of which his Book againſt the Racovian Catechiſm, is an Extract, and about a 16*th* Part. Nor had he the Liberty of doing This, but, in a manner by ſtealth; being forced to ſend away his Papers, as he found Opportunity, for fear of having Them alſo Plundered from him, as every thing elſe had been. For beſides what I have already ſaid, the Houſe of Commons had, as I find, ſeized his Plate, and Ordered it to be Melted down for the Uſe of the Common-wealth. His Goods were likewiſe Plundered, his Eſtate Seized, and he was ſo Miſerably Perſecuted and Oppreſſed, that in the Year 1660, when his Son Thomas was Created M.D. at Oxford, the Chancellor's Letter for that purpoſe, acquaints the Convocation, That the Preſſures under which his Father lay for 17 years together, were ſuch, that he could not (his Eſtate being taken away) allow his Children Bread, much leſs ſupply their Expences for living in Colleges, and the taking their Degrees; only to have the Benefit of the Publick Library, &c. However he Survived all his Troubles, was Reſtored, (with his Majeſty) to his Biſhoprick; and notwithſtanding he was ſtript to bare in the Rebellion, He afterwards performed ſeveral Acts of Piety: One of which, was his Building a Magnificent and Elegant Chapel at Pembroke-Hall; which he Endowed with an Annual Revenue, and Solemnly Conſecrated, and Dedicated it himſelf. At the Eaſt End of it, under the Altar, he prepared a Vault, where he was afterwards Interred, about the Beginning of May 1667. He was about 84 Years of Age when he Died, and underwent his Troubles with ſo much Patience and Magnanimity, that, it ſeems, they did not much haſten his End. He was Remarkable for his Learning, Fuller's Worthies in Lincolnſhire.

He was alſo ſometime Rector of Bingham, in Nottinghamſhire. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 629.

Thor. Antiq. Nottingh. p. 141.

See Heylin's Hiſt of Laud. p. 442.

See alſo how horribly he was abuſed by the Party p. 291.

See Fuller's Church Hiſt. L. 11. C. 17. p. 182.

Prof. to Inſcrep. Baricl.

Compleat Hiſt. of Eng. Vol. III. p. 159.

Digitized by Google

whilst at School, and became afterwards a Man of Extraordinary Gravity, Exemplary Piety, and Prudence: And the ſtrictneſs of his Government, whilſt Biſhop, according to the †‖ Laws and Canons of the Church, was the very thing which drew upon him that implacable Hatred of the Puritan Party. The Chappel before mentioned, and his * Book againſt the Socinians, have, and will continue laſting Monuments of his Piety and Learning.

† The Obſerving of which, they call'd, Prædiſing Wren's Fancies, which in Theſe very Words was alledged as One Cauſe for Sequeſtring ſeveral of the Clergy.

‖ What elſe he wrote ſee in Wood.

WILLIAM FULLER, D. D. Deanery: He Suffered about Three Years in it (ſo that he muſt be mention'd here) and then was Nominated to the Deanery of Durham; which Church See. After him the King was Pleaſed to Nominate to it

WILLIAM BEALE, D. D. Deanery. Whoſe Admiſſion the Times would not allow of; but his Equitable Title to it, will, I make no queſtion, render him, in the Eſteem of every one, a Sufferer here: Although I have Choſen to Accoune for him at St. John's-College in Cambridge. Which ſee.

DANIEL WIGMORE, Archdeaconry of Ely, And Prebend of the 2*d Stall*.

I find him ſo in the Year 1642; which is my only Authority for ſetting him here as a Sufferer. I preſume he Died before the Reſtoration, becauſe in the Year 1660, I find Dr. Bernard Hale poſſeſſed of this Arch-deaconry, and Prebend; who was then alſo Maſter of Peter-Houſe in Cambridge. If Mr. Wigmore died betwixt the Years 1642, and 1646 (when the Cathedrals were utterly Diſſolved) and had not Suffered before his Death, then 'tis probable Dr. Bernard Hale was the Sufferer in it; becauſe he ſeems to have immediately Succeeded; and the Reader is to underſtand the ſame of All thoſe in the Church, from whom I ſhall Refer to what I have here ſaid, of Mr. Wigmore, and Dr. Hale.

* They are Commonly in this Church, called Canons.

JOHN BOIS, * Prebend of the 1*ſt Stall*.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 777. Bull. Ch. Hiſt. Cont. 17. p. 16. Vic. Worthies, in Suffolk.

He was Born at Elmeſteeth in Suffolk, had been Fellow of St. John's-College in Cambridge, was Imployed in the Tranſlation of the Bible in 1604, was Author of the moſt Learned Notes upon S. Chryſoſtome, and by King James, Nominated one of the Firſt-Fellows of Cheſter-College: I find him Prebendary here in 1642, at which time he muſt doubtleſs have been very Old. How long he might Live after, I cannot tell; but believe his Death to have hapned ſome time before the General Diſſolution of the Cathedrals; becauſe unleſs I very much miſtake ſome Informations which I have Received from Cambridge, there was Another Admitted to this Prebend before that Time. But whether Mr. Bois had Suffered any Thing (or if he did, What, or How much it was) before his Death, I muſt leave as a Query. The Succeſſor was

He was also R. of Boxworth in Cambridgeſh.

He Publiſhed ſome other Things beſides his Notes on St. Chryſoſtom.

STEPHEN HALL, B. D. Prob. of the 1*ſt Stall*, Fellowſhip of Jeſus-College in Camb. † Fordham V. in Cambridgeſhire, And The ‡ Lecture of St. Paul's.

† If I miſtake not.

‡ Which I ought to be a Preacher of.

He was Born within the Pariſh of All-Hallows-Barking in the City of London, was Educated at Pembrook-Hall in Cambridge, and from thence, by the Learned Dr. Andrews, then Biſhop of Ely, Collated to a Fellowſhip in Jeſus-College in that Univerſity. He had alſo the Vicaridge of Gildenmorden, in the Year 1627, and in the Year 1629, that of All-Saints; in the Year 1639, he became Preſident of the College (which I take to be a Yearly Office) and upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, was the Firſt Fellow that I find Sequeſtred in this Univerſity; which was done by the Earl of Manchester, the 13th of March, 1643, For refuſing the Covenant: He was alſo Impriſoned above Three Years in the Compter in Southwark. He out-liv'd all his Troubles as well as the Uſurpation; was Reſtored in 1660, to his Prebend, and Fellowſhip (and, I preſume, to the other Preferments, if he thought fit to Claim them) and was alſo the ſame Year Preſented to the Reſtory of Harleton in Cambridgeſhire; which however he Enjoyed but a very little Time; dying the following Year, in the College: To the Library of which he left a ſmall Legacy, and lies Buried in the Choppel there.

Liſt at the End of Queen Eliz. Actes.

ELIZÆUS BURGESS, . Preb. of the ‖ 3*d Stall*.

‖ The Second Stall is before mentioned, and is the Arch-deaconry.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 392, 511. See one of both thoſe Names in Eſſex, and Quere.

One of both thoſe Names, B. D. of the Univerſity of Oxford, was the Suffering Arch-Deacon of Rocheſter: whether he be the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary, Quere. His Succeſſor in this Prebend, in 1660 (whence I gueſs that he Died during the Uſurpation) was Dr. William Holder (of whom ſee Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 815.) who was not Collated to it until after the Reſtoration; and therefore either Mr. Burges died ſo far up in the Rebellion, that no other Succeſſor was Nominated till the Return of his Majeſty; or if any one were Collated to it after his Death, that Perſon alſo muſt have Died before the Year 1660.

JOHN HARRIS, . Preb. of the 4*th Stall*.

I find him ſo in 1642. In 1660 I find Henry Brunſell, D. D. and Rector of Streetham, Poſſeſſed of this Prebend; therefore Quere, (as in the Caſe of Wigmore and Hale before) which was the Sufferer. To me it ſeems probable, that the Former was, and that he Died during the Uſurpation.

RALPH BROWNRIGG, D. D. Preb. of the 5*th Stall*.

See Exeter Cathedral. In 1660, John Pearſon, afterwards the Learned Biſhop of Cheſter, had this Prebend; to which he was not Admitted till after the Reſtoration: So that if any one Intervened betwixt Dr. Brownrigg and him, he muſt have Died (probably) during the Uſurpation. But I am apt to think no one Succeeded here, till Pearſon.

NEHEMIAH ROGERS, B. D. Prebend of the 6*th Stall*, St. Botolph's Biſhopſgate, R. London, And Meſſing, V. in Eſſex.

I take it to be one and the ſame Perſon with Liſt, all thoſe, &c.

Quere whether he had not been ſometimes Fellow of St. John's College in Cambridge. See what is ſaid of him in Eſſex.

and

Digitized by Google

and Dr. Womock, as of Mr. Wigmore and Dr. Hale before. As to the Living of St. Botolph, he was Admitted to it March 26, 1642, and Dispossessed of it about May 1643. Lloyd seems to make him Sequestred also from the Rectory of Finchley in Middlesex; but that is certainly a Mistake; For no such Man occurs in Mr. Newcourt's List of the Rectors of that Church. But I find by Mr. Newcourt, that he had some time the Living of Tay-Magna in Essex; whether he suffered any thing there, quære.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 304.

Athen. p. 507.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 504.

p. 323.

SAMUEL COLLINS, D. D. Prebend of the 7th Stall.

See King's-College in Cambridge. It is certain that he was the Sufferer in this Prebend; because he Died not till the Year 1651.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 538.

JOHN BUCKERIDGE, . Prebend of the 8th Stall.

I find him also Here in the Year 1642, and presume he likewise Died under the Usurpation; but not knowing the precise Time of his Death, I must leave the same Quære as before, viz. whether Dr. Fr. Beaumont (whom I find in Possession of this Prebend immediately upon the Restoration) or this Mr. Buckeridge, was a Sufferer in it.

WILLIAM HITCH, . Clergy Vicars Place.

The Original bears Date Jan. 10, 1643. and is false spelt in three or four Places.

When the Rebellion prevailed in those Parts, Cromwell, who then began to Rise in the Army, wrote a Letter to this Gentleman (a Copy of which I have now before me) letting him know, That left the Soldiers should in any tumultuary and disorderly Way attempt the Reformation of this Cathedral-Church, be required him to forbear altogether the Choir Service, so unedifying and offensive; and that, as he would answer it, if any Disorders should arise thereupon. Advising him also, to Catechize, Read and Expound the Scriptures; and have more frequent Preaching than had been hitherto Usual in the Cathedral, till he should have further Directions from the Parliament. Notwithstanding this Letter, Mr. Hitch continued to Officiate, as before: Upon which Cromwell with a Party of Soldiers, attended by the Rabble, came into the Church, in time of Divine Service, with his Hat on; and directing himself to Mr. Hitch, said, I am a Man under Authority, and am commanded to dismiss this Assembly. Upon which Mr. Hitch made a Pause; but Cromwell and the Rabble passing up towards the Communion-Table, Mr. Hitch proceeded with the Service; at which Cromwell returned; and laying his hand upon his Sword, in a Passion, bid Mr. Hitch leave off his Fooling, and come down; and so drove out the whole Congregation.

CLERKSON, .
HIND, .
WIBOROUGH, .
WESTWOOD, .
} Clergy Vicars Places.

All these, together with Mr. Hitch, I find so in 1642; which is my only Authority for setting them down here as the Suffering Vicars. Whether any of them Died before the Total Dissolution of the Cathedrals (and if so, who succeeded them) or whether any of them Lived to the Restoration) I am wholly Uninformed.

E X E T E R.

RALPH BROWNRIGG, D. D. Bishoprick-Mastership of Cath. Hall, Cambridge, And  Prebend* of the 5th Stall in the Church of Ely. . . . . } * At least no one succeeded in this Prebend till the Restoration.

This Learned and most Religious Person was Born at Ipswich in Suffolk; and being a Youth of Bright Parts and Singular Hopes, was sent to Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge; of which he afterwards became both Scholar and Fellow; and was at last preferred to the Mastership of Catherine-Hall in that University; and he kept up the Discipline of that College to such an Height, that it Flourished exceedingly under him, and was much encreased during his Government, both in its Revenues and Buildings. He was sometime also Chaplain to Bishop Morton, had a Prebend of Durham, (though in a Manuscript List of the Prebendaries of that Church, which I have seen, he is not mentioned) the Arch-deaconry of Coventry, and the Rectory of Barley in Hertfordshire. He also underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor* several times, which he discharged to the great Satisfaction of all People, and with great Credit to himself. In the Year 1641, he was nominated to this See (upon the Translation of Dr. Hall to Norwich) was Elected March 31, 1642, and Installed the First of June following; but the Troubles would not allow him any long Enjoyment of it. About the Year 1645, he was Deprived of the Mastership of Catherine-Hall, for a Pious Learned (and to be sure Loyal) Sermon which he Preached before That University (according to the Duty of his Then Office of Vice-Chancellor) on the Day of his Majesty's Inauguration. He was then succeeded in the Mastership by Mr. Spurstow; and afterwards Suffered in his Bishoprick also, in common with the other Prelates, to so great a Degree, that, as his Epitaph expresses it, he was Facultatibus pene omnibus spoliatus.

Although, before he became a Bishop, he had been much Admir'd and Esteem'd by Mr. Pym, Mr. Marshall and others of that Stamp. He was once also Assaulted, and like to have been Stoned by the Rabble. From these his Sufferings he retired, for some time, to the House of Tho. Rich, Esq; at Shunning in Berkshire; but at last, about a Year before his Death, was permitted to be Preacher at the Temple; in which Employment he Died the 7th of December 1659. Part of his Character in his Epitaph, is this:

Vir undique Egregius, Doctior an Melior dubites; pia Literatura, pene ad miraculum Imbutus:— Tam vultui quàm vitæ Majestate, Venerandus:— in concionibus sacris frequens dominatur, in disputationibus scholasticis semper Triumphator:— Factarum ingenti, ut decuit, animo tulit, de sacrilegis, non spolin sollicitus:— Charitatis in omnes copiâ refertus, &c.

Life of Morton, p. 410. p. 162.

Dugd. Warwick. p. 127.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 800.

*Viz. in 1617, 1618, 1643, 1644.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 865; Life by Bp. Gauden, passim.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 491, &c. Fuller, Hist. of Cambr. p. 169.

He was nominated one of the Assembly of Divines. Scob. Coll. p. 41

If the rest of it may be taken from Dr. Gauden, as it is dispersed up and down in his Life of this Prelate, He was a Person of Incomparable Clearness, Candor, Solidness, Sweetness, Dexterity and Eloquence; of Great Meekness, Humility and Patience, particularly under his Sufferings, which he bore with great Resolution and Chearfulness; and had once the Courage to advise Cromwell to Restore the King to his Just Rights.

He had a Widow of Germin-ton 1702

On

On the Reſtoration he was ſucceeded in this Biſhoprick by John Gauden, D. D. who was Elected November 3, 1660, and Inſtalled the 11*th* of the following Month.

The Dean and Canons of this Church are all Prebendaries of course; which I here note once for all, to avoid the trouble of inſerting Preb. under each of their Names.

WILLIAM PETERSON, D.D. Deanery, Dipford, R. in Devon. . . . And St. Breock, R. in Cornwall, worth 300 l. per annum.

Where this Excellent Perſon was Born, or in what Univerſity Educated, I am wholly uninformed. He was Inſtalled Prebendary of this Church the 16*th* of Auguſt 1619, (being then A. M.) on the Promotion of Dr. John Howſon, to the Biſhoprick of Oxford; and the 24 of June 1621, (being at that time B. D.) he was Elected Canon Reſidentiary, on the Advancement of Dr. John Bridgman to the See of Cheſter: And was at laſt Advanced himſelf to this Deanery, on the Death of Dr. Matthew Sutcliffe, in the Year 1629, being Inſtalled to it the 18*th* of July that Year. When the Rebellion broke out, he taſted as deep of the Bitter Cup, as moſt of the Loyal Clergy then living: And his Uſage at his Rectory of St. Breock was ſo peculiar, that I have choſen to relate it at large in the Firſt Part, in order to give the Reader a juſt Notion of the Committees of thoſe times. The Whole of what he was deprived of, was at leaſt 1000 l. per Annum. From which he was reduced to a very Low and Mean Condition. An Ancient Perſon, who very well remembred him, informed me, that he was Plundered, Turned out of Doors, and forced to retire to a Little Houſe within the Cloſe at Exeter; where a Gentleman of his Acquaintance, who one day paid him a Viſit, took the freedom to ask him how he ſubſiſted, ſeeing he had been ſo thoroughly ſtripp'd; To which the good old Gentleman anſwered, He lived by ſelling thoſe few Goods which his Servants had fortunately ſaved from the Paws of the mercileſs Ravagers; and withal added, that he was then reduced ſo low, that he had but Two Beds left, and muſt be obliged to Sell one of them, or elſe he ſhould want Bread: Which his Friend repreſenting to the Honourable Sir William Courtney of this County, that Noble Gentleman generouſly Supported him during the remaining part of the Uſurpation. There goes of him likewiſe this Remarkable Story, That Cromwell ſeeing him one day paſs the Streets of London, (and poſſibly knowing him to be a Diſtreſſed Cavalier, by the Meanneſs of his Habit) ſaid, There goes a Church of England Man, who, I will warrant you, has Courage enough to die for his Religion. And that very day, a Gentleman wholly unknown to him, traced him to his Lodgings, invited him the next day to a Dinner, and withal gave him a Purſe of Money. He was alſo ſeveral times after ſupplied with Money from an unknown Hand, tho' he gueſſed it to be Cromwell's. He juſt lived to the Reſtoration, and died in 1661. At which time he was ſucceeded in his Prebend by Roger Aſhton, who was Collated to it on the Firſt of March that Year. On the 23*d* of December 1661, George Cary (who ſoon after by Two Sudden Vacancies, ſucceeded in the Deanery alſo) was Elected into his Canonry; but in his Deanery, at that time, he had for his Succeſſor, Dr. Seth Ward, who was Elected to it the 26*th* of December the Year above-named. As for his immediate Succeſſors in his Livings at the time of his Sequeſtrations, I know this only, That one Walplace was ſubſtituted in his room at * Dipford, and one Innis at St. Breock; who ſurrendred to him again on the Reſtoration; tho' recounted by the Abridgment, as Ejected thence.

* And in 1657, one Edw. Noſworthy got that Living.

WILLIAM COTTON, A. M. Chanterſhip. Canonry Reſidentiary, ... Silverton R. And † Whimple R. } In Devon; the Two worth 800 l. per Annum.

† Some ſay he Reſigned this Living to one Serle, on certain Conditions, but I am not ſure of this: And if it was ſo, I believe it to be only a forced Reſignation on the Ordinance againſt Pluralities.

He was the Eldeſt Son of Dr. William Cotton, then late Biſhop of this Church: Whoſe Pedigree I have ſeen deduced down, for very many 100 Years, home to himſelf, through ſeveral of the Crowned Heads of England, Scotland, France, and other great Perſonages of the Firſt Rank; and Signed by the Hand of the Famous Mr. Camden. He became Prebendary, Chaunter, and Canon of this Church about the middle of 1606, on the Reſignation (as I conjecture) of the Biſhop his Father; who, if I miſtake not, held all theſe in Commendam until that time. Beſides his Spiritual Preferments, he was poſſeſſed of ſeveral conſiderable Temporal Eſtates; all which, together with his Eccleſiaſtical Livings, he was deprived of (tho' allowed afterwards, as I gueſs, to Compound for ſome of his Temporals) and not only Turned out of them, but Plundered alſo. And, to add to the Bitterneſs of his Sufferings; one of the Chief Actors in them, was one Barton of Silverton, his near Neighbour; and one whom Mr. Cotton had ſaved from being Plundered, and being treated as a Rebel deſerved, when the King's Forces were in theſe Parts. He had, at the time of the Sequeſtration, a Wife and Eight Children; which he ſhelter'd, for ſome time, in a little Houſe that he Rented, in or near the Town of Silverton; but was himſelf forced to Fly into the County of Cornwall, for the Safety and Security of his Perſon; where at length he Died, at his Seat of Boſcaux-Caſtle, about the Year 1649, or 1650; and the whole Family is lately Extinct, by the Death of his Youngeſt Son Sir John Cotton, (Knighted by King James II.) who Died about Four Years ſince, without any Iſſue. He was a Perſon of a Meek and Humble Temper, of a Grave and Sober Converſation, of Exemplary Piety, Charity, and Learning. His firſt Succeſſor at Silverton, was one Nath. Byfield, who never paid him any Fifths, as far as I can learn; tho' poſſibly, ſome of his Temporal Eſtates, which he had again recovered, might Exclude him from that Benefit. After him came one Richard Bryan, who had accepted of this Living, on Condition to Reſign it again to Mr. Edward Cotton (the Son of this Sufferer, and afterwards D. D. and Treaſurer of this Church; but not then in Orders) if ever he ſhould Qualify himſelf for it; which accordingly Mr. Cotton did on the Reſtoration; but he was forced to get Mr. Bryan the good Living of Iſlington in this County, and to Pay him ſomething beſides, out of Silverton. Yearly, before he could get him to Retire from it; which was all he did; for he never Reſigned, but kept himſelf ſtill Veſted of the Parſonage; and on the Death of the then Dr. Edward Cotton (with an Eye to which he had ſtill preſerved the Right in himſelf) he returned again to Silverton, and died in Poſſeſſion of it. After the Reſtoration Mr. Cotton the Sufferer, was Succeeded in his Chantry, Canonry, and Prebend, by Dr. Seth Ward (who had been Collated to the Former of them by Biſhop Brownrigg, when there was not the leaſt Appearance of his ever Enjoying it, viz. about the Year 1649) to all of which he was Admitted September 18. 1660.

Pope's Life of Biſhop Ward, p. 197.

Who came about May 1654, and had them only by the Parſonage-Houſe, Glebe, and 60 l. a Year Ordered him.

Pope's Life of Biſhop Ward, p. 20.

Digitized by Google

LAURENCE BURNELL, D. D. ... Chancellorship, ... And Canonry-Resident. ...

He was Born in Nottinghamshire, but in which of the Universities he was Educated, I know not. This is sure, that his great Worth had recommended him to the Service of both King James and King Charles I. in the Quality of Chaplain. In 1624, (July 7.) he was Collated to a Prebend of this Church (being then B.D.) on the Death of Nicholas Morston, and was Inftalled on the 22*d* of the fame Month. The fame Day he was likewife Inftalled Chancellor, on the Refignation (I gue(s) of Edward Cotton (who will afterwards be mentioned) and had been Elected Canon-Refidentiary two days before, on a Vacancy occafioned by the Death of Nicholas Morston, juft now mentioned, if I miftake not. He was, (aith Mercurius P. 249. Ruflicus, a Grave and Learned Man; and refufing to fubmit to the outragious Impofitions of the Rebels, whilft they were Ravaging and Plundering the Cathedral of Exeter, they ordered him to be taken by Night in his Bed (to which he was alfo at that time confined by Sickneſs) and carried to Prifon; but upon much importunity, and Tender of the beft Security that City afforded, he was fpared for the prefent. He Died November the 12*th*, 1647, in the 68*th* Year of his Age, and on the Reftoration was ſucceeded by Richard Mervin, B.D. (as I ſhall mention by and by) in both his Chancellorſhip and Canonry; and in his Prebend by John Copleſtone, A. M. (afterwards D. D. and Provoſt of King's-College in Cambridge) who was Admitted September 29, 1660.

ROBERT HALL, D. D. Treaſurerſhip, Canonry-Reſident. ... And Stokeintinny, R. in Devon. ...

He was the Eldeſt Son of the moſt Pious Biſhop Hall, then lately Tranſlated from the See of this Church, to that of Norwich; and had been Educated at Exeter-College in Oxford. March the 4*th*, 1628, he was Collated to a Prebend in this Church, on the Death of ------ Osbourn. July 17, in the following Year, he was Inſtalled Treaſurer, in the room of Robert Law deceaſed: The Day following he was Admitted to the Canonry, which was become Vacant by the Death of Dr. Matthew He had been ſometimes Archdeacon of Cornwall, but Reſigned that Archdeaconry to his Brother George, in 1641, as we ſhall ſee by and by. Sutcliffe, the late Dean; and October 19, 1643, he proceeded D.D. at Oxford. Some time after the War broke out (upon the paſſing of the Ordinance againſt Pluralities, as I conjecture) he was forced to Reſign his Living of Stokeintinny into the Hands of the Biſhop; who was the Patron of it, and beſtow'd it upon Mr. Samuel Hall, (then Sub-Dean of this Church, and Brother to the Treaſurer;) Who he afterwards, to pleaſe the Men of the times, accepted likewiſe of another Preſentation to it, from the Keepers of the Liberties of England, the Original of which I have ſeen. However, Dr. Hall, the Treaſurer, was permitted to keep the Rectory of Clyſtheydon in this County, all the time of the Uſurpation; and there continued a great Patron and Supporter of the Sequeſtred Clergy. He lived to the Reſtoration, and was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Preferments in this Church, but demanded not his Living of Stoke again from his Brother. He Died the 29*th* of May 1667, in the 61*ſt* Year of his Age; and was then ſucceeded in his Prebend, Canonry, and Treaſury, by Baldwin Acland, D. D. who was Inſtalled to the Firſt and the Laſt of them June 14, 1667, and to the Canonry the Day following. He was, ſaith Wood, a Learned Man, a Conſtant Preacher, very Hoſpitable and Pious. Which Character of him, I can aſſure the Reader, is a very Juſt one. Ath. Vol. II. p. 721.

AARON WILSON, D.D. Arch-deaconry of Exeter, ... Canonry-Reſid. ... And Plymouth, V. in this County. ...

He was Educated at Queen's-College in Oxford; (but whether Born in the Northern Parts of England, as his College, and the Termination of his Name may ſeem to intimate, I cannot learn) and was Admitted D. D. of that Univerſity in 1639. He firſt occurs Prebendary of this Church about the latter End of 1633; and was (as I conceive) Collated to it on the Death of Thos. Barnes, who had been alſo Canon-Reſidentiary and Arch-deacon of Exeter: In which laſt Station Dr. Wilſon alſo ſucceeded him; and was Inſtalled Jan. 16, 1633, being at that time B.D. October 2, 1641, he was himſelf alſo choſen Canon-Reſidentiary on the Death of Hugh Chuimleigh. In the Beginning of the Rebellion he was ſent Priſoner in the Ships to Portſmouth; and through Grief and ill Uſage contracted a dangerous Sickneſs: But obtaining his Liberty, he returned to Exeter, and died there about the Year 1643. In the Vicaridge of Plymouth one Mr. Bedford was, by his Majeſty, appointed Succeſſor to Dr. Wilſon; but the Times over-ruling, the famous Mr. George Hughes was, by the Factious Part of the Town, thruſt into that Vicaridge; where he continued till the Act of Uniformity removed him. Dr. Wilſon's Body was conveyed to Plymouth, and lies buried in his Church there, under an Inſcription which is too long here to inſert; but begins thus: Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 198. He had ſome time the Rectory of St. Stephen's Wallbrook in London; which he Reſigned in 1633. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 340.

Luges amiſſum Pietas Parentem, &c.

In his Canonry ſucceeded George Hall (at that time alſo Arch-deacon of Cornwall, as will by and by be ſaid) who was Elected to it September 23, 1643; but in his Prebend and Arch-deaconry ſucceeded

EDWARD YOUNG, D. D. Arch-deaconary of Exeter, Prebend of this Church, ... Prebend of Norwich, ... And Hadſtock, R. in Eſſex. ... Quere whether he was more than B. D. at the Time of his Sequeſtration. I take it to be the ſame Perſon who loſt All theſe Preferments, and take Hadſtock in Eſſex, to be the ſame Living with Haverhook in Eſſex: Otherwiſe there was a Living of that Name, in that County, under Sequeſtration alſo which ought to be inſerted in a Diſtinct Article.

This Worthy Perſon was an intimate Friend and Companion of Biſhop Brownrigg's, and was by that Learned Prelate (in his Time, at leaſt) Preferred in this Church; being Inſtalled in the Arch-deaconry September 21, 1643, and in the Prebend December 21, following. He was alſo, as I find, Rector of Auſtie in Hertfordſhire. The Dare of his Admiſſion to that Living doth not appear; but he is placed betwixt Dr. Montfort, who was Admitted in 1640, and Dr. Elwerwood, who was Admitted in 1661, upon Dr. Young's Refignation. After the Reſtoration he was Elected Canon-Reſidentiary of this Church, on the Refignation of Dr. George Hall, and was Inſtalled to it the 22*d* of December 1660. Auguſt the 21*ſt*, 1662, he was Elected Dean, on the Promotion of Dr. Seth Ward to the Epiſcopal See of this Church: At which time he Reſigned his Prebend of Norwich. He held likewiſe the Rich Living of Up-Leman in this County; but lived a very little while to enjoy Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 898. Gandon's Life of Bp. Brownrigg, p. 205. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 797.

H

Digitized by Google

joy these Preferments: For he died in 1663; when Geo. Cary, L. L. D. (who had also succeeded him in his Arch-deaconry, on his Promotion to the Deanery, and was Installed in it Aug. 18, 1662) was nominated Dean in his room, and Elected to it Aug. 31, that Year. In his Canonry succeeded Francis Fulwood (who will be after mentioned) to which he was admitted September 26, 1663; and Sept. 17, the same Year, Daniel Estcot, B.D. (afterwards Arch-deacon of Exeter likewife) was Collated to this Prebend.

He gave 40l. a year out of an Eſtate in Farmton-Pelham, to be divided among the Poor of the Parish of Burnham, in Hertfordshire, upon the 25th of May, or before for the Reſtoration of the King.

Chaun. Antiq. p. 229. I do not find that he had by Preferment any Relation to this Parish, and therefore poſſibly he was a Native of it, or of ſome Neighbouring Place in this County. Quare.

EDWARD COTTON, A. M. Arch-deaconry of Totneſs, Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . Shodbrook, R. } And Bridiſtow, R. } in Devon.

He was Brother to the Chaunter above-mentioned, and Educated at Chriſt-Church in Oxford. He firſt occurs Prebendary in the Year 1611, at which time he ſucceeded, as I conjecture, on the Reſignation of William Huchenſon (of whom more by and by.) In 1613, I find him Chancellor, on the Death of John Leach; and he continued poſſeſt of that Dignity till the Year 1622; about which time, if I miſtake not, he Reſigned it to Lawrence Burnell, as is before ſaid. In the ſame Year, (viz. 1613) on the Tenth of July, he was Elected Canon on the Death of the ſame John Leach; and March the Sixth, 1621, he was Inſtalled in this Arch-deaconry, on the Reſignation of his Brother William Cotton before-mentioned. When the Rebellion began, he was, as well as his Brother, poſſeſſed of Temporal Eſtates to a conſiderable Value, and ran the ſame Fate with him; being deprived of all, both Temporals and Spirituals, by the Iniquity of the Times, having his Goods alſo Plundered, and his Family forced from his Houſe and Habitation. He had a Daughter married to one Mr. James Rich, a Major under my Lord Hopton; who being unfortunately killed at the Siege of Briſtol, his Death ſo ſenſibly affected his Wife, that ſhe fell into a Languiſhing and Conſumptive Condition: And having a deſire to fetch her laſt Breath in the Parſonage-Houſe at Shodbrook, where ſhe had receiv'd her Firſt, ſhe could not obtain that Favour from the Intruder. Mr. Cotton died about the Year 1647. His Succeſſor in the Living of Shodbrook, on the Sequeſtration, was one Tho. Preſcott, who came thither from Inwardleigh in this County; and in the Year 1660, to ſecure his Title to this Rich Parſonage, took out the Broad Seal for it per lapſum; but was again diſpoſſeſs'd in 1662, for Nonconformity. In his Living at Bridiſtow, at the time of the Sequeſtration alſo, ſucceeded Mr. Knapman; whom I find ſetled here by Order of the Houſe of Commons, in the Year 1647. As for his Preferments in this Church, on the Reſtoration his Arch-deacony was conferred on Francis Fulwood (before-mentioned under Dr. Young) who was Inſtalled Auguſt the 31ſt, 1660. And in his Canonry ſucceeded Dr. Henry Byam, as I ſhall in mention by and by. But who ſucceeded in his Prebend, I know not, unleſs it were William Banks, as indeed I have ſome good reaſon to think.

WILLIAM HELLIAR, . Arch-deaconry of Barum, Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . And * Dunchideock, R. in Devon. . .

* He had another Living in this County, and I gueſs, was deprived of them, or rather, to ſpeak more properly, was, as I believe, Diſturbed in the Poſſeſſion of Both his Livings, and not Formally Sequeſtred by any Committee &c.

He was a Native of the County of Devon, and had been Chaplain to Queen Elizabeth, as one of his Deſcendants hath informed me. He was one of the Firſt Fellows of Chelſea College, nominated by King James I. He occurs Canon of this Church in the Year 1602, and became Arch-deacon of Barum in the Year 1603, in the Place of William Tooker, at that time, deceaſed (as I conjecture).

Fac. Ch. Hiſt. Cent. 17. p. 151.

When the Rebels were Ravaging this Cathedral, and Plundering the Loyaliſts at Exeter, they ſeized this Reverend Gentleman, being then almoſt 90 Years of Age, dragged him out of his Bed at Midnight, and hurried him away to Priſon, and from thence to the Ship; becauſe he refuſed to contribute ſuch Sums as they demanded, towards ſupporting the Rebellion. In the Way to Priſon they threw Dirt in his Face, and beat the Old Man ſo cruelly, that his Roaring and Out-cries were heard, and pitied by all his Neighbours; and at laſt, not able to endure (by reaſon of his extream old Age) the barbarous Uſage of the Rebels, he was forced to redeem his Liberty at 800 Pounds. Beſides this, I know very little more of him, ſave that the Altar-Piece of the Church (which, I have been told, thoſe who underſtand Painting, eſteem a Maſter-piece) was Beautified and Adorned at his Procurement, at leaſt, if not his Prime Charge. But whether he had an Eye in it upon recommending himſelf further to Arch-biſhop Laud (to whom he was otherwiſe known before) as ſome have ſuggeſted, is more than I will take upon me to determine. At his Living of Dunchideock he was ſucceeded (whether immediately I cannot tell) by one Hunt, who was deprived for Nonconformity, in 1662. Mr. Helliar died about the latter End of 1643; at which time Richard Mervyn, B.D. ſucceeded in the Right of his Canonry, as I ſhall after mention; but no one ſucceeded either in his Prebend, or Arch-deaconry, until the Reſtoration; when Oliver Naylor, A.M. had the Former conferred on him Jan. 19, 1660; as the Latter was on James Smith, B.D. who was inſtalled in it Auguſt 31, in the ſame Year: At which time Mr. Smith was alſo Admitted to Dr. Cox's Canonry and Prebend. The 15th of September 1660, (Mervyn having, as we ſhall ſee afterwards, quitted his Right to Helliar's Canonry) Edward Cotton (Son of the ſuffering Chaunter before-mentioned, and afterwards Treaſurer of this Church) was Admitted to it.

Mere. Ruſt. p. 243.

GEORGE HALL, A. M. Arch-deaconry of Cornwall, Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . And Minhinnet, R. in Cornwall. . . .

He was another Son of the Pious Biſhop Hall, and was Born at Waltham in Eſſex, whilſt that good Prelate was Rector there. He had his Education at Exeter-College in Oxford, of which he was Fellow, and to which, at the time of his Death he was a conſiderable Benefactor. December 23, 1639, he was Collated to a Prebend in this Church, on the Death of Tho. Hutton. Octeber 8, 1641, he was Inſtalled Arch-deacon of Cornwall, on the Reſignation of his Eldeſt Brother Robert; and September 23, 1643, was Elected into Dr. Wilſon's Canonry; in which he therefore made a ſecond Sufferer. After his Sequeſtration from his Living in Cornwall, he would have kept a ſmall School for his Subſiſtence, but could not be permitted to do it; tho' towards the End of the Uſurpation he was allowed to Preach, firſt at St. Bartholomew's-Exchange, and afterwards at St. Botolph's-Aldersgate in London. After the Reſtoration he was made Chaplain to his Majeſty, Canon of Windſor, Arch-deacon of Canterbury, and in the Year 1662,

Wood, Ath. vol. II. p. 297. Where alſo ſee what he wrote.

Digitized by Google

1662, was promoted to the See of Worcester; in Poſſeſſion of which he died Auguſt 23, 1668. On his Promotion to the Biſhoprick, his Preferments in this Church were diſpoſed of in the following manner: Edward Cotton (Son to the Suffering Chaunter of this Church, then A. M. afterwards D. D. Canon-Reſidentiary and Treaſurer) was Inſtalled to his Arch-deaconry, September 15, 1660, per Promotionem, &c. Edward Young, D. D. (the ſuffering Arch-deacon of Exeter before-mentioned) was Inſtalled to his Canonry December 22, the ſame Year, per Reſignationem, &c. and Jan. 18, 1660, his Prebend was conferred (per Reſignationem alſo) on Tho. Long, B. D. the well-known and perpetual Adverſary of Mr. Baxter, and Author of ſeveral other Pieces directed to the Service of the Church of England; for one of which he had a Tender made him of the Biſhoprick of Briſtol, by that moſt Excellent Arch-Prelate Dr. William Sancroft (whoſe Original Letter for that purpoſe I have ſeen;) but refuſing it, he continued at Exeter, without any further Advancement in this or any other Church, and died there December 7, 1707.

SAMUEL HALL, A. M. Sub-deanery, And Prebend. . . . . }

I have been informed, that he was alſo Arch-deacon of Norfolk, but is moſt to be a Miſtake. See Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 394.

He was likewiſe Son to the Excellent Biſhop Hall. He firſt occurs Prebendary in the latter end of 1640, in the room of Hugh Coulmeigh then deceaſed. He was in a manner Perſecuted out of the Living of Peter-Tavy in Devon; but allowed afterwards to keep that of Stokeintinny in the ſame County. He lived after the Reſtoration ſeveral Years, not dying till about the Year 1674: At which time he was ſucceeded in this Sub-deanery by Nicholas Hall, (then A. M. Collated to it Mar. 17, 1704. afterwards D. D. Canon-Reſid. and Treaſurer) and in his Prebend by J. Gilbert, A.M. Collated March 18, 1674, now Canon-Reſid. and Vicar of Plimouth.

WILLIAM HUCHENSON, D. D. Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . And Cheriton, Ep. . . . . }

Query whether he be the ſame Perſon with the Arch-deacon of Lewes, in the Church of Chicheſter.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 764.

Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 95.

He was Son to the Learned Dr. Huchenſon, one of the Diviines appointed by his Majeſty King James I. to Revile and Correct the Tranſlation of the Bible, after the Conference at Hampton Court; was Bred, as I conjecture, at St. John's College in Oxford: For I find he proceeded B. D. of that College in the Year 1596; and by conſequence Mr. Newcourt ſeems to conjecture aright, That he was the ſame William Huchenſon, who in the Year 1581, became Arch-deacon of St. Alban's, Vicar of Rickmondſworth in Hertfordſhire, and Rector of St. Chriſtopher's in London; in 1584, Rector of St. Botolph's Biſhopſgate; in 1588, Vicar of Hutton in Eſſex, and Prebendary of Wildland in the Church of St. Paul's and in 1591, was Removed to the Prebend of Hoxton in the ſame Church: All which Preferments (the Arch-deaconry only excepted, concerning which quære) he Voided, as he had Obtained them, ſucceſſively before Feb. 13, 1607. When he had a Prebendary of this Church conferred upon him, on the Reſignation of the Right Reverend Father in God William Cotton, then Biſhop of this Church. About the Year 1610, he Reſigned his Prebend, and was ſucceeded the Year following, by Mr. Edward Cotton, before-mentioned, if I miſtake not. Soon after I find him Prebendary again, and a little after that, he is again Omitted, and June 11, 1624, he had another Prebend conferred upon him, on the Reſignation of Thomas Hutton, D. D. About the Year * 1609, I find him Arch-deacon of Cornwall, which Dignity he Reſigned in the Year 1617, to William Parker. July 11, 1629, (being then † A. M.) he was Elected Canon of this Church, on the Death of Robert Law, who had been Treaſurer.

Wood ſaith he ſeated himſelf in the Year* 1601.

Ibid.

† As appears on the Chapter Acts of this Church.

The‡ is be inconſiſtent with what Wood, as before-mentioned, ſaith of his Diſpoſe, unleſs it were the Father of this Sufferer, or any other William Huchenſon, who is meant by Wood.

When the Rebels were Plundering the Cathedral of Exeter, and committing their Ravages there, they ſeized this Reverend and Worthy Perſon, and violently carried him away towards the Ship, in order to Impriſon him there, for refuſing to Advance ſuch Sums as they demanded from him, towards the Support of the Rebellion. He was at that time in a weak and infirm Condition; and as he was carried thro' the Streets, was abus'd and hooted at by the Boys, and expoſed to the affronts and Revilings of the baſe, inſolent Multitude. In his Living of Cheriton ſucceeded (but not immediately, there being One at leaſt, between them) one Torway, who Conformed at the Reſtoration, and by that means kept Poſſeſſion of the Living, this Reverend Dr. dying in the Year 1643, (ſo early were his Sufferings) and there being no Regular Incumbent after him to claim the Place. How long, or how much of the Revenues of his Canonry he was deprived of, I cannot juſtly ſay; but his dying ſo Early in the Rebellion, made way for Two more to Succeed and Suffer, in his Prebend and Canonry, at the General Diſſolution of the Cathedrals; the Former of which was George Kendall (who will be after mentioned in this Liſt) as the Latter was,

Mere. Ruſt. p. 243.

He had alſo the Living of Ken near Exon; but whether his Perſecutors touched him in that Part alſo, I cannot inform.

WILLIAM COX, D. D. Canonry-Reſid. Chaunterſhip, And Preb. Nervæ Villæ. } in the Church of Chicheſter.

And probably a Living (or Livings) in or near the County of Suſſex; and

I cannot recover the Name of it. See Southampton and Suſſex, and quære.

I am not directly informed, but may gueſs, that Dr. William Cox, Chaunter of Chicheſter, and this Dr William Cox, were the ſame Perſon; which ſeveral Circumſtances from plainly to intimate.

The firſt Notices that I can meet with, of this Gentleman, are, that he had made himſelf Eminent in the County of Suſſex, by his great Learning; and particularly by a Conference with Fiſher the Jeſuite, whom he baffled in a Publick Diſputation. He was Perſecuted, and Plundered of all he had, and thence driven, as I conceive, into theſe Parts, and September 23, 1643, was Admitted to a Prebend of this Church, on the Reſignation of Samuel Travers; and the 9th of March following was Elected Canon in the room of Dr. Huchenſon, as is before-ſaid. The Uſage he met with from the Rebels in this City, exceeds Belief, and is thus related by the Author of Merc. Ruſt. in the 61ſt, and following Pages. After the Victory obtained over the Rebels, by Sir Ralph Hopton, near Stratton in Cornwall, it was the Fortune of this Reverend Perſon, to be diſpatched on an Errand, ſuitable to his Function, which was, with ſome Propoſals of Peace, to the Garriſon of Exeter. When the Doctor arrived at the Firſt Guard, he was Blind-folded, and in that manner conducted to the Quarters of the Earl of Stamford; who received him in a Manner very unbecoming his own Quality, as well as that of the Meſſenger: For he gave him all the reproachful Names he could imagine, and ſware he would hang him inſtantly: But firſt, to extort a Confeſſion from him, he offers a Knife or Dagger to his Breaſt, demanding an Anſwer to ſome Queſtions which he

There was one William Cox of New-Coll. Created D. D. at Oxford, among other Loyaliſts in 1642. Poſſibly he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 715.

I have alſo an imperfect Account of this from the County of Suſſex, with the Variation of ſeveral Material Circumſtances; and this among them, that it was a Bear upon him in a Party of the Garriſon of Chicheſter. The Miſtake, it may be, aroſe from hence, that he was better known by his Preferments in that Church and Country, than by his Later Preferments in this Church of Exeter.

Digitized by Google

he then asked him: The Dr. with great Presence of Mind replied, That he was ordered to deliver some Letters from the Army in Cornwall, but had no Commission to answer any Questions; upon which the Earl renews his Reproaches, and makes offers to stab him; but finding he could not terrifie the Dr. into a Complyance, he then demands of him the Letters that he had brought: The Handkerchief wherewith the Dr. was hoodwinked, had been fastened with a Pin, which he had to that Time held in his Hand, after he had pulled the Handkerchief off; and going to take the Letters out of his Pocket, he put the Pin into his Mouth; upon which one Major Baxter cried out, What doth the Rogue eat there? He swallows Papers of Intelligence! Thereupon the Earl forgetting his Peerage, began, in a ridiculous manner, to Leap, and Skip, and Frisk, and cried out Treason! and that he was come to betray the City: And presently, clapping his Dagger to the Doctor's Breast, demanded what it was that he had put into his Mouth: The Dr. mildly told him it was the Pin, and shewed it him; but the Major not being satisfied with that Answer, presently flies at him, takes him by the Throat, and griped him so hard, that he had almost strangled him; whilst the Earl himself cries out, cut the Villain's Throat, cut it; and offered to do it with his own Hands, putting his Knife to it thrice for that Purpose; but the Dr. struggling, still put it by. After this, others that were in the Room, Beat him about the Head with their Fists: Others Scratched his Face: Some search his Ears, others his Mouth, (stretching them to such a degree, that they put him to great Torture) to find out Papers. Nor was this all, for they Tore his Hair from his Head; and one forced his Fingers down his very Throat; insomuch, that at last he fainted away under their barbarous Usage, and was very like to have Expired upon the Place. The Dr. had a Trumpeter sent with him when he came upon the Message, whom they treated in a Barbarous manner also, but not to that degree they did the Dr. Himself. After this they were both ordered into an outer Room, where the same Insolencies are again Renewed, and the very Dreggs of the People animated to be the Executioners of those Barbarities upon the Dr. From hence they are Committed to Prison, where they are both stripped naked, and their Cloaths narrowly searched; but no Papers yet appearing, they were resolved to search within as well as without, and in a manner to turn them inside-outside, and for this purpose prepared Two * Vomits, which they forced them to take, and Ply the Dr. more especially with Posset-drink, and an Infusion in it to promote the Operation: And tho' they saw That what came from him was with great Difficulty and Torment, yet they kept him all Night upon this Rack, till at last it drew the Blood from him. This inhuman Usage brought the Dr. so low, that in Three Days he was not able to receive any Subsistence; and during this Extremity and Weakness, many of the Towns People came to see him, as if he had been a Publick Show; who instead of Pitying, Revile and Reproach him; and among the rest, one Lieutenant Down rushing (one Night) into the Chamber, asked for the Jesuit, and calling him Rogue, and all those other vile Names which himself deserved, offered to have murdered him, had not a Soldier there present interposed. After the Dr. had recovered Strength enough to undergo a further Perfecution, he was brought before the Council of War, where he complained of his Usage, contrary to the Law of Arms, as well as Humanity it self: But I do not find he had any Satisfaction made him; instead of it, he was sent to be imprisoned on Board the Ships (a very common way of dealing with the Clergy in those Times) at Topsham, where the Stench and noysome Smell had almost poisoned him. The Doctor's Lady bearing of her Husband's Barbarous Usage, haftened to him at Exeter, and with much Entreaty obtained Leave to go on Ship-board to be him; but at her Return was her self Imprisoned, till the Ship, in which her Husband was confined, failed out of the River for London; where the Dr. was long detained a Prisoner in my Lord Peters's House in Aldersgate-street. Whether this ill Usage might contribute towards the haftening of his Death, I know not, but am sure that it happened before the Restoration: Soon after which happy Time, James Smith, B. D. succeeded in Both his Prebend, and Canonry; and was Installed to the former, and Elected to the latter, Aug. 30. 1660; and the same day was also Installed Arch-deacon of Barum.

*My Account from Suffex, saith, it was Poyson they gave him, and that his Life was saved by his taking a Vomit, to bring it up again; but I am satisfied this is a Mistake.

JOHN BURY, then B. D. but soon after D. D. Canonry-Resid. And Heavitree V. in this County.

*Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 279. where also for what he published.

He was a Native of this County, Educated partly at Corpus-Christi College in Oxford (of which he was elected Scholar) and thence removed to Baliol-College, being the First that was put in there, by the Lord Chief Justice Popham, to receive the Benefit of Blondell's Foundation. Afterwards returning into the County, he became Rector of * Widworthy, and Vicar of Heavitree; as also Prebendary, and Canon-Residentiary of this Church; to the former of which he was collated, March the 20th 1631, on the Death of John Sprott, and was Elected to the latter (not without Objections) on His Majesty's Recommendation, May 1, 1641, in the room of Dr. Keller, then Deceased. In the Year 1643, he was employed in some Service for his Majesty, and for that Reason was by the University of Oxford, in the latter End of that Year, ordered to have his Degree of Doctor whensoever he should desire it: During the Rebellion he was once seized by a Party of the Rebel's Horse, who were hurrying him away Prisoner, but he was fortunately Relieved by a Party of the King's Forces. His Sequestration at Heavitree was in good manner Alleviated by his obtaining the Possession of that Living for one Mr. Bankes who had married his Daughter. He lived after the Restoration about Seven Years, was admitted Rector of St Mary Major in Exon, (on the Deprivation of John Bartlet for Nonconformity) March 4. 1662, and died July 5. 1667, in the Eighty Seventh Year of his Age. On his Death his Prebend was conferred on Edward Wittenhall, then A. M. (whose Collation bears date June 11. 1667) now D. D. and Bishop of Kilmore in Ireland; and in his Canonry succeeded John Wilkins, D. D. after Bishop of Chester, who was Elected to it in July 13. 1667.

* Though I am otherwise informed that he did not obtain Re-Ordination, and soon after Resigned it again. However Quere.

I find one Samuel Mallor presented to this Living in 1656, by Oliver, and to that Presentation Mr. Bury's Sequestration is referred, but I believe it was granted on the Sequestration of Mr. Barton, whom see in Devon.

RICH MERVYN, D. D. Canonry-Resid. And Okehampton V. in this County.

He was of an Ancient Family in Wiltshire, and Born about the Year 1601, at Pertwood in that County. He first occurrs Prebendary at out the middle of 1634, in the room (as I take it) of Tho. Clifford (who, I think, Resigned, and had been Pre-elected to the next Canonry which should become Vacant, a Practice not uncommon in this Church about that Time. This happened to be Mr. Heliar's Canonry, who died, as is before said, about the latter End of 1643; at which Time time Mr. Mervyn appeared, and put in his Claim to the Canonry; but defired that his Admiſion might be deferred, by reaſon of the Conſuſions: But ſoon after this, the Cathedrals being totally diſſolved, he never enjoyed any of the Profits; and at the Reſtoration having got his Majeſty's Mandate for ſucceeding Dr. Burnell, then dead, as well in the ſame Canonry which Burnell held, as in his Chancellorſhip, he Quitted his Right to this Canonry, and ſo was Inſtalled in the Chancellorſhip Sept. 1, 1660, and Elected Canon in the room of Dr. Burnell, on the 15th of the ſame Month. As for his Vicaridge of Okehampton, he was diſpoſſeſſed of that by the Ordinance againſt Pluralities, and was then ſucceeded in it by one Jonas Ware, who about the Year 1650, turned Papiſt, went beyond the Seas, and was, as I have been informed, Immured at Douay, by Order of the Inquiſition, for defending Janſenius's Tenets. In the Year 1661, Mr. Mervyn was admitted D.D. of Exeter-College in Oxford, and died in the Year 1669, in the 69th Year of his Age. If his Character may be taken from his Epitaph, he was an Honeſt and Pious Man, of a Mild, but Piercing Genius, Verſed as well in Buſineſs as in Books, continued Steady and Immovable in the Intereſt of his Majeſty and the Church, during the Uſurpation; was ſparing towards himſelf only, but very Bountiful to his Friends; and made a very calm and deſirable Exit. In his Chancellorſhip, Canonry and Prebend, ſucceeded Thomas Tomkins, B.D. who was Admitted to the Prebend Nov. 8, 1659, Collated to the Chancellorſhip the ſame day, and Elected to the Canonry the 13th of the ſame Month.

And so Mervyn makes a Duplicate Sufferer in it

Being ſometimes permitted to keep Bratton-Clovelly in this County.

I have heard alſo, that he had the Offer of a Biſhoprick.

HENRY BYAM, D. D. Prebend, . . .
Eaſt-Luckham, R.
And Selworthy, R. } in Somerſetſhire

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 197.

He was Son of Laurence Byam, Rector of this Living of Eaſt-Luckham, and was Born there in the Year 1580. He was ſent firſt to Exeter-College in Oxford, and thence Elected Student of Chriſt-Church. Upon the Death of his Father, about the Year 1612, he ſucceeded in Luckham; and March 17,* 1641 (on the Death of Sampſon Streede) was Collated to a Prebend in this Church. About that time alſo he ſerved the Clergy of Somerſetſhire in Convocation. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion he was ſeized by Blake (then a Captain of Dragoons, afterwards Oliver's General at Sea) and was the Firſt Perſon ſo uſed, for his Majeſty's Service. After ſome time of Impriſonment, he made his Eſcape, and fled to his Majeſty at Oxford; and was made D. D. there. He had at that time Raiſed both Men and Horſes for the King's Service, and Engaged his Five Sons in the ſame moſt Righteous Cauſe. His whole Income, as well Spiritual as † Temporal, was by that means expoſed to Rapine, Plunder and Sequeſtration, his Children to diſtreſs and danger, and himſelf to many grievous Shifts and Exigencies. His Wife and Daughter were left at home, and being perpetually harraſs'd by the Rebels, were at laſt conſtrained to Fly for Wales; which attempting by Sea, they were Both loſt, together with all the Remainder of what Treaſure the Barbarous Ravagers had ſpared, or rather had been concealed from them. Of his Sons, Four were Captains in the Service; and ſome of them Honourably loſt their Lives in it. When Prince Charles Fled out of England, firſt to Scilly, and afterwards to Jerſey, this Excellent Doctor attended him, and was left as his Chaplain, at the Caſtle of Elizabeth, in the laſt-mentioned Iſland; where he remained till it was taken by the Pathiament; and from that time, till the Reſtoration, he lived in a poor Obſcure condition. However, he ſurvived all thoſe Miſeries, and upon the Reſtoration was made Canon of this Church (in the room of Edward Cotton deceaſed, to which Dignity he was admitted Sept. 15, 1660) and Precentary of Wells. He died at Luckham, June 16, 1669, in the 89th Year of his Age. He was, ſaith Wood, whilſt young, One of the greateſt Ornaments of the Univerſity, and the moſt noted Perſon, the cauſe for his Excellent and Polite Learning; and was afterwards Looked upon as the moſt Acute and Eminent Preacher of his Age. He bore his Sufferings with great Patience; and was a Perſon of ſo much Modeſty, that 'tis well known, would he have fought after it, he might have died a Biſhop, which honourable Function he really deſerved, not only for Sanctity of Life, but for Learning, Charity and Loyalty, ſcarce to be equalled by any in the Age he lived. He was ſucceeded in his Prebend by Francis Moor, A. M. who was Collated to it June 19, 1669, and in his Canonry by Oliver Naylor, Elected to it the 26th of the ſame Month and Year.

* 1656, ſaith Wood, but by Miſtake.

See alſo Ward's Account of him at the End of the 13 Sermons of Dr. Byam, which he Publiſhed.

† For Part of which, at laſt, I find him compounding at 40 l. a Ann.

BARTHOLOMEW PAPE, A.M. Prieb.
And
† Rem, R. in this County. . . . } † I take the Rector of this Living to have been the ſame Perſon with the Prebendary of this Church, and Miſs, in laſt two Livings, at Iremere, upon the Ordinance of 20 Pounds, and Pitton, upon the Preſentation of the Lord Keep his Colleſtion, which was that of Clift St. Mary in the City of Exeter.

He was a Native of this County, as I take it, and was Inſtall'd in this Prebend, Jan. 28, 1619, on the Deaſh of Dr. Jaſper Swift. His Succeſſor in the Living, was his Namſake (and I think Relation, Edward Pare,) and dying during the Uſurpation, this Edward Pare continu'd in it till the Act of Uniformity diſpoſſeſs'd him. He was much Harraſs'd and Diſturb'd at his other Living, and forced often to Abſcond; but I do not find that he was ever Formally diſpoſſeſs'd of it: Nor do I know of what continuance his Troubles were. He was ſucceeded in this Prebend, on the Reſtoration by Arthur Bury, then A. M. who was Collated to it Jan. 18, 1660, and after Reſigned it again. He was the Son of Dr. John Bury, the Suffering Canon above-mentioned; and being one of the Elected Fellows of Exeter-College in Oxford, will be there mentioned.

JOHN PINSON, A. M. Prebend, . .
And
Tallaton, R. in this County. . . . }

He was a Native, as is more than probable, of this County; was Educated at Wadham-College in Oxford, had the Vicaridge of Cornwood in this County, and afterwards got this Rich Living of Tallaton. He was Collated to this Prebend June the 19th (if I miſtake not) 1624, on the Death of Dr. John Elwell, whoſe Widow he afterwards married. He was Sequeſtred from Tallaton about the Year 1645, and by conſequence was deprived of it for 15 Years, which amounted to near 3000 l. Loſs, the Living being valu'd at 200 l. per Annum. His Crime was, Great Zeal and Loyalty for his Prince, and, as I think, Refuſing the Covenant. He had a Temporal Eſtate of about 80 l. per Annum, which he happily ſaved, by making it over in Truſt to Another, when he ſaw the Storm coming. But his Houſe was ſeveral times Plundered, himſelf often Seized, and made Priſoner by the Soldiers, and he forced as often to purchaſe his Liberty with conſiderable Sums of Money. His Wife alſo was abuſed, when ſhe came to demand her Eſtebs. At the time of his Sequeſtration he had ſeveral Children, and lived with them and his Wife during his Troubles, in a ſmall Eſtate within a little Mannor which belongs to this Rectory, which had happily fallen in hand juſt before he was diſpoſſeſſed. Concerning which it muſt alſo be further known, that another Eſtate dropping after the Sequeſtration, he privately granted it (even in those Black and Defponding Times): to one of his Sons, who on the Reftoration, got Poffeffion of it, as his Father did of his Living; but upon the coming in of King William (as if the Party thought the Old Game was then to have been play'd over again) the Perfon to whom the Intruder had granted alfo juft fuch a Title to the Eftate, as himfelf had to the Parfonage, Revives his Pretentions, fues Mr. Pinfon (the Son of this Sufferer) and gave him feveral Years Trouble in Law, in hopes to wreft it from him; but was at laft forced to defift, and leave him the quiet Poffeffion of his undoubted Right; and I truft in God the Times will never return, when either himfelf or his Heirs fhall be difpoffeized of it on that Claim. This Intruder was one Mr. Sprat, who was Mr. Pinfon's firft and immediate Succeffor in the Rectory, and continued in it about Seven Years; and then dying, one Collins got Poffeffion of it, continued in it till the Reftoration, and would have done fo much longer (poffibly beyond St. Bartholomew's Day) if he could; for he forced Mr. Pinfon to commence a Suit with him for it, and at laft (though he had agreed to let the Produce of that Harveft continue in the Barns, lock'd up, till the Matter fhould be decided by Law) finding how it was like to go with him, broke open the Doors, and carried (or in truth ftole) away the Corn: Soon after which the Suit going againft him, he was forced to undergo the grievous Perfecution of delivering up the Living to the right Owner Mr. Pinfon (and is accordingly for it Enrolled among the Ejected Miniflers in the Abridgment) who Enjoyed it but a very little while after; for he Died about the Year 1661. I have this only to add of him, that he was a Learned and Worthy Man. In his Prebend fucceeded Thomas Portman, A. M. who was Admitted to it April 14, 1662.

One John Wood ſucceeded at Selworthy in 1656.

Digitized by Google

For fome and Claiming this not Turn.

TIMOTHY SHUTE, A. M. Prebend.. The Holy Trinity, R. in Exon. And One of the Morning-Lectures at the Cathedral.

Ibid. Mem. p. 293.

He was the Son of a worthy Divine (Vicar of Giflewick in Yorkfhire) and Brother to the Excellent Mr. Jofias Shute the fuffering Rector of St. Mary Wolnooth in London, and Arch-deacon of Colchefter. He was Collated to the Prebend, Aug. 2. 1630, on the Death of Anth. Rofington; and difpoffeffed of his Rectory by one of the Committees, for Refufing the Covenant: At which Time he told them, with an undaunted Prefence of Mind, that their Fathers rejoiced in the Light of that Gofpel which he Preached, and which they were then going to Extinguifh. And withal, (Rubbing his Feet in the Floor) added, I fhake off the Duft of my Feet as a Witnefs againft you. The Committee by their Sentence not only Difpoffeffed him of what he then had, but rendered him Incapable of any other Preferment; infomuch that when he was afterwards prefented by the Rightful Patron, to the Rectory of Fawway in this County, he was not permitted to Hold or Enjoy it. He was a Perfon of great Gravity, Piety and Learning, and Died before the Reftoration. After which he was fucceeded in the Prebend by Tho. Flavel, A. M. the fuffering Rector of Ruan, &c. in Cornwall; who had it conferred on him Jan. 18, 1660.

THOMAS ALDEN, A. M. Prebend. . . .

He was Born in or about the Diocefs of Norwich, and Bred at Cambridge, was Collated to this Prebend Aug. 8. 1631, on the Refignation of John Doughty; he had alfo the Rectory of Alphington near Exon. which he kept fome Time with great Difficulty, and was at laft forced to Refign it to his Son; for having taken the Neighbour Living of Kenn in Truft for one Mr. Huchenfon (Son, if I miftake not, to the above named Canon) one Adams gave him a great deal of Trouble on the Foot of the Ordinance againft Pluralities; and tho' he had not one Farthing Profit out of the Living of Kenn; tho' the Parifhioners in their Petition to the Commiffioners of the Broad-Seal of England (in whom, as it feems, it then was) earneftly defired that Mr. Alden might continue among them; tho' he had, as I find, laid out but even too much Money in Quartering the Parliament Forces, and had once compounded the Matter by a Sum of Money with Adams; yet the Sum was Renewed, and he was at laft forced to falve himfelf by Refigning the Rectory of Alphington, as is before faid, to his Son, in order to continue the Revenues of it in his Family; the Numerousnefs of which much required it: He Died Sept. 9, 1651; and on the Reftoration was fucceeded in his Prebend by Edward Cotton, A. M, (after D. D. Treafurer, &c.) who was Admitted to it Sept. 15, 1660.

THOMAS COLLINS, A. M. Prebend. Samford-Peverel, R. And Culliton, V. } in this County.

He was Born in the City of Exeter, had been formerly Fellow of the College of That Name in Oxford, a great Tutor there; and was Collated to this Prebend, Novem. 3, 1632, on the Refignation of Randolph Manwaring: But it was fome Time after the Diffolution of the Cathedrals, before he was deprived of the Livings: the * latter of which he loft in the Year 1652, for Infufficiency, as 'tis faid, and not being able To Preach by the Spirit; but he Loft not the Former until the latter End of the Year † 1657; and the Crime then alledged againft Him, was, his having formerly Furnifhed out two Troopers for His Majefty's Service. He had been alfo feveral times Imprifon'd: His Houfe was likewife often Plundered to that Degree, that they fcarce left him a Difh or a Spoon; and when he was once our of their Cuftody, he was frequently forced to Skulk and Abfcond to keep himfelf fo. His Temporal Eftate amounted to about Sixty Pounds per Ann. which was not indeed Sequeftred, but he was forced to fell both that and a large Study of Books, to fupport his Family, which was very numerous, confifting at that Time of a Wife, and no lefs than Ten Children; which were all Turned out of Doors together: With the Fright and Concern of which, and the other Plunderings and Ravages, the Death of his Wife (who was Grand-daughter to Bifhop Cotton, and had a futable Education) was much Haftened. Mr. Collins had no Fifths paid him, tho' frequently demanded; nor would the Money which he made of his Eftate, long maintain them; infomuch that a Tailor who worked at the Houfe, in Charity took off and maintained One of his Children; Two more were kept by Two Weavers, the Husbands of their Nurfes, on Charity likewife; and fuch of the reft as were capable of it, were put to Service. The Perfon who fucceeded at Samford was one Stephen Gower, who had never been Bred to any Learning, but was by his Profeffion (Civil and Religious) a Ship-Joyner and Independent; fo that his probable he never had any Orders at all of any Kind. After he had the Living, he, in a literal Senfe, Labour'd much amongft them, tho' I cannot fay in the Lord; for he wrought many Things about the Parfonage Houfe with his own Hands; and particularly one Table which was the

* In 1646. John Wilkins was Prefented to it, by the Reftoration (as 'tis faid in the Inftrument of Mr. Collins Depofition) he loft it on the Act againft Pluralities, &c.

† I find Stephen Cotton Prefented to it in 1655, and therefore fuppofe Collins held it fome Time.

Digitized by Google

only Living left, at the Restoration in lieu of Fifths; and it continued in the Houſe many Years after, a Monument as well of the Honeſty, as Art of the Quondam Mechanical Rector. Mr. Collins was ſo well beloved in the Pariſh, that the ſight of Coven was odious to them, and ſeveral of them ventur'd even to Diſturb and Throw Things at him in the Pulpit, until the Commiſſioners took them in Hand for it. After this worthy Sufferer wandered up and down among his Friends for ſome Time, he at laſt ſettled at Ninehead in Somerſetſhire, where he kept a ſmall School until the Reſtoration, when he was himſelf alſo Reſtored to his Preferments, and died in the Year * 1665, too ſoon to receive any Recompence for his Sufferings. He was ſucceeded in his Prebend by Martin Blake, B. D. (the ſuffering Vicar of Barnſtable in this County) who was Collated to it June 3. 1665.

* As I gueſs he too died of Grief for being turn'd out of his Benefices, and his Son's hard uſage, his Death happened in 1663.

CHARLES FOTHERBY, B. D. Preb.
South-bill, .
Callington, . } In the County of Cornwall.
And
St. Jue, .

I take it to be the ſame Perſon who Poſſeſſed and held all theſe Livings, One or more of which poſſibly he might obtain and leſe in Succeſſion, ſo as not to have been Poſſeſſed of them all together.

He was, as I preſume, a Gentleman of a very conſiderable Family, becauſe I have been informed that K. Charles I. was his Godfather; and 'tis certain, that he had a Temporal Eſtate of a good Value ſomewhere Eaſtward of this County. There was an Ejected Fellow of * Jeſus-College in Cambridge, of both theſe Names; if he was the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary (which to me ſeems not improbable, but Quære) then 'tis plain he had his Education in that Univerſity and College: But if not, I have not the leaſt Grounds for a Conjecture where to fix it. He was Collated to this Prebend December 13, 1639. on the Death of Tho. Worrel; and lived to be Reſtored, but died ſometime before October 1677; when his Prebend was filled by Dr. John Mills, the late moſt learned Collector of the various Readings of the Greek Teſtament.

* Which College for. All the like Degrees are different: And therefore Quære, if they are not diſtinct Perſons.

FRANCIS BAMPFIELD, A. M. Prebend.

He was a Native of this County, and Decended from an Ancient and Genteel Family of his Name near Exeter; was Educated at Wadham-College, and (ſoon after he took Orders) Collated to this Prebend, May 15, 1641. During the Confuſions, he fell in with the Men of the Times, and was Entangled both with the * Covenant and Ingagement. However, on the Reſtoration he was Re-poſſeſſed of his Prebend, which he enjoyed till Bartholomew-day, 1662; at which Time he was deprived of it (as alſo of Sherburn in Dorſetſhire) for Nonconformity. After which retiring to London, he Preached in Private there, ſuffered very much for it; and died under Confinement, Feb. 16, 1684. On his Deprivation the Prebend was given to William Reade, A. M. who became afterwards the very Learned and Worthy Arch-deacon of Barum.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 575. Gives them alſo for what he Wrote.

* So that he belongs not to the Liſt, any otherwiſe than as I am obliged to account for all thoſe who held any Dignities, Prebends, &c. at the Diſſolution of the Cathedrals, and conſequently loſt them at that Time.

WILL. SCLATER, . Preb. . . .
And
† St. Stephen's, R. in Exon.

Wood Ath. Vol. II p. 58.

† As I have been informed, but I cannot learn the abſolute certainty of it; and therefore do not give it the Reader as ſuch.

In 1615. he became D. D. was ſometime Miniſter of St. Peter's Poor in London, and in his Funeral Sermon for Mr. Abraham Wheelock, Preached in 1614, calls himſelf Preacher of God's Word in Bread-Street: So that I doubt he complied too much with the Times.

He was Son to a Father of both his Names who was Fellow of King's-College in Cambridge (to which he was Elected from Eaton in 1625,) Vicar of Patminſter in Somerſetſhire, and a Writer. This Gentleman had been alſo Fellow of the ſame College, and was Collated to this Preb. Septeber 18, 1641; on the Death of Hugh Cluvin-leigh the Sub-dean. He had alſo the Living of Collumpton in Devon, from which I have been informed he was likewiſe in a manner Perſecuted, tho' not formally Sequeſtred; but Quære. He Publiſhed ſeveral Sermons, and died before the Reſtoration. In his Prebend ſucceeded George Cary (then A. M. after L. L. D. and Dean of this Church) who had it conferred on him March 3, 1660.

SAMUEL LYNFORD, A. M. Prebend.

He was Educated in the Univerſity of Cambridge, Inſtalled Prebendary, Auguſt 26, 1642, on the Death of Walter More, died before the Reſtoration, and was ſucceeded Sprenger, 29, 1660. by James Lake, A. M. afterwards Canon-Reſid. of this Church, and Father to the late Excellent Dr. Lake, Arch-deacon of Exon, and Rector of St. Mary Hill in London.

He had ſome other Preferments, which he was allow'd to keep tho' he was Father to The Thrice Excellent and Pereſent Arch-deacon of Barum.

RICHARD PEARSON, A. M. Prebend.

I take this to be the ſame Richard Pearſon who was Nephew to Dr. Holdſworth, Publiſhed that Excellent Doctor's Prelections, wrote his Life (which he prefixed to the Lectures) and was at the Time of that Publication D. D. I am the rather induced to believe this, becauſe he had the Prebend conferred on him Decem. 21, 1643, which therefore muſt have been done by * Biſhop Brownrigg; to whom Mr. Pearſon's Uncle Dr. Holdſworth, was a moſt intimate and inſeparable Friend, and therefore probably recommended his Nephew to him for this Preferment. If this Conjecture be well grounded, this Prebendary Pearſon was a Minſter's Son of New-Caſtle upon Tyne, and Educated at St. John's College in Cambridge, as his Uncle Dr. Holdſworth had been. He lived to the Reſtoration, ſome Time after reſigned his Prebend, and was ſucceeded in it by Thomas Greenfield, A. M. on whom it was conferred October 29, 1662. He was ſome time Vicar of St. Bride's in London: But when he died I know not, nor any thing more of him, ſave that Lloyd ſaith, he was a Learned and good-Natured Man.

* As is moſt probable, in the Time of Laud.

Holdſworth's Life: And alſo Preſ. to the Reader, prefixed to the Prælections Newly Rep. Euclid Vol. I. 1717. Mem. p. 417.

GEORGE KENDALL, B. D. Preb. . . .

He was Born in the Pariſh of Dawliſh in this County, and had been Fellow of Exeter-College. On the breaking out of the Rebellion he ſided with the Presbyterians, notwithſtanding which he had this Prebend conferred upon him by Biſhop Brownrigg, and was Inſtalled in it Feb. 8, 1644, on the Death of Dr. Huchenſon before-mentioned. After this he became Rector of Biſſland in Cornwall, then of a Church in Gracechurch-ſtreet, London, and was irreconcilable Adverſary to John Goodwyn, and the Independant Doctrine. In 1624, he proceeded D. D. Upon the Reſtoration he was made Rector of Kenton near Exeter; but was ſoon after depriv'd of that and his Prebend for Nonconformity, and died Aug. 19. 1662. In his Prebend ſucceeded Francis Fullwood, D. D. before-mentioned (afterwards Arch-deacon of Totneſs) who was Collated to it October 16. 1662. See the Account of Dr. Kendall and his Character more at large in Wood. I have juſt mentioned him here for the ſame Reaſons as I did Mr. Bampfield before.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 219. Where ſee what he wrote.

EDWARD

EDWARD GIBBONS, Mr. B. . . . } Priest Vicars-Place, ... } And Sub-Chaunterſhip. . . . . }

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 768, 842.

He was Born, as I guess, in Cambridge; because he was Brother to Mr. Orlando Gibbons, who was born there. In that Univerſity he was Bred, and was Incorporated in his Degree at Oxford, in the Year 1592. He had been ſometime Organiſt at Briſtol, and was brought into this Country by Dr. Cotton, when that Reverend Perſon was Preferr'd to the Biſhoprick of this Church; and was made Prieſt-Vicar here ſometime in, or between the Years 1607, and 1613, in the room, as I take it, of one George Tucker. He had married Two Wives which were Gentlewomen of Conſiderable Families and Fortunes; the Firſt a near Relation of the Lord Spencer's, and the Second of the Ancient Family of the Bluets in this County: By which means he had gotten a very conſiderable Temporal Eſtate; inſomuch that, as I have been informed by an Ancient Gentleman who was related to him, he preſented his Majeſty, when under his Diſtreſſes, to the Value of a Thouſand Pounds. When the Rebellion was prevalent in this County, and the Parliament Commiſſioners were Raiſing Contributions here, they demanded of him 500 l. and upon his Refuſing to pay it, they Plundered his Houſe, not leaving him ſo much as a Bed to ly upon; and Turned Himſelf and his Wife (both then berwixt 80 and 90 Years of Age) and Three Grand-Children out of Doors; and afterwards ſeized all his Temporal Eſtates, which were diſperſed in the ſeveral Parts of this and other Counties. He was a Man of very Extraordinary Piety, and, as I have been further informed, uſually practiſed the Duty recommended to him by the Example of the Holy Pſalmiſt, of Riſing at Midnight to give Thanks to God becauſe of his Righteous Judgments. He built Two little Oratories on Two Eſtates which he had in this County; one of which (at leaſt) within the Pariſh of Dunſford near Exeter, is remaining to this day. I have likewiſe been informed, that he relieved ſome Scores of Poor every Week; as alſo, that a Miniſter of the Times making him a Viſit on his Death-Bed, in order, as it was ſaid, to Convert ſuch a notorious Malignant, tho' he loſt his Labour in that kind, yet thought himſelf fully recompenc'd, by ſeeing ſuch an Inſtance of ſolid, and moſt Chriſtian Piety, and came away from him in great Admiration. The preciſe time of his Death, I know not; but am ſure it hapned betwixt the Years 1646, and 1660. I have this only to add of him, that ſome of his Muſical Compoſitions were ſo much in Eſteem, that they were preſerved in the Muſick-School at Oxford; and that on the Reſtoration, Matthew Bennet (the Suffering Miniſter of St. Olave's in Exeter) was made Prieſt-Vicar in his room.

JOHN MAYNE, . Prieſt-Vicars-Place.

He was Admitted to it betwixt the Years 1607, and 1613, (in the room, as I take it, of one Robert Withers) Died during the Uſurpation, and on the Reſtoration was ſucceeded by Thomas More.

ROBERT PARSONS, . Prieſt-Vicar's-Place, And St. Martin's, R. in Exeter. . . . } }

Whether this Living was then held by Sequeſtration or Inſtitution, I know not. I preſume he was only a Reading Miniſter there: During ſome part, at leaſt, of the Uſurpation he ſubmitted to come a Step lower, and was a Pariſh-Clerk for a Subſiſtence. He was made Prieſt-Vicar on the Death of Thomas Gale, about the Beginning of 1640, lived to be Reſtored to Both theſe Preferments, and enjoy'd them many Years after. Nor ſhould it be forgotten, that he then took care to pay off all the Debts, which he had contracted during his Sequeſtration, in ſuch a punctual manner, that he calculated alſo the Intereſt of them to a Farthing, and readily paid it to ſuch as would receive it. He was a Man of a very ſevere and Religious Life; and thoſe, as I have been informed, to pay his Private as well as Publick Devotions, very frequently in the Cathedral, behind which he had a little adjoyning Houſe; And this probably was the reaſon why ſome of the Mob reported him, as I have heard they did, to be a Romaniſt in his Heart. He Died about July 1676, and was ſucceeded in his Prieſt-Vicar's Place, by Henry Travers, the 24th of the ſame Month.

WILLIAM HOPWOOD, . Prieſt-Vicar's-Place.

He was made Prieſt-Vicar on the Death of John Preſt, about the latter End of 1641, or the Beginning of 1642. In the Year 1643, I find one of both theſe Names, and take it to be the ſame Perſon, Rector of St. Paul's and of Alhallows Goldſmith-ſtreet, in this City; but not knowing what Title he had to theſe Livings, how long he continu'd in them, or how he left them, I dare not ſet him down as ſequeſtred thence. He ſurvived the Reſtoration, but died March 7, 1660. I do not find whether he Re-aſſumed St. Paul's and Alhallows (if ſo be he was the Perſon who had them before the Rebellion) as I find he did the Prieſt-Vicar's-Place; in which on his Death he was ſucceeded by William Waters, March 14, 1660.

GLOUCESTER.

GODFREY GOODMAN, D.D. Biſſoprick. Canonry of Windſor, ... } And Weſt-Iſley*, R. in Berkſhire. . . } * See Dr. Fulham in this County.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 423. Lloyd ad dit. (Mem. p. 601) that he had been alſo Prebendary of Weſtminſter. See alſo Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Part I. p. 926.

He was Born the 28th of February, at Ruthyn in Denbighſhire, Educated at Weſtminſter-School, and thence Elected to Trinity-College in Cambridge. In 1607, he was made Rector of Stapleford-Abbots, and about Ten Years after, Canon of Windſor. In 1620, he was preferr'd to the Deanery of Rochester; and in 1623, to this Biſhoprick; in Commendam with which he held the Canonry and Rectory above-named. In the Year 1626, he had vented ſome Popiſh Heterodoxies in a Sermon at Court; and in 1640, Diſſenting from the New Canons, Arch-biſhop Laud told him, he muſt be either a Papiſt, a Socinian, or a Puritan; which however, he then utterly denied, and ſaid, it was a Matter of another nature: Tho', by the Event, to me it ſeems not improbable, that the Former of theſe Charges was, in part at leaſt, the Occaſion of his Refuſal; notwithſtanding Lloyd ſaith, his Impriſonment was to his Great Honour; judging, as I gueſs, that they were Puritan Principles which prevented his Subſcribing. But however that Matter be, 'tis ſure, that he was upon his Refuſal, Suſpended and Impriſoned, until at laſt he did Subſcribe. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was Plundered, Spoiled, Robbed, and utterly Undone; and his Loſſes were ſo Extraordinary, and Exceſſive Great, that he was aſſumed to conſult them, leſt they ſhould ſeem

See alſo Heylin's Hiſt of Archbiſhop Laud, p. 418.

Ibid

Wood ſeems to make it Laſting, out of ſome Papers, which he had from him, that he did write a great deal of Divinity.

Subſcribe at laſt; but afterwards Retracted, and Exted his French according to that that he was Suſpended th Gentle. N. B. 1. 1670. tho he had given the King and Church Satisfaction, for his Subſcription to the Articles Ibid.

In-

Digitized by Google

Incredible. He afterwards lived Obſcurely at Weſtminſter; and in that Retirement openly joined himſelf to the Church of Rome; in Reconciliation with which he Died about the latter End of the Year 1655: Being attended at the time of his Death, by the famous Jeſuit Fr. A St. Clara. He left ſeveral Charities by his Will; and among them, Sixteen Pounds to Sequeſtred Miniſters. He was ſaith Wood, a Harmleſs Man, hurtful to none but himſelf, pitiful to the Poor, and hoſpitable to his Neighbours. He had, it ſeems, drawn up a Project for Recovering the Impropriations of the Church, without Injuring any body. He was alſo concerned in the Noble Deſign of bringing the New-Riv'rs Water into London. But I have only this to add of him, that Fuller ſaith, he was the Single Biſhop of 20c, ſince the Reformation, whom the Vile and Deteſtable Practices (a juſt Occaſion of Offence indeed, to Weak Minds) of thoſe who engroſſed to themſelves the Name of Proteſtant, had Scandalized into Popery: And if ſo, the Party do but proclaim their own Shame, when they think to Vilifie the Church of England by this Inſtance.

I cannot forbear to obſerve on the ſame occaſion, that in 1653, there was Tranſlated a little Time, entituled Legenda Lignea; which gives a proſpect Account of thoſe who had Receded to the Church of Rome in the time of the Rebellion, &c. Among whom, not above 7 or 8 do yet appear to me to have been of the Clergy; and about as many more were Scholars in the Univerſities. Which, conſidering the Horrid Scandal in thoſe upon Chriſtianity by the Party, as to have aſſerted, and the moſt Barbarous and Accurſed Uſage which the Clergy and Univerſities met with from them; I look upon as an Evidence and Demonſtration, Even to Silence, of their unmix'd Sanctity and Sincerity in the Principles and Profeſſ. n of the Proteſtant Religion; notwithſtanding the Popular Clamours (continued down to this very day) and the Roars of ſuch Vaſt Numbers of them, under the Vile and no ſo Hyperbolical Pretences, of their being Popiſhly Affected. Turns of the Clergymen, and Threats of the Scholars mentioned by the Legend, have Places in this Liſt, and are Expreſſly taken notice of for their Apoſtacy. Queries are alſo made at Two or Three more; but none of the Laſt, for I can prove, do as all belong to it: Or, if they do, I have not yet traced their Names, or any other Account of them.

See in Wood what he wrote, among other things, to an Account of his own Suffering, which I cannot get a ſight of.

Fuller's Worthies in Derbyſhire.

See ſomething more of him Comp. Hiſt. of Engl. Vol. III. p. 198.

Lloyd, ibid.

WILLIAM BROUGH, D.D. Deanery. Canonry of Windſor, ... And St. Michael's Cornhill, R. London.

Newc. Repr. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 481. Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 511. Perſec. Under. p. 41.

He was Originally of the Univerſity of Cambridge, being Educated at Chriſt-College there. In the Beginning of the Rebellion he was Perſecuted out of his Rectory of St. Michael's Cornhill, where he was alſo Plundered, and his Wife and Children turned out of Doors. His Wife Died ſoon after with Grief; whereupon he Fled to his Majeſty at Oxford, where he had this Deanery conferred upon him, about the Middle of 1643. He out-lived the Uſurpation, was Re-poſſeſſed of theſe Preferments, had others beſtowed upon him, and Died at Windſor in July 1671.

HUGH ROBINSON, D.D. Archdeaconry of Glouceſter, Canonry of Wells, ... And Durſley, R. in this County. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 117. It ſeems alſo, ſee his Will.

He was a Native of Angleſey, and had been Fellow of New-College in Oxford; after which he was made Coief Maſter of Winchester School, Arch-deacon of Winchester, and at laſt obtained the above-named Preferments. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was Seized at his Living of Durſley, ſet on Horſeback with his Face towards the Horſe's Tail, and thence hurried away to Glouceſter Priſon: Which makes it the more ſtrange, that he ſhould afterwards, as he did, Take the Covenant, Write in Defence of it, and ſo far tide with the Rebellious Party, as to accept of a Sequeſtred Living under them; which was the Rectory of Hinton near Winchester. He Died at London in 1655; and was an Excellent Linguiſt, an Able Divine, and very well ſeen in Ancient Hiſtories.

WILLIAM LOE, D. D. Prebend. . . .

He was Educated at the Univerſity of Oxford, had been Maſter of the College-School in Glouceſter, Chaplain to King James I. and Paſtor of the Engliſh Church at Hamburgh. He Died at Putney in 1648.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 41. See there alſo what he Publiſhed.

THOMAS WASHBOURN, B. D. Preb. . . .

He was of a good Family in Worceſterſhire, a Native of that County, Educated at Baliol-College in Oxford, and was Collated to this Prebend after the Breaking out of the Rebellion †; but the Confuſions permitted him not to be Inſtalled till the Reſtoration; when he was alſo created D. D. and made Rector of Dumbleton in Glouceſterſhire. He Died at Glouceſter in the Year 1687. The Inſcription of his Monument ſaith, that he was

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 608. Where for Library in that Book ſhould be read Prebend. Strype, Ann. 1648.

Theologus verè Chriſtianus, verè Primitivus. Per Annos 44 Eccl. Cath. Gloc. Prebendarius.

And it adds, by his own Order,

Primus Peccatorum, Minimus Miniſtrorum Dei, &c.

I preſume he Succeeded ſome one or other of the Prebendaries after named (tho' which of them I know not) and ſo makes a Duplicate in this Prebend; for that Predeceſſor, whoſoever he was, had Suffered before his Death, ſeems plain from hence, that the Affairs of this Church were in ſuch Confuſion at the time of his being Collated, that he could not then get himſelf Admitted.

GILBERT SHELDON, D. D. Prebend. See All-Souls-College in Oxford.

GEORGE PALMER, B. D. Prebend, And Northall, V. in Middleſex. . . .

If I miſtake not, alſo Sequeſtred Vicar of Northall was the ſame Perſon with This prebendary. However quere. Newc. Repr. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 551, 701.

March 26, 1632, he had been Preſented to the Rectory of St. Gabriel Fenchurch, London, by his Majeſty King Charles I. which he Reſigned again, if I miſtake not, in the Year 1637; and was December 30, that ſame Year, preſented to the Vicaridge of Northall; from which he was Sequeſtred about March 1642; at which * time One Robert Maltbus was Thruſt into the Living, as I find by the Parliament Journals.

* Although in the Books of the Commiſſioners for the Approbation of Publick Preachers, he Occurs Admitted in 1654.

JOHN ENGLISH, D. D. Prebend. . . .

He had been Fellow of Baliol-College in Oxford, became D. D. in the Year 1630, and Died in 1648, Baliol-reg. p. 118.

GILBERT OSBORN, D. D. Prebend.

He had alſo the Rectory of Weſtbington; but whether he Loſt that or not, quære.

THOMAS ILES, D.D. Prebend. See Chriſt-Church in Oxford.

RICHARD MARWOOD .
WILLIAM HULET .
EDWARD WILLIAMS .
JOHN CUTLER .
PETER BROOK .
JOHN SANDEY .
} Minor-Canonries.

The Third of theſe lived to be Reſtored.

Digitized by Google

HEREFORD.

GEORGE COKE, D. D. Bishoprick. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 919. Lloyd Mem. p. 600, &c. Fuller, Ch. Hist. L. 11. Cent. 17. p. 184. Worth: in Derbyshire.

He was Born at Trusley in Derbyshire, of a Family that continued several Hundreds of Years on that Estate, and was Brother to Sir John Coke, sometime Secretary of State. He had his Education at Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, were I find him Taxor in the Year 1605. He was sometime Beneficed at Bigrave in Herefordshire; in the Year 1632, he was Promoted to the Bishoprick of Bristoll, and from thence Translated to this See, in 1636. During the Rebellion he suffered in common with the reſt of his Order; was one of the Proteſting Biſhops, and accordingly Impriſon'd on that Account. When Colonel Birch took the City of Hereford in 1645, he riſled this good Biſhop's Palace, and afterwards took up his Habitation there till the Reſtoration; and what is more, had great Part of the Revenues of the Biſhoprick to his own Uſe; and to this Day the Manor of Whitborn, by the ſorry Compliance of ſome who might have prevented it, continues in his Family. He had a Temporal Eſtate alſo in the Pariſh of Eardſley, called Quiſtmore; this the Committee of Hereford laid their Paws upon, Aug. 13, 1646, and let it out to a Tenant, upon Condition to pay To the Wife and Children of the ſaid Dr. Coke, ſuch Exhibition as by Ordinance is allowed unto them; provided that neither She, nor the Dr. himſelf, Do hereafter Act, Aſſiſt, Contrive or Procure, any Act or Thing againſt or contrary to the Vote, &c. of the Parliament, or Aid or Aſſiſt the Malignant Party: And this is ſo granted for one Year. By this and ſuch other Methods, he was reduced ſo low, that, tho' he was otherwiſe a very Thrifty Man; yet he had Wanted, had not his Relations Supported him. This hard Uſage, as I am inform'd, haſtned his Death, which happen'd in the Year * 1646, Tho' Lloyd ſaith, that he Bore his Sufferings with admirable Calmneſs and Serenity; and adds, that he was a Pious and Learned Man.

Lloyd, Ibid.

*Lloyd (ſaith (by miſtake) in 1650.

JONATHAN BROWN, L. L. D. Deanery,
Canonry-Reſid.
And
Prebend of---
Prebend of the 7th Stall in Weſtminſter,
St. Faith's, R. in London, ...
* Hertingfordbury, R. in Hertfordſhire.
} of this Church, . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 868. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 349, 926. Lloyd, Mem. p. 511. Perſec. Undec. P. 47.
* I cannot be poſitive in this Sequeſtration.

He had been of Glouceſter-Hall in Oxford; was admitted to this Deanery in the Year 1633, and to the Prebend of Weſtminſter in 1638. In the beginning of the Rebellion he was Sequeſtred from his Rectory of St. Faith's, becauſe he had given Offence to Godly Mrs. Charnock, by Bowing towards the Altar at Whitehall. He was an admirable plain Preacher; and of ſuch a venerable Aſpect, that as he paſſed along, Thoſe who Reviled his Brethren, Reverenced him. And it ſeems there was ſome Deliberation at firſt about his Sequeſtration, till Righteous Mrs. Charnock's Complaint turned the Scale: He died about the latter End of 1643. In what Poſture the Affairs of this Church were at that Time, I know not, and therefore cannot be poſitive whether he ſuffered in the Revenues of his Deanery, or not; but 'tis ſure his Succeſſor and Son-in-Law did, who was Lloyd, Ath. Vol. I. p. 919.

HERBERT CROFT, D. D. Deanery, . .
* Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . .
Prebend of Huntington, in this Church,
Canonry of Windſor, ...
Canonry of Worceſter, ...
And Prebend of Min. Par. Altaris in the Church of Salisbury.

* But probably the Death is for of courſe here.

He was Son to Herbert Croft, Eſq; of Croft-Caſtle in Herefordſhire, who was Knighted by King James I. turned Roman Catholick; and retiring to the Engliſh College at Doway in Flanders, was admitted into the Fraternity, and died there. This worthy Son of his was alſo himſelf at firſt of the ſame Perſuaſion, and was brought over to the Proteſtant Religion by the incomparable Biſhop Morton; tho' he afterwards met with very little Encouragement for his being a Proſelyte, from thoſe who pretend ſo much Zeal for the Proteſtant Cauſe: For ſoon after the taking of Hereford, this Excellent Dr. Preaching at the Cathedral there, inveighed Boldly and Sharply againſt Sacriledge; at which ſome of the Officers then preſent (ſo little doth A guilty Conſcience need an Accuſer) began to mutter among themſelves, and a Guard of Muſqueteers in the Church, were preparing their Pieces, and aſked whether they ſhould fire at him: But Colonel Birch, the Governor, prevented them. The Confuſion there ſuch, that he received little or no Profit from his Deanery, betwixt his Nomination and the Diſſolution of the Cathedrals, and afterwards muſt have been conſtrained to live upon Charity, had not the Fair Eſtate of the Family devolved upon him, by the Death of his Brother Sir William Croft. During great Part (at leaſt) of the Uſurpation, he Reſided with Sir Rowl. Berkley at Cotheridge in Worceſterſhire; but at laſt, ſurviving it, was preferred to the Biſhoprick of this See in 1661, and died in it, being very Aged, in 1691.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 872, Vol. II. p. 838. Where for more of him, as alſo Annug. L. 1. p. 141.

He was Author of the ſtyled Pamphlet called Naked Truth, and of ſome other Things, he gave 40 l. to St. Paul's.

---- COOK, B. D. Chanterſhip, ...

Poſſibly he was that Tho. Cook of Braxen-Noſe-College in Oxford, who was admitted B. D. there in 1632, and after the Reſtoration was made one of the Vicars of Bampton in Oxfordſhire, Archdeacon of Salop, and died about 1669. But Quere.

RICHARD COKE, B. D. Chancellorſhip.
And
Prebend of Bullinghope. . . . .

He was Son to the Biſhop, and lived to be Reſtored.

FRAN. KERRY, D. D. Treaſurerſhip, . . .
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . .
Preb. of Ewithington, ...
And
Eſham, R. in Worceſterſhire. . . .

JOHN HUGHES, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Hereford,
And
The Preb. which is called the Golden Prebend.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 919. 668.

Of whom I know nothing more, ſave that I take him to be the ſame John Hughes, who, Wood ſaith, was admitted D. D. of C. C. College in Oxon, in 1621, was then Son-in-Law to Dr. Francis

Ath Vol. I. p. 839.

Digitized by Google

Francis Godwyn Bishop of this Church, and was † Benefic'd some where in Herefordshire ; where he died about the Year 1648.

† Quære if he left that with.

MORGAN GODWYN, L. L. D. Archdeaconry of Salop.
And
* Canonry-Resid. . . . . . }

* My Informations from this Church make him only a Prebendary : But 'tis plain from his Widow's Petition, that he was Canon Resid. On the contrary they make his Brother Tho. below, the Canon : Now the whole Number of the Canons in this Church is but Six ; and if we admit both of them for Canons, there will be a Supernumerary. Nor do I find any room for saying, that either of the other Canons died between the Time that their Sufferings began, and the Total Dissolution of the Cathedrals, in which Place either of them could succeed. So that I believe the Gentleman who gives us these Informations, mistook Tho. Godwyn below, for this Morgan Godwyn his Brother, and made Thomas the Canon, and Morgan the Prebendary only, whereas Morgan was the Canon, and Thomas (as that Time I believe, whatever he might be after, if he Out-lived the Usurpation) the bare Prebendary ; and so I shall accordingly set him down.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 498. Vol. II. p. 692.

He was Son to the Excellent Dr. Godwyn, sometime Bishop of this Church ; was Born in Anglesey, and Educated partly at Christ-Church, and partly at Pembroke-College in Oxford. He had been sometime Master of the Free-School at Newland in Gloucestershire, and was by his Father collated to this Arch-deaconry. I have seen an Original Petition of his Relict, to the Corporation for the Relief of Ministers Widows ; by which it appears, that he died before the Restoration in a mean and poor Condition, leaving behind him Five Children ; which constrained his Widow to apply for that Charity, and she accordingly received it. I have nothing more to add of him, but that he was made L. L. D. at the University of Dublin.

WILLIAM SKINNER, L. L. D. Canonry-Resid. . . . . .
Chancellorship of the Diocese, . .
And
Prebend of ——, ... }

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 833.

He was, as I presume, Educated in the University of Oxford, and probably was Fellow of All-Souls College in that University ; for I find him admitted L. L. D. of that College in 1635. By an Order of the Committee of Hereford, dated March 7, 1645, His Goods were not to be Removed out of the City of Hereford, without Leave of the Committee. Which gives some Umbrage to think, that they were Plundered. By another Order of the same Committee dated the Thirteenth of the same Month, I find his Prebendal House, with the Appurtenances, given to one of their own Members.

HENRY ROGERS, D. D. Canonry-Resid.
Prebend of ——, ...
And
Stoke-Edith, R. in Herefordshire. . . . }

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 9. Where also see what he Wrote.

He was the Son of a Clergyman, and a Native of this County ; was Educated at Jesus-College in Oxford, of which his certain he had been Scholar, and most probably Fellow also. Upon his taking Holy Orders he was soon cried up for a noted Preacher, and sometime after he obtained the Vicarige of Dorston, in this County ; but I presume he had quitted that Living before the Time of his Sequestration. He was also " A most Eminent ' Schoolmaster, and had the Sons of the chief Gentry of This, and some Other Counties, put under ' his Conduct : And was very Happy and Active ' in laying solid Foundations of good Manners, ' Learning, Religion and Loyalty, in the tender ' Minds of his Scholars ; and also in improving ' and promoting the same, in his usual Discourses with the Parishioners, and other Friends, that had the Happiness of his Conversation : And being chosen a Member in the Convocation, which attended that Unhappy Parliament, that began November 3, 1640, he shewed himself an Undaunted Champion for the Right of the King and Church of England ; and so continued to behave himself after the Rebellion was actually broken forth in the Nation ; for which the Revengful Presbyterians fell furiously upon him, as soon as the City of Hereford was reduced to their Subjection ; First seizing his Person, and making him their Prisoner ; then they despoil him of his Prebend and Canonry ; and his Prebendal House, they bestow, with the Furniture thereof, on Dr. Tim. Woodroffe, one of their Gifted Chaplains ; then they put Stoke under Sequestration, by Order of their Committee, dated August 4, 1646, and Plunder his Parsonage-House of all Provision, and Household-Goods that were worth carrying away : Afterwards they deprive him merely of his Parsonage, by their Order dated * Dec. 17, 1646, and place one Mr. Robert Scudamore in the same, who Enjoyed it above Thirty Years, and died therein. Then the Doctor's Wife and Children were forced Abroad to look for Relief, and he himself was dismissed out of Prison, to starve with them for Company ; and living many Year in a Pitiful, Mean, and unsettled Condition, and undergoing a contented Poverty, he was sometimes comforted by the secret Munificence of John Lord Scudamore, and the slenderer Gifts of other Loyal Gentry : But at length, being quite worn out with his Sufferings, he surrendered up his Soul unto God at Wellington neer Hereford, sometime before the Restoration of King Charles II. in the House of one Mr. Rogers, who had married one of his Five Daughters.

* They had first deprived him by the Order of the 8th of December, and This Order of the 17th, rather recites that, than any Thing else, being chiefly intended to place in his Successor. The Single Crime ascribed to him, was Malignancy.

GEORGE BENSON, D. D. Canonry-Resid.
Prebend of ——, ...
And
Lyndridge, R. in Worcestershire. . . }

He was descended of a good Family in Westmorland, had been Fellow of Queen's College in Oxford, and Proctor of that University. I find his Prebendal House in Hereford seized by an Order of the Committee there, dated March 13, 1645. He died about the Year 1647, at Rock in Worcestershire (of which he had formerly, at least, been Rector, and for ought I know (but Quære) was now permitted to keep it.)

THOMAS GODWIN, D. D. Prebend. . . .
He was Son to the Excellent Dr. Godwin, sometime Bishop of this Church ; which is all that I know of him.

See the Note at Morgan Godwyn before.

WILLIAM SHERBOURN, D. D.
Prebend of Morton Parva. . . . .
And
* Pembridge R. in Herefordshire. . . . }

* As I conjecture, because Wood hath let off his Spirituousities, and I find him at this Restoration of our dear Wood, uncertain any thing of his getting it so chear Then Ath. Vol. II. p. 710.

He was, as I presume, Educated in St. John's College in Oxford ; for I find him Admitted D. D. there March 24, 1642. He suffered much for the King's Cause, and lost all his Spiritualities ; but being restored to them again after his Majesty's Return, enjoyed himself in a quiet Repose for almost Twenty Years. He died at Pembridge in Herefordshire (of which he was Rector) in the Month of April 1679, Aged 92 Years. He had, at the persuasion of his old Friend the Earl of Essex, taken the Covenant ; for which he was much disturbed in in his laſt Sickneſs. I had almoſt omitted to tell the Reader, that his Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration.

Digitized by Google

JOHN COKE, A. M. Prebend of Morton Magna, ...
Whitborn, R. } In this County.
And Roſs, R.

He was the Eldeſt Son of the Suffering Biſhop there. The Crimes alledged againſt him were Scandal, and being an Incendiary againſt the Parliament; he was deprived of the Former of theſe Livings by the Committee of Hereford, September 24, 1646; but they were obliged to diſpoſſeſs him by Force, becauſe the Pariſh would not otherwiſe part with him. At his other Living, which was that of Roſs, and was worth Two Hundred and Fifty Pounds per Ann. he was ſucceeded by the Famous Mr. Tombs. He lived to be Reſtored, and died at Withorn, in a good old Age.

WILLIAM COKE, . Prebend of Colwall.
He was another of the Biſhop's Sons; and lived to be Reſtored likewiſe.

JOHN PEMBER, B. D. Prebend of Pratum Minus, ...
And
Bodenham, V. in this County. . . .

He was diſpoſſeſſed of his Vicaridge by the Committee of Hereford, April 6, 1646, For Scandal and Evil Life, and for being Active and Incendious againſt the Parliament. He lived to Enjoy his Preferments again, and died in the Year 1673, Univerſally beloved of all, except that Party which had endeavoured to ſtarve him under the Uſurpation.

WILLIAM EVANS, D. D. Prebend of Noninton.

Ath. Vol. I. p. 879. He lived to be Reſtored; and poſſibly is the Perſon mentioned by Wood, who was Admitted B. D. of St. Mary's Hall in Oxon, June 6, 1635, and was Author of a Sermon on Rom. 12. ver. 4. 5.

HUGH LLOYD, . Prebend of ——.

—— LINDSELL, . Prebend of Putſum Parva.

—— NEWELL, . Prebend of Hunterton.

—— BASSET, . Prebend of ——.

I find his Prebendal Houſe ſeized by the Committee of Hereford, and given to one of their own Members.

I take this Prebendary to be the ſame Perſon with the Sequeſtred Vicar of this Two Livings.
* There is in this County a Rectory and a Vicaridge of this Name in this County: the former of them is mentioned before, and under J. Fn Coke.

PHILIP PRICE, . Prebend of ——.
And
Weſton under Penyard, V. } Both in this And } County.
* Roſs, V. . . . .

He was Sequeſtered from the Former of thoſe Livings by the Committee of Hereford, Feb. 15, 1646; and from the Latter September 25, foregoing, by the ſame Committee, for Scandal and Delinquency: His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; part (at leaſt) of which, within the Pariſh of Pixley in this County, was Sequeſtred by the Committee of Hereford, September 4, 1646: And I find him compounding for ſome Part of (or all) his Temporals at Fifty Four Pounds.

—— PARRY, . Prebend of Church-Withington.

There will be ſeveral Parry's mentioned in the Welch-Counties. Quære.

—— PETTINGHALL, . Prebend of——.

JAMES RAWLINGS, . Prebend of Putſon Major.

See one Rawlings (a Sequeſtred Clergyman in this County) in the Parochial Liſt, and Quære if he be the ſame Perſon.

EDWARD JONES, . Prebend of Morton and Whaddon.

JOHN PRICE, . Prebend of ——.
One of both theſe Names became Prebendary of Grinſton and Tarminſter, in the Church of Saliſbury, November 28, 1660, on the Death of John Coath; died himſelf before May 11, 1691, and was then ſucceeded by John Hinton. Quære.

—— —— * Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.
—— —— Prebend of ——.

* I find by Camden's Britan. P. 567. that there are 28 Prebends in this Church; and there are near that Number mentioned in the Valor Beneficiorum. This Ten with Blanks compleat this Number, but how to aſſign the Titles of them I know not, becauſe I cannot learn the reſpective Prebends of ſeveral of thoſe Prebendaries before ſet down, whoſe Names I have obtained; tho' I know not how to diſtribute them in their proper Places, yet I ſhall here ſet down all the Titles of the ſeveral Prebends which are not before mentioned, as I find them in the Valor Beneficiorum; Pend. Epiſcopi, Ingbarow, Hinton, Wellington, Withington Parva, Bourromham, Hampton, Gonval, Pratum Majus, Cublington, Norton, Preſton Superior, Yve, Piona Parva, and Warham. I muſt alſo further obſerve to the Reader, that Lr. Morgan Godwyn is the only Canon above which hath not a Prebend ſubjoined to his Canonry; which poſſibly may be an Omiſſion; becauſe I take the Canons Here to have all Prebends of courſe annexed to them, and ſo, one of the Blank Prebends above muſt be ſtruck out there, and placed under Lr. Godwyn.

STEPHEN PHILIPS, . * Lectureſhip.
I take him to be the ſame Perſon who was admitted D. D. with that Stephen Philips of Breſenoſe-College in Oxon, June 40, 1677; and who was at that Time one of the Vicars of Bampton in Oxfordſhire, Arch-deacon of Salop, (in both which he had ſucceeded his Father-in-Law Tho. Cook; whom, as I have before ſaid, I take to be the ſame with the Suffering Chaunter of this Church) and Canon-Reſidentiary of this Church: If ſo, he died at Bampton in the Year 1684.

* Vicaridge I take to be a Rectory united. Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 1084.

JOHN PHILIPS, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

And at that Time Cuſtos of the Vicar's College. He lived to be Reſtored.

JOHN CLERKE, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He had alſo the Vicaridge of Norton-Canon in this County, which was ſo very ſmall, that it was not worth the Rebels while to diſplace him from it;

Digitized by Google

it; but they took care that he should not Enjoy that little which he received from it; for they often Affronted and Abused him, once Plunder'd him of all that he was Worth, even to his Wearing Cloaths, and left him not so much as a Hat to put on; insomuch, that having some Business Abroad just after (when it happen'd to Rain) He was forced to borrow an Hat of his Servant-Maid, which he wore out to shelter him from the Weather: He survived these and all his other Troubles, and became at last Custos of the College: And hath a Son now living, a worthy Prebendary of this Church.

GUY KNOWELS, . Clergy-Vicars-Place. He died during the Usurpation.

WILLIAM PEYTON, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He survived and came in again.

WILLIAM BROAD, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He likewise survived.

WILLIAM ALLEN, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He Out-liv'd the Usurpation, and was chosen Custos.

JAMES HARVEY, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He died during the Rebellion.

HENRY MANFIELD, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He out-liv'd the Rebellion.

WILLIAM HOSIER, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He died Custos of the College in the latter End of 1702, near the 100th Year of his Age. He was, as I have been inform'd, a Venerable Honest Old Gentleman. I owe to him the Whole almost, of that Intelligence which concerns the Vicar's-College; as also several Things of the Dignitaries and Prebendaries: All which (together with the whole Remainder of my Information from this Cathedral, and several other Parts of This County) were procured for, and transmitted to me, by the Reverend and Worthy Mr. Chamberlain of Lit-ton; whose great Readiness to assist me in this Undertaking, I can never enough acknowledge.

RICHARD COX, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place. He also lived to enjoy it again, and was Custos of the College.

WALTER CARWARDINE, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He out-lived the Rebellion, and was Restored in 1660.

JAMES READE, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place. He was after Custos of the College; living to return to his Right with his Majesty.

See a Note at one of Both these Names in Bristol-Cath.

I must here add, that most of these were Masters of Arts and Benefic'd; and that several of them also lost their Livings, (but who of them I cannot learn) tho' others, whose Livings were very small, were permitted to keep them. The College it self was Secured by one Colonel Rogers, who Possessed it till the Restoration.

LANDAFFE.

MORGAN OWEN, D. D. Bishoprick, . And * Bedwas and Rudry, R. which he held in Commendam.

* A Church and Rectory. The First of these Places is in Monmouthshire, the other in Glamorganshire.

He was Born in Caermarthenshire, and was the Son of a Clergyman in that County. He was First of Jesus-College, afterwards Chaplain of New-College, and thence removed to Hart-Hall in Oxford. He had, it seems, obtained good Preferment some where in Wales, and being a useful Man, and Zealous for the Church, was taken notice of by Dr. Laud, then Bishop of St. David's; and by this Means (when that Bishop became Chancellor of the University) was created Dr. of Divinity. In Return for which he Inclosed the South-Yard of St. Mary's Church, in that University with a Free Stone-Wall, and built a Beautiful Porch on the same Side of the Church: Among the other Carvings of this Porch, was an Image of the Blessed Virgin, with a Babe in her Arms, which occasioned one of the Articles against his Patron, the incomparable Arch-Prelate at his Tryal, in these Words, That he did oblige the said Dr. M. Owen, to build it, Permitted him as Chancellor of the University, and connived at all when it was finished. He was promoted to this See in the Year 1638: In 1641 he became one of the Protesting Bishops, and was accordingly Imprisoned in the Tower, and was Impeached of High Treason. He continued there for about Four Months, and afterwards retired to his own Country, whither his Sufferings likewise followed him, as well for the sake of his Patron, as of his Order and Loyalty. His Palace at Mathern near Chepstow, being seized by one Green of Cardiffe, together with all his Revenues in that Part of the County, and else where. His first Successor at the Living, was one Henry Nicholls; after whom came one Watkin Jones of Minithyllwin, who in his own Parish was an Anabaptist; but at Bedwas and Rudry a professed Presbyterian. One Reese John David, the Agent and Sequestrator (who lived in the Parsonage-House, managed the Glebe, and received the Tythe) Removed a very fine Font of Stone out of the Church of Bedwas; and when himself and his Man could not break it to Pieces, he caused it to be brought under the Ewe-Tree, where 'twas used as a Trough to water his Horses and Cattle in. Dr. Owen died about the latter End of 1644, and Endowed the Free-School at Caermarthen with 30 l. per Ann.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 655.

Quere if there may any other Bishop made after him, before the Abolishing of Episcopacy; for if so, then there were Two Sufferers in this See.

There is no Dean in this Church.

THOMAS PRICHARD, . Arch-deaconry of Landaffe.

He was the immediate Predecessor to Mr. Francis Davie; who being admitted to the Arch-deaconry soon after the Restoration, Mr. Prichard, by consequence, must not only have been the Sufferer in this Dignity, but must have died likewise, as I conjecture, under the Usurpation.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 676.

Mr. George Parry, whom see in Glamorganshire, was one of the Prebendaries of this Church; but whether he had been so before the Wars, or became so after the Restoration, I know not; if the former, he must be inserted in this Place.

Digitized by Google

* Wm. I presume, is also a Prebendary of course, as I likewise take the Archdeacon to be, if not the Bishop himself, to be.

Wood, Ant. I. p. 819.

——— ———, . * Treasurership.

Dr. Francis Manfell, Principal of Jesus-College in Oxford, who Died not until the Year 1665, had been sometime Treasurer of this Church. Whether he was so at the time of the Dissolution of the Cathedrals (and consequently whether he was the Sufferer in this Dignity, or not) quære. See Jesus-College in Oxford.

——— ———, . Prebend of Wartham.
——— ———, . Prebend of Will. John's.
——— ———, . Prebend of Will. Clarke's.
——— ———, . Prebend of St. Croſs.
——— ———, . Prebend Præcentoris.
——— ———, . Prebend of Mr. Mayo.
——— ———, . Prebend of Mr. Leyſon.
——— ———, . Prebend of Cayre.
——— ———, . Prebend of Mr. Howell.

 Unleſs the Vicar (Mr. Reynolds, whom ſee in Glamorganſhire) ſhould reſide in the Cathedral-Quire.

——— ———, .  Minor-Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.

Or whatever elſe thoſe who officiate, are called here; which, as I have hitherto done in other Churches, I conjecture to be at leaſt Two.

The Revenues of this Cathedral were ſeiſed by Colonel Jones (the great Abaddon of the Clergy in this Country) Edmond Thomas and ſome others; who, as far as I can learn, divided them among themſelves.

These are the Titles of the Prebends of this Church, as I find them in the Valor Beneficiorum. Whether they commonly bear the ſame Names at preſent, or were only ſo called at the time when the Livings were valued, from the Names of thoſe who Then Poſſeſſed them, I know not. I am forced to ſet them down thus with Blanks; becauſe I cannot obtain a Liſt of thoſe who were the Sufferers in them during the Rebellion: For though the preſent Right Reverend Biſhop of this Church, was pleaſed to Order his Chancellor to ſend me an Account of them (for which I here beg leave to make my Acknowledgments to his Lordſhip) yet the Papers of his Lordſhip's Regiſtry (ſuch of them, at leaſt, as concern theſe Matters) being gotten into other hands, I am wholly diſappointed of my Accounts from this Church. Only in general I am informed that the Number of the Prebends is Twelve; which Number the Nine Blanks before, together with the Biſhop, Arch-deacon and Treaſurer, exactly compleat. Or, if they are excluded, Three more muſt be added to the Liſt of the Sequeſtred Prebendaries.

To each of which it may be a Prebend is neceſſarily annexed.

I find by the Original Accounts of the Welch Sequeſtrators, about 27 l. per Annum, Referved Rents, in their hands. They were referved out of ſeveral Impropriations in the County of Monmouth, and did poſſibly belong to this Cathedral. I find alſo about Six Impropriations in Brecknockſhire (which did, as I believe, belong to ſome Dean and Chapter, and perchance to that of this Church) to the Value of about 350 l. per Annum, in the ſame hands; as alſo the Prebend of St. David's in the County of Brecknock; but of what nature that Prebend is, I know not.

In the ſame Accounts I find theſe Prebends Rents in the County of Monmouth, in the hands of the ſame Plunderers, viz. Llangannarth, Llanavan-Vaſer, Llanuthwell, Llovell, Garth-Braynys, Tvallnyg, Llanthew, Llowes, and Peni-Bent; all to the Value of about 192 l. per Annum. As alſo theſe Following ones in the County of Radnor, to the Value of about 170 Pounds per Annum, viz. Llanbiſter, Llandyſſey, Llangunllo, Llandyloygrahan, Llanſtephen, Landrideid, Llanelweth, Nantmell, and St. Harmon. But whether theſe are ſuch Prebends as are diſperſed up and down the Dioceſs of St. David's (of which ſee in that Cathedral) or whether they are Rents belonging to Thoſe Prebends of this Cathedral, which are before mentioned, iſſuing out of † Places of thoſe Names, I am altogether uninformed.

† Some of them are Impropriate Rectories; For I find Miniſters ſequeſtred from the Vicaridges of them.

LICHFIELD.

ROBERT WRIGHT, D. D. Biſhoprick. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 614. Lloyd, Mem. p. 600.

He was Born in the Pariſh of St. Alban in Herefordſhire, was ſucceſſively Scholar and Fellow of Trinity-College in Oxford, and the Youngeſt Fellow that ever was Admitted in that College. After he left the Univerſity, he became Rector of Sonning in Berkſhire, and of Hayes in Middleſex, Chaplain likewiſe to Queen Elizabeth, (and after ſerved King James I. in the ſame Capacity) Rector of Burton on the Water in Glouceſterſhire, as alſo Reſidentiary and Treaſurer of Wells, and the Firſt Warden of Wadham-College in Oxford. In 1622, he was Preferred to the See of Briſtol; and in 1632, Tranſlated to this Church. He was one of the Twelve Proteſting Biſhops, and ſpoke a very handſome Speech on that Occaſion, (which was afterwards Printed) at the Bar of the Houſe of Commons; but all in vain! For he was notwithſtanding ſent to the Tower, where he continued 18 Weeks a Priſoner at his Great Charge. Having obtained his Liberty, he Retired to the Caſtle of * Eccleſhall in Staffordſhire (the Seat of this Biſhoprick) which he Defended for his Majeſty againſt the Forces under Sir William Brereton, for ſome time; but Died during the Siege, which was about the Middle of 1643. He was, ſaith Wood, Much given up to the Affairs of the World, and by that means was enabled to leave his Son a Rich Mannor, which coſt 1800 l. but he ſeems not ſo much to have deſerved that Character, if what Lloyd ſaith of him be true, That he Devoted half his Eſtate to his Majeſty's Service. The ſame Author alſo ſaith, that he was one of the Strideſt Biſhops that ever Sate in this See; that he was a Man of Painfulneſs, Integrity and Moderation; and adds, his Vertues were ſuch, that the Vices only, and not the Men of the Times, were his Enemies. His Succeſſor, as well in his Sufferings as Biſhoprick, was

As alſo of Sonning in Berkſhire, and of Hayes in Middleſex, Chaplain likewiſe to Queen Elizabeth, (and after ſerved King James I. in the ſame Capacity) Rector of Burton on the Water in Glouceſterſhire, as alſo Reſidentiary and Treaſurer of Wells, and the Firſt Warden of Wadham-College in Oxford. In 1622, he was Preferred to the See of Briſtol; and in 1632, Tranſlated to this Church. He was one of the Twelve Proteſting Biſhops, and ſpoke a very handſome Speech on that Occaſion, (which was afterwards Printed) at the Bar of the Houſe of Commons; but all in vain! For he was notwithſtanding ſent to the Tower, where he continued 18 Weeks a Priſoner at his Great Charge. Having obtained his Liberty, he Retired to the Caſtle of * Eccleſhall in Staffordſhire (the Seat of this Biſhoprick) which he Defended for his Majeſty againſt the Forces under Sir William Brereton, for ſome time; but Died during the Siege, which was about the Middle of 1643. He was, ſaith Wood, Much given up to the Affairs of the World, and by that means was enabled to leave his Son a Rich Mannor, which coſt 1800 l. but he ſeems not ſo much to have deſerved that Character, if what Lloyd ſaith of him be true, That he Devoted half his Eſtate to his Majeſty's Service. The ſame Author alſo ſaith, that he was one of the Strideſt Biſhops that ever Sate in this See; that he was a Man of Painfulneſs, Integrity and Moderation; and adds, his Vertues were ſuch, that the Vices only, and not the Men of the Times, were his Enemies. His Succeſſor, as well in his Sufferings as Biſhoprick, was

* Which, after it fell ruin to their Hands, they pulled down, and ſold the Materials of it.

Ibid.

ACCEPTED FREWEN, D.D. Biſhoprick. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 665.

He was a Native of the County of Kent, and Bred at Magdalen-College in Oxford; of which he was ſucceſſively Demie, Fellow, and (at laſt) President. He attended on the † Court of Pr. Charles in Spain, was made his Chaplain when that Prince came to the Throne; after that he became Prebendary of Canterbury, Dean of Glouceſter, and was at laſt promoted to this See. Of which however he had little or no Benefit till the Reſtoration; when he was advanced indeed to the Archiepiſcopal See of York. But his Majeſty keeping this See void for Mr. Baxter, if he would have been in a good humour, and Conformed, Dr. Frewen all that while enjoyed the Profits of it; which were not Inconſiderable, at a Seaſon when ſo many Leaſes were to be Renewed. He died poſſeſſed of the Archiepiſcopal Cœair of York, in the Beginning of 1664. I have only to add of him, that though he had been at firſt inclinable to the Puritans, and was the Son of a † Puritanical Miniſter, yet he was afterwards a Great Loyaliſt, was concerned in ſending the Plate from Oxford to his Majeſty, whilſt he was Preſident of Magdalen-College, and was Forced afterwards to Fly for it, to avoid being Taken into Cuſtody. His Temporal Eſtate alſo, as well as his Biſhoprick, was put under Sequeſtration.

† Being at that time Chaplain to the Lord Briſtol, the English Embaſſador

March 28. in the 7th Year of his Age

† John Frewen, Rector of Northam in Suſſex. Wood, Ant. p. 118.

GRIF-

Digitized by Google

See Him in the County of Kent.

GRIFFITH HIGGS, D. D. Deanery. Chaunterſhip of St. David's, . . . } And * Cliff, R. in Kent. . . . . }

* Wood's Faſti part. but quere further, and ſee the Not. and him in Kent.

He was Born at Stoke near Henley in Oxfordſhire, was ſent firſt to St. John's College in Oxford, and thence Elected Fellow of Merton-College in that Univerſity; where he was afterwards Proctor.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p.152. and p. 691.

In the Year 1627, he was by his Majeſty ſent to the Hague to attend the Queen of Bohemia as her Chaplain; in whoſe Service he continued about 12 years; and during ſome part of it was Created D. D. at Leyden, by the Learned Rivets. Being afterwards called home, Dr. Laud procured him the Rich Living of Ciſſ, as alſo the Chaunterry of St. David's; after which he had this Deanery conferred upon him, and was likewiſe Chaplain to his Majeſty. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he loſt all his Preferments, and was alſo Plundered, particularly of a very Valuable Library. His Succeſſor in the Living of Cliff, was Dr. Anneſley; whoſe Egregious Stupidity (notwithſtanding what is ſaid of him in the Abridgment) I ſhall have occaſion to mention in another place. Dr. Higgs, after his Sequeſtration, Retired to the Place of his Nativity, where he ſpent the Remainder of his Life in

P. 313.

See in Wood what he Wrote.

Great Piety and Devotion. He had in his youthful Days been eſteem'd the Flower of his College: And the Legacies which he left at his Death, ſufficiently Teſtifie his Great Piety. For he gave Five Pounds to the Church of Stoke, 100 Pounds to buy Lands for the Poor of that Town, and 600 Pounds to Purchaſe a Maintenance for a School-maſter there. He gave likewiſe ſeveral Books to the Publick Library at Oxford; was a Benefactor alſo to St. John's College there; but more eſpecially to that of Merton: To which he Bequeathed all his Library. But it having for the moſt part, been Plundered in the time of the Rebellion, and lodged in the Library of Stafford, the College was never able to recover it from thence, to this day. By this the Reader will eaſily believe, that (if he was, as I take him to have been, the Perſon Sequeſtred from the Rectory of Cliff) the Story in the Abridgment, of his being Notoriouſly Scandalous in his Life and Converſation, is a Vile and Deteſtable Calumny.

* P. 314. Wood's the Abridgment miſtakes the Minister of on, is a Vile and Deteſtable Calumny.

Minister of this Cliff in Kent. The former of which was in the Scandalous, if the Century (p 311.) ſtrooky Truth, which is ſeldom

WILLIAM HIGGINS, D. D. Chaunterſhip Archdeaconry of Derby, ... } Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . } And Prebend of Biſhops-Iſchington, . . . } Stoke upon Terna, R. in Shropſhire. }

I know nothing more of this Excellent Perſon, (For ſuch I am aſſured he was) than what concerns his Sufferings; an Account of which I have received from his Eldeſt Son, Mr. Robert Higgins; in whoſe own Words I ſhall give it the Reader: the Honeſt Plainneſs, and Unartfulneſs of which, may poſſibly have more Weight, than any other Method in which theſe Barbarities could have been ſet out.

" At the Beginning of the Wars, when the " Lord Brooke's Forces took Lichfield-Cloſe, he " was driven from his Houſe in the Cloſe, and " Forced to Fly to the King's Army for Safeguard. " And after Edgehill Battle, he was Taken Priſon- " er, and carried to Coventry, and there was put " under the Marſhal's hands, and Suffered Cloſe " Impriſonment a Full Quarter of a Year; and then " he Purchaſed his Releaſe at a dear rate. And " ſoon after they ſeized upon all the Revenue of " his Preferments, excepting Stoke-Parſonage, and " alſo all his Goods, and Books, that he had at " Lichfield. Whereupon he was Toſſed from " Place to Place, where he could get any Abiding " for himſelf, his Wife and Children not being " ſuffered to abide at Stoke, not any of his Family; " but only ſuffered to keep a Curate there, and " receive ſome ſmall Profit from it; until at " length ſetling at Pauſbury, the Committee intended to Impriſon him again: But having notice " given by a Friend therein, he made his Eſcape, " firſt to Bridgnorth; then to Lichfield-Cloſe; " where he continued until the End of that Great " and Terrible Siege; wherein he was ſeveral " times in great Danger of loſing his Life. Once " above the reſt, a Mortar-Piece, a Drake and " Ship-Musket being diſcharged at him at one " time, as he came from Prayers. I was then at " his Back, following him; but, praiſed be " God, we had no harm. At which time the " Committee ſeized upon Stoke-Parſonage, and " forced my Mother to Rent the Parſonage at a " hard Rack, and to pay the Curate and her Rent " Monthly; Which continued till after the ſaid " Siege. At which time my Father being gone " to London to Compound for the Sequeſtration of " the Parſonage; there came one Mr. Campian " with a Troop of Horſe, and Turned my Mo- " ther, and all her Children, and all her Goods out " of doors; giving a ſtrict Command, that none " ſhould meddle with them, nor Receive her nor " her Children into their Houſes: So that we had " lain that Night out of doors, but that a poor Cot- " tager upon Stoke-Heath took pity on her, and took " her in, and relieved her with what he had, for having " nothing left. Suddenly after this Diſpoſſeſſion, my " Father returned from London, having prevailed " nothing there: And with a ſad Hear, finding her " in this Condit on, he knew not where to Lodge " that Night, he was in ſuch Extream Want: " But at laſt, one Thomas Burrow took him into " his Houſe, and ſent for my Mother and one " Daughter to him; whom he maintained a " Quarter of a Year, or more, out of his Charity: " And likewiſe the other Children were taken by " other good People. At length there came an E- " dict forth, that the Delinquents (for ſo they called them) ſhould have a Fifth Part of their " Parſonages, if they would come to London to " Sue for it, to the Committees appointed for that " purpoſe. So my Father and Mother took that " long and tedious Journey, leaving their Children " to the Charity of them whom they were with; having nothing to ſupport them, but the Charity of " well-diſpoſed Chriſtians. At length coming thi- " ther; and after a long waiting on that Commit- " tee (living ſtrangely by God's Providence, as I " have often heard them ſay, that when they had " One Meal, they knew not where to have the " Next) they obtained an Order for a Fifth Part; " which according to that Mr. Campian's Conſci- " ence, was about 15*l. per Annum*, it not being the " Seventh Part; but there was no contending. " So they took their Children to them again, being " willing to Eaſe their Friends what they could, " endeavouring to live according to that Small " Allowance, and Teaching ſome Scholars; which " went very hard with my Father, he being a " very Infirm Man, troubled with the Stone and " the Gout very much: But they made a Hard " ſhift to live, till at length there were Lieutenant- " Generals placed in every Connty, who Silenced " him, not only from Preaching, but alſo from " Teaching School, which brought Extream Poverty " upon him; inſomuch, that had it not been for " the Benevolence of good People (eſpecially Sir " Ri-

Digitized by Google

" Richard Levefon of Trentham, Eſq; Offley of " Madely-Manner, and Eſq; Mainwaring of Whit- " more, in whoſe Lordſhip we lived; who filled " our hungry Bellies when we knew not where to " have a Morſel of Bread.) I think we had been fa- " miſhed and ſtarved; I my ſelf not having taſt- " ed a Bit of Bread two or three days, have been " glad to ſatisfie my Hunger by eating Crabbs, and " Feeding on the Fruits of the Hedges; which I " did as ſavourily as if they had been Dainties, " ſo Extream was my Hunger; we diſtributing " that little we had betwixt my Father and " their ſmaller Children; they being not ſo well " able to endure the ſharp Bitings of Famine as " we were. Thus was he, who by his Learning " and good Abilities, attained to ſuch Dignities in " the Church, brought by thoſe Uſurping Ty- " rants, to a Morſel of Bread, to the Utter Un- " doing of his Children and their Poſterity; he " living but a few Years after his Majeſty's Re- " ſtoration, and ſo not having time to Recover " his Loſſes, nor to Provide for his Ruined Fa- " mily.

WILLIAM JEFFEREY, . Chancellorſhip,
Arch-deaconry of Salop, ...
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . } And Prebend of Abrevas. . . . .

I know nothing more of him, except that Immediately after the Reſtoration, all thoſe Preferments were Filled up by other Perſons; ſo that probably he Died under the Uſurpation.

THOMAS LAURENCE, D. D. Treaſurerſhip, And Prebend of Salway. . . . .

See Baliol-College in Oxford.

JOHN ARNWAY, D.D. Arch-deaconry of Coventry, Prebend of Woolvey, ... And Hodnet, R. and Ightfield, R. } In Shropſhire.

* If I miſtake not; for I find him preſented to it in 1639.

He was Born in Shropſhire, and Educated at St. Edmond's-Hall in Oxford. He was a very Early Sufferer in the Rebellion; about the Beginning of which I find him Arch-deacon of Salop, and then under Perſecution: But upon the Promotion of Dr. Brownrigg to the See of Exeter, he had this Arch-deaconry conferred upon him. He was driven from his Living at Hodnet, by the Garriſon of Wem, and then betook himſelf to the King at Oxford; where he was made D.D. Two of his Succeſſors in that Living (but in what Order they came, I know not) were Francis Bowy and one Pearſter; the Latter of which is reported to have been Formerly a Pedlar. His Perſecution from the Party was very ſevere, and the Preſerments he left for his Majeſty's Service, very Conſiderable. Beſides which, he was alſo Plundered (particularly of his Books and Papers, which he could never after Recover) Impriſoned, very Ill uſed, and by theſe and ſuch like means, driven firſt to the Hague, and from thence, by preſſing Neceſſity, to Virginia. He hath himſelf related part of his Sufferings in † Two little Pieces, intituled, The Tablet, &c. and An Alarm, &c. neither of which have I yet ſeen: But by the Favour of the Reverend Mr. Vaughan, his Succeſſor in this Arch-deaconry, have a Tranſcript of ſome Few Paſſages out of one of them, which here follow. In the Preface to the Reader he ſays, 'He quitted 'a Large Fortune (of which he did not Repent in 'his Extreameſt Penury) to ſerve that Good Prince 'King Charles I. and was as ready to Hazard 'himſelf to Enthrone his Son. And Page 88, he ſaith, 'Though I was urged with Drawn Swords 'and Bloody Halberts, to ſerve the Idol, (meaning the Covenant) I yet infinitely more bleſs God for 'the Deliverance of my Soul from the Idolatry 'thereof, than of my Body from the Peril of Im- 'priſonment, Navigation, Sickneſs, and the Deſert wherein I Sojourn; the Three firſt of which I 'eſcaped very narrowly. They offered me Reſti- 'tution of 400 l. per Annum, (wee'rn'd with the Commendation of my Abilities, to Bow to it, in '(ſwallowing the Oath and Covenant; but Chriſt's 'Rejection of Hoc omnia dabo, teaching me not 'to tell my ſelf to work Wickedneſs, but to abhor 'Preſentations upon Simoniacal Contracts, I re-'plied, I had rather caſt my Stuff and Tackling 'all over-board, to ſave my Paſſenger and Pinnace, '(Soul and Body) than ſink my Paſſenger and Pin-'nace, to preſerve my Stuff and Tackling. And a-gain, p. 117, 'Not to ſpeak of their other Hard 'Uſage, granting me not a Bible of my Library to 'comfort me, nor a Sheaf of my Means to nouriſh 'me, nor a Suit of my Cloaths to cover me, nor Uſe 'of common Air to refreſh me; but Baniſhing me 'the Country, becauſe I would not be Perjured 'with them; they Haled me out of Priſon in the 'dead of the Night, to Tax me of Papiſtry, the un-'deſerved Livery they gave to All true Subjects 'and Good Chriſtians; who, had their Minds 'been unſerled in Religion, haply might have 'thought The furtheſt Remove from them, the near-'eſt Approach to God; and ſo have been ſooner 'Turned by Their Oppoſition, than by the Argu-'ments of Bellarmine.

God Almighty was not pleaſed to let him ſurvive his Troubles, and ſee the Reſtoration of the Church and Monarchy; but he died under his Baniſhment in Virginia, about the Year 1653, if Wood conjectures right. He was a very Worthy and Exeellent Man, and Charitable to the greateſt degree: He Yearly cloathed a certain Number of Poor Old People (I think they were Twelve) and dined as many every Sunday at his Table: And his Loyalty kept Pace with his Charity; for he Furniſhed out no leſs than Eight Troopers for his Majeſty's Service; which alone is ſufficient to account for the true Reaſon of all his Troubles.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 94.

In 1655, and from this Court, A.M was preſented to this living.

† Which, I think, is all that we hath Written.

—— —— . Arch-deaconry of Stafford.

Mr. Brown the Sequeſtred Miniſter of Ilam in Staffordſhire, is (in ſome of my Intelligences, called Mr. Arch-deacon Brown; but whether he is ſo termed there, becauſe he was then Arch-deacon, or whether becauſe he might Survive, and be made Arch-deacon afterwards, doth not appear. If he was Arch-deacon at that Time, this muſt have been his Arch-deaconry, becauſe the others are full; and indeed it ſeems probable to me that it was ſo, and that he died before, or ſoon after the Reſtoration; becauſe December 9, 1660. I find Mr. John Riland admitted to this Arch-deaconry. See —— Brown in Staffordſhire.

ROBERT NEWEL, A.M. Canonry-Reſid.

This is one of the many other Preſetments which I take this Perſon to have been poſſeſſed of at the Time of his Death, which was in 1643; early enough to have ſuffered ſomething here: But however, whether he did ſo or not, is a Quere. He was doubtleſs ſucceeded in this Preferment by one of the other Reſidentiaries here named (but which I know not.) And conſequently makes a Duplicate. See more of him at the Clareh of Weſtminſter.

Digitized by Google

——— HARISON, . Canonry-Resid.
He was sent to Jail, his House was Plunder'd, all his Books burnt, his Wife and Children were thrown out of Doors, and himself forced to Fly and Abscond for Two Years. There are but Four Residentiaries in this Church; so he makes a Duplicate, as Mr. Newel before doth; but whether he preceded or succeeded any of the other Residentiaries here named, and by consequence, whether he makes a First or only Second Sufferer in it, I cannot be Positive; but believe the Former.

GEORGE GIPPS, . Canonry-Resid.
And
Prebend of Freford. . . . . .

I guess he died under the Usurpation.

DANIEL PURY, . Canonry-Resid.
And
Prebend of Dornford. . . . . .

He lived to see the Church Restored, and enjoy'd his Preferments again.

NATHAN WILLIAMS, B. D. Prebend of Offley.

'Tis probable that he lived to see the Church Restored, and to possess his Prebend again.

GEORGE CUTHBERT, . Prebend of Longdon.

'Tis probable he died before 1660. See Serum and Wells, and Quære: Tho' he seems to have been a different Person from him of the former of these Churches.

JAMES FLEETWOOD, D. D. Prebend of Eccleshall, ...
Sutton Coldfield, R. in Warwickshire, . .
And Prees V. in Shropshire. . . . . .

He was the Seventh Son of Sir George Fleetwood of Buckinghamshire, and was Educated at King's-College in Cambridge, being chosen into that Foundation from Eaton-School in 1622. He had been Chaplain to Dr. Wright, the First suffering Bishop here mentioned, who presented him to the Living of Prees, and also conferred this Prebend upon him; but the breaking out of the Rebellion permitted him not to be Installed. He was a very early Sufferer, being forced betimes to quit his Vicaridge, and follow the Fate of his Majesty into the Army, where he became Chaplain to the Earl of Rivers's Regiment, and continued in that Quality to the End of the Wars. In 1642, he was created D. D. at Oxford by his Majesty's especial Command, for the good Services he had done him in the Battle of Edge-hill: Soon after which he was also made Chaplain to Prince Charles, and had the Living of Sutton-Coldfield given him; but he was not permitted to enjoy it. After this he was Tutor to the Earls of Lichfield, Kildare and Sterling; and to Esme, and Charles, successively Dukes of Richmond. Upon the Restoration he was the First Person that was Sworn Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majesty; when he was also made Provost of King's-College; Rector of Anstey in Hertfordshire, and of Denham in Bucks. In 1675, he was Consecrated Bishop of Worcester, and died in 1683, in the Eighty First Year of his Age. I have only to add of him, that his Loyalty was the more observable, for that several of his Family had been concern'd in the Rebellion, and one of them particularly had Dipt his Hands in the Royal and Sacred Blood of his Majesty; for which black Crime his Estate was afterwards most justly Forfeited.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 713.

It does not appear in the Office of Vice-Chancellor in the Year 1661, and part of 1667.

JAMES POVEY, . Prebend of Bishop's-Hall.

One James Povey was admitted to the Church of Willey in Warwickshire in 1602. Quære whether he was the same Person with this Prebendary, and if so suffered any Thing in that Living.

I have good Reason to think that he died under his Sufferings.

JOHN BISBY, . Prebend of Pipa minor, alias Prees.

'Tis probable that he likewise died before 1660.

* RICHARD LOVE, D. D. Prebend of Tachbrook.

* This our Authority I leave for placing him here as a Suffering Prebendary, is, that I find him possessed of this Prebend in the Year 1636, nor can I learn that any one was admitted to it afterwards, until the Restoration. And the same the Reader is to take notice of concerning each of the following Prebendaries, from whom I shall make a Reference to this Note. This Dodor was also in the Year 1630. Possessed of the Rectory of Eckington in Derbyshire, whether he Left or Suffered any Thing in that, is still a Query.

I find one of both his Names, and of the same Degree, who had been Dean of Ely, and died (or was at least removed to some greater Preferment) by the middle of 1645; but whether he be the same Person with this Prebendary, I must leave to further Inquiry.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 710. One Richard Love of King's College in Cambridge, was Proctor in 1628, and one of both the same Names, then Master of Corpus-Christi College, was Vice-Chancellor in 1633, and some time Margaret-Professor in that University.

RICHARD HUNT, . Prebend of Terwyn.

I believe he out-liv'd the Restoration; because his immediate Successor came not to this Prebend till October 1662.

See a Gentleman of both those Names in Cheshire, and Quære.

THOMAS BADDELEY, . Prebend of Caja-Major.

I take it for granted that he died before the Restoration.

STOCKET LUTWICH, . Prebend of Flixton.

'Tis probable that he died before 1660.

* JOHN ROWLANDSON, . Prebend of Sandiacre.

* See the Note after Dr. Love before.

'Tis very probable he died before, or soon after the Restoration; for the Prebend was filled, April 8. 1661.

JOHN JACKSON, . Prebend of Ryton.

See the same Note.

I find one of both his Names, a Native of the County of Cornwall; and another a Native of Lancashire, who hath Published several Things: But whether either of them be the same Person with this Prebendary, I know not. See another of both these Names mentioned by Mr. Newcourt, as sometime Rector of St. Alban's Woodstreet, and Quære,

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 438. Repertor. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 230

Digitized by Google

——— ROBINSON, . Priest-Vicar's Place.

I believe he never saw the Restoration.

——— FLETCHER, . Priest-Vicar's Place.

He lived to be Restored.

I find by the Valor Beneficiorum, that there are 12 Vicars Choral in this Church; but 'tis not said whether they are Clergy or Lay-Vicars: Though I should think the Former is plainly enough implyd, by the bare mention of them in the Valor; and if so, Seven more must be added to the List of Priest-Vicars. Besides these, I find there also Nine, which are said to be Clerici in Eccl. Cath. &c. If Those have any way a Dependance on the Cathedral (as there seems to be no doubt but they have) then These likewise must be Added to the rest of the Members of this Church; and so there are in all 16 more to be reckoned as Sequestred from this Cathedral. The Titles of the Vicars Choral (which I take to include also the Five Priest-Vicars before mentioned) are these; Portio Hen. Hilton, Joh. Aston, Sacrist, Dom. Rob. Dowman, Joh. Lane, Hen. Holgrave, Tho. Dobson, Rob. Fitchin, Joh. Audley, Joh. Wikey, Hen. Crosse, Tho. Kirk and Will. Lewes. The Titles of the Clerici, &c. are, Portio Ed. Goswell, Will. Hunter, Fr. Sandland, Rich. Pillisworth, Will. Kirkman, Jo. Gremings, Hospit. of St. John in Lichfield, and the Chapel in the Market-Place in Lichfield. Thus they stand in the Valor Beneficiorum.

He was one of those who Assisted and Promoted the most Noble Undertaking of the Polyglot Bible.

ANTHONY TOPHAM, . Deanery. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 449.
He Died under the Usurpation; or rather, as I conjecture after the Breaking out of the Rebellion. But not knowing the precise Time of it, I cannot well Guess how much he suffered.

——— ———, . Chaunterſhip.

——— ———, . Chancellorſhip.

ROBERT NEWEL, A.M. Sub-deanery, And Arch-deaconry of Bucks. . . . }

See Weſtminſter-Church.

MORGAN WYNNE, D.D. Arch-deaconry of Lincoln.

He was of All-Souls-College in Oxford; was, as I presume, Fellow there, and promoted to this Arch-deaconry in the Year 1629. His not Dying till the latter End of the Year 1644, is my only Authority for ſetting him down here as a Sufferer; and therefore quare. He was alſo Rector of Scotter in this County; at which place I do not find that he ſuffered any thing; but the contrary ſeems rather to be ſuggeſted by his being Buried There. His immediate Succeſſor in this Arch-deaconry, was Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 878.

RAPHAEL THROCKMORTON, . Arch-deaconry of Lincoln.

He was, if I miſtake not, of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and was admitted to this Arch-deaconry in the Year 1645. He ſuffered very much for the Royal Cauſe; and ſurviving the Rebellion, was created D. D. at Oxford, Aug. 7, 1660, by virtue of his Majeſty's Letters; who was thus pleaſed to expreſs himſelf on that Occaſion: We are well aſſured of his particular and eminent Sufferings, for Us and the Church. He died at London in the Year 1666. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 813

LINCOLN.

THOMAS WINNIFFE, D.D. Biſhoprick.
He was, as 'tis ſaid, a Native of Sherbourn in Dorſetſhire, and had his Education at Exeter-College in Oxford; of which he was made Fellow in 1593: Afterwards he became Rector of Wilſingaldon, and of Lambourn, both in Eſſex, and ſucceſſively Chaplain to the Princes Henry and Charles; to the Latter alſo after he was Advanced to the Throne; and had ſerved his Royal Father likewiſe in the ſame Capacity. He was promoted to this See (about the latter End of 1641) through the Two Deaneries of Glouceſter and St. Paul's. Though he was one of thoſe Biſhops who were made to pleaſe the Puritans, yet he ſuffered under them in common with the Reſt of his Order, got little or nothing by his Biſhoprick but Trouble and Vexation; and ſo is another Evidence how little that Party, as much as they cry it up, do either Value or Reward Moderation. During his Troubles he Retired to Lambourn; having been Perſecuted out of Weſtminſter, where his Houſe was Aſſaulted; and (to obſerve that by the way) Sir Richard Wiſeman, who led on the Mob, had his Brains beat out with a Stone: But dying in ſo Good a Cauſe, he had a ſuitable Funeral, and was Buried by a Collection made among the London Apprentices. This moſt Pious Biſhop Died at Lambourn before mentioned, in 1654: And, if Dr. Gauden may be allowed to give him a Character, None was more Mild, Modeſt and Humble, yet Learned, Eloquent and Honeſt, than Biſhop Winniffe. To which may be added, that of his Epitaph:

Ex eorum numero Epiſcoporum,
Quibus incumbebat Nutantis Epiſcopatûs
Molem, pietate ac Probitate ſua
Fulcimine, ſuſtentare.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 560. Lloyd Memo. p. 518. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 51.

He was ſometime alſo Prebendary of Moreton in the Church of St. Paul. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 52.

Perſec. Und. b. 59.

HENRY FERNE, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Leiceſter.

I take him to be the ſame Perſon with Dr. Henry Ferne, afterwards Biſhop of Cheſter; and if ſo, he was the 8th Son of Sir John Ferne of York, Knight; Enter'd firſt at St. Mary-Hall in Oxford, and from thence Removed to Cambridge. He was ſometime Chaplain to Biſhop Morton, on the Reſtoration became Maſter of Trinity-College in his Own Univerſity, was Vice-Chancellor there in part of the Years 1660, and 1661, Dean of Ely, and at laſt, as is before-ſaid, Advanced to the Biſhoprick of Cheſter; where he ſate but Five Weeks, and Died March 16, 16—, Aged 59 Years. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 727. 729. Life of Morton, fo. 1word. p. 84. Kenn Mon. Weſt. p. 242.

I find one Dr. Ferne ſent for as a Delinquent by the Houſe, whom I take to be this ſame Worthy Perſon likewiſe. He was alſo concerned in the Polyglot Bible. He was Author of ſeveral Learned Pieces.

RICHARD HOLDSWORTH, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Huntington.

See Worceſter-Cathedral.

GYLES

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 822.

GILES THOWN, B. D. Arch-deaconry of Bucks, ... } And St. Cuthbert's, R. in Bedfordshire, . . . }

He was, as I presume, of Baliol-College in Oxford; because I find him made D. D. of that House, in 1661. He succeeded in the Arch-deaconry upon the Death of Mr. Newell before-mention'd, and if Mr. Newell suffered any Thing in it (as I guess he did) he makes a second Sufferer here. I take him to be the same Excellent Person who

* Atere Roth. p 38 19, &c. was also Rector of St. * Cuthbert's in Bedfordshire; and if so, he was Apprehended in his Parish Church, immediately after he came out of the Pulpit (having Preached no less than Thrice that Day) by a Party of the Lord St. John's Troopers; who in a very boysterous Manner hurried him away to a Publick House, not suffering him so much as to go to his Own to see his Family, or any of Them to come near Him. The next Day they carried him to London, where after lying Three Weeks in the Hands of the Messenger, he was brought to his Tryal at the Bar of the House of Lords; at which Time he was questioned for some Things which he had Preached Nine Years before; and the Witnesses produced against him so well remembered what they had to say, that they were fain to read their Depositions out of Papers. But he so thoroughly acquitted himself, that the Lords Pronounced him Innocent. However upon Pretence of having a more material Witness against him in the Country, he was committed to the Fleet for about Three Weeks more; when the Witness appearing, he was sent to be Examin'd by a Clerk contrary to the Rules of the Court; and it was with much Difficulty that Mr. Thorn could obtain a Copy of the Deposition; which after all, was in Substance the same with his former Accusation. Hereupon he was forced to Petition the House for a Sentence, and after a chargeable Attendance of many Days more, he obtained a Second Hearing; when I cannot find but that the Matter of his First Accusation was wholly answered, and so drop'd; and instead of it, a Noble Lord insisted upon this, that he was of a malignant Spirit, had great Interest among his People, and, if permitted to Return to them, might much prejudice the good Old Cause. Whereupon he was Remanded to the Fleet. After which Time, upon repeated Petitions that he might either be Heard or Bailed, and by all the Application that he could possibly make, he could not obtain his Liberty, nor so much as get his Petitions read; upon which his Parishioners try'd what Weight their earnest Desires might have with the House, and sent up a Petition, subscrib'd with Three Hundred Hands, Praying that he may be brought to a Tryal, and either Acquitted or Condemned; but this Petition had as little Effect as any of his own. How long after he continu'd in Prison, I know not, nor any Thing more of him (for that he lived to the Restoration, and was made D. D. I have before said) only I shall here add, that his Persecution was chiefly occasioned by a private Spleen and Revenge, from the famous Sir Samuel Luke; whose Name I need not make any Scruple of speaking out, since he was the Don Quixote of Butler's Immortal Poem, which hath doomed him to Perpetual Infamy (if Wit and Poetry shall continue to be valued, as undoubtedly they will) whilst the World lasts.

JOHN HACKET, D. D. * Arch-deaconry of Bedford, ... Canonry-Resid. And Prebend de Mora. } in the Church of St. Paul. And St. Andrew's Holbourn, R. in London. }

* To which he was Admitted in 1631, as he was after to the Prebend in 1642.

He was Born in the City of London, but his Father was Originally a Scotchman; He had his Education at Westminster-School, where his excellent Genius soon discover'd it self, and recommended him in a peculiar manner, not only to the Master, but to Dr. Lan. Andrews, then Dean of that Church; who both Patronized him in the University, and directed his Studies. From this School he was Elected to Trinity-College in Cambridge, Dr. Nevill the Master of the House, having been so extreamly taken with him, that he declar'd, He should go to Cambridge, or else he would carry him there upon his Back. Soon after he came to the University, he so much distinguish'd himself by his Painful Studies, Sober Life, and great Proficiency in Learning, that he was Elected Fellow of the House, as soon as ever he became capable of it according to the Statute. After which he became a noted Tutor; and had the Care of the young Gentlemen of some of the best Families in England: Some time after he was Master of Arts, Dr. John Williams then Bishop of Lincoln (having observed his great Learning) took him for his Chaplain, and afterwards recommended him to his Majesty to serve in the same Capacity. Soon after which he was also presented to St. Andrew's Holbourn, as likewise to the Rectory of Cheame in Surry; upon the One or the Other of which, he was constantly * Resident; till the breaking out of the Rebellion. Nor was his Diligent in the Discharge of his Duty in this Arch-deaconry; to which he constantly repair'd once a Year, and took especial Care to exhort his Clergy to a strict Observance of the Orders of the Church. Whilst he was at St. Andrew's Holbourn, he had collected several Thousand Pounds for the Repair of that Old, decay'd Church; but the Rebellion breaking out soon after, that Money (as well as what was collected for the Repair of St. Paul's Cathedral) fell into the Hands of the Prevailing Party, who put it to a suitable Use, supporting their Rebellion by Sacrilege. Whilst the Confusions were yet growing, he was named one of the Committee (with a great many others of the most Eminent Bishops and Divines) to consider of Reforming the Liturgy, in hopes to dispel the Cloud that was then hanging over the Church; but nothing less than Root and Branch being sufficient to satisfie the Party, that Project miscarried; and on the contrary, a Bill was for Foot to Abolish Episcopacy, Cathedrals, &c. At which Time the Clergy were allowed a Favour not then common, which was to Speak for themselves, and Dr. Hacket was pitch'd upon by them for their Spokesman; which Office he discharg'd both to the Satisfaction and Admiration of every one. What he offered on that Occasion had so much Weight, that for some Time it retarded the Progress of that wicked Bill; and, as if they durst not venture their Ears again with this most Eloquent Person; when it was re-assum'd, they allow'd him not a Second Hearing. However, tho' they turn'd him out of St. Andrew's Holbourn, (upon Articles Exhibited by a few of his factious Parishioners) yet he was permitted to keep his other Living of Cheame in Surry, to which he retired, but was not suffered quietly to enjoy it; being seiz'd and detain'd Prisoner by the Army under News. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. P. 181, 378. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 664. Persec. Undec. P. 44. Life by Dr. Plume Edition.

* Twice as much, said Dr. Holdsworth, as any Puritan he knew.

See Fuller. Ch. Hist. L. 11. Cent. 17 P. 174.

He was also named one of the Assembly of Divines, Scob. Collect. Part I. P. 43.

See the Speech Printed at large in his Life, and Abridged in Fuller, ubi supra.

Nor would the Committee of Surry allow him to use the Common-Prayer in form.

Digitized by Google

† Who offered him any Terms of his own, if he would have joined with that Party.

under the Earl of † Essex; and being set at Liberty after some Time, he return'd again to Oxeame, where he continued during the remainder of the Usurpation; which having happily survived, he had a Tender made him of the Bishoprick of Gloucester; but refusing it, he was afterwards Advanced to that of Lichfield and Coventry; of which Cathedral he was in a manner second Founder; for being Ruined in the Time of the Rebellion, he upon the Matter Rebuilt it, at the Expence of Twenty Thousand Pounds (Nineteen Thousand of which he either gave or procured himself) and at the End of about Eight Years, when it was Finished, Dedicated it a-new with great Joy and Solemnity. He also laid out a Thousand Pounds in the Repair of a Prebendal House, which had been ruin'd by the same Sacrilegious Rebellion, where he was forced to live, the Palace being destroy'd. He died soon after his having finish'd these Works of Piety and Charity, which was in the latter End of 1670, in the Seventy-Eighth Year of his Age; having made it his Endeavour to settle a Pious and Laborious Clergy in his Diocese, by his own Example of constant Preaching, and been a principal Benefactor to Trinity-College, and the Publick Library in Cambridge; as also to St. John's College, and Clare-Hall there. As for the remainder of his Character, let his Epitaph pronounce it; part of which runs thus:

See in Wood what he Published of him, only here take notice, that he undervalued Materials for writing the Life of King James, written all Perfidiously, or worse Disingenuously at best, in the Contrivers.

Primeva Pietati, & summæ Eloquentiæ—
Concionator ad Ultimum Assidue; superstitionis Babylonicæ tam maturus Hostis, ut penè*
In Cunis Sraveris Lydiat. Vitæ Integritas,
Et Innocentia morum suavitate & Candore,
Charitate erga pauperes eximia, Liberalitate erga suos, &c.

* He likewise preached several Gen-tlemen in Ireland Times from falling into Popery.

To which I shall only add, that he was very strict in his Examinations for Orders, and upon those Occasions declared, that he found None greater Dunces than those of the Presbyterian Stamp, how much soever Ignorance was formally alledged in those Times, as one chief and standing Cause of the Sequestration of the Clergy.

—— LUDDINGTON, D. D. Arch-deacony of Stow.

He was also cruelly Persecuted. I find one Timothy Luddington Sequestred from East-Bedford in Nottinghamshire; Quære if he be the same altho', if I judge aright, they were different Persons. This Arch-deacon lived to be Rector'd.

JEREMIAS STEPHENS, B. D. Prebend of Biggleswade,
Wotton, R.
And
Quinton, R.
} in Northamptonshire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 930.

This Right Worthy and Learned Person, was Born at Bishopscastle in Shropshire, and was Son of Walter Stephens, Rector there. He was first of Brazen-Nose-College in Oxford, and thence Elected Chaplain to that of All-Souls. In the Year 1621, he was Presented to the Rectory of Quinton, by his Majesty; and about the Year 1626, had the Neighbour-Living of Wotton also conferred on him by the same Royal Patron. In 1641, this Prebend was bestowed upon him, by the Intereſt of that Great Patron of Learning, and all worthy Men, Arch-bishop Laud; as a Reward for his Service in assisting the most Learned Sir Henry Spelman, in his Edition of the Councils. I find him under Sufferings in the Year 1642, when a profligate Wretch, one West (of whom more by and by) carried away his Tithes, and for his good Services in that and the like Kind against Mr. Stephens, was by the Favour of the Committee, rewarded with a Keeper's Place in Whitehall-Forest; but Mr. Stephens was not formally Sequester'd till the Year 1644; when the Committee * in Northampton took him in Hand, beginning with him (as was then very common) in the midst of Harvest, for Reasons obvious enough to every Body. August 8, 1644, he had a Hearing, at which Time they gave him till the 27th of the same Month to make his further Defence: But in the mean while an Order is indirectly obtained, impowering Three Men of their own naming, and any Three of Mr. Stephens's (provided they had been Contributors to the Parliament) to take the whole Profits into their Hands, who immediately secure his Tithes. Thus he was in a manner Condemn'd before he was fully Heard: But neither is this all; for they pass another Order, That John West and Samuel Horne, Two vile Fellows (who were his Prosecutors) should have their Charges defray'd out of his Profits thus seiz'd upon; which was as good Encouragement, as, I think, it was possible for Informers to have; and was a piece of Barbarity not common in any Times but those, to oblige a Man to Hire his own Prosecutors. Mr. Stephens probably knowing that they were resolv'd, Right or Wrong, to Dispatch him, did not give himself the Trouble to name the Three Persons, as was allowed him. And accordingly the Committee appointing the whole Number, named Six of those very Persons who were some of the Petitioners against him. And that it may be known what sort of Saints they were, who Petition'd against the Clergy in those Days, how zealous they were in the Cause of Religion, how fit to be both Parties and Witnesses in these Causes, I shall not think my own Labour lost in setting down (and I hope the Reader will not) his, in reading) their Characters somewhat more largely, as I have them under Mr. Stephens his Own Hand, who left this, and several other Things of the like Kind, in Manuscript behind him. They were Six in all; the First of whom was one Richard Crane, the Taylor at Northampton, a notorious Whore-master, and one who used to let out the Prisoners in the Night to Rob and Thieve; who returned again early in the Morning, not the least suspected: He was afterward Hang'd at Nottingham for Robbing on the High-way. The Second was William Glover, of the creditable Profession of a Bayliff; and both he and Crane had Money given them to encourage them in the Persecution. The Third was John Lewis, an infamous Ale-house-Keeper, and his Wife a Bawd, he had Three Daughters to vile Scandalous, that they were commonly known to the Soldiers, by the Name of the Ammunition-Whores; the Mother was after Shot to Death by a Soldier, in a Quarrel that happen'd in her House. The Fourth (who was both the Chief Prosecutor and Prime Villain) was one John West; he lived mostly in this Lewis his Ale-House, and was notorious for his several Whores and Bastards; for Drunkenness also, and all sorts of Disorders; and had a Post allotted him suitable to his Character, which was that of the Chief Petitioner and Promoter, both at Northampton and London. Left this Zealous Saint should be thought to have Injury done him by a General Accusation, the Reader shall have the Particulars of some few of his Villanies: He had one Bastard by Margaret Cuppar the Tenth of December 1628; another by his Servant Alice Symmons 1632; another by Dorothy Cope in 1633; another by Ann Gorton in Lewis his Ale-house, in 1634; another by Elizabeth Orold, Widow, in 1635; another by a Woman in Bedfordshire; another by a Woman near Northampton; another by a Woman at Highgate near

* Of which there were six. One person of his Sequestration, who was a Gentleman of Quality, or of any kind of Learning, he understood so much as the Latin Tongue, informed, that having an occasion in his Answer to urge a Sentence in Latin out of Scripture, the Committee to their personal Shame,) Reprehended him first, and said, they understood not Latin. This I have from under his own Hand.

His Confession also before the Committee in London, where taken upon Oath, is printed in his Behalf, and gave an Account of his Learning, but to worse.

N London;

Digitized by Google

London; and Divers others. Theſe he uſed to call his Lambs that fell every Month in the Year. And to note that by the way, Mr. Stephens's having Proſecuted this Vileſt of Miſcreants in the Eccleſiaſtical Court for ſome of theſe Crimes, was the True Cauſe of the Fellow's Malice and Bitterneſs againſt him (the like to which I alſo find in very many other Pariſhes) I cannot forbear here alſo to take notice, that this Fellow made a heavy Complaint of Moleſtation in the Biſhops Courts; which may ſerve to interpret, in ſome part, the Reaſons why the Godly of thoſe Days Bellowed ſo loud againſt them. But, to go on with the Account of his Weſt, He had been Diſinherited by his Father for his Lewdneſs, was Outlawed in a Suit at Common-Law, for Cutting off the Hand of one William Harper, who caught him Stealing of Deer. At that time he Morgtgag'd his Land for Five hundred Pounds, and Fled to Holland; but never made Harper any Satisfaction. He ſtood at that very time likewiſe Excommunicated, had been Bound to his Good Behaviour, times without Number, and as often Forfeited his Bonds; was Indicted at one Quarter-Seſſion, in Twelve ſeveral Indictments; But no Juſtice in the Country could Rule him: For he diſobeyed all Orders for Keeping his Baſtards, &c. ſave one, when he paid Three Pounds. He had been in numberleſs Quarrels, had Stabbed and Wounded ſeveral People, and went always Arm'd with a Sword, a Dagger, and a Piſtol. He was grievouſly ſuſpected of Robbery; and his avowed Maxim exactly ſuited with it, which was, To do no Right, nor ſuffer any Wrong. In the Year 1643, he was caſt into Northampton-Jayl for the Outlawry, and ſtabbing one Braybrook, who was very like to have Died of his Wounds; and was ſo Unruly whilſt he was there, (being like to have murthered ſeveral of the Priſoners) that the Jaylor was forced to Thruſt him down into the Dungeon; where he Died miſerably (and that too under Excommunication) in about 15 Weeks time. And though this Villain was ſo Groſsly Notorious, though this was well known to the Committee (at leaſt at Northampton) and a Gentleman then preſent, told him, He was not fit to live, much leſs to have his Evidence heark'n'd to, yet both at Northampton and London was it Admitted, and that too without Oath. Behold in the Name of God, a Reformer! The Fifth was Tho. Evans, an Adulterer and Double Murtherer: For being a Married Man, and having gotten his Maid Alice Lock, with Child; when the Child was Born, he contrived to Drown it in a Well, which was accordingly Effected; and the Wench Seized, Condemned and Executed at Northampton for the Fact: Who, after Sentence was paſs'd upon her (and it was well for Evans that Evidence at ſuch a time is not Valid) wept bitterly, and confeſſed the whole matter. The Sixth was Samuel Herne, a Vile Groom, diſinherited by his Father for his Rebellion and Vile Practices againſt him; inferiour to no Cut-Purſe in Newgate, for Cheating, Lying, Couzening and Falſhood; the Peſt of the whole Country, eſpecially of the Clergy; making a Trade of Informations and Complaints againſt them. By which method, being miſerably Neceſſitous, he had got the Profits of divers good Livings in the County of Northampton, Sequeſtred into his Hands (as Mr. Stephens's had been) until the Cauſe ſhould be heard (forſooth!) a moſt Vile and Wicked Piece of Oppreſſion. And ſo well this Fellow underſtood his Abominable Trade, that whenever he heard of a Miniſter and any of his Pariſh at Variance about Tithes, &c. he would go and threaten the Miniſter to joyn with his Covetous and Sacrilegious Pariſhioners, and get him Sequeſtred. By which means he would get Money from ſome, from others a Horſe or a Parcel of Sheep, and by other ſome he was kept in a Yearly Penſion: Notwithſtanding which (or rather indeed by his means) he died at laſt a very Beggar: And yet, as Inſtrument an Informer as this Fellow was, and notwithſtanding that he made a perfect Trade of it, he was countenanc'd, and reſpected by the Committees. Theſe, and ſuch as theſe, were the Authors of Mr. Stephens's Sufferings; and as his perfect Knowledge of their Perſons enabled him to give a True Account of them; ſo is Mr. Stephens's own Excellent Character ſo well known, that I am perſwaded no one will believe he hath given a falſe one. Beſides his being thus Sequeſtred, he was alſo Plunder'd, Impriſon'd, and otherwiſe Barbarouſly uſed: But he Out-lived all his Sufferings, was Reſtored to his Preferments, had the Prebend of Iſracombe in the Church of Salisbury added to them, and died at Wotton in January 166⅞, in the 74th Year of his Age. He was, ſaith his Epitaph, Wood. Ant. Lib. 2. p. 214.

> Vir Integritate morum, Pietate vitæ, Literarum meliorum, præcipue ſuæ facies & antiquæ rei, nitido cultu, Cordatis & Literatis omnibus notiſſimus dilectiſſimuſq; ——— Virtutibus & Annis pariter Gravis, &c.

As for his Works, I ſhall here only mention the Aſſiſtance he gave to Sir Henry Spelman, before-hinted at; upon which Occaſion that moſt Learned Perſon did him Juſtice in theſe Words: See the Reſt in Wood.

> Quo autem Auſpicio in lucem prodiluni (me jam ſanè propemodum exhauſto) ſecundus & tertius (viz. Tomus) haud auſim policeri; niſi illos, vir dilectus & Bono natus publico, Jeremias Stephens, Typis curaverit, mandandos; cujus operâ Primus hic Tomus (me adhuc tantùm non invito) in lucem prodiit.

As for thoſe things which Wood ſaith he had prepared for the Preſs, ſuch of them as concern'd the Sequeſtration of the Clergy, came happily to my Hands, whilſt I was in Purſuit, but I cannot ſay Hopes, of them, by the great Favour of the Reverend Mr. Stubbs; who doubled that Favour to me, by ſending them without the leaſt Application made to him, or ſo much as knowing that I underſtood there were ſuch Papers in being: For which I beg leave here to make him this Publick Acknowledgment.

ROBERT SAUNDERSON, D. D. Prebend of ———.

See Chriſt-Church in Oxford.

RALPH HOLLINGWORTH, D. D. Prebend of ———, And Fillingham, R. in Lincolnſhire.

All that I know more of this Reverend Perſon, is, that he Out-lived the Troubles; but dying in 1661, left his Widow, with ſeveral ſmall Children, very Poor and Indigent: Inſomuch that ſhe was forced to apply to the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, and Beg their Charity; which ſhe accordingly received.

JOHN FAIRCLOUGH, (alias FEATLEY) Prebend of ———, And ———, in Surry. . . . .

He

Wood, Ath Vol II p 257.

He was a Native of Northamptonshire, Son to John (the Elder Brother of Dr. Daniel) Featley, and was Educated at All-Souls-College in Oxford. After he left the University, he went to the West-Indies, and was the First Perſon that ever declared the Good Tidings of the Goſpel to the Indians in the Iſland of St. Chriſtopher: After which he returned to England, obtained a Living in the County of Surry (the Name of which I cannot learn) became alſo Chaplain to his Majeſty, and had this Prebend conferred on him. But in the Beginning of the Rebellion he was diſpoſſeſſed of them again, and forced for ſome time, to be a Curate to his Uncle at Alton: But about the Middle of 1643, he Embarqued, with his Wife and Children, for St. Chriſtopher's again; where they continued many Years; and having outlived the Rebellious Uſurpation, he returned to England, was made Chaplain to his Majeſty King Charles the Second, Chaunter of this Church in 1660, the Year following D. D. ſoon after Vicar of Edmonſton in Nottinghamſhire, and died at Lincoln in 1666. He was, ſaith Wood, a True zealous Son of the Church of England. He hath recommended to the World his Uncle Dr. Daniel Featley, by Writing and Printing his Life. What elſe he Wrote, ſee in Wood.

Ibid.

Dr Richard Holdſworth, whom ſee at Worceſt was ſome time Preb. of this Church: whether a Preb. is neceſſarily Annexed to the Arch deanery of Huntingdon, or if not, whether the Doctor was Preb. at the time of his Suffering, quare. If he was ſo, that will ſupply One of theſe Blanks.

——— ———, . Prebend of Southſcart.
——— ———, . Prebend of Farndon.
——— ———, . Prebend of Welton-Bekthall.
——— ———, . Prebend of Welton-Brinkall.
——— ———, . Prebend of Welton-Rivall.
——— ———, . Prebend of Welton-Panelhall.
——— ———, . Prebend of Welton-Weſthall.
——— ———, . Prebend of Coringham.
——— ———, . Prebend of Haidorcum Walton.
——— ———, . Prebend of Carlton cum Thirlby.
——— ———, . Prebend of Carlton cum Dalby.
——— ———, . Prebend of Clifford Nov.
——— ———, . Prebend of Algarkby.
——— ———, . Prebend of Northkelſey.
——— ———, Pr. of Melton Roſſe cum Scamolby.
——— ———, . Prebend of Caſter.
——— ———, . Prebend of Stow in Lindſey.
——— ———, . Prebend of Norton Epiſc.
——— ———, . Prebend of Dunham.
——— ———, . Prebend Decem Librar.
——— ———, . Prebend Sexaginta Solidor.
——— ———, . Prebend Centum Solidor.
——— ———, . Prebend of Crakepole.
——— ———, . Prebend of All-Saints.
——— ———, . Prebend of St. Botolph.
——— ———, . Prebend of S. Martin's, Lincoln
——— ———, . Prebend of St. Croſs in Lincoln.
——— ———, . Prebend of Empingham.
——— ———, . Prebend of Ketton.
——— ———, . Prebend of Liddington.
——— ———, . Prebend of Kildeſby.
——— ———, . Prebend of Naſſington.
——— ———, . Preb. of Leighton Bromfield Ec.
——— ———, . Prebend of Brampton.
——— ———, . Prebend of Stow Long.
——— ———, . Prebend of Buckden.
——— ———, . Prebend of Bedford Minor.
——— ———, . Prebend of Leighton-Buſſard.
——— ———, . Prebend of Eyleſbury.
——— ———, . Sutton and Buckingham cum Horley & Horton.
——— ———, . Prebend of Croperdy.
——— ———, . Marſton Lawrence.
——— ———, . Cuſtos of the Altar of St. Peter.
——— ———, : * Minor Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor Canonry.

* Or whatever elſe their Title is in this Church: They are doubtleſs Two of the leaſt preferments.

After Repeated Applications to this Church, I have not been able to obtain a Liſt of the Dignitaries, Prebendaries, &c. who were the Sufferers there during the Rebellion. The Right Reverend Father in God the Preſent Biſhop of it, did me the Honour of a Letter to acquaint me, that in purſuance of my Requeſt to him, he had ordered the Chancellor to Draw out, and Tranſmit to me ſuch a Liſt; but I never received any thing of that kind, nor ſo much as a Letter from the Chancellor. However, I take this Opportunity of paying the ſame Thanks and Acknowledgments to his Lordſhip (which I humbly beg him to accept) as if his Commands had been Obeyed, and I had reaped the Benefit of them.

By this means I am altogether unacquainted with the State and Conſtitution of this Cathedral, any further than Cambden's Britannia, and the Valor Beneficiorum can inform me. And by each of them I find 44 Prebends in this Church. Theſe I have accordingly ſet down. However, Three of them muſt be Reduced (but which Three I know not) becauſe they belong to Dr. Saunderſon, Dr. Hallingmarſh, and Mr. Fairclough, whom I have before mentioned, but was not able to aſſign the Titles of their ſeveral Prebends. Nor is it improbable, that ſome of the other Prebends were poſſeſſed by ſome other of the Dignitaries before ſet down. Whether there are any Reſident ſaries in this Church, or not, is alſo wholly unknown to me; ſo very imperfect am I forced to leave the Liſt of this Cathedral, to my great Regret and Concern.

P. 449

LONDON,

WILLIAM JUXON, L.L.D. Biſhoprick.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 682 Nouv. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 311. Lloyd, Mem. p. 595, &c.

He was Born in the City of Chicheſter, Educated at St. John's College in Oxford; of which he became ſucceſſively Scholar, Fellow and Preſident. He had been alſo ſometime Vicar of St. Giles's in Oxford, where he was much admired for his Excellent and Plain way of Preaching; which tho' it was with great Strength of Conviction, yet was at the ſame time with a moſt genuine and Native Simplicity. In 1622, he became L.L.D. and ſome Years after bore the Office of Vice-Chancellour. Much about the ſame time he was made Chaplain to his Majeſty; and, by the Intereſt of Biſhop (afterwards Arch-biſhop) Laud, Dean of Worceſter; after that again, by the ſame Intereſt, Clerk of the Cloſet; being placed near his Majeſty's Perſon, by that moſt Excellent Father of our Church, in caſe Himſelf ſhould be any ways diſabled from attending the Buſineſs of it. In the Year 1633, he was Elected Biſhop of Hereford, and made Dean of the Royal Chapel; but the latter End of the ſame Year he was Tranſlated to this See; and two years after, was made Lord Treaſurer, being the Firſt of the Clergy ſince the time of Henry VII. and the Laſt ſince that time, who held that Great Office: Which he diſcharged with ſo much Fidelity, Integrity and Skill, at a ſeaſon when his Majeſty's Neceſſities were Greateſt, and the Clamours of the People Loudeſt, that he gave Univerſal Content; and was never Queſtioned for his Management and Demeanour in it. In the time of the Rebellion he Suffered in common with his Brethren; with this only Diſtinction, That he was Referved, like Uliſſes, by the Cyclops, for the laſt Morſel. At the Time of his Majeſty's moſt horrid and aſtoniſhing Murther, he attended him on the Scaffold, as he had done before in Private, and adminiſtred Ghoſtly Counſel and the Sacrament unto him. After which he retired retired to his Mannor of Little-Compton in Glouceſterſhire, where he ſpent the remaining Time of the Uſurpation, and had the Happineſs to ſee the King and Church Reſtored, to place the Crown on the Head of the Former, and be himſelf both Head and Crown of the Other. For in September 1660, he was Tranſlated to Canterbury, but continued in that high Station a very little while; being thence Tranſlated June 4, 1663, to that Place where alone there were any which excelled him. His Body was conveyed to Oxford in great Pomp, and Depoſited in the Chappel of his own College, in the ſame Grave with his Bleſſed and Martyr'd Predeceſſor in both the Preſidentſhip of that Houſe, and the Archiepiſcopal Seat. He was a Perſon of a Comely, Quick, and lively Body, and took care to preſerve the Healeh of it by Exerciſe. He was alſo of a ſweet Temper, of admirable Parts, but wonderful Modeſty and Humility; and 'tis ſaid few exerciſed that moſt Chriſtian and Diſtinguiſhing Grace of Forgiving Enemies to ſuch a degree as this moſt admirable Prelate: Inſomuch, that he was the Deliglit of his Times, and extorted a Reverence and Reſpect from thoſe very Perſons, who had Deſtroyed and Ruined his Order. He bore the Miſeries of his laſt Sickneſs, which were the grievous ones of the Stone, with admirable Patience and Chearfulneſs; and in a Word, was eſteemed a Perſon of Primitive Sanctity, of great Wiſdom, Piety, Learning, Patience, Charity, and all Apoſtolical Virtues. And I cannot but reckon it as a ſingular Ornament of his Character, that he ſo plainly and honeſtly gave the King his Thoughts about the Death of the Earl of Strafford. At the Time of his Death he left near Ten Thouſand Pounds to the Cathedrals of Canterbury and London, and to his Own College, which had Seven Thouſand Pounds of it.

Lloyd, Mem. Ibid.

Digitized by Google

He Publiſh'd nothing but one Sermon. Wood Antiq. Lib 2. p. 364

RICHARD STUART, L. L. D. Deanry, Prebend of St. Pancras, And Penitentiary, ... Deanery, ... And Prebend of the 3d Stall } In this Church. No one Appears at leaſt to have ſucceeded him in thoſe Two, until the Reſtoration. } At Weſtminſt. } Which Church alſo ſee. Deanery of the Chappel-Royal, ... Proveſtſhip of Eaton-College, . . . And Prebend of North Alton, in the Church of Salisbury. . . . . Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 59. News. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 12, 197, 924.

He Enjoyed, or rather was Entituled to all theſe Preferments together, if I miſtake not; unleſs the Deanery of Weſtminſter had vacated his Prebend in that Church; of which Quære. I am ſenſible alſo, that by Mr. Newcourt's Account, the Deanery of this Church did rather belong to Dr. Matthew Nicholas, than to Dr. Stuart; but altho' he ſaith it was conferred on the former of theſe by King Charles I. I am apt to believe, that upon further Enquiry, it will rather appear to have been by King Charles II. and that the Deanery was not granted to Dr. Nicholas till the Death of Dr. Stuart about 1651: After which Time Dr. Nicholas might poſſibly be called Dean of this Church; but in the Beginning of the Rebellion, I have been aſſured, Dr. Stuart was ſo called; and unleſs I miſtake, he is ſo termed in the Chapter-Books of this Church, altho' he had never been Elected, much leſs Inſtalled.

Whom ſee in the Church of Briſtol, and a Note there

He was of a good Family in Northamptonſhire; was firſt entered at Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, and thence Elected Fellow of All-Souls College: Afterwards he became Prebendary of Worceſter, as alſo of North-Alton, in the Church of Salisbury, Chaplain to his Majeſty, Dean of Chicheſter, and Clerk of the Cloſet. In 1638, he had the Prebend of Weſtminſter beſtowed upon him; in the Year following the Proveſtſhip of Eaton, and the Year after that again he was Prolocutor of the Convocation. In 1641 (viz. March 15) he got the Prebend of St. Pancras, the latter End of the ſame Year, or the Beginning of the next, the Deanery of this Church (to which he was nominated on the Promotion of Dr. Winniffe to the See of Lincoln.) And in 1645, the Deanery of Weſtminſter. In the Time of the Rebellion he ſuffered much for the King's Cauſe, was either turned (or kept) out of all theſe Preferments, and every Thing elſe that he had, being at laſt forced to fly into France; from whence he never lived to Return; but died at Paris November 14, 1651. He was accounted, whilſt he remained in the Univerſity, a good Poet and Orator, and afterwards a Noted Divine, an Eloquent Preacher, and a Perſon of a ſmart, fluent Stile. I have only to add, that his Majeſty King Charles II. being then juſt eſcaped from Worceſter-Fight, did him the Honour of Two Viſits whilſt he lay on his Death-Bed.

Mala infinita ab Regem Expertus, Bonitſ. omnibus exutus. Wood. Antiq. Lib 2. p. 182.

See his Works in Wood.

THOMAS PASKE, D. D. Arch deacony of London. News. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol I. p. 63.

See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

EDWARD LAYFIELD, D. D. Archdeacony of Eſſex, Prebend of Harleſton, ... Chiddingfield, R. in Surry, ... And Allhallows-Barkin, V. London. . . . Wood, Ath. Vol I. p. 619. News. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 74. Under. p. 41.

He was Half Siſter's Son to the Bleſſed Martyr Arch-biſhop Laud, and Educated at St. John's-College in Oxford. March 2, 1632, he became Prebendary of Harleſton, February 5, 1633, he was collated to this Arch-deaconry, and May 4, 1635, had the Living of Allhallows beſtowed upon him. He was one of the moſt carly Perſons of all the Clergy that fell under the Diſpleaſure of the Party; for I find Dr. Cozins and this Dr. Layfield (notwithſtanding their Privilege of Convocation) taken into Cuſtody by * them, in the very beginning of the Seſſion. And after this Time, I meet with frequent mention of him in the Parliament-Journals, in ſeveral Votes, Orders, Reſolves, &c. by which they continually Harraſſed him for * ſome Years. The Crimes at this Time alledged againſt him, were his having J. H. S. ſet up in his Church, his calling Thoſe Toads (as they ſaid) who would not come up to the Rails to Receive the Sacrament; and, to compleat his Accuſation, they alſo charge him with Blaſphemy; but what in particular it was I do not find. After this his Sufferings were ſo many and various, that 'tis not poſſible to trace them all. About 1642, or the beginning of 1643, he was Sequeſtered from Allhallows-Barkin; but he had before that been alſo Purſevanted, Impriſoned and Plundered; and was afterwards forced to fly for his Security: He was alſo Plunder'd at his Living of Chiddingfield, and was the Firſt Miniſter that was ſo uſed in that County. He had likewiſe a conſiderable Temporal Eſtate, which was all ſeized and taken from him. He was ſometime, by his Majeſty's Command, ſent Chaplain to one of the Royal Garriſons (which, if I miſtake not, was that of Farringdon) where he was afterwards taken Priſoner, but Releaſed again

See Heylin's Life of Laud, p. 42.

* Who then voted him unfit to hold any Eccleſiaſtical Benefice or Promotion.

* They ſeem to have propoſed to themſelves to make him an Example to the Reſt of the Clergy: and for that End, did in a ſurprizer manner Wreck their Malice and Spleen upon him. For whereas in after-times they had Logun with him, his Impriſonments, Contemnents and Harraſſings were Numberleſs, and he was more Teaſed and Proſecuted by Parliament, through the Courſe of ſome Years, than any one Clergyman whatſoever. To which, to obſerve that by the way, his Relation to the Archbiſhop contributed not a little.

Digitized by Google

gain by an Exchange. ' He had at one time or ' other been Confined in moſt of the Jayls about ' London. The longeſt Time a Priſoner in Ely- ' Houſe, and at laſt, in the Company of Others, ' clapt on Step-board under the Hatches, and not ' ſuffered to have the Benefit of the Air upon the ' Decks, without paying a certain Price for it. ' They were Threaten'd to be ſold Slaves to the ' Algerines, or to ſome of our own Plantations; ' but whether this was Prerence or Real Deſign, ' their Liberty was offered them for Fifteen ' Hunder'd Pounds a Man; but ſuch a Sum be- ing above their Poor Fortunes, it was brought ' down at laſt to Five Pounds each; which the ' Dr. with ſome Others, whether not Willing, or ' not Able to comply with, refuſed; and ſo, as ' no Purchaſe could be got of them, after a Year's ' Confinement, and the worſt Indignities offer'd ' them, they were turned a Shore for nothing." I muſt not omit to add, that at one of the Times when he was ſeiz'd, they Robb'd him likewiſe of his Watch, and what Money he had about him. At another Time they interrupted him in his Per- formance of Divine Service, Dragg'd him out of the Church, ſet him on Horſe-back with his Sur- plice on, Tied the Common-Prayer-Book about his Neck; and in this manner forced him to ride through ſome part of the City of London, whilſt the Mobb Hollowed and Hooted at him. His Troubles beginning ſo very early, he lived near 20 * Years under them; and tho' reduc'd to a Mean and Low Condition, bore them with great Courage and Reſolution; at laſt he ſurvived them all, was Reſtored to his Preferments, became alſo Reſidentiary of this Church, had the Living of Barnes in Surry, and died not till the Year 1680. He had, (but whether all Born at the Time of his Suffering I am not certain) Nine Children, one of which is now (or was lately,) D. D. and Pre- bendary of Wincheſter. He was a Man of a Ge- nerous and Noble Spirit, of great Courage and Re- ſolution, and chearfully Quitting all, choſe rather to ſtand the Storm, which afterwards fell upon him, than ſubmit himſelf to the vile Practices of thoſe Times.

* During which time his Loſſes amounted to very many Thouſand Pounds.

RICHARD CLEWET, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Middleſex, Fulham, V. in Middleſex, ... And St. Anne's Alderſgate, R. in London.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 506 Perſec Und. p. 41 Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 82

He had been Chaplain to Dr. King Biſhop of Chicheſter; was Collated to St. Anne's, June 20, 1617, and to the Archi-deaconry, June 16, 1626; but when he was Admitted to the Vicariage of Fulham I know not. Lloyd ſaith, that he was a Juſtice of Peace, of more Buſineſs in ending Con- troverſies, than any Ten within London and Weſt- minſter. He had been ſome Time alſo Prebendary of †Newington in this Church, and was, if I do not miſtake ſome Collections which I have made, the Sufferer in that Prebend; but Mr. Newcourt being expreſs in the Date of Dr. Clewet's Reſignation of it, as alſo in the Dates both of Dr. Turner's Col- lation to, and Vacating of it (by which it muſt of neceſſity follow, that That Dr. was the Sufferer in it) I have accordingly reckoned That Prebend as his. Dr. Clewet died ſome time before the Re- ſtoration.

† Which Mr. Newcourt ſaith he Reſigned in 1620.

JOSIAS SHUTE, A. M. Arch-deaconry of Colcheſter, And St. Mary Woolnooth, R. London. . . .

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol I. p. 921

He was Son to the Reverend Mr. Shute, Vicar of Girlewick in Yorkſhire, and Bred at Trinity-College in Cambridge. He was Promoted to this Arch-deaconry by his Majeſty King Charles I. in which he was Inſtalled April 15, 1642; and was Admitted to St. Mary Wkeln. November 29, 1611. In the beginning of the Troubles he was Moleſted and Haraſſed to Death, and denied a Funeral Ser- mon to be Preached by Dr. Holdſworth, as he de- ſired. His Death happen'd June 22, 1643. He was a Man well read in the Fathers, and in An- cient Hiſtory, eſpecially Eccleſiaſtical; an ex- cellent Caſuiſt, and a Perſon of great Piety, Charity and Gravity, and of a moſt ſweet and affable Tem- per. I am much miſtaken, if at the Time of his Death, the Affairs of this Cathedral were not in ſuch Confuſion, that he was deprived of the * Profits of this Arch-deaconry: And if ſo, he makes the Firſt Sufferer in it; and the Second was his immediate Succeſſor Perſec. Und. p. 41. Lloyd, Mem p. 504. Sir John Bramſton's Memoirs in Yorkſhire.

He was Nominated one of the Aſſem- bly of Divines. Acton Collect. part 1. p. 43.

JOHN HANSLOW, A. M. Arch-deaconry of Colcheſter, Prebend of Holbourn, ... St. Chriſtopher's, R. London, . . . And Aldbury, R. in Surry, ...

He had Sermons, Ex- tant.

* But Quere.

He had been made Chaplain to the Biſhop of London for his excellent Performance in a Repeti- tion Sermon at St. Paul's Croſs; and was firſt Poſſeſs'd of the Prebend of Oxgate in this Church, but Reſigning it, had the Prebend of Holbourn conferred upon him, February 15, 1639. April 4, 1640, the Church of St. Chriſtoph r was be- ſtowed upon him, as was alſo the Rectory of Pack- leſham in Eſſex, October 3, 1641. Mr. Newcourt ſaith, he was made Arch-deacon of Colcheſter af- ter the Reſtoration; adding withal, That the Time of his Admiſſion doth not appear: But I am ſatisfied he is under a Miſtake in that Matter; for Mr. Hanſlow was Collated at leaſt, if not Ad- mitted to the Arch-deaconry upon the Death of Mr. Shute, as is before ſaid; and I ſuppoſe the Confuſions, if they did not wholly prevent his Admiſſion, yet might occaſion the Omiſſion of the Entry. In 1642, he was compelled to a Re- ſignation of St. Chriſtopher's (not being, as was then alledged, Spirited for the Cauſe) to make room for James Cranford a zealous Presbyterian. If I do not miſtake Lloyd, he was alſo diſpoſſeſt of Aldbury, but Quare further of that Matter. He out-liv'd the Uſurpation, was therefore probably re-poſſeſt of his Preferments, died, as I guels, a- bout the Year 1666; and was a Perſon of a very meek and ſweet Temper.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 82.

Quere whether he ſo- ſeſſed any Thing in the Living.

Perſec Und. p. 42.

Mem p. 507,

THOMAS WESTFIELD, D. D. Arch-deaconry of St. Albans, And Prebend of Cadington-Major, . . .

He was Collated to the former of them Novem- ber 14, 1631. See the Church of Briſtol.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I p. 93.

THOMAS WYKES, D. D. Chaunterſhip, And Prebend of * Holly-Well, ...

* Alias Firſ bury.

He had been Fellow of St. John's College in Ox- ford, was ſucceſſively, Vicar of Great Dunmow, Rector of St. Botolph's, Biſhopſgate in London, of Finchley in Middleſex, and Tey-Magna in Eſſex: He was collated to the Prebend of Holly-Well, Octo- ber 27, 1636, and to the Chauntry, Aug. 27, 1638. I am inform'd that he had a heavy Share of Trou- bles upon the breaking out of the Rebellion. He died about Aug. 1644.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 102.

Chron. Anglo p. 186.

Digitized by Google

List by Dr. Tho. Smith.

PATRICK YONGE, A.M. Treasurership.
He was defcended of an Ancient Family in Scotland, and Fifth Son to Sir Peter Yonge, Tutor, and afterwards Privy-Councellor to his Maj fty King James I. He was Born, if I miſtake not, at Seaton in the County of Lothian, in the Year 1584, and Educated in the Univerſity of St. Andrew, where he became A. M. Afterwards his Father coming into England, with King James, placed him in the Family of Dr. George Lloyd, then Biſhop of Cheſter; from whence in the Year 1605, he went to the Univerſity of Oxford, was there Preſented ad Eundem, &c. and contracted a Familiarity with ſeveral Gentlemen of that Univerſity. He was alſo made Chaplain of New-College, and after that, deſigned for a Fellowſhip of Wadham, by Dr. Montague, Biſhop of Bath and Wells, who was then become his great Patron and Favourer; but going ſoon after to London, that Prelate got his Majeſty to ſettle a Penſion of 50*l.* per annum upon him: By the ſame Intereſt likewiſe, and that of ſome other Great Men, he was, not long after, made Library-Keeper at St. James's; ſome time after this again, he Travelled into France, and got acquainted there with the moſt Learned Men of Thoſe Times. In 1621, he was made Treaſurer of St. Paul's by his Majeſty, and Apr. 30, 1623, Preſented by the ſame Royal Patron, to the Reſtory of Hayes in Middleſex. About the ſame time alſo he had the Reſtory of Llaninnyy in Denbighſhire conferred upon him; Although he was no more than a Deacon. Not long after the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he ſided with the Presbyterians, till he found no Mercy from them, as I have been informed; though I rather believe they were the Independents from whom he ſuffer'd moſt: For in 1649, he was, by that Faction, then Dominant, Turned out of his Library-Keeper's Place; at which time the Keys were given to Hugh Peters, who Plundered it of the Valuable, or rather Invaluable Medals (as alſo ſome of the Manuſcripts) and ſold them to Sir Simon Dews. After this Mr. Yonge Retired in Melancholy to the Houſe of his Son-in-law Mr. Atwood, at Bromfield in Eſſex, where he died Sept. 7, 1652. It is needleſs to tell the Reader, that he was the moſt Celebrated Grecian of his Age; and that, had not the Confuſions prevented him, he would have publiſh'd an Exact Copy of the Alexandrian Manuſcript, juſt then brought over into England; ſince theſe are things ſo well known to every one. But perchance it is not ſo commonly known, that he was conſulted by moſt of the Great and Learned Men then in Europe; ſuch as Fronto-Ducæus, Sirmondus, Petavius, both the Heinſius's, Grotius, Valeſius, Salmaſius, Voſſius, Caſaubon, and many other Foreigners: As likewiſe Uſher, Selden, &c. of our Own Nation.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 197.

Pitman. Ant. p. 146.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 793. where alſo ſee what he publiſhed.

Whether he ſuffered like-wiſe in theſe two Livings or not, quere. To me it ſeems probable that he did.

Excepting in his Treaſurerſhip: unleſs the Presbyterians had likewiſe turned him out of his Two Livings, and then indeed They may juſtly be look'd on as having perſecuted him more than the Independents did. See Compl. Hiſt. of England, p. 148.

THOMAS TURNER, D.D. Chancellorſhip, Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . And Prebend of Newington. . . . .

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 115.

He was Collated to the Chancellorſhip Oct. 29, 1639, as he had been to the Prebend Apr. 14, foregoing. See Canterbury-Cathed.

JOHN HACKET, D. D. Canonry-Reſid. And Prebend of Mora. In this Church.

Ibid. p. 181.

He was Collated to the Prebend, March 28, 1642. See Lincoln-Cathedral.

———, . * Canonry - Reſid.

In ſome Latin Informations which I have received, one Richard Taylor is ſaid to have been a Suffering Canonicus in this Church; by which Term I underſtand Prebendary only; and if I am right in that Interpretation of the Word as there uſed, then That Richard Taylor was the ſame Perſon with Dr. Taylor, the Prebendary of Eaſtſtreet (whoſe Chriſtian Name doth not otherwiſe appear to me) and There I have accordingly inferred what I have to ſay of him: But if by Canonicus is to be underſtood Canon-Reſidentiary, then Dr. Richard Taylor, the Reſtor of Aſpenden and Weſtmill, was a different Perſon from the Prebendary of Eaſtſtreet, and ought to be inſerted Here. And there is indeed One Circumſtance, if there be no Miſtake in my Informations, which ſeems to require That Senſe of the Word in thoſe Notices; which is, that the Canonicus is there ſaid to have been Reſtored in 1660: Whereas Dr. Taylor who was the Sufferer in the Prebend of Eaſtſtreet, died, in all Probability, Before the Reſtoration: For it appears by Mr. Newcourt, that his Immediate Succeſſor, William Walwyn, was admitted to the Prebend Aug. 27, 1660, per mortem Taylor. Quære farther of this matter.

* This compoſes the Sufferings of ſeveral Canons.

William ſee.

Paperear Eccl. Vol. I. p. 150

ISAAC SINGLETON, . Prebend of Bromeſbury.

He doth not Occur in Mr. Newcourt's Liſt of the Incumbents on this Prebend; but unleſs I very much miſtake ſome Collections which I made out of the Papers of this Church, he is mentioned as immediate Predeceſſor to the Perſon who was Admitted in 1660; and conſequently he muſt have been the Sufferer in it. One Thomas Singleton, a Relation of this Iſaac, is in Mr. Newcourt's Liſt, immediate Predeceſſor to the Perſon Collated in 1660: But that Thomas dying Nov. 1614, there is a great Vacancy left for Succeſſion, which Mr. Newcourt himſelf owns he knows not how to fill up: And I make no queſtion but this Iſaac Removed from the Prebend of Brownſwood (in which he Occurs) to this of Bromeſbury, as his Relation, and immediate Predeceſſor in the Former of theſe Prebends, had done at Brownſwood; and this is, in ſome meaſure, confirmed by Mr. Newcourt himſelf, who ſaith, that Braburne, the Perſon Admitted in 1660, came per mortem Singleton; which could not be Thomas Singleton, ſince he died, as is before ſaid, in 1614; and therefore I judge, it was this Iſaac Singleton, which Mr. Newcourt ſeems not to have obſerved; tho' in the ſame Page he appears ſenſible that there muſt have been ſome one betwixt The. Singleton and Mr. Brabourne. See the Church of Carliſle.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 119, 123.

Eſpecially ſince Mr. Newcourt expreſly owns That he knows not How, or When he Yielded the Prebend of Brownſwood.

JOSEPH CROWTHER, B. D. Prebend of Brownſwood, Fellowſhip of St. John's Coll. in Oxford, And Greek Lectureſhip in that Univerſity.

Where he was Born, I know not. He obtain'd his Majeſty's Nomination to the Greek-Lecture in the Year 1648; but the Oxford Viſitors would not permit him to Enjoy it. At the ſame time alſo they Ejected him from his Fellowſhip for his Abſence. He was Collated to this Prebend, Apr. 1, 1642; but whether the Troubles permitted him to be Inſtalled, or not, I cannot tell. This is ſure, that he did not then Receive any of the Profits: Inſtead of that, he was forced to Fly into France; but Returning with the King, he Enjoyed the Greek-Lecture at Oxford, by vertue of the above-mentioned Nomination; became ſucceſſively

Wood, Ath. I. 1. p. 30.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 191.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 812. He had alſo been ſometime Vicar of Gerrard-Stanmow in Eſſex, Dunmow, Eſſex, Thid.

Digitized by Google

fively Chaplain to the Duke of York, D.D. Chaunter of this Cathedral, Rector of Tredington, in the Diocefs of Worcefter, Prebendary alfo of that Church, and at laft Principal of St. Mary's Hall in Oxford. He died in the Fleet-Prifon in London, (Dec. 1689.) into which he had been thrown by Sir Tho. Draper, for Refufing to Renew a Corps which he had a Defign to Run out for the Benefit of the Church.

News, Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 132.

THOMAS SOAME, D.D. Prebend of Cadington Minor.

See Windfor-Church.

WILLIAM HAYWOOD, D.D. Prebend of Chamberlain-Wood.

Ibid. p. 136. See Weftminfter-Church. He was Collated to this Preb. Nov. 21, 1631.

RICHARD BAYLY, D.D. Prebend of Chifwick.

Ibid. p. 140. He was Collated to this Preb. May 2, 1631; and is the fame Worthy Doctor who was alfo the Suffering Prefident of St. John's College in Oxford, and Dean of Salisbury: At the Former of which Places fee more of him.

ALEXANDER STRANGE, B.D. Prebend de Conſumpta per Mare.
And
* Layton, V. in Hertfordſhire.

* If I miſtake not, alſo the vicarage of that Kind (but rather the contrary) is ſuggeſted in his Epitaph.

News, Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 144, 846.

Lloyd Mem. p. 636.

He was the Son of a Doctor in Law, Born in London, and Educated at Peter-Houſe in Cambridge. He was ſometime Rector of Roding Alba in Eſſex, which he Reſigned 1617. Apr. 16, 1604, he was Admitted to the Vicaridge of Layſton, and was Collated to this Prebend, Feb. 15, 1636. He died in 1650, and was a Perſon of a Pious Diſpoſition, and Publick Spirit; as appears, among other things, by his Erecting and Endowing a Chappel, in the Neighbouring Town of Buntingford; in which he lieth Buried.

GILES BURY, B.D. Prebend of Eldland,
And
Bradwell juxta Mare, R. in Eſſex. . . . ;

News, Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 147. Quære further of the Sequeſtration of his Living.

* If I don't miſtake his Chriſtian Name. See what is ſaid at the Blank Canonry in this Church.

He was Admitted to this Living, Aug. 2, 1615, and to his Prebend the 28th of Nov. 1627. He Suffered, and died Under, or ſoon After, the Uſurpation: Which is all I know of him.

*RICHARD TAYLOR, D.D. Prebend of Ealdſtreet, Weſtmill, R.
And
Aſpenden, R. } in Hertfordſhire.

News, Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 150.

† In 1617. one Thomas Pytchard gave poſſeſſion of it.

 P. 38. who ſaith Buntingford, Weſtmill and Aſpenden: But I don't find any ſuch Pariſh as Buntingford in this County. There is a Town of that Name, which lieth in four ſeveral Pariſhes, of which Aſpenden indeed is One; and there is a Chapel in it. Built by Mr Strange the Miniſter of Layſton (another of thoſe Pariſhes in which Part of the Town lieth) and Endowed with a Yearly Salary; but that Endowment is Appropriated to the Miniſter of Layſton.

The Crimes alledged againſt him, were Bowing to (as they expreſs it; that is, towards) the Table for Altar-wiſe, Saying there was a more peculiar Preſence of God there, Obliging his People to come up to the Rails to Receive the Sacrament, Urging the Pariſhioners to make Auricular Confeſſion to him, and Saying, that he could forgive them (which doubtleſs was, urging the Diſburthening their Conſciences on peculiar Occaſions, and the Benefit of Abſolution) Praiſhing the late Innovations, Keeping a Picture of Chriſt in his Parlour, and Owning, it was to put him in mind of his Saviour, Speaking againſt the Laſt Parliament, and ſaying, the Preſent had done Great Wrong in Executing the Earl of Strafford; Refuſing to Preach Twice a Day, or to Admit others (i. e. doubleſs Factious * Lecturers,) Aſſerting the Neceſſity of Parochial Communion, and Obliging his Pariſhioners to it, Refuſing the Parliament's Proteſtation; to which is added, Deſerting of his Cure (that is, beyond queſtion) † Flying to preſerve his Life or Liberty, Saying that the King needed not the Parliament to Raiſe Money, Prophaning the Sabbath by ſending Goods to Market, and Bowing to the Croſs on his Fons. But not a Syllable of Swearing, Drunkenneſs, or any other Immorality, is there alledged againſt him; which is to me a Demonſtration that he was a Man of a moſt unexceptionable Life. †† He died, as I conjecture, Before the Reſtoration.

* Which is what I have often found this Accuſation to amount to.

† Which was a very common Caſe, and as common for them to be Sequeſtred for it, and to have the Reaſons of it aſſigned in their Ve- ry Terms of Deſerting their Cures.

†† Though ſome Notices which I have Received, ſay, he Lived to be Reſtored; which is, I believe, a Miſtake, if I underſtand them of the right Perſon. See the Note at the Blank Canonry before-mentioned.

ROBERT COTESFORD, D.D. Prebend of Hoxton,
And
Hadley, and Monks-Ely, R. in Suffolk.

News, Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 164. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 848.

Firſt Cent. p. 8.

He was originally of the Univerſity of Cambridge, had ſometime the Vicaridge of Canwedon in Eſſex; (to which he was Admitted in 1624) but quitting it the Year following, he was Collated to this Prebend Sept. 12, 1633, and Deprived of his Rectory by the Houſe of Commons in October 1643; when they alſo Ordered one Herrifon to Succeed him in it. He is one of thoſe whom Mr. White the Centuriſt, was pleaſed to pitch upon for a ſcandalous and malignant Prieſt; and great part of his Charge there (when it comes to be examined) amounts to This much only, That he obſerved the Orders of the Church, and Refuſed to be a Trumpet of the Rebellion, by Reading the Parliament-Declarations. But to this indeed are added afterwards, the Real Crimes of Inconſtancy, Drunkenneſs, and Neglect of Cure. Tho' by the Latter of theſe we are to underſtand (if his Caſe be like that of moſt others which I meet with) his Flying for the Security of his Life or Liberty: And how well the Two Former were proved, let the Following Letter determine:

One Dr Cotsford married an Half-Siſter to Archbiſhop Laud. Heylin's Life of Laud, p. 42.

'I have made Enquiry here at Hadleigh, the 'Place where Dr. Cotesford lived; and at this 'Diſtance of Time can meet with only theſe Two 'Teſtimonies, from Two Credible and Ancient 'Perſons now Living, that were then in the 'Town, and may be depended upon, viz. Mr. 'William Beaumont, younger Brother of Dr. Joſ. 'Beaumont, late Reg. Profeſſ. of Cambridge, Born 'and Bred up in this Town; who aſſures me, 'that he remembers Dr. Cotesford well, that he 'never heard him accuſed of Tipling or Drink-'ing whilſt he was here, or of any the leaſt Suſ-'picion of Incontinency with his Maid or any 'Woman elſe; That he always kept a Curate '(which has been the Cuſtom in this Great Town 'ſince, as well as before) that he Preached uſu-

Digitized by Google

'ally one Part of the Day, the other Part was 'supplied by the Curate. That he Deferred not 'the Cure, but kept it till forc'd away. That he, 'viz. Mr. W. B. was present in the Church, as 'he believes, the very Christmas-day before the 'Dr. was Turned out, when he heard him Preach 'in his Surplice, and saw him, immediately after 'Sermon, go up haftily to the Communion-Table, 'and with great Resolution withstand the Rabble, 'who were then Assembled to pull down a fair 'Pair of Rails before the Table, at that very Time 'before the Sacrament, even so far as to threaten 'to ſtab with a Stiletto then before him, the 'firſt Sacralegious Perſon that ſhould lay hold up'on the Rails, tho' (as his Expreſſion was) he 'himſelf ſhould Die, or be Kill'd, at the Altar. 'which it ſeems made them deſiſt from that En'terprize till Night, when they effected that black 'and dark Deſign. The ſame is attested by the 'other Perſon Mr. Henry Nelſon, now Aged a'bout Eighty Three Years; who came to Had'leigh when he was about Seventeen Years Old, 'and was there bound out Apprentice to an Apo'thecary; That Dr. Cotesford was Reſtor, and 'continued in the fairſtful Diſcharge of his Office 'for about Three Years from his coming to Town, 'till he was forc'd away; That he Preached in a 'manner every Sunday Morning, as his Curate 'did the Afternoon; That he thinks the Dr. ne'ver went to the Tavern, but is ſure that he ne'ver frequented it. That he was (and ſo Ac'counted and Efteemed) a very ſober Man; That 'he lived very Lovingly and Kindly with his 'Wife, without any the leaſt Suſpicion of Incon'tinency with his Maid, or any other Woman, 'and that he never heard any Report of ſuch di'ſhoneſt doing for the Time that he (the Dr.) lived 'in the Town. And that he alſo was preſent at the 'Church that Chriſtmaſs-day when the Dr. Preached, 'and then went up to the Table and did as was 'related before." Dr. Cotesford ſuffer'd very much for the Royal Cauſe, and being never able to obtain the Fifths from his Succeſſor, was conſtrain'd to take upon him the Practice of Phyſick at Ipſwich, where he died, in a few Years after, very Poor.

To which he was collated June 12, 1632. See Canterbury Cathedral. Newc. Rep Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 176.

THOMAS WILSON, D. D. Prebend of Neaſdon. Newc. Rep Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 185.

See Weſtminſter Church.

ROBERT ADAMS, D. D. Prebend of Oxgate.

He was collated to this Prebend Feb. 15. 1639; and was, as I preſume, the Sufferer in it; becauſe I do not find by Mr. Newcourt, that any one ſucceeded until the 16th of October 1661. Although, if I do not very much miſtake ſome Collections which I made from the Chapter-Books of this Cathedral, Dr. William Paske was the laſt, who appears Admitted before 1661; however, Mr. Newcourt ſaith, that he died before the * 15th of Feb. 1639, and that John Hanſley intervened betwixt him and Dr. Adams. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 192. * Before the 15th of September, by the Admiſſion of his immediate Succeſſor John Hanſley.

—— HARRIS, D. D. Prebend of Port-Pool.

He died, as I preſume, before the Reſtoration. He occurs not among the Incumbents in this Prebend in Mr. Newcourt's Liſt; but unleſs I very much miſtook, when I made ſome Collections from the Papers of this Church, he was mention'd as the immediate Predeceſſor to him who ſucceeded in 1660: And it appears plainly enough from Mr. Newcourt's Liſt it ſelf, that there is a Defect in this Part of it; for the Perſon who there immediately precedes Chriſtopher Skute (the Perſon Admitted in 1660) was not only collated in 1611, but had been Beneficed in London in the Year 1564, as Mr. Newcourt himſelf ſaith in the ſame Page: And allowing him then to be but Twenty Four Years of Age, in 1642, he muſt be above One Hundred; ſo that in all probability he muſt have died long before the Rebellion; and conſequently there is a Vacancy left for one at leaſt, if not more, to intervene. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 201.

GRANADO CHESTER, B. D. Prebend of Iſlington.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 168. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 538.

He was Deſcended from a Family of this Name in Hertfordſhire, Educated in the Univerſity of Cambridge, incorporated A. M. at Oxford in the Year 1619, collated to this Prebend June 13, 1638, became at length D. D. and died before the Reſtoration.

BENJAMIN STONE, Prebend of Recul-verland, St. Clement's Eaſt-Cheap, R. in London. And St. Mary-Ab-church, R. in London.

JOHN TOLSON, D. D. Prebend of Kenſith-Town.

Wood, Ant. l. 2. p. 305. Newc. Rep Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 172.

He was the Provoſt of Oriel-College in Oxford, and had been Elected to that Government June 29, 1621, on the Reſignation of Dr. William Lewis. In 1632 he was Admitted to the Prebend of Recul-verland in this Church, which he afterwards quitted for this of Kenſiſh-Town, and was collated to it Feb. 15, 1638. After he was Turned out of it in 1642, he Endured many Inſults in the Government of his College: He happen'd to be Vice-Chancellor when his Majeſty came to Oxford after the famous Battle of Edge-Hill, and was at that Time very ſedulous in getting the City Fortify'd for his Majeſty's Service; but died ſoon after, viz. December 16, 1644. Wood, Ant. l. 3. p. 119

This worthy Perſon had been Chaplain to Biſhop Juxon, was Preſented (or Admitted) to St. Mary Abchurch, June 13 (or 19) 1613; was collated to St. Clement's May 2, 1637, and to the Prebend, March 5, 1638. As to his Sufferings I find they began very early; being ſoon after the Beginning of the Parliament Reſolved unfit to hold any Eccleſiaſtical Benefice or Promotion. The ſame Reſolve was likewiſe paſt upon about Ten Clergymen more, of whom Dr. Holſte, and Dr. Layfield (who is before mentioned) were Two. The Reaſons (then aſſigned) for this Vote againſt Mr. Stone, were his being Popiſhly Affected, and (to put it into plain Words) his Aſſerting, as I conjecture, the juſt Power of Convocation in Matters of Religion. Not long after his Troubles were again Renewed; and accordingly March 22, 1642, he was ſequeſter'd from the Living of St. Clement's (by the Houſe of Commons) and ſhamefully Abuſed, and Impriſoned. The ſame Year alſo (but in what Month I am not certain) the Houſe deprived him of Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 205, 432. Perſec. Undec. p. 91, 92. Lloyd, Mem. p. 508.

Digitized by Google

of his Other Living, and appointed one Rawlinson to succeed him in it. As for the Other part of his Sufferings, I shall give it the Reader in the Words of his own Daughter, and only surviving Child, now, or lately living in Westminster. 'He 'was first Prisoner to Crosby-House with Sir Hugh 'Windham and one Mr. Trevillian, a Dyer, where 'they were kept Prisoners a considerable Time, 'and then moved for a Trial; but were carried 'on Board a Ship, and sent down to Plymouth; 'where they suffered great Damnages in their 'Passage, and lost most of what they had to main-'tain them: And when they came there might 'have starved, had it not been for the Charity of 'a good Lady who Relieved them. And when 'they had taken him so far from his Wife, they 'seized his House and Goods, and Turned his Wife 'and Two Children out of Doors; and they were 'expos'ed to walk the Streets all Night: And af-'ter that they seized on all his Effects wherever 'they could be found; and forbid Payments of 'Money: And in this hard Two Years (or there-'about) Imprisonment, Mr. Trevillian died, and 'Mr. Stone could get no Release, till he had Com-'pounded with them to pay Sixty Pounds for a 'Twentieth Part of his Estate, when they had got 'all they could from him before." He survived those, and all his other Troubles, was * Restor'd with his Majesty in 1660; the Year following Resigned his Living of St. Mary-Abchurch, and died about the Beginning of 1665.

* See what Mr. Newcourt, Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 143. says of Mr. Owen: Which Admission however to this Prebend as that Time, must be a Mistake, unless Mr. Stone had been Twice admitted to it: For it appears by Mr. Newcourt himself, That Mr. Bell was Admitted in 1663. Per Moreen Strode, p. 205.

Or Goddell.

ZACHARIAH GOODALL, Prebend of Rugmere.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 208.

He was collated to that Prebend, October 21, 1590, and seems to have died the Sufferer in it during the Usurpation; for I find Mat. Smallwood, D. D. Admitted to this Prebend December 6, 1660, per Mort. Zach. Goodall. However Quære further of his Suffering.

JOHN MONTFORD, D. D. Prebend of Sneating, * Anstie, R. And Therfield, R. } In Hertfordshire.

* I take the the Sequestered Rector of this Living, to be the same Person with the Rector of Therfield, but Quære.

Who d, Ath. Vol. I. p. 761. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 211. FirstCent. p. 11.

He was the Son of Dr. Thomas Montfort, sometime Refidentiary of this Church and Prebendary of Weftminfter; was collated to this Prebend November the 14th, 1618, and is one of thofe fingled out by the infamous Centurift, to fill up his Number. He is there mention'd as Rector of Anftie only, and the Crimes objected to him are (if put into plain Engliſh) his obſerving the Orders of the Church, and getting a Curate who did the ſame, being againſt having Two Sermons a Day, or allowing his Pariſhioners to go to other Churches; and finging betwixt the Two Services.

Then will I to the Altar go, &c.

But in Truth and Reality, the Cauſes of his Sequeſtration, were his Great Zeal for the Church of England. I find him ſequeſter'd from Anſtie, by the Houſe of Commons, in September 1643, and one Stanfield order'd to ſucceed him there; and if (as I take it) he be the ſame Dr. John Montfort who was alſo Rector of Therfield, he was ſequeſter'd from That * Living the ſame Month, and had this peculiar Hardſhip put upon him There; that they juſt Permitted him to build the Parſonage Houſe, a new almoſt from the Ground, and then Turned him out, without ſuffering him to ſleep one Night in it (or but one at moſt) tho' it coſt him a Thouſand Pounds; which one † Tenant, who then ſucceeded him, enjoy'd the whole Benefit of. This Living, in common Eſtimation, is worth more than Four Hundred Pounds per Ann. I know nothing more of this Worthy Dr. but that he died, as I take it, during the Uſurpation.

* Which I judge may be the Other Living, mention'd in this Prebend, as that Wood saith he had. Chauncy. Antiq. p. 89.

† Who, 'tis ſaid, turned a little Dove-houſe of the Houſe, into a Room for a Cloſe-ſtool. Per John Montfort

(unleſs he be miſtaken for James Montfort, of which Quære) died in 1631. I take him to be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer. Chauncy. Antiq. p. 376

SAMUEL BAKER, D. D. Prebend of Totenhall.

He was collated to it October 29, 1636. See Canterbury Cathedral.

News. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 215.

BRYAN WALTON, Prebend of Twyford. St. Martin's Orgar, R. London, ... And Sandon, R. in Eſſex. . . . . }

This moſt incomparable Perſon was Born at Cleaveland in Yorkſhire, was ſent firſt to Magdalen-College, and thence Removed to Peter-Houſe in Cambridge. After he left the Univerſity, he kept a School in Suffolk, from whence he Removed to London; and after ſome Time obtained the Two Livings above named; to the latter of which he was Admitted Jan. 15, 1635, as he was alſo, the ſame Day, to the Church of St. Giles's in the Fields; but when he quitted that Living I know not. He was likewiſe made Cloſeplain to his Majeſty, and had, as I conjecture, this Prebend of * Twyford conferred upon him. He was extreamly Beloved at both his Livings, and and highly valued, by all thoſe who valued the Conſtitution, for both his Learning and Piety. During the Controverſie between the Clergy and the Inhabitants of the City of London, about the Tithes of Rent, he was very Induſtrious and Active in the behalf of the Former; and upon that Occaſion made to exact and learned a Collection of Cuſtoms, Preſcriptions, Laws, Orders, Proclamations and Compoſitions, for many Hunder'd Years together (an Abſtract of which was after Publiſh'd) relating to that Matter, that the Judge declared, That there could be no Dealing with the London Miniſters, if Mr. Walton pleaded for them. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was ſent for by the Houſe, as a Delinquent, Aſſaulted, Sequeſter'd from his Living of St. Martin's, Plunder'd, and Forc'd to Fly; but whether directly to Oxford (where I find he after Reſided for ſome Time) or elſe to his other Living at Sandon in Eſſex, I cannot tell: But at what Time ſoever it happen'd, this I am ſure, that he was moſt Barbarouſly uſed at that Living likewiſe; being grievouſly Harraſſed there; and once when he was ſought for by a Party of Horſe, he was forced to ſhelter himſelf in a

Wood, Ath. Cleaveland in Yorkſhire, was ſent firſt to Magdalen-College, and thence Removed to Peter-Houſe in Cambridge. After he left the Univerſity, he kept a School in Suffolk, from whence he Removed to London; and after ſome Time obtained the Two Livings above named; to the latter of which he was Admitted Jan. 15, 1635, as he was alſo, the ſame Day, to the Church of St. Giles's in the Fields; but when he quitted that Living I know not. He was likewiſe made Cloſeplain to his Majeſty, and had, as I conjecture, this Prebend of * Twyford conferred upon him. He was extreamly Beloved at both his Livings, and and highly valued, by all thoſe who valued the Conſtitution, for both his Learning and Piety. During the Controverſie between the Clergy and the Inhabitants of the City of London, about the Tithes of Rent, he was very Induſtrious and Active in the behalf of the Former; and upon that Occaſion made to exact and learned a Collection of Cuſtoms, Preſcriptions, Laws, Orders, Proclamations and Compoſitions, for many Hunder'd Years together (an Abſtract of which was after Publiſh'd) relating to that Matter, that the Judge declared, That there could be no Dealing with the London Miniſters, if Mr. Walton pleaded for them. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was ſent for by the Houſe, as a Delinquent, Aſſaulted, Sequeſter'd from his Living of St. Martin's, Plunder'd, and Forc'd to Fly; but whether directly to Oxford (where I find he after Reſided for ſome Time) or elſe to his other Living at Sandon in Eſſex, I cannot tell: But at what Time ſoever it happen'd, this I am ſure, that he was moſt Barbarouſly uſed at that Living likewiſe; being grievouſly Harraſſed there; and once when he was ſought for by a Party of Horſe, he was forced to ſhelter himſelf in a Perſec. Und. p. 41. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 221.

* Wood is poſitive as to his being made Prebendary of this Church in the Year 1639, but my reaſons for this Prebend, as only ſo in Conjecture, becauſe all the Others are Full, nor doth Dr Walton occur at all in this Prebend or in any other according to Mr. Newcourt, till the Year 1660, when he was Admitted to that of Wenlake's Barn (Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 233.) But there is a plain Miſtake in Mr. Newcourt's Account of the Prebendaries of Twyford, about the Time of the Uſurpation: For he makes Barkſdale, who was Admitted in 1573, to have Reſigned to Johnſon in 1660, (p. 218.) by which Account Barkſdale muſt have been 87 Years a Prebendary, which is altogether improbable: And what renders the Miſtake yet plainer, is, That he Conteſtures (and that probably enough) that this Johnſon was the Same Perſon with the Vicar of Hackney, who dyed in that, and the 62*nth* Page, appears to have died in the Year 1628. So that I preſume he miſpread 1660 for 1606, in which Year Barkſdale might very probably Reſign, Johnſon ſucceed, and Dye in 1628; becauſe it was then, and the breaking out of the Rebellion, there is Interval enough for ſeveral Succeſſors; of which Dr. Walton was, as I preſume, the Laſt, and conſequently the Sufferer in it; alias in 1660, he might, according to Mr. Newcourt, be firſt, by Removal) Admitted to the Prebend of Wenlakes-Barn.

Digitized by Google

Broom-field. And the Manner of his being Sequestred from This Living is well worth Observing: For Sir Henry Muldmay and Mr. Alſo (two Members of Parliament) firſt drew up Articles againſt him themſelves (though no way at all concern'd in the Pariſh) and then ſent them to Sanden to have them Witneſſed and Subſcribed. After he was thus Diſpoſſeſſed of Both his Livings, he betook himſelf for Refuge to Oxford; and Lloyd is poſitive, that he would otherwiſe have been Murthered. Whilſt he was there, he Formed the moſt Noble and Glorious Deſign of the Polyglot-Bible; and returning afterwards to London (at the Houſe of his Father-in-law Dr. William Fuller) in Four Years time compleated that moſt Abſolute and Famous Edition of the Bible, that the Chriſtian World ever had, or is like to enjoy. For which Under-taking he had the Licence of Biſhop Juxon, the Conſent and good Wiſhes of all the other Biſhops, the Aſſiſtance of Biſhop Uſher, as alſo of his own Father-in-law Dr. Fuller, and that likewiſe of Doctor Bruno Ryves, Doctor Edward Caſtell, Doctor David Stokes, Alexander Huiſh of Wadham College, Sam. Clarke of Merton-College, Thomas Hyde of Queen's, Abraham Wheelock, Herb. Thorndike, Edw. Pocock, Tho. Greaves, Dudly Loftus, Dr. Hen. Hammond, Dr. Rob. Sanderſon, Dr. Gilb. Sheldon, Dr. Rich. Sterne, Dr. Hen. Ferne of Trin. Coll. Camb. Mr. Tho. Smith of Chriſt's Coll. Camb. Mr. Rich. Drake of Pembr. Hall in Camb. and Dr. Sam. Baker, Canon of Canterbury, &c. In this Work he was alſo aſſiſted by the Subſcriptions of very many of the Nobility and Gentry; And though he had *Infinite Diſturbances for his Loyalty (ſo little Sence had thoſe who then prevailed, of any thing that was Noble, or for the Common Good of Learning, or rather indeed of Chriſtianity it ſelf) and met with very many other Difficulties; yet with Diligence and Application altogether Incredible, he Surmounted them All, and got that moſt Incomparable Edition of the Bible Publiſhed in 1657. After the Reſtoration he had the Honour to Preſent it to his Majeſty; who made him his Chaplain in Ordinary, and very ſoon after, for his great Vertues, Learning, Loyalty, Sufferings, and indefatigable Induſtry, Preferred him to the See of Cheſter: Where he was Received with ſuch a Concourſe of all the Gentry, Clergy and Militia, both of the City and County; and with ſuch Acclamations of Thouſands of the People, as had never been known there before: But returning to London, he died in that City, immediately upon it, (which was in Nov. 1661,) to the great Reluctancy of all Loyal and Learned Perſons.

See Dr. Walton's Preface to his Bible.

Which is alſo taken notice of in his Epitaph; and by himſelf in his Pref. to the 6th Volume, which ſee.

See in Wood what few other things he publiſhed.

SAMUEL FELL, D. D. Prebend of Wenlaks-Barn.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 222.

See Chriſt-Church in Oxford: For he was the ſame Perſon with the Sequeſtred Dean of that Houſe. He was Collated to this Prebend the 29th of Jan. 1612.

ROBERT TOMPSON, A.M. Prebend of Wildland.

Ibid. p. 227.

To which he was Preſented Apr. 29, 1631, by his Majeſty King Charles I. who afterwards Preſented him likewiſe to the Church of * Cepford in Eſſex; where he was Admitted Jan. 24, 1638. He died ſome time Before the 22d of September 1662.

* Quære if he Suffered ought in that Living.

THOMAS HOARD, B. D. Prebend of Willeſden.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 570, ſaith that This Prebendary was Samuel Hoard, the Learned Author of God's Love to Mankind, and Rector of Moreton in Eſſex; but I very much miſtake, if in the Admiſſion of his immediate Succeſſor in 1660, he be not called Thomas by the Chapter-Books of this Church-Quere further. See of that Samuel Hoard, Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 142. He was not Sequeſtred from Moreton, but died poſſeſt of it in 1657.

STEPHEN HALL, B. D. Lecturerſhip. See Ely-Cathedral.

——— ———, . Sub-deanery, and Firſt Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Senior Cardinalſhip, and Second Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Minor Cardinalſhip, and Third Minor-Canonry.

JOHN BARNARD, . Fourth Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Fifth Minor-Canonry.

Quære how many of theſe (or whether All of them) were then in Orders.

JOHN FOX, . Sixth Minor-Canonry.

JOHN TOWNSEND, . Seventh Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Eighth Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Ninth Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Tenth Minor-Canonry.

RALPH MANSBRIDGE, . Eleventh Minor-Canonry.

——— ———, . Twelfth Minor-Canonry.

The Iſle of MAN.

RICHARD PARR, D. D. Biſhoprick, And Eccleſton, R. in Lancaſhire, worth 200*l. per Annum*. . . . . .

He was Born in Lancaſhire, and, as 'tis ſaid, within this Pariſh of Eccleſton. He had been Fellow of Brazen-noſe-College in Oxford, a very Noted and Diligent Tutor there, and had ſome time the Reſtory of Ladbrook in Warwickſhire; but Reſigned it on his being Preferred to Eccleſton above-named. He was promoted to this Biſhoprick about the Year 1633, with which he kept the Living of Eccleſton in Commendam, as long as the Times would permit him: For about Oct. 1643, the Houſe put that Living under † Sequeſtration; and by the Plenitude of their Power, placed one Edw. Gee into it. Dr. Parr died under the Uſurpation; but in what Year I know not. He was a Perſon Very Induſtrious in the Miniſtry before, but more eſpecially after he was Biſhop. He hath ſeveral Sermons extant.

Wood. Ath. Faſt. p. 96.

Alſo this Iſland not being given up till after Worceſter-Fight, quære whether he ſuffered any things in the Biſhoprick; which, 'tis poſſible he might not, if he died before that time.

† I have been otherwiſe informed, that he was Harraſſed and Forced to Quit the Reſtory of Eccleſton; but I find by the Parliament Journals, that he was put under a Formal Sentence of Sequeſtration.

SA-

Digitized by Google

SAMUEL RUTTER, Archdeacony of Man.

I find him Arch-deacon here during some part of the Rebellion; and therefore I judge that he Suffer'd in common with others of that Dignity. 'Tis said indeed, that he Govern'd the Church with great Prudence during the late Wars; which I understand only of the Period of time preceding the Subjection of that Island to the Parliament, after the Battle of Worcester. He was Advanced to the Bishoprick in 1661, died in 1663, and was a Man of Exemplary Goodness and Moderation.

Bp. Sanderson's Serm. at the Tomb of Bishop Rutter, p. 113.

NORWICH.

RICHARD MONTAGUE, D.D. Bishoprick.

Although this most Learned Person died in 1641, he had before his Death went with Disturbances from the Party; and was in particular accused in Parliament: But not being Totally dispoſſeſt of his Revenues before his Death, I forbear to proceed to the Account of him, and proceed to his moſt Pious and Suffering Succeſſor, who was Fuller Ch. Hist. Cent. 17. l. 11. p. 194.

See the Account of him at large, Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 617.

JOSEPH HALL, D.D. Bishoprick. This moſt Pious Biſhop was Born at Aſhey de la Zouch in Leiceſterſhire; became ſucceſſively Scholar and Fellow of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, and afterwards Rhetorick-Lecturer in that Univerſity. At his firſt ſetting out from thence, he had a Tender made him of the New-erected and Noble School Founded by Blondel, at Tiverton in Devonſhire; which he accepted of; but the ſame Day quitted it again for the Rectory of Halſted in Suffolk. After this he Travelled with Sir Edmond Bacon to the Spaw, and in his Way at Bruſſels had a Conference with the Famous Jeſuit Coſterus, in the College of that Society. Some time after his Return he was taken into the Service of Prince Henry, who made choice of him himſelf on hearing him Preach, and had afterwards ſuch a peculiar Eſteem for him, that whilſt his other Chaplains took their cuſtomary Turns of Waiting, the Prince commanded Dr Hall's Conſtant Attendance. A little after he had been Entertained in this Honourable Service, he was Preferred to the Rectory of Waltham in Eſſex (where he continued 22 Years.) After this again he was made Prebendary of Wolverhampton, and was the chief Inſtrument in Retrieving ſome Very conſiderable Rights and Emoluments of that Church, out of ſuch Sacrilegious Hands as had detained them. During ſome part of this time, he attended the Embaſſy of the Earl of Carliſle into France; and was in his Abſence nominated to the Deanery of Worceſter, by his Majeſty, who, on his Return, appointed him alſo to be one of the Divines which ſhould wait on him into Scotland. After this, he was ſent to the Synod of Dort, with the other Engliſh Doctors, and was pinched on to Preach a Latin Sermon before that Aſſembly. Being forced to return from thence before the Synod broke up, on the Account of his Health, he received ſignal Marks of their Eſteem; and was alſo by the States preſented with a Gold Medal. Some time after his Return into England, an Offer was made him of the Biſhoprick of Gloueeſter, which he Refuſed; but afterwards accepted that of Exeter; and from thence was Tranſlated to this See in 1641. Upon the breaking out of the Troubles (notwithſtanding he never Urged what was then called the New Impoſitions, and gave way to Orthodox and Peaceable Lectures in ſeveral Parts of his Diocels) he was Impriſoned with the Reſt of the Proteſting Biſhops; being Voted to the Tower on Jan. 30: A ſad Præludium to, and Progneſtick of, the Horrible Scene which was Open'd ſome years after, on that ſame Day.

Lloyd. Memoirs. p. 411, &c. Specialities in the Life of Joſ. Hall, &c.

Bishop Hall's Hard Meaſ. His Farewell Sermon, by Mr Whitefoot, I have not ſeen.

It was at that time Very Cold and Friſky, and Eight of the clock at Night: To which however the Houſe had no manner of Regard; but without any Mercy, ſent thoſe Reverend Old Perſons away to that Priſon. After ſome time, he was again Releas'd upon 3000 l. Bail; when returning to Norwich, he was Harraſs'd, Sequeſter'd and Abus'd in the vileſt manner; All his Eſtate Real and Perſonal, was ſeized; as likewiſe Half a Years Full Rents, and ſeveral Arrears of Rents, which in compaſſion to his Tenants, he had given them Time to Pay. They came to his Palace likewiſe, and took an Inventory of all his Goods, even to a Dozen of Trenchers, and would have Inventory'd the very wearing Clothes of his Children and Family, had he not got an Order to the contrary, from ſome them in Power. Theſe, together with his Library, were all expoſed to Publick Sale; but one Mrs. Goodwyn redeemed the Houſhold-Goods, paying the Full Price for them which the Sequeſtrators had demanded; and then leaving them with the Biſhop till he could Re-pay her. As for his Books, they were Viewed by ſeveral Stationers: but at laſt, one Mr. Cook, a Worthy Divine of the Diocels, gave Bond to the Sequeſtrators to the Full Value, which they Appraiſed them at; and it was paid out of that poor Pittance of Fifties which the Biſhop received. Nor was this all; they kept back his Synodals alſo for ſome time, and afterwards all the Other Profits of his Biſhoprick: They alſo ſeveral times Inſulted him in his Palace at unſeaſonable Hours. Once a London Trooper, attended with ſome others, came in the Morning, before the Family were out of their Beds, and Threatned to Break open the Gates; but having got Entrance, he Ranſack'd the whole Houſe, under Pretence of Searching for Arms and Ammunition; Examin'd the Cheſts, Trunks, and Veſſels in the Cellar, for this End: But finding none, was at that time content to take away One of the Biſhop's Two Horſes, whilſt the Good Old Gentleman told him, That his Age would not allow him to Travel on foot. And afterwards underſtanding the Biſhop had ſome way diſpoſed of the Other Horſe, he came, and highly Expoſtulated the matter with him. At another time the Mobb beſet his Palace, for having Ordained ſome Perſons in his Own Chapel, and had the Inſolence to demand his Appearance before the Mayor. At laſt, they wholly Turned him out of the Palace, tho' he earneſtly deſired to tarry there, and offer'd to Rent it; but he could not be heard, notwithſtanding the Sequeſtrators had it in their Power to Pay themſelves out of his Fifths; which was likewiſe ſuggeſted to them. Being thus Diſpoſſeſs'd, We might (ſaith he) have lain in the Street, for ought I know, had not the Providence of God ſo order'd it, that a Neighbour in the Cloſe, one Mr. Goſlin, a Widower, was content to void his Houſe for us. As for the 400 l. per An. which was allowed him by the Parliament, there was not the leaſt care taken for the Payment of it: Inſomuch that the Good Old Biſhop was neceſſitated, under theſe Circumſtances, to Apply to the Committee of Norwich to get it paid, or to Order ſome other Maintenance for his Family: But all that could be obtained, was, the Lord Manchester's Letter to the Committee, for that purpoſe; who, in purſuance of it, had taken care for the Payment of the Money: But before one quarter of it became due, an Order comes down from the Superiour Committee of Sequeſtrators at London, prohibiting the Payment, and leaving him no Hopes of Maintenance, but from the Fifths: Nor could he get an Order for them, but with much Trouble, and after a long Delay: And when at laſt, they came to be paid, the Accompts

* One of the Godly Reformers, which was ſent on this Errand, had been Burnt in the Hand, as a Token of his Honeſty.

Digitized by Google

counts of those Sequestrators, who had both his Temporals and Spirituals in their Hands, were so Confused, Perplexed and Imperfect, that he was forced to take any Thing which they were pleased to call a Fifth Part. I find indeed an Order of Feb. 15, 1647, for taking off the Sequestration (which doubtless was from his Temporals only) but I presume it had just the same Effect (that is, just none at all) with the Order for his Pension of four Hundred Pounds per An. From his Heard Measure, wherein he so justly complains of his Horrible Oppression, bears Date May 29 following; and he mentions not one Word there of any Thing Restored to him: Instead of it, he gives this farther Instance of their Outrages, and most unparallell'd Injustice; For, saith he, They were not ashamed, after they had taken away, and sold all my Goods and personal Estate, to come to me for Assessments and Monthly Payments for that Estate which they had taken; and took Distresses from me upon my most just Denial; and vehemently required me to find the wonted Arms of my Predecessors, when they had left me nothing. After this he retired to a little Estate (which he Rented if I mistake not) near Norwich; where however, under all his Sufferings he distributed a Weekly Charity, out of that little which was left him, to a certain Number of Poor Widows; and kept a Weekly Fast with his whole Family, for the safety of his Majesty's Person, until they had barbarously murthered him before his own Palace Gate. I have heard several other Things of his Sufferings; as likewise of his great Patience in his last Afflicting Sickness, his punctually Foretelling the Night of his Death, and giving Orders for the Time of his Funeral; but they are too long to be related in this Place. I shall only add, that his Death happened in the Year 1656, in the 82d of his Age; and that he was a Person of most incomparable Meekness, Humility and Piety. These were the Sufferings, and such, in short, the Character of this well known and celebrated Prelate. The Account of whom I cannot dismiss without observing how very dangerous it is to give any the least Countenance whatsoever, to that Restless Party, which will never fail to make such a wicked and perverse Use of it, as they did in the Case of this Excellent Bishop, and several Others of his Brethren: Whom, taking Occasion from some of their Actions, they industriously Represented and Claimed, as their Own: and by that Means weaken'd the Hands of those who were Friends to the Establishment, Spirited and Animated a Turbulent Faction, and cajolled the more Ignorant and Unsteady Multitude; until at last they got a Party strong enough to pull those very Bishops themselves (under their Own pretended Umbrage and Authority) as well as the Rest of their Order, and the whole Hierarchy, down to the Ground. Would to God those who now value themselves so much upon their Moderation, did but seriously consider of this Matter. For it is altogether insufficient to say, that many of those moderate Men (as they love to call themselves) with sincerely well to the Church of England; and that possibly some of them are ready to suffer in Defence of the Constitution, should there be an Occasion; because that is the very Matter now before us; and Experience in the Case of this most Pious Bishop, as likewise in that of Arch-bishop Usher, the Bishops Prideaux, Winniffe, Brownrigge, &c. hath taught us how well the Party know to make their Advantage of any the least Countenance and Encouragement, and how ready they are to Improve it, not only to the Ruin of the Constitution, and such as with a just and necessary Zeal oppose their Designs; but of those very Persons also, under the Patronage of whom they get themselves into Power. And therefore their Own Interest, as well as that of the Church, plainly points out to those Gentlemen, the Apparent Hazard of giving such a restless Faction the least Opportunity (whether by Palliating their Opinions, or pleading for their Impunity) to shelter themselves under their Umbrage and Authority, and leaves them at last no other Excuse than that Non Putassem which every School-Boy is taught the Folly of; Who would think it! I conclude the rather rather to subjoin this Reflection to the Account of this celebrated Prelate, because his Extraordinary and most Exalted Piety (together with that of the Arch-bishop Usher) was a Handle which the Party took hold of, in order to carry on their wicked Purposes, more than any other whatsoever: Tho' 'tis manifest from several of his Works, from his Discourse of Episcopacy more especially, and from the great Sufferings which he underwent in Defence of the Hierarchy and his Majesty's Cause; how sincere a Friend he was both to Monarchical and Prelatical Government.

* Moderation was like to produce; He was ashamed to live. He, must confess, of often interceded with the Government for Moderation towards the Faction, but now (1641) he saw such immoderate Courses taken by them, that the most Irreligious Things were done under Pretence of Religion. Afterwards, p. 281. The same Author tells us, Bishop Potter complained, he had lived to see himself Despised, by them he had Countenanced. He had intended to long for Liberty of Conscience, with the King, till he saw neither the King, nor Himself could Enjoy their Own. That he feared the Presence of Religion would Overthrow the Reality; and the Bitterness of that Age would breed Atheists in the next. I could nominate Bishop Morton, &c. all Reverend, Learned and Holy Men. The King observed, that they who Complained, by a Politick moderate Motive, to sign the Bill for Beheading the Earl of Strafford, were so far from recovering the Rewards of such Ingratitudings with the People, that no Men have been more Harrassed and Crushed than they. He only, &c. Eik. Bas. C. 5. This I believe, if it were thoroughly Examined, would be found a certain Truth, that all of the Nobility (one only excepted) who suffered Death for the King and the Church, by the Sentence of their Courts of Judicature, were such as at first took Trimming Resolutions, leaving us a whole to play at Blindman-Buffet, till we came to Cutting of Throats, I can therefore pass a Book not long after, intitled Lex Talionis, which made shrewd Discoveries.

* As this Humour has been mistaken to the Publick, so to private Persons among us, who were no way engaged but by Prayers and Tears for the Established Government. This very Excellent Bishop Davenant told Dr. Ward, whom he saw what His and Others Mens JOHN HASSAL, D. D. Deanery. He had been Fellow of New-College in Oxford, and afterwards became Chaplain to the Queen of Bohemia; by whose Recommendation he was made Prebendary of this Church in the Year 1615. In 1625 he had Leave given him, by the Convocation, to be actually created Dr. of Divinity; at which time the Chancellor's Letters for that Purpose recommended him, as one that had been a diligent and faithful Preacher of the Word of God in the Low Countries, and had got a singular good Reputation with the Englisth in those Parts. Sir Horatio Vere wrote in his Behalf at the same Time; and affured the Univerfity, that he had Not only gained a singular good Report for his Abilities, but for his Pious and Sweet Converfation also. In 1628, he became Dean of this Church. He Died, and was Buried, at Creak in Norfolk, during the Usurpation, by which he was reduced to such extream Poverty, that One of his Daughters, not many Years since, was maintain'd by the Charity and Relief of the Parish.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p 812.

ANDREW BING, D. D.* Arch-deacony of Norwich.

* He is the Laft that appears on the Register of this Church, to have been Inftalled before the Wars: in this Arch-deaconry, which is the only Authority I have for placing him here as the Suffrcer. See York-Cathedral.

ROBERT WHITE, B. D. Arch-deaconry of Norfolk, And Eaton, in Huntingtonfhire. . . . .

He was Inftalled in this Arch-deaconry September 23, 1631, and died under the Uſurpation.

THEOPHILUS KENT,* A. M. Arch-deaconry of Sudbury.

* I cannot further hints to add a Farther and if after Shaw's Poſtſcript to his No Reformation of the Eſtabliſhed Reformation.

He

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 742. *It I am informed from that Church.

He was Installed December 31 *, 1621, and died under the Rebellion. See the Church of Chichester, and Query.

RICHARD MILESON, A. M. Archdeacony of Suffolk, And Prebend of Colewerth, in the Church of Chichester.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 878.

He had been Chaplain to Bishop Montague, and was Installed Arch-deacon December 23, 1640. He was forced beyond the Seas by the Rebellion, where he Quitted the Communion of the Church of England for that of Rome; in which he died after the Year 1660; when I find him deprived of his Prebend of Chichester; but the precise Time I know not.

JOHN SPENDLOW, A. M. Prebend. He was Admitted to it in the Year 1616, and had been Prebendary here about Thirty Years. 'On his being Ejected, he lived very Poorly, 'having only Two Shillings and Six Pence per 'Week allowed him by the Sequestrators; for 'which he was forced every Week to wait on 'one Samuel Cawthorn, a Cutler, a vile Wretch, 'but much in the Confidence of that Party; 'whose Pleasure he was forced to attend, and 'often bear his Insolence with a great deal of 'Patience, for this pitiful Allowance, whereby 'to be kept from Starving, all else that he had being taken from him; which reduced him to so 'low a Condition, that on the Restoration of the 'Church, being Arrested for Debts Contracted in 'the Time of his Sequestration, he continued a 'Prisoner, through his Inability to Pay them, almost all his Life after, till the Time of his 'Death, which happen'd Anno Dom. 1666.

FOULK ROBERTS, B. D. Prebend, And St. Clement's, R. in Norwich. . . .

He was Originally of the Universtiy of Cambridge, and Installed Prebendary here in 1616, saith Wood; but as I am informed from this Church, in 1615; and so he also had been Prebendary about Thirty Years: 'He was a Worthy, 'Learned Person, and Published several Books, 'which had the Approbation of good Learning; 'particularly one about Tithes. He was Minister of St. Clement's Norwich, and constantly 'Preached there every Sunday till Sequester'd. He 'was outed of his * Prebendship, and all other 'Benefices, and died before the Restoration. One of both those Names occurs Rector of Offley in Hertfordshire, in 1606, Coaun. Ant. p. 409.

Ath. Vol. I. p. 840. *Where he fixes it not to February, and so possibly this Difference is occasioned by the One's beginning the Year from Christmas, and the other from March 25. Where also for what is Wrote, * Although Wood (Ibid.) seems to affirm the contrary.

NICHOLAS HOWLET, D. D. Prebend. He was Installed in the Year 1618, and so had been likewise possessed of this Prebend almost Thirty Years. 'He was outed of all, and died 'before the Restoration; but could better bear 'the common Calamity than Others, because he 'was a very Wealthy Man, having a good Temporal Estate of his own.

SAMUEL GAREY, B. D. Prebend. 'He 'was Installed Prebendary in the Year 1620, was 'Outed of all, and died before the Restoration, 'and was somewhat Distracted before his Death.

EDMUND PORTER, B. D. Prebend, And † Hevingham, , in Norfolk. . . .

† The same I suppose with Heveringham, R.

'He had been Chaplain to the Lord-Keeper 'Coventry, was installed Prebendary of this Church, 'Anno Dom. 1627. He was a Man of Parts and 'Learning, as appears by the Books Published by 'him; and was a Man of great Dexterity in 'managing the Business of the Church; as was 'also Mr. Roberts. He lived till after the Re-'storation, and died An. 1670. Sir Coarles Porter, 'who was twice Lord Chancellor of Ireland, was 'one of his Sons. He had more provoked the 'Party than any of his Brethren; however he was 'permitted to live quietly upon a small Estate he 'had of his own.

EDWARD YOUNG, D. D. Prebend.

See Exeter-College.

—— ——, : Minor Canonry.
—— ——, . Minor Canonry.

Or whatever other Title those who are appointed for the Ordinary Service of the Church, have in this Cathedral; which, I presume, I may safely conjecture, are not less than Two.

In the Valor Beneficiorum I find a Chaunter, Chancellor, and Treasurer of this Church mentioned; if these Officers are still continued, I presume they are chosen out of the Prebendaries.

O X F O R D.

ROBERT SKINNER, D. D. Bishoprick. He was Born in the Parish of Pisford in Northamptonshire, of which his Father was Rector: He had his Education at Trinity-College in Oxford, where he became Fellow, a noted Tutor, and had the famous Mr. Chillingworth, among others, for his Pupil. He was several Years Preacher at St. Gregory's in London, and performing Twice every Sunday, was very popular among the Puritans, which Dr. Laud, then Bishop of London, observing, got him sworn Chaplain to his Majesty, and endeavoured to refcue him from the Faction: Afterwards he was made Rector of Launton in Oxfordshire, and had the Living of Greens-Norton also conferred on him. In 1636, he was made Bishop of Bristol, and allowed to keep those Two Livings in Commendam, as he did the Former of them likewise, after he was Translated to this See, which was in 1641. He was one of the Twelve Bishops which made the Protestation; for which he was Imprisoned in the Tower Eighteen Weeks, to his great Charge. After his Release he retired to the Rectory of Launton, which he was permitted to keep during the whole Usurpation, but not without some sort of Submission to the Men of the Times, as Wood seems to intimate; altho' it does not so well agree with what he after saith, that he Read the Common-Prayer, and conferred Orders according to the Church of England, during that Period, which he outlived; and in 1660, being Restored to his Bishoprick, he was one of the Commissioners for setting Matters at Rights in the University of Oxford, after the Confusion which the Parliament-Visitors had made there. In 1663, he was Translated to Worcester, where he died June 14, 1670, in the 80th Year of his Age.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 671.

Ibid. he only Published Two Sermons.

Digitized by Google

BARTEN HOLYDAY, D. D. Archdeaconry of Oxon, Crowell, R. And Another Living } in Oxfordshire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 169. Where see his Works.

He was a Native of the City of Oxford, Educated in Christ-Church there; of which he was a Student, and afterwards had Two Livings in this County bestowed upon him. After that he was made Chaplain to his Majesty, and obtained the Arch-deaconry here mention'd. He continu'd a Great Loyalist until the latter End of the Usurpation, when he stoop'd so low as to undergo the Examination of the Tryers, and what is worse, succeeded in the Sequester'd Living of Chilton in Berks: Tho' indeed the Pretence on which his Predecessor had been Turned out, was his being non Compos. He out-lived the Usurpation, surrender'd Chilton to the right Owner, returned himself to his Own Preferments, as I take it, at least to his Arch-deaconry; and died at Eisley near Oxon, in the House belonging to the Archdeaconry. He was esteemed an Excellent Poet, and the Flower of all the Youths in his Time; and was likewise a most excellent Preacher; but it seems his Fancy was not Ballanced with a suitable Judgment.

As for the Dean, Canons, &c of this Cathedral, see them at Christ-Church, amongst the Colleges in Oxford.

PETERBOROUGH.

JOHN TOWERS, D. D. Bishoprick.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 812. Lloyd, Mem. p. 601. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 926.

This Right Reverend Prelate was Born in Norfolk, became Fellow of Queen's-College, in the University of Cambridge, Chaplain to the Earl of Northampton, Prebendary of Westminster, Rector of Castle-Ashby in the County of Northampton (which was conferred upon him by his noble Patron) Dean of this Church in 1630, and March 8, 1638, was Installed in the Bishoprick of it. He was one of the Protesting Bishops; and sent with the rest to the Tower; but after some Time obtaining his Liberty, he betook himself to his Majesty at Oxford, where he continued till the Surrender of that Place, and then returned again to Peterborough, but found his Revenues all seized upon: Nor was that thought enough; for he was moreover continually Allarm'd with Threatnings and Molestations, home to the Time of his Death; which happen'd to him, in a very obscure Condition, Jan. 10, 1648. He had undergone, saith Lloyd, great Afflictions in those Times, which however he bore patiently.

Clem. Hist. p. 82. He Publish'd some few Sermons.

Ibid.

JOHN COSIN, D. D. Deanery, ... Mastership of Peter-House in Cambridge, Arch-deaconry of the East Riding of Yorkshire, ... Prebend of the 10*th Stall* in Durham, And Branspeth, R. in the Bishoprick of Durham, worth 300 l. per Ann.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 541. Bates's Life of him, where see his Works.

This most Learned Person was a Native of the City of Norwich: He was bred at Caius-College in Cambridge (and was Fellow there) under the famous Dr. John Overall, afterwards Bishop of Norwich; to whom he was also Secretary, and then Domestick Chaplain to Arch-bishop Neile: After that he became Prebendary * of Durham, had the Arch-deaconry above-named conferred upon him, as also the Rectory of Brancepeth, was made Master of Peter-House, Chaplain to his Majesty King Charles I. and after the happy Restoration, served King Charles II. in the same Capacity. Whilst he was Prebendary of Durham, he kept such a constant Residence and Hospitality, that for the Space of Thirty Six Years together, he had not one Dispensation for Absence. He underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor in the Year 1639, and was concerned in sending the Plate of the College to his Majesty. In the Year 1640, he was preferred to this Deanery, but was never permitted to Enjoy it; his Troubles beginning with his Advancement to this Dignity: Being soon after the Meeting of the Rebel-Parliament Resolved unfit to Hold any Ecclesiastical Preferment, and one of those Clergy-men whom the Party had then begun to fall upon; and by that, and other Means, to discover their Disaffection to his Majesty's Government, and the Constitution. Accordgly I find him sent for by the House, as a Delinquent, Nov. 21, 1640; and he was absolutely the very † first Man of all the Clergy that I find Sequester'd; which was done by a Vote of the Whole House, Jan. 22, 164$\frac{2}{3}$. I chuse to take the Account of his Prosecution from Fuller's Church-History, not only because that Author lived through those Times, and because he was not much inclined, as is well known, to Favour Dr. Cosin; but chiefly because it was in Answer to what that Writer said of this matter, that Dr. Cosin drew up the Vindication of himself, which I shall by and by subjoyn. 'Dr. Cosin,' saith Fuller, 'was highly accused for Superstition, and 'Unjust Proceedings against one Mr. Smart. On this occasion the Dr. is Charged to have set up in the Church of Durham, a Marble Altar with Cherubims, which cost 1000*l.* with all the Appurtenances thereof; namely, a Cope with the Trinity, and God the Father in the Figure of an Old Man; another with a Crucifix, and the Image of Christ, with a Red Beard and Blue Cap. Besides, he was Accused for Lighting 200 Wax-Candles about the Altar on Candlemas-day; for Forbidding any Psalms to be Sung, Before or After Sermon; though making an Anthem to be Sung of the Three Kings of Collen (by the Names of) Gasper, Balthazar and Melchior; and for Procuring a Consecrated Knife only to Cut the Bread at the Communion. Mr. Smart, a Prebendary of the Church, one of a Grave Aspect and Reverend Presence, sharply inveighed in a Sermon, against these Innovations, taking for his Text, I hate all those that hold Superstitious Vanities, but thy Law do I love. Hereupon he was kept Prisoner Four Months by the High-Commission of York, before any Articles were Exhibited against him, and Five Months before any Proctor was allowed him. Hence was he carried to the High-Commission at Lambeth, and after long Trouble, Remanded to York, Fined 500 l. Committed to Prison, Ordered to Recant, and for the Neglect thereof, to be Excommunicated, Degraded and Deprived, his Damage, as brought in, amounting to many Thousand Pounds. But now Mr. Rous of the House of Commons bringing up the Charge to the Lords, against Dr. Cosin, Termed Mr. Smart the Protomartyr of England in these Latter Days of Persecution: And Large Reparations were allowed unto him, though he lived not long after to enjoy them. This was the Account which Fuller hath Transmitted to Posterity, of Dr. Cosin's Prosecution

Godw. Bish. of Peterborough. Vid. 1624.

Orig. 1640.

† Vindic. Dr. Peel of Wickham in Bucks. and Mr. Lathom of Staffordshire concerning his whole Quarr. may see Exceptions to this Affirmation.

But see the Articles against him at large, Rushw. Collect. Part 3. Vol I. p. 312.

Ch. Hist. Cent. 17. L. 11. p. 173.

Digitized by Google

secution which coming to his Knowledge at Paris, soon after the Publication of that History; the Dr. sent the Following Vindication of himself, in a Letter to one Mr. Warren, dated April 6, 1658. He begins it with an Account of Mr. Smart, to whom as the Chief Occasion of his Impeachment; and was, as the Dr. characterizes him, an Old Man of a most Froward, Fierce, and Unpeaceable Spirit. He had not Preach'd at the Cathedral of Durham, tho' Prebendary of it, for Seven Years, until he preach'd that Seditious Sermon for which he was Queſtion'd, firſt at Durham, afterwards in the High-Commiſſion-Court at London; from whence he was Remov'd at his own Deſire, to that at York; where Refuſing, with great Scorn, to Recant, he was indeed, for his Obſtinacy, Degraded, and by Sentence at Common Law, ſoon after Diſpoſſeſs'd of his Prebend and Livings. Whereupon he was ſupplied with 400 l. a Year by Subſcription, from the Party; which was more than All his Preferments amounted to. And as to his Cruel Uſage, and Impriſonment, it was no other than fair and Gentle Treatment; and that too, at a ſmall Charge in the Officer's Houſe at York. To which muſt be added, that whilſt he Heid and Enjoyed his Preferments and his Health too, he ſeldom preached more than Once or Twice a year. However, when the Party became ſo Prevalent in 1640, he preferred a Bill of Complaint to the Parliament, againſt no leſs than Thirty ſeveral Perſons, of whom Dr. Coſin could be but One, tho' indeed the Firſt in that Complaint. He pretends to have loſt no leſs than 30000 l. though it ſeems, he was never worth One in all his Life. To this Dr. Coſin put in his Anſwer, as far as he was concerned himſelf, upon Oath; and proved it ſo well, even by Smart's own Witneſſes, that Mr. Glover, one of Smart's Lawyers, told him Openly at the Bar of the Houſe of Lords, that he was aſhamed of him, and could not in Conſcience plead for him any longer. Whereupon the Houſe of Lords diſmiſſed the Dr. and never ſent for him more. As to the Particulars of the Charge againſt him, the Communion-Table, which is mentioned in it, was ſet up by the Dean and Chapter, Mr. Smart himſelf being at that very time One of them, before Dr. Coſin was Prebendary there, or had ever ſeen the Country: And the whole Appurtenances, and all the reſt put together, did not coſt above 200 l. as appeared by the Chapter-Accompts. The Copes alſo were brought thither before ever Dr. Coſin had any Relation to the Church, and whilſt Mr. Smart himſelf was not only Prebendary there, but allowed his Part of the Charge towards them; as appeared by the Act-Book: As for the Picture of the Trinity on any of the Copes of the Church, there was no ſuch thing there in all Dr. Coſin's time, nor ever had been as far as could be learned. One of them indeed was Embroidered with the Story of the Paſſion; but that which the Dr. himſelf wore, was only of plain white Sattin. The Image of Chriſt, &c. which was ſaid to be upon another of the Copes, was nothing but the Top of Biſhop Hatfield's Tomb, ſet up 200 Years before Dr. Coſin was Born; and that too, ſtanding 30 Foot high, Appeared not 10 Inches long; and ſo could hardly be diſcovered, with any Diſtinction, by thoſe who were not before adviſed what it was. As to the 200 Candles, they were more than had been uſed all over the Church in any day; and no more were Lighted on Candlemas-day at Night, than on any other Holy-day, and ſometimes Leſs were ſet up that Night, than there had been on Others. Nor did the Dr. ever Forbid the Singing of Pſalms, but uſed to Sing them Himſelf at Morning-Prayers. And as to the Anthem of the Three Kings of Collen, when Dr. Coſin firſt ſaw it in one of the Old Books of the Church, he cut it out himſelf with a Penknife, and made it to be torn in Pieces; nor had it been ever Sung during his Reſidence, nor for 50 or 60 Years before, as far as the Oldeſt Perſons in the Church or Town could Remember. And in the laſt place Dr. Coſin was ſo far from being Mr. Smart's Proſecutor, that after he was queſtioned in the High Commiſſion at Durham, he never medled in the matter, have that Once he wrote a Letter in his Favour. To this let me add another Inſtance of his Troubles and Oppreſſions, which will render it yet plainer, if poſſible, to all the World, that his Adverſaries could not but be ſelf-condemned, and act in direct Oppoſition to their Knowledge and Conſcience, at that very time when they were Hunting him down, and Hallooing the Mob upon him. For 'Upon a 'Motion made in the Houſe of 'Commons, that he had entic'd a Young Scholar 'to Popery, he was committed to the Serjeant at 'Arms, to Attend daily till the Houſe ſhould call 'him to a Hearing. After 50 Days Impriſonment, and Charges of Twenty Shillings per diem (beſides being expoſed to the Scorn and Hootings of the City Sectaries, who daily flock'd to the Doors of the Parliament, to ſhew their Readineſs to ſerve them) upon Hearing, the ſaid Dr. made it appear, (ſome Members alſo bearing him Witneſs) That the Dr. being then Vice-Chancellor of the Univerſity, had moſt ſeverely puniſhed the Party (whom, upon Examination, he had found Guilty) by Recantation, and by Expelling him the Univerſity. Yet no Coſt or Damage, by way of Reparation, was allowed to the Dr. by the Houſe of Commons. This is the Juſtice of the Supream Court of Judicature in England. See Perſec. undec. p. 23. It is needleſs to obſerve to the Reader, becauſe tis ſo very Obvious, what a Melancholy Reflection it affords, to conſider, That the Ruin of the Clergy in thoſe Times, began by an Impeachment in Parliament; and that though the Lords had, upon a Full Hearing, diſmiſſed him, yet the Reſtleſs Commons never ceaſed, till they had by other Methods compaſſed, not only His Ruin, but that of the Church too. As alſo, that the Deſigns of the Party againſt the Eccleſiaſtical Eſtabliſhment, are always Begun in the Perſons of the Clergy; and that in thoſe Caſes, even Innocence it ſelf, though as clear as the Sun, is ſo far from being able to Protect a Clergyman, that on the contrary, the very doing of his Duty in that Church and Station, to which he is obliged by ſo many Oaths and Subſcriptions, ſhall be made his Crime. To which let me add, that the Cry of Popery, and the Security of the Government, is never wanting, among the Other Pretences given out to the Mobb, though the Peace of the Nation be manifeſtly endanger'd, and the Intereſt of Rome undeniably promoted, by the very Proſecution which they are Then carrying on. In a Word, that whenever the Faction prevails, even in the Great Council of the Nation, all Right and Juſtice are Openly and Shamefully diſcarded, the moſt Inveterate Rancour and Malice ſucceed in the Room of them, and the Welfare of the Eſtabliſhment is always the Pretence, though the Ruin of it be the known Deſign. But leaving theſe Remarks to the Improvement of the Reader, I proceed in the Account of this Excellent Dr. Being, as is before ſaid, Turned out of his Preferments Dec. 22, 1640, he lay near 20 Years under the Vote of his Deprivation, and Heylin's Ex. ann. Hiſt. p. 283.

* Ibid. Dr. Coſin ſeemed to be alſo ſcandalous, contrary to God's Word, and Repugnant to the Laws of the Kingdom.

See Dr T. Smith's Life of Dr Coſin, in Latin, p. 10, 11.

Upon Sight of this Vindication from Dr Coſin, Fuller himſelf was ſo Honeſt, as to Recant (Worth, in Durham) what he had Highly affirmed concerning this matter, upon the bare Credit and Clamours of the Party.

Dr. Baſtere alſo in his Life of this Excellent Prelate, aſſures the World, that he was an Eye-Witneſs of his Defence; and that he Acquitted himſelf before the Grand Committee of Religion, to the Shame, as well as Amazement, of his Adverſaries.

After the Deprivation was Voted in Parlia ment, his Name appears very often in the Journals of the Houſe. And I find by them, that he was from that time forward, continually Harraſſed and Perplexed with Purſevants, Meſſengers, Impriſonments, &c. until they had quite Ruined him out of the Kingdom.

about

Digitized by Google

about 17 Years under Actual Diſpoſſeſſion of all his Places, and Baniſhment alſo, being forced ſo Early to Fly into France, and having been Plunder'd of all that he had, before he went thither. Whilſt he continu'd under this Exile at Charenton near Paris, he kept up the Engliſh Church-Diſcipline and Worſhip, by the Common-Prayer; he Reduced ſome that were gone quite over to Popery, and Confirmed ſeveral more in the Proteſtant Religion; who by their Converſe with Romaniſts, had become Wavering and Inclinable to entertain Favourable Opinions of the Popiſh Tenents: And had alſo ſeveral Encounters with divers Jeſuits and Romiſh Prieſts (once more particularly with the Prior of the Engliſh Benedictines at Paris) in which he acquitted himſelf with ſo much Learning and ſound Reaſoning, that he utterly defeated the Suſpicions of his Enemies, and much Exceeded the very Expectations of his Friends. Nor were there wanting very great Offers of Preferments, would he in the leaſt have been Tempted with them, to alter his Religion: So very ſteady and unmoved did he continue in the Profeſſion of the Proteſtant Perſuaſion, notwithſtanding the vile and wicked Calumnies and Clamours of the Party againſt him, his being barbaroufly ſtripp'd of ſo many very conſiderable Preferments, Peeled and Plundered of all the Moveables he had, and at laſt driven, like a Vagabond, into Foreign Countries, for being a Papiſt. After theſe, and all his Other Troubles, it pleaſed God that he lived to ſee the King and Church Reſtored, was the Firſt Perſon that read Common-Prayer in Peterborough-Cathedral, after that Happy Day, was, in the latter End of the ſame Year, deſervedly Advanced to the Biſhoprick of Durham, and died Poſſeſſed of it in 1674, in the Seventy Eighth Year of his Age. Whilſt he continued in the Univerſity of Cambridge, he was reputed a Man Eminent for Learning, Prudence, Judgment and Piety: His Magnificence, Hoſpitality, Patience under Sufferings, moſt Chriſtian Exits, and more eſpecially his great Charity, are largely accounted for by Dr. Boſtere the Writer of his Life: Out of whom I ſhall here add ſome Particulars of the Laſt. He made an Addition of Sixteen Pounds per Ann. to the Vicaridge of St. Andrew's Aukelund; he erected a Chapel likewiſe in the Caſtle of Aukeland, and left Legacies for the Repair and Furniture of Two Chapels more, at the Time of his Death. He Founded Five Scholerſhips in Peter-Houſe, Three in Caius-College in Cambridge, and gave Eight Pounds per Annum to the Stock of each College. He gave Legacies to Two Schools at Durham, and to the Private Library there. He left Money to the Poor, and to the Priſoners of all the Places where he had Relation, either by Birth or Preferment; as alſo to ſeveral of the Country Poor. He ordered Money for the Redemption of Chriſtian Slaves, and left a Legacy towards the Repairing of St. Paul's Cathedral. Very many other were the Bequeſts which he made at the time of his Death; Inſomuch that it was computed, he had ſpent (including theſe Legacies) 2000 l. for every Year that he ſate Biſhop of Durham, in Pious and Charitable Uſes: So that he juſtly purchaſed the Character of the moſt Munificent Biſhop (notwithſtanding he had Sixty Seven Predeceſſors) that ever ſate in that See.

Gunt. Hiſt. of Peterborough, p. 139.

Querel Cantab. p. 7.

Vit. 100 l.

JOHN QUARLES, . Arch-deacony of Northampton.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 243.

The only Authority that I have for placing him here, as the Sufferer, is, that he was Poſſeſſed of this Dignity in the Year 1640, and was living after the Reſtoration.

——, . Arch-deacony of Peterborough.

ROBERT SIBTHORP, D. D. Prebend, And Burton-Latimers R. in Northampton-ſhire, ... } Brackley V. ſaith Lloyd Mem. p. 278.

He had been of Lincoln-College in Oxon; but leaving the Univerſity without any Degree, he became Rector of Water-Stretford in Bucks, Vicar of Brackley in Northamptonſhire, D. D. in 1624, and at laſt had the Two Preferments above-named, beſtowed upon him. He was alſo made Chaplain to his Majeſty, for ſtiffly aſſerting his Cauſe and Prerogative, and promoting the Loan of Money, without the Knowledge and Aſſiſtance of the Parliament. To that Purpoſe he had Preach'd a Sermon at the Aſſizes at Northampton, about 1627; for which he was call'd in Queſtion by the Parliament, and (for ought I can judge, deſervedly) cenſured by them. When the Rebellion broke out, the Party to be ſure, would not be unmindful of ſuch a Man as this was; and accordingly I find they began betimes with him, and Diſpoſſeſſed him of his Preferments ſo very early, that, if I miſtake not, he made way for a * Second Perſon to ſuffer in this Prebend. During the Uſurpation he underwent great Calamities, and once particularly was Forced to fly for his Life in the Habit of his Cook. He was likewiſe Plunder'd of all that he had. But he Out-liv'd the Troubles, was Reſtored to his Rectory (and Prebend, ſaith Wood, as is before obſerved) and died in the Year 1662. Wood ſaith, that he had been a Fierce Perſecutor of the Puritans in the Neighbourhood of Water-Stretford, and that he was a Perſon of little Learning and few Parts, and only made it his Buſineſs by Forwardneſs and Flattery, to gain Preferment. But Lloyd ſeems to give another turn to his Character, makes him a Man of Worth and Piety, and tells us, that Biſhop Towers, in his Letter to the Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, wiſhed Sibthorp as heartily in the Deanery, as himſelf in the Palace.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 180.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 278, &c.

* Wood ſaith, that he was Reſtored in 1660, to this Prebend? Let him reconcile that, with an Account which I have received of the Sequeſtred Prebendaries in this Church, I cannot tell; for I do not find his Name among them. So that poſſibly long Sequeſtred in the very beginning of the Troubles, to make room for his Prebend (for I cannot think the Biſhop would take any notice of his unlawful Ejection by the Parliament) and made way for one of thoſe after-named. Ent Quere.

Ibid.

See in Wood what he Publiſhed.

SYMON GUNTON, A. M. Firſt Prebend.

Of whom I know nothing more, ſave that he was Educated in Cambridge, and was the learned Author of the Hiſtory of this Cathedral.

ROBERT WILLIAMSON, D. D. Second Prebend.

He had been Fellow of Magdalen College in Oxford.

Gunt. Hiſt. of Peterb.

WILLIAM ZOUCH, A. M. Third Prebend.

He was an Oxford Man.

Ibid.

JOHN POCKLINGTON, D. D. Fourth Prebend.

See Windſor. He was depriv'd of this and his Other Preferments, in the Beginning of the Troubles, and ſo made room for a Succeſſor and Second Sufferer; who was

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 160.

WIL-

Digitized by Google

WILLIAM TOWERS, B. D. Fourth Prebend, And Barnack, R. in Northamptonshire, . .

Wood, Ibid.

He was Son to Dr. Towers, the Suffering Bishop of this Church; had been Student of Corpus-Church in Oxon, was collated to this Prebend about the latter End of 1642, and about Two Years after had the Living conferred on him. But he received no Profits from either of them; because he was forced at first to betake himself to the Garrison of Oxford, for the Security of his Person; and afterwards, being dispossessed of them both, to subsist himself on mean Places and Employments; one of which was the Curacy of Upton near Northampton. He was however countenanced by the Lord Newport; and surviving the Usurpation, he was Re-possessed of his Preferments, had the Living of Fitburton near Lincoln added to them, died in 1666, and left behind him the Character of a Loyal and Religious Person.

See in Wood what he wrote.

WILLIAM HAILES, A. M. Fifth Prebend, And Glaston, R. in Rutlandshire, worth about 120 l. per Ann. . . . .

He was a Reverend and Worthy Person, and served the Cure Two Years after his Sequestration; for which the Men of the Times would not allow him One Farthing. 'At length he was 'forced to Retire with his Wife and Six Chil-'dren. His Books and Houshold Goods being 'seized on by several Parties of Horse, were a-'gain Three Times bought by his Wife and 'Friends: The last Party of Horse entred into 'their Inventory the Pot hanging over the Fire; 'upon which the good Gentlewoman asked them, 'whether they intended To enter the Beef and 'Pudding boyling in it for the Children's Dinner? 'They said no; for They intended to eat that 'when their Business was over. Then the said, 'Pray Gentlemen, be pleased to enter my Children 'among the Rest of the Goods; no, said they, 'we 'intend to leave them to you in lieu of your Fifths. 'And they were as good as their Words; for 'tho' there were several successive Intruders, none 'of them paid her the Fifths according to the 'Ordinance of Parliament, excepting Mr. Thomas 'Phillips, who took great care constantly to pay 'them, and wherever Providence disposed of them, 'he would find them out; and upon the King's 'being Proclaimed, before his Return, sent to 'Mr. Hailes, and invited him to come and take 'Possession of his Living. I the rather mention 'the latter Part of this Relation, for the great Ra-'rity of it; and should gladly have told the Story, 'if Mr. Phillips had in Reality been (what the A-'bridgment would make him) an Ejected Minister; 'but from This Account, 'tis plain he was not so; 'and what is more, he also died in the actual 'Service of a considerable Cure at Elton.

ROBERT SUMNER, A. M. Sixth Prebend.

Comm. Ibid.

He was also Rector of Northbrugh. Quere if he lost this Rectory also.

——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.
——— ———, . Minor-Canonry.

This Church consists of a Bishop, Dean, Six Prebendaries, Eight Petty-Canons, Four Students in Divinity, one Epistler, one Gospeller, a Sub-dean, Sub-Treasurer, and Chaunter. If such of these Officers, &c. (as are not before-mention'd in the Account of this Church) be not chosen out of the Prebendaries and Minor-Canons, then there must be Nine Persons more added to this List.

Gunt. Hist. p. 116.

ROCHESTER.

JOHN WARNER, D. D. Bishoprick.

He was Born in the Parish of St. Clement's Danes, faith Lloyd; but Wood is positive that he was Elected Demie of Magdalen-College in Oxon, as a Native of the County of Surry. In 1605, he became Fellow of that House; afterwards Rector of St. Dionyse Back-church, London, Chaplain to his Majesty, Prebendary of Canterbury (to which Cathedral he gave a most curious and beautiful Font) Governor of Sion-College, Dean of Lichfield; and in 1637, was Promoted to this See. When the Seeds of Rebellion and Anarchy began to ripen, in 1641, 'He shewed himself a most zealous Af-'fertor of Episcopacy in the House of Lords, speak-'ing for the Function as long as he had any 'Voice left, and very Pertinently and Valiantly 'defended the Antiquity and Justice of Bishops 'Votes in the House of Parliament. Afterwards 'he did not only suffer with his Brethren, by 'having the Lands of his See taken away, but 'by Compounding for his Temporal Estate, 'which was considerable. However by thus parting with some of his Estate to save the rest, he was inabled to assist his suffering Brethren; and was accordingly a great Support to the Sequestred Clergy and their Families, as well as to other indigent Persons, often using this homely Expression, faith Lloyd, That he did eat the Cragg Ends of the Neck of Mutton himself, that he might leave the Poor the Shoulders. He was one of those Bishops that lived to see the King and Church Restored, and died in 1666, in the Eighty Sixth Year of his Age. He was noted for a good School-Divine, and one well read in the Fathers; but he was more especially eminent for his great Charity; as a most noble Monument of which, he left his Personal Estate for the erecting an Hospital near this Cathedral-Church, for the Maintenance of Twenty Poor Widows of Orthodox and Loyal Clergy-men, to each of which he allotted Twenty Pounds per An. and appointed them a Chaplain, with a Stipend of Fifty Pounds Yearly. He gave a Thousand Pounds to Augment the Library of Magdalen-College, and Five Hundred Pounds to that of Rochester, for the same Use; One Thousand Pounds for the Repair of Rochester-Cathedral; One Thousand and Fifty Pounds for that of St. Paul, and Two Thousand Pounds to purchase Impropriations for the smalleft Vicaridges in the Diocefs of Rochester. He likewise Founded the Four Scotch Exhibitions in Balliol-College, and gave several other Charitable Legacies.

Lloyd, Memoirs, p. 602. Wood, Ath. Vol. III. p. 258.

* But first had the Living of St. Michael Crooked-Lane, which he Refigned. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 321, where also see more of his Charities.

See also Fuller's Church Hift. L. 11. Cent. 17. p. 183.

818, faith Lloyd, by mistake.

THOMAS TURNER, D. D. Deanery. See Canterbury-Cathedral.

* Canterbury, saith Mr Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 332.

ELIZEUS BURGESS, . Archdeaconry of Rochester.

What few Things he wrote, see in Wood.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 192. Vol. II. p. 827.

See the Church of Ely, and Quære.

Digitized by Google

Mere. Ruft. p. 222.

—— LARKEN, . Prebend. I find him so about the Middle of August 1642; which is the only Authority I have for his being a Sufferer. Nor do I know any thing more of him, save that endeavouring to prevent the Rebels from Destroying the Rails about the Altar of the Cathedral, they Discharged a Piſtol or Carbine at him, but, by God's Providence, miſs him.

—— —— , . Prebend.
—— —— , . Prebend.
—— —— , . Prebend.
—— —— , . Prebend.
—— —— , . Prebend.
—— —— , . Minor-Canonry.
—— —— , . Minor-Canonry.

Or what other Title is given to Thoſe of this Cathedral that perform the Daily Service of it; who, I preſume, cannot be Leſs than Two.

The Old Books of this Church are Loſt; but the Blank-Prebends might have been Filled up out of the Inſtruments of Collation of their immediate Succeſſors after the Reſtoration (if the Predeceſſor is mentioned in them as uſual) had I been able to obtain that Favour: Which, I can aſſure the Reader, I did not miſs of for want of Asking.

SALISBURY.

Vivad. Ath. Vol. II. p. 176. Fuller's Anſ. to Bart. Grov. Reflg. p. 136, 141. See alſo Pud. Ch. Hiſt. Cent. 17. L. 11. p. 176.

JOHN DAVENANT, D.D. Biſhoprick. Though this Right Reverend Prelate died in the Year 1641; yet he had a Taſte of the Miſeries and Sufferings which were then coming in Fuller Meaſure upon the Church. But his Succeſſor indeed drank much Deeper of that Bitter Cup; who was

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 176.

BRYAN DUPPA, D. D: Biſhoprick. He was Born at Greenwich in Kent; but his Father was, as Wood conjectures, Vicar of Lemſham in that County; at which Place Lloyd ſaith, this Excellent Prelate was Born: Although the firſt-mention'd Author thinks it was Another Brother of the ſame Chriſtian Name (who died young) that was Born and Chriſten'd there. He was Elected Student of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, from Weſtminſter-School in the Year 1605; and ſome Years after was choſen Fellow of All-Souls-College in that Univerſity: Afterwards he was unanimouſly choſen Proctor, and as unanimouſly Approved in the Execution of that Office; being not only a moſt Excellent Scholar, but a Man of a very Genteel Perſonage and Behaviour. After that he became Chaplain to the Earl of Dorſet, then to the Prince Palatine, as alſo to his Majeſty, and Tutor to the Two Princes Charles and James. About the Year 1626, he was made Dean of Chriſt-Church; and whilſt in that Station, executed the Office of Vice-Chancellor with great Prudence. About the ſame time he became Chancellor of this Church, and obtained the Rich Living of Petworth in Suſſex; was ſoon after Promoted to the See of Chicheſter, and thence Tranſlated to this See. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he Suffered in common with the Reſt of his Order: And being Stripp'd of his Large Revenues, Retired firſt to the King at Oxford, and afterwards continu'd to Attend him in the Iſle of Wight, and elſewhere, until the time of his moſt Barbarous Murther. Whilſt he thus waited upon his Majeſty, he was intruſted by him with Matters of the greateſt Moment and Concern; particularly with ſupplying the Vacant Biſhopricks; and was continu'd in the ſame Truſt under King Charles II. during the Uſurpation. After his Royal Maſter was Beheaded, he went to Richmond in Surry, where he ſpent moſt of his Time in Great Devotion and Solitude, until the Year 1660; when he was Tranſlated to Winchester, to the great Joy and Satisfaction of very many of the Nobility, Gentry and Clergy. About the ſame time he was likewiſe made Lord Almoner; but lived a very little while to enjoy theſe Honours: For he died March 26, 1662. He was a Perſon of great Prudence and Piety, of Excellent Parts, and of a Generous Spirit, a moſt Exquiſite Preacher, and every way qualified for his Great Function. The *Comeline*ſs of his Perſon and *Graceful*neſs of his Deportment, were very Peculiar. And as they Render'd him fit for, ſo they very much Recommended him to the Court. His Majeſty did him the Honour to Viſit him more than once, in his Laſt Sickneſs; and on his Bended Knees Receiv'd his Bleſſing at his Beds-ſide. He Died, as he Lived, Honour'd and Belov'd of all that knew him; and with ſuch a Clear and Eminent Character, that he left not the leaſt Spot on his Life or Function, even amongſt thoſe who were moſt ready to Blacken and Revile each of them; being a Great Example of Vertue and Godlineſs.

He after-wards Erected a Noble Alms-houſe there.

And ſucceeded in this See by Dr. Humphrey Henchman.

As I think in ſome of the Letters and Papers.

What ſome Things in Wood, were moſtly Devotional.

Which ſee in Wood.

He gave 1000 l. to St. Paul's.

RICHARD BAYLY, D. D. Deanery. See St. John's College in Oxford.

HUMPHRY HENCHMAN, D. D. Chaunterſhip, Canonry-Reſident. . . . . . And Prebend of Teynton Reg. cum Talmpton.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 312.

He was a Native of the City of London, became Fellow of Clare-Hall in Cambridge, was promoted to the Chaunrry, Jan. 20, 1622, on the Death of Henry Cotton; to the Prebend, Jan. 5, 1638, on the Death of Sam. Proctor, and had ſome time the Prebend of South-Grantham in this Church, which he Reſigned, and was ſucceeded in it by Alexander Hyde, the ſame Day that he was Admitted to the Prebend of Teynton. He was very inſtrumental in Forwarding his Majeſty's Eſcape to France, after the Unhappy Battle at Worceſter; was much in the Eſteem of that Prince, Promoted by him to the See of this Church in 1660, upon the Tranſlation of Dr. Duppa to Wincheſter, afterwards Removed to London, and made Lord Almoner. He Died in 1675, and gave 767 Pounds to St. Paul's.

As alſo that of Vaſeburg; which he Voided, and was Succeeded May 8, 1639, by Edm. Gough. He was ſucceeded into the Chaunctry and Prebend, Nov. 17, 1660, by Thomas Hyde.

WILLIAM CHILLINGWORTH, A.M. Chancellorſhip.*

 He was not Inſtituted into the Rectory to be Created D. D. with other Loyaliſts, at Oxford, in 1642; but ſome not to take that Degree: Nor was he Diſpoſſeſſed.*

The Miracle of his Age for Reaſoning, and the celebrated Author of The Religion of Proteſtants a ſafe Way, &c. He had his Birth, as well as Education, in Oxford; had the Renowned Dr. Laud for his Godfather, the famous Edward Sylveſter for his Schoolmaſter, and was ſucceſſively Scholar and Fellow of Trinity-College in that University. Falling into the Acquaintance of Fiſher the Jeſuit, he was ſeduced by that crafty Miſſionary to the Religion of Rome, and preſently upon it Retire to the Jeſuits College at St. Omer. But about the Year 1631, he Returned again to the Church of England, and Teſtified the Sincerity of his Converſion, firſt by a Recantation, and afterwards by the Immortal Book above-mentioned; for which he was Rewarded with this Dignity, July the 20th 1638, on the Promotion of Dr. Duppa to

To the Promotion of this See in 1639, and to the Latter in 1641.

Digitized by Google

to the Bishoprick of Chichester. When the Civil Wars broke out, he suffered much for the King's Cause, and was forced to go from Place to Place for Succour, as Opportunity served. I find him some time in Durance in the Tower, for Words against the Parliament. But at length breaking himself to Arundel-Castle in Sussex, he served as an Engineer in that Garrison; and was taken Prisoner, when it was Surrender'd to the Parliament; but had the Favour of being sent to Chichester (and not marched to London with the rest of the Prisoners, by reason of his Indisposition) at the Instance of Dr. *Cosyn*ell. However, 'As soon as his Person was known, which would have drawn Reverence from any Noble Enemy, the Clergy that attended that Army, Prosecuted him with all the Inhumanity imaginable; so that by their Barbarous Usage he died within a few days, to the Grief of all that knew him, and of many who knew him not, but by his Book, and Reputation which he had with Learned Men. His Death hapned on the 20th of January, 164$\frac{4}{5}$, in the Bishop's House at Chichester; which was the Place of his Confinement. He Requested to be Buried by the Common-Prayer, but that Favour was utterly denied him. Instead of it, a certain Minister of the Times stood at the Grave ready to receive the Corps, with Mr. Chillingworth's Book against the Papists in his Hand; and after having made a Ridiculous Speech to the Company, as well concerning the Author as his Book, he threw it into the Grave, and said, Get thee gone, thou Cursed Book, which hast seduced so many precious Souls: Get thee gone, thou corrupt rotten Book, Earth to Earth, Dust to Dust: Get thee gone into the Place of Rottenness, that thou mayst Rot with thy Author, and see Corruption. After which he went into the Cathedral-Church, and there Preached a Sermon on these Words, Let the Dead bury their Dead. Mr. Chillingworth was a most Noted Philosopher and Orator, and so good a Poet, that Sir John Suckling allotted him a Place in his Session. He was also an Excellent Mathematician, and served the King at several of his Garrisons; particularly at Gloucester, and Arundel-Castle before-mentioned. But at Arguments and Disputations he Excelled in to Eminent a Degree, that it used to be said in the University, If the Great Turk or Devil were to be converted, Chillingworth and my Lord Falkland were able to do it. It must not be concealed, that on his Return from the Romish Religion, he had a Tincture of Socinianism; but as he was a Man of Integrity, to his Afterwards accepting of Preferment in the Church of England, and Subscribing to the Articles of it, is an undeniable Evidence of his having Quitted those Principles. At his Death, he left 400 l. to the City of Oxford, for Charitable Uses. I have nothing more to add of him, but that his Death happening so soon, that there was a second Sufferer in the Chancellorship, viz.

Clarend. Hist. Pt. II. p. 423.

See Fuller's Worth. in Oxfordshire

Mr. Chillingworth was also Author of Wrightson's Hospit. in Leicestershire; and had not been Formally Sequester'd of it at the time of his Death. But whether the Executors of his were detained or kept back from him any time, I cannot say, and for Mr. Meredith of Peter's Coll.

JOHN EARLE, D. D. Chancellorship, And
* Bishopsdon, R. in Wilts. . . .

* If I do not mistake Wood. Vol. II p. 251.

This most Reverend, Learned, and Pious Person was Born in the City of York, became Fellow of Merton-College in Oxford, Proctor of that University, Chaplain to Philip Earl of Pembroke (who Presented him to the Rectory of Bishopsdon before-named) Tutor to Prince Charles, and Feb. 10, 1643, was Promoted to this Dignity. He was also Elected one of the Assembly of Divines, but refused to Sit among them; and instead of it, Suffered, and was Deprived of all he had, for Adhering to King Charles I. was in Exile with his Royal Son; during some part of that time, was made his Chaplain and Clerk of the Closet; and when his Majesty came to possess his Throne, was Preferred to the Deanery of Westminster, thence to the Bishoprick of Worcester; and in 1663, on the Promotion of Dr. Henchman to the Bishoprick of London, was Translated to the See of this Church; in possession of which he Died in the Year 1665, at University-College in Oxford, whither he had Followed the Court, which Retired from London on account of the Plague. He had been in his Younger Years an Excellent Orator and Poet, and in his more Advanced ones, was an Admirable Preacher and Disputant. He was also very much a Gentleman, a Contemner of the World; Religious, and most worthy the Office of a Bishop; a Person of the sweetest and most obliging Nature that lived in the Age; and one, than whom None since the Death of Mr. Hooker, had been bless'd with more innocent Wisdom, more sanctified Learning, or a more pious, peaceable, and Primitive Temper. To which Accords this Part of his Epitaph, Rich. Drake Bod. Chancellorship continued upon same Foot by Dr. Alex. Hyde; as will be after said.

He was succeeded the same Year by

What he wrote, see in Wood.

Nec meruit unquam, nec quod majus est, habuit inimicum.
Qui potuit in Aula vivere, & Mundum spernere.

EDWARD DAVENANT, A.M. Treasurership, And Gillingham, V. in Dorsetshire. . . .

He was a Cantabrigian, had some time the Prebend of Ilfracombe in this Church; to which he was Collated in 1623; and that of Chute and Chesingbury, which he Vacated, and was Succeeded in it Nov. 19, 1634, by John Rogers. He was made Treasurer the last mentioned Day and Year, on the Death of John Lee, and held some time also the Arch-deaconry of Berkshire; which he Resigned, and was Succeeded Nov. 20, 1634, by John Rives. He had at the Time of his Sequestration, or at least under his Troubles, Twelve Children, viz. Seven Sons and Five Daughters. His Successor at Gillingham was one Theo. Andrews, who had been Organist at Warminster. Mr. Davenant lived to the Restoration; became D.D. as I suppose (because in some Informations which I received, I find that Title given him) continued possess'd of the Treasury till the time of his Death, which hapned in the Year 1679; and was Succeeded —— 22, 167$\frac{9}{80}$, by Dr. Tho. James, Warden of All-Souls, ex Prerog. Gib. Archiep.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 835.

See a Note at Nicholas Andrews in this Church.

THOMAS MARLER, B. D. Archdeaconry of Sarum.

* I only guess that he was a Sufferer, from the Time of his Death; which was about the Middle of 1643. However that may be, 'tis certain his Successor was a Sufferer, viz.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 830.

WILLIAM BUCKNER, Arch-deaconry of Sarum.

He was Admitted to this Arch-deaconry, Aug. 7, 1633, and died, as I conjecture, about the Year 1657. For Jan. 24, that Year, Anth. Hawles was Collated to the Arch-deaconry, as I find by the Register of this Church, per mortem Will. Buckner.

Bid. p. 810. Vol. II. p. 812.

How he came to be Collated under the Confessions, quære.

THOMAS LEACH, Arch-deaconry of Wilts. And Prebend of Bitton. . . . .

Lloyd, Mem. p. 604, &c.

He

Wood, Ath. Vol.II p.219.

He obtained this Arch-deaconry November 15, 1614, on the Death of Walter Bennet; died under the Usurpation, was succeeded in the Arch-deaconry, September 13, 1660, by William Creed, and in the Prebend, July 25, the same Year, by Anthony Hawles.

JOHN RYVES, L. L. B. Arch-deaconry of Berks, And Prebend of Gillingham-Major. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol.I p 833.

He was of New-College in Oxford, and had been Prebendary of Winchester; was collated to the Prebend of this Church March 1, 1625, and to the Arch-deaconry November 20, 1634, on the Resignation of Edward Davenant, and died Poſſeſſed of both theſe Preferments, Aug. 19, 1665. In the Arch-deaconry ſucceeded Peter Mews, and in the Prebend, Charles Pickering, both Aug. 30, that Year.

ALEXANDER HYDE, L.L.D. Sub-deanery, Prebend of South-Grantham, . . . And Wyley, R. in Wilts, worth 200*l. per Ann.* . . . . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol.II. p.668

He had a Wife and Six Children.

He was Son to Sir Laurence Hyde of Salisbury, Knight; was Born within the Pariſh of St. Mary's in that City, became Fellow of New-College in Oxford, had the Sub-deanery May 19, 1637, on the Death of Giles Thornborough, and the Prebend Jan. 5, 1638, per Ceſſ. Hum. Henchman. Soon after the Reſtoration, he was, by the Intereſt of his Kinſman, then Lord Chancellor, Promoted to the Deanery of Winchester; and on the Death of Dr. Earle, in 1665, to the Epiſcopal Chair of this Church, in Poſſeſſion of which he died Aug. 22, 1662: He was the Fourth of Eleven Sons, ſome of which were Knighted, others Sufferers for his Majeſty, and moſt (if not all) of them, eminent in their ſeveral Profeſſions.

He Reſigned the Sub-deanery, and was ſucceeded by Richard Hyde, Aug. 1. 1661. On his Promotion to this Biſhoprick, Thomas Lambert held this Prebend, Feb. 1, 1665; and on his Death Dr. Seth Ward ſucceeded in the See of Saliſbury, as I ſhall have occaſion to ſay in another Place.

WILLIAM CARTWRIGHT, A. M. Sub-Chauntership.

See the Church of Chicheſter, and Quere.

He died November 29, 1643; but whether he had then ſuffered in this Preferment, or not, is more than I * can expreſly affirm; tho' to me it ſeems probable that he had; not only becauſe ſeveral of the Cathedrals were in Confuſion long before that Time; but becauſe he was a great Loyaliſt, and had been Impriſoned at Oxford, with ſeveral others, by the Lord Say, in September 1642. The 13th of the following Month he had the Sub-Chauntership beſtowed upon him by Dr. Duppa, on the Death of Henry Steward (who it may be, had alſo ſuffered ſomething by that Time, Quere.) He was Born in Glouceſterſhire, Educated at Weſtminſter-School, became Student of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, † Proctor, and Metaphyſick Lecturer in that Univerſity, and was eſteemed the Wonder of his Age, a moſt Florid and Seraphical Preacher, another Tully and Virgil; was particularly ſkilled in the Greek Tongue, and one of the beſt Metaphyſicians that ever the Univerſity had; a rare Example of Practical Piety and Heroick Worth; a Perſon of ſo much Candor and Sweetneſs, that he was Beloved and Admired of every one, and often enquired for both by the King and Queen (then at Oxford) in his Sickneſs: In a Word, he was one in whom Arts, Learning and Language, made up the true Complement of Perfection. He was ſucceeded in the Sub-chauntry, by Wood, Ath. Vol.II p.146. where for what is Embelliſhed.

† to which Office he died.

ROBERT JOYNER, Sub-Chauntership, And Chew-Magna, V. in Somerſet, valued at 300*l.* a Year. . . . . .

He had the Former of theſe December 29, 1643. As to his Sufferings in the Vicaridge, he was barbaroufly 'dragg'd out of his Houſe, by the Hands 'of an Hypocritical and Fanatical Crew, and hurried away to Priſon; where he continued in a very 'mean Condition, till the Time of his Death. His 'Goods in the mean Time ſeized on by, and divided 'among the Sequeſtraters; his Family being a 'Son, and a Daughter, and a Wife great with 'Child, baniſhed into an obſcure Houſe belonging to the Vicaridge; where they were fed with Swines Food, even with the Husks of Corn, or Tail-Corn, by the Sequeſtrators; Or if any of his Neighbours or Pariſhioners, had a mind to ſend them any Support in their miſerable Condition, they were forced to do it privately and by ſtealth, for fear of being Plundered and Abuſed themſelves. The true Cauſes of his Sufferings, were his Loyalty, Learning, Orthodox Preaching, and Rich Benefice; but the pretended Ones were Scandal and Inſufficiency. I have heard likewiſe, that one of his chief Accuſations in particular, was Drunkenneſs; whereas he was remarkably Abſtemious, and 'tis well known, that when he viſited his Neighbours, he frequently drank Milk and Water. One of his chief Adverſaries was one Peter Lock, a Tanner; of which Reforming Saint, there goes this Story, 'That having ſold a piece of 'Leather to a Cobler juſt by, and this Cobler being 'Sick, and like to Die; out of pure Charity, to 'be ſure, he went to Pray by the ſick Man: and 'having out of a Pretence, made a long Prayer, he 'ſtole away the poor Man's Leather from under 'his Bed, and very devoutely retired. Of this Fellow, and moſt of the reſt of Mr. Joyner's chief Adverſaries, whom I could name, 'it was after-'wards obſerved, that the Diſpleature of Providence was manifeſted againſt them, by various 'remarkable Judgments; ſome of them coming 'to untimely Ends, others having Monſtrous, Deformed Children; others ſuffering great and judiciary Miſfortunes in their Goods, &c. Mr. Joyner's Succeſſor was one Stubbs, who had been a Preacher in Briſtol, and was by the Factious Part of his Pariſh, brought over to it as a Lecturer; until they had at length amongſt them, made a-ſhift to turn out the poor Vicar, and ſubſtitute this Fellow in his room. He uſed to hold forth for ſeveral Hours together; but as powerful a Preacher as they eſteem'd him, he was frequently obliged in the middle of his Sermon to cry out, Awake Sinners, after he had firſt Droned them aſleep with his Cant. The preciſe Time of Mr. Joyner's Death I cannot learn; but he had the Repute among all honeſt and well diſpoſed Men, of a very Sober, Learned and good Man, of a Laborious, Edifying Preacher, Charitable, Kind, and Inoffenſive in his Converſation. There was one Robert Joyner of Pembroke-College in Oxford, created B. D. in that Univerſity an. 1642, at a Time when ſeveral Scotiſh Loyaliſts were created there in the ſeveral Faculties. If he was not the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Joyner of Chew, he ſhould be ſet down in a diſtinct Article: for 'tis probable he had been Sequeſtred ſome where or other.

September 6, 1660, John Stephens ſucceeded in the Sub-Chaunter's-Place.

Called* Dumbers. I have been further informed, That they employed Kuffianno to go and pull him headlong out of his Houſe; and that After they had barbaroufly dragg'd him out, others were and ſeized on his Cows, and a goodſtock elſe he had then on his Glebe, ſold all, and converted the Money to their own vile Uſes: And he and his Family came afterwards to moſt extream Poverty and Want.

Ent. in the Death of Mr. Joyner, Rector Chew Magna.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p 560

See what is was under the Usurpation.

Wood, Ath. Vol.II p.766

MATTHEW

Digitized by Google

MATTHEW NICHOLAS, D. D. Canonry-Resid. And Prebend of Gillingham-Minor. . . . .

See the Church of Bristol. Jan. 7, 1661, John Houghton was Admitted to this Prebend, per mort. Mat. Nicholas: Which is the only Authority I have for the Doctor's being the Sufferer in it.

JOHN BARNSTON, D. D. Canonry-Resid. He was Born in Cooshire, had been Fellow of Brazen-Nose-College in Oxford; where he Founded a Hebrew-Lecture, and Endowed it with Six Pounds a Year. He was sometime Chaplain to the Lord Chancellor Egerton, and died in 1645; being then Outed of his Spiritualties. It seems not improbable, that he might also have one or other of the Prebends of this Church, and suffer in that also. Quære.

Wood, Ant. L. 2 p. 215. Ath. Vol. I. p 821.

About 1642. saith Fuller, Worth. in Cheshire. But that is plainly a Mistake. See where an Instance of his Piety and Charity.

THOMAS MASON, B. D. Canonry-Resid. And Prebend of South-Alton. . . . . .

I am not informed of the Christian Name of this Residentiary; but take it for granted, that he was the same Person with Thomas Mason the Prebendary of South-Alton. He obtained that Prebend Aug. 25, 1624, and vacated it by Death, before September 17, 1660, when he was succeeded in it by Thomas Lockey.

One Thomas Mason, B.D. was admitted to the Rectory of Lithengton, in Midd. October 16, 1616. Smart Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 689.

EDWARD THORNBOROUGH, D. D. Canonry-Resid. And Prebend of Preston. . . . . . .

See Worcester-Cathedral. October 6, 1643, Thomas Triplet had this Prebend, as I muſt say by and by, per mort. Edw. Thornborough: So that if Dr. Thornborough ſuffered in it before his Death (as ſeems very probable; but Quære) there were Two Sufferers in it. See Thomas Triplet in this Church.

* WILLIAM OSBORN, D. D. Canonry-Resid. And Prebend of Chardstock. . . . . .

* If the Canon-Resid. was the ſame Perſon with the Prebend (as I conjecture he was) this was his Chriſtian Name.

He had the Prebend beſtowed on him December 18, 1613. The ſame Day and Month, 1660, William Pain was collated to it. I have ſome Reaſon to think, that Dr. Osborn lived to the Reſtoration.

RICHARD STUART, . Prebend of North-Alton.

I take him to be the ſame Perſon with Dr. Richard Stuart, the ſuffering Dean of St. Paul's; which Church ſee. Aug. 22, 1660, Francis Horton obtained this Prebend, per mort. Richard Stuart: Which is my only Authority for making him the Sufferer in it.

JOHN CARSE, . Prebend of Bedminſter and Ratcliff.

He had this Prebend May 19, 1637, on the Death of Giles Thornborough; and is the laſt that appears before the Wars, in an Extract which I have, of Part of the Regiſter of this Church. This is all the Authority I have for making him the Sufferer in it. September 9, 1660, Francis Horton obtained this Prebend; but it is not ſaid how Vacated. The ſame Day Richard Drake had the Prebend of North-Alton, which I preſume Horton had then Reſigned.

Which if the former be ſo, Regiſter are imperfect, and the Date of Stuart's Death, &c. is conſequently ſufficient to the Reader in the Caſe as it is underſtood the ſame, of all the reſt whom I ſhall mention in theſe Churches.

GILBERT HYND, . Prebend of Bemiſter Prima.

July 21, 1660, Thomas Lockey had this Prebend, per mort. Gilbert Hynd; ſo that he muſt not only have been the Sufferer in it, but have died under the Uſurpation.

THOMAS LUSHINGTON, D. D. Prebend of Bemiſter Secunda, And Burnham-Weſtgate, R. in Norfolk. . .

Wood. Ath. Vol. II p 171.

He was Born at Sandwich in Kent, and Educated partly at Pembroke, and partly at Lincoln-College in Oxford. June 23, 1631, he obtained this Prebend, on the Promotion of Dr. Corbet to the Biſhoprick of Oxford; who having a great Eſteem for him, made him his Chaplain, got him Preferred to ſerve his Majeſty alſo in the ſame Capacity, and conferred on him the Rectory above-named. When the grand Rebellion broke out, he was forced to live obſcurely in ſeveral Places, and Publiſh'd Books to get a Maintenance; but on the Return of his Majeſty in 1660, he was Reſtored to his Preferments, and had the Tender made him of a Deanery, if I miſtake not; but being Old and Infirm, he refuſed it; and died the Year after, Aged Seventy Two. He was indeed a learned Man, but I wiſh I could honeſtly omit him; for his Tranſlating the Socinian Comment on the Hebrews, plainly ſhews, that he was infected with that Hereſie; and his Sermon on the Reſurrection (lately Re-printed with a Collection of other Prophane Pieces, under the Title of the Phœnix) ſhews him, I doubt, to be ſomething worſe. June 11, 1661, William Hobbs obtained the Prebend, per mort. Thomas Luſhington.

Beniſ omiſ. has exactus, innocui Vitam tolerantia, & conſtantia. Ath. Oxon. reprint. in. L. 2. p. 111. Socini Works in Wood.

My Extract mentions the Prebend of Biſwbery in this Church, but takes no notice of any Incumbents on it.

ROGER CLARKE, A. M. Prebend of Biſhopſton, And Aſhmore, R. in Dorſetſhire. . . .

That he was a ſuffering Prebendary of this Church, I am aſſured; but that Biſhopſton was his Prebend, is only Conjecture. My Extract of the Regiſter is Defective in accounting for the Incumbents on Three of the Prebends before the Wars; viz. Thu. that of Darnford, and that of Stratton. No Collation appears on the Regiſter, as I conjecture, to the Second of theſe, after the Reſtoration, until the latter End of 1662; nor to the laſt, until 1663: So that 'tis not improbable, the Sufferers in them might be Reſtored, and ſeverally live till Thoſe Years. But the Prebend of Biſhopſton was filled Aug. 4, 1660, with Henry Kinnaſton (though 'tis not ſaid how Vacated) and Sarabb. Roger Clark in the Appendix, whoſe Son he was.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Clark dying before the Reſtoration, it ſeems moſt Probable that This was his Prebend. However quære. See alſo a Note at Dr. Chaffin in this Church.

He was Educated in the Univerſity of Oxford; was a Man of Great Worth, Repute and Piety; and Married a Gentlewoman of a very good Family, with whom he had a conſiderable Fortune. When the Rebellion broke out, he adhered Immovably to his Majeſty's Cauſe, and betook himſelf to the Army under my Lord Hopton; for which he was Plunder'd of all that he had, the Soldiers Tearing abroad the very Beds, and Scattering the Feathers out of the Ticking: Which, tho' Villanous in a peculiar manner was however the leaſt part of thoſe Monſtrous Barbarities that they Exerciſed on this miſerable Family: For 'they took the 'Two Young Sons, being Twins, 'the Elder named Roger, and 'the Other, Richard, and laid 'them ſtark-naked in a Dripping-'Pan before the Fire, with a 'Deſign to Roaſt them: But a 'certain Woman, whoſe Name 'was —— Pope, came and ſnat-'ched them from the Violence of the Fire, and 'carried them away in her Apron. The Mother 'was ſtript of all Cloathing, except her Shift and 'Petticoat. Mr. Clark himſelf having been before Diſpoſſeſſed by the Committee, for Refuſing the Covenant, and Forced to Fly, they ſet 100 l. upon his Head, as a Reward to any one that ſhould Apprehend him: But it ſeems, he got ſafe, with his Wife and Younger Son, into Herefordſhire; where they were all privately Succour'd, and Maintained by the Charity of a good Lady, who was Aunt to my Lord Hopton. But during his Abode in thoſe Parts, he was Twice Impriſoned for having either Said or Done ſomething in Favour of Penruddock's and Booth's Riſing; the one time he was confined in Cheſſlow-Caſtle, and the other in that of Monmouth. He died Two Years before the Reſtoration.

I ſhould ſcarce have ventured to Relate this Horrible Outrage, had I not received the Account of it from the unqueſtionable Hands of the Reverend Mr. Archdeacon Hill, who wrote it from the Mouth of the Younger Son Richard, after named. Both which are, and I preſume, ſtill in (if Active) Rector of Pendlewood in Somerſetſhire.

JOHN ROGERS. . Prebend of Chute and Chefingbury.

He had this Prebend, Nov. 19, 1634; on a Vacancy made by Edward Dawnant; and is the laſt that Occurs in my Extracts, before the Rebellion. Sept. 8, 1660. Jeſ. Tucker obtained it, on the Death of Rogers, as I believe.

JOHN CHAPPELL, . Prebend of Combe and Harnham.

He came to this Prebend, Sept. 2, 1614, Survived the Uſurpation, as I find, and was Reſtored to his Prebend: For Aug. 19, 1672, Seth Ward obtained it per mortem Johan. Chappell.

THOMAS CHAFFIN, D. D. Prebend of Darnford, Fouent, R. And Mecne, R. } in Wilſhire.

Where this Reverend Perſon was Born, or in what Univerſity he had his Education, I am not Informed; but bearing the Name of an Ancient Family in the Neighbouring County of Dorſet, it ſeems probable to me that he might be Related to it; eſpecially conſidering that he was, as I find, a Man of ſo much Note in his Country, as to be in the Commiſſion of Peace. One Dr Chaffin was ſoon after the breaking out of the Rebellion, ſent for by the Houſe of Commons as a Delinquent. I take him to have been the ſame Perſon with this Dr. Chaffin. But be that as it will, 'tis certain this Worthy Dr. was 'by the Oliverian Soldiers dragged out of his Houſe, and barbaroufly Abuſed by one of the Soldiers; who kick'd him in the Privy-Members, and afterwards forced him to Mount on a poor Galled Horſe's Back, without Saddle; and ſo in that diſgraceful manner they carried him to Fiſherton-Priſon, where he continued ſome few Weeks; but finding him to grow Weaker, they ſent him home; where after a few days, he died with the Anguiſh of the aforeſaid Grief: Plundering his Houſe and Stable of all his Goods and Horſes; leaving his Relict and Family in a Forlorn and Mean Condition. 'Tis ſaid, that his Death hapned about the Year 1648. But for the Reaſons mentioned at large in the Margin, quære whether it might not be ſome Years ſooner.

I am aſſured that he had Preferment in this Church, but what it was, the Gentleman could not inform me. The Dignities, &c. I muſt all fail, and his Name not obſervable occurring in any of them, 'tis plain he can have been no other than a Prebendary. But then I am at much a loſs what Prebend to aſſign him. The Incumbents of Three of the Prebends before the Wars, are, as I have already ſaid, Unaccounted for in my Extracts. To Biſhopſton, which is One of them, I have aſſigned Mr. Roger Clark (whom for) through the Death of this Dr. before the Wars, given him, as I conjecture, an Equal Title with Mr. Clark, to the Prebend. March 11, 1668, Edmund Sly had This Prebend; and That was, as I conjecture, the Firſt Admiſſion to it, after the Reſtoration. And if ſo, I ſhould think it muſt have been Filled ſooner, had it been Vacated under the Rebellion, by the Death of Dr. Chaffin. The Other Prebend, viz. that of Stratton, doth not in the Extract appear Filled after the Reſtoration, till 1662; which makes it ſtill leſs probable that he was the Sufferer on that Prebend: And, as for the Truth of it, it ſeems moſt likely (grounded on his Death happed in the Beginning of the Wars, of which quære) that either Woodford and Willeford, or Yatminſter ſecunda (to the Former of which Tho. Gorges was Admitted Dec. 1, 1643; and to the Latter, John Wall on Nov. 1644) might be the Prebend of which he was Poſſeſſed. Other Perſons are indeed mentioned in my Extracts, by the Death of whom thoſe Prebends became Void, but then that Part of the Entry is croſs'd out, I ſuppoſe whether as being falſe, or deemed needleſs to be inſerted, becauſe both Gorges and Wall otherwiſe appear Sufferers (which was the End of my Enquiries) or whether that the Extractor did not think of Two Sufferers in the ſame Preferment. I know not. However if Dr. Chaffin had not Suffered in either of the Prebends laſt mentioned, 'tis probable the Prebendary in them, whoever they were, had been Sufferers. But if either the One or the Other of them was his Prebend, then This of Darnford muſt remain a Blank, till the Suffering Incumbent can be diſcovered.

EDWARD ONSLOW, . Prebend of Forthington and Writhlington.

He got this Prebend March 26, 1641; but it is not ſaid how it became Vacant. He out-lived the Uſurpation; was Reſtored, and died ſome time before June 24, 1667; when Tho. Wyatt was preferred to the Prebend, per mortem Ed. Onſlow.

JOHN STILL, A. M. Prebend of North-Grantham.

He had ſome time the Prebend of Yatminſter Prima on this Church, which he Reſigned upon the ſame time of his Admiſſion to this Prebend.

He came to it July 13, 1613, Lived to be Reſtored, and Died, as I gueſs, in 1662; becauſe May 29, that Year, Will. Groves ſucceeded to the Prebend, per mortem Johan. Still. I take him to have been the ſame Perſon with John Still, the Prebendary of Wells; which Church ſee.

JOHN COOTH, . Prebend of Grimſton and Yatminſter.

I believe he was the ſame Perſon with the Prebendary of Euſton in Cudano in the Church of Wells. Nov. 28, 1660, John Price ſucceeded in this Prebend per mortem Johan. Cooth. See this Church.

JOHN TOWNSON, D. D. Prebend of Highworth.

He had this Prebend, Oct. 16, 1633, on the Death of Robert Townſon; was Re-poſſeſſed of it after the Reſtoration, and died not till about Aug. 6, 1687; when Edm. Scarborough ſucceeded in it per mortem Johannis Townſon. So that he muſt have been Fifty Years a Prebendary of this Church. See one of Both theſe Names in the County of Wilts, and Quere.

JAMES

Digitized by Google

JAMES WHITE, . Prebend of Husborn and Burbach.

During the Usurpation he was reduced to such Poverty and Necessities, that at the time of his Death he left his Family in a miserable Condition; and they were constrained to sue for Relief from the Corporation for Ministers Widows, &c. which they accordingly Received.

(Which was some time before Nov. 12, 1661; when Sam. Scrope succeeded in that Prebend, per mortem Jac. White. So that, as he was, no doubt, Restored to his Prebend, so he enjoyed it but a very short time after.

NICHOLAS ANDREWS, . Prebend of Ufracombe.

He died, as I guess, under the Usurpation; because Aug. 20, 1660, Jer. Stephens had this Prebend, per mortem Nich. Andrews. And this is the only Authority I have for his being the Sufferer in it. I believe he was the same Person with the Sequestred Rector of Guildford, &c. in Surry; whom see, and quære.

(Died, Ath. Vol. II. p. 290. Search, that Edw. Davenant Resigned this Prebend to Jer. Stephens; but my Extract, in Exprest in the Entry here mentioned, tho' I confess, I suspect some Mistake in it; because Jer. Stephens is Twice set down without the Intervention of any other Person. The first time, Aug. 20, 1660, and then is immediately subjoyned, Jer. Stephens, Sept. 13, 1662. And therefore I quære. See Jer. Stephens in the Church of Lincoln.

RICHARD CHANDLER, . Prebend of Lyme and Halstock.

He obtained it May 8, 1634, per Lit. Mand. Archiep. Cant. and died, as I presume, under the Usurpation: For Sept. 13, 1660, Will. Creed was promoted to the Prebend, per mortem Rich. Chandler.

(Or Browne. ROBERT BOWRE, . Prebend of Maj. Par. Altaris.

He got this Prebend, Sept. 21, 1613, Out-liv'd the Rebellion, was Restored on the Return of his Majesty; and Vacating it by Death, was succeeded by Richard Kent, June 1, 1664.

HERBERT CROFTS, . Prebend of Min. Par. Altaris.

He was succeeded in this Prebend, Aug. 1, 1639, per Resig. Will. Townson; and was himself succeeded * by Robert Raynsford, Apr. 3, 1644. The Rebellion was so far advanced by that time, that possibly he had Suffered something in this Prebend before he Vacated it. Quære. But that his Successor was a Sufferer, seems undeniable, viz. as is now said,

* Per mort. Herb. Crofts, saith my Extract of the Register. But as I make no question that this was the same Person with the Suffering Dean of Hereford, who was advanced to that Dignity in 1644: So this is doubtless a Mistake of the Extract, and it should have been either Per Resig. or per Cess. Herb. Crofts. And possibly the Extract hath inverted the Entries, and Herbert Crofts came in, not per Resig. but per Mort. Will. Townson, as Robert Raynsford did per Resig. (or per Cess.) and not per Mortem, Herb. Crofts.

ROBERT RAYNSFORD, . Prebend of Min. Par. Altaris.

When he obtained this Prebend, I have just now mentioned. Aug. 19, 1661, Richard Clayton was promoted to it, per mort. ult. Incumb. Who, as it seems probable to me, was this Mr. Raynsford: And if so, I presume he just Survived the Usurpation, was Restored, and Vacated his Prebend by Death soon after.

THOMAS FULLER, D. D. Prebend of Netherbury in Ecclesia,
And
The Lecture at the Savoy. . . . . .

He was Born at Old-Windsor in Northampton-shire, and was Son to the Minister of that Place. He was Educated, partly at Queen's, and partly at Sidney-College in Cambridge; had this Prebend, July 18, 1631, was some time Chaplain to the Lord Hopton, to the Lord Berkley, to the young Princess Henrietta, and to his Majesty King Charles I. was some time also Minister of St. Bennet's in Cambridge, of Broad-Windsor in Dorsetshire, Waltham in Essex, Cranford in Middlesex; had the Lectures of St. Bride's and St. Clement's in London, and that of the Savoy again, some time before the Restoration. He was Driven from the Savoy in the Beginning of the Rebellion, for Refusing the Covenant, Forced to Fly for his Safety, and was in the Sieges of Basing-House and Exeter. Outliving the Usurpation, he was Re-possessed of his Prebend, became Chaplain in Extraordinary to his Majesty, Died in 1661 (in the 53d Year of his Age) and was succeeded in this Prebend, Aug. 17, that Year, by Tho. Henchman. He was Author of the Church-History, &c. and of several other Things.

Life prefix'd, where for his Works.

Lond. Mem. p. 529

Perse. Urd. p. 45.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 476. Vol. II. p 295.

See also his Ch. Hist. B. 11. Cent 17. p. 206, 207

One Tho. Fuller, D. D. was some time Rector of Hatfield in Hertfordshire.

Chauncy Ant. p. 312.

THOMAS ELY, . Prebend of Netherbury in Terra.

He is the Last that appears in my Extract, before the Wars; and came to the Prebend, Aug. 6, 1604, per mortem Johann. Chambers. If there be not an Omission either in the Register or Extract, and he lived to suffer under the Rebellion (of which quære) he must have been at least 40 Years Prebendary of this Church, and must probably have Died under the Confusions. Oct. 19, 1660, John Prinulx had this Prebend; but it is not said How Vacated.

JOHN PEARSON, A. M. Prebend of Netherhaven.

He was the Son of Robert Pearson (by Elizabeth, one of the Daughters of Bishop Vaughan) Rector of Creeke and Snoring in Norfolk; Born at the first-mentioned Place in the Year 1612, Educated at Eaton-School, and from thence Elected to King's-College in Cambridge in 1630. Dec. 30, 1639, he had this Prebend on the Death of John Vincent, became afterwards Chaplain to the Lord Goring at Exeter; and during some time of the Usurpation, as I guess, was Preacher at St. Clement's East-Cheap. Aug. 17, 1660, he was by the Bishop of London Collated to the Rectory of St. Christopher's (Neuc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 325.) in the same Year, being then D. D. he was made Master of Jesus-College in Cambridge, and Archdeacon of Surry. Before the End of the following Year he was † Prebendary of Ely, Margaret-Professor, and Master of Trinity-College in Cambridge; and Then, or some time after, Chaplain also to his Majesty. In 1672, he was most deservedly Advanced to the See of Chester, and Died in the Year 1686. He gave 250 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral. Instead of all Elogiums and Characters, let it be said, That he was the Expositor of the Apostles Creed. Besides which, he also Published some other most Learned Pieces.

Great Mist. Evil.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 675.

Wood saith, he was Admitted into that College in 1631.

He is not find him in Scr. Newcourt's Report of the Rectors of this Church.

Quære whether he is in any way Successor of Smith the Time, to hold that Place.

† Aug. 19, 1662, Ralph Sanderson had his Prebend per Resig. Jo Pearson.

See something of him after the List of the Fellows of King's College in Cambridge, out of Lloyd's Memoirs, p. 514.

Digitized by Google

THOMAS TRIPLET, A.M. Prebend of Preston, Prebend of Fenton in the Church of York, ... ; Whitbourn, R. And * Washington, R. } in Durham.

*This Living admits of some Doubt. Quære.

He succeeded Dr. Edward Thornborough in the Prebend of this Church, and so makes a second Sufferer in it, if Dr. Thornborough had suffered in it, as I judge he had, by the Time of his Death. There are indeed Two Dates in my Extract, relating to his Succession; the one of October 6, 1643, per mort. Edw. Thornb. (in which Year 'tis sure Dr. Thornborough died) the other added in another Hand, and is of September 17, 1660; possibly the former of these was the Time of his Collation, and the other that of his Admission; which, it may be, the Confusions had before prevented.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 821. See something more of him Vol. I. p. 581, 582.

He was Born in, or near, the City of Oxford, and became Student of Christ-Church there. Being deprived of his Preferments, he betook himself to Ireland, and taught a School at Dublin; afterwards he returned into England, and undertook the same Employment at Hoyes in Middlesex. Jan. 20, 1661, he was made Prebendary of Westminster (Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 921.) and died in the Year 1670. He was always esteem'd a great Wit, a good Grecian and Poet, and hath several Copies of Verses Extant. In 1660, one Thomas Triplet was Admitted to a Prebend of Durham. Quære. My Extract of Part of the Register of Salisbury, saith, That Jeremeel Terrant was Admitted to the Prebend of Preston, Aug. 20, 1662, per mort. E. Triplet. But it must undoubtedly be per Cess. or Resig. unless Wood be grossly mistaken in the Time of his Death; which I can hardly believe.

Wood saith, that he also obtained the Prebend of York after the Restoration, but that is certainly a Mistake.

SAMUEL MARSH, D.D. Prebend of Roscombe, And Patney, R. in Wiltshire. . . . . }

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 888.

He obtained this Prebend June 9, 1636; and was the same Year created D. D. at Oxford. He was dispossessed of his Rectory by a Troop of Horse, and J. Massey was thrust into his room, by the same Authority; where he continued till 1662, and was Father to the late Turn-coat of that Name, who was made Dean of Christ-Church by King James. Dr. Marsh died under the Usurpation; and June 21, 1660, John Shellick had this Prebend per mort. Sam. Marsh, jun. But why that Note of Distinction is added to his Name, I know not. Quære: For it seems unquestionable to me, that the Sufferer in this Prebend was the same Person with the Sequestred Rector of Patney; nor can I imagine, that in 1660, his Father, or any one with relation to whom he could be called Junior, was Living; nor can I perceive the least Grounds to assert, that a Son, or Nephew, &c. of his, might after his Death, whether under the Confusions, or after the Restoration, be collated to this Prebend, and die himself before June 21, 1660.

RICHARD ZOUCH, L.L.D. Prebend of Shipton.

Reg. Prof. Jur. Civ. Vac. per mort. Geo. Prosser. Present. Univ. Oxon Vigore Donat. Regiæ, 28 Feb. 1632. He was permitted to have this Prebend, notwithstanding he was a Lay-man; which had been formerly no uncommon Practice; and I find some other Foot-steps of it, home to the Time of the Rebellion. He complied with the Visitation of Oxford, and by that means continu'd in his Professorship; for which Reason, as also because he was not one of the Clergy, I forbear to prosecute the Account of him. The Reader may see it at large in Wood. June 5, 1661, Gyles Sweit had the Prebend, per mort. Richard Zouch.

Ath Vol. II. p. 166.

CHRISTOPHER PRIOR, D.D. Prebend of Slape, Prebend of Barton-Davy in the Church of Wells, ... And Collingbourn, in Wiltshire. . . . }

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 715. See something more of him in Wiltshire.

He had been of Baliol-College in Oxford, was Admitted to the former of these Prebends in December 1641; the Year Following was created D.D. at Oxford, amongst many other Loyalists; in September 1643, he was Admitted to the other Prebend, and the latter End of the same Year became Principal of New-Inn-Hall, in the room of Christopher Rogers, who had fled to the Parliament; but was forced to give up that Headship to him again, when that University fell into the Hands of those Rebels. As to the Sufferings of this Worthy Dr. I know very little of them, besides that once, to avoid being Apprehended, he was forced to leap down from a high Wall, which occasioned a Rupture, that he carried with (if at least that did not help to carry) him, to his Grave. He died in the Year 1659; being esteemed a good Grecian, and well Furnished with other Parts of Learning; which would probably have recommended him to a higher Station in the Church, had he lived to the Restoration. His chiefest Perfecutor and Succeffor at Collingbourn, was the well-known Adonyram Byfield, Scribe to the Assembly.

Vit. 24. Per mort. Will. Goodwyn.

Wood, Ant. L. I. p. 166.

July 25, 1660. Thomas Henchman succeeded in the Prebend of this Church.

THOMAS HYDE, D. D. Prebend of Stratford.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 728.

He was of the Family of the Hydes in Wiltshire, was some time of Baliol-College, afterwards of St. Edmund's-Hall in Oxford, and had this Prebend Nov. 21, 1639, on the Resignation of Charles Robinson. He out-lived the Usurpation, had both the Prebend of Teynton-Regis cum Talmpton, and the Chauntry, each on the Promotion of Dr. Henchman to the See of this Church, November 17, 1660. The 29th of the same Month, Aylmer Lynch had the Prebend of Stratford; which I find Dr. Hyde had then quitted. He died in the Year 1666, was succeeded in the Chauntry, September 24, that Year, by John South, as he had been the Tenth foregoing, in the Prebend of Teynton, by Gabriel Thistlethwait. One Dr. Thomas Hyde was Sequestred from Milleston in Wilts. See him there, and Quere.

GEORGE CUTHBERT, . Prebend of Stratton.

See the Cathedral of Wells. I am informed that he had Preferment, either in this Church, or That of Winchester; but having a perfect List of the Sufferers in the last named Cathedral, and not finding his Name among them, 'tis plain his Preferment must have lain in this Church; and all the Dignities, &c. being filled with other Persons, he must have been only a Prebendary. But then what Prebend to assign him, I cannot certainly tell, for the same Reasons which I have already mention'd at Mr. Roger Clark and Dr. Chaffin,

Digitized by Google

Chaffin in this Church; whom fee. If Stratton was his Prebend, he feems to have been at leaft a different Perfon from that George Cuthbert who is mentioned at Lichfield; becaufe the Prebendary of that Church died, as I conjecture, under the Ufurpation: whereas this Gentleman (if he was indeed Prebendary of this Church, and Stratton was his Prebend) feems to have out-lived the Confufions, to have been Reftored with his Majefty, and not to have vacated the Prebend till 1665: For February 3, that Year, James Gardiner had it (it is not faid how Vacated) on the Prefentation of his Majefty in the Vacancy of the See; and this, if I conjecture right, was the firft Time that it was filled after the Reftoration: Altho' 'tis poffible, the Gentleman who fent me the Information, might be miftaken in the Cathedral, and inftead of Winchefter or Salisbury, perchance it was the Church of Lichfield (where Occurs one of both his Names, as is juft now faid) in which he was Preferred; and if fo, this Prebend muft be left as a Blank, until the Sufferer in it can be difcovered. Quere of the Whole.

JOHN GANDY, A.M. Prebend of Tarleton, And South-Brent, V. in Devonfhire, then worth 300 l. per Ann.

Fuller's Worthies of Devon. p. 333.

He was Born in the City of Exeter, became Fellow of Oriel-College in Oxford, and Domeftick Chaplain to Dr. Davenant, Bifhop of Salisbury; who beftowed upon him this Prebend, to which he was Admitted September 23, 1637, on the Death of William Sticks. In the Year 1642, it was put under Sequeftration, and the Profits of it were given to one Brixen, a Minifter of Cirencefter; who was, no doubt, one of the Parliament-Hirelings to preach up Rebellion. Mr. Gandy was at that Time Refident upon his Living in Devon, where his Loyalty foon render'd him obnoxious to the Rage and Plunderings of thofe Parts alfo; and accordingly about the Year 1644, he was taken up as he was going to Church, and carried Prifoner to Dartmouth, about Eleven or Twelve Miles diftant; whither he went in his Habit, with the Bible in his Hand, as they had feized him; and was there kept under Confinement, till he purchafed his Liberty at the Price of One Hundred Pounds. When he was brought Prifoner thither, he asked for a Bed; whereupon the Serving-Maid, with a great deal of Scorn and Infolence, gave him this (or fome fuch) Anfwer; That he fhould have a Rope: To which the good old Gentleman mildly Replied, I have known what a good Bed is before now. His Houfe was alfo feveral Times Alarm'd and Ranfacked by the Parliament-Soldiers. Once more particularly, whilft they were committing their Outrages, Mrs. Gandy told them, fhe believed fome of them might have Wives of their own, and therefore entreated them to conſider her Condition (being then great with Child) and not Terrifie her, as they did. At which one of the Fellows told her, fhe look'd rather like a Tyrant, than like one that would be Affrighted; and withal, pulling a Rope out of his Pocket, faid, I will hang up thy Husband with this at his Gate. About the Year 1645, he was totally Difpoffeffed of the Living, and his Family thrown out of Door, by a Party of Horfe, which came to his Houfe (in his Abfence at London) and dragg'd his Wife, who then kept Poffeffion for her Husband, out of it by force; and when fhe would catch at the Scapes of the Doors, to ſtay her ſelf, or any other Thing, they would barbarouſly knock off her Hands; until at length they forcibly threw her out into the Streets, with ſeveral little Children: ſhe had, there to Beg, or Starve, which they would. There are ſome Circumſtances which much enhance the Barbarity of this Action. One is, that Mrs. Gandy was then lately out of Child-bed, and had the young Child at her Breaſt. Another is, That the Intruder was then himſelf in Perſon, and a Spectator of the whole Tranſaction; his Name was Flinger: he was a German, who had fled from his own Country upon the account of Religion, forſooth! And coming to Exeter in a very poor Condition, had been Relieved by Mr. Gandy's Father. And what compleats the Villany, is, that the Soldier who was moſt forward in turning the Family out of Doors, had been Releaſed from Priſon, where he had lain ſome time for Debt, by Mrs. Gandy. After he was thus Diſpoſſeſſed, he was forced to ſell the choiceſt of his Books to ſupport himſelf in London. Nor were the Fifths, as I take it, paid above Twice or Thrice, during the whole Time. But towards the latter End of the Uſurpation, he was permitted to hold the Rectory of Broxford in the County of Devon; where he continued till the Reſtoration: At which Time, being Re-poſſeſſed of his Preferments, and made D. D. he returned to his Living of Brent, and died there in 1672. He was a good Divine, an excellent Chriſtian, a Man of great Integrity, Candor, Humility and Charity. The laſt of which Virtues was abundantly evidenced in the following Inſtance: Some time after the Reſtoration, hearing that Major W. who had been one of his chief Perſecutors, was impriſoned, he made him a Viſit. The Major (expecting that he ſhould have Expoſtulated with him about his hard Uſage, and taken his Revenge) prevented Mr. Gandy's ſpeaking firſt, by ſaying to him, Dr. I now lie at your Mercy. And, reply'd the good Old Gentleman, I am reſolved to be revenged on you; and calling for a Bottle of Wine, after he had cordially drank to him, ſaid, Now I have Satisfaction. As indeed he had, namely, the great Satisfaction of imitating the moſt excellent Example, and obeying one of the moſt Divine Precepts of his Bleſſed Maſter.

Aged 71, this Year, Robert Frampton had the Prebend, per mort. J. Gandy.

THOMAS CLERK, jun. of Ufculm. Prebend

He obtained this Prebend, September 18, 1634, on the Reſignation of Thomas Clerk, ſen. He liv'd to be Reſtored, and Enjoyed the Prebend many Years after; as appears by the Succeſſion in it; for May 19, 1683. John Hinton had the Prebend of Ufculm, per mort. Tho. Clerk.

See the Sequeſtred Rector of Mangotsfield, Abbots in Wales, and a Nonconformiſt, and Quere.

FRANCIS MATKIN, Prebend of Warminſter.

September 15, 1660, Richard Hyde had this Prebend per mort. Fran. Matkin, which I preſume the Reader will judge is ſufficient ground to think, that Mr. Matkin was the Sufferer in it, and died, probably before, or very ſoon after, the Reſtoration.

BARTHOLOMEW SHEPLEY, Prebend of * Wimterbourn Earles.

* In a Liſt which I have ſeen of the Prebends of this Church, ſet forth a Prebend at Wimterbourn. There is no ſuch Prebend mentioned in my Extracts. Q. whether there may not have been ſuch Prebend, or a different Name of the ſame?

He got this Prebend Sep. 19, 1640, on the Death of Henry Seaward. The next that appears on my Extracts, is John Gregory, who had it Novemb. 28, 1643; but 'tis not ſaid how it became Vacant. The Rebellion was by that time ſo far advanced, that I judge it ſufficient Grounds for a Quere, whether Mr. Shepley might not have ſuffered ſomewhat in the Prebend before he Voided it, whether by, Death, Ceſſion, or howſoever elſe it was. In the mean time the Caſe of his Succeſſor is undeniable; who was, as is juſt now ſaid,

Some few any other of the Prebends: Or otherwiſe, what may be that Omiſſion, if at leaſt ſo be it.

Digitized by Google

JOHN GREGORY, A. M. Prebend of Winterbourn-Earles.

See the Church of Chichester. The time of his Obtaining this Prebend is already mentioned. Aug. 28, 1660, Hugh Naish was Promoted to it. The Extract takes no notice how it was Vacated; but Mr. Gregory died under the Usurpation, as I have elsewhere said.

THOMAS GORGES, . Prebend of Woodford and Wilsford.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 922. He had been Fellow of All-Souls-College in Oxford, was Collated to this Prebend, * Apr. 23, 1643; which being so far up in the Rebellion, quære whether his Succesſor, whoever he was, might not have ſuffered ſomething before he Vacated it. As for Gorges himſelf, 'tis certain that he afterwards ſuffered much for the Royal Cauſe; but was Reſtored to his Prebend in 1660, was made Archdeacon of Winchester, Doctor of Divinity in 1661, Oct. 16, the ſame Year, Prebendary of Weſtminſter (Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 921.) and Died in 1667. He was ſucceeded in the Prebend of this Church by Dr. William Lloyd, Dec. 16, in the laſt mentioned Year.

* A ſecond Date of May 12, 1643, added by Another Hand in my Extract; the meaning of which I know not.

HENRY GOOD, . Prebend of Yatminſter Prima.

He came to this Prebend July 13, 1613, on the Reſignation of John Still; and is the Laſt Perſon that appears on my Extract, before the Wars. Aug. 16, 1660, Henry Carpenter had the Prebend; but 'tis not ſaid How it became Vacant; though moſt probably it was by the Death of Good; who, I preſume, never lived to ſee the Reſtoration. See one Good in Hampſhire, and another in Wiltſhire, and quære.

JOHN WALL, D. D. Prebend of Yatminſter Secunda.

He obtained this Prebend, Nov. 5, 1644; which being ſo far up in the Rebellion, his Predeceſſor, whoever he might be, was probably a Sufferer in it likewiſe. See the latter Part of a Note at Dr. Chaſſin in this Church. Oct. 24, 1666, one Tho. Hyde had this Prebend, per mort. J. Wall. This Dr. Wall was the ſame Perſon with the Canon of Chriſt-Church, who was deprived of his Canonry by the Viſitors; but ſoon after, by a mean Submiſſion, he made his Peace, and enjoyed his Canonry through the whole Courſe of the Uſurpation. The Reader will find him accounted for at large by Wood, in the Second Volume of his Athenæ, p. 259.

EDWARD GOUGH, . Prebend of Yatesbury,

Which he obtained May 8, 1640, on the Ceſſion of Humph. Henchman. He is the Laſt Incumbent on this Prebend, as far as appears by my Extract, Before the Breaking out of the Rebellion. The Immediate Succeſſor is Daniel Whitby, who had the Prebend, Oct. 22, 1668. It appears not how it became Vacant; but if the Entries and Extract are perfect, 'tis plain that Gough ſurvived the Uſurpation, was Reſtored to his Prebend, and Vacated it either by Death (which I ſhould think moſt probable) or Otherwiſe, in the laſt-mentioned Year.

ANDREW CARTER
WILLIAM LONDON
JAMES CLARKE
GEORGE LOW
WILLIAM WENSLOW
THOMAS RAYMOND
} Vicars-Choral, All in Full Orders.

Theſe Gentlemen were in Poſſeſſion Sept. 29, 1645, when it appears they made up an Account. Mr. Raymond died ſome time in the Confuſions; but the Other Five lived to be Reſtored.

WELLS.

WILLIAM PIERS, D. D. Biſhopprick. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 671.

He was Born in the City of Oxford, became Student of Chriſt-Church, and Preached at firſt in and near that Univerſity. Afterwards he was made Chaplain to Dr. King, Biſhop of London, had the Vicaridge of Northall, Middleſex, and the Rectory of St. Chriſtopher's near the Old Exchange; as alſo the Prebend of Wildland in the Church of St. Paul (or Another Preb. there) conferred upon him. He had been alſo Divinity-Lecturer in the laſt-mentioned Church, obtained a Canonry of Chriſt-Church, and ſoon after it was promoted to the * Deanery of Cheſter. Some time after which undergoing the Office of Vice-Chancellor in the Univerſity of Oxford; and ſhewing a great Diſlike to thoſe who were then called Anti-Arminians, he gained the Favour of Arch-biſhop Laud; and by that means, the Deanery and Biſhoprick of Peterborough; and at laſt a Tranſlation to this See, in the Year 1632. Whilſt he ſate here, he kept a very ſevere Hand over the Puritans, and Rigidly exalted Obedience to the Canons and Orders of the Church; which, when the Rebellion began, rendred him in a peculiar manner, obnoxious to the Rage of the Party, both within doors and without: The Latter of which, when the Sence of the Former was diſcovered (as ſoon was upon their Meeting) perceiving how Acceptable ſuch a Proceeding would be to them, make Loud Clamours, and, if I miſtake not, Preſent a Petition to the Houſe againſt him; who immediately take him in hand, and about Dec. 1640, deſire the Lords to take Security for his Forth-coming, to anſwer divers heinous Crimes, tending to the Corruption and Subverſion of Religion in his Diocеſs. After this they Refer the Matter of his Accuſation, &c. to a Committee, which was therefore called the Biſhop of Bath and Wells's Committee, continued in being a great while, and had ſeveral things relating to the Clergy, Referred to them, as Complaints and Petitions againſt them Increaſed and were Encouraged. And from that time forward the Houſe ſeemed to have ſingled out this Biſhop (together with Dr. Wren, Biſhop of Ely, Dr. Coſin, Dean of Peterborough, and Dr. Layfield, Archdeacon of Eſſex, &c.) from among the reſt of the Clergy, for the Utmoſt Proſecution; in order to Increaſe the Clamour of the People, by rendring them Monſtrous and Odious, as well as to Wreck their Malice and Spleen upon them. And accordingly this Reverend Prelate felt the Effects of it as Early, and to as great a Degree, as any of them; being continually for ſome time Harraſſed and Perplexed by the Houſe. After this he became one of the Proteſting Biſhops, and was, with the Reſt, Impriſoned for that moſt Juſt and Neceſſary Remonſtrance. When he was at length Deprived of his Spiritualties, he lived Retiredly, (ſometimes at Cudeſden near Oxford) on a conſiderable Eſtate of his own, which they had been ſo merciful to leave him; though one of the Party, in order forſooth! to make the World believe

* Saith Wood, but by it is certain by a miſtake. See Leigh's Ant. of Cheſhire, p. 169.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 227.

See Heylin's Life of Archbiſhop Laud.

Or it may be, he had compounded for it, and ſo Redeemed it out of their Hands lieve that it was a Judgment of God upon him for Suppreſſing Lecturers, &c. in his Diocеſs, hath affirmed, that he came to Beggary, That he had not Bread for Him and His to put in their Mouths, and that he ſued for a poor Lecturer's, or Curate's Place. He lived to be Reſtored to his Biſhoprick in 1660, and Died at Walthamſtow in Eſſex, in 1670. He was eſteemed a Man of Parts, knowing in Divinity and the Laws; was very vigilant and active for the good, both of the Eccleſiaſtical and Civil Eſtate: And the High Crimes of which he was Accuſed, were no other than Suppreſſing Factious Lecturers, Ordering the Communion-Tables in the Churches of his Diocеſs to be Railed in, and things of the like nature.

Digitized by Google

What is the Reaſon that for the moſt part the Poſterity of a Man's Eſtate will after meet with, of ſome Judgment or other, who knocked out a Man's Brains (for inſtance) for ſome Piece of a Sequeſtr.'d Clergyman's) and then themſelves periſh.

His horrible Death was a Judgment of God on her for telling a Lye.

He had Two Sermons extant, which he Preached whilſt he was under Reſtraint in the Tower.

WALTER RALEIGH, D.D. Deanery,
Prebend of Currie, ... }
Chedzoy, R. }
And } in Somerſet.
Streat cum Walton, }

Account of him before Reliq. Raleighanæ.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 49.

This Very Learned and Excellent Perſon was Second Son of Sir Carew (Elder Brother to the Famous Sir Walter) Raleigh, and Born at Downton in Wilts. He had his Education at Magdalen College in Oxford; and taking Orders, became Chaplain to the Earl of Pembroke, Prebendary of Wells, had the Two Livings above-named conferred upon him, became at laſt Chaplain to his Majeſty, and was Promoted to this Deanery in 1641. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was, for no other Cauſes than Loyalty to his Prince, and Zeal for the Church, Perſecuted in the moſt Outragious and Barbarous manner imaginable; being Sequeſtred, and Hurried from one Priſon to another; and ſtill there Immured where ſeveral Priſoners died of the Plague; and at laſt ſhut up in his Own Houſe at Wells, which they had turned into a Jayl: And after he had eſcap'd the Peſtilence in many Places, was Villainouſly Murthered by him, who was appointed to be his Keeper. Some of the Particulars are theſe: 'It being the Doctor's Month to wait upon the King, 'as his Chaplain, the Committee of Somerſet raiſed the Rabble, and Commiſſioned the Soldiers 'to Plunder his Parſonage-Houſe of Chedzoy; in 'his Abſence ſeized upon All his Eſtate Spiritual 'and Temporal, Drove away the Cattle and Horſes they found upon his Ground, and Barbarouſly turned his Family out of Doors. His poor 'Lady (who was unaccuſtomed to ſuch Severities) was forced to lie Two Nights in the Corn-Fields; it being a Capital Crime for any of the 'Pariſhioners to afford them Lodgings. After this, ſhe made the beſt of her way to Downton 'in Wilts, the Seat of Sir Carew Raleigh, the Doctor's Father, and here her Husband returning from Waiting, met her. The King's Party 'meeting with ſome Succeſſes in the Weſt, the 'Doctor had an Opportunity to Return to his 'Family, and Re-ſettle at Chedzoy; but the Rebels ſoon getting the upper-hand, by the Defeat 'of my Lord Goreing, he was forc'd to Bridg-water (a Place Garriſon'd for the King) for 'Refuge. Here he continued, with other Loyal 'Gentlemen, till that Town was ſurrendred to Fairfax and Cromwell; at which time he was 'taken Priſoner, and after much Barbarous Uſage, he was ſet upon a poor contemptible Horſe, 'with his Legs tied under the Belly of it, and ſo ſent in Triumph to his Parſonage-Houſe in Chedzoy, to Expoſe him as a Malefactor to his Pariſhioners. The Doctor's Houſe was then the Head-Quarters of Fairfax and Cromwell, 'and he being very violently Sick, by reaſon of his Former Uſage, obtained the Favour of 'them to continue Priſoner in his own Houſe: 'But as ſoon as theſe two Generals were marched, Hen. Jones (who gaped for his Rectory of Chedzoy, and afterwards ſucceeded him in the ſame) 'Enter'd Violently into the Houſe, took the Doctor out of his Bed, and carried him away Priſoner with all his Goods. His Wife and Children were Turned out to the Wide World, and muſt infallibly have periſhed, had not Colonel Aſh procured them the Income of ſome ſmall Tenements, that were purchaſed by the Doctor in Chedzoy. After this, Dr. Raleigh was ſent a 'Priſoner to Ilcheſter, the County-Jayl, thence to to Banwell-Houſe, and from thence to the Houſe 'belonging to the Deanery in Wells; Where he was committed to the Cuſtody of one David Barrett, a Shoemaker, and at that time a Conſtable of the City; who Treated him far beneath his Quality and Function, and at laſt Murthered him in the following manner: Whilſt the Committee of Somerſet were ſitting at Wells, the Dr. took an Occaſion of Preferring a Requeſt to them for Liberty to go to his Wife and Children, in order to ſettle ſome Affairs which nearly concerned them; and at the ſame time a Gentleman of 1000 l. per Annum, offered to be bound for his Return at the Time they ſhould appoint him: But this Common Favour being Inhumanly denied him, the Excellent Dr. ſeem'd mov'd and concerned at it; and reply'd, That it was hard He ſhould not be permitted to Go, who asked Leave; whilſt Others who asked no Leave, had that Liberty allowed them for a Week or Fortnight together. This Saying of the Doctor's proved an Intimation to the Committee, that Barrett the Jaylor took the Liberty of letting ſome of the Priſoners abroad without their Privacy; upon which they were very Angry, and Threatned to Turn him out if ever he ſhould grant ſuch a Liberty to any Priſoner for the future. Which ſo incenſed Barrett, that coming the next Morning into the Doctor's Chamber, who hapned to be then writing to his Wife, he preſently laid his Hand upon the Letter to ſee it; but the Doctor utterly Refuſed to permit him, unleſs he had an Order from the Committee for that purpoſe; and ſo wreſted the Paper out of his Hands; which being done, the Fellow ſhut back, drew his Sword, ran it immediately into the Good Man's Belly home to his Back-Bone; and gave him ſuch an incurable Wound, that he Tumbled out of his Chair dead; but being brought to Life again by ſome Help and Aſſiſtance, he lingred on about Six Weeks, and then died of his Wound. Thus was the Blood of this Great and Good Man ſhed as the Blood of a Dog! Nor was this all: For though his Wife Proſecuted the Vile Murtherer two Aſſizes together, he could not get him brought to a Trial; but ſhe falling ſick, before the Third time came, and not able to attend it, then the Fellow appeared, and WAS ACQUITTED! And what is yet more, the Committee ſo much favoured the execrable Murder, that they ſent out their Warrants to Apprehend the Doctor's Eldeſt Son, Mr. George Raleigh; becauſe he carried on the Proſecutions againſt Barrett; inſomuch that Mr. Raleigh was forced to fly for his Security; and then Barrett was Releaſed, and Reſtored again by the Committee, to his Place. To which let me add this one Thing more, That the Committee likewiſe Apprehended, Impriſoned, and kept in Cuſtody (till the very Hour of his Death) one Mr. Standiſh, a Clergy-Vicar of this Church, becauſe he had given the Doctor Chriſtian Burial; that is, in other Words, had Buried him by the Common-Prayer. The Day of Dr. Raleigh's Death was October 10, 1646. He was a Perſon not only of genteel Behaviour, but of great Wit and Elocution; a good Orator, and a Maſter of ſtrong Reaſon; which won him the Familiarity and Friendſhip of thoſe great Men, who were the Envy of the laſt Age, and Wonder of this; viz. Lucius, Lord Falkland, Dr. Henry Hammond, and Mr. William Chillingworth; the laſt of which was wont to ſay, that Dr. Raleigh was the beſt Diſputant that ever he met withal. What he became of the reſt of his Family, I know not; but I am informed, that his Son Henry was, after his Father's Murder, taken and maintained by Mr. Mallet of Enmore; and doth now, or did lately, ride in the Duke of Northumberland's Guards. As for Barrett, the Miſcreant who Murder'd Dr. Raleigh, I am informed by a very ancient Gentleman of Wells, that he was a Renegado Welchman, and not worth one Groat when he came to Wells; but that by Plundering, and ſuch like Practices of thoſe Times, he had got an Eſtate of about Sixteen Pounds per Ann. (which to obſerve that by the way, is now crumbled into nothing again) and that having married a Woman in Wells, there was another from Wales, who had Two Children by him, came after him, and ſued him for her Husband. Such was this Reforming Saint (exactly agreeable to the Principles of the Times) whom neither Murder nor Adultery could Blemiſh; but he muſt be ſtill continu'd in the Favour and Service of the Committee, as One of the Godly. I have been further inform'd at Wells, that the Sifter of this Fellow's Wife, had her Mouth drawn back into her Neck, in a moſt frightful and diſmal manner; and Expired in that Poſture, crying out on her Death-Bed, that her Brother-in-Law had made her damn her Soul by falſe Swearing; becauſe ſhe had upon her Oath depoſed, that Dr. Raleigh ſtruck Barrett firſt.

Digitized by Google

What he Wrote, ſee in Wood.

SEBASTIAN SMITH, D. D. Chanter-ſhip,
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . }
Prebend of Warmiſter, ... }
And
North-Curry, . in this County. . . . }

* I take Dr. Smith (for I have not his Chriſtian Name) the Sequeſtred Miniſter of North-Curry, to have been the ſame Perſon with this Dr. Sebaſtian Smith, but Quere.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 792, and 901. See a Note at Mr. Owen in Somerſetſhire.

He was Originally of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, had been Prebendary of Peterborough, was Admitted to this Chauntry the Ninth of March 1634, became afterwards Canon of Chriſt-Church; but when he died, I know not.

JOHN YONG, D. D. Chancellorſhip,
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . }
And
Prebend of Dulcingcote. . . . . }

See Winchester-Cathedral; and Quere if he be the ſame Perſon with the ſuffering Dean there.

ROBERT CREYGHTON, D. D. Treaſureſhip,
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . }
Prebend of Taunton, ... }
A Living ſomewhere in this County,
And
The Deanery of * St. Buryan's, in Cornwall. . . . . }

* See Mr. Adams in Devon, and Dr. Wicks in Cornwall, unleſs he quitted this Deanry without Sequeſtration; of which Quære.

He was Born in the North of Scotland, of a very Ancient Family; was Elected from Weſtminſter-School to Trinity-College in Cambridge, of which Univerſity he was afterwards Orator and Greek-Profeſſor. He was Admitted to the Treaſureſhip in 1632, and to the Deanery of St. Buryan's about Five Years after. In the beginning of the Rebellion he ſuffered very much, as well as afterwards, for the Royal Cauſe; and was forced to retire, firſt to his Majeſty at Oxford, afterwards in the Habit of a poor Day-Labourer, into Cornwall, where he got on Shipboard, followed his Majeſty King Charles II. into Exile, and continued Chaplain to him during that Time. Whilſt he was thus Abroad with his Majeſty, he had the Deanery of this Church granted to him (it having become Vacant by the Death of Dr. Raleigh, as is before related) which he lived to enjoy; and in 1670, was Promoted to the Epiſcopal Chair of this Diocеſe; in Poſſeſſion of which he died, November 21, 1672, about the Seventy Ninth Year of his Age. He was a very Learned Man, and always took the Liberty to Reprehend the Vices of the Times freely, when he Preached before the Court.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 662, &c.

He was alſo Chaplain to Sir Maurice K. Charles I.

What he Publiſh'd, ſee in Wood.

GERARD WOOD, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Wells,
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . }
And Prebend of Huiſh and Brent. . . . }

He was Poſſeſſed of all theſe in the latter End of 1643; by which Time the Rebellion was ſo far Advanced, that it is very probable he had ſuffered ſomething in theſe Preferments. I gueſs he died ſoon after; and was then ſucceeded in this Arch-deaconry (and poſſibly in his Canonry too) by

He had been Fellow of King's-College in Cambridge, to which he was Elected from Eaton-School, in 1595; and had a Rectory ſomewhere in Dorſetſhire; but whether at the Breaking out of the Rebellion, or afterwards is not to be Queried.

WILLIAM WATTS, D. D. Arch-deaconry of Wells,
Canonry Reſid. . . . . . }
Prebend of Henſteidge, ... }
And
St. Alban's in Woodſtreet, R. in London. . . . . }

He was Born ſomewhere near Lyn in Norfolk, had his Education at Corpus Chriſti in Cambridge, and having Travelled into ſeveral Countries, became Maſter of divers Languages. At his Return he was made Chaplain to King Charles I. had the Living of St. Alban's conferred upon him, and in the Year 1640, was made Chaplain to the Earl of Arundel, at that time General in the Scotch Expedition. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was Sequeſtred from St. * Alban's, and Plunder'd, his Wife and Children turned out of Doors, and himſelf forced to fly for his Security. After this he retired, firſt to his Majeſty, and afterwards ſerved under Prince Rupert for was, as I have otherwiſe been inform'd, his Chaplain, with whom he was preſent in all the Battles that he fought; not excepting thoſe Times, when that Prince made his moſt deſperate Attempts. Being preferr'd to this Arch-deaconry and Canonry about the time that his Majeſty's Cauſe was in its Deceſenſion, he could not then enjoy the Profits of either; nor did he live to the Reſtoration to receive them afterwards: But attending Prince Rupert when he was Blocked up at Kingſale in Ireland, he died there of a Diſtemper, which, it ſeems, admitted of no Cure. He was a moſt Admirable Critick and Divine, is ſeveral times

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 831.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 303.

Perſon Und. p. 41.

* In 1642. and ever ſince 1660. and 1661. down to his Death.

I find his Books order'd to be Sold in the latter End of 1643. into the Cuſtody of Mr. Gregory who was, as I ſuppoſe, a Sequeſtrator of either of their own.

Digitized by Google

times Honourably mentioned by the Learned Voſſius, with the Title of Doctiſſimus, and Clariſſimus Wattſus; and had an eſpecial Hand in Sir Henry Spelman's Gloſſary. What other Learned Works he was concerned in, or Publiſhed, ſee in Wood.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 911.

WILL. DAVIS, A.M. Arch-deac. of Bath. He was admitted to this Arch-deaconry in 1643.

WILLIAM PIERS, A. M. Arch-deaconry of Taunton, And Kingsbury, R. in Somerſetſhire. . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 911. In the beginning of the Wars, he was poſſeſſed of the Rectory of Buckland-St. Mary's in this County. Quere whether he did not loſe That Living alſo.

He was the Son of Dr. William Piers the Suffering Biſhop of this Church (and that Relation Wood ſeems to make his only Merit) who conferred on him the Arch-deaconry of Bath, and the Prebend of Cudworth cum Knowle, in this Church: Some Time after he reſigned his Prebend of Cudworth, having that of Wiſtchurch conferred on him; which I preſume he likewiſe Reſigned before the Rebellion came to its height; becauſe I find another Perſon poſſeſſed of it in 1643. In which Year he alſo Reſigned the Arch-deaconry of Bath, and had other Preferments conferred on him; One of them was this Arch-deaconry of Taunton, which I find him Poſſeſſed of in this Year * 1643. During the Rebellion, as he was Sequeſtred of all his Preferments, ſo his Suffrings were otherwiſe more than common; being forced out of meer Neceſſity for a Subſiſtence (as I have been informed from a Reverend Perſon who had it from his own Mouth) to marry an Ordinary Woman with a very ſmall Eſtate, and to turn Farmer, or rather Day-Labourer upon it; the Value of it being ſo little, that he was forc'd to Thraſh in the Barn for his Lively-hood, and to go to Market himſelf to ſell Cheeſe; and hath been often ſeen at Wincheſter, ſitting in the Market there, with a Cheeſe upon his Knees I have been further informed, That he uſed to go about the Country with a little Paultry Horſe, and ſell Tobacco. And this is ſure, that he was Frequently conſtrained to go to Taunton-Market, with an Horſe laded with Apples, and ſell them, in order to raiſe Money to buy neceſſary Proviſion. And to preſerve himſelf from Starving, was often forced to go, at leaſt a Mile, to get a Pitcher of Whey; till he was at laſt received into the Country Man's Houſe, whoſe Daughter he married. And I have heard a Daughter of the Reverend Mr. Tarlton, the Sequeſtred Miniſter of Wincheſter, ſay, That this Mr. Arch-deacon Piers, her own Father, and other Sequeſtred Clergy-men, were reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that ſhe hath ſeen them ſit together eating Bread and Salt, and drinking Water, neither of them having a Penny to buy Beer. Mr. Piers was likewiſe once Impriſoned, for being Godfather to a Child of Mr. Tarlton's, becauſe it was named Charles; at which Time alſo Mr. Tarlton himſelf was called in Queſtion for the ſame Thing; and for his Chriſtening this his own Child according to the Orders of the Church of England. Mr. Piers ſurvived the Reſtoration; in 1661, became D. D. of Chriſt-Church in Oxon (in which Houſe therefore 'tis probable he had his Education alſo) was removed to a better Prebend in this Church; and had likewiſe the Rectory of Chriſtian-Maiford in Wilts conferred upon him; which he enjoyed many Years; not dying till April 1682. I had almoſt omitted to let the Reader know one peculiar Circumſtance of his Sufferings, which was, That once whilſt he was Impriſoned in the Common Jayl at Ilcheſter, he was forced to hang out a Glove, and beg the Charity of the Town for Subſiſtence; ſo 'tis very poſſible that he might be in the moſt literal Senſe, what Wood ſaith of him, a Man of leſſer Merit than Suffering; and yet be a deſerving Perſon, becauſe his Sufferings were of the ſuperlative Degree. However, I am wholly ignorant of his Character, any otherwiſe than as it is thus hinted at by that Author.

Some other Information which I have receiv'd, ſay, That he was married to the Farmer's Daughter, before his Sequeſtration, but I am ſatisfied that is a Miſtake.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p 672.

THOMAS BAYLY, A. M. * Sub-deanery. He was Son of Dr. Lewis Bayly, ſome time Biſhop of Bangor; was Educated in Cambridge, and Promoted to this Sub-deanery by his Majeſty, in the Year 1638. When the Wars brake out, he Retired, with other Loyaliſts, to the King at Oxford; after that he attended the Marquis of Worceſter at Ragland-Caſtle, where he ſerved as a Commiſſion-Officer. At length he Travelled into France, and other Countries; and then Returning into England about the Year 1649, publiſhed the Conference between King Charles I. and the afore-named Marquis. Beſides which he Printed ſeveral other things; and in one of them reflecting upon the Men of theſe Times, he was fought for, and Impriſoned in Newgate; whence he at laſt made his Eſcape, got into Holland, and there Openly profeſs'd himſelf a Roman-Catholick: From thence he went into Flanders, and at laſt into Italy; † where he died in a Poor Obſcure Condition; having, as 'tis ſaid, ſerved at Bononia in the Station of a Common Soldier, and Breathing his laſt in an Hoſpital. His whole Eſtate of Spirituals and Temporals were (as he uſed to affirm himſelf) 1000 l. per Annum.

* And probably ſeveral other Preferments, the Names of which I cannot Recover.

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 456.

Lloyd. Mem. p. 176.

Which ſee in Wood. ibid.

† And not in Wales, as Lloyd ſaith.

——————, . * Præpoſitura.

* In the Valor Beneficiorum I find ſuch a Dignity, or Office (or whatever elſe it may be called) immediately ſubjoyned to the Sub-deanery. Whether it be yet continued to this Church, and whether it was then poſſeſſed by any of the Dignitaries, or Prebendaries, here otherwiſe mentioned, quere.

——————, . Sub-chaunterſhip.

In the Valor Beneficiorum this Office is immediately ſubjoyn'd to That laſt-mentioned.

HUGH ROBINSON, D. D. Canonry-Reſid.

See Gloucester-Cathedral.

THOMAS WALKER, D. D. Canonry-Reſid. And Prebend of Hitton. . . . . .

See Univerſity-College in Oxford.

PAUL GOODWYN, D. D. Canonry-Reſid.

See the County of Somerſet, and quare.

ROGER WOOD, A. M. Canonry-Reſid.

CHISTOPHER PRIOR, D. D. Prebend of Barton-Davy.

See Salisbury-Cathedral.

JAMES DUGDALE, D. D. Prebend of VVeſt-Harp-Tree, Shepton-Beauchamp, R. And Evercreech, V. } in Somerſet.

This Worthy Perſon was Educated at Magdalen-Hall in Oxford; and during ſome Part of the Wars, Fled to his Majeſty there; where he had the Degree of D. D. conferred upon him.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 728.

Digitized by Google

He had been some time Chaplain to the Marquis of Hertford, and afterwards to the Duke of Somerset. ' In the Beginning of the Wars, attending on the Lady Hopton, Wife to my Lord Hopton, as Spiritual Assistant on her Death-Bed, he was thence Taken Prisoner, and carried to London, and kept close Ten Weeks in the Compter in the Poultry, without ever seeing the Sun; being proclaim'd among the Rout, as a Jesuit; without Any Allowance, but out of his own Substance, got out by the Intercession of the Dutchess of Somerset (as being her Chaplain) upon Order to abide at her House till further Order. After which time, under Protection of the Earl of Essex, he came down into the Country, to take care of his Family. After this, Harp-Tree, Shepton-Beauchamp, and Evercreech, were all Sequestred, with all the Goods; and he was sustained only upon his Eldest Daughter's Estate in Evercreech, by Name, Mrs. Margaret Dugdale; till upon Petition to the Committee, in lieu of the Fifths out of Shepton-Beauchamp, the Vicaridge of Evercreech (being about 50 l. per Annum) was Allowed his Family; not to Preach in it himself, but to † Maintain such others as they could get to Supply it: And in this State he so continued till the Restoration, and so Lay hid, and Kept in Disguise all that time; several times Plundered, and several Times Redeemed. At a certain time, being at Evercreech, he was Seized by a Party of the Committee-Troop, of about Twenty Horse, to be Imprisoned by the Committee; but being Lame in one Arm, and unable to bear such Usage, Bail of Body for Body was offer'd by his Son Mr. James Dugdale, and other Ordinary Bail or Engagement by Word, for the Doctor's Appearance, was offer'd by Sir Edward Berkley, but Refused, saying, They would rie him to the Horse-Tail, and draw him away. To prevent which, the Women of the Place beat them off with Stones, and so Rescu'd him. But when they could not find him at home, they Terrified his Children, that their Father would be hang'd and damn'd. Sequestred twice of the Goods at Evercreech, before they procured Evercreech in lieu of the Fifths. In that time an Estate of about 20 l. a year fell to him by the Death of his Mother, for his Life; which was immediately Sequestred, and for which he Compounded at Goldsmiths Hall, and after Sold it for 140 l. for a Subsistence to his Impoverish'd Family; who were forced to go into Debt for their very Cloaths. He lived till a Year after the Restoration; but the Charges of the Ruins were such, that he Received but little Profits. He was made Sub-Dean, and Canon of Wells; but died before any Income, 300 l. in Debt: Yet all the time of the Wars, he maintained his Son in the King's Service, without any Pay from the King. This Relation comes from a Daughter of Dr. Dugdale: and therefore I have chosen to give it the Reader Verbatim, as it was Transmitted to me. I shall only add from another Hand, that during the Usurpation he was continually Harrassed and Dogged, and lived, in a manner, in Holes.

† By that time the Curate, Tasks, and other Impositions were paid, it could not reasonably be supposed to amount to 20 l. per annum.

* Or Mosley JOHN *MORLEY, Prebend of Timberscombe, Watton-Courtney by Dunster, R. And North-Petherton, V. . . . . } in Somersetshire.

He was likewise Plundered, his Sons were Imprisoned, and he was forced to Compound for his Temporals, at 80 l. He lived to be Restored, and died at North-Petherton, Feb. 27, 1661, leaving behind him the Character of a Pious and Good Man.

RICHARD BUSBY, A. M. Prebend of Cudsworth and Knowle. Wood, A. L. Vol. II. p. 921.

I take him to have been the Famous Master of Westminster-School; and if so, he can scarce be called a Sufferer, seeing the Loss of this Prebend was sufficiently made up to him by † other things, which he was allowed to Have and Keep. ' He was Born at Lutton in Lincolnshire, Sept. 22, 1606. He was of Christ-Church in Oxford, made Chief-Master of Westminster-School, Dec. 23, 1640, and Installed Prebendary of the Collegiate-Church of Westminster, July 5, 1660. He had the Treasurership of the Cathedral-Church of Wells conferred on him Aug. 11, following, and was created D. D. Oct. 19, in the same Year: Which said Preferments he enjoyed till his Death, Apr. 3, 1695. He was Buried in the Collegiate-Church of Westminster, to whose Memory a very fine Monument is there Erected. Newc. Repert. Eccles. p. 921.

† Of which his Students Place in Christ Church, and the Mastership of Westminst. School were Two. See also the Appendix to the Suppl. of the Gr. Hist. Dict. and his Epitaph at large, there.

WILLIAM BISS, . (Prebend of (Milverton Prima.)

He had also the Living of East-Quantockshead in this County, in which he was Preferred (by the Interest of a Great Man of the Times) from Sequestration, but not from Plunder and Disturbances; for these he several times underwent.

JONAS COOK, A. M. Prebend of Milverton Secunda.

THOMAS HOLT, . Prebend of Compton-Dundon, Lamiat, R. . . And Weston-Zoyland, } in Somersetsh.

He was Dispossessed of the Left of these Livings by the House of Commons, March 21, 1642; and afterwards, with his Wife and several Children, Turned out of his Estate into the High-way, to seek their Bread where they could find it; which by God's Providence, was at the House of Mr. (afterwards Sir I.) Newton, in Gloucestershire. In the Rectory of Lamiat succeeded at that time one Snead, an Army-Trumpeter, who paid no Fifths. Mr. Holt, towards the Latter End of the Usurpation, Returned to Lamiat, and scifled in and out there by stealth, until the Restoration. After which he became D. D. Chancellor, and Canon-Resid. of this Church: But when he Died I know not; nor any thing more of him, save that once under his Troubles, he was forced to Fly in the Habit of a Miller into Cornwal, and wander'd from Place to Place for some time after.

——— ———, . Prebend of Dinder.

HENRY ANKERILL, D. D. Prebend of Compton-E. And Mells, R. in Somersetshire.

I find one of both these Names (and I take him to be the same Person) who is said to be Parson of Wells (mistaken, as I presume, for Mells) sent for as a Delinquent by the House in 1640, soon after the Meeting of that Unlucky Parliament. Some time after he Fled to his Majesty at Ox-

Digitized by Google

Oxford; where he was made D. D. in the Year 1643. He was admitted to this Degree as of Wadham-College; and ſo probably had received his Education there.

NOAH WEBB, A.M. Prebend of Aiſhill.

JOHN BARLOW, A. M. Prebend of Wyvelſcombe.

He was admitted to this Prebend in the Year 1620. There was a Writer of both theſe Names; but whether he was the ſame Perſon or no, is uncertain. See Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 496.

STEPHEN BERRIER, A M. Prebend of Tatton.

LAMBERT OSBALSTON, A. M. Prebend of Ilton.

See Weſtminſter-Church,

CHRISTOPHER TISDALE, A. M. Prebend of Buckland-Dinham.

See the Church of Chicheſter, and quære.

CHARLES BRAY, B. D. Prebend of Hazlebiere.

GEORGE CUTHBERT, A. M. Prebend of White-Luckington, Prebend of Stratton in Salisbury Church, And Stocklinch-Ottersey, R. in Somerſetſhire.

JOHN COOTH, A. M. Prebend of Eaſton in Cordano, Prebend of Grimſton and Yatminſter in the Church of Salisbury, Shepton-Mallet, R. Both in Somerſet. And and worth Corton, R. . . 200 l. per Ann.

He lived to the Reſtoration, and Returned to the Latter of theſe Livings; but Reſigned his Right in the Former, to one Mr. Allen, who had been Sequeſtred from Bratton in this County.

GERRARD VERRIER, A. M. Prebend of Whitchurch.

ROBERT EARLE, A. M. Prebend of St. Decuman.

See in Wiltſhire, and quære.

HENRY HAMPSON, A. M. Prebend of Shalford.

JOHN CLEMENT, A. M. Prebend of Combe Prima.

EDWARD ABRAHAM, . Prebend of Combe Secunda.

JAMES PIERS, A. M. Prebend of Combe Tertia.

He was Collated to it June 18, 1645.

†RALPH MANWARREN, A. M. Prebend of Combe Quarta.

† One of both theſe Names was Admitted Vicar of St. Leonard's Shoreditch in 1580. Quart. Mem. Rep. Fuller. Vol. I. p. 647.

JOHN STILL, A.M. Prebend of Combe Quinta, And Prebend of North-Grantham in the Church of Sarum.

I preſume he was Son of Dr. John Still, ſome time Biſhop of this Dioceſs; who, Wood ſaith, left behind him ſeveral Children. Ath. Vol. I. p. 608. See the Ch. of Salisbury.

——— ———, . Prebend of Combe Sexta.

THOMAS WICKHAM, L. L. B. Prebend of Combe Septima.

CHARLES GIBBS, . Prebend of Combe Octava.

There was one of Both his Names Sequeſtred from the Reſtory of Gamlinghay in Cambridgeſhire. Whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary, quære.

ROBERT AISH, A. M. Prebend of Combe Nona.

He was alſo the School-Maſter at Wells; but whether he loſt That Office likewiſe, quære.

ROBERT LUKE, . Prebend of (Combe Decima.)

He was Collated to one of the Combes, which was not Numbred in the Inſtrument of Collation; and ſo I cannot be poſitive whether This or either of the other Blank Combes was his Prebend.

ROBERT CHAPLAIN, . Prebend of Combe Undecima.

There was one Chaplain (but I cannot learn his Chriſtian Name) who towards the latter End of the War, got Poſſeſſion of the little Reſtory of Aſhbury in the County of Devon; but he was ſoon driven thence again for his Loyalty. It ſeems not improbable, that he might be the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary; But quære.

WILLIAM GALE, . Prebend of Combe Duodecima.

* THOMAS TUCKER, B. D. Prebend of Combe Decima tertia. * Some of both theſe Names at Briſtol, and quære.

THOMAS TURNER, D. D. Prebend of Combe Decima quarta.

See Canterbury-Cathedral, and quære if he was the ſame Perſon.

——— ———, . Prebend of Combe Decima Quinta.

——— ———, . Prebend of Wedmore Prima.

ALEX-

Digitized by Google

ALEXANDER HUISH, B. D. Prebend of Wedmore Secunda, Beckington, R. And Hornbloton, R. } in Somersetshire.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 516. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 396.

He was a Native of the City of Wells, entred first at Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, taken thence by the Founder's of Waltham-College, made one of her Original Scholars, and was the first Person that took the Degree of Bachelour in that College.

Rush. Collec. Part 3. Vol. I. p. 197.

In 1640, I find him sent for into Custody as a Delinquent, by the Commons; and afterwards he became a further Sharer in the common Calamities, for the Royal and Episcopal Cause; being for some Time driven from Place to Place, but not formally Dispossessed of Beckington, until about the Year 1650; at which Time he was succeeded by one John After. He was also Imprisoned at Chadfield near ' Bradford, Com' Wilts; ' where he suffered much from the Insolence of the ' Soldiers, and for want of Necessaries; and to ' enhance his Misery, he was shut up Three ' Days in a Dungeon, without any Provision to ' subsist by, but what was by stealth conveyed ' to him; but by the Blessing of God, he was at ' last set at Liberty, by an Exchange of Prisoners. After which retiring to London, he out-lived the Usurpation, was restored to his Preferments, and collated to the Prebend of Writelackington in this Church. Having done extraordinary Benefit for the common Good, he died in the Year 1668, in a good old Age. He was a Person very well read in the Fathers, a noted Critick, a good Linguist, a solid and sober Divine; and assisted in the Polyglot; being one of the Four Correctors of it at the Press.

If find him also under Composition for his Temporals, at 116 li.

See what he Wrote in Wood.

HUMPHRY SYDENHAM, A. M. Prebend of Wedmore Tertia, Ash-Brittle, R. Pocklington, R. And Odcombe, R. } in Somersetshire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 72.

He was of the Ancient Family of the Sydenhams in this County; which justly glories at present in that great Ornament of it, the Honourable Sir Philip Sydenham of Brympton, Baronet. He was first of Exeter-College; was thence nominated to a Fellowship of Wadham, by the Foundress; and the first Person that became A. M. in that College: Afterwards he obtained the above-named Preferments, and had been, as I am informed, Chaplain to Arch-bishop Laud; 'tis certain that he was so to the Lord Howard of Escrick. In the Time of the Rebellion he lost all his Spiritualities; was Plunder'd, and became a great Sufferer for the Royal Cause. In the 'Living of Pocklington he was succeeded by one Mayne, an obscure Person. He died at Dulverton in this County, about the Year 1650, and lies Buried there, as Wood rightly conjectures; tho' he had Erected a Monument for himself at Pocklington. He was a Person of a quaint and curious Stile, better at Practical than School Divinity; and was so Eloquent and Fluent a Preacher, that he was commonly called Silver-Tongue Sydenham; and was not only a Learned, but Worthy, Sober and Careful Pastor over his Parishes, as the Learned Sir Philip Sydenham, whom I must always mention with Honour, has been pleased to inform me.

Wood makes a doubt whether he left more than Two of those Livings, and adds, Mem. p. 604. Saith who? That he was in danger of being turned out, at one of &c. But I am assured from other Hands, that he left all Three.

What he Published is in Wood.

———, . Prebend of Wedmore Quarta. } The Prebend of Wadthrow in this Church is was then Possessed by Arth: at Mattock, Gent. who lived and died a Lay-man, and so is not to be reckoned in this List.

STANDISH, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

He was Imprisoned also (and died under his Confinement) by the Committe of Somerset, for Burying Dr. Raleigh, the Murther'd Dean, by the Common-Prayer.

———, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

———, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

———, . Clergy-Vicar's-Place.

Their Number in this Church is not fix'd. I am informed they are sometimes Five, at other Times Three only; I have taken the middle Number betwixt those Two, and suppose them to be Four at the Time when the Rovagers began upon the Cathedrals.

WINCHESTER.

WALTER CURLE, D. D. Bishoprick.

He was Born at * Hatfield in Hertfordshire; became Fellow of Peter-House in Cambridge, was prefented to a Parochial Cure, (which he discharged in all the Duties of an Excellent Pastor) by the Lord Cecil; afterwards became Chaplain to his Majesty, Dean of Litchfield, and successively Bishop of Rochester, Wells, and Winchester. When the Rebellion Prevailed, he became a great Sufferer for Monarchy and Episcopacy; was in the City of Winchester when it was besieged by the Parliament-Forces; and upon the Surrender of that Place, retired to Subberton in Hampshire, where he died in † 1647. He had a Temporal Estate, which was also put under Sequestration; nor was he allowed to Compound for it; because he would not take the Covenant. He was a Man of very great Charity to the Poor, and expended large Sums in the Repairs of Churches. I think he hath only one Sermon Extant.

* The Lloyd saith Stratford. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 786. Lloyd, Mem. p. 597.

His Noble Palace at Bishops-Waltham was Ruined by the Wars, and is to this Day level with the Ground.

† Lloyd saith before. Un-der. &c. p. 29

JOHN YOUNG, D. D. Deanery, . . . And Overwallop, R. in Hampshire. . . . } Heylin's Life of Laud, p. 395.

He was a Scotchman, and, as I have been informed, Fellow of Sydney-College in Cambridge; in which (unless that Information be a Mistake) those of the Scots Nation are, it seems, admitted to Preferment. He became Dean of this Church in 1616; was Plunder'd in the Time of the Rebellion, at Overwallop; and succeeded there by a Tinker. See the Church of Wells, and Quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 668. Lift of the Clergy Sequestred in Hamps. p. 5.

EDWARD BURBY, D. D. Archdeaconry of Winton, Prebend and Vice-Dean-ship, . . . And * Wanston, . in Hampshire. . . . . } Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 588. Vol. II. p. 713.

* I am not certain, but take the Se-questred Minister of this Living, to have been the same Person with this Archdeacon.

GEORGE

Digitized by Google

GEORGE HACKWELL, D. D. Archdeaconry of Surrey.

See Exeter-College in Oxford.

THOMAS GAWEN, A. M. Prebend, . .
* Exton, R.
And † Stoke Ely R. } in Hampshire.

* Ath. Wood mistake.

† Wood doth not absolutely call this Living after the Restoration; but I conceive it is a mistake, because he is reckoned as the Sequestred Minister of it, in the printed List of the Clergy Sequestred in this County.

He was Son to a Clergy-man of Bristol, but Born at Marshfield in Gloucestershire; became Fellow of New-College in Oxon; and afterwards Travelling to Rome, was at his Return made Chaplain to Dr. Curle, then Bishop of his Diocese. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion he went again to Rome, in the Company of a young Gentleman; and in his Return, at Paris, was discovered to have imbibed some of the Romish Principles. In the Year 1660, he was restored to his Preferments, and had likewise the Living of Farnham in this County bestowed upon him; but it being after found that he was a Romanist, he was forced to quit all, and betake himself to the Service of the Queen Mother: After which he took a Third Journey to Rome; and coming back again to England, died at Westminster, March 8, 1683. He was in great Esteem for his Learning, as also for Greek and Latin Poetry; and having much improved himself by his Travels, was a Person of admirable Breeding, and had his Company much courted and desired.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 372.

See in Wood what he writes.

Let it be observed here, once for all, that Wood's Characters of the Romanists, coming wholly from Persons of the same Persuasion, some Allowance ought to be made for them.

EDWARD STANLEY, D. D. Prebend,
Prebend of Exeter in the Church of Chichester, ...
Hinton-Amner, R.
And
* Moston, R. . . . } in Hampshire.

Stoke is to be the same Person who is to be clear'd of these Preferments.

* Or Mottesfount, as I conjecture.

He was of a good Family in the City of Chichester, was Born there, became Fellow of New-College in Oxford, Master of Winchester-School, and had the Preferments above-named bestowed on him. He lived to Preach the first Sermon in Winchester-Cathedral, after the return of the Dean and Chapter; which was Aug. 19, 1660. This Sermon, with Two or Three others, he afterwards Published, and died in 1662; leaving behind him the Character of a Learned, Godly, and Orthodox Minister of God's Word.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 510.

JOSEPH GOULSON, D. D. Prebend,
And
Waltham, . in Hampshire. . . . .

I find him Prebendary here in June 1643; in which Year he was created D. D. at Oxon, among other Loyalists; but was Originally of the University of Cambridge. I do not find his Name in a List of those Prebendaries of this Church, who were the Incumbents in the Year 1645; so that possibly he had Relinged before that Time; but by his being created D. D. at Oxon, in that Juncture, there seems to be some ground for a Conjecture, that he had fled thither to his Majesty (as very many then did) and consequently had suffered something in his Prebend before he quitted it; if so, he will make a Duplicate here: But I leave this as a Matter of Quære. However 'tis certain, that he (or one of his Name) suffer'd in the Living of Waltham. He out-lived the Restoration, became Dean of Chichester, and died about the Year 1674.

LAURENCE HINTON, D. D. Prebend,
And
Chilbolton, R. in Hampshire, . . .

He had been of Merton-College in Oxon; which is all that I know more of him, save that he was Imprisoned, and died at Chilbolton in 1650.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 216. Fast of the Clergy Sequestred in Hampshire.

WILLIAM LEWIS, D. D. Prebend,
Masterſhip of the Hospital of St. Cross,
And
* East-Woodham, . in this County. }

* Stoke Dr. Lewis, who was Sequestred from this Living, to have been the same Person with this Prebendary. &c.

He was Born in the County of Merioneth, first to Hart-Hall, and thence Elected to a Fellowship of Oriel-College in Oxon. Whilst he was there, and one of the Jun. Masters, he was by a Party of his own Country-men, Advanced to the Provoſtſhip of that College; but being, it seems, too Young for that Office, and indulging himself in some Things very unbecoming of it, he was in a manner forced to Resign it, and went beyond the Seas, having gotten some Post in his Majesty's Service. At his Return he was taken into the Service of the Duke of Buckingham, and being to attend him in his Expedition for the Relief of Rochel, the King Recommended him to the University of Oxford, for his Doctor's Degree; in his Letters for which Purpose his Majesty tells them, that he had Experienced his Diligence and Ability of some Affairs of Weight, wherein he had, in Foreign Parts, imployed him; and being to use his Person in some further Service, thought it fit that he should be graced with the Degree of Doctor, &c. After his Return from that unhappy * Expedition, he had the Prebend of Winchester, and the Masterſhip above-named conferred on him; of both which (and what else he Possessed) he was Dispossessed by the Rebellion: Under which he suffered much for the Royal Cause (nor was the Loss of his Sons who went over to the Church of Rome, to be accounted as the least of those Sufferings) and was Forced to fly beyond the Seas. Into the Masterſhip of the Hospital of St. Cross (which is a Clergy-Preferment) the Parliament thrust John L'Isle, the infamous President of the High Court of Justice; who after Resigned it; and then it was conferred upon Cook the Solicitor-General. In 1660, Dr. Lewis was Restored both to that and his other Preferments, and died after the former in the Year 1667.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 357, &c.

* Of infelicible Note as to Account.

The Estate of the Lord Williams Lawyer in Merionethshire, was decreed forfeited for Treason, &c. and all if November 18, 1652. Sarah Cotsell.

Part 2. p. 216. I take him to have been the same Person with this Prebendary, who was a Native of that County. If not, he ought to be entred in a different Article; for 'tis probable, from his being D. D. that he had been Possessed of some Preferments, and was being declared a Traytor, (makes it not less probable, that he must have been turned out of it. Whether Llanwyny were the Name of the Estate, or of a Parish, or neither, he left that Query.

FRANCIS ALEXANDER, L. L. D. Prebend,
Houghton,
And Crawley, R. } in Hampshire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 600. I take him to be the same Dr. Alexander who was Sequestred from both of his Livings, and I apprehend him to be the same Person with this Prebendary.

He was Admitted to his Doctor's Degree in the Year 1610, as of New-College in Oxford; where, 'tis therefore probable, he had his Education. He was also Blunder'd in those Times.

Digitized by Google

JOHN HARRIS, D. D. Prebend. He was alſo the Warden of St. Mary's College near Winchester; but ſuffered nothing in that Capacity; having by his great Prudence, as I have been informed, preſerved at once his Own, and the Fellows Rights there, together with his Loyalty and a good Conſcience. He was Born at Hardwick in Buckinghamſhire, became Fellow of New-College in Oxford in 1606, and at length Greek Lecturer of that Univerſity, in the Year 1619. He died at Winchester in the Year 1658; and was ſuch an Excellent Preacher, that Sir Henry Savile eſteemed him Second only to his own St. Chryſoſtom. What he Wrote, ſee in Wood, Antiq. Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 59. 149.

EDWARD MEETKIRK, D. D. Prebend. He had been of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and Hebrew-Profeſſor of that Univerſity. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 811.

JOHN OLIVER, D. D. Prebend. He was the ſame Perſon who was alſo the ſuffering Preſident of Magdalen-College in Oxford: Whom ſee there.

SEBASTIAN SMITH, D. D. Prebend. See one of both his Names, and of this Degree, in the Church of Wells, and quære if he be the ſame Perſon.

JOHN CROOK, L. L. B. Prebend. He had been Fellow of New-College in Oxford; was likewiſe Fellow of its Siſter College near Winchester, and Maſter of the Hoſpital of St. Mary Magdalen near that City: But whether he loſt the Laſt of theſe Preferments, or not, I am not informed.

Or Halſwell, as I ſuppoſe, and D. D.

HUGH HASWELL, A. M. Prebend, And Cheriton, in Hampſhire.

There was one Hugh Halſwell of All-Souls, created D. D. at Oxford, among ſeveral other Loyal Sufferers, Jan. 16, 1642. I take him to be the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary. If not, he was doubtleſs a Sufferer, and ought to be inſerted in a diſtinct Article. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 713.

It was the ſame Mr. Taylor, of whom more, anon, both as to his Living and his Charity.

WILLIAM TAYLOR, Chaunterſhip of St. Mary Calender, And St. Lawrence, Ry.

He was alſo Plundered.

ROBERT COPPING, Minor-Canonry.

RICHARD AYLEWARD, Minor-Canonry.

See a Note at Mr. Adworth in Hampſhire.

WILLIAM CLUN, Minor-Canonry.

EDWARD COTTON, Minor-Canonry.

Quære if he was the ſame Perſon who loſt St. Thomas, as I gueſs he was.

——— ———, Minor-Canonry.

Unleſs this Sixth Place was Then Vacant.

I muſt add concerning the Dignitaries, &c. of this Church, in general, that they were moſt of them Plundered, and many of them Impriſoned, &c.

WORCESTER.

JOHN PRIDEAUX, D. D. Biſhoprick. This moſt Learned Perſon was Born at Stowford, an obſcure Village in the Pariſh of Harford, in the County of Devon; became ſucceſſively Fellow and Rector of Exeter-College in Oxford; as alſo Chaplain to Prince Henry; and afterwards ſerved his Royal Father and Brother, King James and King Charles I. in the ſame Station. He was alſo the King's Profeſſor of Divinity in Oxford; Adorned that Chair with his Learned Lectures and Diſputations, for 27 Years together; and underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor in that Univerſity, no leſs than Five times. During his Government of the College, the Fame of his Learning had brought it into ſuch Repute, that it became the Reſidence of more Great and Learned Men, eſpecially Foreigners, than any College in that Univerſity had ever before been. Among whom were Combachius, Amama, Arcſius, Callendrinus, Zeiglerus, and very many other Foreigners, to omit thoſe of our own Nation. In the Year 1641, he was promoted to this Biſhoprick; but the Troubles were at that time ſo far Advanced, that he received little or no Profit from it, to his great Impoveriſhment: For adhering ſtedfaſtly to his Majeſty's Cauſe, and Pronouncing all thoſe of his Dioceſs who took up Arms againſt him, Excommunicate; it is no Wonder that he not only ſuffered in common with the reſt, but even Beyond moſt of his Order; Being Plundered, and reduced to ſuch Great Straights, that he was Forced to Sell his Excellent Library to Subſiſt himſelf and his Family: And, as Dr. Gauden, on that occaſion, obſerves of him, he became almoſt in a Literal Senſe, Liberum Helluo; turning his Books by a miraculous Faith and Patience, into Bread for himſelf and his Children. Of which there goes this Memorable Story, That 'Towards the latter 'End of his Life, a Friend coming to ſee him, 'and ſaluting him in the common Form of How 'doth your Lordſhip do? Never Better in my 'Life, ſaid he, only I have too great a Stomach; 'for I have eaten that little Plate which the Sequeſtrators left me, I have eaten a great Library 'of Excellent Books, I have eaten a great deal of 'Linen, much of my Braſs, ſome of my Pewter, and now I am come to eat Iron, and what 'will come next I know not. By this means he was at laſt brought to ſuch Extream Poverty, that he would have attended the Conferences at the Iſle of Wight, as it is reported, had he not wanted wherewith to accomodate himſelf for the Journy. In this mean Condition he died, in July 1650, at the Houſe of his Son-in-law Dr. Henry Sutton, at Bredon in Worceſterſhire; leaving his Children no Legacy, but Pious Poverty, God's Bleſſing, and a Father's Prayers. Notwithſtanding which, he was attended at his Funeral by ſuch a Train of Perſons of all Ranks and Qualities, as if he had been a Prince. He had been in his Time, a Prodigy of Induſtry; inſomuch that 'tis ſaid, ſeveral Perſons of his College, who with an unequal Conſtitution of Body, attempted to Imitate him, perfectly Deſtroy'd themſelves by Hard Study. His Learning was ſo very Eminent, that the Divinity-School was ſcarce ever filled with ſuch a Conſtant and Numerous Auditory, as in his time: Being by ſome ſtiled Columna Fidei orthodoxæ, Malleus Hereſeωn, Patrum Pater, Ingens Scholæ & Academiæ Oraculum; and by others, it was ſaid, That in him the Heroical Wits of Jewell, Rainolds and Hooker. Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 68, &c. See ſomething more of his Birth, &c. in Prin. Wor. of Devon. Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 99. There is ſomething of his Sufferings in the Pref. to his Poſthumous Works, as I am informed, but I have not yet ſeen that Piece. Fuller, Church Hiſt. L. 11. Cent. 17. p. 232. Lloyd, ubi ſupra.

Digitized by Google

Hooker, as united into one, seemed to triumph anew. He was moreover an Humble Man, of plain and downright Behaviour, and careless of Money, unless it was to bestow upon the Poor; to whom he was very Charitable, until, as Lloyd observes of him, he became One of them himself. I have this only to add of him, That his Moderation likewise was much celebrated among the Party; insomuch that he was by the Lords * appointed one of the Sub-Committee for Correcting what was amiss in Church matters, and settling Peace; and was together with Dr. Winniffe, Dr. Brownrigg, Dr. King, Dr. Westfield, and others of the Number of those Bishops, whom his Majesty had Promoted to please the Party. Which, if duly heeded, would suggest to the Great Patrons of Moderation in our Times (who are again lifting the Party into the Saddle) the instructive Lesson which Mordecai taught Esther, † Think not with thy self that thou shalt escape, &c.

† Fifth, 4, 13. See the Catalogue of his Learned Works in Wood.

CHRISTOPHER POTTER, D. D. Deanery.

He was Born within the Barony of Kendall in Westmorland; and was Nephew to Dr. Barnaby Potter, some time Bishop of Carlisle; whose Consecration-Sermon he preached, and succeeded him in the Provostship of Queen's-College in Oxford; after having been successively Clerk, Taberder, Chaplain, and Fellow of that House. He was at first a Zealous, and much Frequented Puritanical Lecturer at Abingdon; was taken off from those Courses by Arch-bishop Laud, by the same Interest (as I guess) made Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majesty, and and at last promoted to this Deanery. In the Year 1640, he underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor, and at that time met with some Disturbance from the Long Parliament; but their Hand was lain much heavier upon him afterwards: For upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he sent all his Plate to the King, and declared that he would rather, like Diogenes, drink in the Hollow of his Hand, than that his Majesty should Want: For which reason it is no wonder that he afterwards suffered much for the King's Cause. In consideration of which, he was upon the Death of Dr. Balcanqual, nominated to the Deanery of † Durham; but either the Disturbances of the Times, or his own Death, which happened soon after, or Both, prevented his being Installed. However, he continued in the Possession of his Provostship, and died in his College, March 4, 1643, in the 56th Year of his Age: Being, as his Epitaph well observes, by the Goodness of God, delivered from Beggary, Banishment, Imprisonment and such like Misery, which would certainly have attended him, had his Life been drawn out to a greater Length. He was a Person esteemed by all that knew him, to be Learned and Religious; Exemplary in his Behaviour and Discourse, Courteous in his Carriage, and of a Sweet and Obliging Nature, and Comely Presence. But he was more especially remarkable for his Charity to the Poor: For tho' he had a Wife and many Children, and expected daily to be Sequestred, yet he continued his usual Liberality to them; having on hearing Dr. Hammond's Sermon concerning Charity, at St. Paul's, experimented (and bore Testimony on Trial, to) the Truth of that Doctor's Assertion, That Charity to the Poor, was the way to grow Rich. As for his Works, it must be known, that an Answer of his to a Book written by Knot the Jesuit, produced that Reply from Knot, which occasioned Mr. Chillingworth's Incomparable Book, The Religion of Protestants, &c. What else Dr. Potter wrote, see in Wood. I have only this to add of him, that tho' I was obliged to mention him at Durham, because he had a Nomination to the Deanery there, yet I have chosen to give the Account of him at This Church, which was the Scene of his Sufferings: And that his Death happened just timely enough to have Successors nominated (and consequently intitled to an Equitable Right) in Both Deaneries; who were accordingly Afterwards the Sufferers in them. The Person who succeeded in This Deanery, was

RICHARD HOLDSWORTH, D. D. Deanery,

Masterſhip of Emanuel-College in Cambridge,
Margaret-Profeſſorſhip of Divinity in that Univerſity,
Arch-deaconry of Huntington in the Church of Lincoln,
Divinity-Readers Place at Greſham-College,
St. Peter's-Poor, R. in London, . .
And
Another Living (the Name of which I cannot learn) given him by the Earl of Rutland. .

He was the Son of a Worthy Divine of both his Names, and Born at Newcaſtle upon Tyne (where his Father was Miniſter) in the Year 1590. He was Bred at St. John's College in Cambridge; of which he was Scholar, Fellow, and at laſt Elected † Maſter; but whether he was after Forced to Quit that Maſterſhip for that Rectory, I know not. He had been ſome time Chaplain to Sir Henry Hobart, Lord Chief Juſtice of the Common-Pleas; and had a Living given him in the Weſt-Riding of Yorkſhire, which he Exchanged for the Rectory of St. Peter's-Poor. Where he became a moſt Noted Preacher, and was much Followed, more eſpecially by the Puritans. And indeed he ſeems to have been the moſt Celebrated Preacher of his Time. Once, as he was Preaching at Mercers-Chapel, on the Acclamation made to Herod, the Auditory ſeveral times Hummed him in ſuch a manner, that he could not be Heard; inſomuch that he was forced to call out to them more than once, I pray remember the Text. Nor muſt it be omitted, that at another time, when he ſaw them throng in great Multitudes to Hear him Preach, he diſmiſſed them with the Prayers and an Homily; endeavouring to periwade the Giddy People of thoſe Times, not to have Mens Perſons in Admiration, and to Prefer the Publick Offices of the Church to the Private Performances of any the Beſt Man whatſoever. Whilſt he continued diſcharging the Offices of a moſt Faithful Paſtor, at his Rectory of St. Peter's-Poor, the Great Sickneſs happned in 1625; which, however, could not drive him from his Paſtoral Charge: And during his Reſidence there likewiſe, he was † choſen Divinity Reader at Greſham-College; afterwards he was Elected to the Maſterſhip of St. John's College in Cambridge, as is before ſaid; but Quitting it, he was choſen Maſter of Emanuel-College in that Univerſity; and was (ſaid Old Dr. Chadderton, who had Reſigned that Maſterſhip ſome time before, but was ſtill living in the College) The only Maſter that ever he ſaw in that Houſe; ſo excellently well did he diſcharge that Government, as he did afterwards the Office of * Vice-Chancellor, which he ſeveral times underwent with Univerſal Approbation; particularly in the Beginning of the Troubles; at which time he was not ſuffered to continue out his Year, but forced to leave the Univerſity, and Retire, firſt into Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 308. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 556. Lloyd, Mem. p. 437, &c.

His Life by Dr. Preſton, Prefixt to his Lectures.

Left at the Head of Queen's College.

Perſec. Und. p. 8.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 144.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 344.

* See that Church.

Lloyd, ibid.

He had been alſo Preb. of Lincoln: Whether he was ſo at the time of his Sufferings, quere.

† In 1615.

* About 1630: and about three Years after End the Vice-Chancellorſhip of Huntington, then confer'd on him.

He was alſo nominated one of the Aſſembly of Divines. Scots Coll. p. 43.

* Viz. in the Years 1640, 1641, 1642.

Digitized by Google

into the Country, thence to London, where he lay concealed for some Time; and endeavouring to Retire from thence again, was seized and brought before the Parliament, who committed him Prisoner, first to Ely-House, and afterwards (to encrease his Expences) to the Tower, where he was detained near Four Years at a vast Expence and Trouble, being (the Words of Dr. Pierson) Ad mortem usq; Carceribus maceratus. The Crimes at that Time alledg'd against him, were getting His Majesty's Declarations Printed, and Licenping the King's Books; the latter Part of which Charge, the Dr. with very good Reason, utterly denied: For, said he, I could not be so fawny to Licence what the King commanded to be Printed; but indeed, said he, I gave the Printer a strict Charge, punctually to execute his Majesty's Commands. About the same Time also that he was seized and Imprisoned, he was Sequestred from his Mastership and Rectory of St. Peter's-Poor; having been likewise Plundered, as very many others of the London Ministers then were. After about Four Years Imprisonment (as is before said) having procured very great Security, he obtained his Liberty, on Condition, not to go Twenty Miles out of London. Whilst he was thus Imprisoned, the Univerity of Cambridge unanimously chose him to the Margaret-Professorship, in the room of Dr. Ward, then Dead; the Title of which (and if I mistake not the * Burthen too) they permitted him to Enjoy; but took care, by an Order of the House, dated in October 1643, that he should not be Admitted, nor receive any of the Profits, until he had satisfied the Justice of the Parliament. After this he was, as I apprehend, again possessed of his Living (at least his Pulpit) of St. Peter's-Poor; but soon after the Parliament had voted no more Addresses to his Majesty, he was again seized, for Preaching a smart Sermon against that Resolution of the House; and by the Committee of Safety, once more Imprisoned: At which Time that Committee did him the great Honour to declare, that If he was permitted to Preach, he would undo all that they had done. But obtaining his Liberty again some time after, he continued to Preach as often as he could get a Pulpit. Whilst his Majesty was at Holdenby-House, he Requested that this excellent Doctor might be allowed to Attend him, among the other Divines whom he then sent for; but this was utterly denied: Yet he was afterwards permitted to wait on his Majesty at Hampton-Court, where he conferred on him this Deanery, which he then accepted (altho' he foresaw that he could not reap any Profit from it) notwithstanding he had some Years before refused the Bishoprick of Bristol; on purpose, saith Lloyd, that he might with the better Grace defend Episcopacy, when he had no Personal Concern in the Order. However, the Times allowed him not to be Installed, as I think. After this the King again desired that he might attend him at the Isle of Wight; but it was not * granted. Not long after came on the Monstrous and most Damnable Murther of his Sacred Majesty, which so deeply affected this most Loyal and Excellent Person, that he never enjoy'd himself, or his Health after; but by continual Prayers, Fastings, Tears and Grief, contracted a Black Jaundice, and other Disorders, which ended not but with his Life, in the August following that Bloody January. 'Tis very observable, that when his Friends endeavour'd to comfort him in his last Sickness, by telling him, that he was going to be taken from the Evil to come; he replied, with some Vehemence, No no! I foresee from the Good to come; having then upon his Mind a strong Persuasion of the Restoration of the Church and Monarchy, which after happen'd. He died in the Fifty Eighth Year of his Age; and was a Man of a † Comely Personage, of a convenient Stature, and a graceful Aspect; of a most holy Conversation, a sprightly Wit, and a transient Anger, but a perpetual Zeal. In a Word, he was a Person of an unspotted Life, which he past over in a chaste Celibacy; and was thereby enabled to bequeath his Estate to Pious Uses, and his Books to his College. It will possibly be thought no mean Part of his Character to add, that he was an intimate Friend of Bishop Brownrigg's, who drew up his Epitaph; part of which (because that excellent Bishop can be so little suspected of Flattery) I shall here set down, to, compleat his Character, Preco eximius,—S. S. Scripturæ Interpres celeberrimus,—Præfectus integerrimus,—Sanctæ Doctr. Eccl. Angl. custodem Assertor,—Divitiarum pium contemptor,—Eleemosynarum Quotidianus Largitor,—Sanctus & severus—&c. And indeed the great Value which his Majesty had for him, and the University's Choice of him for their Professor in his Absence, under his Imprisonment, and to the Provoking of such Powerful and Prevalent Enemies, seem to lay a sufficient Foundation for believing all these great Things of him. I shall only add, That he was a Person of such great Modesty, that he never Published (himself) more than one Sermon; nor did he Print that until his Majesty had no less than Three Times laid his Commands on him. But after his Death, his Prælectiones, and a Volume of his Sermons were also made Publick.

Ubi supra.

Qverel Cantab. p. 7.

* For if I judge aright his Connections to the Affairs about London, was sometimes after taken off, and he had liberty to go where he would, as at Ingham Chain was lengthened to reach as far as Cambridge.

† As the Author of his Life Characterizes him.

EDWARD THORNBOROUGH, D. D. { Arch-deaconry of Worcester, Canonry-Resid., And Prebend of Preston, } in the Church of Salisbury.

He was Son of Dr. John Thornborough, some time Bishop of this Church; Educated, as I conjecture, at Christ-Church in Oxford (because I find him created D. D. of that House in the Year 1636.) and had been Admitted to the Arch-deaconry Aug. 3. 1629. He died in the Year 1645; which being so far up in the Rebellion, I judge it a sufficient Ground to think, that he had suffered in this Arch-deaconry before his Death; nor have I any other Authority for his * Sufferings. The Case of his Successor was unquestionable; who was

* Viz. in the Arch-deaconry; but as to the Canonry I can be positive.

WILLIAM HODGES, D. D. Arch-deacony of Worcester.

To which he was Admitted May 30, 1645. He was of Exeter-College in Oxford, and Promoted to this Dignity by Dr. Prideaux, then Bishop of this See, whose Daughter he had some Time before Married. He was about the same Time one of the Vicars of Bampton in Oxfordshire; and there seems to be some ground for a Conjecture, that he left that Place on the Ordinance for Pluralities. He was likewise Rector of Ripple in Worcestershire, and was allowed to keep that Living throughout the whole Usurpation. In 1661 he was created D. D. at Oxford, and died in 1676.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 45.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 823.

GILES THORNBOROUGH, * D. D. Canonry.

* If I do not mistake his Degree.

He was Nephew to Dr. Thornborough the Bishop of this Diocese before-mentioned; was Admitted to this Canonry in the Year 1629, and died in 1663. He was also Vicar of Cawley, and of Wolverley in this County; but whether he left both, or either of those Vicarages, I am not informed.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 628. Vol. II. p. 3.

FRANCIS

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 740.

FRANCIS CHARLET, A. M. Canonry, And * Salwarp, R. in Worcestershire, . . .

* To some fewer, and to very imperfect Notices which I have recovered, Mr. Giles Wooley, whom the Abridgment (p. 344) makes Ejected from this Living (or Mr. William Wetherncote, whom the Abridgment (Ibid.) makes Ejected from Cropthorn in the same County; but I think the former of those; otherwise Cropthorn is the Living, and Wetherncote the Successor) is said to come in on Dr. Charles. That Charles is, as I believe, by a mistake of the Transcriber, written for Charlet, and that Charles I should think, to be the same Person with this Prebendary: Only I know not how to reconcile it with what Wood seems plainly to intimate, viz. That this Prebendary was no other than A. M. at the Time of his Death. There was indeed one Dr. John Charles a Prebendary of this Church, but he died in 1640. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 819. If this Dr. Charles of Salwarp was a different Person from this Prebendary, then he ought to be entred in a different Article, &c. Quare further of this whole Matter.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 825.

ANTHONY TYRINGHAM, B. D. Canonry, And * Tyringham, R. in Buckinghamshire.

* As I conjecture; for I have no absolute Certainty, that this Prebendary was the same Mr. Anthony Tyringham with the Rector of 1658 Living. I only guess likewise, from this Rector's most barbarous Usage, which follows, that he was Sequestred.

Some have made Arthur Tyringham mentioned by Dr. Heylin in his Life of Land (p. 60.) Possibly he is too the same Person with this Mr. Tyringham, and there is some mistake in the Christian Name. Bates. Rolt. p. 227, &c.

Where this worthy Person was Born, or in what University he was Educated, I know not. If this Prebendary and this Rector, were, as I take them to have been, the same Person, he met with such barbarous Usage from the Rebels, as almoft exceeds Belief: For he was seized, with Two of his Nephews, on the Road, near Stony-Stratford, by a Party of Dragoons from Ailsbury; who presently Robbed them of their Horses, Money and Cloaths, and sent them away Prisoners to their Garrison. When they were got about a Mile on their Way towards it, the small Party, to whom they were committed, make a Halt, and begin to strip them something nearer than the main Party had before done, and commanded this Reverend Person to take off his Cassock; who not making too much haste to obey their Orders, one of the Dragoons cut him through the Hat into the Head, and with another Blow, cut him over the Fingers, and pretending that they made Resistance, fired a Musquet at one of his Nephews; and then Rifled and Plunder'd them of what had been before left; Two of them withal returning to the Body, called for Assistance; upon which the Whole, or at least a great Part of them, hasten up, and one Captain Pollard, without ever examining the Matter, makes directly to this Mr. Tyringham, and striking a full Blow at him with his Sword, cuts his Arm and Cubit-Bones, cross the Elbow, almoft in funder; upon which his Arm presently hung down dangling by his Side. Nor would the barbarous Villains, until after a long Time, and very much Intreaty, suffer it to be bound up with a Ribband, which one of his Nephews offered him for that Purpose. After this, they are again set upon some tired Jades, and in about Four Hours Time, with much loss of Blood, and quite Fainting, Mr. Tyringham and his Nephews are brought to Whitchurch, within Two Miles of Ailesbury; where they again miserably abuse him, and Plunder him the Third Time; taking from him then His Boots, his Jerkin, his Hat and Cap: And in this miserable Manner, after an Hour's Riding more, in Cold Weather, and dark Night, they bring him to Ailesbury; where the Surgeons the next Day, were forced to cut off his Arm; the loss of which he bore with incredible Patience and Magnanimity; telling the Rebels at that Time, that notwithstanding all their ill Usuage of him, he hoped he should live to see them Hang'd. He was under Cure at the Time when the Mercury, which contains this Relation was written; and there were then great Hopes of his Recovery; but whether he did actually survive or not, I am not informed: This only I am sure of, that he did not live to see the Restoration; and therefore, probably, fail'd in his Hopes of seeing Justice done upon the Villanous Authors of his Miseries. I know nothing more of him, save that he had a Brother called Edward, who was one of the Gentlemen of the Privy-Chamber to his Majesty, and lost his Life in his Service, the Year before this barbarous Outrage happen'd, being Killed by another Party of the Rebells.

NATH. TOMKINS, D. D. Canonry. . .

He was Son of Thomas Tomkins an Eminent and Learned Musician, who had been Gentleman of his Majesty's Chapel-Royal; and was at length Organist there. He was Admitted to this Preferment in May 1629, and died Possessed of it in the Year 1681. He had also the Rectory of Broadway in Worcestershire; but whether he lost that likewise, I know not.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 799.

NATH. GILES, D. D. Canonry. . . . See Windsor-Chapel.

WILLIAM SMITH, D. D. Canonry, And Tredington, R. in Worcestershire, . . .

He was Educated at Wadham-College in Oxford, had been Fellow there, and was by the Founders as yet Living, nominated the Third Warden of that College in 1616; and afterwards underwent the Office of Vice-Chancellor. He was Admitted to this Canonry about the Year 1638, near upon which Time he Resigned his Wardenship. When he was deprived of his Preferments, he lived for some Time at least, retiredly in Oriel-College, and died in * 1658; having, as it seems, with great Meekness and Patience, undergone his Sufferings.

Wood, Ath. I. p. 326.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 979.

Lloyd, Memo. p. 141.

* 1656. Faith Lloyd, Ibid.

HENRY WRIGHT, D. D. Canonry, And Stretton-Grandham cum Aspperton, V. in Herefordshire. . . . .

The Tithes of his Living were Sequestred by the Committee of Hereford, June 23, 1646; tho' he was not Himself Sequestred until the 12th of September Following: And it was a very common Practice in those Times, first to secure the Tithes of a Living about the Beginning of Harvest, and then to Try and Condemn the Minister at their Pleasure. The Reason alledged in the Order for Sequestring Dr. Wright's Tithes, was, That he had for several Years absented himself, and made his constant Residence at Worcester, being a Garrison of the Enemy. But the Order for Sequestring and Formally Ejecting his Person, mentions moreover, in these General Words, his Scandalous and Evil Life; and then adds several Particulars of his Malignancy; which is evermore the Sting in the Tail of these Orders. He lived to the Restoration; but had contracted so many Debts during the Sequestration, that he lived and died Poor.

One of both his Names that been some time Vicar of Newnham in Hertf. Shaers. hene. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 849.

STEPHEN BOUGHTON, A. M. Canonry, And Sub-deanery of the Chapel-Royal, worth 100*l. per Annum*.

Digitized by Google

THOMAS LAURENCE, D. D. Canonry.

See Baliol-College in Oxford.

HERBERT CROFTS, D. D. Canonry.

See Hereford-Cathedral.

ROBERT WHITE, D. D. Canonry.

See Norwich-Cathedral, and quere if this be the same Robert White who is there mentioned.

—— ——, . Minor-Canonry.
—— ——, . Minor-Canonry.

Or whatever other Name is given to those in this Cathedral, who Read the Daily Service; which, 'tis probable, are more than Two; though being ignorant of the State of this Cathedral, I content my self at present with that Number.

This is the Best Account that I am able to give the Reader of this Cathedral; of the Constitution of which (as is just now said) I am wholly uninformed: Insomuch that I know not whether there be any Chaunter, Chancellor of the Church, Treasurer, &c. belonging to it: Nor whether the Canons here mentioned are Residentiaries, or only the same as Prebendaries in other Churches. Nor do I know the Number of either; although I have repeated my Requests to this Church for Information in that and other matters; as I have likewise to the Right Reverend Father in God the Bishop of it: Who was pleased, more than once, with great Courtesie, to admit me to him, after I was engaged in this Undertaking; as likewise to give, or rather assign me some Assistance in it: For I have not yet been able to get his Lordship's Informations out of those Hands, to which he had committed his Characters, in order to be Transcribed, and Transmitted to me. Whether the List of, or any thing relating to, this Cathedral, be among his Lordship's other Observations, I cannot say, nor any thing else of that matter; save that I retain the same Grateful Sence of his Lordship's Favours, as if they had taken the desired Effect, and been as useful and serviceable to me, as his Lordship Kindly and Generously intended them.

Y O R K.

JOHN WILLIAMS, D.D. Arch-bishoprick.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 803.

The Account of this Great Prelate is so interwoven with the Histories of those Times, that I shall but just mention some Few Things of him. He was a Gentleman of one of the most Ancient Families in Wales, Born in Carnarvonshire, Educated at St. John's College in Cambridge, of which he was Fellow; and afterwards became Chaplain to Thomas Lord Egerton, Lord Chancellor of England, one of the Prelors of his Univerfity, Rector of Waldgrave in Northamptonshire, as likewife of Dinam and Grafton, Two other Livings; Refidentiary and Prebendary of Lincoln, Prebendary of Peterborough, and had a Donative alfo in Wales; became likewife Maſter of the Savoy, Chaplain to his Majeſty, Dean of Salisbury, Dean of Weſtminſter, was ſworn of the Privy Council, and in 1621, Promoted to the Biſhoprick of Lincoln; as alſo about the ſame time, by the Intereſt of the Duke of Buckingham, made Lord Keeper of the Great Seal; being the Laſt Clergyman that ever had, and probably ever may have that Truſt committed to him. In 1641, he was advanced to this Archiepiſcopal See, and was at the Head of the Proteſting Biſhops ſoon after; for which he was 18 Weeks Impriſoned in the Tower, and afterwards ſuffered much for his Majeſty's Cauſe. He was once Aſſaulted, and had his Robes Torn from his Back. He was alſo Plunder'd, as I find by an Order of the Houſe of Commons, dated Feb. 18, 1648, which commanded his Plate to be Melted down for the Uſe of the Common-Wealth. After this, he retired to Wales, where he Died, at Glodedd, near Aberconway, in 1649. I purpoſely omit what is ſaid concerning his Favouring and Supporting the Party, his Conniveſcie with Dr. Heylin, his Cenſure in the Star-Chamber, and holding out his Caſtle of Aberconway againſt his Majeſty, &c. as being too long, and admitting of more to be ſaid Pro and Con, than I have either Room or Leiſure here to Inſert. The Reader may ſee theſe things handled at large in his Life by Biſhop Hacket, and in Hanmar's Apology for him. Nor am I very ſollicitous whether he was a Rebel, as the Abridgment would make him, or not: For if he continued Faithful to the Royal Cauſe, then he is an unqueſtionable Inſtance of one who ſuffered much for it: Or, if he was what ſome contend for, a Favourer of the Party, or at leaſt, more a Politician than became a Clergyman, then I hope his Great Sufferings, in common with the moſt Faithful and Loyal of all the Biſhops, will Read a Uſeful and Inſtructive Leſſon to the Moderate Men and Politicians of Our Times.

Scapt. Cowley's Copy of Verſes to him on his Engagement.

And Abridged by Mr. Phillips.

P. 30. The Book ſo called is ſaid in his Defence by Biſhop Hacket, Mr. Phillips, and Mr. Hanmer. The Forms of which, at leaſt (as is plain from p. 70.) are Abridger had ſeen. See in Wood what he wrote.

JOHN SCOT, D. D. Deanery. . . .
Prebend of Teckerington in this Church, } How diſhonourably he got this Deanery, ſee in Hacket's Life of Bp. Williams, P. 207.
And
Barwick in Elmet, R. in Yorkſhire, worth 360 l. per Annum. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 649.

He was Admitted to the Living in 1629, and Died in the King's-Bench-Priſon, very poor, in the Year 1644. He was then ſucceeded by RICHARD MARSH, D. D. Deanery,

Arch-deaconry of York, . . .
Prebend of Huſtwait in this Church,
Prebend of Southwell, ...
Prebend of Rippon, ...
Briſtal, V.
Bourſon, V.
And } in Yorkſhire.
Halifax, V. worth
200 l. per Annum.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 889, 866. Vol. II. p. 822.

The Eſtate of one John Marſh, D. D. who is ſaid to have been Late of Halifax in the County of York, was declared Eſcheated for Treaſon, by an Act of November 18, 1652. Scob. Collect. Part 2. p. 31. Whether I have miſtaken the Chriſtian Name of that Dr. Marſh who was Sequeſtred from Halifax (tho I think, I can be pretty poſitive, I have not. See Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 889.) or whether the Act miſtook John Marſh for Richard Marſh, Or elſe again, whether there might be one Dr. John Marſh, as well as Dr Richard Marſh, who was either ſome time Reſident at, or ſome otherwiſe Related to Halifax. I know not. If the Latter was the Caſe, then Dr. John Marſh ought to be entred in a diſtinct Article: For the Halifax, the Place by which it is deſcribed in the Act, might not be his Living, yet 'tis probable from his being D. D. that he had ſome Preferment or other; and 'tis no leſs probable, from his being declared a Traytor, that he was Turned out of it, whatever it might be. However, Quere.

He was Born at Finkamſted in Hertfordſhire, and Educated in the Univerſity of Cambridge; but created D. D. at Oxford in 1636. He had been Chaplain to Arch-biſhop Laud, to his Majeſty, and to Dr. Mathews, Arch-biſhop of York. In 1614, he obtained the Vicariage of Briſtal, in 1625, the Prebend of Southwell; and the Archdeaconry of York, the Prebend of Huſtwait, the Prebend of Rippon, and the Vicariage of Halifax in

The ſame other Information that I have, make him to have been Fellow of All-Souls-College in Oxford.

Digitized by Google

in the Year 1634. When he got the Vicaridge of Bourſon, I do not find. Perchance it was ſome time during the War, after he had been diſpoſſeſſed of one or both of his other Vicaridges; and it may be particularly, on his Loſing that of Halifax: which I find Sequeſtred from him for Delinquency, to the Uſe of the Forces under the Lord Fairfax, in 1642. Tho' if I gueſs aright, he loſt the Vicaridge of Bourſon alſo, not long after. On the Death of Dr. Scot before mentioned, his Majeſty, then at Oxford, Nominated him to this Deanery; but the Conſultors would not permit him to be Elected, much leſs Inſtalled, until the Reſtoration: When the Former of theſe was performed, Aug. 17, 1660, and the Latter, Three Days after. He lived a very little time to enjoy this Great Dignity; for his Death hapned Oct. 13, 1663.

But Wood ſaith, he got the Vicaridge of Halifax about the Beginning of the Year 1633. Wood. I believe is moſt probable. Ath. Vol. I. p. 822.

Lloyd, ſpeaking of him under the wrong Name of Samuel, ſaith that he underwent Two Sequeſtrations, Three cloſe Impriſonments, and was ſix times by Force ſilenced in his Pulpit. But perchance this belongs to Dejanes Adam, the Suffering Chancellor of Chichester, which Two Perſons, 'tis certain, that Author hath confounded. Mem. p. 103

We have one or more Sermons extant.

GEORGE STANHOPE, D. D. Chanterſhip,
Canonry Reſid. . . . . . }
And
Prebend of Driffield, annexed to the Chauntry. . . . . }

He was Admitted to this Dignity in the Year 1631, had been Chaplain to their Majeſties King James I. and King Charles I Rector of Wheldrake in Yorkſhire (but whether he loſt that Living or not, I cannot ſay) and was Grandfather to the preſent Learned and Excellent Dean of Canterbury; who hath further told me, that he was * Driven to Doors with Eleven Children, and died in the Year 1644.

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 831.

* Which ſeems to make it probable, that he loſt the Living of Wheldrake alſo. If he had not, by the time of his Death, ſuffered in the Revenues of his Chauntry and Canonry; and when he was Turned to Doors, was diſpoſſeſſed of his Living only, then he muſt be reſtored to the Temporal Loſt: Nor could there be any Suffering Chaunter in this Church; unleſs ſome other Perſon was nominated to that Dignity before the Reſtoration.

PHINEAS HUDSON, D. D. Chancellorſhip,
Canonry-Reſid. . . . . . }
And
Prebend of Laghton, which is annex'd to the Chancellorſhip. . . . . }

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 722.

He was originally of Cambridge, but incorporated D. D. at the Univerſity of Oxford, in the Year 1602. He had this Dignity conferred upon him Sept. 26, 1611, and died about the latter End of 1646; By which time the Rebellion was ſo far Advanced, and the Confuſions ſo Univerſal, that there is no queſtion to be made, but he had Suffered in the Revenues of his Dignity; which is hereby further Confirmed, for that it was not Filled up again, until after the Reſtoration.

We publiſhed one Sermon, at leaſt.

———, . Treaſurerſhip. I find ſuch a Dignity mentioned in the Valor Beneficiorum; but whether it be a diſtinct Preferment, or one choſen out of the other Dignitaries or Prebendaries, to execute this Office, I know not. If it be the Latter, then One muſt be diſcounted from the Number of this Liſt.

JOHN COSIN, D. D. Arch-deacony of the Eaſt-Riding.

See Peterborough-Cathedral.

JOHN NEILE, B. D. Arch-deaconry of Cleveland,
Prebend of North Newbald in this Church,
Prebend of Southwell, ...
34 Prebend in the Church of Durham,
And
Beeford in Holderneſs, R. in this County.

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 943. Vol. II. p. 405. 864.

He was Born at Weſtminſter, and Educated at Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge; where he was Scholar and Fellow ſucceſſively; and was one of the Seven Johns, ſo Famous in the Univerſity about the Year 1630. After he left the Univerſity, he was taken into the Family of that Great Prelate, the moſt Reverend Father in God Richard Neile, Arch-biſhop of York, his Uncle, whoſe Domeſtick Chaplain he was; and was in ſome little time preferred by him to the Rectory of Beeford in Holderneſs in Yorkſhire, and to a Prebend in the Metropolitical Church of York, as alſo to Another in the Collegiate Church of Southwell in Nottinghamſhire; and not long after he was made Arch-deacon of Cleveland in Yorkſhire; and by the Reſignation of a Near Relation, he became Prebendary of the Cathedral Church of Durham, about the Year 1636. All theſe Preferments he was poſſeſs'd of before the Civil Wars, or about that time; but becauſe he could never comply with the then Prevailing Party, againſt the King and the Church, he was Turned out of all his Preferments, and deprived of a Subſiſtence, among many other Worthy Men. After the Siege at York, he was forced to Fly to Scarborough, where he very narrowly miſt being Slain in the Caſtle, and from thence Fled from Place to Place, till at length he ventur'd to ſettle at Farnfield in Nottinghamſhire; where by the Severity of the Rebels, he was Reduced to ſuch Want, as to diſpoſe of Part of his Library; but after ſome little time, by Entertaining and Teaching Gentlemens Sons, and ſome other Endeavours, he made a hard ſhift to live till the Year 1660. I muſt not omit to acquaint you with one Extraordinary Inſtance of the Divine Goodneſs to him in the time of his Sufferings, which he often mentioned with great Thankfulneſs to God: A Kinſman of his Wife's, in kindneſs to him and his Family, had lett them a Farm for Twenty Pounds a Year, which was worth much more; but the Gentleman who lett them this Farm, was forced at laſt (in thoſe Hard Times) to diſpoſe of That Part of his Eſtate where this Farm lay; but however, engaged the Purchaſer to let his Kinſman, Mr. Neile, have the Farm on ſtill at the ſame Rent; but as ſoon as the Purchaſer was Fully Poſſeſt of the Eſtate, he ſent a very ſurly Meſſage to Mr. Neile, and let him know, that unleſs he punctually paid his Rent at the next Rent-Day, he would turn him out of his Farm. Mr. Neile receiving this Meſſage, was very much Troubled, as well he might, this Farm helping to Support him; as alſo becauſe he could not tell how to Raiſe ſuch a Sum of Money, at ſuch ſhort Warning. At the Day the Gentleman ſent for his Money, which Mr. Neile had not by him: However, the Servant that came, being importunate, Mr. Neile deſired him to ſtay an Hour or two, and he would endeavour to ſatisfie him. He goes from him to his Wife to conſult what to do; and at laſt they reſolved (viz.) with little Hope of Succeſs) to endeavour to borrow Part or All of the Rent, of ſome Neighbour. In order to this, Mrs. Neile went up into the Chamber to Dreſs her ſelf to go out with her Husband; and though ſhe

In 1613.

Digitized by Google

'she staid not very long there, when she came 'to him again, she was exceedingly Amazed, to 'see a Table covered with Money, brought to him 'without their seeking, and which God was pleas'd almost miraculously to send them, in their great 'Distress, when otherwise, in all probability, They and their Family must have been utterly undone. 'This Money came from the Hands of that Re'verend and Worthy Fellow-Sufferer with, and 'kind Friend to the Loyal Clergy, Dr. Hammond; 'who was intrusted to distribute the Charity of 'several well-disposed Persons. There was a 'constant Correspondence by Letters betwixt Dr. 'Hammond and Mr. Neile, tho' they never, I think, 'saw each other. After King Charles II. came in, 'Mr. Neile was Restored to all his Preferments, 'had a Mandamus for his Doctor's Degree, and 'was made Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majesty, 'and was nominated to the Deanery of York, but 'mist of it. About the Year 1669, he was presen'ted to the Vicaridge of North-Allerton in Yorkshire, 'and exchanged his Rectory of Bexford for that 'of Sisshow near North-Allerton. About the Year '1673, he was, by his Majesty's special Favour '(upon the Death of the Right Reverend Dr. 'Wilkins, Bishop of Chester) made Dean of Ripon, 'where he died April 14, 1675, and there lies 'Buried.

1674. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 405.

I have nothing more to add, but that I received this Account from a Son of this worthy Person, who was lately, and I hope still is, Living, and Successor to his Father in the Vicaridge of North-Allerton.

William Robinson, D. D. Archdeacony of Nottingham.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 749, 855. 875. Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 925. The History of the Univ. and Colledges of Cambridge, p. 42. Harris in Ware's Bishops, p. 42. He died in 1642; and therefore Quære whether he * suffered any Thing before that Time (either in This, or any other Preferments) as also whether any one succeeded, and consequently suffered in the Arch-deacony, before the Restoration. He was Brother by the Mother's Side, to Arch-bishop Laud, was Admitted to this Dignity in 1635, had also a Prebend of Westminster, a Prebend of St. David's, the Rectory of Bingham in Nottinghamshire, and the Living of Long-Whatton in Leicestershire.

Andrew Bing, D. D. Sub-deanery, . . Prebend of Giryendall in this Church, And Arch-deacony of Norwich. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 718, 815.

He had been Fellow of Peter-House in Cambridge, and Hebrew-Professor of that University. He was Admitted to the Arch-deacony of Norwich in 1618, but had been several Years before Admitted to this Sub-deanery, viz. in 1606. However he was the last that appears on the Books of this Church, to have been Admitted to it; and that is the only Authority I have for ranking him in this List. The Reader is once for all to take notice, that This is the Case of all those of the following Prebendaries, from whom I shall make a Reference to this Note.

† Unless this Third Canonry (for if I mistake not there are but Three in this Church) was also possessed at that Time by any of the other Dignitaries.

* Canonry-Resid.

Thomas Paske, D. D. Prebend of Uskelfe.

See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

Samuel Ward, D. D. Prebend of Ampleford.

He was the same Person with the Sequestred Master of * Sidney-College in Cambridge, and dying about the Year 1644, or 1645 (by which Time 'tis probable he had suffered something in the Revenues of this Prebend) was succeeded by Where for more of him.

Humphry Lloyd, A. M. (at least) Prebend of Ampleford, * Fellowship of Oriel-College in Oxon, And Ruabon, V. in Denbighshire. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 685. † As I am informed from that College, and I find one Lloyd, whose Christian Name is not mentioned, in the Visit. Register, from Wood is wholly silent as to his Ejection thence; only Antiq. L. 1. p. 316. He saith, Mr. Lloyd was Imprisoned in 1642, at Oxon, by the Lord Say, for saying, He would rather give the King a Thousand Pounds, than lend the Parliament a Penny.

He was the Son of Dr. Richard Lloyd, Vicar of this Living, and Born at Bedy-Fadden, in the Parish of Tremsynedd, in the County of Merioneth. He was first of Oriel-College in Oxford, thence Elected to a Scholarship in that of Jesus, and some time after back again to a Fellowship in the former College, where he became a noted Tutor, and (whilst the King was at Oxford during the Rebellion) known to his Country-man Archbishop Williams; who then made him his Chaplain, and conferred upon him the Prebend. Some time during the Rebellion his Father died, when he succeeded in the Vicaridge, but soon after lost both That, and his Prebend. After the Restoration he had his Preferments again, and became successively Canon of St. Asaph, D. D. Dean of St. Asaph, Vicar of Gresford; had likewise some time the Sine-Cure of Northop in Flintshire, and was at last preferred to the Episcopal See of Bangor, in 1673. To which he was a considerable Benefactor, and got several Things annexed to it (as well for the encrease of its Revennes, as for the Support of the Fabrick) by Act of Parliament. He died in the Year 1685.

Henry Fairfax, D. D. Prebend of Fridythorp.

He was Son to the Lord Fairfax, Chaplain to the Arch-bishop, and lost nothing, as far as I can learn, but this Prebend; being allowed to keep the Rectory of Bolton-Percy during the Troubles, which he survived; but in what Year he died, I know not.

Timothy Thurcrosse, B. D. Prebend of Langtoft.

He had been Fellow of Magdalen-College in Cambridge. I find one of both his Names, who Resigned the Arch-deacony of Cleaveland, in the Year 1635. And one Timothy Thurcrosse (then D. D.) died at London in the Year 1671. Possibly they may be the same with this Prebendary, who I find lived to the Restoration.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 841.

Thomas Triplet, A. M. Prebend of Fenton.

See the Church of Salisbury.

Thomas Blaikston, . Prebend of Wistow.

Eliazer Duncombe, D. D Prebend of Knaresbury.

He died before the Restoration. See the Church of Durham, and Quære if he be not the same Person, who is there spelt Duncon.

BARNABY

Digitized by Google

BARNABY BARLOW, B. D. Prebend of Dennington, And Prebend of Southwell.

He was Son to William Barlow, some time Fellow of King's College in Cambridge, Born in Hampshire, Elected from Eaton-School to the College aforesaid, in the Year 1614; was some time Chaplain to Dr. Neile, Arch-bishop of York, Rector of Barton in Nottinghamshire, died before the Restauration, and was, saith Dr. Heylin, a Right Solid Man. Life of Abp. Laud, p. 55.

I take him to have been a different Person from Barnaby Barlow, the Exiled Fellow of King's College. But Query whether Barnaby Fabie, which I have mentioned as in Leicestershire, may not be mistaken for Barton in Nottinghamshire; and if so, then this Mr. Barlow was the same Person with him, who is mentioned in the former of these Counties; and more, by mistake as I suppose, called Dr. Barlow, but if he was a different Person from him there mentioned, then Query whether he might not also suffer in his Living in Nottinghamshire, as well as in this Prebend. Sir Leicestershire.

WILLIAM KNOLLES, . Prebend of Warthil.

He had been also Chaplain to the Arch-bishop, and died before the Restoration.

PHILIP FORD, . Prebend of Stillington.

He had been Admitted to this Prebend in the Year 1605, and was also Rector of Nun-Burnholm; but whether he lost that Living or nor, I cannot tell. I conjecture that he died before the Restoration.

JOHN SWIMOCK, A. M. Prebend of Wighton.

For Thor, and the Thirteen following Prebendaries, see the Note at the Subdean Bing, before-mentioned. They all died before the Restoration.

EDWARD QUARELS, B. D. Prebend of South-Newbald, And * Rushington (All-Saints if I conjecture right) R. in Northamptonshire.

* I take the Sequestred Rector of this Living to have been the same Person with this Prebendary.

He was a very Learned, Good, Hospitable and Charitable Man; and abounded in the Two latter Vertues. The Crimes for which he was Sequestred, were Reading the Common-Prayer, and Bowing at the Name of Jesus. His Successor in the Living, was one G——, a young Fellow, Ordained, as far as any one then knew.

WILLIAM BARKSDALE, . Prebend of Barnley.

AMBROSE CUPPINGER, . Prebend of Appletborp, or Apesthorp.

JOHN DENNE, A. M. Prebend of Bilton.

JAMES EVELEIGH, . Prebend of Wetwange.

WILLIAM BANKS, A. M. Prebend of Bugthorp.

WILLIAM BARLOW, jun. . Prebend of Strensall.

JOHN YOUNG, B. D. Prebend of Riccall.

THOMAS KEYT, A. M Sub-Chanter-ship to the Canons, And Prebend of Bolevant.

He had been Fellow of Sidney-College, Cambridge, and Chaplain to Arch-Bishop Matthew; which is all that I know of him.

RICHARD LEAR, A. M. Prebend of Grendale And RICHARD PERROT, D. D. Prebend of Osbaldwick.

He had been Fellow of Sidney-College in Cambridge, and was Vicar of Hasfel in the County of York, which is kept.

He had some other Preferments, which he was allowed to keep as long as he lived: But whether by the means of an Intercest with some of the great Persons then in Power, or by Compliance with the Times, I am altogether uninformed.

last was, if any be, the Preferment that he was allowed

THOMAS BENSON, D. D. Prebend of Helme Archiep'.

THOMAS BRADLEY, D. D. Prebend of * Bole. Castleford, And Acworth, in this County.

* That he was a sufficient Prebendary I am assured, but that this was his Prebend, is meerly a Conjecture; and that not so well grounded as I could wish.

'He was first Chaplain to the old Duke of Buckingham, and then went with him to the Isle of Rhee, and the Siege of Rochell. After his Return 'he was made Chaplain to King Charles I. and 'had the Livings of Castleford and Acworth given 'him (both in the King's Gift) and was made Pre-bendary of York. On the Fifth of March, 1631. 'he married Frances the youngest Daughter of 'the Right Honourable John Lord Saville, Baron 'of Pomefract, by whom he had several Chil-'dren. In the Year 1642, he writes himself '† Sacræ Theologiæ Professor, & serenissimo Regi † In 1642, 'Carolo à Sacris. He was a Person of most un-'comparable Learning and Parts, an Excellent 'Preacher, a ready and acute Wit, and of a Ge-'nerous and Genteel Temper. He was Sequestred 'of his Living of Acworth, and thrust out by one 'Mr. Burbeck, a Stif-Rump'd Presbyterian. And 'whereas Mr. * Calamy saith, Mr. Burbeck was 'succeeded by Dr. Bradley, he speaks fallly; for 'Dr. Bradley was Mr. Burbeck's Predecessor (and, 'God be thank'd, lived to come again to his 'own.) He was Sequestred of Castleford also, 'which Living was usurped by Mr. H. Moorehouse, 'an Army-Chaplain. Dr. Bradley was a very 'Great Sufferer, Twice Sequestred, and Plunder'd 'of all that he had, himself, his Lady, and all his 'Children, turned out of Doors to seek their Bread 'in desolate Places. And that which most of all 'he complained of, was the Perfidiousness of one 'John Lake of Castleford, with whom he trusted 'his Library, who betrayed it into the Hands 'of his Enemies. I heard a Gentleman say, he 'once went to see Dr. Bradley, and that he was 'so Poor, that he was forced to eat Puddings 'made of Boar's Blood; and he found him with 'this Diet. The Dr. Published some Sermons, in the Dedication of which, as I am informed, is to be found more of his Sufferings; but I have not yet seen it.

Sir Thomas Fairfax, one of both his Names (and therefore I think it beyond dispute, that he was this same worthy Person) was created D. D. (of Exeter-College) at Oxford, among several other Loyalists. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 714. * Abridgm. p. 434.

Digitized by Google

—— ——, Sub-Treaſurerſhip.

I find ſuch an Office mentioned in the Valor Beneficiorum; but whether it was continued in the Church down to thoſe Times, or whether he who executes it, be choſen out of the Prebendaries, I cannot tell: If the latter, he muſt be diſcounted from this Liſt.

1 & Henry. * WILLIAM SMITH, A.M. Succentorſhip of the Vicars, St. Laurence, V. And The Holy Trinity Gotheram-Gate, R. } in York.

—— ——, . Vicar's-Place.

—— ——, . Vicar's-Place.

—— ——, . Vicar's-Place.

—— ——, . Vicar's-Place.

—— ——, . Vicar's-Place.

All in full Orders. Before the Reformation each Prebendary had his Vicar; their Number is now reduced to Five (excluſive of the Succentor, as I apprehend) what it was at the Breaking out of the Rebellion, I am not informed; but am content to ſuppoſe them to have been then no more than they are at preſent.

The Number of Prebends in this Church are Thirty Three; in this Liſt there are but Thirty Prebendaries mentioned. Whether the Three remaining ones were at that Time poſſeſſed by any of the Dignitaries, Canons, or Others mentioned in this Liſt, or are of courſe annex'd to any of them, I cannot tell: If they were not, Three more muſt be added to the Number of this Church. Two Prebends, not accounted for in this Liſt (but mentioned in the Valor Beneficiorum) are the Prebend of Southcaue, and the Prebend of Maſham.

A

A LIST

Of some of the

Loyal and Episcopal CLERGY

Who were Dispossess'd of, Driven from, or did otherwise lose, or were kept out of their Preferments, &c. for their Loyalty to the Establish'd Church, during the Time of the Grand Rebellion, &c.

The Collegiate-Churches, Chapels, &c.

The Chapel-Royal.

RICHARD STUART, D. D. Deanery.

See St. Paul's Cathedral.

STEPHEN BOUGHTON, A.M. Subdeanery, worth 100 l. per Annum.

See Worcester-Cathedral.

GILBERT SHELDON, D.D. Clerkship of the Closet, worth 20 Nobles per An.

See All-Soul's-College in Oxford.

—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.
—— ——, . Priest's-Place.

Each worth 70 l. per Annum.

To which may be added, as belonging to the Houshold,

—— ——, . Lord High-Almoner's Place.
—— ——, . Sub-Almoner's Place.

I omit the Chaplains here, because their Salary is so very Small.

The Lord High-Almoner was doubtless one of the Bishops. The Dean and Sub-Dean are Accounted for in other Parts of this List. And it is very probable, that the Clerk of the Closet and the Sub-Almoner had some other Preferments; and perchance may have been named in some other Capacity already, somewhere in the Cathedrals. But as for the Twelve Priests, 'tis probable that They are not any other where mentioned.

EATON-COLLEGE.

RICHARD STUART, D.D. Provostship.

He was Dispossessed of this Preferment in the Year 1643; and in Dec. that Year I find an Order of the House of Commons for Sequestring his Revenues as Provost of this College. He was succeeded in it by the well-known Francis Rouse; as Rouse himself was, on his Decease, by Nich. Lockyer, in 1658; and he by Nich. Monk, in 1660. Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 147. 589, 661.

JOHN HALES, A.M. Fellowship. See Windsor-Chapel.

NICHOLAS GREY, D.D. Fellowship, And Castle-Camps, . in Cambridgeshire. And, if I mistake not, the List also the Chief Mastership of Eaton-School

He was Born in the City of London, Elected Student of Christ-Church, and from thence made Master of the Charter-House School; and after that of Merchant-Taylors, and at last Chief Master of Eaton-School, about the Year 1631, or 1632. In the Time of the Rebellion he lost the above-named Preferments, was put to difficult Shifts, and with much ado Rubb'd out for some Years. His Living. Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 104.

Digitized by Google

RICHARD MARSH, D. D. Prebend. . . .
See the Cathedral of York.

RICHARD MOYERS, . Prebend.
See the Church of Litchfield, and Quare.

THOMAS ASTEL, . Prebend. . .

—— ——, . Prebend. . . . . . .

—— ——, . Prebend. . . . . . .

This Dean, and these Prebendaries held a Chapter, June 6, 1640; which is all the Authority that I have for making the latter of them the particular Persons, who suffered at the Diſſolution of the College: Whether there are any Chaplains belonging to it or not, I cannot ſay. The Prebendaries were all of them Beneficed alſo; but how any of them fared, except Dr. Marſh, at their ſeveral Livings, I know not.

This College was diſſolved in thoſe diſmal Times; all the Members of it were turned out; all the Lands and Revenues which belong'd to the Dean and Chapter, were ſold; and One, who called himſelf Dr. Richardſon, was appointed to Preach in the Minſter by the Parliament; tho' in all probability, he was never in any Orders, Preſbyterian or Epiſcopal. On the Reſtoration he went to Holland, and practiſed Phyſick there: And tho' he thus gave way to the right Owners, yet he is by the Abridgment reckoned as Ejected, &c.

P. 430.

SOUTHWELL-COLLEGE.

ROBERT SANDERSON, D. D. Prebend.

See Chriſt-Church in Oxford.

JOHN NEILE, A. M. Prebend of Oxon.
See York.

RICHARD MARSH, D. D. Prebend.
See York.

BARNABY BARLOW, B.D. Prebend.
See York.

How many other Prebends there are belonging to this College, I know not; nor any thing elſe of it, ſave that it was Plunder'd of all its Records, in the Time of the Rebellion; and ſo I preſume had the ſame Fate with the Colleges of Manchester and Rippon before-mentioned; notwithſtanding part of an Inſcription, which is on a Pillar in the Church, denounced this Wo againſt ſuch as ſhould violate it:

Sint ſicut Oreb & Zeb, & Zeba & Salmana, qui dicunt poſſideamus Sanctuarium Dei.

WESTMINSTER.

RICHARD STUART, D. D. Deanery, And * Prebend of the Third Stall. . . .

* Unleſs his having the Deanery vacated the Prebend, of which Quare And if ſo, poſſibly this Prebend continu'd unfill'd till 1660.

Wood in his Athenæ, ſaith, that he was made Dean of this Church when Dr. Williams was Tranſlated to York; and immediately adds, not in 1641, but in 1645; of which I know not what to make: For 'tis plain from himſelf, that Dr. Williams was Promoted to the Arch-biſhoprick in 1641. If Dr. Stuart was not Admitted to this Deanery (or rather was not nominated to it) until 1643, then his Sufferings in it can commence from that Time only, and this Deanery muſt be added to the Arch-biſhoprick of York, as another Preferment, in which Dr. Williams alſo ſuffered for ſome Years; unleſs the Deanery lay vacant during that Time. See St. Paul's Cathedral.

Vol II. p. 79. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 924.

Ath. Vol. I. p. 804.

THOMAS WILSON, D. D.* Archdeaconry of Weſtminſter, Prebend of the 2d Stall, ... Prebend of Neaſdan in the Church of St. Paul, ... † Pulborough, R. in Suſſex, . . . And Debden, R. in Eſſex, if I do not miſtake the Name of the Living.

* He was ſo in 1640; which is all the Authority I have for making him a Sufferer in this Preferment.

† If I gueſs right as to the Name of this Living. See a Note at the Bing in Wiltſhire.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 885, 924. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 929.

He was Originally of Merton-College in Oxford, and had been B. D. of that Univerſity; but afterwards, as I find, became D. D. at Cambridge. He was ſome time Sub-Almoner under Biſhop Montague; and was Inſtalled to the Prebend of this Church, Jan. 10, 1625. I find a Doctor of Divinity of this Name committed Priſoner to Lambeth-Houſe; which I take to be the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary. I have nothing but Conjecture alſo for this Prebendary's being the ſame Dr. Thomas Wilſon, who was the Sequeſtred Rector of Pulborough (if at leaſt I am right in gueſſing at the Name of his Living) and the ſame Dr. Wilſon who loſt a Living in Eſſex. If he was ſo, he was Diſpoſſeſſed of the latter as being a Pluraliſt, and Diſaffected to the Parliament; and was forced to Compound for his Temporals at Five Hundred Fifty Eight Pounds. However that be, 'tis ſure that this Prebendary was forced to fly to the King at Oxford, where he was Incorporated D. D. Aug. 12, 1645, and died ſome time before the Reſtoration.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 756.

He had ſome time too the Rectory of Wimbiſh in Eſſex; and of Debden was one the Living which he left in that County. I believe it was this of Wimbiſh. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I p. 885.

GABRIEL MOORE, . Prebend of the First Stall.

He is the laſt who occurs Admitted to this Prebend before the Wars; which, if I conjecture right from the Death of his Predeceſſor, was in 1631, or the beginning of 1632. He had been ſome time Domeſtick Chaplain to George Duke of Buckingham. One of both his Names was Fellow of Chriſt's in Cambridge, Taxor there in 1616, and Proctor in 1620. I believe he was the ſame Perſon with this Prebendary.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 924.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 702.

LODOWYCK WEMMYS, (or Weems) D. D. Prebend of the Fourth Stall, Lambourn, R. in Eſſex, ... And Gedney, Donative in Lincolnſhire, . .

I take him to have been the ſame Perſon who loſt all theſe Preferments.

He was Bred in the Univerſity of Cambridge, and Incorporated D. D. at Oxford, Aug. 12, 1643, among ſeveral other Suffering Loyaliſts. He had been Admitted to this Prebend Feb. 5, 1630; was deprived of his Living by the Houſe of Commons, April 22, 1643; and one G. Carr was put into his room by the ſame Authority.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 729.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 905

Digitized by Google

MATTHEW NICHOLAS, L. L. D. Prebend of the Fifth Stall.

See Bristol-Cathedral. He succeeded Dr. William Robinson, who died in 1642. Quere whether Dr. Robinson (whom see in York) suffered any thing in this Prebend at that Time; for if so, Dr. Nicholas makes a Second Sufferer in it.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 995.

PETER HEYLIN, D. D. Prebend of the Sixth Stall, Alresford, R. And South-Warnborough, R. } in Hampshire.

The Life and Character of this Zealous Assertor of the Rights and Liberties of the Church, are generally so well known, that I shall here mention very little of them, except what concerns his Sufferings. He was descended from a very ancient Family in Montgomeryshire, but Born at Burford in Oxfordshire; had been Fellow of Magdalen-College in Oxon, Chaplain to the Earl of Danby, much in the Esteem of the incomparable Arch-bishop Laud, and November 9, 1631, was Installed Prebendary of this Church. At the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was Possessed of the above-named Preferments, and was Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majesty; but whether he had any other Ecclesiastical Promotions at that Time, I cannot tell. His irreconcilable Enmity to the Dissenters, had render'd him obnoxious to the Party, among the very first of the Clergy; and accordingly the House of Commons in 1640, ordered Articles to be drawn up against him, for Promoting the Suit against Pryn: Tho' if I mistak e not, he was no other ways concerned than in Furnishing the Lords of the Privy Council, at his Majesty's Command, with Matters out of the Histriomastix. But getting clear of that Prosecution, he was, not long after, brought before the same Committee again, on some Articles drawn up by Mr. Pryn himself. The chief Accusation in which concern'd a Sermon that he had Preached many Years before. But Dr. Heylin getting the better of his Adversary in this also; and being dismissed by the Committee, retired to Alresford; where he had not been long before the Wars broke out. In the beginning of which he was sent for by a Party of Horse from Portsmouth, which he had the good luck to Escape: But being continually disturbed with new Allarms, he was forced to betake himself for Sanctuary, to his Majesty at Oxford. Upon the News of which the Committee take him in Hand a Third Time, Vote him a Delinquent, and sequester the Profits of his Prebend, and of both his Livings, as likewise his Temporal Estate, and all his Goods and Chattels: In pursuance of which they seiz'd his Books, which themselves Appraised at One Thousand Pounds, and carried them to Portsmouth; where they were put into a publick Library, from whence he could never after redeem them. At the same Time also they seized upon his Corn and Hay; and in Carts and Waggons carried away his Houshold Goods; leaving him as Naked as Job: insomuch, that being asked by his Friends at Oxford how he lived, he told them, upon Horseflesh and Old Leather, meaning his Coach and Horses, with which he had fled to Oxford; which was the only Thing he had saved of all his Goods, and which he was forced to sell for a Subsistence. When he had eaten up these, to use his own Figure, he was afterwards for some Time supported by Charity; sending his Wife to London, amongst her own Relations, to try what she could get there; and Travelling himself in Disguise through the Country, sometimes under the Name of Barker, and at other times under that of Harding; the Parliament being resolved, If they could take him, that he should follow his good Lord of Canterbury to another World, than that described in his Cosmography. In this Condition he wandred up and down a pretty while, sometimes with, sometimes without a Groat in his Pocket, being entertained at the Houses of several Loyalists, but very like to have been betray'd by an Holy Sister, in one of them at his first setting out: At length being weary of such a Pilgrimage, and having gotten some Supplies of Money, he settled at Winchester, in the House of one Mr. Lizard, a Right Honest Man; where he continued in Peace until that Garrison was Treacherously deliver'd up to the Parliament; at which Time he was forced to lie concealed in a private Room of that House for a while; the Soldiers in the mean Time searching for him with the utmost Diligence. At length taking the Opportunity of a Market-day, he made his Escape in the Habit of a Country-man, with a long Stick in his Hand; but some Miles out of that City he met with a Party of the Parliament-Soldiers, who examin'd him, and feeling a Ring under his Glove, which in the Hurry he had forgotten to take off, they swore he was some Runaway Cavalier, and presently fell to Rifling him: At which instant of Time another Party of the Parliament Horse coming by, gave the Fellows notice, That a superior Party of the King's Forces was at Hand: Upon which they were obliged to quit the Doctor, and could carry away nothing but his Ring, and what Money they found in his Pockets. But this proved however a much more tolerable Loss than that of his Life, which probably would have been endangered, had they carried him back to Winchester. After this by several Removes, in 1648, he came to the Seat of his Elder Brother, called Minster-Lovel in Oxfordshire; which he Farmed of his Nephew Colonel Heylin; and there he continued to follow his Studies, to write in Defence of the Church of England; and not only to entertain, but also to relieve great Numbers of Loyalists, especially of the Clergy. From thence in the Year 1653, he removed to Lacy's-Court in Abingdon; some time after which his Temporal Estate, altho' he had before compounded for it at Goldsmith's-Hall, was ordered to be Decimated, and he appearing on that account before Oliver's Major-General, to argue his own Case, one Captain Allen, formerly a Tinker, and his Good Lady a poor Tripe-Wife, took upon him to reprove the Doctor for maintaining his Wife so highly: Whereupon Dr. Heylin, with his usual Courage and Spirit, told him, That he had married a Gentlewoman, and did maintain her according to her Quality, and so might he his Tripe-Wife. In the mean Time it was in vain, that the Doctor pleaded his Case before the Bofta, and accordingly the Order for Decimation was put in Execution. I have this only to add concerning his Sufferings, that he had in all Eleven Children; but how many of them were Born or Living, at the Time when he was first strip'd of all he had, I cannot learn. This however is sure, that he lived to be Restored to all his Preferments with the King; and died at Westminster, Sub-dean of that Collegiate-Church, May 8. 1663. As to his Controversies (particularly with Doctor Prideaux, and Dr. Williams) and his Writings, I refer the Reader for them to Wood; out of whom I shall only add further, That he was a Person endowed with singular Gifts, of sharp and pregnant Wit, solid and clear Judgment, &c.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 995. Life by Bernard. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 781. See also his Life by Vernon. See his Collections, p. 276.

Rush. Collec. Part 3. Vol. I. p. 228.

In the beginning of the Year 1643.

1663. saith Wood.

See Wood Antiq. L. 2. p. 440.

Whether the Sub-deanery of this Church be always enjoyed by one of the Prebendaries, or is sometimes Distinct, I cannot tell: If the latter was the Case when the Parliament turned out those of this Church, then one more must be added to this List. Quere also whether Doctor Heylin (or who else) was Sub-dean, when the Prebendaries, &c. of this Church were turned out.

JONATHAN

Digitized by Google

JONATHAN BROWN, D. D. Prebend of the 7th Stall.

See Hereford-Cathedral.

BENJAMIN LANEY, D. D. Prebend of the 8th Stall.

See Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge.

ROBERT NEWELL, A. M. (at leaſt) Prebend of the 9th Stall, Treaſurerſhip of Chicheſter, . . . Sub-deanery of Lincoln, ... Arch-deaconry of Buckingham, . . And Canonry of Lichfield. . . . . .

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 926.

All theſe Preferments he was poſſeſs'd of, as far as I can gueſs by Wood, when the Rebellion brake out. He died in the Year 1643; by which time, if I miſtake not, the Prebendaries of this Church had been Turned out; and conſequently he was at leaſt a Sufferer here. But whether (or what) he ſuffered in his other Preferments, I muſt in good part leave as a Quære with the Reader; who may be pleaſed to ſee ſomething more of him in ſome of the other Churches here named.

Ath. Vol. I. p. 784.

He was Half Brother to Dr. Richard Neile, Arch-biſhop of York, to whom he was Chaplain alſo. He had been Educated in Cambridge, Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in the Year 1660, and Rector of Wormley, and Vicar of Cheſthunt, Both in Hertfordſhire. One of both his Names alſo, and a Doctor of Divinity, was ſome time Rector of Gothall in the ſame County. He became Arch-deacon of Bucks in the Beginning of 1614, was Admitted to this Prebend in 1620, had the reſt of theſe Preferments conferred upon him much about the ſame time (or afterwards,) and was ſome time alſo Prebendary of Durham. His Succeſſor in his Prebend of Weſtminſter, was

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 822.

Chamb. Antiq. P. 51.

GILBERT WIMBERLY, D. D. Prebend of the 9th Stall, And St. Margaret's Weſtminſter. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 784. Perſec. Undec. p. 41.

This Worthy Perſon was at that time alſo Coaplain to his Majeſty, and had this Prebend conferred upon him (as far as I can gueſs by the Account which I have received of him) by his Majeſty, † after the Parliament had Turned out the Prebendaries of this Church. And this, if true, confirms the Conjecture which I have made before, concerning the Sufferings of Mr. Newell in this Preferment at leaſt, before his Death. At the ſame time that he was Sequeſtred, his Houſe which ſtood in St. Margaret's Church-yard, was Plunder'd of his Plate and all his other Goods, and a Library, which was valu'd at 1000 l. The Conſutions never permitted him to Enjoy this Prebend; which is all that I know of him.

† And ſo poſſibly he had only a Nomination to this Prebend, without being Inſtalled, by reaſon of the Confuſions. And for this reaſon I preſume it is, that he occurs not in Mr. Newcourt's Account of the Prebendaries of this Church.

LAMBERT OSBALDESTON, A. M. Prebend of the 10th Stall, Prebend of Ilton in the Church of Wells, And Whethamſted, R. in Hertfordſhire, worth 300 l. per Annum.

The I have other Informations, which aſſure me was Will. Osbaldeſton D. D. who had Whethamſted; whom ſee in Eſſex.

He was admitted to the Prebend of this Church in the Year 1625. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 917.

He had been, as I preſume, a Scholar in the College-School of this Church, being a Native of St. Olave's Southwark, and had his Academical Learning at Chriſt-Church in Oxford. Afterwards he became Maſter of the ſaid School, where he was much Favoured and Patronized by Dr. Williams; and ſticking cloſe to that Prelate in his Conteſts with Arch-biſhop Laud, and highly Reflecting on the Laſt of theſe Prelates, he ſuffered for it under the Cenſure of the Star-Chamber, being Sentenced to Loſe all his Spiritualities, to have his Ears nailed to the Pillory, and to pay 3000 l. But withdrawing himſelf, he avoided Pilloring, and if I miſtake not, the Fine too. This happened about the Year 1638. But when the Long Parliament met, they Reſtored him to his Preferments, and ſuffered him to keep his Prebend after all the Reſt of the Prebendaries were Turned out. But when he ſaw what Mad Courſes the Members of that Parliament took, Repenting of what he had Formerly done to ſerve the Party, he Favoured his Majeſty's Cauſe, and was Sequeſtred of all his Preferments; particularly of his Living in the Country, for Inſufficiency; altho' they afterwards employed him Themſelves in moſt Examinations at Weſtminſter. He lived Retired till the time of his Death, which happened in the Year 1659. He was a Learned Man, an Excellent School-maſter, and, as 'tis ſaid, Had above 80 Doctors in the Three great Faculties, in the Two Univerſities, that did gratefully acknowledge their Education under him, before the Grand Rebellion brake out. I have this only to add, that I hope this Uſage will prove another Inſtruction to the Moderate Men of our Times, how Little they ſhall be Favoured by That Party which they are mourning into the Saddle, unleſs they will reſolve to become as Thorough-pac'd Rebels as Themſelves.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 811.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 617.

On his being Turned out in 1638, or 1639, Dr. Benj. Laney ſucceeded him in this Prebend, and afterwards, viz. in 1641, had the Prebend of the 9th Stall.

WILLIAM HEYWOOD, D. D. Prebend of the 11th Stall, Prebend of Chamberlain-Wood in the Church of St. Paul, And St. Giles's in the Fields, R. London.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 928. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 218. Lloyd, Mem. p. 512. Perſec. Und. p. 45.

He was a Native of the City of Briſtol, became ſucceſſively Scholar, and Fellow of St. John's College in Oxford; after that, Chaplain to Arch-biſhop Laud, as alſo to his Majeſty, and about the Year 1636, D. D. and Vicar of St. Giles's above-named. Sept. 28, 1638, he had this Prebend conferred on him; but ſoon after falling under the Diſpleaſure of the Party, he was Sequeſtred from his Living, on * Articles preferred againſt him to the Parliament, by his Pariſhioners, according to the Mode of the Times; and was the very Firſt Perſon that I meet with Diſpatched by the Committee for Plundered Miniſters; who made their Report (which was agreed unto by the Houſe,) Jan. 25, 164⅞. He was alſo Impriſoned in the Compter, in Ely-Houſe, in the Ships, Forced to fly, and his Wife and Children Turned out of doors: By which means he was Reduced to great Want; inſomuch that he was forced to keep a private School in Wiltſhire, under, and in the Name of his Son. But at laſt, living to the Reſtoration, he was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Preferments, and died in July 1663, leaving behind him the Character of an Excellent Tutor, a General Scholar, and a Meek Man in Temper and Converſation.

He had alſo the Church of Lyngdon in Eſſex. Quere if he ſuffered any thing there.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 613.

* An Anſwer to which was published by one R. M. which I have not yet ſeen.

See in Wood what he had alſo.

GEORGE

Digitized by Google

County also he was Poſſeſſed of the Living of Colmor; but whether he loſt that Rectory, or not, is unknown to me. He died in the Time of the Grand Rebellion; which is all that I know more of him, ſave that on the Reſtoration his Canonry was, by Letters-Patents granted the 26th of July 1660, conferred on George Evans, A. M. who was Inſtalled therein the 30th of that Month.

DAVID STOKES, D. D. Canonry, . . Fellowſhip of Eaton-College, ... And Binfield, R. in Berkſhire. . . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 729. Where there alſo he reckons his Fellowſhip of Peter-Houſe among the other Preferments which he loſt. But quere how to reconcile it. One David Stokes, then A. M. held the Living of Brinkloe in Warwickſhire and Dugd. Warwickſh. p. 161. Cooper's Wood be miſtaken in the Time of his Death.

He was Educated in the College-School of Weſtminſter, and from thence Elected to Trinity-College in Cambridge: After which he became Fellow of Peter-Houſe in that Univerſity. July 11, 1628, his Majeſty King Charles I. granted him his Letters-Patents for this Canonry, in the room of Richard Mountague. When he was Inſtalled I am not informed; but loſing this and his other Preferments in the Time of the Rebellion, he was put to his Shifts, as other Royaliſts were, and retired to his Majeſty at Oxford, where he was created D. D. in the Year 1645. I know not what became of him afterwards, until the Reſtoration; at which Time he was Re-poſſeſſed of his Preferments; and ſpent the remainder of his Life in great Repoſe and Quiet. He died May 10, 1669; having * Reſigned this Canonry ſome time before, as I ſuſpect; becauſe I find by a Tranſcript of the Regiſter of this Chapel, that Henry Witton, A. M. was Inſtalled in his room, May 1, that Year; the Letters-Patents for which muſt by Conſequence bear Date before the 10th of May (which Wood is poſitive was the Day of this excellent Sufferer's Death) and even On or Before the firſt of that Month.

The particular Day on which they are ſaid to be Dated, is, as I am ſatisfied, miſtaken in my Tranſcripts, and therefore I omit to mention it. What to be Publiſhed, ſee in Wood.

DANIEL COLLINS, D. D. Canonry. He was Inſtalled March 11, 1631 (by vertue of Letters-Patents which were iſſued June 18, 1628, or 1629) in the room of Thomas Frith. He died, as I preſume, under the Uſurpation; becauſe his Majeſty King Charles II. by Letters-Patents dated the 25th of July 1660, conferred the Canonry on William Chamberlain, D. D. who was Inſtalled the Second of Auguſt following.

One Daniel Collins, D.D. held the Rectory of Cowley, and the Vicaridge of Ruiſlip in Middleſex. I take him to be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer if he ſuffered any thing in the Former. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 594, 724.

THOMAS HOWELL, D. D. Canonry. He was Inſtalled November 16, 1636, in the room of Thomas Horn. The Letters-Patents for which were dated the 12th of the ſame Month: But dying during the Uſurpation, as I have elſewhere ſaid, his Canonry was ſoon after the Reſtoration (by Letters-Patents dated the 10th of July 1660) beſtowed on Ralph Brideoak, D. D. who was Inſtalled the 18th of the ſame Month. See the Cathedral of Briſtol.

WILLIAM BROUGH, D. D. Canonry. He was Inſtalled Feb. 1, 1638, in the room of John King, jun. the Letters-Patents for which Purpoſe bear date the 23d of January foregoing. He out-lived the Uſurpation many Years; and at the Time of his Death was ſucceeded by Peter Scot, L. L. D. who was Inſtalled the 13th of July 1671, by vertue of Letters-Patents which had been granted the 11th of that ſame Month. See Glouceſter-Cathedral.

THOMAS BROWN, D. D. Canonry, St. Mary-Aldermary, R. in London, And Oddington, R. in Oxfordſhire. . . .

He was a Native of the County of Middleſex, became Student of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, one of the Proctors for that Univerſity, and Domeſtick Chaplain to Arch-biſhop Laud; as alſo to his Majeſty, by whoſe Favour he was created D. D. at Oxford in February 1642. At that Time, to early were his Sufferings, he had been driven from his Church in London, and from this Canonry; As he was afterwards from his Living of Oddington. The Letters-Patents for the Canonry, when it was conferred on him in 1639 (on the Reſignation of Samuel Baker) bear Date the 23d of May that Year; and he was Inſtalled the 28th of the ſame Month. When the Rebellion prevailed, he was forced to quit the Kingdom, and fly beyond the Seas; where he was for ſome time entertained by Mary Princeſs of Orange, as her Chaplain. On his Majeſty's Reſtoration he was Re-inſtated in his Preferments; but never obtained any higher Station in the Church. His Death happen'd in the Year 1673, at Windſor, where he lies buried under a Monument of Free-ſtone, erected for him by Iſaack Voſſius (whom Dr. Brown had made his ſole Executor) who thus Characterizes him in the Inſcription of it; Vir apprimè D. Eliæ & Eruditus; Criticus Acutus; Facundus Orator; Felix Philologus; Antiquitatis Chronologiæque cultor ſolertiſſimus; Ænigmatum, Dilemmatumque Conſcientiam dubitantium, Oedipus admodum Coriſianus, &c. Notwithſtanding which Account of his great Worth, I find his Pariſhioners of St. Mary-Aldermary once accuſed him to his Patron Arch-biſhop Laud, of having Preached Blaſphemy; but it was undoubtedly againſt either Calvin or Carwright; for I am ſatisfied it was not againſt God Almighty. After his Death the Canonry was beſtowed on Robert Young, A. M. who was Inſtalled December 19, 1673, by vertue of Letters-Patents, which were iſſued the foregoing Sixteenth of that Month.

Joan. Top. Lond. Vol. I.

p. 156.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 581.

Aged 70.

See his Learned Works in Wood.

GEORGE GILLINGHAM, D. D. Canonry. And Chalton, R. in Hampſhire. . . . .

He was of Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, and as ſuch, created D. D. at Oxford, in the Year 1636: At which Time he was Chaplain to his Majeſty; who was afterwards pleaſed to beſtow on him this Canonry, by his Letters-Patents granted October 21, 1639; the Canonry being then vacated by the Death of Dr. John Ely: He was Inſtalled the Second of the following Month. After the Rebellion brake out, he was Perſecuted from Place to Place, and took Shelter for ſome Time at Southampton; but was at laſt driven thence likewiſe. However he out-lived his Troubles, was on the Reſtoration Poſſeſſed of his Preferments again, obtained others in the Church, and died December 16, 1668: Soon after which he was ſucceeded in this Canonry by John Butler, D. D. who was Inſtalled June 26, by vertue of his Majeſty's Letters-Patents, bearing Date the 11th of January foregoing.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 354. Life of the Sequeſtred Clergy in Hampſhire.

JOHN HALES, A. M. Canonry, . . And Fellow of Eaton-College. . . . . .

This moſt Learned Perſon is ſo well known,

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 425, &c.

that I shall need say the less of him. He was a Native of the City of Bath; but the Paternal Estate, which had continued in the Name for several Descents, lay at the Village of Highchurch, about Two Miles distant from that City. He was sent to the University at the Age of Thirteen; was at first Scholar of Corpus-Christi, and afterwards Fellow of Merton-College in Oxford. He was made Fellow of Eaton, partly, as I conjecture, by the Interest of Sir Henry Savile, and partly by that of Sir Dudley Carleton. To the former of whom his great Learning, and particularly his exact Knowledge in the Greek Tongue * (even in those younger Years) had rendred him not only known, but useful, in his noble Edition of St. Chrysostom. The other of these Gentlemen he had attended in his Embassy to the United Provinces, wh re he was assisting to the Synod of Dort, then sitting. After this he gave some Assistance to Mr. Chillingworth in his Book against the Papists; and about the Year 1638, his great Learning coming to the Knowledge of Arch-bishop Laud, that excellent Prelate sent for him, and discourfing with him upon several Points of Religion, did by † Rational Conviction (not as some would have it by Preferment, viz. that of this Canonry) so fix and settle him in the Communion of the Church of England, that he ever after adhered stedfastly to, and at last suffered extreamly for it; which alone is a sufficient Evidence of his Sincerity: But if to this we add the Consideration of his great Seriousness and Piety many Years before his Death, there can be no Question made, how groundless the Calumny before suggested is, that it was Preferment and not Argument (or rather that Preferment was the Argument) which settled him in the Bosom of the Church of England. However this Fact is certain, that Arch-bishop Laud soon after made him his Chaplain, and in the following Year procured him a Patent for the Canonry, which bears date the 23d of May 1639; by vertue of which he was Installed the 27th of June following, in the room of James Revell, D.D. then deceased, if I mistake not. When the Confusions had over-spread the whole Nation in the Time of the Rebellion, this most learned Person (tho' in his younger Days he used to say he thought he should never die a Martyr) became, as is before hinted, a noble Confessor for the Cause of the Church, and at last died little less than a Martyr for the same; it being verily believed, that had not Extremities contributed to the shortening of his Days, his natural Constitution would have carried him on to at least Ninety Years of Age. He was first Dispossessed of his Fellowship of Eaton, and one Penwarden substituted in his room; who being afterwards touched in Conscience for the Wrong he had done so worthy a Person by eating his Bread, made Mr. Hales a voluntary Tender of it again; but he utterly refused to be restored by the Authority of the Parliament. After this he had an Offer of an Hundred Pounds a Year Salary from a Noble Family in Kent, would he repair thither: But chusing a retired Life, he rather accepted of a quarter of that Salary, in the Family of one Madam Salter near Eaton, and was Tutor to her Son. At last Dr. King, the suffering Bishop of Chichester, together with several of his Relations, retiring to the House of this Gentlewoman, they made a sort of a College there, and had the Prayers, Sacraments, &c. according to the Orders of the Church of England; in which Mr. Hales officiated as their Chaplain. But some time after a Declaration issuing, which prohibited all Persons to harbour Malignants, Mr. Hales left voluntarily that Family, left he should be the Occasion of bringing it into any Trouble; which however the good Lady her self would most willingly have ventured, and therefore requested him to tarry. The Place to which he then retired, was the House of one Hannah Pownsy, whose first Husband had been a Servant to Mr. Hales. Not long before, or about this Time, if I mistake not, he was reduced to those Straits, which obliged him to sell the best part of his most admirable Library (which cost him Two Thousand Five Hundred Pounds) for near one quarter of the Value of it: The Produce of which he parted with by degrees, to many Scholars, Sequestred Ministers, and others that were in Want; particularly to the excellent Mr. Anthony * Farringdon, to whom he was so very helpful, that he was the chief Support of his miserable Family. This worthy Person coming once a Day to see Mr. Hales, some few Months before his Death, found him at his mean Lodgings at Mrs. Pownsy's House; but in a Temper gravely chearful, and well becoming an excellent Christian under such Circumstances. After a slight and very homely Dinner, suitable to the Lodgings, some Discourse passed between them concerning their old Friends, and the black and dismal Aspect of the Times; and at last Mr. Hales asked Mr. Farringdon to walk out with him into the Church-yard, where this Great Man's Necessities prest him to tell his Friend, that he had been forced to sell his whole Library (save a few Books which he had given away, and Six or Eight little Books of Devotion, which lay in his Chamber) and that for Money, he had no more than what he then shewed him (which was about Seven or Eight Shillings) and besides, said he, I doubt I am indebted for my Lodging. Mr. Farrigden it seems, did not imagine that it had been so very mean with him as this came to; and therefore was much surprised to hear it; and withal said, I have at present Money to command, and to Morrow will pay you Fifty Pounds, in part of the many Sums, I and my poor Wife have received of you in our great Necessities; and will pay you more suddenly, as you shall want it: To which he answered, no you Don't owe me a Penny, or if you do, I here forgive you; for you shall never pay me a Penny; I know you and yours will have occasion for much more than what you have lately gotten: But if you know any other Friend that hath too full a Purse, and will spare some of it to me, I will not refuse that. To which he added, When I die (which I hope is not far of, for I am weary of this uncharitable World) I desire you to see me buried in († that) Place of the Church-Yard, (pointing to the Place) but why not in the Church, saith Mr. Farringdon, with the Provost, Sir Henry Wotton, and the rest of your Friends and Predecessors? Because, saith he, I am neither the Founder of it, nor have I been a Benefactor to it, nor shall I ever now be able to be so, I am satisfied.

* Of which he was afterwards made Lecturer both in the University, and in his Own College.

† Dr Heylin's Account of this Matter, ought to be known to every one; his Testimony of it being beyond all Exception. For since Bancroft's calling him to Lambeth, he happened to be there at that very Time when the Arch-bishop had taken him in Hand. Mr. Hales being a perfect Stranger at that Place, was glad to see Dr. Heylin there, having some Knowledge of him; and afterwards told him with his own Mouth, That he found the Arch-Bishop (whom he knew before for a Nimble Disputant) to be as well versed in Books as Buchanan; that he had been frustrated by him from one Stole to another, till there was none left to afford him any further Shelter; That he was now resolved to be Orthodox, and to declare himself a True Son of the Church of England, both for Doctrine and Discipline; That to this end he had obtained Leave to call himself his Grace's Chaplain, that naming for him in his publick Prayers for his Lord and Patron, the greater noise might be taken of the Alteration. Life of Laud, p. 140. After this, any one must be devoid of Common Sense, as well as of Shame and Modesty, who can pretend to claim this Great Man for the Patron of our Modern Dissenters and Latitudinarians.

* Of whom I shall by and by make further mention in this Church.

† This Word is torn out of my Paper, but I presume it must be so supplied.

This Difficulty to reconcile Mr. Farringdon and Mr Hales

I had out of a loose Sheet, which was one of Mr Farringdon's Papers, surrendred by Mr. Fulman of C. C. C. in order to have written the Life of Mr. Hales. It was communicated to me by the late Mr. Arch deacon Davies of Superton in Gloucestershire, among several other Notices relating to my Undertaking. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 625.

Thus

Digitized by Google

Thus was this Great Man, in a Literal Sence, reduced to Beggary; and soon after what had past between him and his Friend, was, according to his Desire, deliver'd out of this miserable Life, Monday, May 19, 1656, and was Buried in the Place which he had Pointed out. It must not be conceal'd, that in his Younger Days he was more than suspected of some very loose Opinions, which Favoured the Scinian Cause: And how much our Dissenters claim him for their own, is known to every body: But it is no less certain, that he was afterwards come wholly off from both the One and the Other of these, and Recanted these Opinions, as both Dr. Parker, and Dr. Heylin directly affirm, and his own consequent Behaviour manifestly shewed. To which purpose it may not be amiss to take notice, that a Friend of his finding him one day Reading Calvin's Institutions, asked him, if he was not yet past that Book? To which he answer'd, In my younger days I read it to inform my self; but now I read it to Reform him.

The Indications which his Father had from him in his Youngest Days, of a more than ordinary Genius, occasioned his pitching upon this Son before any of his others, to make a Scholar of: And accordingly in his Election at Merton College, he shewed himself a Person of Learning above his Age and Standing; and during his Abode in the College, was esteemed the Best Orator and Disputant that had ever been remembred in it. To his Natural Parts was added a prodigious Industry; insomuch that he was seldom seen abroad, but at Meals and Prayers.

He was withal a Person of singular Modesty, and as Communicative of his Knowledge, as the Celestial Bodies of their Light and Influences; insomuch that he was always Frequented by the Nobility and Gentry, when his Majesty was at any time in Windsor; having the Happiness to be as much vers'd in the Finer and more Polite Parts of Learning, as in those which are Rougher and more Abstruse: And being possess'd of such a Sweetness and Affableness of Temper, that Dr. Pierson said of him, It was near as easie a Task for any one to become so Knowing, as so Obliging as Mr. Hales. There is this Remarkable Story of his Exact Justice also, That having receiv'd a considerable Sum of Bad Money, during his being Bursar of Eaton-College, he stood to the Loss of it himself, and threw it into the Thames, that it might never after go from Hand to Hand. In his Facts he was always so strict, that he never are any thing from Thursday Dinner, to Saturday Twelve a-clock, and sometimes not till Sunday Morning. Such also was his Modesty, that tho' none was ever more solicited, and urged to Write, and thereby Truly to Teach the World, that as yet none ever so Refus'd against it; his facile and courteous Nature learnt only not to yield to that Sollicitation. His Charity, Humility, and intire Dependence on Divine Providence, may be gather'd from several Hints in the Foregoing Account of him. These and such other Qualities, had made him so well known, not only at Home, but in Foreign Countries, that seldom a Week past, wherein some Letters came not to him from some Eminent Persons (among whom was Grotius, whose Picture Mr. Hales kept in his Closet) beyond the Seas, to crave his Judgment in several Abstruse Points. And he was so much consulted by Learned Men of our Own Nation also on the same Occasion, that he was once forced to say, That they set up Tops, and he must whip them for 'em. In a Word, his Epitaph saith, — Certè supra mortales eminuit, moribus suavissimis, ingenio subtilissimo, pectore pleno sapuit, mundo sublimior, ade que aptior Angelorum Coetu, &c. His Succ-ssor in this Canonry on the Restoration, was Anthony Hawles, D. D. the Date of whose Patent, for it doth not appear, any further, than that it was granted in the Year 1660, and some time before July the 18th that Year; because on that Day Dr. Hawles was Installed. I have only this one Word to subjoyn concerning Mr. Hales; which is, that if the Party will, as they have hitherto done, still persist to claim this Great Man for their own; let them tell us, Why they Starv'd him, and How a Champion for the Dissenting Cause came to Live a Confessor, and Die in a manner a Martyr for the Church of England; Or, if they think they can answer this, then supposing him to have Favoured their Cause, let them say, whether he doth not make another Unquestionable Instance, how little those who preach up Moderation, will suffer a Moderate Man amongst themselves; And plainly shew that no Principles which stop short of Root and Branch, shall find their Mercy, when once the Power is gotten into their own Hands: Which I so often remark, because 'tis possible, Considerations of their own Interest may Move some Men amongst us, on whom all Considerations of the Interest of the Best Church of Christ on the Face of the Christian World, have hitherto proved Ineffectual.

Pierson's Preface to Hales's Remains: where also see more of his Character.

Ibid.

See the Letter Prefixt to his Rem.

PIERSON is Published, see in Word.

JOHN POCKLINGTON, D.D. Canonry, Fourth Prebend in the Church of Peterborough, Yeldon, R. in Bedfordshire, . . . And Worsley, V. in Huntingtonshire. . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 790.

He had been Fellow of Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge; and was at the time of his Sufferings, Chaplain also to his Majesty; who had, by his Letters-Patents of Dec. 20, 1639, conferred on him this Canonry, on the Death of Tho. Sheaf; in which he was Installed Jan. 5th, following. Some time before the Rebellion broke out, he had entender'd himself more especially Obnoxious to the Party, by Two Books which he publisht; the One intituled Altare Christianum, &c. and the other, Sunday no Sabbath, &c. For which, among several other things, they were not unmindful of him, when they perceived their Strength in the Unhappy Parliament that met Nov. 3, 1640; and accordingly they took him in hand among the very first of the Clergy whom they began to Harrass, ordered the Two Books above-named to be Burnt by the Hands of the Common Hangman, in Both the Universities, and the City of London; Deprived him of All the above-nam'd Preferments; and would have proceeded Farther, as to Other Punishment; but that he being in a manner Heart-broken, prevented their Fury by Death, which happen'd (at Peterborough, I think) in the Winter-time * 1642. Which Early Death of his made way for a Second Sufferer in this Canonry; who was

Of Sidney-Coll. Cambr. as I have been informed since from Lincoln.

Besides which he published some other things.

Fuller. Church-Hist. B. 11. Cent. 17. p. 172.

* Saith Wood; but it was in 1641, saith my Transcriptor from this Church.

HERBERT CROFTS, D. D. Canonry.

The Letters-Patents for it are dated June 28 in the 17th of Charles I. and Dr. Crofts was Installed in it July the 1st, following. On whose Promotion to the Bishoprick of Hereford in 1661, (which I have elsewhere mentioned) John Heaver, D. D. obtained Letters-Patents for this Canonry, which are dated Feb. 22, that Year; and he was Install'd in it Mar. 12, following. See Hereford-Cathedral.

HUGH CRESSEY, A. M. Canonry.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 365. Where see of him more at large, as also of his Writings.

He was Born at Wakefield in Yorkshire, became Fellow of Merton College, Chaplain to the Earl of Strafford, as also to Lucius, Vifc. Falkland, by whose Intereſt he obtained this Canonry in the Year 1642, on on the Death of Dr, Gilbert Primroſe; but what Day in that Year the Patent bears date, I am not informed. And as for his Inſtalment, the Confuſions never admitted of it; ſo that he had only an Equitable Title to this Canonry. Two Years after, the Rebellion drove him from his Religion, as as well as his Preferment; at which time he took on him the Habit of the Engliſh Benedictines at Doway, afterwards became a Miſſionary in England, as alſo a Servant to her Majeſty Q. Catherine, and died at Eaſt-Grinſted in Suſſex in 1674. I am obliged to mention this Perſon, to perfect the Account of this Church, and do Juſtice to the Truth of Hiſtory; For otherwiſe he deſerves not a Place in the Liſt; ſince he was one of thoſe very few Perſons (and their not being more, is a very great Character of the Clergy of thoſe Times) whom the moſt deteſtable Practices of ſuch as claim a particular Title to the Name of Proteſtant, had Scandalized into Popery. And if it be any Shame for the Church of England to have One of her Members go to Rome; it is, I am ſure, a much Greater Shame to Thoſe, who by their Rebellion, Sacrilege, Profaneneſs, and Contempt of every thing that was Holy, drove him thither. On the Reſtoration, John Lloyd, D. D. ſucceeded in this Canonry, and was inſtalled July 8, 1660, by vertue of Letters-Patents bearing date ſome time that Year; but the particular Day doth not appear.

Digitized by Google

ANTHONY FARRINGDON, B.D. Divinity-Lecturer's-Place in this Chapel, And Bray, V. in Berkſhire. . . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 544. Lloyd, Mem. p. 543.

He was Born at Sunning in Berks, became ſucceſſively Scholar and Fellow of Trinity-College in Oxford, and a Noted Preacher, as well as an Eminent Tutor there. On the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was diſpoſſeſſed of Both the abovenamed Preferments; as which time he had a Wife and ſeven Children, which were reduced to Extremity, and might probably have ſtarved, had not Mr. Hales, as is beforeſaid, (and others) Relieved them, and the Pariſhioners of St. Mary Magd. Milk-ſtreet, invited him to be Paſtor there. But ſome time after he was ſettled in that Place, a Proclamation being iſſued out, that no ſequeſtred Miniſter ſhould Preach in any Pariſh-Church in London, or within Seven Miles of it, he was in a manner Sequeſtred a Second time, and Turned out from Thence alſo. But he was ſo extremely belov'd by his Pariſhioners, that Collections being made for him at the Church-doors the two Sundays before he went away, they gathered at leaſt 400 l. for him; which, I preſume, was the Money that enabled him to offer Payment to Mr. Hales. Whether he afterwards Recovered his Pariſh in Milk-ſtreet, I know not; but 'tis ſure that he died in that Pariſh, in Sept. 1658, and was Buried in that Church. At the time that he was Sequeſtred from his Living of Bray, he was alſo Plundered and Abuſed by Ireton; whom, it ſeems, Mr. Farringdon had puniſhed for ſome Miſdemeanors in Trinity-College; at which time he diſcovered an Uncommon Spirit in him, and Foretold that he would make ſomething Extraordinary; but whether Good or Bad, he could not determine. Mr. Farringdon was a Perſon of Excellent Learning, and Great Charity, an Admirable Preacher, of Great Sobriety, Modeſty, and Patience under his Sufferings, and in a Word, An Example worthy to be imitated of all. He had prepared Materials for writing the Life of Mr. Hales; ſome of which (if not all) afterwards fell into the Hands of Mr. Fulman of C. C. C. but are, as I believe, now loſt; For Mr. Fulman's Papers coming into the Hands of Mr. Arch-deacon Davies, there was nothing of that kind found among them, but the Looſe Sheet before-mentioned.

Vide What Mr. Farringdon publiſhed, ſee in Wood.

—— MORRIS, .
—— STAMP, .
—— BROUGHTON, .
—— BOLES, .
—— AMNER, .
—— BURTON, .
—— PIERCE, .
} Minor-Canonries.

The Four former of which died, as I judge, during the Uſurpation; but the Three latter lived to be Reſtored.

WOLVERHAMPTON.

CHRISTOPHER WREN, D.D. Deanery.

See Windſor-Church.

—— ——, : Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.
—— ——, . Prebend.

Vit. Sir John Robinſon, and Sir Orlando Bridgman. See his own Epiſtle to the Former, and an Epiſtle of the Editor of his 2d Vol. of Sermons, to the Latter.

ANDREW BAYLY, A. M. Sacriſt's and Official's Place.

Which I take to be Two diſtinct Offices.

See more of him in the Parochial Liſt, in Shropſhire.

The Lands of this College were all ſold, and the Tythes, then held in Fee-Farm by a Gentleman, were Sequeſtred, and Applied to the Maintenance of ſeveral Seditious Preachers.

There are ſeveral Other Colleges, and Collegiate Churches, ſuch as Beverley, Brecknock, Ruthen, &c. But the Exact Number of them I know not; much leſs their Conſtitution, the Number of their Members, &c. nor what Fate they ran in the late Confuſions. I ſhould be extremely obliged to any one, that would hereafter Tranſmit to me any Notices of that kind.

Digitized by Google

A

LIST

Of ſome of the

Loyal and Epiſcopal CLERGY, &c.

Who were Diſpoſſeſs'd of, Driven from, or did otherwiſe loſe, or were kept out of their Preferments, &c. for their Loyalty to the Eſtabliſh'd Church, during the Time of the Grand Rebellion, &c.

The UNIVERSITIES.

OXFORD.

The PROFESSORS.

ROBERT SANDERSON, D.D. Regius-Profeſſorſhip of Divinity.

See Chriſt-Church.

THOMAS LAURENCE, D.D. Margaret-Profeſſorſhip of Divinity.

See Baliol-College.

JOHN BIRKENHEAD, A.M. Moral-Philoſophy Reader's Place.

See All-Souls-College.

ROBERT WARING, A.M. Hiſtory-Profeſſorſhip.

See Chriſt-Church.

JOHN EDWARDS, M.D. Natural-Philoſophy Reader's Place.

See St. John's College.

PETER TURNER, M.D. Savilian-Profeſſorſhip of Geometry.

See Merton-College.

JOHN GREAVES, A.M. Savilian-Profeſſorſhip of Aſtronomy.

See Merton-College.

EDWARD POCOCK, D.D. Profeſſorſhip of the Hebrew Tongue, And Profeſſorſhip of the Arabick Tongue.

See Chriſt-Church.

HENRY STRINGER, D.D. Profeſſorſhip of the Greek Tongue.

See New-College. He reſigned his Right to this Lectureſhip, as I conjecture, after he had been Diſpoſſeſſed of the Profits of it by the Viſitors; and thereby made way for Another to Succeed in it, who may in Equity likewiſe be deemed a Second Sufferer, viz.

JOSEPH CROWTHER, B.D. Profeſſorſhip of the Greek Tongue.

See St. John's College.

HENRY HAMMOND, D.D. Univerſity-Orator's Place.

See Chriſt-Church. The Profeſſor of Laws was Richard Zouch, L.L.D. and Principal of Alban-Hall, who ſubmitted to the Viſitors, and kept Both his Places. Tho. Clayton, M.D. (afterwards Warden of Merton-College) was at that time the King's-Profeſſor of Phyſick, and the Anatomy-Reader; Nor was he, as far as I can learn, Diſpoſſeſs'd of either of theſe Places. John Reus was Librarian, and Gerard Langbane, D.D. Provoſt of Queen's-College, was

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 166.

Wood, Ant. Lib. p. 141, 144.

Id. Ibid. p. 133.

Id. Ibid. p. 147.

Digitized by Google

was Keeper of the Archives; neither of whom was turned out. One Arthur Phillips was the Profeſſor of Muſick; neither can I find that he ſuffered. The Botany-Lecture was not then ſettled. And as for the Grammar, Rhetorick, Logick and Metaphyſick-Lectures, I cannot learn who were Poſſeſſed of them; but perchance ſome of them; whoever they were, might be the ſame Perſons with ſome of the Ejected Fellows. Qu.re. Id. ibid.

The Colleges.

All-Soul's-College.

GILBERT SHELDON, D.D. Wardenſhip. Clerkſhip of the Cloſet to his Majeſty, And Prebend of Gloucester. . . . . }

He was Born at Stanton in Staffordſhire, and Elected Fellow of this College from that of Trinity in this University. Afterwards he became Chaplain to the Lord Keeper Coventry, Prebendary of Gloucester, and about the latter End of 1633, was advanced to the Wardenſhip. About the ſame Time alſo he became Chaplain to his Majeſty, and was by him deſigned for the Maſterſhip of the Savoy, and the Deanery of Weſtminſter, had not the Rebellion prevented it. During which he adhered ſtedfaſtly to the Royal Cauſe; and when the Oxford Viſitation came on, ſtrenuouſly Oppoſed it. March 27, 1648. he Honeſtly and Boldly told the Viſitors, That he could not with a ſafe Conſcience ſubmit to them; for which, Three Days after, they deprived him of his Wardenſhip, and ſubſtituted in his room one John Palmer, a Bachelour of Phyſick; tho' it was directly contrary to the Statutes of the College. April the Third following the Paper for his Expulſion was affixed to his Lodgings, and at the ſame Time Palmer's Election was Publiſhed. The Thirteenth of that Month alſo, the Viſitors (and the Earl of Pembroke at the Head of them) came themſelves to All-Soul's-College in order to Diſpoſſeſs Dr. Sheldon by Force, and put their New Warden in Poſſeſſion. At which Time the Doctor pleaded in behalf of himſelf, that their Commiſſion did not reach him, becauſe it bore Date March 8, and Authorized them to Diſpoſſeſs thoſe only whom the Parliament or Committee had Voted out before. Now the Vote for his Expulſion was not paſt till March 30. which was Three Weeks after the Date of their Commiſſion. This coſt the Viſitors an Hour's Debate; but at laſt Prynn, who was one of them, and at that Time preſent, inſtead of Untying, cut the Knot in this manner: Aitho', ſaith he, the Doctor is not within the Letter, yet he is within the Equity of the Commiſſion, and the Parliament muſt not be Fool'd with. And accordingly upon the Reſolution of this Caſuiſt, they proceed to deprive him of his Freehold, ſtrike his Name out of the Buttery-Book, ſubſtitute Palmer's in the Place of it, and withal, order the Doctor into Cuſtody; for which the Earl of Pembroke then alledged this Reaſon, That he had not Opened the Great Gate to him when he came thither. After this they Broke open the Lodging-Doors, put Palmer in Poſſeſſion, and then Hurried away the Doctor to Priſon; who as he paſt the Streets, had a Thouſand Prayers and Bleſſings from the People. In this Durance he continued above Six Months, and then the Reforming Committee ſet him at Liberty (October 24, 1648) on Condition, that he ſhould immediately depart Five Miles from Oxon; that he ſhould not go to the King in the Iſle of Wight; and that he ſhould Give Security to appear before them, at Four Days Warning when ever cited: After which he retir'd to his Friends in Staffordſhire, and the adjoining Counties; from whence he conſtantly ſent Money, (partly of his own, and partly what he Collected from others) to his Majeſty then in Exile; and followed his Studies and Devotions, till Matters tended to an happy Reſtoration. In 1659, Palmer the Intruder died, and there being at that Time a plain Proſpect of the Reſtoration, Dr. Sheldon was Reſtored to his Wardenſhip, tho' he never appeared in Perſon to Re-poſſeſs himſelf. Not long after, his Majeſty became actually Poſſeſſed of his Throne, and then Dr. Sheldon was made Dean of the Chapel-Royal, and ſoon after it ſucceeded Dr. Juxon in the See of London, as he did afterwards alſo in the Archiepiſcopal Chair of Canterbury in 1663. He was alſo Elected Chancellor of this University in the Year 1667, and died November 9, 1677. It would be needleſs to tell the Reader, that the Noble Theatre in Oxford, was Erected at his ſole Charge, which was that of Eighteen Thouſand Pounds. He alſo Elected the fair Library at Lambeth-Houſe, gave Two Thouſand Pounds to St. Paul's Cathedral, conſiderable Sums to Trinity College in Oxford and Cambridge; beſtowed great and large Sums of Money Annually, ſome to Publick, and ſome to Private Charities; and at his Death gave 1500 l. more to the ſame Purpoſes: Inſomuch, that it afterwards appeared by his Books and Accompts, that he had lain out above Sixty Three Thouſand Pounds in Uſes of Piety and Charity. He hath nothing Extant but a Sermon before his Majeſty at Whitehall, Preached June 28, 1660, being the Solemn Day of Thankſgiving for the happy Reſtoration.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 678.

May 2, 1633, he was alſo Admitted to the Vicaridge of Hackney in Middleſex. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 620.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 397.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 401.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 413.

JOHN BIRKENHEAD, A. M. Fellowſhip, And Moral Philoſophy Reader's-Place, in this Univerſity. . . . . }

He was Born of Plebeian Parents at Norwich in Cheſhire, and took one Degree at Oriel-College in this University: After which he became Amanuenſis to Arch-biſhop Laud; who perceiving him to be a Perſon of bright Parts, got him Diplomated A. M. and Elected to a Fellowſhip of this College in 1639. Upon his Majeſty's retiring to Oxon, after the Battle of Edge-hill, the Court imployed him to write the Mercurii Aulici; which took ſo much with the Loyaliſts, that they got his Majeſty to recommend him to the Univerſity for the Moral-Philoſophy Lecturer; of which he enjoyed but very little Profit; and when the Viſitation came on in 1648, he loſt both * That and his Fellowſhip together. After which he retired to London, was ſeveral Times in Priſon for his Majeſty's Cauſe, and lived in a ſhifting manner by his Wits until the Reſtoration. Soon after which he was created L. L. D. Elected a Burgeſs for Wilton, Knighted by his Majeſty, and made Maſter of the Faculties, one of the Maſters of Requeſts, Fellow of the Royal Society, and died in 1679; not having as it ſeems, made ſuch Returns as he ought to have done, to thoſe who Befriended him in his Neceſſities.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 678.

What elſe he Publiſhed for is Wood.

* Of which he was Deprived October 2, 1648. and was ſucceeded by Edward Copley, A. M. Fellow of Merton-Coll. Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 413.

MARTIN AILWORTH, D.D. Fellowſhip.

If I do not miſtake Lloyd, who in this, as in many other Caſes, is altogether confuſed.

Idem p. 141

HENRY

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 718.

HENRY JOHNSON, L. L. D. Fellowship. He was afterwards a Baronet; but it seems a very poor One, and turned Roman Catholick.

JOHN LLOYD, A. M. Fellowship. He became afterwards Chaplain to his Majesty in Exile; by whom on his Return, he was Promoted to a Canonry of Windsor; in which he was Installed July 18, 1660, in the room of H. Cressy. Aug. 1, 1660, he was created D. D. of this University, and died in 1671.

FRANCIS NEWMAN, . Fellowship. He was, as I conjecture, a Native of the County of Middlesex, but of what Place in that County I know not. He happen'd to pass by Whitehall at that very Instant, when the Black and Astonishing Villany of the King's Murther was Perpetrating; which threw him into such an Agony, that he went Home, and never came out of his Chamber afterwards. He had been Admitted to this Fellowship in 1640.

Fasti, Mem. P. 4. 81.

He died in 1649. Keep's Monum. Westm. p. 353.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 840 Annal. Lit. 2. p. 176.

THOMAS JEAMES, . Fellowship. He lived to be Restored in 1660, became Warden of the College in 1665; Treasurer of Salisbury, March 22, 16$\frac{6}{7}$, per mort. Edward Devenant, ex prerog. Gilb. Archiep. Cant. and died feme Time before Jan. 15, 1686, when Seth Ward succeeded in that Dignity.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 455, 718.

THOMAS CULPEPPER, . Fellowship. He was Elected to this from University-College, and had in his younger Days Travelled into France with Mr. Abraham Woodhead. He lived to be Restored in 1660, and hath Publish'd some Things, but what they are I know not.

* If a mistake not.

WILLIAM BASSET, *L. L. D. Fellowship.

He was Restored in 1660, and became afterwards Chancellor of Landaffe.

HENRY HARINGTON, . Fellowship.

Restored in 1660 with his Majesty.

OLIVER LLOYD, . Fellowship. He was also Restored in 1660, and afterwards made Warden of Manchester-College.

HENRY COVENTRY, . Fellowship. He survived the Rebellion, and was Restored in 1660.

JOHN WAINRIGHT, L. L. B. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 973.

He was Chancellor of the Diocese of Chester; and in the Year 1650 proceeded in his Faculty.

LAURENCE SMITH, . Fellowship. He had been then, or was afterwards Knighted.

THOMAS SMITH, . Fellowship. He had been Admitted in the Year 1641.

† Or Richard.

*SAMUEL FISHER, : Fellowship. He was Admitted in 1640.

TIMOLEON GORGE, . Fellowship. He had been Admitted in 1621.

THOMAS CROFT, . Fellowship. He was Restored in 1658, by a Mandate from the Upper-Bench, on a Misnoma.

FRANCIS TALBOT, . Fellowship. He lived to be Restor'd with his Majesty in 1660.

HENRY BARKER, . Fellowship.

NATH. NAPPYER, . Fellowship.

*THOMAS DARREL, . Fellowship. *Or William.

THOMAS SMITH, . Fellowship.

He was Restor'd in 1660, and is a different Person from him of both these Names before-mentioned.

JOHN †MIDLETON, . Fellowship. One of both these Names was Admitted to the Rectory of Hanwell in Middlesex, in 1661, Quære if he was the same Person with this Gentleman. News. Repert. Eccles. Vol. 1. p. 628.

† I must here Advertise the Reader, that the List of their Elected in this University, is taken almost wholly, out of the Original Register of the Visitors yet remaining in Oxford, and a Pamphlet Printed in 1650, Intitled Cygnea Cicuta. From the Visitors Papers we would expect a perfect List of the University; but it fails of offering such an One, as we feveral Other Accounts (from which I may perchance have occasion to mention hereafter) so chiefly as these Two in the first place, being the Composures, and their Executioners for Visitors, accepted for Gentlemen-Commoners, &c which were not on the Original Foundations, as well as the Fellows and Scholars of Houses: And the Register not being always expressive in naming this, by subjoyning Fellow, Scholar, &c. reflected it to the Name of each Foundation-man; for that Reason it is not always Apparent, to the worse of the Society (with whom only I have to do) and who first. And could this always be known, the Reader is to be informed in the next Place, that several of those who were Wholly Expelled by the Committee and Visitors, as far as their Depositions, and Orders could do it (and as such appear on the Register) were Soon after Admitted to Grace and Favour again in their Submissions; and so were Others equally, and in Fact, disgusted of their Fellowships, &c. as the rest were. Now such as these are belonging to this List (and there not being any Light given by the Register to distinguish them) this of necessity creates a great deal of Confusion. However in that Case is the other Paper mentioned given us some Assistance; because for several Reasons (too many to be here mentioned) if I do not very much mistake, all those mentioned in it, were both on the several Foundations, and Totally and Actually Dispossessed, save that One here and there might, after they had been Actually Dispossessed, at some considerable Distance of Time, be again Restored. But among all those mentioned in that Pamphlet, I find but One Instance of this kind, as far as I have been able to examine, by comparing it with the perfect Accounts which I have received from several Colleges. And it is on the single Authority of this Paper, that Mr. Middleton (the last Fellow here named) is set down as such. And I shall also mention Some more, in several other of the Colleges, on these same Grounds; which I here take notice of once for all, to avoid unnecessary Repetition. But these neither can Lift Three to the Number compleated; for I find the Other Lachrym. very defective in many Particulars, as failing much short of the Numbers, which I otherwise find, were wholly Dispossessed: On these Accounts therefore, I shall in several Colleges, be forced to divide my Lift of them into Three Parts; the first of which will contain such as were certainly on the Foundations, and no less certainly Expelled, and totally Dispossessed of their Fellowships. The Second will be made up of such as I can also find belong to the Foundations, and were expelled by the Visors and Orders of the Committee or Visitors; but then whether any among them (or who) after submitted, made their Peace, and continued in Possession of their Fellowships, &c. cannot be learned. The Third will consist of such as were Voted to be Expelled likewise: but then it doth not appear, who among them (or whether any) on one Hand, were not of the Foundation, or on the other Hand, did afterwards make their Peace, &c. And so I am constrained to leave it to the further Inquiries of the Reader, save as Regards that Master, All these before-mentioned in this College, were of the first Sort.

GEORGE STRADLING, . Fellowship. If I do not very much mistake some Informations from this College, he is to be Ranked among those who wholly lost their Fellowships. But Wood being express to the contrary, I leave it as a Quære with the Reader. He was Admitted in 1642.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 603. Where See more of them.

As also, News. Rep. Eccles. p. 721

TIMOTHY

Digitized by Google

TIMOTHY BALDWIN, . Fellowship.
He had been Actually dispossest'd of his Fellowship; but was Restored the Year after, by the Interest of Kelsey; and so scarce deserves a Place in this List. See more of him in Wood.

Ath. Vol.II. p. 62, 176, 178.

HENRY BIRKHEAD, . Fellowship.
He was an intimate Friend of the Learned Henry Jacob, several of whose Writings he published; and was an excellent Latin Poet.

Wood, Ath. Vol.II. p. 90, 91.

JOHN BAYLY, . Fellowship.

One Edward Norton was admitted to the Prebend of Neasdon in the Church of St. Paul, in 1679; and afterwards in 1689, to that of Mapesbury in the same Church. Quære if he be the same Person with this Gentleman. Newc. Rep Eccles. Vol.I. p. 176, 186.

EDWARD NORTON, . Fellowship.

These Two, together with the last-mentioned, were certainly Fellows, and voted to be Expelled; but whether they afterwards submitted, and kept their Fellowships or not, must be left to further Enquiry.

JO. PISTWICH, .

CHARLES EDWARDS, .

JOHN WYNN, .

—— HUNGERFORD, .

I am not assured, but I guess that these Four last-mentioned, were on the Foundation: They were ordered to be Expelled, by the Committee and Visitors, among the Rest; but whether they afterwards made their Peace, or not, is uncertain.

HUGH BOHAM, . Chaplainship. He was Totally Ejected.
The Visitors had (as appears from their own Register) by the End of the Year 1649, placed Twenty six New Fellows into this College; and from thence to August 1654, Four more: But if I do not mistake some Informations which I have received from this College, they had by the End of the last-mentioned Year, Elected Forty four Fellows into it. Which may serve to give some Light into the Number of those who were Ejected; and seems to make it probable, that several of those whom I have before set down as doubtful, were wholly Dispossest'd, together with some others whose Names do not appear. And I am the rather inclined to believe this, because I find by Wood (if I rightly understand him) that All the Fellows here (or all but One) Refused to Submit to the Visitation, May 4, 1648.

Ant. L. I. p. 406.

It is scarce worth the while to take notice in this Place, that one William Hamilton, who had been put in Fellow here by the Visitors in 1648, was again Dispossest'd in 1651, for Refusing the Engagement.

Wood, Ath. Vol.II. p. 744.

BALIOL.

See also Winchester-Cathedral, a Canonry to which is annexed the Margaret-Professorship

THO. LAURENCE, D.D. Masterships, Margaret-Professorship of Divinity, Treasurership } of Lichfield, Prebend }
And
Bemerton and Fogglestone, R. in Wiltshire, worth 140 l. a Year.

It must be known, that he was not Formally Ejected from the College by the Visitors; but deliver'd up his Headship by Resignation; which however being Forced and Extorted from him by the Iniquity of the Times, and to procure Expedition, I make no Scruple to set him down here as Sequestred, effectually considering that Lloyd in so many Words, saith, he was as full Cast out by Force to beg his Bread, with the rest of his Brethren, *stem.p.*144. This Resignation, Wood (the not very confidents with himself, as far as I can see) makes to have been about the Year 1647; one I am otherwise informed, that it was in the Year 1650. And Wood in another Place (Antiq. I. 2. p. 74.) saith that it was in 1646.

He was the Son of a Clergyman in Dorsetshire, had been Scholar of this House, and was from thence Elected to a Fellowship in All-Souls College. Afterwards he became D. D. was made Chaplain to his Majesty; and being much in the Esteem of Arch-bishop Laud, was by his Interest Elected back again to the Mastership of this House, and promoted to the Margaret-Professorship; of Both which, together with the other Preferments first mentioned, he was Deprived in those Times of Rebellion and Usurpation. In the Professorship he was Succeeded by F—— C——, and in 1653, one Philip Vinkney was Admitted to Bemerton and Fogglestone; but, if I mistake not, Dr. Laurence had been Sequestred from that Living long Before, and some other Person had intervened between him and Vinkney. The Dr. had a Wife and several Children; and finding the Family of one Dr. Laurence a Sequestred Clergyman, petitioning for Relief from the Corporation for Ministers Widows, I take it for granted, that they were the Distressed Relicts of this Learned Person. This at least is sure, that after he was Dismissed from the University, he retired to Colonel Walton's (one of the King's Judges) whom it seems he had befriended, whilst he was a Prisoner of War in the Garrison of Oxford; and who got him settled in the Chaplainship of Lidna in the Parish of Somersham in Huntingtonshire; which he had got endowed with the Tithes of the Parish, as 'tis said, for the sake of Dr. Laurence. He died in great Obscurity at Colne, in Dec. 1657; but had been before this Death Nominated to one of the Irish Bishopricks, which he would doubtless have Enjoyed, had he lived to the Restoration. He had been esteemed Famous for Scholastical Divinity, a Profound Theologist, and Exquisite in the Excellencies of the Greek and Latin Tongues: But after the Declining of the King's Cause, and upon a Foresight thereupon of the Ruin of all things, which would follow; he grew melancholy, and careless, and did much degenerate in his Life and Conversation.

Ballioferg. p. 118.

Wood, Ath. Vol.II. p. 136.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 74, 181.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 134.

In the Petition it is only said he, and what a great Sufferer

What he Wrote, see in Wood.

THOMAS CARELESS, A.M. Fellowship.
He was a Londoner Born, and becoming Rector of Barnsley, and Vicar of Cirencester in Gloucestershire, after his Ejection, his Sufferings were the less considerable. Wood saith, he did, as he conceives, submit to the Power of the Visitors; and it seems to be countenanced by what afore followeth; that in 1651 he was Terræ filius in the Act then held; which was the First the Usurpers had celebrated, after they had got Possession of this University. But my Informations from this College, make not the least mention of his being ever Restored. On the contrary, they Rank him among those who were utterly Expelled. He died at Cirencester in 1675; having been esteemed an Ingenious Man; and was much respected for his Preaching, among the Remnant of the Loyalists, as long as he continued in the University.

Ath. Vol.II. p. 731

Quære further.

He hath one Sermon extant

ROBERT FIELDING, A.M. Fellowship.
He proceeded M. D. in the Year 1653; and at length became Honorary-Fellow of the College of Physicians.

Wood, Ath. Vol.II. p. 81.

JAMES

Digitized by Google

JAMES THICKNESS, A. M. Fellowſhip. He lived to be Reſtored in 1660, being the only Perſon of this whole College that was Repoſſeſſed of his Place.

THOMAS CLEMENT, A. M. Fellowſhip.

RICHARD SPURWAY, A. B. Fellowſhip.

——— ———, . Fellowſhip:

——— ———, . Fellowſhip.

JOHN PETTY, . Scholarſhip.

——— EVANS, . Scholarſhip.

——— OKLEY, . Scholarſhip.

——— ATFIELD, . Scholarſhip.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 819. I find one John Atfield, who had been M. D. of Caen, incorporated in the ſame Degree at Oxon, in 1661. He was a Londoner Born, had obtained his Doctor's Degree at Caen in 1657, and was afterwards Fellow of the College of Phyſicians. Poſſibly he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

See alſo one Anth. Atfield mentioned by Mr. Newcourt, Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 205.

The Committee and Viſitors Expell'd likewiſe out of this College, Hopton Throckmorton, Timothy Clerk, Mat. Herbert, Francis Fitz-Herbert, Richard Herbert, Robert Hawkins, John Fifield, and I think One or Two more. Out of ſome or other (could it be known which) of theſe 'tis probable the Two Blank Fellowſhips might be filled up. Nor doth it ſeem improbable to me (tho' I have been otherwiſe informed from this College) that ſome of the others, may both have been on the Foundation and totally Diſpoſſeſſed; becauſe the Viſitors (as I find by their Regiſter) had choſen Eighteen Fellows and Scholars into this College by October 22, 1649. To which let me add, that May 18, 1648, no leſs than Sixteen of this College did refuſe to ſubmit to the Viſitation. Tho' it muſt be confeſſed, 'tis very poſſible that ſome of them might not afterwards retain their Stedfaſtneſs.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 499.

Brazen-Noſe.

SAMUEL RADCLIFFE, D.D. Principalſhip, And * Steeple-Aſton, R. in Oxfordſhire. . .

* Where he Erected and Endowed a School, and an Alms-Houſe.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 315. He was Elected to this Headſhip December 14, 1614. In November 1647, he was ſummon'd before the Parliament for Diſowning the Authority of the Viſitors; and was for that Reaſon Voted out by the Reforming Committee in December following: But taking no notice of that Expulſion, after they had given him repeated Trouble on many Accounts, March 17, 1647, the Viſitors ſerve upon him the Order of the Committee, when being very Sick and Infirm, he deſired to remove his Goods; but they told him, that ſince he had diſobeyed the Orders of the Parliament, and ſhould have gone away ſome Months before, he ought to have no Favour ſhown him: However they added, that if he would then Quietly give up the Lodgings to Mr. Greenwood (whom the Committee had appointed for his Succeſſor) he ſhould be civily Treated: But this he utterly refuſed to do. After which, weak as he was, they threatned to take him into the Cuſtody of a Meſſenger. Whereupon one Rogers tried him by another Method, and promiſed him part of the Lodgings, if he would reſign to him. However neither Threats nor Promiſes could prevail on the old Gentleman to betray his Truſt, or quit his undoubted Right. But at laſt, April 13, 1648, when the Earl of Pembroke in Perſon, attended by the Viſitors, went the grand Round, they broke open the College Gates, enter'd Greenwood's Name in the Buttery-Book, and put him in actual Poſſeſſion by Violence; notwithſtanding the poor old Principal Dr. Radcliffe lay then grievouſly Ill, and died the June following. At which Time the Fellows of the College taking no notice at all of Greenwood, nor of the Menaces of the Viſitors, affix a Citation to the College-Gate according to Statute; and meeting in one of their Chambers, July the 13th following, unanimouſly choſe

At the Time of his Death he Founded Two Scholarſhips in the College, and left about Ten Acres to Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 315.

THOMAS YATE, B. D. to the Principalſhip. And Midleton Cheney, R. in Northampton-ſhire. . . . . } Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 411. L. 2. p. 315.

He was not ſuffered to continue in Poſſeſſion of the Headſhip (if at leaſt he did obtain any Poſſeſſion, which Wood ſeems to intimate he did) very long; but ſurviving the Reſtoration, he was created D. D. Reſtored by the King's Commiſſioners, Aug. 10, 1660, and enjoyed it, as I conceive, very many Years after. As for his Living at Midleton, he endur'd many Hardſhips in it, until the Year 1646, when he was totally Diſpoſſeſſed of it; which was the more to be lamented, becauſe he had prepar'd Stone, Timber, &c. to build a Parſonage-Houſe there; but his Succeſſor with a meanneſs of Spirit peculiar to the Party, ſold them, and contented himſelf with fitting up an old Mault-Houſe.

Ath Vol. II. p. 812.

RALPH RAWSON, . Fellowſhip. He was Diſpoſſeſſed by the Viſitors, and very ill uſed. He was a very Learned and Orthodox Aſſertor of the Rights of the Church, and inſtilled ſuch true Principles of Religion and Loyalty into ſeveral of his Pupils, as afterwards engag'd them heartily to ſerve the truеſt Intereſt of the Eccleſiaſtical Eſtabliſhment, in the great Council of the Nation. He was deeply concern'd in Booth's Riſing, and thereupon fled into Lancaſhire, where he went by the Name of Fitz-Ralph, and was entertained by the Loyal and Worthy Thomas Preſton, Eſq; at whoſe Houſe he kept a private Meeting for the Royaliſts, and read the Church Service, Adminiſtred the Sacraments, &c. He liv'd to the Year 1684, but never had any Dignity in the Church; and unhappily died at laſt Diſtracted.

BYROM EATON, . Fellowſhip. He was created D. D. in the Year 1660, ſoon after became Principal of Glouceſter-Hall, and at length ſucceſſively Arch-deacon of Stow and Lyceſter, and died not many Years ſince.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 392. 394. 396. 404. 411.

Digitized by Google

* Unlike visitor of thofe five might be only Scholars of the Houſe

RICHARD EAUDE, * Fellowſhip.

WILLIAM BURGES, . Fellowſhip.

RALPH BYROM, . Fellowſhip.

THOMAS CHURCH, . Fellowſhip.

—— PANTER, . Fellowſhip.

Unleſs it be miſtaken and miſprinted in Oxon. Lachr. for Porter, who was Bible-Clerk here, and Expelled October 2, 1648.

All thoſe foregoing were certainly on the Foundation, and utterly Diſpoſſeſſed.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 405.

ROBERT KING, . Fellowſhip.
And at that Time Burſar of the College.

JOHN NEWTON, . Fellowſhip.

THOMAS SIXSMITH, . Fellowſhip.

—— ROBERTS, . Fellowſhip.

RICHARD HILL, . Fellowſhip.

Whether either of theſe Five did after ſubmit, and were continued in their Fellowſhips, I know not.

RALPH HOULTON, .

WALTER WHITNEY, .

JOHN BROSTER, .

PETER ADAMS, .

RICHARD FURNIVAL, .

EDWARD HEIGHFIELD, .

WILLIAM BREWER, .

JASPER SCOLES, .

Whether among theſe laſt Eight there were any which were not on the Foundation, or whether any among them on the Foundation, did after ſubmit and got their Expulſion Reverſed, I cannot tell.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 715. Abrid p. 111.

There was one Richard Adams alſo, Fellow of the Houſe, under the Sentence; but I find he afterwards made his Peace, became at length a Non-conformiſt, and as ſuch is mentioned by Mr. Calamy.

John Aſton, John Smith and Thomas Jaxon, were alſo Voted to be Expelled; but I ſuppoſe neither of them was on the Foundation; and believe the ſecond of them was the Perſon who is mentioned by Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 475.

Wood, Ant. p. 401, 402.

October 2, 1648, I find Four of the Fellows of this College, and the Bible-Clerk Expell'd by the Viſitors; none of which, I am apt to believe, were Admitted again to Favour. May 10 foregoing, Seventeen of this College refuſed Submiſſion to the Viſitors; whether they were all of them on the Foundation or no, I am not certain: But this is ſure, that from July 18, 1648. to November 6, 1649, One and Twenty Fellows (or Fellows and Scholars) and a Bible-Clerk had been choſen into this College by the Viſitors. And this makes it probable, that almoſt every one of thoſe before-mentioned, were both on the Foundation, and totally Diſpoſſeſſed. Which Conjecture is further ſtrengthened by this Conſideration, that Wood in his Account of Tate's Election to the Principalſhip (in direct Oppoſition to all Orders of the Viſitors, and that too in the very Heat of the Expulſions) ſaith, that he was choſen Unus ſocierum omnium conſenſu; which probably muſt have irritated thoſe Revogers to uſe their utmoſt Rigor towards them.

Chriſt-Church.

SAMUEL FELL, D. D. Deanery, And Prebend of Wenlock-Barnes in the Church of St. Paul. . . . . } He had alſo the Rectory of Sunning-well in Berks, which he was permitted to Enjoy.

He was a Native of the City of London, Elected Student of this Houſe from Weſtminſter-School, became Proctor of this Univerſity, was ſome time Miniſter of Freſhwater in the Iſle of Wight, in 1619 was Inſtalled Canon of this Church, was about the ſame Time Domeſtick Chaplain to his Majeſty King James I. and ſome Years after was made Margaret-Profeſſor of Divinity, being then a Calviniſt. But afterwards getting himſelf taken notice of by Arch-biſhop Laud, he was firſt made Dean of Lichfield, and in the Year 1637, obtained this Deanery. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he approved himſelf a great Loyaliſt; in 1642 was order'd into Cuſtody by the Parliament, for ſending Money and Plate to his Majeſty; but he ſaved himſelf at that Time by Flight. Much about the ſame Time he was in ſome meaſure Plundered, and had his Trunk ſeized and carried away by the Soldiers of the Lord Say. When the Oxford Viſitation came on in 1647, he happen'd, to the great Honour as well of the Univerſity as himſelf, to be Vice-chancellor; and diſcharged that great Truſt in a Juncture of ſuch Difficulty and Hazard, with all the Conduct, Baldneſs, Steadineſs and Fidelity imaginable; for which, October 8, 1647, he was diveſted of his Office, as far as the Authority of a Paper affixed by the Viſitors to the Gates of the Schools, could do it. After that he was taken into Cuſtody by an Order of the Parliament, dated the Twelfth of the ſame Month; and the 28th of December following, was Voted out of his Deanery by the Committee for Reforming the Univerſity, who tranſmitted a Copy of their Order for that Purpoſe to the Viſitors their Executioners; but they ſending it to the then Sub-dean Dr. Hammond, for Publication, he boldly and honeſtly refuſed to do it. How long he continued in Cuſtody I know not, but I find him in Houſhold at London March 30, 1648. Some Weeks before which the Parliament had ordered the quiet Poſſeſſion of the Lodgings to be delivered to Dr. Reynolds, with a Command to the Viſitors to get the Order put in Execution: Who accordingly had it paſted up upon the Doors; but neither Mrs. Fell, nor any one of all the Servants (ſo much were the Viſitors contemned by the very Meaneſt of the Univerſity) had any the leaſt Regard to it; nor did one of them ſtir a Foot out of the Houſe. But at length, April 12, 1648, the Chancellor in Perſon, attended by the Viſitors, and theſe ſupported by a Party of Soldiers, came to the Lodgings, and finding Mrs. Fell could not be prevail'd upon by any other Means to deliver them up, they order'd the Soldiers to take her up in her Chair (not without many Revilings and Abuſes) and carry her out by Violence into the Quadrangle; where they let her down: The ſame they did

He was inducted to the Prebend Jan. 29, 1612. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ Vol. I p. 222. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 61.

By great Cringings and Scrapings, ſaith Wood. But how that agrees with his thoroughly quieting all for a good Conſcience, whom the very Trial does not ſay. Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 332. 358. P. 355.

Of which ſee more in the Account given of the Oxford Viſitation; where are alſo ſeveral other Particulars, as well of ſome of the Canons of this Houſe, as of many Heads of other Houſes; which I muſt not repeat in this Account of theſe Expulſions. Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 390, 391, 395, 398, 402.

Digitized by Google

did likewise to her Daughters, and some other Gentlewomen of the Family. Lloyd adds, that Mrs. Fell was at that Time Indispos'd; and that when Dr. Reynolds some time after, upon the prevailing of Independency, was forced to yield Possession to Dr. Owen; his own Wife was in the same Condition, and was carried out in the same manner. Dr. Fell survived his Troubles but a very little while; for having at length obtained his Liberty, and returning to his Parsonage of Sunningwell, he died there Feb. 1647.

Mem. p. 131.

* Which I first mention, because of the Sub-deanery, which Dr. Hammond then had.

HENRY HAMMOND, D. D. the * Second Canonry (and then Sub-dean) University Oratorship, ... Arch-deaconry of Chichester, . . . And Penshurst, R. in Kent. . . . . .

* Which I first mention, because of the Sub-deanery, which Dr. Hammond then had.

The great Learning and Piety of this Excellent Person, have render'd him so well known to every one, that I shall say the less of him. He was the Son of Dr. John Hammond Physician to Prince Henry; and by his Mother, descended from the famous Dr. Alexander Nowell, Dean of St. Paul's. He was sent to Eaton-School in his Long Coats, in his most tender Years, gave several Indications of his future Greatness, and was at that Time noted for an extraordinary Sweetness of Carriage and Behaviour. Afterwards he became successively Demy, Fellow, and Philosophy Reader of Magdalen-College in this University. In the Year 1633, the Earl of Leicester, who had been much affected with a Sermon which he Preached at Court, presented him to the Rectory of Penshurst, where he discharged all the Offices of a most Excellent Pastor, by keeping up Daily Prayers, and Monthly Sacraments at his Church; by Visiting the Sick, Reconciling Differences, and by an unbounded Charity and Hospitality. The several Instances of which I could not prevail upon my self to omit, were not his learned Works, to which is Life is prefix'd, in every One's Hands. But to proceed with the Account of him: In 1638, he became D. D. and answered the Doctors in the Divinity Act, to the Wonder of his Hearers. In 1643, Dr. Duppa collated him to the Arch-deaconry of Chichester, without his seeking it. The same Year he was nominated one of the Assembly of Divines, but late not among them; nor indeed could he, for some time after, as I find by the Parliament Journals, that Nomination was Revoked; tho' the House gave themselves a needless Trouble in it, for they might have been assured, that he never would countenance that scandalous and illegal Assembly by his Presence. In the beginning of the Troubles his Books were Plunder'd, but bought for him again by a Friend: He was also summon'd before the Committee of the Country, where he was Persuaded, Threaten'd and Reproach'd, but nothing could move him from the Performance of his Parochial Duty, until about the middle of 1643, a strict Search was made for him, and an Hundred Pounds Reward offered for his Apprehension. At which Time he was forced to fly for his Security; first to his old Tutor Dr. Buckner, from him to Winchester, and from thence with his old Friend Dr. Oliver, to Magdalen-College in this University. The Court being then at Oxon, his great Worth soon made him more known to it, and recommended him to the Service of the Duke of Richmond, and of the Earl of Southampton; whom he attended to London soon after, when they were sent thither to compose Matters, if it had been possible. After this, he was pitch'd upon, with some other Divines, to Assist his Majesty's Commissioners at the Treaty of Uxbridge; where at first Dr. Stuart and Mr. Henderson were the only Persons admitted to Dispute: But at the Second Meeting, Others of the King's Divines (as it had been on purpose contriv'd by the Parliament) were call'd in to Engage extempore, with some of the Presbyterian Ministers, who had come thither prepared. The Victory was Cheap and Easie, not withstanding Mr. Vines was the unhappy Person who had Dr. Hammond for his Antagonist; and he, instead of disputing Scholastically, pulls a long Paper out of his Pocket, which he there Read: Of this Dr. Hammond took short Notes, as the other was Preaching it, and answer'd it off-hand, with such Readiness, Clearness and Sufficiency, as perfectly satisfy'd all the unprejudic'd Hearers. However, it must be confess'd, the Party were afterwards too hard for him at another Weapon (confessedly their own) which was, that of Slander and Calumny: For they gave out that Mr. Vines had utterly Silenc'd him, and made him Swear by God and the Holy Angels, that tho' he had not a Reply ready at hand, yet he could answer him. Which had, it must be own'd, Thus much of Truth in it, and no more (as the Dr. in a Letter, too long to be here inserted, made evident) that indeed He and Mr. Vines did dispute. In the Year 1644, his Majesty promoted him to this Canonry in the room of Dr. William Strode deceased; and the University chose him for their Orator: The King also took him for one of his Chaplains, and he was possibly the Last Person assumed to that Service. After this he constantly attended his Majesty, as long as that Blessed Prince was allowed to have his own Divines about him: But when they were Turned away, Dr. Hammond retired to his Canonry, and, as it happen'd, very seasonably; for being chosen Subdean, the Visitation coming on, and the Dean being taken into Custody, he assumed the Government of the College, and administred it with admirable Fidelity and Courage, although it exposed him to very great Sufferings: For in Nov. 1647, he was summoned before the Committee for Reformation of the University, then sitting at London; and March 30, 1648, was by the same Committee outed of both his Canonry and Oratorship. The Accusations laid against him, were his Refusing to submit to the Visitors Power, his being concerned in drawing up the Reasons which were presented to the Convocation, against the Authority of that Visitation, and his Refusing to Publish the Visiter's Orders for the Expulsion of several of the Members of Christ Church. Of all which Notice having been given by the Visitors, to the Committee of London, the Committee immediately dispatch'd back Orders to them to Dispossess Him and several others; which, as soon as they had received, they march'd with a Guard (tho' it was then the Vigils of Easter) to Christ-Church Hall, from thence send a Musquetteer to the Doctor's Lodgings, and made him a Prisoner for about Ten Weeks, in Oxford. After this, he was for some time under Confinement at the House of Sir Philip Warwick at Clapham in Bedfordshire. When he got his Liberty, he retired to the Loyal Sir John Packington of Westwood in Worcestershire; where he spent the Remainder of his Life in Great Retirednes, Lucubration, and Devotion, and at length made a most Pious and Submissive Exit, under the afflicting Visitations of the Gout, Stone, Cholick and Cramp, on Apr. 25, 1660. He was designed, had he survived a few Months, for the Episcopal See of that Diocese. It will be needless to set down the Character of this Great Person; but one thing concerning his well-known Charity I cannot omit; which is this: As he had the Distributing of considerable Sums to the distress'd Loyal Clergy, and others in Necessity; so he gave large Portions of his own Money to the same Uses; and yet, to his Astonishment

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 558.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 258.

Ibid. L. 1. p. 304, 307, 591.

Digitized by Google

nishment, he could never make himself Poor, and died at last worth 1500 l. As for his Many and Learned Works, Wood hath given a large Account of them. I shall here only take notice, that he Assisted in the Noble Undertaking of the Polyglot Bible. This Justice must be done to the † Person who was at first designed for his Successor in the Canonry and Oratorship, that though he had actually accepted of them, yet he presently threw up Both again, being ashamed to succeed a Man of so Great and Unexceptionable a Character. But however, at last * One was found.

Mr. F. Corbet, A. M. some time Fellow of Merton-Coll.

* viz. Ralph Button, A.M. Fellow of Mert. Coll.

Thomas Iles, D. D. First Canonry.

He had been Student of this House, and Prelendary of Gloucester, was some time Principal of Hart-Hall, and in the Year 1632, succeeded Dr. William Pei se (afterwards Bishop of Bath and Wells) in this Canonry. In Dec. 1647, he was Voted out of his Canonry by the Reforming Committee at London; and March the 2*d* following, the Impetuous Visitors dispossess'd him by plain Force and Violence. Nor was this all: For they likewise set a Guard on his Lodgings, that he should not carry off his Goods; and the 17*th* of the same Month, threatned to take him into Custody, for Disobeying the Orders of the Parliament. By this means he was quite Ruined, and died before the Restoration. The Successor which the same No Authority placed into his Room, was Henry Wilkenson, sen.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p 121, 395, 396, 404. L. 2. p. 217

See one Dr. Iles in Gloucestershire, and quære.

Richard Gardiner, D. D. Third Canonry.

He was Born in the City of Hereford, became Student of this House about 1607, was installed in the Canonry in 1629, on the Death of Dr. Thomas Thornton, and was Chaplain in Ordinary to King Charles I. In Dec. 1647, the Reforming Committee at London dispatch'd Him likewise; and in March following, the Visitors Threatned to have him into Custody, for not yielding Obedience to the Parliament Orders. Into his Canonry was then thrust Christ. Rogers, D. D. but was forced to give it up to him again in July 1660. He died Dec. 20, 1670. Part of his Epitaph runs thus. Cbm diu se magnâ cum laude exercuisset, majore † eodem ocssit; Fanaticorum furoribus Fortunis omnibus exutus; ut fidem, quam Deo & Principi obligaverat illibatam retineret. Postliminiò tandem restitutus, eâdem Constantiâ quâ ereptas sprevorat Opes, contemnebat Affluentes. He gave the Fountain in the Great Quadrangle.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 349. Ant. L. 1. p. 395, 396, 402. L. 2. p. 281, 288, 287.

See in Wood what he wrote.

The Canonry.

Robert Payne, D. D. 4th Canonry.

He obtain'd it in the Year 1638; and when the Visitation came on, ran the same Fate with the o her worthy Members of this Church; being Voted out of his Canonry by the Committee for Reformation of the University, March 30, 1638. He was at that time Treasurer. They afterwards Seiz'd him by a Messenger, and Hurried him to London. When he was let at Liberty, he Retir'd to the House of Sir John Buckhurst, at Swalfield in Berkshire, and died there after the News of the King's Defeat at Worcester. He was a most Learned and Excellent Person. He was succeeded by John Miles, L. L. D. who soon after by another Order of the Committee was Removed to Dr. Morris's Canonry; when there was another Successor appointed in Dr. Payne's room, viz.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 397, 410. L. 2. p 259.

Edward Pocock, B. D. Fourth Canonry.

He was a Native of the City of Oxford, Born in the Parish of St. Peter's in the East in that City, became Scholar and Fellow of Corpus-Christi College in this University, and was by Archbishop Laud appointed the First Lecturer of the Arabick Tongue, founded by that Noble Prelate in the Year 1636. Afterwards Dr. Morris, the Hebrew-Professor, dying March 21, 1647, (which was in the Height of the Visitation) his Majesty, then a Prisoner in the Isle of Wight, nominated him to that Professorship (and consequently to the Sixth Canonry in this Church, which he had some time before, at the Instance of Arch-bishop Laud, and the Petition of Dr. Morris, annex'd to the Hebrew-Lecture) and by the Intercession of Selden, the Parliament consented to it: But Mr. Miles, who, as is just now said, had got Possession of Dr. Payne's Canonry, quitted it again, and by the Favour of the Visitors, got himself Possess'd of the Sixth Canonry, obliging Mr. Pocock to accept of the Fourth; which notwithstanding, he was not permitted long to Enjoy; being in the Year 1651, Dispossess'd of it for Refusing the Engagement. However, they did not Deprive him of All: For they left him the Burthen, tho' they took the main Profits of his Professorship: So that he still continu'd to Read This and his Other (the Arabick) Lecture. After that, 'He 'was in great Danger of Losing his Parsonage 'of Childry, attending the Committee at several 'of their Meetings, to know his Doom. Many 'Articles were exhibited against him; from 'which he so well clear'd himself, that no Crime 'could stick. At length Insufficiency was pitcht upon to bear him down: Whereupon Dr. Owen 'who was one of the Number, could not forbear 'to say, that they took the ready way to make 'themselves Infamous; the Person whom they 'were now Censuring in this manner, being of 'such Extraordinary Learning, as was Famous 'through the World. Nor did Mr. Miles in the mean time quietly enjoy the Sixth Canonry, but was himself Dispossess of it in 1651, for Refusing the Engagement. And tho' Restored by the Rump, with the Secluded Members added to them in 1659, yet the Year following he was a second time obliged to leave it, and give way to Dr. Pocock, who was then Installed in his Right Canonry. I forbear to prosecute the Account of this Great Man any further; chiefly because his Life is shortly expected from the Manuscript of the late Learned Mr. Humphry Smith of Dartmouth in the County of Devon; who had in a manner Finish'd it before God was pleas'd to call him to himself.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 311. Life by Wilkinson, passim.

Ibid. L. 2 p. 397.

Robert Sanderson, D. D. 5th Canonry, Regius-Professorship of Divinity, . . Prebend of . . . in the Church of Lincoln, Prebend of Southwell, ... And Boothby-Paynel, R. in Lincolnshire.

This most Incomparably Learned and Pious Person is so very well known, that I shall need say but little of him. He was Born at Rotheram in Yorkshire, and Imbu'd with a Spirit of Piety in his most Tender Years. He was Educated at Lincoln-College, became Fellow of that House, and in 1616, Proctor of the University; which Office he discharg'd with great Prudence, and to the general Satisfaction of every one. In 1618, he had the Rectory of Wibberton in Lincolnshire bestowed upon him, but Resign'd it in 1619, and the same Year was made Rector of Boothby-Paynel. After that, he obtained some of the above-named Preferments, and was, by the Favour of Dr. Laud, made Chaplain to his Majesty King Charles I. which Blessed Prince took great Satisfaction ction in Converſing with him. In 1641, he was employ'd, with ſome others, to make Alterations in the Common-Prayer-Book, and pleaſe, if it had been poſſible, the Prevailing Party. The Year after he was nominated Regius-Profeſſor, and the Year after that again, one of the Aſſembly of Divines; and it would be needleſs to tell the Reader that he never late among them. He was alſo one of thoſe that were appointed by the Parliament to manage the Fourtieth Treaty of Setling Church-Affairs. In 1647, he was employ'd, and had the moſt Confidetable Hand in Drawing up the Univerſity Reaſons againſt the Covenant, and Negative Oath. Afterwards he attended his Majeſty at the Iſle of Wight. June the 13th, 1648, he was by the Committee for the Reformation of the Univerſity, Voted out of his Canonry and the Profeſſorſhip; having been ſummon'd before that Committee the 22d of Novemb. it regoing; but whether he appear'd or not, I cannot ſay. At that time one Creſs was ſubſtituted in his Profeſſorſhip, as Henry Cornish was afterwards in his Canonry. After this, he retired to his Living of Boothby, which had been put under Sequeſtration in the Year 1644, and to continu'd at that time. At this Place he met with a great deal of Ill Uiage: Among other Abuſes which were put upon him, the Soldiers once Tore his Common-Prayer-Book to pieces, &c. and at length Seiz'd and carry'd him Priſoner to Lincoln, in order to get one C———, the Miniſter of Allington, (a Zealous and Furious Covenanter) exchang'd for him; which was accordingly Effected; and by the Articles of that Exchange, it was agreed, that Each of them ſhould continue Undiſturbed in their reſpective Pariſhes; or if moleſted, the other Party ſhould procure him Redreſs. Notwithſtanding which, Dr. Sanderſon could not live Safe or Quietly there: For, tho' by that Agreement he got the Sequeſtration of his Living taken off, yet he was ſeveral times aft erwaras Plunder'd, and once Wounded in no leſs than Three Places. He had at that time a Wife and Children, was Reduc'd to great Poverty, and in the Year 1658, was in a very Pitiful Condition: But living to the Reſtoration, he was Re-inſtated in his Profeſſorſhip and Canonry, in Aug. 1660: And in October the ſame Year, Conſecrated to the Biſhoprick of Lincoln; the Palace of which (at Buckden) he Repaired, and as Fines came in, Augmented ſeveral Poor Vicarages, notwithſtanding he was old, and had a Family; which, when his Friends ſuggeſted to him, he made them this Return, That he left them to God, and Hop'd he ſhould be able at his Death to give them a Competency: Tho' whether he did or not, I am not inform'd: Only the contrary ſeems Probable; becauſe he enjoy'd the Biſhoprick but a very little while: For he died Jan. 29, 166⅔. in the 76th Year of his Age; having made a moſt Pious Exit, the Particulars of which are too many to be Related: but I cannot omit one of them, which was his Receiving the Abſolution of the Church from one of his Chaplains; and pulling off his Cap, that the Hand employ'd in ſo Solemn a Benediction, might reſt on his Bare Head only: So little of Popery did this Great Perſon (who could of all Men living, be the leaſt ſuſpected of it) ſee in that Practice: Or rather, ſo neceſſary did he eſteem that Order of our Excellent Church. I ſhall not here collect the ſeveral Parts of this Great Man's Character; partly, becauſe it would be ſo very large, but chiefly, becauſe it is ſo very well known. However, I cannot forbear to add, that Modeſty and Humility were Two Gems, which ſhin'd with a peculiar Brightneſs in it; and that he baſides his Great and Profound Knowledge in Divinity, he was a moſt Exact Hiſtorian, Antiquary, Herald and Genealogiſt; and had made vaſt Collections in each of thoſe kinds. And as for his Skill in Caſuiſtical Divinity, tho' he is well known to have been the moſt Exact Perſon in it that perhaps this Nation ever produc'd; yet I cannot forbear giving the Reader theſe Remarkable Words of Biſhop Uſher concerning that matter: 'I propos'd, ſaid he, the Caſe to judicious Dr. Sanderſon, who graſp'd all the Circumſtances of it, and 'return'd that Happy Anſwer, that met all my 'Thoughts, tatisfi'd all my Scruples, and clear'd 'all my Doubts. As for his Works, I ſhall here only mention, that he Aſſiſted in the Polyglot, that the Preface to the Common-Prayer-Book was of his drawing up, and that his Sermons (notwithſtanding the Mode of Preaching is ſo variable) have hitherto been, and ever will be Eſteem'd one of the Beſt Pieces of Divinity that was ever Publiſhed.

Digitized by Google

See the reſt in Wood.

JOHN WALL, D. D. * 7th Canonry, And Prebend of Tatminſter Secunda in the Church of Sarum.

* Dr. Morin, as is before ſaid, was poſſeſt of the 6th Canonry, whoſe Sufferings were prevented by Death.

I am oblig'd to mention this Perſon, becauſe he was Voted out of his Canonry, March 30, 1648, by the Committee for Reforming the Univerſity, (Henry Cornish being at that time order'd to Succeed him) and in purſuance of that Reſolution, was actually Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Viſitors, April 12th following: But Sept. 13, that ſame Year, on his Petition to the Committee, and Submiſſion to the Viſitors, he was put into his Canonry again, Cornish having been provided for in Dr. Sanderſon's Canonry: For which reaſon I omit to ſay any thing more of him; ſave that he is accounted for at large by Wood, in the Second Volume of his Athenæ, p. 259.

Wood, Ath. L. 2 p. 497. 398, 403, 412.

GEORGE MORLEY, D. D. 8th Canonry, And Mildenhall, R. in Wiltſhire. . . .

He was Born in the City of London, Elected Student of this Houſe from Weſtminſter-School, became Chaplain to the Earl of Carnarvan, and was preferred to the Rectory of Hartfield in Suſſex, which he afterwards exchang'd for that of Mildenhall before-nam'd. He was alſo Chaplain in Ordinary to King Charles I. who in the Year 1641, promoted him to this Canonry; the firſt Year's Profits of which he Return'd back to his Majeſty, to Aſſiſt him in the War then begun. Soon after this he was nominated One of the Aſſembly of Divines; but never did them the Honour, nor himſelf the Injury to Appear among them. Inſtead of it, he continu'd with his Majeſty, ſerving him in what he could, during the Rebellion: and particularly was order'd by him to Engage the Univerſity of Oxford, not to Submit to the Parliament Viſitation: The Succeſs of which Undertaking was an Evidence of the Great Prudence and Dexterity wherewith he manag'd it. Afterwards he was Employ'd by the Univerſity it ſelf to Negotiate the making good the Articles agreed upon at the Surrender of the Garriſon to the Parliament Forces; and became likewiſe an Advocate for it to the Reforming Committee in ſome Matters relating to the Viſitation; and in that Affair behav'd himſelf ſo very handſomly, that a Leading Member of the Houſe of Commons promis'd him he ſhould not be put to ſay, do, or ſubſcribe any thing contrary to his Conſcience, if he would but give them his Word only, that he would not actually appear againſt their Proceedings. Which was at firſt Hearing a Propoſal acceptable enough; but when he began to consider with himself, that Dr. Fell, Dr. Sanderson, Dr. Hammond, Dr. Gardiner, &c. would be gone, and no one left but Dr. Wall; he chose rather to suffer in such good Company, than carry with those whom the Parliament should nominate in their Room; and accordingly in December 1647, he was by the Committee for Reforming the University, Voted out of his Canonry: March the 2d following his Deprivation was Published and Declared; soon after he was with the rest actually Dispossessed by Force and Violence; and Mr. Langley was substituted in his Room. He was Deprived of all his other Preferments, if at least he had not any other besides the Living of Mildenhall. In which, to note that by the way, his Successor was one Bayley a Fifth-Monarchy-man, and afterwards a bufie Commissioner in Ejecting the Loyal Clergy of that County. March 17, 1647, he was threatened to be Taken into Custody for not obeying the Orders of the Reforming Committee; and for that, or some other Reason, was afterwards actually Imprisoned. After that his Majesty sent for him to assist in the Treaty of the Isle of Wight. At length he attended the Gallant Lord Capel before his Execution; and then, perceiving Matters were come to the Extremity, quitted England, and betook himself to the young King at the Hague, on whom he constantly waited until his Majesty went to Scotland; and not being allowed to go with him thither, retired to Antwerp, where for about Three or Four Years, he Read the Service of the Church of England Twice every Day, Catechized once a Week, and Administred the Communion once a Month to all the English in the Town who should come to it; at he did afterwards at Breda for four Years together. In a Word, during the Time of his Exile, he visited the Sick, buried the Dead, relieved the Distressed Loyalists, continued his most Ardent Supplications in Private for his Majesty and the Church; and in these Performances, with great Satisfaction, passed away the gloomy Period of his Banishment. It must not be omitted, that whilst he was thus Abroad, he contracted an Acquaintance with the Learned Rivet, Heinsius, Salmasius, and Bochartus. Nor was his Friendship less acceptable to very many of the Greatest and most Learned Persons of our own Nation. After the Restoration he was first made Dean of Christ-Church, then Bishop of Worcester, afterwards Dean of the Chapel-Royal, and was at last Advanced to the See of Winchester; for which, as his Majesty had foretold, he was never the Richer, expending no less than Eight Thousand Pounds in Repairing the Castle of Farnham, and Four Thousand Pounds in Purchasing Winchester-House at Chelsea, which he annexed to that See; besides which he laid out considerable Sums in Repairing the Palace at Winchester, and in Benefactions to this House. He died in the Year 1684, and was a Prelate of great Piety, a very hard Student, and one who exercised a continual Severity upon himself; usually Rising about Five a Clock in the Morning, Winter and Summer, tho' he never went to Bed till about Eleven in the coldest Nights, not having a Fire nor his Bed warmed in the severest Season of the Year; nor did he eat more than once in the Twenty Four Hours: By which Means he past over his Life without Gout, Stone, Strangury, or Head-ach; or so much as ever keeping his Bed for any Sickness more than Twice. His Bounty and Charity likewise were wonderful; and his Loyalty to his Prince, and Zeal for the Established Church were plainly inimitable; the Account of which take in these Words of Wood; 'he was a Person of approved and 'thoroughly tried Loyalty, not of the Number of 'those Lukewarm, Irreligious Temporizers, who 'who had learned Politickly to shift and quit 'their Principles, to make them suit to the Times; 'and so pliable to Tack about, as still to be ready 'to receive what ever Revolution and Turn of Affairs should happen; and by an easie Submission 'to that Government which was uppermost, always 'to stand fair for Promotion, under a Succession of 'continued Usurpation, tho' of a quite different 'Nature and Complexion. He was so firmly setled in, and fixed to the Church of England, that 'he constantly bore up against, and became impregnable, either by the attempting Allurements 'of a splended Papacy, or the Reproachful and 'Ignominious Treatment of the Ruder Disciplinarian 'Party. He had Courage enough to own a Persecuted Church, and an Exiled Prince; and as 'he vindicated on all Occasions, the Honour and 'Dignity of the former, both against the open 'Assaults and Batteries of her Protestt Adversaries, 'and the more sly and undermining Insinuations of 'her pretended Friends; so did he act with no 'less Vigor by leaving no Projects unattempted, 'which carried in them any reasonable Probability of Success, whereby he might effect his 'Majesty's Restoration to his Crown and just 'Rights; which altho' managed with his utmost 'Skill, Industry, and best Interest, yet fell short 'of his Design. And as he was a constant Adherer to his Majesty in his Sufferings, who reposed so great a Confidence in his Experienced 'Fidelity, as to admit him to the Honourable 'Privacy of his most important and weighty 'Concerns; so he was upon, and since the Restoration, rewarded by him, as I have before told you, for his many eminent and good Services done by himself, and upon his Engagement by others, for the Royal Cause and Family. O that but a single Portion of this Spirit, might always reft on the Established Clergy!

Wood, Ath. Vol II p 192. Ath. L. 2 p. 391, 396, 401. L. 2 p. 462.

See alſo Walton's Life of Sanderſon. p. 23.

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ath Vol. II. p. 217.

He was sometimes Chaplain to the Unfortunate Queen of Bohemia.

He gave upwards of 1500 l. to St. Paul's.

Ath Vol. II. p. 801, 804.

See his Works in Wood.

Robert Wareing, A. M. Student's-Place, And History-Professorship.

He was a Staffordshire Man by Birth; was Elected Student of this House from Westminster-School in the Year 1630; and bore Arms for his Majesty in the Garrison of Oxford. In the Year 1647, he was Elected Senior Proctor, and the 2d of August that same Year, History-Professor of the University; but was soon after Dispossessed of his Professorship by the Visitors; having been summoned before the Reforming Committee at London in November 1647, for denying the Authority of the Visitation; and the 9th of Feb. following, by the same Committee, ordered into Custody for Contempt of the Parliament Orders. But I think he saved himself either by Flight or Concealment: And to say the Truth, the Bold and noble Stand which he had made against the Visitation in his Procuratorial-Office, and his Contempt of those Orders, whereby they would have Dispossessed him of it, had rendered him peculiarly obnoxious to them. After he was thus forced to leave the University, he retired to the House of Sir William Whitmore, at Apeley in Shropshire, where for some Time he lived obscurely; afterwards he Travelled with his Patron (who was it seems a common Friend to the Distressed Loyalists) into France; and soon after his Return to London, which was in the Year 1658, sickned and died there. He was, saith Wood, A most excellent Latin and English Poet, but a better Orator; and was reckoned among the great Wits in the University. And a Person of such Sweetness of Fancy, Neatness of Stile, and Lasciviousness of hidden Sence; that in these Respects he may compare with any

Wood, Ant. L. 1 p. 192, 195, 412. L. 2 p. 42. Ath Vol. II. p. 141.

He was succeeded in his Professorship by Lewis Du Moulin.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 42.

What he Published is in Wood.

Digitized by Google

any other extant. He was withal a Pious and Religious Man.

JASPER MAYNE, D. D. Student's-Place,
Cassington, V.
And
Pyrton, V. } in Oxfordshire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 172

He was Born at Hatherleigh in the County of Devon, became Student of this House, and obtained the Vicaridges above-nam'd from the Creator of it; being taken notice of for a Quaint Preacher, and a Noted Poet, as Wood words it. When his Majesty retired to Oxford, he was appointed one of the Divines to preach at Court; and for that Service was created D. D. in the Year 1646. After which he successively Lost his Preferments, and was in a manner put to his shifts; but was Restor'd in 1660, recompenc'd with a Canonry of this Church, and the Arch-deaconry of Chichester; and was also made Chaplain to his Majesty. At his Death, which happned in 1672, he gave 500 l. to the Rebuilding of St. Paul's Cathedral, and 100 l. apiece to each of the Vicaridges before-nam'd.

Smith, Works in Wood.

JOHN DOLBEN, A. M. Student's-Place.

He was Born at Standwick in Northamptonshire, where his Father, a Doctor of Divinity, was Rector, but descended from an ancient Family of North-Wales. He was Elected Student of this House from Westminster-School. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he took up Arms for his Majesty; was an Ensign in the Fight at Marston-Moor; was at the Siege of York, where he receiv'd a dangerous Wound; and at length became a Major in his Majesty's Service. After the Surrender of Oxford, he resum'd his Gown, and in 1647, became A. M. but in the Year following was by the Visitors Ejected from his Studentship. After which he pass'd over the Remainder of the Usurpation at a private House in Oxford, with Mr. Raph Sheldon Elder Brother to the Suffering Warden of All-Souls College) whose Daughter he had marry'd; and, together with Mr. John Fell, kept up the Orders and Ceremonies of the Church of England, in a House opposite to Merton College. After the Restoration he became Canon of this Church; and by the Favour of Dr. Seldon, his Wife's Uncle, successively Arch-deacon of London, Clerk of the Closet, Dean of Westminster, Bishop of Rochester, Lord Almoner, and in 1683, was Translated to the Archiepiscopal See of York. He dy'd in 1686, in the 62d Year of his Age, and was a Man of very great Parts and Abilities; of a Free, Generous and Noble Disposition; and withal of a Natural, Bold and Happy Eloquence; and managed the Office of Lord Almoner, to the Benefit of the Poor, with great Justice and Integrity. He hath several Sermons extant.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 600.

Had all the Profits of Cardington-Manor, and the Vicaridge of St. Giles. Acres Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 64.

He gave 100 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral.

JOHN FELL, A. M. Student's-Place.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 802.

He was Son of the Suffering Dean of this Church, before accounted for, and Born at Sunningwell in Berks. In 1636, being then but Eleven Years old, he became Student of this House; in 1643, he bore Arms in the Garrison of Oxford, and was afterwards an Ensign. In 1648, the Visitors dispossess'd him of his Student's Place; after which he liv'd retiredly in Oxford, and together with Mr. Dolben, and some others, as is just now said, kept up the Devotions and Orders of the Church of England in the Administration of the Sacrament, &c. to such of the Afflicted Royalists as remain'd in the University. On the Restoration he became one of the Canons of this Church, very soon after, viz. Nov. 30, 1660, D. an of it; and was then also one of his Majesty's Chaplains. Miserable was the Outward State, as well of Learning as Religion; and more Deformed and Loose were the Principles of the University, when this Excellent Person was promoted to the Government of this Great Society: These he most strenuously set himself to Reform, first in his own College, and afterwards in the whole University. When he was advanced to the Office of Vice Chancellour, his Predecessor, Dr. Morley, had Restored the Ejected Members; but Dr. Fell proceeded to Remove such as he could not Fix in Loyal Principles; and us'd his utmost Endeavours to improve his College in Learning and True Religion, and to Restore and Adorn it with magnificent Buildings. In pursuit of these Designs, partly by his own Benefactions, and partly by those which he Encouraged, or Procur'd, he got the North Side of the Quadrangle almost wholly Finish'd. This Piece of Building had been well near compleated before the Wars, but sunk again upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion; during which the Blessed Reformers, when they got the Power into their Hands, took the Timber, and converted it to their own Private Uses. After this he built the Chaplains Quadrangle, and a very long Range more (which had been accidentally destroyed by Fire) as also the Lodgings belonging to the Third Canonry, and the Stately Tow'r over the Great Gate. In 1666, he came to the Office of Vice-Chancellour, and then set himself to Reform the Habits of the University, to Restore the Ancient Discipline and Exercises, and Regulate several Abuses in them: For which purpose he Frequented Examinations (and was very Severe in them) as he did likewise the Ordinaries, which are now better known by the Unhappy Name of Wall Lectures. He likewise Afforded his Presence very frequently to the Augustines; and kept them up to the Height: And, in a Word, endeavoured to Reduce the University, both in Discipline and Opinion, to the State in which it was whilst Dr. Laud was Chancellour; which through the 20 Years Interval of Loosenes and Disorder, was by several Steremed, and in some measure proved an Impracticable Undertaking. He frequently went the Rounds in his Own House, to see that Progress the Young Men, and esp cially the Nobility and Gentry made in their Studies: And to set them a good Example in Religious Matters, constantly Frequented the Publick Prayers (besides the Private Prayers in his Family) Four times a Day; being a most Zealous Favouter of the Church of England, and most Exact in the Performance of its Orders. He was also a mighty Encouragor and Promoter of Learning, and Advanced the Press at Oxford to that Height and Glory, which the Incomparable Arch-bishop Laud had long before Designed and Projected. He was at his Sollicitation likewise, that the Noble Theatre was Erected, to the Intent that the Publick Exercises might no longer be Perform'd (as had been before Customary) in the House of God. He was also an Eager Defender and Promoter of the Rights and Privileges of the University. These he carried to a great Height, and thereby got a great deal of Ill Will from the Townsmen, which however he despis'd. Nor did his Charity come a whit short of his Munificence and other Excellent Qualities. He maintained a School-master for the Instructing of a confiderable Number of Youth; and bound out several of them Apprentices at his own Charge. In short, Trabibus in parres discissis, ut ligni ad fecum fuppeditaret, Smith Wood in another place.

Antiq. L. 2. p. 284.

He gave 50 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral.

he

he was so very Eminent in this most Lovely and Especial Duty of Christianity, that, as I have been informed, he became a sort of a Treasurer or Almoner for the Charity of others, and had frequently great and considerable Sums put into his Hands to be disposed of by him to Charitable Uses. In the Year 1675, he became Bishop of Oxford (being allowed to keep the Deanery of this Church in Commendam) and was no sooner Possessed of that See, but he set about Repairing (or rather Building) the Palace of Cuddesden. At length his Noble and Generous Spirit had suggested more great Designs to him than it was possible for him to attend and perfect; so that being quite worn out with Care and Business, he died in 1686; having by a most Pious and Unspotted Life, left behind him an Unquestionable Reputation, an unspeakable Loss to the University, and the whole Commonwealth of Learning in general; and the Character of a Learned Divine, an Excellent Grecian, Latinist, and Philologist, another Founder of his College, a Patron of the University (and what completes it) a great Assertor of the Church of England.

What he Wrote see in Wood.

Richard Allestry, A. M. Student's-Place.

Life Paffim. Wood. Ath. Vol II. p. 105.

He was was Descended from an Ancient Family in Derbyshire, but Born at Uppington in Shropshire, in the Year 1619. In 1636, he became a Commoner of this House, and about Six Months after was by Dr. Samuel Fell, then Dean, made Student of it. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion he took up Arms for his Majesty, was at the Battle of Edge-Hill, and in his Return to Oxford from thence, was taken Prisoner by a Party from Broughton-House, then Garrisoned by the Parliament; but soon after falling into his Majesty's Hands, Mr. Allestry thereupon obtained his Liberty, and repairing to Oxford, bore a Musquet for some Time in the Regiment of Scholars; which being upon several Services, he was in all of them forward to put himself into Action. But some Time before this, when a Party under the Command of the Lord Say were Plundering this University, and had rifled the Dean's Lodgings at this House, locking up their Plunder in a certain Room of it, Mr. Allestry having a Key to that Room, got it all conveyed away before the next Morning; whereupon he was seized, and could have been severely handled, but that the Earl of Essex called away those Forces on a sudden, and so redeemed him from their Fury. When the Visitation came on in 1648, his Sufferings were renewed, and he was Expelled about the middle of July that Year; at which Time having the 'Care of several Persons of Quality, his Pupils, 'and Accounts of his own and theirs to make 'up, he with Difficulty obtained from the Go-'vernor of the Town (Lieutenant Collonel Kel-'sey) a little Respit for the settling his Affairs, 'and doing Justice to those for whom he was 'concerned; the Visitors utterly refusing his Re-'quest for this Reason, as Dr. Rogers one of their 'Number was pleased to word it, because he was 'an Eminent Man. After this he became Chaplain to Francis Newport, Esq; (afterwards Lord Newport in Shropshire, and not long after the Misfortune of his Majesty K. Charles II. at Worcester, was sent to attend that Prince at Roan in Normandy on some Affairs of Moment, and received his Dispatches to the Managers of Affairs in England. Soon after coming to Oxford, for some Time he joined himself to his Two Friends Mr. Dolben and Mr. Fell, who, as is before said, kept up the Orders of the Church of England there in a Private House: From thence he retired to the House of Sir Anthony Cope at Hanwell, where being at liberty to go and come as he pleased, he had several Opportunities of conveying Messages to his Majesty from his Friends in England; and managed that Affair with great Courage and Dexterity. But at last he was seized at Dover, in his Return from his Majesty in 1659, and continued Prisoner at Lambeth House about Six or Eight Weeks, where by ill Usage he contracted a Sickness, which was like to have cost him his Life. For these good Services in the following Year he was made Canon of this Church; and about that Time also one of his Majesty's Chaplains. In 1663 he became Regius Professor of Divinity in this University. In 1665, was made Provost of Eaton, and died in Jan. 1685. He was a most Affectionate Preacher, and so Richly furnished with all variety of choice solid Learning, requisite to recommend him with the greatest Advantage to the more Intelligent World, for one of the most eminent Divines of our Age. His Epitaph adds, Episcopales Infulas eadem industrii & Evitavit, quâ alii ambiunt; cui visum Ecclesiam Dei tuendere, Instituere, Ornare, quam Regere. He Erected a Grammar-School at the Expence of 1500 l.

What he Wrote see in Wood.

Martin Llewellyn, A. M. Student's-Place.

He was a Native of the City of London, and Elected Student of this House from Westminster-School. In 1643, he bore Arms at Oxford for his Majesty, and at length became a Chaplain in the Service. In 1648 he was ejected by the Visitors; at which time he retired to London, studied Physick, and in the Year 1653, was admitted Doctor of his Faculty in this University. Afterwards he became Fellow of the College of Physicians: In 1660 he was Sworn Physician to his Majesty, made Principal of St. Mary-Hall, and one of the Commissioners for Regulating the University. In 1664 he retired from thence and practised Physick at Wickham, was made a Justice of Peace for the County, and at last became Mayor of that Town; where he Died in 1685. He was esteemed a good Poet, and hath several Things of that Kind Extant; the Account of which you may see in Wood.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 528.

Henry Greisley, A. M. Student's-Place.

He was the Son of John Greisley Gentleman, of Shrewsbury; was Elected to this House from Westminster-School; and adhering to his Majesty's Cause against the Rebels was Expelled this House by the Visitors in 1648: But outliving the Usurpation many Years, in 1672, he became Prebendary of Worcester, and died in 1678. He hath several Translations from the French extant, and some small Things in the way of Poetry.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 460.

Robert Mead, M. D. Student.

He was the Son of a Stationer in London, and Elected to this House from Westminster-School: He bore Arms for his Majesty, became a Chaplain in the Service, and in 1648, was turned out of his Place by the Blessed Reformers: Whereupon by taking himself to his Majesty in Exile, he was employed by him as his Agent in Sweden. After which returning to England, he died in London in 1654. He was a Stout and Learned Man, a good Poet, and left an honourable Character behind him.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 93.

What he Wrote see in Wood.

David

Digitized by Google

DAVID WHITFORD, A. B. Student's-Place.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 185.

He was Son of Dr. Walter Whitford, Bishop of Brecken, Educated in Grammar-Learning at Westminster-School, and thence Elected to this House. He was another of those who bore Arms for his Majesty in Oxford, and suffered for it with the rest of his Fellow Soldiers; being turned out of the College in the Year 1648: But persisting in his Affection to the Royal Cause, he waited on his Majesty into Scotland, and served him as an Officer at Worcester-Fight; where he was Wounded, taken Prisoner, brought first to Oxford, from thence carried to London, and by the Importunity of some Friends, at length Released. Afterwards he subsisted partly by the Charity of Edward Bish, Esq; King at Arms; and at length, by becoming Usher to a School: In 1660, he was Restored to his Student's-Place, and became Chaplain to John Earl of Lauderdale; but his Patron dying he returned to the College, where he died himself suddenly, in 1674. He was one of those many Loyalists who suffered as well after, as before the Restoration, being never able to get any Reward for his Fidelity and Service to his Majesty.

He Published some Things of Learning, which see in Wood.

JAMES HEATH, . Student's-Place.

He became Student in 1646, and Two Years afterwards was Ejected by the Parliament-Visitors: But adhering still to his Majesty's Cause, he spent his small Patrimony, prevented his Restoration to the College in 1660, by Marriage; was at last forced to write Books, and Correct to the Press for a Livelyhood; and died in 1664. He was a good Scholar, and had the command of the English and Latin Pen; but made a very ordinary Historian, as appears by the Chronicle of the Intestine War.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 226.

What also he wrote see in Wood.

ROBERT WHITEHALL, . Student's-Place.

He was Born at Amersham in Buckinghamshire, became Student of this House (from Westminster-School) about 1644; was indeed Ejected by the Visitors in 1648, but afterwards Cringing and Submitting (for which Reason he scarce deserves a Place here) to the Men of the Times, he got himself made Fellow of Merton-College in 1650: Afterwards became Terræ Filius, Bachelor of Physick, and died in 1685. He hath several Things extant in the way of Poetry.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 295.

SAMUEL JACKSON, . Student's-Place.

He had been an Officer in his Majesty's Service, and in the Year 1671, was by Vertue of his Majesty's Letters, created M. D. in this University, and died in 1674.

BLASE CARRELL, . Student's-Place.

Wood, Ath. L. 2 p. 483.

He was an Under-Graduate, a Youth of very great Hopes, and Expell'd by the Visitors, November 2, 1648.

ADAM LITTLETON, . Student's-Place.

Contin. of Suppl. to the Great Hist. Dict.

He was an Under Graduate, and turned out the same Day with Mr. Carrell. He was Descended from an Ancient Family of his Name in the County of Salop, Son of Mr. Thomas Littleton Minister of Hasclowen and Surley in that County. Born in the former of those Places November 8, 1627, Educated at Westminster-School, and from thence Elected to this College. In 1658, he was made Second Master of that School; Feb. 3. 1669, he was admitted Rector of Chelsea in Middlesex; September 16, 1674. he became Prebendary of Westminster; and May 27. 1684, being then D. D. was Licensed to the Church of St. Botolph-Aldersgate; which he Resigned about the Year 1689. He was also Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majesty, and died June 30, 1694. He was a most exquisite Philologist and Grammarian, and an universal Scholar. A Gentleman, a Divine, and a Scholer, as Excellent and Polite as any of the Age. See much more of his Character in the Hist. Dict. before cited. As also an Account of his Works; one of which was the excellent Dictionary which commonly bears his Name.

Nonc. Rep. Ecclef. Vol. I. p. 916, 918.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 114. Ath. Vol. II. p. 555.

30 Novemb. Gent. Mr. Newcourt.

WALTER DAVRELL, . Student's-Place.

November 9, 1660, he was created D. D. was at that Time Prebendary, and afterwards Archdeacon of Winchester, and died in 1648, in the 74th Year of his Age.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 814.

MELCHIZEDECK ALFORD, . Student's-Place.

His Name doth not occur in the Visitor's Register; but I have been assured by his Widow (who died some Time since upward of Ninety Years of Age) that he was Student of this House, and turned out of it during some Time of the Rebellion, and had been Plundered there. Afterwards he became Treasurer to the Garrison of Exeter, when it was Besieged by the Rebels, and was imployed in carrying Letters, and other Messages, to the King at Oxford, and elsewhere. He assisted also in carrying off the D. of Gloucester; but being never Rewarded for his Services, after the Restoration, he died Possessed of no greater Preferment than the Poor Vicaridge of Autery in Devon. He was a true Loyalist, a Man of very Bright and Excellent Parts, and Author of those well known Verses,

He was sometime sharing the Usurpation at Dunkirk in Devotion (in common with many of a Country only as I guess) but was not permitted to tarry long there.

Louvra Domus, Dominus Ludovicus, Regia Regis
Digna suo; Cœlo est hæc minor, ille Deo;

Which I am told he made Extempore, in a Company who were talking of the Inscription that was set up over the Gate of that Palace, and begins thus,

Non Orbis Gentem, &c.

THOMAS NORGATE, B. D. † Student's-Place.

† But it may be he was Petty-Canon, for I am not certain.

He was Chaplain also to Sir Thomas Glenham, Governor of the Garrison of Oxford.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 737.

JOHN BABER, . Student's-Place.

He was Voted out, as I find by the Visitor's Register, for Non-Appearance; and agreeably to this, Wood saith, that he Travelled during the War. For which Reason I judge that he was altogether * Deprived of his Right, and did not after Submit to the Men of the Times. And this Conjecture seems to be favoured from hence, that in 1660, he became Physician to his Majesty. Tho' on the other Hand, I take him to

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 774.

* However Quære further.

F f have have been the same John Baker, who in December 1646, was admitted M. B. by the Interest of Colonel John Lambert. He was Born, as I think, in Wells, and Elected Student of this Houſe from Weſtminſter-School in 1642. In the Year 1648 he became M. D. at the Univerſity of Angers, and the Year following was Incorporated in the ſame Degree in this Univerſity.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 735

GEORGE SMITH, . Student's-Place.

A Gentleman of both theſe Names was afterwards Miniſter of Friern-Barnet in Middleſex, and living there in 1700, Quare.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 606.

—— HOWE, . Student's-Place.

R. BRYAN, . Student's-Place.

CHR. LOWTHER, . Student's-Place.

† GYLES WAREING, . Student's-Place.

† Thuſe miſtaken for Roberts hiſtor.

THOMAS HILL, . Student's-Place.

THOMAS TERRENT, . Student's-Place.

RALPH TOWNSON, . Student's-Place.

JOHN HILMAN, . Student's-Place.

ROBERT *LOE, . Student's-Place.

* Whom I take to be the ſame with Love in Oxon. Lach. or if not, one more muſt be added to this Liſt.

† One Tho. Hilliſley another of both the ſame Names likewiſe at Brazen-Noſe became Prebendary of North-Alton in the Church of Salisbury, June 12, 1683, on the Death of Dr. Dorell, and died himſelf, as I conjecture, before April 16, 1693, when Charles Tippet had that Prebend.

† RICHARD HILL, . Student's-Place.

JOHN CARRICK, Student's-Place.

—— UNDERWOOD, . Student's-Place.

—— NICHOLAS, . Student's-Place.

But perchance among theſe laſt 13, there may be One or Two of the Petty-Canons, or Chaplains. Quære.

* As this ſaid. Wood, Ann. L. 1. p. 413.

NATH. CANOPIUS, * B. D. Petty-Canonry; or Chaplain's Place (as they are commonly call'd.)

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 647

He was a Native of the Iſland of Crete, and had been Primrce to Cyril Patriarch of Conſtantinople; who upon the Account of his Religious Converſation, had a Reſpect for him: But that Patriarch being Strangled by the Viſier, Canopius applied himſelf for Credentials to the Engliſh Agent at the Port, and with them fled into England, for fear of the ſame Uſage. Upon his Arrival here, that moſt incomparable Prelate Arch-biſhop Laud, took him under his Patronage, ſent him to Baliol-College in this Univerſity, and allow'd him a handſome Subſiſtence there. After that he became Chaplain of this Houſe; but meeting with more Inhumanity from the Godly of thoſe Times, than he had Fled to avoid from the Barbarians of his own Country (that is in plain Terms, the Viſitors having turn'd this Perſon out a ſtarving, whoſe Protection had been the Honour of the Nation in general, and of Archbiſhop Laud in particular) he was forc'd to Fly back again from the Tender Mercies of our Saints, and ſeek for Shelter among the Turks and Muſſelmen. At length he became Biſhop of Smyrna; but when he Dy'd, Wood was not inform'd. Only he adds of him, That he was the Firſt Man who Made and Drank Coffee in Oxford.

Nov. 3. 1648

BAYLY THOMAS, . Chaplainſhip

See the County of Kent.

EDMOND CHILMEAD, A. M. Chaplainſhip.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 99.

He was Born in Glouceſterſhire, and was at firſt one of the Clerks of Magdalen-College, and afterwards got a Chaplainſhip in this Church; from which he was Ejected in 1648, by the Viſitors; and was afterwards forc'd to Subſiſt himſelf by a Weekly † Muſick-Meeting in London; where he Dy'd in February 165⅞. He was a Choice Mathematician, a Noted Critick, and underſtood ſeveral Tongues, eſpecially the Greek, very well. He wrote ſeveral Learned Tracts, the Account of which ſee in Wood.

† He had ſome Relief alſo from Sir Henry Holbrooke, and Edward Bythe, Eſq; bring at Arms.

THOMAS WEAVER, A. M. Chaplainſhip.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 413.

He was Born in the City of Worceſter, Educated in this Houſe, and became Chaplain of it in the Year 1640. In 1648, he was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Viſitors; when he was forc'd to Shift from Place to Place, and live upon his Wits. In 1654, he Publiſh'd his Book of Songs and Poems; which being Eſteem'd Seditious and Libellous, he was Impriſoned for it, and Try'd for his Life; but by the Favour of the Judge, who had a Value for his Wit, he Eſcap'd the Halter. After his Majeſty's Return in 1660, he was made Exciſeman for Leverpool, and was commonly called Captain Weaver. He Dy'd in the Year 166⅞; having, it ſeems, Haſtned his End by Hard Drinking; and ſo is to be look'd upon as one of the Blemiſhes of this Liſt. He publiſh'd ſeveral things in the way of Poetry, an Account of which you have in Wood.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 212.

WILLIAM FULLER, L. L. B. Chaplainſhip.

Ibid. p. 670.

He was a Londoner by Birth; was Entred firſt at Magdalen-Hall, and from thence Tranſlated to Edmund-Hall in this Univerſity. Afterwards he became Petty-Canon of this Church. Chaplain to the Lord Keeper Littleton, and Suffered with his Majeſty's Cauſe, as others did, being at length forced to Teach a Private School at Twitrenham for a Subſiſtence; where he Endeavoured to inſtil the Principles of Loyalty into his Scholars. After the Reſtoration he became Dean of St. Patrick's near Dublin, and ſoon after was created I. L. D. of this Univerſity; (the Chancellour's Letters for which purpoſe ſay, that he is extremely and Learned Perſon, and had † ſuffered much for his Loyalty to his Majeſty) Biſhop of Limerick and Ardfert in Ireland; and at length in the Year 1667, was Tranſlated to Lincoln. He Died at Kenſington, Apr. 22, 1675. He had Collected Materials for Writing the Life of that Excellent Prelate Arch-biſhop Bramhall, but was prevented by Death.

† Wood does not in ſo many Words aſſert that he loſt his Chaplainſhip for it; but it ſeems to be fairly intimated by this Expreſſion, and that.

He Repaired ſome of the Monuments of the Deans of Lincoln, at which had been Defaced in the Times of the Rebellion, and named here, dore the reſt, had he Died

All

All those foregoing were, as I conjecture, utterly Dispossessed of their Several Preferments.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 809.

SAMUEL SPEED, . Student's-Place. I believe he never made his Peace again with

* And I the rather believe so, because Wood mentioning his being created D.D. in 1674, saith, that he had Formerly suffered for his Loyalty. In that Year he became Canon of Christ Church, and died at Godalming in Surrey, of which he was Vicar, in 1681, the Visitors, and to was * Finally Deprived; because Wood mentioning his being created D.D. in 1674, saith, that he had Formerly suffered for his Loyalty. In that Year he became Canon of Christ Church, and died at Godalming in Surrey, of which he was Vicar, in 1681, Vacated by the Visitors, it was for Non-Appearance.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 711.

WILLIAM FINMORE, . He was Installed Arch-deacon of Chester, Mar. 6, 1666; he was also Prebendary of that Church, and died in 1681.

FRANCIS DUNCOMB, .

GEORGE MASTER, .

LEWIS PALMER, .

FRANCIS FARNABY, .

JOHN AWBREY, .

FRANCIS CHICHESTER, .

RICHARD WASHBOURN, .

JOHN BERKLEY, .

RICHARD HOSKIN, .

RICHARD GRALE, .

WILLIAM KEMBLE, .

FRANCIS DIXON, .

ROBERT HAMPTON, .

MATTHEW KELLET, .

WILLIAM RICHARDSON, .

HENRY GREGORY, .

PAUL SKYOTT, .

EDWARD WESTFIELD, .

GEORGE FOREMAN, .

ROBERT JONES, .

† One of Both these Names, was in the Year 1661, (being then D. D.) admitted to the Rectories of St. Mary Abchurch in London, and Cottered in Hertfordshire. News. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 412. Chron. Ant. p. 69. But for all, the John Gardiner at New-Coll. and quere.

JOHN †GARDINER, .

JAMES WHALEY, .

JOHN BUSBY, .

EDWARD BERE, .

FRANCIS MARKHAM, .

GEORGE SCRIVEN, .

These last Twenty seven were under Sentence of Condemnation with the rest of the Loyalists; but 'tis possible several among them might not be of the Foundation; and of those which were so, some might afterwards make their Peace, and keep their Places: But how to distinguish the one from the other, I know not. Possibly the * Four Last might be of the Number of those who were Utterly Deprived: For I find they were Voted to be Expelled for Non Appearance.

* Viz. Bust Markham and Scriven

JOHN LOWEN, . Wood saith, he was Ejected from Christ-Church for his Loyalty, by the Visitors in 1648; and altho' he saith nothing expressly, whether he was on the Foundation or not, yet I should think it might be taken for granted, that he was so; however, Quære. In 1660, he was Created L. L. D. of this University, was afterwards of Doctors Commons, and Dy'd about 1677.

Ath. Vol II. p. 809.

One Thomas Ireland, a Student of this House, was Ejected by Dr. Owen; but upon what occasion I know not. He was Repossessed of his Studentship in 1660; therefore quære whether he suffered for his Loyalty.

Sermons of him, Wood. Ath Vol. II p. 793.

May 3, 1648, Twenty four Students of this House Refus'd Submission to the Visitation; and the 10th of the same Month Fifty more (all of them Students likewise, and Exclusive of one another, if I mistake not) did the same. From Sept. 1648, to Dec. 1650, the Visitors had chosen into this House Twenty seven Students, and Two Chaplains; which is all that I know more of this College.

Wood, Ant. L. I. p. 408. 408.

Corpus Christi.

ROBERT NEWLIN, D.D. Presidentship. He succeeded Dr. Jackson in the Year 1640; was Twice summoned before the Parliament, for Disowning the Visitors Authority; and Apr. 2, 1648, being then Pro-Vice-Chancellor, the Visitors broke open his Doors, and Ransack'd the House for the Insignia, &c. of the University; but they could not find them. The same Year he was Dispossessed by that Mock-Authority, and one Dr. Staunton was substituted in his Room. In 1660, he was Restor'd, and Dy'd in 1667, Ag'd about 90 Years.

Ibid. L. I. p. 232.

Ibid. L. I. p. 192, 194, 199.

Ath Vol. I. p. 901.

JOHN HILLERSDEN, B. D. Fellowship.

In 1671, he became Arch-deacon of Buckingham, and Dy'd about the Year 1684. He was Vice-President also at the Time of his Expulsion.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 692.

JAMES HYDE, * M. D. Fellowship. I take this Gentleman to have been the Person who was afterwards Principal of Magdalen-Hall, and Regius-Professor of Physick. If so, he was 11th Son of Sir Lawrence Hyde of Salisbury. This is sure, that he was Restored to his Fellowship in 1660.

* I'll mistake not.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 371.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 809.

ELIAS WRENCH, D. D. Fellowship, And Trent, R. in Somersetshire.

He was Born in Gloucestershire, and Son to a Father of Both his Names (as Wood thinks) who was Prebendary of Gloucester. In 1644, he was Presented to the Rectory of † Trent in Somersetshire,

Ibid. p. 5. where 'tis said he was Presented,

† Which, I presume, was consistent with his Fellowship; or else that he was Sequestred from it soon after having Presented; and so (as Mr. Stratford says following) restored to the College again. Although Wood is wholly silent as to his being Disposses'd of either his Fellowship or Living.

shire, shire, by the College; but lost his Living, as well as his Fellowship, in those Times of Rebellion and Confusion. To the Former of which (but whether to the Latter, I know not) he was Restor'd with his Majesty, and Dy'd upon it in 1680.

GEORGE STRATFORD, B. D. Fellowship, And Basingham, R. in Lincolnshire. . .

He had been Vice-President of the College, and was Presented by the College to this Living, about the Latter End of the Year 1644: But was soon after Sequestred from it, and one Reade, a Cobler's Son, who had been maintain'd at Cambridge about Half a Year on Charity, and then became an Army-Chaplain (tho' without any Orders, as is believ'd, either Episcopal or Presbyterian) was by the Committee of Lincoln substituted in his room; and to note that by the way, the Worthy Person who had at that time the Chair of the Committee, as 'tis said, was afterwards the sole Manager of the Petition from that County for the King's Death. Mr. Stratford, after his Ejection from the Rectory, apply'd himself to the Usurper for his Fifths; but could never obtain One Farthing. Upon which he Return'd to the College; but was from thence also Ejected by the Visitors. After which, he Renew'd his Application to Mr. Reade for the Fifths; but could by no means, after Repeated Endeavours, Recover any thing from him, although he had not one Farthing to keep him from starving, or falling to the Parish: The One or the Other of which, must inevitably have been his Fate, had he not been sustain'd by the Charity of some Gentlemen, who Supported him till the Time of his Death; which happen'd on the Road betwixt Lincolnshire and Northampton, as he was Returning on Foot from his Living, whither he had made a Fruitless Journey, in hopes to Recover something from his Merciless Successor. He was a Man of Great Piety and Learning, and an Excellent Mathematician.

THOMAS GREAVES, B. D. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 408. He was Younger Brother to the Famous Mr. John Greaves of Merton-College; became Scholar of this House in the Year 1627, and afterwards Fellow. He was so well skill'd in the Oriental Tongues, that Dr. Pocock in his Absence, deputed him to Read the Arabick Lecture. He was Deprived of his Fellowship by the Visitors in 1648; but had the Rectory of Dunsby in Lincolnshire, and a Place near London, during some Part of the Usurpation. After the Restoration he became D. D. * Prebendary of Peterborough, and Rector of Benyfield in Northamptonshire. He Dy'd in 1676, and was, saith his Epitaph, a Man of great Piety, an Excellent Philosopher, a Better Philologist, and very much excelled in the Knowledge of the Oriental Tongues. He was also a Good Poet and Orator, an admirable Mathematician, and had a Hand in the Polyglot Bible.

Athen. Wood is wrongly informed in this matter.

* Vid. In the 4th. Prob. Game Hist. p. 91.

What Learned Things he wrote, see in Wood.

RICHARD SAMWAYES, A. M. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 308. He was Born at Ilminster in Somersetshire; of which Town his Father was Vicar. He became successively Scholar and Fellow of this House; in 1648, he was Ejected by the Parliament Visitors: And being an Helpless Person, suffered great Misery and Hardship for his Loyalty. In 1660, he was Restored to his Fellowship, became B. D. and Rector of Meisey-Hampton in Glocestershire, where he Dy'd in the Year 1669.

See in Wood what he wrote.

JOHN HEYWARD, . Fellowship.

Wood (Ath. Vol. II. p. 840) calls John Heywood; who proceeded D. D. of this College (and was a Compounder) July 3, 1666. He was at that time Rector of Walton in Lancashire.

What this Person's Degree was, I know not; but none of the Fellows of this College were under A. M.

THOMAS SUTTON, . Fellowship.

He was Son to the Famous Dr. Thomas Sutton. Lecturer of St. Mary-Overy in Southwark; who Published several Sermons and Lectures; which is all that I know of him.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p 408.

HENRY DUTTON, . Fellowship.

In the Year 1668, he became Prebendary of White-Lackington in the Church of Wells, on the Death of the Learned Mr. Alexander Huish; and at length Canon of the same Church; likewise Rector of Mells, and Vicar of Evercreech in the same Diocese. He was A very good Scholar, an admirable Preacher, and one of the most accomplished Persons for agreeableness of Humour and Conversation, that ever lived. He married the Eldest Daughter of Dr. Dugdale, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Wells.

Vol. II. p 297.

JOSEPH BARKER, . Fellowship.

He lived to the Restoration (but did not return to the College) became * D. D. and some Time Chaplain to the Honourable House of Commons; when by the Interest of that Great Man Sir Edward Seymour, then Speaker of the House, he obtained his Majesty's Letter, as the Way then was, for the Deanery of Exeter, had it dropt during his Life, but he died about half a Year before that Dignity became void. He did not however go unrewarded for his Attendance on the Parliament, being made † Arch-deacon either of London or Middlesex, for that Service. He was also Minister of Sherbourn in Dorsetshire, and marry'd another of Dr. Dugdale's Daughters.

* But quære further of that matter.

† As I have been informed; tho' I very much doubt whether it be so.

* A Mistake, because no such Person occurs in Mr. Newcourt.

THOMAS SANDERSON, . Fellowship.

He was Son to the Incomparable Dr. Robert Sanderson, afterwards Bishop of Lincoln. He apply'd himself to the Faculty of Physick, and became Eminent in the Practice of it at Grantham, where he Dy'd. He never Return'd to the College, though he liv'd after the Restoration several Years.

JOHN NEWELL, . Fellowship. †

GEORGE * KIND, . Fellowship. * Or John.

JAMES JACKSON, . Fellowship.

THOMAS DRURY, . Fellowship.

ABRAHAM SPEERING, . Fellowship.

GEORGE HALSTEDE, Fellowship.

ZACHARY BOGAN, A. M. Fellowship. He was Born of an Ancient Family, at Linlethompton in the County of Devon; was first of Alban-Hall, and afterwards Elected Scholar of this College. When the Visitation came on, he was

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 132.

Digitized by Google

was Probationer Fellow, and was Deprived of his Fellowship with the other Loyalists of this House: But being at that time in a Consumptive Condition, and his Death daily expected, the Visitors themselves Restor'd him October 3, 1649. After which he continu'd to expect a Lingering Death for about Ten Years, and dy'd in 1659. He was a Religious and Studious Person; much Noted in the University for his admirable Skill in the Tongues; and hath several Pieces of Learning and Piety extant. At his Death the Unsettled Condition of the University under the Blessed Reformers, Lost the College 500 l. which he gave by Will to the City of Oxford.

The Titles of which see in Wood.

WILLIAM CHIDLEY, . Chaplainship.

He Dy'd during the Usurpation.

EDWARD EALES, . Chaplainship.

He was Originally of Trinity-College in this University, and from thence became Chaplain of this House, in the Beginning of 1648. Soon after which he was Dispossessed by the Visitors; but Restor'd in 1660.

THOMAS IMMINGS, A. B. Scholarship.

He was Restored in 1660.

JOHN BETTS, A. B. Scholarship. He afterwards turn'd Papist.

WILLIAM COLDHAM, . Scholarship.

He was Restored to his Scholarship in 1660; but died in a Week or Fortnight after.

WILLIAM FULMAN, . Scholarship.

He was Born of Plebeian Parents, at Penshurst in Kent; and appearing a Youth of Pregnant Parts, the most Learned Dr. Hammond, whilst Rector there, took him under his Patronage, Recommended him to Magdalen-College for a Chorister, and at length put him upon Standing for a Scholarship of this House; where making a very good Appearance, he was Chosen, and put under the Tuition of Mr. Logan before-mentioned. The Year after his Election he was Dispossess'd by the Visitors: After which, his Patron Dr. Hammond took him for his Amanuensis, and at length recommended him as a Tutor to the Ancient Family of the Peto's at Chesterton in Warwickshire; where he found an happy Retirement during the Troubles. At the End of which, in 1660, he was Re-instated in his Scholarship, Created A. M. became Fellow of the College, and at length Rector of Mapsley-Hampton in Gloucestershire; where he employ'd his Time much to the Service of the Commonwealth of Learning. He Review'd the Copy of the Second Volume of the History of the Reformation, and with great Judgment corrected such Errors as he found in it. He with great Diligence Collected the Works of the Blessed Martyr King Charles I. and had drawn together Materials for Writing his Life; but being prevented by Sickness, Dr. Pericchief had the Use of his Papers, Drew up the Life of that Prince, and prefix'd it to the Collection of his Works, made by Mr. Fulman, but then Publish'd by the Doctor; for whole Work that Collection generally passes. He had Collected some Materials for Writing the Life of Mr. Hales of Eaton; as he had also for that of Richard Fox, the Founder of this College, and for an Account of the Learned Writers and Bishops of it. He had likewise by him a great Heap of other Learned Collections at the Time of his Death; which happen'd in the Year 1688. He was, saith Wood, 'a most Zealous Son of the Church of England; 'and a Grand Enemy to Popery and Fanaticism; 'a most Excellent Theologist, admirably well 'Versed in Ecclesiastical and Prophane History 'and Chronology, and had a great Insight in 'English History and Antiquities. Had his Patron Liv'd, or would he have taken those Methods which others did, to Advance himself, he had questionless obtained some Great Dignity in the Church: But being a Man of a Reserved and complaisant Temper (unless Sooth'd up, Flatter'd, or Admir'd) and never endeavouring to set himself off, to any Advantage; but on the contrary, putting a Great Value on himself and his Sufferings, and expecting that Preferment should court him, his Choice Worth and Great Learning did in a manner die with him. Nor did he become so much known or admired, as he Deserv'd. What he Publish'd, see in Wood. I shall only observe to the Reader, in this Place, That he was the Collector and Publisher of the Works of his Patron Dr. Hammond, in Folio.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 624.

JAMES METFORD, . Scholarship.

He was very young at the time of the Oxford-Visitation, and for that Reason Dr. Reynolds, one of the Visitors would have excus'd him from Answering when Cited before them among the Rest of the Fellows and Scholars of this House: But another of the Visitors interposing, said, He hath Original Sin in him as well as the rest: And accordingly the Question was put to him, Whether he would Submit, or not? and upon his Refusal, he Suffered in common with the rest of the College, until the Restoration: At which time he was Possessed of his Scholarship again, Created A. M. and at length became Rector of Bassingborn in Lincolnshire, Prebendary of Bole in the Church of York (to which last he was promoted in 1687) and was Living in the Year 1709, Aged then about 80 Years. He was a Native of the County of Somerset (Born, as I think, in the Town of Crewkern in that County) and was the Worthy Person from whom (through the Hands of the Reverend Mr. Joshua Reynolds, Fellow of this House) I receiv'd the Compleated Account of the Expulsions made by the Visitors in this College. He hath a Discourse extant against Simony.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 807.

Which afterwards gave occasion to those of the University who envied his merry wake their Mistresses, to Forfeit, that Metford was Expelled for Original Sin.

WILLIAM TONSTALL, . Scholarship.

He Returned not to the College on the Restoration; but was Living, and Vicar of Hockington in Lincolnshire, in 1704.

NORTON BOLD, . Scholarship.

He was Restored in 1660; and was afterwards one of the Esquire Beadles of this University.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. P. 311.

THOMAS JOHNSON, . Scholarship.

He was Re-instated in his Scholarship some time before the Restoration.

TIMOTHY SHUTE, . Scholarship.

Digitized by Google

Possibly he was the Son of the very worthy Mr. Timothy Shute, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Exeter; and the Perſon who during ſome part of the Uſurpation, was Miniſter of St. John's in that City, but after turned out of it: If not, that Perſon ought to be inſerted in the Appendix; for he belongs not to the Parochial Liſt, becauſe I queſtion whether he came to the Living upon a regular Preſentation.

WILLIAM LYDAL, A. B. Scholarſhip.

——— CLERK, A. B. Scholarſhip.

GAM. CLARKSON, A. B. Scholarſhip.

TIMOTHY PARKER, . Scholarſhip.

THOMAS TEAKLE, . Scholarſhip.

JOHN FOUNTAIN, . Scholarſhip.

——— DRURY, . Scholarſhip.

HENRH GLOVER, . Scholarſhip.

WILLIAM STAMP, . Scholarſhip.

He was Born at Mere in Wiltſhire, became afterwards Rector of Shroton in Dorſetſhire; and in the Year 1665, took his Degree of Batchellour of Divinity: He hath a 30th of January Sermon Extant.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 836.

RICHARD LAWRENCE, } Choriſter's
——— HORNE, } Place.

The Choriſters in this Houſe are not Children, as in others; but Matriculated Members of the Univerſity, bred to Learning, and take Degrees. The former of them was Son to Dr. Lawrence the Suffering Maſter of Baliol-College.

THOMAS HOLLOWAY, . Clerkſhip.
His Election was declared void by the Viſitors, as I find in their Regiſter.

——— NEWLIN, . Clerkſhip.
Whom I place here, on the ſingle Authority of Oxon. Lechr.

There was one John Swete alſo a Fellow of this Houſe, who, as my Informations from the College expreſs it, went off juſt before the Viſitors cited the Members of this Society. If it be meant by that Expreſſion, that his Fellowſhip had become legally void, then he belongs not to this Liſt. But if (as I conjecture) he fled to avoid the Viſitation, then he muſt be added to the reſt of the Ejected Fellows. He never returned to the College.

His very worthy Son, who is now living in Devon, and inherits the principal Eſtate of the Family, hath informed me, that his Father fled privately as Soon from Oxon; and was Plundered at leaſt in part of what he left behind him in 4th Chamber. Whence one would be apt to think, (as his Son doth) that he fled to avoid the Viſitation. Though what is after ſaid of the Senior Scholars expelling his Fellowſhip before the Viſitation commenced, ſeems to claſh with it; and therefore I determine nothing poſitively of the Matter. And for the ſame Reaſon forbear to inſert the few Notices which I have received of his Birth, &c.

This Foundation conſiſts of Twenty Fellows, as many Scholars, Two Chaplains, Two Clerks, and Two Choriſters. Of the Fellows, the Viſitors actually Diſpoſſeſſed Eighteen; but Reſtored one of them again, who in all Appearance was not like to trouble them very long. The 19th was the Learned Mr. Noel Sparkes, B. D. a moſt excellent Latiniſt and Grecian, a moſt curious Critick in all kind of Learning, and admirably well verſed in the Fathers. He was Bed-rid at the Time of the Viſitation, and ſo could not appear before the Viſitors; but Recovering, he was ſo much Teized and Harraſſed, that Lloyd makes no Scruple to rank him among the Loyal Sufferers. And as for the Twentieth Fellow, who was Mr. Swete, to me 'tis probable, as is juſt now ſaid, that he alſo was Ejected; but the leaſt that can be done in his Caſe, is to leave it a doubeful one. As for the Scholars, 18 of them alſo were actually turned out; and of the Two that were left, one was the Senior Scholar, and had been juſt before Diſguſted by the College, becauſe they would not admit him into the Place of Mr. Swete, who he were off juſt before the Viſitation: Nor is it improbable that the Proſpect of becoming Fellow immediately, was one of the Motives which might tempt him to ſubmit. So that out of Forty Six upon this Foundation, they left but Four (or Five at moſt) remaining, by that Time they had finiſhed their Buſineſs: Such a thorough Reformation, muſt it be owned, they made in this College. But what need there was of it, will eaſily appear from the Account which is given of the Set of Men at that Time on this Foundation, by one who intimately well knew the College, and was himſelf a Sufferer among them. The Fellows, ſaith he, were Men whoſe Wit and Morals vied which ſhould moſt exceed; and the Scholars were the Cullings of many Schools, of the beſt Note in England; as will appear by this ſingle Inſtance, That after the Surrender of Oxford to the Parliament-Forces, Eleven Places being then vacant, no leſs than 97 Candidates appear'd for them the firſt Day of the Examination; and Sixty Two continued on till the Day of Election; inſomuch that it was judged by ſome, that the ſcattering Men of ſuch Learning and Characters over the Kingdom, contributed more to the Intereſt, both of the Church and his Majeſty, than moſt other Things whatſoever.

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 397.

See the Marginal Note juſt before.

EXETER.

GEORGE HAKEWELL, D. D. } He had alſo the Rectory of Heanton in Devon, which he was not Diſpoſſeſſed of.
Rectorſhip.
And
Arch-deaconry of Surry. . . . .

He way ſome way related to the famous Sir Thomas Bodley, Born in the City of Exeter, entered firſt at Alban-Hall, thence Elected to a Fellowſhip in this College by the unanimous Voice of this Society. Afterwards he Traveled beyond the Seas, became D. D. and Chaplain to Prince Charles; but for oppoſing the Spaniſh Match, and drawing up a little Piece againſt it, which he preſented to the Prince in Manuſcript, he was firſt taken into Cuſtody, and afterwards diſmiſſed from his Confinement, and his Attendance on that Prince together. On the Promotion of Dr. Prideaux to the See of Worceſter, he was Elected Rector of this Houſe; but reſided in it very little; for the War breaking forth, he retired to his Rectory in Devonſhire, and lived there Privately and Obſcurely: So that I do not find him formally Diſpoſſeſſed of his Headſhip by the Viſitors; but have ſome Reaſon to think, that for the ſhort Remainder of his Life after the Viſitation came on, he might be deprived of the Profits of it, and ſo in effect Ejected. And therefore Lloyd ſticks not to ſay in ſo many Words, That he was Diſcarded and Diſmiſſed the Univerſity. He died on his Rectory of Heanton, in 1649. He had been taken notice of in

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 61

Mem. p. 428.

Mem. p. 54.

Digitized by Google

his Youth for an excellent Orator and Disputant, and was afterwards a very good Philosopher, a great Deuine, and suted Preacher. He laid out a Thousand Pounds in Building a Chapel for this College, altho' he had a Wife and several Children to maintain.

See the Account of his Works in Wood.

HENRY TOZER, B. D. Fellowship. He was at the Time of his Ejection, Sub-Rector also. He was Born at North-Tawton in the County of Devon, became Fellow of this Houſe in the Year 1623, was afterwards a very uſeful Member in the ſeveral Offices of the Society, an able and painful Preacher, much frequented by the Puritan Party, and in 1643, nominated one of the Aſſembly of Diuines; but inſtead of ſitting among them, he choſe rather to tarry at Oxford, and Preach before the Court and Parliament there; and for his good Services in that Kind, was appointed to be one of thoſe, who were to have their Doctor's Degrees beſtowed upon them; but he declined that however. Dr. Hackewell, as is before ſaid, having reſign'd from the College, the Government of courſe devolved upon Mr. Tozer as Sub-Rector; nor did he betray or diſgrace that Poſt, but ſhewed himſelf a Stout Champion againſt the illegal Viſitation, Boldly and Reſolutely oppoſed it, maintained the Rights of the College in the higheſt Degree, and made a noble Stand in Defence of his Own and the Fellows Freeholds, when the Mock-Reformation was ſet on Foot, after the Surrender of the Garriſon to the Parliament. March 21, 1647, I find him upon a Citation before the Viſitors at Merton-College, having been accuſed to them of continuing the Common-Prayer in the College after the Ordinance for the Directory came in force: And alſo, of having ſent for, and Admoniſhed one of the Houſe, for refuſing to attend the Chapel-Prayers on that Account. He had alſo conſtantly ſhewed the utmoſt Diſlike to any of the Parliament Faction, and always Countenanced and Patronized the Loyaliſts of his College. And altho' the Viſitors had thought fit to put off the Term; yet, as Dr. Fell the Vice-Chancellor, without any Regard to that Order, had proceeded to open it in the Univerſity at the Uſual Time; ſo did Mr. Tozer likewiſe in his private College. Theſe Informations the Viſitors had gotten from the Spies and Setters (ſome of which ſort of Cattle they had in each College) of this Houſe; for which they were afterwards Rewarded with the Fellowſhips of thoſe who by that means were Ejected. A moſt excellent Encouragement for Informers! And let me add, that in direct Contradiction to the very Letter of the Statutes, they ordered one of them to Reſume the Rents of the College, and ſoon after made him Sub-Rector, tho' he was at that Time (or at leaſt but ſome few Months before) no more than Batcheleur of Arts. To theſe Criminations Mr. Tozer deſires Time to put in his Anſwer, which accordingly he returned March 27 following; and it was to this effect; That the Things about which he was queſtioned, concerned the Diſcipline of the College, and that ſome time before he had given in for Anſwer in the Name of the whole College, That they could not without Perjury, ſubmit to any other Viſitors, than what their Statutes directed them to. But this Anſwer no way ſatisfying the Viſitors, May 26, 1648, they proceed to order his Ejection, and commit the Execution of their Sentence to the Soldiers of the Garriſon. However I find Mr. Tozer ſtill kept Poſſeſſion of his College, until the 29th of June following; at which Time the Viſitors ſend for him again, and in direct Oppoſition to the Statutes of the Houſe, Peremptorily forbid him to proceed to an Election the Day following; and to prevent him effectually they expell him, both from the College and the Univerſity. And ſeeing after all, he denied to deliver up the Keys of the College to them and be Perjur'd, they proceed to ſeize and impriſon him. There is one Circumſtance more of his Sufferings which muſt not be forgot, and it is this, That the Second of the ſame Month, He was dragged out of St. Martin's Church by the Soldiers, and forbid to officiate there any more; becauſe ſo ſooth! he Preached Peſtilential Doctrine. However the Viſitors afterwards moderated their Sentence, allowed him the uſe of his Chamber in the College, and ordered him the Profits of a Travelling Fellowſhip; but whether it was ever paid or not, I cannot ſay. This is certain, that he quitted the Kingdom, betook himſelf to Rotterdam, and became Preacher to the Engliſh Merchants there; where he died in the Year 1650.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 72.

If it was, he is rather to be look'd upon as one who was Harraſſed and Tir-ed, than Ejected. Quare. What few Things he Publiſhed ſee in Wood.

AARON BIRDALL, . Fellowſhip. Among the Petitions preſented to the Corporations for Miniſters Widows, I find one from the Widow of this Perſon, ſetting forth, That he had been Expelled Exeter-College for Refuſing the Covenant. How, or when this was done, I cannot learn. 'Tis certain that his Name doth not occur in the Liſt of the Fellows of this Houſe in the Year 1647; ſo that probably he had been Ejected ſome Years before the Viſitation. But however that may be, the Authority of his Widow's Petition cannot be queſtioned: She received ſome Support from the Corporation.

DEGORY POLWHEEL, . Fellowſhip. He was created M. D. of this Univerſity in the Year 1660. In the Chancellour's Letters for that Purpoſe, is this Account of him, That he had 'from the beginning of the late unhappy 'Troubles, Vigorouſly and Faithfully ſerved his 'Majeſty, under the Command of Ralph, Lord 'Hopton, then of Sir James Smith, in the Quality 'of a Major of Horſe, and continued in Arms until the Surrender of Pendennis-Caſtle; from 'whence he went to his late Majeſty of bleſſed 'Memory, and afterwards followed his now Ma'jeſty for ſome Time in Holland and Flanders; 'and in, or about the Year 1650, he Returned 'into Cornwall, his Native Country, where he betook himſelf to the Study and Practice of 'Phyſick, &c.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811.

JOHN BIDGOOD, . Fellowſhip. He was Ejected by the Viſitors in 1648, for Non-Submiſſion, and Drinking of Healths to the Confuſion of Reformers. He afterwards went to Padua, where he became M. D. and was Incorporated in the ſame Degree at Oxford, in the Year 1660, when he was Reſtored to his Fellowſhip; he was afterwards one of the Fellows of the College of Phyſicians, became the moſt eminent Perſon in his Faculty, of any one in the Weſtern Parts of the Kingdom, and died at Exeter in the Year 1690; having indeed lived a Life not unſuitable to the Account which Wood gives of him, but making an Exit much more Chriſtian and Pious than what is there ſuggeſted; and I have been informed ſuch an one as the beſt of Men might wiſh to make.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 806

ARTHUR BURY, . Fellowſhip. He was Son to Dr. John Bury, one of the Suffering Canons of Exeter; was Reſtored to his Fellowſhip in 1660, became one of the Prebendaries of the Cathedral Church now mentioned, D. D. had one of the Vicaridges of Bampton in Oxfordſhire, (which he Reſigned in the Year 1707) and was in 1665, choſen Rector of the College

Wood, Ant. L. 1 p. 497, 498, 410, 411.

See the Account of his Works in Wood.

Wood, Ant. L. 1 p. 497, 498, 410, 411.

Wood, Ant. L. 1 p. 49.

College. His being dispossess'd of the Headship, not many Years since, by the Right Reverend Father in God Sir Jonathan Trelawny, then Lord Bishop of Exeter, and Visitor of this College, is known to every one; but I am oblig'd to add, that several of the Things which he hath Publish'd, and particularly the Naked Gospel, render him a Great Blemish to this List. He is yet Living, very Aged.

BERNARD GILARD, . Fellowship.

Sometime after 1650, I find him Possess'd of the Little Rectory of Romans-Leigh in Devon (whereby his Sufferings were so Alleviated, that he scarce deserveth a Place among the Loyal Confessors of this List) which he Resign'd in 1663. He became afterwards Rector of Bridford in the same County, had the Living of Poltimore near Exeter, and Dy'd Sub-Dean of the Cathedral-Church there.

Our Gyles Sweet had the Prebend of Shipton in the Church of Sarum, June 11th, 1661, in the Death of Richard Zouch, and Vacated it by Death before Dec. 4, 1672, when he was succeeded by Thomas Bouchier.

—— SWEET, . Fellowship. He Tarry'd not for the Sentence of the Visitors; but being resolv'd not to Submit, left the College before they began their Expulsions.

JOHN BERRY, . Fellowship. I am obliged to mention this Gentleman; because he was actually Dispossess'd of his Fellowship by the Visitors: But he was afterwards a Non-Conformist; and perchance the Person who is mentioned by the Abridgment, as Ejected from East-Down in Devonshire. Quære. P. 306.

—— PROCTOR, . Fellowship.

—— WILLET, . Fellowship.

—— POYNDEXTER, . Fellowship.

—— PORTER, . Fellowship.

All those Twelve before-named, were Utterly Dispossest; and I have some Grounds to make it a Quære, whether the Five which here follow, did not also Lose their Fellowships, for some small time at least; though 'tis probable some of them might after make their Peace, and be Re-instated.

MATTHIAS PRIDEAUX, A.M.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 30. He was Son of Dr. Prideaux, Bishop of Worcester, and bore Arms, as I suppose, for his Majesty; because in the Year 1644, he was Created A. M. by the Name of Captain Matthias Prideaux: Which seems to favour the Conjecture, that his Retiring to London (as he did after the Surrender of Oxford) was occasioned by his not being permitted quietly to Tarry in the University: Or that at least it might occasion his Losing the Profits of his Fellowship, during the short Remainder of his Life; for he Died at London about 1646. He was Esteemed an Ingenious Man; and hath some Things extant, the Account of which see in Wood.

I suppose in the interval of that Year as first set: It may be in the following Year.

JOHN MAUDIT, . Tho' he afterwards became a Nonconforming (but I think the Abridgment is mistaken in saying an Ejected) Minister, in the County of Devon. During some Part of the Usurpation he was Possest of P. 304. As to Wood's ejected) Minister, see Ath. Vol. II p. 691.

Dr. Hammond's Rich Living of Penshurst in Kent; but neither Ejected thence, as the Abridgment (inconsistent with it self in that Point) would have it, by the Act of Uniformity, but several Years before; as I shall have Occasion to say in another place, I find his Name cross'd out of the Buttery-Book October 20, 1648. P. 226

—— SORETON, . Who was, it may be, the Person that was afterwards a Nonconformist; and in 1662, Dispossess'd of the Rich Living of Heniton in Devon, for his Nonconformity. If so, his Christian Name was Francis. His Name was cross'd out of the Buttery-Book, April 6, 1649. Abridgm. P. 194.

—— FORTESCUE, .

—— SQUIRE, .

By August 1648, the Visitors had made Eleven Elections in this College, and Ordered Two Fellowships more to be kept Vacant: Which may serve to give some Light into the Number of those Ejected from this College. To which I must add, that May 9, foregoing, Fourteen of this House Refus'd Submission to the Visitors Power. I cannot forbear to subjoyn in this Place also, that I find by the Visitors Register, they Expell'd George Bull amongst others who were not on the Foundation. I judge him to have been the same Person with the Late most Learned, and Right Reverend Father in God, the Lord Bishop of St. David's: For 'tis well known that this House was Honour'd with the Education of that Great Man. Wood, Ath. Vol. I p. 675. Vol. II p. 664. Anc. L. I. P. 318. 394, 395, 401, 404. 410. L. 2. P. 105.

St. JOHN's.

RICHARD BAYLY, D. D.
Presidentship, ...
Deanery of Salisbury, ...
And
Prebend of Chiswick in the Church of St. Paul. . . . .

He had been Chaplain to his Majesty, a Dignitary in the Church of St. David, and Archdeacon of Nottingham. He became President of his College in the Year 1627, and about 1635, Dean of Salisbury, by the Interest of his Kinsman Arch-bishop Laud; to whom he had been sometime Chaplain, and was afterwards one of his Executors. Upon the Breaking out of the Wars, he was concern'd in sending the Plate of this University to his Majesty; for which he was soon after forc'd to Fly, and Abscond for some time. When the Visitation came on in the Latter End of 1647, he made a Stand in Defence of the Rights and Liberties of his College, was on that Account summoned before the Reforming Committee at London, and by them Voted out of his Presidentship in December the same Year. March 17th, following he was by the same Committee, Threatned to be Taken into Custody, for not Paying Obedience to such Orders as the Parliament and themselves had issu'd out relating to this College. However, nothing of this could drive the Old Gentleman from his Hold; until the Chancellour in Person, at the Head of a Party of Dragoons (commonly known in those Times by the Name of Visitors) and Theife again supported by another Party of the Garrison-Soldiers, came to this College in their Grand Round, Apr. 13, 1648: At which time he found Dr. Bayly in the Quadrangle, coming out to Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol I. P. 140. Lloyd, Memo. P. 541. Heylin's Life of Laud, P. 116. He was some time Vicar of Northall in Middlesex. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol I. P. 140.

Digitized by Google

to Receive him at the Gate. When the Earl was come into the College with his Train, they went directly to the Hall; and taking Dr. Bayly with them, there Required of him to Submit Himself and his College to the Visitors; and that he shall be obliged immediately to quit his Presidentship, on the very first Notice from them in Scripts. But the good Old Gentleman told the Chancellour, that he could not Submit to the Former, without manifest Perjury; and that the Latter would be in a manner to cut his own Throat: Adding, that he believ'd the Answer which he had in Writing deliver'd in to the Visitors, relating to that Matter, had never been laid before the Parliament; for that he had therein shewn, from Eight several Places of his College-Statutes, that they could not, under Pain of Perjury and Expulsion, submit to any other Visitor, than what the Statutes had themselves appointed: And that he had also requested the Visitors, that they would use their good Offices with the Parliament, that the Case might be Try'd in any Court of England; or any other Course might be taken to Examine their Cause, than this of a Visitation. But what he had then said, or what he now offered, was all in vain; laving that it put the Visitors to such miserable Shifts for Pretences in Answer to Plain Facts, and the undoubted Rights which were alledg'd, that it Expos'd them to the Laughter (and probably the Indignation and Censures too) of all that were present (themselves excepted.) However, they go directly from the Hall to the Lodgings, to put the Successor, Dr. ——, in Possession of them. There they meet the Doctor's Lady, who had brought her Children (then very small) with her, in hopes to move Compassion, if any thing could pierce their Stony Hearts; but alas! to little purpose: For Sir Nath. Brent goes immediately to her, and tells her, She must prepare to leave the Lodgings, and they would allow her a Fortnight's time to Remove her Goods. To whom the poor afflicted Lady reply'd, that she could not do it in a Month; because her Children were Sick of the Ague. Upon which they were so Merciful as to allow her a Fortnight longer; but withal declare —— President, and Possess'd of the Lodgings. And here I can't forbear to add, a pleasant Passage which happen'd on this melancholy Occasion. The Old Doctor, in the * Heat of Discourse, under these Unheard of and Barefac'd Oppressions, had said By my Faith; At which the Godly Sir William Cobbe cry'd out in Astonishment, Blasphemy! O horrible Blasphemy! Whereupon the Old Gentleman desir'd to know what was the matter? what was it he had said? Why, saith Cobbe, he hath Sworn by his Faith, when Faith is not his own. Say you so, Sir William, reply'd the Doctor? But, with your good Leave, I do not know what is my own, if Faith be not; and I doubt, Sir William, you will come but lamely off, when you are to be Saved, if you depend upon another's Faith. No, said Cobbe, Faith is not your own, it is the Gift of God. Alas, Sir William, returned the Old Gentleman, How much a Wife Man may be mistaken! For that very Reason it is my own: For what gives a Man a Fuller, and more unquestionable Right to any thing, than a Free Gift?

* Saith Wood; tho' I have heard, that he was other ways very Lavish in that kind.

Such was the Exquisite Hypocrisie of those Times and Saints; who, tho' they came to commit the most Outragious Robbery and Oppression imaginable, yet were their Consciences so very Tender, that they could not, without Astonishment, hear a Man swear by his Faith: And so perfectly Holy and Righteous were they, that they had their Very Ears (and every thing else, except their Hearts) Sanctify'd. But to proceed with the Account of Dr. Bayly, who was not Actually Dispossess'd at this time neither; but continuing in the Lodgings some Weeks longer than the Visitors had allow'd him, the Patience of the Person whom the Commistee had appointed to succeed him, was quite worn out; and at length he comes to the College, breaks open the Lodgings, and takes Possession of them by downright Force June 2, 1648. Nor must One Circumstance of his Sufferings, which renders them Barbarous in a very peculiar manner, be omitted; which was, That one of the Greatest Persons concern'd in them, as well in point of Quality, as Malice, afterwards (with Pleasure and Delight) boasted, that he Had turned out by Force Dr. Bayly, his Wife, and Six pretty Children from St. John's. What the Dr. had to live upon when he was thus Dispossess't of his Preferments, I know not; save that I have been told, his Dignity in the Church of St. David's had a very good Corps belonging to it, which at the time that Dr. Bayly was Possess'd of it, depended only upon a single Life; and the Tenant hoping to have a very good Bargain, and keeping at a Distance, offer'd what was nothing near the Value for Two Lives more. But the Dr. generously Refus'd it, and was resolv'd rather to leave the Benefit of it to his Successor, than to make such an unreasonable Abatement in the Fine. Which honourable Resolution was afterwards Providentially rewarded: For the Life drop'd during the Doctor's being Possess'd of the Preferment. Whereupon he fill'd up the Corps with the Lives of Three of his own Children: And this Estate was a Great Part, if not the Whole, of his Subsistence during the Usurpation: Which he pass'd over privately in Oxford; and at length surviving, he was Restor'd to his College in the latter End of July 1660, as also to his Deanery, and no doubt to his Prebend of St. Paul's; and dy'd at Salisbury, in a good old Age, on the 27*th* of July 1667. He was much a Gentleman, very Hospitable and Charitable, and bore his Sufferings with a great deal of Chearfulness.

GEORGE WILDE, L. L. D. Fellowship, And St. Gyles's in Reading, V. (unless I mistake.)

He was a Native of the County of Middlesex, became successively Scholar and Fellow of this House, and at length Chaplain to Archbishop Laud; who had a great Value for him. In 1648, he was Turned out of his Fellowship, by the Visitors; and afterwards Suffer'd much for his Loyalty. During some Part of the Usurpation, he kept up a Religious Meeting for the Loyalists in Fleetstreet; where the whole Service of the Church of England was constantly and solemnly Perform'd. After the Restoration he was Promoted to the Bishoprick of Londonderry in Ireland; the Revenues of which See he mostly spent in Charity and Hospitality; and Dy'd at Dublin in the Year 1665; Leaving at that time All that he had (save some Books which he gave to St. John's College) to Charitable Uses. He was highly valu'd in Ireland for his Publick Spirit, Religious Conversation, and Exemplary Piety. In his younger Years he was accounted a Person of great Ingenuity; and in his Elder, a Man of singular Prudence, a Grace to the Pulpit, and as worthy of his Function as any in that Kingdom.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 232.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 623.

In 1662

Wood mentions some few Things which he Published.

Digitized by Google

JOHN EDWARDS, M.D. Fellowship. And Natural-Philosophy Lecturer's-Place.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 410, 411. L. 2. p. 42.

June 6, 1648, the Visitors order'd him and Mr. Gisbie, (whom I shall next mention) to be seized, and put under a Guard of a Couple of Soldiers; and withal forced Dr. Edwards and his Fellow-Prisoner to maintain them during their Confinement. At the same Time they set a Centinel at the Doors of each of their Chambers; insomuch that neither of them could come at their very Linen, or any other Necessaries. They both tender'd sufficient Bail, but it was not accepted. The Injustice of this Usage, Dr. Edwards boldly represented to the Visitors; told them the Sureties which they offered were such as no Law in England could refuse; and withal added, that it was indeed no wonder they used them thus, when they had used the most worthy Men in the Kingdom much worse. June 27, I find him again convened before the Visitors, then sitting at Magdalen-College. What became of him afterwards I know not, save that 'tis certain, he was not only utterly Dispossessed of his Fellowship and Professorship; but also Expelled the Universtity.

He was succeeded in this Lecture by Joh. Crosse, A. M. Fellow of Mag. College. Wood, Ant. L. 2 p. 43.

GEORGE GISBIE, B. D. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 737.

I have nothing to add to what he suffered in common with Dr. Edwards, save that he was at that Time Bursar of the College, which occasioned his being more Harrassed than any other of the Fellows. When he was summoned before the Visitors with Dr. Edwards, he resolutely told the Person whom they had substituted in Dr. Bayly's room, that allowing he had been duly Elected President, yet he was not obliged to give in his Accounts to him till the Year expired. He was also Expelled the Universtity. But out-living the Usurpation, was Restored to his Fellowship in 1660, and died in 1664. I had almost forgot to add, that when they Ejected him from the College by their Order of May 26, 1648, they back'd it with this further Resolve, that in case he did not yield a ready Obedience to it, the Soldiers of the Garrison should be employed to put it in Execution.

WILLIAM WALWYN, B. D. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 747.

He was Elected Scholar of this House from Merchant-Taylors-School, was, as I take it, a Native of the City of London, and had taken up Arms for his Majesty. After he was Ejected by the Visitors in 1648, he suffered much for some Time; but at length got the Vicaridge of Eastcoker in Somersetshire. On the Restoration he was collated to the Prebend of Ealdstreet in the Church of St. Paul (viz. Aug. 27, 1660,) lived some Time as Chaplain with the Loyal Sir John Stawell, and was by some of that Family presented to the Church of Rampisham in Dorsetshire, where he died some Time before June 1671. He hath a Sermon, and another little Piece Extant.

Newc. Rep Eccles. Vol. I. p. 150.

JOHN GOAD, B. D. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 837

He was born in the City of London, became successively Scholar and Fellow of this House; and Vicar of St. Giles's in the Suburbs of Oxford, where he continued to perform his Duty (notwithstanding the Siege) to the Hazard of his Life from the Enemies Canon, who used to fire upon the Church in the Time of Service. After this he was presented to the Vicaridge of Yarnton, which with great Difficulty he kept during the Usurpation: Tho' it must be confessed, that he was invited to Return to his Fellowship after his Ejection; but he utterly refused it, because he could not conform himself to the Directory. After the Restoration, he was made Master of Tunbridge-School; where he continued but a few Months, and was then removed to the chief Mastership of Merchant-Taylors-School; but was Dispossessed of it in the Year 1681; being but even too justly suspected of Popery; which in 1686, he openly professed: And died in 1689. Nor can we deny the Roman Communion, the Honour of having gotten from us in him, a very Learned and Pious Man.

What he Published see in Wood.

WILLIAM BELL, A. B. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 554.

He was a Native of the City of London, and Elected Scholar of this House from Merchant-Taylor's-School; afterwards he became Fellow, was Ejected by the Visitors in 1648, lived up and down as Opportunity served, was some Time in France; and returning in 1655, he had a small Benefice in Norfolk bestowed on him; but could not slip through the Fingers of the Tryers to Enjoy it. After the Restoration he became Chaplain to Sir John Robinson, Lieutenant of the Tower, Vicar of St. Sepulcher's, Prebendary of St. Paul's, Arch-deacon of St. Alban's, Chaplain to his Majesty, Doctor of Divinity, one of the Lecturers of the Temple, and died in 1683: Leaving them behind him a Pretious Name among his Parishioners, for his Charity, Preaching, and other Matters, of which they could not speak enough. To which may be added this Part of his Epitaph:

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 96. He hath several Sermons Extant.

Pastor Vigilantissimus, Vir Optimus, Ingens Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ Ornamentum; si Primævam spectes Pietatem, Felicissimum Ingenii Acumen, morum suavitatem & integritatem, Partibus, Regis incensissim Fidelitatem, vel Charitatem (Denuo) vix Imitabilem.

WILLIAM CREED, B. D. Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 219. Antiq. L. 1 p. 267.

He was Born at Reading in Berkshire, became successively Scholar and Fellow of this House, Proctor of the University, and had his Bachelour of Divinity's Degree conferred upon him, for Preaching before his Majesty and the Court at Oxon. In 1648, he was Ejected from this College by the Visitors, but afterwards got the Living of East-Codeford in Wiltshire; which he was permitted to Enjoy during the Remainder of the Usurpation. In 1660, he was made the King's Professor of Divinity in this University; September 13th that Year, Arch-deacon of Hereford, per mort. Thomas Leach; Prebendary of Lyme and Halstock in the Church of Salisbury, the same Day and Year, per mort. Rich. Chandler, Residentiary of that Church; and died in 1663. He was a Defender of the Church of England in the worst of Times; was a good School-man and Divine, and a noted Disputant.

Wood is wholly silent as to his Election from the College in 1648, but the Visitors Register, and Oxon. Lach. are express in it. He was succeeded in the Arch-deaconry Aug. 1. 1663. By Thomas Henchman. What he Published see in Wood.

and in the Prebend the 25th of the same Month, by Francis Bayly.

EDWARD SLATER, . Fellowship.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 727.

He hath Published several Things, which is all that I know more of him.

JAMES ASTON, A. M. * Fellowship.

* Or Scholar. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 736

He had been a Captain in his Majesty's Army, was after the Restoration well Beneficed, and in 1682, became Canon of Wells.

PETER

Digitized by Google

† Or Fellowship, I know not which.

PETER MEWS, . Scholarship.
He was Born at Puſs-Candle by Sherbourn, in Dorſetſhire; continued a great Loyaliſt after his Ejection, and was once, as I have heard, in danger of being Hanged by the Rebels. He was ſome Time Prebendary of Durham, one of the Governors of the Charter-Houſe, Canon of Windſor, as likewiſe of St. David's, Arch-deacon of Berks. Aug. 30, 1665, Dean of Rocheſter, Biſhop of Bath and Wells, and was at length advanced to the See of Winchester; in Poſſeſſion of which he died ſome few Years ſince. On his Promotion to the Biſhoprick of Bath and Wells, John Sharp ſucceeded in the Arch-deaconry of Berks, April 26, 1673.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 905. Hegues's Hiſt. to St. Paul's Cathedral. New Surv. of Lond. p. 467.

NATH. CROUCHER, . Fellowſhip.

One of both theſe Names was collated to the Rectory of Godleſton in Herefordſhire, in the Year 1669, and died before April 14, 1680.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 827.

Unleſs ſome of thoſe Two were only Scholars.

GEORGE MYLLER, . Fellowſhip.

JOHN JENNINGS, . Fellowſhip.

ARTHUR BUCKERIDGE, . Fellowſhip.

DANIEL HITCHINGS, . Fellowſhip.

THOMAS WINWARD, . Fellowſhip.

STEPH. PEMBLE, . Fellowſhip.

HENRY OSBASTON, . Fellowſhip.

ROBERT JENNINGS, . Fellowſhip.

* A Gentleman of both theſe Names, was ſome time Rector of Finchley in Middleſex. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p 606.

* EDWARD TILLESLEY, . Fellowſhip.

JOSEPH CROWDER, B. D. Fellowſhip. And Greek-Lecturer's-Place. . . . . .

See St. Paul's Cathedral.

Theſe Twenty One foregoing, were all of them wholly Diſpoſſeſſed.

WILLIAM CONIARS, . Fellowſhip.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 791.

He was Voted to be Ejected among the reſt; but whether he afterwards Submitted, and made his Peace, I know not. In 1653, he became M. D. of this Univerſity, and took that Degree as of this College.

As for thoſe which follow, 'tis certain that their Ejection was Voted by the Viſitors, as appears by their Regiſter. But who of them were not on the Foundation; and of thoſe that were, who among them afterwards Submitted, and continu'd in their Places, I am not inform'd; but believe it probable, that moſt of them did ſo; becauſe I have been told, that not many of this College, conſidering the Number on this Foundation, were Turned out.

JOHN SPEED, . He was Grandſon to the Chronologer Speed, and proceed- ed M. D. of this Univerſity in the Year 1665.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p 517. Vol. II. p 340.

—— WARNER, .

—— CUFFE, .

—— SMITH, .

—— PULLEY, .

The Reaſon aſſigned for the Expulſion of theſe Laſt Four, is, that they were Benefic'd Men, and Mr. Pulley moreover Married. Of which quære.

—— KING, .

—— LEY, .

It is likewiſe ſaid in the Regiſter, that theſe Two were Married. Of which quære alſo.

—— HEACOCK, . He was Voted to be Expelled for Not Appearing before the Viſitors; tho' he was at that time Reſident in the Univerſity.

JAMES DAVIS, .

MART. HIRST, .

THOMAS FREWYN, .

HENRY DEIGHTON, .

WILLIAM WRIGHT, .

MAT. RANDAL, .

JOHN BLACKMAN, .

* THOMAS WARD, .

JOHN BELL, .

WILLIAM MORSE, .

JOHN BLAGRAVE, .

JO. BEN, .

EDWARD SELWOOD, .

GOODWYN SWIFT, .

—— STEVENSON, .

—— SNELLING, .

—— HARDING, .

* One Thomas Ward, LL.D. became Arch-deacon of Wilts in 1681. Preb. of Gillingham Major 1680, 81 (as he had been of Nether-haven in 1679) and of Teyrnon-Regis cum Valenpton in 1681, 2. and Dy'd 1696. Quære.

The Reaſon alledg'd for the Expulſion of theſe † Three laſt, is their having been in Arms againſt the Parliament.

† Viz. Stevenſon, Snelling, & Harding

Digitized by Google

May the 8th, 1648, Thirty two of this College Refused to Own the Authority of the Visitation; the 26th of the same Month, they Expell'd Six of the Fellows of this House from the University; and Oct. 17, following, they Expell'd Eight more; but whether only from the College, or from the University likewise, I know not. It doth not appear by their Register, that they had Chosen more than Eight Fellows into this College, by the Latter End of 1649.

William Levint and Nicholas Violet also of this College were Both of them Expell'd by the Visitors: But I am informed they after made their Submission, and were Continu'd. The Former of them was at length President of this House; and the Latter became Superiour Beadle, of Divinity, as I think.

JESUS.

FRANCIS MANSELL, D.D. Principal.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 848. Antiq. L. I. p. 894, 907. L. 2. p. 318, 319. Lloyd, Mem. p. 140.

He was the Third Son of Sir Francis Mansell of Maddiscombe in Caermarthenshire, Baronet; was first a Commoner of this House; afterwards became Fellow of All-Souls, and in 1620, returned again to this College, being then Elected Principal of it. The Year following he Resigned his Headship to Sir Eubule Thelwall, on a Prospect of some Advantage which would accrue to this Society thereby; and his Year of Grace not being quite Expir'd, he Return'd to All-Souls. In 1630, he was again Elected Principal, on the Death of the Gentleman before-mentioned; and was possess'd of the Headship in 1648, when the Reformation of this University was set on foot. In November that Year he was summon'd before the Committee at London, which had that Blessed Work in hand; and May 22, 1648, was Ejected by them; who at the same time put Mr. Michael Roberts, one of his Fellows, into the Headship. His Temporal Estate also, (if I do not mistake Lloyd) was put under Sequestration. Aug. 1, 1660, he was Restored to his College by the King's Commissioners, and Dy'd May 1, 1665; having been a very great Benefactor to his College, both in its Buildings and Revenues. He was some time, as I find, One of the Canons of St. David's; as also Treasurer of Llandaff. Whether he had been Possess'd of Both, or Either of these Preferments, Before the Wars, and had Suffered in That Capacity likewise, I must leave to further Enquiry. This only I am sure of, that at his Death he made an Addition to the Stipend of both the Canonry and Treasury.

See both these Churches.

JOHN HUGHES, . Fellowship. He was Ejected by the Visitors, May 18, 1648, before the rest of the Fellows; and was also Imprisoned for a Bold and Resolute Answer which he had returned to those Mock-Reformers: So that I guess he was never after Admitted to Favour; and therefore is to be accounted as utterly Dispossessed.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 409.

DANIEL BREVINT, . Fellowship. He was a Native of the Isle of Jersey, and, as Wood thinks, the first who enjoyed the Benefit of the Royal Martyr's Foundation for those Islands in this College: He was turned out for * Refusing the Covenant; was Plunder'd of all he had, driven into France, and there some Time Patronized by the famous Marshal Turenne. He had at first retired to his own Country; but neither was he permitted to tarry there. After his Majesty's Restoration, he became Canon of Durham, and at length Dean of Lincoln.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 322. Ath. Vol. II. p. 510, 828.

What he Wrote for in Wood.

In the 10th Preb. Admitted 1660.

GEORGE EVANS, . Fellowship. One of both these Names was Licenced to the Curacy of St. Benet Fink, May 16, 1663; was afterwards Canon of Windsor, Rector of Hicham in Berks, D. D. and died March 2. 1701, Aged then 72 Years. Mr. Newcourt saith, that he had been Fellow of Jesus-College in Cambridge; but perchance it may deserve a Quære, whether it might not be Jesus-College in Oxford; and if so, he was doubtless the same Person with this Sufferer.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 918.

Ibid.

JOHN FLOWER, . Fellowship.

WILLIAM WILKINS, . Fellowship.

JAMES PENRY, . Fellowship.

WILLIAM PRICE, . Fellowship.

THEOD. BASSET, . Fellowship.

Unless some of these were only Scholars of the House.

All these were certainly Ejected.

There occur likewise the following Names in the Visitors Register of Expulsions: But who among them might not be at all on the Foundation (as 'tis possible some of them might not) and who among those which were on the Foundation, might after make their Peace, and continue in their Places, I cannot tell: Much less can I distinguish the Scholars from the Fellows; their Names are these;

JAMES QUARELS, . I find one of both these Names Sequestred from a Living in Wales: Whether this Person might obtain a Benefice there after he was turned out of this College, Quære. See the Parochial List at the end of the Letter Q.

THOMAS ELLIS, . I take this to be the Gentleman who in the Year 1665, became Rector of St. Mary's in the Town of Dolgethly in Merioneth-shire, and was at that Time Bachelour of Divinity: If so, 'tis certain that he was Fellow of the House; and that he was very well versed in British Histories; was a singular Lover of Antiquities; made many Additions to Powell's History of Wales; and died in 1673.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 248.

THOMAS WILKINS, . This was, as I believe, the Person who was created L. L. B. at Oxford in the Year 1661, and had been, saith Wood, A Sufferer for his Majesty's Cause. And if so, it seems probable, that he was both Fellow of the House, and totally Ejected; but not being certain, I have chosen to rank him here with a Quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 910.

WHITGIFT GIBBONS, .

THOMAS MORGAN, .

ANDREW SAVAGE, .

* So that I guess it was before the Visitation, tho' I meet with his Name in their Register.

LEWIS

Digitized by Google

LEWIS WILLIAMS, .

PETER MEYOCK, .

WILLIAM PARRS. .

HUM. BOLTON, .

HENRY PUE, .

In my Transcript of the Visitors Register for this House, I have also John Duncombe, and William White; but to each of their Names is added, uncertain, whether it be meant, that their Ejection was uncertain; or that it was uncertain, whether they were of this College, or no. I cannot say, but guess it to be the latter; and take the first of them to be one of the Ejected Fellows of Oriel-College, and the other to have been the Sequestred Master of Magdalen-School.

May 18, 1648, Seventeen of this College refused Submission to the Visitors. By October 27, 1648, they had chose into it Seventeen Fellows and Scholars; which may serve to give some Light into the Number of those that were Ejected.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 409. * Or 1649.

LINCOLN.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 167, But Quere also of the Provoſt of Oriel.

DR. PAUL HOOD was at the Time of the Visitation (and had been many Years before) Rector of this College, and was the only Head of a House (except the Provoſt of Queen's) in Oxford, who was not Diſpoſſeſſed by the Visitors.

JOHN WEBBERLY, B. D. Fellowſhip. And at that Time Sub-Rector.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 398. 405. Ath. Vol. I. p. 901.

He was Born, if I miſtake not, at Eaſt-Kirkby in Lincolnſhire. March 30, 1648, the Visitors ſuſpended him from his Office, for Words which he had ſpoken againſt the Parliament. Afterwards they not only Deprived him of his Fellowſhip, but clapt him up in Bridewell, April 17, 1648. He was, as Wood expreſſes it, a deſperate Zealot for the King's Cauſe; and ſtrenuously oppoſed the Viſitation. I ſhould have been glad to omit him, becauſe he was eſteemed by all an High-flown Sectman, and had Tranſlated ſeveral Books of that kind into Engliſh, ſome of which he Publiſhed without his Name, and had others of them lying by him in his Study, which the Viſitors ſeized: So that his Expulſion wanted nothing but a lawful Authority, to make it a moſt commendable Act.

HOUGHTON, B. D. Fellowſhip, And Rectory of St. Miles in Oxon. . . .

His Name doth not occur in the Viſitors Regiſter: So that I gueſs he was Turned out ſome time before the Viſitation was ſet on foot; poſſibly at the ſame time that Mr. * Birdall of Exeter-College was Ejected from thence: Of which ſort there are One or Two more in this Liſt. But at what time, or in what manner it was done, I cannot yet learn. He had an Eſtate of 180 l. per Ann. as I underſtand) which was alſo put under Sequeſtration. At his Death he left a Widow with Five ſmall Children, which were by this means reduced to ſuch Poverty, that they were forced to ſue for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; and were accordingly ſupported by that Charity.

* Widow ſee

—— CHALFONT, B. D. Fellowſhip. I take this to have been the ſame Perſon with Mr. Richard Chalfont; who hath a Sermon extant Preach'd before the Houſe of Commons at Oxford, May 10, 1644. So that poſſibly he was a Conſiderable Man. He was Born at Great Wickham in Buckinghamſhire, Elected Fellow of this Houſe from New-Inn-Hall, and forced to Quit the Kingdom, as I conjecture, for his Loyalty; becauſe towards the End of the War, I find him Chaplain to the Engliſh Factory at Roterdam; where he Dy'd in Nov. 1648; and therefore probably was Diſpoſſeſſed about the ſame time with Mr. Houghton.

Wood, Ath Vol. I. p. 901.

Ant. L. 1. p. 166.

JOHN KELHAM, . Fellowſhip.

WILLIAM PRESTON, . Fellowſhip.

ROBERT BETTON, . Fellowſhip.

—— GILBERT, . Fellowſhip.

—— GIBBS, . Fellowſhip.

—— ROBINSON, . Scholarſhip.

—— WHETSTONE, . Scholarſhip.

Vide if ſome of theſe might be any Scholars of the Houſe.

If I miſtake not, theſe Laſt * Two, were no other than Scholars of the Houſe, and not Fellows.

* Vit. Robinſon and Whetſtone.

THOMAS MARSHAL, A. B. Scholarſhip.

He was Born at Barkbey in Leiceſterſhire, and became Scholar of this Houſe in the Year 1641; Abous which time Biſhop Uſher preaching Frequently at All-Hallows-Church, Mr. Marſhal made himſelf his conſtant Auditor; and was ſo much affected with his Sermons, that he Reſolved from thenceforth to make him the Pattern of all the Religious and Learned Actions of his Life. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, the Bore Arms for his Majeſty in the Garriſon of Oxford; and at the Approach of the Viſitation, quitting the Univerſity, he went Beyond the Seas; and after the Death of Mr. Teyer of Exeter-College, became Preacher to the Engliſh Merchants at Roterdam and Dort. In 1668, he was, without his Knowledge or Seeking, choſen Fellow of this College. The Year following he became D. D. and in 1672, was advanced to the Headſhip of this Houſe: Afterwards he became Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majeſty, Rector of Bladon in Oxfordſhire; in the Year 1681, was Inſtall'd Dean of Glouceſter, and Dy'd at his Lodgings in this College in 1685. He was a Perſon very well verſ'd in Books, was a Noted Critick, eſpecially in the Gothick and Engliſh-Saxon Tongues; a painful Preacher, a good Man and Governour; and one every way worthy of his Station in the Church. At the Time of his Death he was a Great Benefactor to the Bodleian Library, and his own College; to the former of which he gave all ſuch Books of his own Study (whether Printed or Manuſcript) as had not before been in that Great Repoſitory of Learning; and in the Latter he Founded ſome Scholarſhips.

Wood, Ath Vol. I. p. 592.

The Extract of the Viſitors Regiſter (both of the Elections and Expulſions) as far as it concerns this College, was put into the Hands of the Learned Dr. Potter, one of the Fellows of it, and now her Majeſty's Profeſſor of Divinity in this Univerſity; who made ſome Few Additions to that Part of it which concern'd the Elections; but neither Added nor Alter'd any thing in the Expulsions: So that I presume All those mentioned in the Register, were not only of the Foundation, but also Totally Dispossessed; which are all these before-mention'd.

Digitized by Google

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 408. May 11, 1648. Ten of this College refus'd to own the Visitors Authority; which accords exactly with the Number of those above-mention'd, as I find. Tho' I cannot find by their Register, that they had themselves chosen into this House by the Latter End of 1650, more than Five Fellows (or Fellows and Scholars.) Whether they kept any Places Vacant, as it appears they did at Exeter-College; or whether they allow'd the Remainder of the Society to proceed to an Election themselves, Quære.

MAGDALEN.

Wood only saith in general, That he was promoted in the Church, and Left all in the Time of the Rebellion, before he was Advanc'd to the Headship of this House. But Lloyd is more Express, and mentions Livings and Dignities, from which he was Forced to Fly. What Author he rely'd on for it is often wrong: then Dr. Oliver Left Some other Preferments, besides those here mentioned. And indeed to me it seems probable, that he was at least Possessed of a Living; and that, it may be, Somewhere about Hampshire.

JOHN OLIVER, D. D. Presidentship, And Prebend of Winchester. . . . .

He was Born in Kent, was Originally of Merton-College in this Univerſity; and afterwards ſucceſſively Demy and Fellow of this Houſe, and Tutor to the Renowned Edward Hyde, afterwards Earl of Clarendon. His Great Learning, and Sound Principles in Religion, had made him Eminent in this College, and recommended him to the Service of the incomparable Arch-Prelate Dr. Laud; to whom he became Domeſtick Chaplain, and who had got him thoſe Promotions in the Church which are before hinted at. But about the Year 1643, he was either Diſpoſſeſſed or Driven from them all, whatſoever they were. In compenſation for which, the Fellows of this Houſe Elected him to the Preſidentſhip, in the following Year: Which, however, in a ſhort time after, ſerved only to Encreaſe his Troubles: For in Nov. 1647, he was ſummoned before the Parliament, for Diſclaiming the Power of the Viſitors. In Dec. following he was ſummon'd before the Committee for the Reformation of the Univerſity. About that time alſo the Committee Voted him out of his Preſidentſhip; and April 13, 1648, put that Order in Execution, by the Hands of the Chancellour, attended by the Oxford Viſitors, and a Party of Soldiers; Who came to the College, and ſtriking Dr. Oliver's Name out of the Buttery-Book, inſerted John Wilkinſon's in the Room of it. Afterwards proceeding to Break open the Doors of the Lodgings, they Rifled and Plunder'd them, and then left the Uſurper in Poſſeſſion of them. Dr. Oliver had, while he continu'd in the Preſidentſhip, by his Great Hoſpitality and Charity to the Poor, conſtantly made all things even at the Years End; and therefore being thus Ejected, was driven to great Hardſhips, wanted himſelf what he had before Beſtow'd on others, and became in a manner an Object of Charity. May 18, 1660, which was about a Fortnight before his Majeſty's Return, he was, by Authority of Parliament, Reſtor'd to his College; and was the firſt of all the Loyal Heads in this Univerſity, that was Re-inſtated. Soon after his Majeſty promoted him to the Deanery of Worceſter, which he enjoy'd but a very little while; for he Dy'd Oct. 27, 1661, and was at that time ſtrangely deſirous to leave the World, tho' Few alive had ſuch Temptations to ſtay in it. He was a moſt Learned, Meek and Pious Perſon; and at the Time of his Death left moſt of that Little which he had gotten After the Reſtoration, either to the Poor, or to the Cathedrals of St. Paul, Wincheſter and Worceſter, and to this College: Saving that he gave a Legacy in Token of his Gratitude, to his Old Pupil the Earl of Clarendon; at whoſe Motion he had been Promoted to the Deanery: And gave a ſmall matter to ſome of his Servants, and to ſome of his Relations who had Supported him in his Neceſſities.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 597. Ant. L. 1. p. 192, 364, 402. L. 2. p. 191.

The Dr. himſelf being then Abroad on the College Progreſs.

ABRAHAM FOREMAN, . Fellowſhip.

He was Expelled the College (with Eleven other Fellows) by the Viſitors, May 26, 1648; and June 29th following, he, with another of the Fellows, was Expelled the Univerſity alſo. He liv'd to be Reſtor'd in 1660, and Died in 1667, in the 75th Year of his Age, having been 48 Years Fellow of this College. He lies Buried in the College-Chapel.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 401, 411. L. 2. p. 221.

EDWARD DROPE, . Fellowſhip.

He was Son to Mr. Thomas Drope, Vicar of Cunmore in Berks; became a Noted Preacher, and for his Services in that kind before the King and Parliament at Oxford, in the Time of the Rebellion, had his Doctor of Divinity's Degree beſtow'd upon him June 7, 1661. He was another of the Twelve Fellows who were Turned out of this College May 26, 1648; and together with Mr. Foreman, was Expelled the Univerſity alſo the 29th of June following. He Return'd to the College in 1660, was Re-inſtated, and Died there in 1683, being then about 84 Years of Age.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 322. Ant. L. 1. p. 409, 411.

JOHN DROPE, . Fellowſhip. He was Younger Brother to Mr. Edward Drope, laſt mentioned, became Demy of this College in 1642, Bore Arms for his Majeſty, ſucceeded in a Fellowſhip in 1647, and in the Year following was Ejected by the Viſitors. Afterwards he became Maſter of the Free-School at Dorcheſter in Oxfordſhire; but continu'd not very long there. On his Majeſty's Return, he was Reſtored to the College, was Created A. M. becook himſelf to the Faculty of Phyſick, and Practiſed at Burrough in Lincolnſhire, where he died in 1670.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 107.

See in Wood what he Published.

JOHN TAYLOR, . Fellowſhip. After his Ejection he became Chaplain to the Lord Vermon; and living to be Reſtored, was, as it ſeems, choſen Preſident. What prevented his being Actually Poſſeſt of the Headſhip, I know not. This only is certain, that Dr. Tho. Pierce then ſucceeded in it. After this, Mr. Taylor became Chaplain to the Lord Southampton, at that time Lord High Treaſurer of England; who promoted him to the Rectory of St. * Andrew's-Holbourn; in Poſſeſſion of which he Died in 1665.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 420.

* Kenne Reg. Feciſ. Vol. I. p. 275. wou there ſpells his Name Tayleur; the French way: And if I could but ſet right what follow-eth, in moſt Lives Dated in 1664, the ſame Year that he had been Admitted to the Living of St. Andrew's-Holbourn, being then B. D.

THOMAS PIERCE, . Fellowſhip.

He was Born at the Devizes in Wiltſhire, became Demy of this College in 1639, and at length Fellow. In 1648, he was Ejected by the Viſitors, but afterwards obtained the Rectory of Brington in Northamptonſhire; which he was permitted to Enjoy during the Uſurpation. On the Death of Dr. Oliver, in 1661, he became Preſident of this College, and had before that time obtained a Prebend both in the Church of Canterbury and Lincoln.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 191. 207.

Digitized by Google

Lincoln. In the Year 1671, he Reſigned this Headſhip; and having been promoted to the Deanery of Salisbury, Died poſſeſs'd of that Great Dignity in 1691. He was a very Learned Man, an Excellent Preacher, and always a moſt ſtrenuous Advocate for the Church of England. He gave 70 l. to St. Paul's.

Fr. May 2, 1675, on the Promotion of Dr. Ralph Brideoak to the See of Chicheſter. May 12, 1691. Robb. Woodward ſucceeded in the Deanery, per mort. Tho Pierce

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 801

HENRY YERBURY, . Fellowſhip.
He was Turned out by the Viſitors in 1648; after which he Travelled, and became M. D. in the Univerſity of Padua. In 1660, he was Reſtored to his Fellowſhip by his Majeſty's Commiſſioners, and Died at the College in 1686.

THOMAS CLUTTERBUCK, . Fellowſhip.

See Buckinghamſh. and Quarr. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 322. 745.

He Survived the Reſtoration many Years, became D. D. Rector and Vicar of South-Stoneham in Hampſhire, and in 1684, Arch-deacon of Winchester.

* Or Arthur.

*ANTHONY CHIBNAL, B.D. Fellowſhip.

Wood, Ant. L. 1 p. 402, 409.

He was at the time of the Viſitation, Burſar of the College; from which Office the Chancellour and Viſitors had Suſpended him; but he taking no notice of that, was on May 12, 1648, Seized and carried before the Viſitors, for Refuſing to deliver up his Books, &c. to the Uſurping Preſidents. At which time he Boldly told them, that the Perſon whom they had Thruſt into the Room of Dr. Oliver, was neither Duly Elected, nor Sworn, and therefore he Peremptorily Refuſed to give up his Books and Accompts to him, becauſe it was directly contrary to the Statutes of the College. On which they immediately committed him to Priſon; where he continued till the October following, and was then ſet at Liberty, on the Tender of 200 l. Bail for his Appearance, &c.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 821.

EDMOND DIGGLE, . Fellowſhip.
He had been One of the Preachers before his Majeſty and the Parliament at Oxford, after the Breaking out of the War; and was for that good Service preſented with the Degree of D. D. in 1661. He was then Poſſeſs'd of the Golden Prebend in the Church of Lichfield, which was beſtow'd upon him by Dr. Frewen, to whom he had been Chaplain. Afterwards he obtained the Prebend of Huſtwait in the Church of York; and in 1663, one of the Arch-deaconries of that Church. He was alſo Rector of Slimbridge in Glouceſterſhire; and Died at that Living in 1688.

He gave 60 l. to the Rebuilding of St. Paul's Cathedral.

NATH. CHYLES, . Fellowſhip.

HUGH HOLDEN, . Fellowſhip.

—— EXTON, . Fellowſhip.

—— COX, . Fellowſhip.

—— JONES, . Fellowſhip.

EDWARD ROGERS, . Fellowſhip.

FREWEN LANGTON, . Fellowſhip.

—— CLITHEROW, . Fellowſhip.

—— BASKET, . Fellowſhip.

—— BRICE, . Fellowſhip.

—— JENNINGS, . Fellowſhip.

Theſe laſt Eleven Fellows were all Reſtored in 1660.

FRANCIS DROPE, A. B. Demy's-Place.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 315.

He was Born at Cunmore in Berks, being younger Brother to the Two Dropes before-mentioned; was made Demy of this Houſe in 1645, and Ejected by the Viſitors in 1648. After which he became Uſher to a Private School at Twitenham, un'til the Reſtoration; and at that time was Reinſtated in the College, Created A.M. afterwards became B. D. as alſo Prebendary of Lincoln, and Died in 1671.

There is a ſmall Piece of his concerning Fruit Trees extant.

JOHN NOURSE, A. B. Demy's-Place.
He was Reſtored in 1660. One of Both his Names, a Doctor of Laws of this College, Took up Arms for his Majeſty, Commanded a Troop of Dragoons (compoſed moſtly of Scholars out of this Univerſity) and was killed at Edge-Hill Fight. His Goods at his Chamber in Oxford had been Plundered. I cannot forbear Recording the Loyalty of this Worthy Doctor, on the Occaſion of mentioning his Nameſake, and it may be, his Relation.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 315.

ANDREW SEARLE, A. M. Demy's-Place.

WALTER STONEHOUSE, A. B. Demy's-Place.

WILLIAM BAYLEY, A. B. Demy's-Place.

THOMAS WILCOX, . Demy's-Place.

—— ALEXANDER, . Demy's-Place.

—— WHITE, . Demy's-Place.

Theſe Six Laſt Demys were all Reſtored in 1660.

LANCELOT LAW, .

—— SERIE, .

—— NICHOLSON .

—— NORTHINGTON, .

—— HORNE, .

JOHN DRAKE, .

—— CLAY, .

—— SYMPSON, .

—— DURE-

Digitized by Google

——— DURETON, .

——— OATES, .

——— FLOOD, .

JOHN DALE, senior, .

——— WEBB, .

——— PALMER, .

——— PENNINGTON, .

——— EMAN, .

——— WAKE, .

There was one William Joyner, A.M. Fellow of this College who upon a Forfeiture of the utter Ruin of the Church of England by the Presbyterians in the Time of the Rebellion changed his Religion for that of Rome, and renounced his Fellowship. In 1687, he was Restored by K James, was Ousted again the Year following, and was living in 1690, in Bucks. Wood, Ath Vol. II. p. 717.

How to diſtinguiſh the Fellows from the Demies, among theſe Laſt Ten, I know not; but believe that All of them were either the One or the Other.

JOHN CARPENDER, . Demy's-Place.

LODOWICK MASON, . Demy's-Place.

WILL. COLLIS, . Demy's-Place.

——— COPINGER, . Demy's-Place.

——— BOWLES, . Demy's-Place.

* EDWARD PHILLIPS, A. B. Clerk's-Place.

* He had been Ejected for his Loyalty. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 740.

RICHARD BARTLET, . Clerk's-Place.

* Vic. Law. Serie, Nicholſon, Knt. thington and Horne.

The * Five Former of theſe Laſt Seventeen were Fellows, as I conjecture; but I believe moſt of the Remainder, were only Demies.

JOSHUA CHILDREY, . Clerk's-Place.

If I gueſs right, None of theſe Eighteen did afterwards Submit, and continue in their Places: For the Liſt of this College, as Extracted from the Viſitors Regiſter, was put into the Hands of the Learned Dr. Grandorge, one of the Fellows of this Houſe; who Corrected it in ſeveral Places, and particularly Struck out ſome who made their Peace: So that: I take it for granted, All the Remainder were utterly Diſpoſſeſſed. But quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 319. He was a Native of the City of Rocheſter, and became Clerk of this Houſe about the Year 1640. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he left the Univerſity; but after the Surrender of the Garriſon to the Parliament, he Returned again to the College, where he was not permitted to tarry long; being Expelled by the Viſitors in 1648. After which he kept a School (not without ſome Diſturbance from the Godly Party) at Feverſham in Kent, until the Reſtoration. Upon which he became Chaplain to the Lord Herbert, D. D. Rector of Upway in Dorſetſhire, Arch-deacon of Saliſbury, Prebendary of Tatminſter Prima in the ſame Church, and Died in the Year 1670. He was a Learned and Religious Divine, a good † Aſtrologer, and a great Virtuoſo; as appears by his Correſpondence with the Royal Society, and the Things which he Publiſhed; beſides what he left behind him in Manuſcript; the Account of which fee in Wood.

The Former, Jan. 23, 1661, per mort. Anth. Hawles: The Latter June 21, 1664, per mort. Joſ. Matthews, John Sherman and the Wood's own

Archd. Sept. 30, 1670, and the Prebend alſo the ſame Day. † They are Words.

In the Regiſter of the Viſitors, as alſo in Oxon. Lachrymæ there is mention of one Mr. Duncombe, who in both Places is ſaid to be Steward: But I find by Wood, that he was one of the † Burſars of the College; and therefore gueſs that he was one of the Fellows. I find him alſo Impriſon'd by the Viſitors (together with Mr. John Dale, ſenior, before-mention'd) for Refuſing to Deliver up the College-Rents to thoſe Plunderers; which ſeems likewiſe to render it probable, that he was one of thoſe who perſiſted in their Fidelity, and ſo perchance never ſought, or if he did, might not find their Favour afterwards. And if theſe Conjectures are righ', he moſt be added to the Liſt of this College, as an Ejected Fellow.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 407. † The p. 409, he is alſo called Steward; which poſſibly may be an Office Executed by one of the Fellows, or a Term for one of the Burſars.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 405. ——— HARRIS, . Fellowſhip. He was at that time Burſar.

I find alſo in the Viſitors Regiſter the Names of Mr. Joſias Bangey, and Mr. Daniel Capell: If the Former of theſe be the Perſon mention'd by Wood in the Second Volume of his Athenæ, p. 776; then I take him to be the ſame Perſon with him, who is Recounted by the Abridgment, among the Nonconforming Miniſters of Devon. *Tis certain the other was a Nonconformiſt in Glouceſterſhire. And therefore quære whether either of them perſiſted in Diſowning the Viſitors Power, ſo as to loſe their Places by it; eſpecially ſince the Latter ſeems to have been choſen Fellow, either by the Viſitors themſelves, or ſome time after they had New-moulded the College to their Mind: For he is only ſaid to be Clerk, in the Regiſter; but afterwards I find by Wood, he became Fellow.

P. 305, 316

 Different from him of Both theſe was admitted of in 1640 Vol. I. p. 730

 EDWARD ROGERS, . Names before, unleſs I miſtake: But quære. One Edward Rogers to the Rectory of Stanmore magna in Middleſex in 1663. Quære ſame Perſon with either of thoſe Gentlemen. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ.

No leſs than Sixty of this College at Three different times, refuſed Submiſſion to the Viſitation. And accordingly, May 26, 1648, the Viſitors Expelled Twelve of the Fellows; and Oct. 17, following, Eighteen more, as alſo Two Demies. I find likewiſe, that June 29, the ſame Year, they had Expelled Nineteen of this College from the Univerſity. But poſſibly that might be Inclu ſive of the Twelve whom they had Expelled

Ath. Vol. II. p. 485.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. under the Year 1648, paſſim. p. 409, 411.

THOMAS WICKHAM, .

RICHARD CROSHALL, .

——— KNOWLES, .

JOHN BAKER, .

RALPH DEAN, .

WILLIAM WEBBER, .

RICHARD FLETCHER, .

WILLIAM OWEN, .

——— BROUGHTON, .

Digitized by Google

the Houſe, May 26, foregoing. To which I muſt add, that when the Viſitors came to this College, Apr. 13, 1648, but One ſingle Perſon of all the Society which had been Summoned, appeared before them. And that by Mr. Foreman's Epitaph 'tis plain, that far the greateſt Part of the Fellows were altogether Diſpoſſeſſed. But I do not find that the Elections made by the Viſitors themſelves did come any thing near the Number, which 'tis certain they Expelled from this Houſe. For it doth not appear by their Regiſter, that they had Elected more than Two Fellows, Nineteen Demies, One Clerk, and Six Choriſters, by the Latter End of 1649: Whereas no leſs than Seventeen Fellows and Eight Demies, Lived to be Reſtored in 1660; beſides what had died during the Uſurpation, or were Preferr'd immediately upon the Reſtoration, and ſo did not Return to Claim their Places.

Wood, Ant. l. 1. p. 402.

Hic parentem ſuppl. non-parentem ſocio-rum unus, æqui ob-ſervantem, &c. Wood, Ant. l. 2. p. 211.

MERTON.

WILLIAM HARVEY, M. D. Wardenſhip.

He ſucceeded Sir Nath. Brent in the Year 1645: But there ſeem to lie Two Objections againſt his being allow'd of as the Ejected Warden: The One concerns his Election, and the Other his Diſmiſſion from it. As to the Former, the Queſtion is, whether Sir Nath. Brent was Legally Diſpoſſeſs'd. Wood ſaith, that he was Ejected by his Majeſty's Command: By which, if he means that his Majeſty commanded the Fellows, or Righeful Viſitor, or Both, to Turn him out; and if the Statutes of the Houſe admitted of ſuch a Proceeding; then there can be no longer any Queſtion made as to that Point. But not being certain of this, I muſt leave it as a Quere. The Other Doubt is much more eaſily gotten over: For tho' Wood ſaith, he left the Headſhip, yet there can be no Queſtion made, but that he did ſo, only becauſe he was ſure that the Parliament (to whom the Garriſon of Oxford had been Then Surrendred) would certainly Reinſtate the Old Warden. And therefore Lloyd makes no Scruple to ſay, in ſo many Words, that he was Turned out of the Wardenſhip. But upon the whole, if we ſhould go to the Equity of the Matter, Sir Nath. Brent had not only Forfeited his Headſhip, but his Head too, before he was thus Diſpoſſeſſed; having not only been a Frequent Witneſs againſt Arch-biſhop Laud, but Taken the Covenant, Deſerted his College, and Run in with the Rebellious Rout.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 92.

Ibid. p. 691.

Mem. p. 701.

Dr. Harvey was Born at Folkſtone in Kent, Educated in Caius-College in Cambridge, had in his Younger Years Travelled into France and Italy, made a conſiderable Stay at Padua, and became M. D. in that Univerſity. Afterwards returning into England, he practiſed his Faculty at London, became Phyſician in Ordinary ſucceſſively to their Majeſties K. James and K. Charles I. Fellow of the College of Phyſicians, Profeſſor of Anatomy and Chirurgery, and about the Year 1615, diſcover'd the Circulation of the Blood. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion he adhered faithfully to his Royal Maſter (for which he ſuffered, ſaith Lloyd, 2000 l. Loſs) attended him at the Battle of Edge-Hill, and thence to Oxford; where, as is before ſaid, he was Elected Warden of this Houſe, by Vertue of his Majeſty's Letters to the Society. But Retiring thence upon the Surrender of the Place to the Parliament, he Returned to London; and in 1654, was choſen Preſident of the College of Phyſicians: Which Honour, however, he refuſed to Accept of. He died in 1657. I have only this to add of him, That his Papers were Plundered ſome time in the Confuſions; (Nor is it a contemptible Remark which Lloyd makes upon the Occaſion, that conſidering the Great Depth of his Knowledge in Phyſick, the Barbarous Ravagers did thereby in a manner Deſtroy even thoſe who were yet Unborn) and that at the time of his Death he was a great Benefactor to the College of Phyſicians; where his Statue is deſervedly ſet up, with an Inſcription ſuitable to his Great Merit.

Wood, ubi ſupra.

Ibid.

June 3. Aged 80 years.

See the Cover-ley 1666 to him.

What he Wrote, ſee in Wood.

PETER TURNER, M. D. Fellowſhip, And Savilian-Profeſſorſhip of Geometry.

He was Born in the City of London, where his Father practis'd Phyſick, of which Faculty he was a Doctor. He became Fellow of this College in the Year 1607. In 1630, he ſucceeded Henry Briggs in the Savilian-Profeſſorſhip of Geometry; having before that time been Profeſſor of the ſame Science in Greſham-College. In 1636, he was Created M. D. and upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, was one of the firſt Schollers that went and Served his Majeſty as a Volunteer; which he did under the Command of Sir John Byron; and being taken Priſoner, was caſt into Northampton-Jayl, and all his Goods in Oxford were in the mean time Plundered. In 1648, he was not only Expelled the College, but the * Univerſity likewiſe, by the Viſitors; which laſt part of his Sentence was paſs'd upon him Nov. 9, that Year. And, in a Word, Being in a manner undone by the Sweirities of that Viſitation, he Retired to the Houſe of his Siſter, the Widow of a Brewer, in London; whoſe Affairs he managed during the ſhort Remainder of his Life; which did in a manner occaſion his Perſecution, even beyond the Grave: For thoſe who had before Taken away his Livelihood, endeavoured alſo to Deſtroy his Reputation; and gave out, that he died no better than a Brewer's Clerk. 'He was a moſt Exact Latiniſt and Grecian; 'was well-skilled in the Hebrew and Arabick, 'was a thorough-paced Mathematician, was 'excellently well read in the Fathers and Councils, a moſt curious Critick, a Politician, Stateſman, and what not? He was much beloved of 'Arch-biſhop Laud, and ſo highly valued by him, 'that he would have procured him to be one of 'the Secretaries of State, or Clerks of the Privy-Counceil: But he preferring a College, and a 'Studious Life, and having an Eye to the Wardenſhip, Refuſed Theſe and other Honourable 'Places. Such was the Perſon, whom thoſe Contemptible and mean-ſpirited Wretches firſt Turned out a ſtarving, and then Inſulted for his Poverty; having juſt Sence and Learning enough to know, that his Greatneſs would be a continual Reproach and Scandal to their Ignorance, ſhould they ſuffer him to continue amongſt them. His Death happened in the latter End of 1650, about the 66th Year of his Age.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 81. Ant. l. 1. p. 351. 41.

* To his Fellowſhip ſucceeded John Wallis of Cambr. by an Order of the Com-mittee for Reformation of the Univerſity, dated June the 14th 1649. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 751.

What he Wrote ſee in Wood.

JOHN GREAVES, A. M. Fellowſhip, Savilian † Profeſſorſhip of Aſtronomy in this Univerſity, . . . And Superiour Reader's-Place of Linacre's Lecture in this College. . . .

† Which he kept in Commendam with his Fellowſhip.

He was Born at Colmore in Hampſhire, of which Pariſh his Father was Rector. He was Elected Fellow of this College in 1624; where, by the Ac-

See his Life at large written in Latin by Dr. T. Smith

Digitized by Google

Acquaintance of Dr. Turner laſt mentioned, he was not only much advanced in Critical Learning, but introduc'd to the Knowledge of Archbiſhop Laud; who in 1633, ſent him to Travel into the Eaſtern Parts of the World, in order to make a Collection of Books in thoſe Languages. In 1640, he Returned to England, having performed what he was ſent for, to the great Satisfaction of his Patron. Some few Years after, upon the Death of Dr. Bainbridge, he was promoted to the Profeſſorſhip of Aſtronomy; in which he won himſelf a laſting Honour and Reputation; but upon the coming on of the Viſitation, the Ravagers imployed in it, who had no Regard to Learning, nor any thing that was Commendable, Diſpoſſeſſed him of the above-named Preferments, and withal, Nov. 9, 1648, Expelled him the Univerſity. The Crimes then alledged againſt him were, That he had diſcovered 400*l.* of the College-Treaſure, which was Taken, and ſent to his Majeſty: That, contrary to his Oath, he had Gratified Courtiers with the College-Goods: That he had Feaſted the Queen's Confeſſors, made Preſents to them, was more familiar with them than True Proteſtants uſe to be, and had permitted ſome of them to come and Study in the Library: That he had been the Occaſion of Turning Sir Neth. Brent out of his Wardenſhip, and Mr. Corbet and Mr. Button out of their Offices and Chambers (for nothing, forſooth, but Rebellion) becauſe they abode in the Parliament-Quarters. He died in 1652, at London, whither he had Retired after his Ejection. He was a Perſon in great Value, and much reſpected by Learned Men; particularly by Selden, who, had he lived longer, would have taken care to Support him; as he would likewiſe Dr. Turner before-mentioned, and Mr. Jacob, whom I ſhall next ſubjoyn.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 57. Ant. L. 2. f. 411.

He alſo Travelled over ſeveral Parts of Europe, and more particularly of Italy.

In his Antiquities. Lee ſucceeded Seth Ward of Cambr. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 713.

See the Account of his moſt Learned Works in Wood.

Henry Jacob, A. M. Fellowſhip, And Superiour Beadle's-Place of Divinity.

I do not find his Name in the Viſitors Regiſter; but if I rightly underſtand Wood, he held (or at leaſt claimed) his Fellowſhip and Beadle's Office together; how conſiſtent with the Statutes of the College, I know not.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 89.

He was the Son of Henry Jacob, a Learned Puritan, who was Benefic'd ſomewhere in Kent; where, as I take it, this Son of his was Born. He was ſent in his Younger Years, to be Educated in his Father's Principles, beyond the Seas; where it was his good Fortune to fall into the Hands of the Famous Exponius: Who in a ſhort time, ſo improv'd his Natural Genius, that he became the Prodigy of his Age for Philological and Oriental Learning. After this, Returning into England, he was recommended to the Generous Count, William Earl of Pembrook, at that time Chancellour of this Univerſity, who Patroniz'd him, and got him Created A. B. In his Letters for which purpoſe, he acquaints the Univerſity, that Mr. Jacob had profited in the Oriental Languages beyond the Vulgar ſort of Students; and beyond the ordinary Meaſures of his Age. After this he became known to Selden, Briggs, and Turner, who got him Elected to this Fellowſhip: But not having Logick and Philoſophy enough to go through the Severe Exerciſes of this College, when that Great Patron of all Learned Men, Dr. Laud, became Chancellour of the Univerſity, an Obſolete Statute of the College was Reviv'd, to make him Reader of Philology to the Juniors of the Houſe; and thereupon he was ſetled and made Compleat Fellow. After this he became Aſſiſtant to the Great Selden, in ſome things which he Publiſhed; and Taught, or at leaſt Improv'd him in the Hebrew Tongue. In the Beginning of the Tumults, Sir Nath. Brent the Warden, gave him ſome Trouble, on account of his Patron Archbiſhop Laud. In 1641, he was Elected to the Beadle's-Place; from which he was once or twice Suſpended for his Negligence, his Head being wholly turned for Matters of Learning and Criticiſm, and not at all for Buſineſs. In 1648, he was wholly Deprived of both his Fellowſhip and Office; at which time he Retired to London, where being deſtitute of a Maintenance, he was in great meaſure ſupported by Selden, whoſe Caſt-Clothes (and particularly, as it ſeems, an Old Scarlet Cloak) Mr. Jacob ſometimes us'd to wear: For which his Friends were wont to laugh at him, and call him Young Selden. But being a Meer Scholar, and conſequently a ſort of a Shifteleſs and Helpleſs Perſon, he had not the Wit to manage the Benefactions of his Friends in ſuch a manner as to make them a Compleat Maintenance for him: but was forc'd to Sell a Small Parcel of Land which he had in Kent, to Supply his Neceſſities. And it pleas'd God, to take him off, before the whole Produce of that was ſpent. He dy'd at Canterbury in 1652. He was, it ſeems, a Perſon altogether as Harmleſs and Innocent, as he was Careleſs and Helpleſs.

Wood's Expreſſion in Selden's him.

See in Wood the Account of the many and moſt curious Things which he Wrote.

William Berkley, A. M. Fellowſhip.

He was of an Ancient Family near London, and Elected Fellow of this Houſe in the Year 1625. In 1630, he Travell'd, and at his Return was much Valu'd for the Knowledge and Experience which he had gotten. In 1646, he was ſent to Virginia, about ſome Matters of Publick Concern, and Two Years after Expell'd by the Viſitors for his many Years Abſence. In 1660, he was for his good Services made Governour of Virginia, and had been Knighted ſome time before. He continu'd in that Honourable Poſt until the Year 1676, at which time he was Recall'd, and Dy'd ſoon after. He hath Publiſhed ſome few Things, which ſee in Wood.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 414.

——— Brent, . Fellowſhip.

The Reaſon aſſigned by the Viſitors for Turn-him out, was Scandalous Behaviour. Jan 22, 1650, one Moſeley was by thoſe Invaders ſubſtituted in his Room.

John Lee, . Fellowſhip. He was Ejected May 26, 1648: At which time an Order was iſſued to Dragoon him, in caſe he did not Quietly Submit to the Sentence. June 25, following they Expelled him the Univerſity: For which Reaſon, I gueſs, he was never after Re-admitted to Favour.

Antiq. l. 1. p. 409, 411.

——— Sayer, . Fellowſhip. The

Reaſons aſſigned for his Expulſion, in the Regiſter of the Viſitation, are Drunkenneſs, Non-Submiſſion, and Malignancy; which Two laſt, I preſume, will be thought ſufficient to ground a Conjecture that he was never after Re-admitted by them.

——— Crofts, . * Fellowſhip.

He is charged with having given the Oath of Secrecy to thoſe who were in Combination againſt the Garriſon, and ſo probably was not one of the afterwards allowed to make his Peace, if at leaſt he endeavoured it.

* As I conjecture, and it is poſſible it might be ſo.

Digitized by Google

* As I guess at last Post-master.

—— DUMVILE, . * Fellowship.
He was involv'd in the same Sentence with Sir William Berkley before-mention'd, for many Years Absence; and lo, I presume, Totally Dispossess'd, as Sir William was.

FRANCIS BROAD, . Fellowship.
Unless he was only Post-Master.

WILLIAM OWEN, . Post-Master's-Place.

For being Elected contrary to their Orders.

Wood, Ath. Vol.II. p 50, 815. His Widow was after his Death Relieved by the Corporation for Maintenance of Widows.

JOHN GURGAMY, . Chaplainship.
He had been some time a Servitor at Christ-Church, afterwards became Chaplain of this College; but being Dispossess'd by the Visitors, suffer'd during the Remainder of the Usurpation, in common with other Loyalists; and was in Part supported by Edward Bysse, Esq; King at Arms. In 1660, he was Created D. D. for his several Laudable Sermons Preached before the King and Parliament, while Oxford was a Garrison for his Majesty. He became also Prebendary of Winterbourn-Earls in the Church of Salisbury, and of Bracklesham in that of Chichester: In which last he ‡ succeeded his intimate Friend Mr. John Gregory, and was admitted to it Sept. 20, 1660. He had also the Rectory of Clapham in Surry; where he Dy'd in 1675. He Publish'd the Small Tracts of his Friend Mr. Gregory, and Wrote that Short Accounts of his Life which is Prefixt to them.

‡ As he did likewise to the Prebend of Salisbury, but not immediately, tho' he obtained it Sept. 15, 1660: For Hugh Naish intervened, who had it the 28th of August; 'tis not said how he Vacated it. Sept. 1, 1675. Edw. Pocock had it per mort. J. Gurgamy.

All those before-mentioned, I take to have been wholly Ejected.

NICHOLAS HOWSON, . Fellowship.

ROBERT BOSTWICK, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— SWITSER, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— HARWOOD, . Post-Master's-Place.

JOHN PHILIPS, . Post-Master's-Place.

JOHN WRIGHT, . Post-Master's-Place.

JO. BLANKE, . Post-Master's-Place.

BRYAN AMBLER, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— THORNTON, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— COLES, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— PRICKET, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— MYERS, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— STANES, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— MOORE, . Post-Master's-Place.

—— RICHMOND, . Post-Master's-Place.

How many, (or whether Any) might after Submit, and make their Peace, I know not. The Last Ten * Post-Masters were Voted to be Expelled, because they were Chosen contrary to the Orders of the Parliament.

*Wm. Wright Blanke, Ambler, Thornton, Coles, Pricket, Myers, Stanes, Moore, and Richmond.

These following Persons also were under Sentence of Expulsion: But whether any of them might not be on the Foundation; or whether any of those that were, did afterwards Submit, I am not informed.

† —— SYLVESTER, .

SAMUEL JONES, .

THOMAS JAMES, .

BENJAMIN COOPER, .

—— SMITH, .

† Unless mistaken for Switser before-mentioned.

May 12, 1648, Seventeen of this College Refus'd to own the Visitors Authority. There were chosen by the Visitors, from Oct. 3, 1648, to Jan. 22, 1650, Thirty four Fellows and Post-Masters: Which gives some Light into the Number of those who were Totally Ejected from this College; and seems to make it more than the Whole of those before-mention'd.

New-College.

HENRY STRINGER, D. D. Wardenship, Professorship of the Greek Tongue in this University, And † Prebend of Firles in the Church of Chichester.

† For I take them to be the same Person.

He was made Greek-Reader in the Year 1625, and advanced to the Wardenship on the Death of Dr. Pinke, in 1647; although the Visitors had forbid the Fellows to proceed to an Election: Notwithstanding which, they met Nov. 18, that Year, and chose Dr. Stringer Warden: But he was not permitted to enjoy this Great Promotion; for Aug. 1, 1648, the Committee for Reforming the University, Voted him out of his Headship; and soon after he was Dispossess'd of it by main Force. The 14th of September that same Year, they Depriv'd him of his Greek-Lecture, and had some time before Expell'd him the University. In the Professorship they substituted John Harmer. But Dr. Stringer having, as I presume, some time after their Sentence, Resigned that Lecture (for otherwise I guess his Majesty would not have nominated a Successor) Dr. Crowther of St. John's obtained his Majesty's Letters for it; but to no manner of Effect, until Aug. 1660; at which time he was, by Vertue of them, put in Possession of that Professorship. Dr. Stringer had also the Rectory of Hardwyke in Buckinghamshire: But whether that became Void of course, when he was advanced to the Warden-ship,

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 394. 112. L. 2. p. 39. 111. Ath. Vol.II. p. 713.

Digitized by Google

ſhip, or whether he was Deprived of that alſo, for his Notorious Malignancy, I know not. If he did not loſe it on his accepting the Headſhip, it ſeems not improbable to me, that he might be Sequeſtred from it: For upon his being driven from the College and the Univerſity, he Retired to London, and Died there in 1657.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 822.

JOHN LAMPHIRE, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Born in the City of Winchester, and became Fellow of this Houſe in the Year 1630. In 1648, he was Ejected by the Viſitors: After which he Practiſed Phyſick with good Succeſs, in and about Oxford. In 1660, he was Reſtor'd to his Fellowſhip, and afterwards became ſucceſſively Camden's Profeſſor of Hiſtory, M.D. Principal of New-Inn and Hart-Hall, and Juſtice of Peace for the County, and City of Oxford. He Died in 1688, in the 73d Year of his Age. He was a Good, Generous, and Fatherly Man; of a Publick Spirit; and free from the Phariſaical Leaven, or the Modiſh Hypocriſie of the Age he lived in.

See in Wood what he publiſhed.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 505.

HENRY BOLD, . Fellowſhip. He was Deſcended from an Ancient Family of Lancaſhire, but Born in Hampſhire; became Fellow of this College about the Year 1645; and being Ejected by the Viſitors in 1648, had not taken any Degree. Afterwards he became a Member of the Examiner's-Office in Chancery, and Died in 1683. He hath ſome Few things extant in the way of Poetry.

THO. BRICKENDEN, . Fellowſhip.

He was Voted out for Non-Submiſſion, out-lived the Uſurpation, became Canon-Reſidentiary of Wells, Reſtor of Corton in Somerſetſhire, and Died at Laurence Liddyard in that County.

Ibid. p. 822.

WILLIAM BARKER, . Fellowſhip. He had been a Preacher before his Majeſty and the Parliament at Oxford, during the Rebellion; and was for his Service in that kind Created D. D. in 1661; at which time he was Prebendary of Canterbury. He was alſo Rector of Hardwyke in Buckinghamſhire; where he Died in 1669.

RICHARD HOLLOWAY, . Fellowſhip.

This I take to be the Perſon who was afterwards of the Inner-Temple; in 1677, call'd to be Serjeants at Law; in 1683, Knighted, and made one of the Juſtices of the King's-Bench; and in 1688, ſerv'd with a Quietus from King James, for giving his Opinion in Favour of the Seven Biſhops then Try'd at Weſtminſter. Afterwards for ſome other Matters, he was Excepted out of the Act of Indemnity of K. W. and Q. M. in 1690.

Ibid. p. 492.

——— BEW, . Fellowſhip. He was Return'd by the Delegates for Abſence, and for having been in Arms, and by the Committee Voted to be Expell'd for Non Submiſſion alſo. I have now before me an Original Order of the Viſitors, Dated June 22, 1649, for putting this Vote of the Committee in Execution on Him, and ſome Others of this College; and in caſe they ſhould Refuſe to Obey it, the Soldiers of the Garriſon are Deſir'd to ſee it done. This I take to be William Bew, who in the Year 1666. became D. D. was at that time Vicar of Adderbury in Oxfordſhire, and afterwards Biſhop of Llandaffe. And if ſo, he had been Elected Proctor for this Houſe in 1647; but was put out of that Office by the Arbitrary Power of the Viſitors.

He governed in St. Paul's Cathedral. New Surv. of London. p. 492.

EDWARD STANLEY, Junior, . Fellowſhip.

He was Return'd by the Delegates as Scandalous; by the Committee Voted to be Expell'd for Non-Submiſſion; and in the ſame Order included with Mr. Bew; which being Dated ſo long after the Heat of the Viſitation, I take it for Granted, they were Two of thoſe Stubborn People, who never Submitted.

ROBERT GROVE, . Fellowſhip. He was Return'd as Abſent, and by the Committee Voted out for Non-Submiſſion. He was, as I take it, One of thoſe who never Submitted; becauſe 'tis ſaid in his Epitaph, that he was Per omnes Regni Tumultus ſemper Idem. He was Born in Wiltſhire, Deſcended from a Good Family of that County (poſſibly Related to the Renown'd Colonel Grove, who was Beheaded at Exeter with Penruddock) and Dy'd at the College in 1663.

Wood, Ann. L. 2. f. 197.

JOHN LUCAS, . Fellowſhip.

ANTHONY ROBINSON, . Fellowſhip.

JO. GARDINER, . Fellowſhip.

JO. BEESLEY, . Fellowſhip.

H. HOBBES, . Fellowſhip.

HEN. AYLWORTH, . Fellowſhip.

R. ROWLANDSON, . Fellowſhip.

THOMAS ALEXANDER, . Fellowſhip.

RALPH BAYNHAM, . Fellowſhip.

JO. DUMMER, . Fellowſhip.

JO. MARSHALL, . Fellowſhip.

THOMAS GILLINGHAM, . Fellowſhip.

CHRISTOPHER TURPIN, . Fellowſhip.

AMBROSE BLAKE, . Fellowſhip.

HEN. COMPLIN, . Fellowſhip.

ROBERT BOWMAN, . Fellowſhip.

JO. PRICE, . Fellowſhip.

This Laſt Gentleman, and Mr. Bowman were ſeiz'd by the Soldiers, and carry'd on the Guard; be-

Wood, Ann. L. 2. p. 410.

* Of which 43 were of printed out of the ſeveral Colleges and Halls, and called Delegates, Aſſiſtants to the Viſitors.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 743. 21 Lit.

Digitized by Google

becauſe ſome of the Juniors of the College had made a Bonfire on the 29th of May, which was the Prince's Birth-Day.

GILBERT COLES, A. M. Fellowſhip.

I find his Name in the Viſitors Regiſter, among the reſt of the Fellows of this Houſe who were Expell'd. Wood ſaith, that he became Fellow of the College near Winchester; but ſoon after was Ejected by the Viſitors appointed by Parliament; Which I know not what to make of: Becauſe I do not apprehend how the Viſitors Power reach'd that College: And I have been informed, that none of the Fellows there were Turn'd out. I find alſo one Coles, recounted in Oxon. Lachryma, as Ejected from this Houſe; but whether he be This Gentleman, or either of the other Two of this Surname, who will be mention'd by and by, I know not. However that be, 'tis certain this Mr. Coles was Deprived of a Fellowſhip, either in this College, or That near Winchester, for ſome time; and ſo was in part a Sufferer: But he was ſo much belov'd by the Society, that they Re-elected him.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 412. where ſee what he wrote.

He was Born at Burfield in Berks, was ſometime Rector of Eaſt-Meon in Hampſhire, afterwards of Eaſton near Winchester, and of Alſo in Surry; was alſo Doctor of Divinity, and Died in 1676.

GILBERT WITHERS, . Fellowſhip.

He ſuffered but a very little while: For Sept. 4, 1649, he was Re-admitted by Order of the Reforming Committee.

All Thoſe before-mention'd (ſave the Two laſt) were utterly Diſpoſſeſs'd: And I gueſs the ſame of moſt of thoſe which next follow; becauſe the Liſt of this College, as Extracted from the Viſitor's Regiſter of Expulſions, was put into the Hands of the Reverend the Warden of this Houſe; who made ſeveral Amendments to it, but did not ſtrike out any of thoſe Names. However, not being certain, I chuſe to follow the Method which I have hitherto taken, of Separating them from Thoſe of whom I have greater Certainty.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 805

HENRY BEESTON, . Fellowſhip.

In 1660, he became L. L. D. and was at that time Chief Maſter of Winchester-School. He was afterwards Prebendary of Winchester; and in 1679, was Elected Warden of this College.

Ibid. p. 42.

——— TWISSE, . Fellowſhip.

He was Return'd by the Delegates Aſſiſtants as Scandalous; and was at laſt Voted out for Non-Submiſſion. One Robert Twiſſe, Son to Old Twiſſe of Newberry, printed a Thirteith of January Sermon, preach'd in 1665. Quere whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Twiſſe.

This ſame Rob. Twiſſe had ſome time the Chapel in Tuttle-fields and continued on it till the Time of his Death, in 1674. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 923.

——— VIVIAN, . Fellowſhip.

He was Return'd as one who had been in Arms, a Plunderer, a Sweater, and contentious Perſon; and for theſe Crimes Voted to be Expell'd. This I take to be Daniel Vivian, who in the Year 1642, was Created L. L. D. among a great many other Loyaliſts: And if ſo, he was a Founder's Kinſman, and Died at Farndiſh in Bedfordſhire, in the Year 1670.

JAMES TICHBOURN, ſenior, . Fellowſhip.

He was Return'd as having been in Arms, and Scandalous; and was for Non-Submiſſion Voted to be Expell'd.

JO. GEERES, . Fellowſhip.

Return'd abſent, and Voted out for Non-Submiſſion.

——— LYDIAT, junior, . Fellowſhip.

He was Return'd Scandalous, and Voted out for Non-Submiſſion. I find one Richard Lydiat in the Viſitors Regiſter; but whether this Perſon or the other Lydiat, who will be after named, was Richard, I know not.

NICH. STANLEY, . Fellowſhip.

He was alſo Voted out by the Committee, for Refuſing to Submit. He was Son of Dr. Edward Stanley, ſome time Maſter of Winchester-School, and Prebendary of that Church. He was afterwards, M. D. of the Univerſity of Leyden; whither 'tis probable he Repair'd, when he was Turned out of this College; and ſo, it may be, was one of thoſe who did not afterwards make their Peace. In 1660, he was Incorporated in the ſame Degree at this Univerſity, and was afterwards Honorary Fellow of the College of Phyſicians.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 808

GEORGE CRACK, . Fellowſhip.

He alſo was one of the Non-Submitters, and Receiv'd his Sentence from the Committee accordingly.

RICHARD OSGOOD, . Fellowſhip.

He was under the ſame Condemnation, and for the ſame ſuppos'd Crime.

ROBERT WITHER, . Fellowſhip.

He Refuſed Submiſſion alſo; and was Voted to be Expell'd for it.

JO. COLES, . Fellowſhip. His Expulſion alſo was reſolv'd upon for Non-Submiſſion.

See one John Cole among the Arch. d. of St Albans, and quære.

CHARLES BLUNT, . Fellowſhip.

His Crime and Sentence were the ſame.

EDWARD RIVERS, . Fellowſhip.

There was another of this Surname in the College; and One of them (but which I cannot tell) was Return'd by the Delegates for Being in Arms, Scandalous and Abſent; and being deem'd a Non-Submitter, was put under the Common Sentence of Expulſion.

THOMAS GRENT, . Fellowſhip.

The Committee Voted his Expulſion for Non-Submiſſion. One Thomas Grent of this College was created M. D. in this Univerſity in 1620: He afterwards became Famous for making Artificial Baths, and Diſcovering Natural ones. Whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Thomas Grent, quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 838.

ROBERT MATTHEWS, . Fellowſhip.

He was Another of thoſe who were under the Sentence, for refuſing to Submit.

Digitized by Google

JOHN HUTTON, . Fellowship. He was Return'd by the Delegates as Scandalous; and Voted to be Expell'd among those who refused Submission.

—— JONES, . Fellowship. He was Return'd as Scandalous; to which being added, Non-Submission, the Committee Sentenc'd him to be Expell'd.

* Or Farrier EDWARD * FARMER, . Fellowship. His Crime was Non-Submission; for which he underwent the Common Sentence.

One of both these Names will be after mentioned in Berkenockhire. RICHARD WITT, . Fellowship. Voted out also for Non-Submitting.

But as Uncommon as this Name is, there are Reasons which make me think they could not be the same Person. However, quære.

—— HARRIS, senior, . Fellowship. He was Returned by the Assisting Delegates as having Travell'd for Seven Years; and was Voted out for Non-Submission.

—— HARRIS (Medini) . Fellowship.

The Committee Voted his Expulsion for Refusing to Submit.

† Different from both the Former. THOMAS † HARRIS, . Fellowship. (If I mistake not) Voted out for the same Reason.

—— SONE, . Fellowship, Another of those Expell'd for Non-Submission.

‡ A different Person (if I mistake not) from Grent, senior, who will be after named. JOHN ‡ GRENT, . Fellowship. His Crime was Non-Submission; and his Sentence the Common One of Expulsion.

JO. BARTON, . Fellowship. He was Returned Scandalous; and with the Twelve following Fellows Voted by the Committee and Visitors, to be Expelled; as appears by the Register of the Visitation.

CHARLES TRIMNELL, . Fellowship.

Returned Dangerous.

ROBERT HEIGHAM, . Fellowship.

Returned Scandalous.

JOHN MAYLARD, . Fellowship. He also was returned Scandalous.

THEODORE GULSTON, . Fellowship.

He was Returned Scandalous also.

—— BLINCOW, . Fellowship. Returned in Arms, Dangerous and Absent.

JOHN NEWBERRY, . Fellowship. Returned in Arms and Scandalous.

* —— CRAKE, . Fellowship. He was Returned Scandalous.

* Unless to be the same with Geo. Crack before-mentioned.

—— WOOLY, . Fellowship. Returned in Arms, and Scandalous.

—— LOVE, . Fellowship. Returned Dangerous and Absent, and Reported to be Married.

† GRENT, senior, . Fellowship. Returned Absent.

† Unless to be the same with Tho. Grent before-mentioned: which quære.

—— LYDIAT, senior, Fellowship. Returned Absent.

THOMAS FOULKES, . Fellowship. Returned Absent, if I mistake not.

Besides these, the Twelve following Persons were also under Sentence of Expulsion, but who among them were not of the Foundation, I cannot distinguish.

 JOHN WARNER, .  Unless to be the same with Warringer the Chaplain, to be named afterwards.

JA. GALLEY, .

RICHARD CHAMBERLAIN, .

WILLIAM COLES, .

* RICHARD KNOWLES, . * Unless to be the same with Knolys, one of the Clerks, who will be after mentioned.

† THOMAS RIVERS, . † See Edw. Rivers before

JOHN HUNGERFORD, .

JOHN BAYLEY, .

HENRY NOBLES, .

FRANCIS BAYLEY, .

THO. TOMS, .

BARTH. FINCH, .

RICHARD SHERLOCK, B. D. Chaplainship.

He was Born at Oxton in Cheshire; became first a Student of Magdalen-Hall in this University; from thence he Removed to Trinity-College near Dublin, and was Beneficed in Ireland: But upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he returned to England, and became Chaplain to a Regiment of his Majesty's Forces, which lay in Garrison at Nantwich in Cheshire: After the taking of which Place by the Parliament Forces, he retired to Oxford, Preach'd often before the Court and Parliament there, became Chaplain to the Governour, as also Chaplain of this House; and in the Year 1646, had his Bachelour of Divinity's Degree bestowed upon him. About 1648, he was Turned out of this College by the Visitors;

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 613

Digitized by Google

sors; after which he became Curate at the Little Nicarridge of Cuſington near Woodſtock, for the ſmall Salary of 16 l. per an. good part of which he gave to the Poor. In 1652, his Patron being Diſpoſeſs'd of the Living, he went into Buckinghamſhire, and was Chaplain to Sir Robert Bindloſſe during ſome Part of the Uſurpation. In 1660 he became D. D. of the University of Dublin; was about the ſame time, by the Earl of Derby, promoted to the Rich Living of Winwick in Lancaſhire, and Died there in 1689. He was a Perſon of a moſt Pious Life, Exemplary Converſation, of Great Charity, Hoſpitality, and ſo zealous a Man for the Church of England, that he was accounted by Preciſe Perſons, Popiſhly affected, and a Papiſt in Maſquerade.

T. wrote in most Chaplain.

What he Published for in Wood.

—— LONGMAN, . Chaplainſhip.
He was Totally Diſpoſeſs'd by the Viſitors. One James Longman of this College became D.D. in 1666, and was at that time Rector of Aynoe in Northamptonſhire. I take him to be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

—— WILLIAMSON, . Chaplainſhip.
He was Utterly Ejected; and I take him to be the Perſon, who in the Extract which I have of the Viſitors Regiſter, is Miſ-called Hugh Willis.

—— LYDIAT, . Chaplainſhip.
He was Returned as Scandalous, and having a College-Living; and not only Voted out by the Committee, but alſo Actually Diſpoſeſs'd.

—— READ, . Chaplainſhip. He alſo was Returned by the Delegates as Scandalous; but not Diſpoſeſſed till about the Middle of 1649: At which time he was included in the ſame * Order with Mr. Bew, and Mr. Edward Stanley before-mentioned; and ſo, as I take it, wholly Turned out of the College. It may be, he is the Perſon mentioned by Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 115; (and if ſo, he is by Miſtake, there ſaid to be Fellow) whoſe Chriſtian Name was Thomas: But quare.

* June 23, 1649.

JEREMY OKLEY, . Chaplainſhip.
He was Returned Scandalous, and involved in the ſame Order with Mr. Read.

—— WARRINER, . Chaplainſhip.
Returned Scandalous alſo; and included in the ſame Order of June 22, 1649; and ſo I look upon him as utterly Turned out.

—— PINK, . Chaplainſhip. He was returned Scandalous; and his Name is in the Viſitors Regiſter among thoſe who were Expelled by them; but he was not actually Diſpoſeſſed at the Beginning, when ſome of the other Chaplains were: Whether they turned him out afterwards or not, I am uninformed.

—— BETTAM, . Chaplainſhip.
He was returned Abſent; but not turned out in the Heat of the Viſitation; nor do I know whether he afterwards ſubmitted, or was at laſt Diſpoſſeſſed.

—— * COLEMAN, . Chaplainſhip.
He was returned Scandalous, but whether turned out or not, Quære.

* Unleſs he be Symon Coleman the Organiſt, and by Miſtake ranked among the Chaplains. Or it may be Coleman the then Organiſt, might be a Scholar, and in Orders.

I find alſo the Names of ——Clerk, ——Knollys, and ——Power, Returned by the Delegates; they are ſtiled Clerks: The former of them was returned as Scandalous, the laſt as Abſent, and the other as Scandalous: But that Word is afterwards blotted out. Whether the Clerks in this College (as in Corpus Chriſti) are Scholars, and matriculated in the Univerſity, or not, I cannot tell. The firſt of thoſe in the Regiſter of the Viſitors, is called Sexton; by which one would be apt to believe, that theſe are only ſome of the College Servants; and if ſo, they belong not to this Liſt.

—— GREBBY, . Chaplainſhip.
His Name alſo was Returned, but nothing ſubjoined to it: I find it alſo in the Viſitors Regiſter. He was not at firſt Diſpoſſeſſed, whether he was afterwards, Quære.

—— PEWD.

—— KENNER.

—— HALL.

—— STEPHENS.

—— STUBS.

—— †FINCH.

† It may be, Bath Finch, whom ſee before, and quære.

—— SPENCER.

—— MAILARD.

—— DEWY.

—— WHITFIELD.

—— WANSALL.

—— SPOONER.

Theſe laſt Twelve were Choriſters, and all of them Ejected; whether they are bred to Learning in this College, and are ſomewhat in the Nature of Foundation-Men, or not, I cannot tell; if they are not, no Place muſt be allowed them in this Liſt.

May 8, 1648, Fifty Two of this College diſowned the Viſitation. And by April 22, 1650, the Viſitors themſelves had choſen Fifty Four Fellows and Chaplains. Which may ſerve to give ſome Light into the Number of thoſe whom they had Ejected.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 408.

ORIEL.

JOHN SAUNDERS, M. D.
Proveſt's-Place.

He was Promoted to this Headſhip in 1644. In November 1647, he was ſummoned before the Reforming Committee at London; May 27, 1648, I find him before the Viſitors; at which time he utterly refuſed to own their Authority. I find alſo, that April the 4th foregoing, upon the Viſitors ſending him a Paper, demanding whether or no he ſubmitted to the Viſitation, and owned the

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 394. 399. 410. L. 2. p. 108

Digitized by Google

the Earl of Pembroke for Chancellor, he withdrew himself and left the Univerſity for the preſent. However Wood is wholly ſilent as to the Ejection: nor was there any other Provoſt ſubſtituted in his room until the Time of his Death; which happened in the Year 1652: So that he ſeems to have ſubmitted afterwards, and kept his Place; but Quare.

JOHN HORN, B. D. Fellowſhip. He died before the Reſtoration.

JOHN DUNCOMB, . Fellowſhip.
He was Reſtored in 1660; But contented with the Right of a Fellow, the Profits going to the Junior of the Society, till the next Place ſhould fall.

HUMPH. LLOYD, . Fellowſhip.
See York Cathedral.

HENRY CHAMBERLAIN, . Fellowſhip.
He was Reſtored in 1660.

PHIL. BOUCH, . Fellowſhip
He was Reſtored upon the King's Return; but Reſigned his Fellowſhip ſoon after.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 106.

There were Expelled alſo John Rouſe the Head Librarian, Nicholas Brookes, Robert Say, (who in Fifty Two was Elected Provoſt) Richard Saunders, William Waſhbourn, Sharington Sheldon, and Arthur Acland, all Fellows: Who afterwards made their Peace with the Viſitors, and returned to their Fellowſhips, ſome ſooner, ſome later. Saunders and Sheldon were, as I gueſs, ſome of thoſe who continued longeſt under the Sentence of Expulſion; which was poſſibly ſome Years; and ſo were in good part Sufferers.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 413.

The Succeſſors which they thruſt into this College, were moſt of them Bachelours of Arts only; Two of whom, tho' they knew nothing of the College Affairs, were ordered to receive the College Rents. And they made a Third Dean, which is Vice-Provoſt.

PEMBROKE.

HENRY WIGHTWICK, B.D. Maſterſhip.

Wood, Ant. L. 1 p. 190. L. 2 p. 334. He was the worſt Head of any Houſe in Oxford that was E. jected by the Viſitors

He was Elected to the Maſterſhip (in direct Oppoſition to the Order of the Parliament) July 13, 1647; for which Reaſon he was ſoon after Diſpoſſeſſed by thoſe Ravagers and Plunderers of this Univerſity; and Henry Langley, by the ſame uſurped Authority, was ſubſtituted in his room the 26th of Aug. 1647. The Third of the ſame Month, in 1660, Mr. Wightwick was reſtored to the Government of his College; and in 1664, was turned out again by the Chancellour; but for what Reaſons I know not. He died at Kingerbury in Lincolnſhire in 1671.

Antiq. L. 1. f. 145.

JOHN BOWLES, . Fellowſhip. His Name doth not occur in the Viſitors Regiſter; but the Oxon. Lachr. is expreſs as to his Ejection. It appears by Wood, that the Viſitors ſuſpended him May 26, 1648.

The following Names alſo appear on the Regiſter of Expulſion; but having received no manner of Intelligence from this College, I am not certain whether they were all on the Foundation, or whether ſome of them might not after ſubmit, and make their Peace. Tho' from the Number of Elections which the Viſitors had made by the end of 1649, one would be apt to think that they were all Foundation Men, and all utterly Diſpoſſeſſed.

*—— WIGHTWICK, . Fellowſhip.

* Unleſs he be the ſame Perſon with the Ejected Maſter, whom the Regiſter might take no notice of but as Fellow: Tho' in another Place it calls him Maſter Elect; and ſo I gueſs him to be different.

—— DARBY, . Fellowſhip.

—— CARY, . Fellowſhip.

—— WIGHTWICK, . Scholarſhip.

—— DAFFY, . Scholarſhip.

—— WIGHTWICK, A. B. Scholarſhip.

—— BRICKENDEN, A. B. Scholarſhip.

—— BISSET, A. B. Scholarſhip.

—— WYATT, A. B. Scholarſhip.

One Henry Wyat of this College was put in Fellow by the Viſitors in 1648, and afterwards became Phyſician to the Garriſon of Tangier: He muſt doubtleſs be a different Perſon from this Scholar Wyatt. See Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811.

WILLIAM COLLIER, .

THOMAS TURNER, .

—— KINGSLEY, .

By February 11, 1649, the Viſitors had choſen into this College, at Five ſeveral Elections, Fourteen Fellows and Scholars: Which may ſerve to give ſome Light into the Number of thoſe they had Ejected from it; and ſeems to make it probable, that all of this College, who appear on the Viſitors Regiſter, and are before mentioned, were both on the Foundation, and totally Diſpoſſeſſed.

QUEEN's.

THE Provoſt of this College, when the Viſitation came on, was the moſt Learned Dr. Gerard Langbaine; who 'tis certain was not Diſpoſſeſſed of the Headſhip: And I have been informed, that by the Favour of Dr. Owen and Mr. Selden, there was not one of this College turned out: An intimation of this, the Second Volume of Wood's Athenæ, p. 558, is referred to. But it doth not there appear (nor do I conceive it at all intimated) that Dr. Owen had Befriended any one beſides Dr. Thomas Barlow. And indeed both the Viſitors Regiſter (as well of Elections as Expulſions) and Oxon. Lachr. make it plain, that ſome of this College underwent the common Fate, which attended the Univerſity at that Time: Beſides, that the latter Paper ſaith, of one of thoſe whom it mentioned as Ejected, That he had ſince Apoſtatized. Which manifeſtly confirms the total Ejection of the reſt there named. All theſe which immediately follow, are re-counted in that Pamphlet, beſides the Renegado.

JOHN

JOHN PIERSON, . Fellowship.

† I take this and the Five following, viz. Gibson, Fayrer, Bucanan, Pitt, and Tarne to have been Fellows. But Quere.

CHR. MUSGRAVE, . † Fellowship.

FRAN. GIBSON, . Fellowship.

JAMES FAYRER, . Fellowship.

JAMES BUCANAN, . Fellowship.

NICH. PITT, . Fellowship.

THOMAS TARNE, . Fellowship.

* I find alſo the Names of James Fayrer and Thomas Brathwayte among thoſe, whom the Viſitors had Elected into this College: But I take it to be the Miſtake of the Perſon, who made and tranſmitted to me the Extract of that Regiſter: For Oxon. Lachr expreſly mentions ——Fayrer and ——Brathwayte as Expelled, and I ſee no Reaſon to queſtion, that they are James Fayrer and Thomas Brathwayte; eſpecially conſidering they occur alſo in the Viſitors Regiſter of Expulſions, with thoſe Chriſtian Names.

—— GREGG, . Taberder's-Place. *

—— FLETCHER, . Taberder's-Place.

THOMAS BRATHWAYTE, .

Whether the laſt was Fellow, or Taberder only, I know not.

I find, beſides theſe above-named, the following Perſons likewiſe under the Sentence of Expulſion. But who of them were not under the Foundation, and who of thoſe which were, did after ſubmit, I am not informed.

FRAN. YOUNG, .

ANDR. WHELPDALE, .

HEN. LOWCEY, .

MATH. HUNTER, .

JACOB SPENCER, .

* Or Hanſon CHRIST. *HARRISON, .

WILL. ARCHARD, .

C. HIGGS, .

RICH. LOVE, .

HUGH MEREDETH, .

HEN. HUNTLEY, .

JO. DOBSON, .

JOHN FISHER, .

—— WAKEFIELD, .

WILLIAM BRAWE, .

Which Two Laſt have an Aſterisk prefixt to their Names, in my Extract of the Viſitors Regiſter, the Meaning of which I know not.

RANDL SANDERSON, A. M. Fellowſhip.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 885. That he was Fellow, appears by what Wood ſaith of him (tho' yet he is wholly Silent as to any thing of his Ejection;) and therefore, tho' he occurrs in the Viſitors Regiſter of Expulſions, yet I believe he afterwards Submitted, and made his Peace. He was afterwards Rector of Weſhill in Hampſhire, Publiſhed ſome Pieces, and Died in 1680. See the End of the Note in the Margent.

However, quære.

One Ralph Sanderſon (not I believe ſome Miſtake, in the Chriſtian Name, and take them to have been the ſame Perſon) had the Prebend of Netherhaven in the Church of Salisbury, Aug. 9, 1662, on the Reſtauration of John Pearſon, Died before Jan. 22, 1679, and was then ſucceeded by Tho. Ward.

THOMAS HOLYOAK, D. D. Chaplainſhip.

He had been Chaplain during the Wars, and ſeems, by what is ſaid of him in Wood (Ath. Vol. II. p. 398.) to have loſt that Place on the Surrender of Oxford to the Parliament. But Wood not being poſitive, and his Name not occurring in the Viſitors Regiſter, I leave it as a Quære.

May 11, 1648, no leſs than Thirty ſeven of this College Refuſed to own the Viſitation. And the Viſitors had by the Middle of 1648, (or 1649, I cannot ſay which) choſen into this College Eight Fellows and Taberders; which may be ſome Help to conjecture, How many were wholly Ejected from this College.

TRINITY.

HANIBAL POTTER, D. D. Preſidentſhip.

He was Promoted to this Headſhip in the Year 1643. Whilſt he had been Vice-Chancellour, he was Twice ſummoned before the Parliament; and in Dec. 1647, Voted out of that Office by the Reforming Committee at London. Feb. 4, following, he was by the ſame Committee Order'd into Cuſtody for Acting as P. o Vice-Chancellour to Dr. Fell, after that Doctor had been Deprived of his Office by the Viſitors: But he Abſconded, and ſaved himſelf from that Confinement. Mar. 17, the ſame Year, he was again Threatned to be Taken into Cuſtody for Refuſing Obedience to the Parliament Orders; and the 13*th* of the next Month was Actually Diſpoſſeſſed of the Headſhip, by the Chancellour in Perſon, attended by the Viſitors, and a Guard of Soldiers; who at that time alſo Thruſt one Harris into his room. After this, the good Old Doctor was driven to Great Neceſſities, and did in a moſt woful manner endure great Hardſhips; inſomuch that he was forc'd to accept of the poor Curacy of Broomfield in Somerſetſhire, not worth above 25 or 30*l.* a Year, (which was obtained for him by one Captain Coleford) to earn his Bread, and keep himſelf from ſtarving. Nor was he long permitted to enjoy that poor Pittance: For it being known that he uſed Part of the Church-Service, the Committee preſently Turned him out, under the Pretence, forſooth, of Inſufficiency. I know not what became of him afterwards, until Auguſt 3, 1660; at which time he was Reſtored to his Headſhip (Dr. Seth Ward, who was then in Poſſeſſion of it, being forced to Quit it to the right Owner) He Died in Sept. 1664.

Wood, Ath. L. 1. p. 349. 392, 393. 396, 402. L. 2 p. 295. Ath. Vol. II. p. 041.

JOHN LYDALL, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Diſpatched by the Viſitors, before the reſt of the Fellows, upon this Occaſion: An Under-Graduate Pupil of his, when ſummoned before them, being asked, Whether he would Submit to the Viſitation, or not; Anſwered, That he would withal his Heart, provided they themſelves would ſubmit to the King. On which enquiring who was his Tutor, and finding him to be Mr. Lydall, they immediately Deprived him

Wood, Ath. L. 1. p. 677. Ath. Vol. II. p. 741.

Digitized by Google

of his Fellowſhip, and Expell'd him the Univerſity. However, the latter Part of the Sentence was afterwards Revok'd, and he was allow'd to Tarry in the College, and take Pupils. He was an ingenious Man, an excellent Philoſopher, a great Tutor, and might have honour'd the World with his Learning, had his Life been longer ſpared. He died in 1657, about the 32d Year of his Age.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 737. JOSIAS HOW, B. D. Fellowſhip. He was one of the Preachers before his Majeſty at Chriſt-Church when the Court was there; for which he was, among many other Learned and Ingenious Loyaliſts, Created Bachelour of Divinity in the Year 1646. He underwent the common Calamity which the Viſitation brought upon the Univerſity in 1648; but was Reſtored in 1660, and Died not many Years ſince in the College; having never received any Reward for his Loyalty. He hath a Sermon extant, preach'd before his Majeſty, about the Year 1644; and Printed, as 'tis ſaid, in Red Letters. He hath alſo ſome Copies of Verſes in Print, which ſhew him to have been a Good Poet.

Ibid. p. 692. NATH. SKINER, . Fellowſhip. I take this Gentleman to be that Matthew Skinner, who was Son to Dr. Robert Skinner, ſome time Biſhop of Oxford, and Created A. B. among ſeveral other Loyaliſts, in the Year 1642. If ſo, he was afterwards Doctor of Phyſick.

* At Exeter This and the following Perſon is to have been. WALTER ETTRICK, . * Fellowſhip. This, however, is ſure, that they were either Fellows or Scholars.

WILLIAM RADFORD, . Fellowſhip.

BERNARD BANGER, A. B. Scholarſhip.

JOHN POWNALL, A. B. Scholarſhip.

I gueſs theſe Two Laſt were Scholars only; becauſe of their Degree; tho' 'tis poſſible they might be Fellows.

All thoſe before-mention'd were utterly Turned out.

The following Perſons were alſo under Sentence of Ejection; but how many there are among them who were not on the Foundation (except the Firſt Two) or how many of thoſe who were on the Foundation, might afterwards ſubmit and be Reſtored to Grace, on their Submiſſion, I know not.

JO. PATE, . Scholarſhip.

—— MEES, . Scholarſhip.

—— HEIGHMORE, .

This I take to be the Perſon mentioned by Wood (Ath. Vol. II. p. 590.) who being wholly ſilent as to the Matter of his Ejection, I forbear to give any further Account of him.

—— DOUCH, A. B.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 710. There was one John Douch of this Houſe, who took his Bachelour's Degree, and hath a Sermon extant; whom I take to be the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Douch: But Wood ſaith nothing of his Ejection.

PHINEAS JACKSON.

JOSEPH JACKSON.

EDMOND YOUNG.

WILLIAM BIMAR.

WILLIAM HODGES.

WILLIAM THOMAS.

THOMAS BRYAN.

RICHARD STEPHENS.

HENRY JACKSON.

SAMUEL JACKSON.

—— BOX,

—— WALKER.

—— FRENCH.

—— HAWES.

The Viſitors had Choſen into this College by the latter End of 1649, Six Fellows and Scholars; and by the latter End of 1650, Six more: which may ſerve to ground ſome ſort of Conjecture concerning the Number of thoſe who had been Ejected.

UNIVERSITY.

THOMAS WALKER, D. D. Maſterſhip, Canonry-Reſid. And Prebend of Hitton, In the Ch. of Weſt. Wood, Ann. L. 1. p. 392. L. 2. p. 60. Ath. Vol. I. p. 676.

He was Originally of St. John's College, and was Elected to this Headſhip, Aug. 21, 1632. In Nov. 1647, he was ſummoned before the Parliament for Diſclaiming the Viſitation, and Ejected July 10, 1648. The 31ſt of the ſame Month, in 1660, he was Reſtored to the Maſterſhip, by the King's Commiſſioners; and was, no doubt, the ſame Year Re-poſſeſſed of his Canonry and Prebend. The Day that he was Turned out of his College, Joſhua Heyle was by the Uſurp'd Authority of the Viſitation, ſubſtituted in his room. Dr. Walker Died in the Year 1665; and was, ſaith Lloyd, Related to Archbiſhop Laud, one of his Executors, a Deſerving, Modeſt Man, and a Great Sufferer. Mem. p. 142. who however miſtook his Chriſtian Name.

THOMAS RATCLIFFE, A. M. Fellowſhip.

He was Elected Dec. 27, 1613, Turned out Oct. 17, 1648, and lived to be Reſtored in 1660. Into his Fellowſhip, the ſame Day that he was Diſpoſſeſs'd, was thruſt John Wakeley, who in the College-Regiſter is called A. M. But the Viſitors not giving him that Title, it is to be queſtion'd whether he ever was ſo. Mr. Ratcliff's Fellowſhip was declared Void for Non-Appearance; he being in London at the Time of the Viſitation.

JOHN

Digitized by Google

JOHN ELMHURST, A. M. Fellowship.
He had been Elected to this Fellowship, May 21, 1621; and having been abſent from the College long before the Viſitation, upon a ſmall Cure; the Viſitors were it ſeems ſo merciful, as to tarry for his Submiſſion until May 29, 1651; at which Time they Ejected him, and gave his Fellowſhip the ſame Day to William Offley an Under-Graduate.

ABRAHAM WOODHEAD, A. M. Fellowſhip.
He was a Native of the County of York, and became Fellow of this Houſe April 27, 1633. In 1641, he was one of the Proctors of the Univerſity; afterwards he Travelled into France and Italy, and returning into England, was for Non-Appearance (he being at that Time in London) turned out of his Fellowſhip by the Viſitors, October 17, 1648; and the ſame Day George Gale was put into his Place. After which he lived ſome time in London, was ſupported by George Duke of Buckingham, and after by the Lord Capell: To the former of which he had taught the Mathematicks at Rome, and to the latter in England. In 1660, he was reſtored to his Fellowſhip, but having changed his Religion, he tarried a very little while in the College; and getting Leave of the Society to Travel, with the Allowance of Twenty Pounds a Year, he retired to Hogſden near London, where he lived in ſo much Secrecy and Concealment, that but One only of all the Society, knew any other, than that he was Abroad in his Travels. In that Retirement he became a Champion for the Romiſh Religion, and died there in 1678. Notwithſtanding he is one of the Blemiſhes of this Liſt, he muſt be owned to have been a Man of very great Parts and Learning.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 433.

The many Things which he hath wrote in Defence of it, ſee in Wood.

HENRY WATKINS, A. M. Fellowſhip.
He was Elected to this Fellowſhip Auguſt 10, 1635; was one of thoſe appointed to Preach before his Majeſty King Charles I. whilſt that unhappy Prince reſided in this Univerſity; and in 1647, had his Grace to be Bachellour of Divinity when ever he pleaſed. May 22, 1648, he was turned out of his Fellowſhip, and Extrael Tongue, A. B. was put into it the Fourteenth of July following.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 501.

OBADIAH WALKER, A. M. Fellowſhip.
He became Fellow the ſame Day with Mr. Watkins. During the Civil War he was one of the Standing extraordinary Delegates of this Univerſity for Publick Buſineſs, and one of the Preachers before the Court at Oxford; for which laſt Service the Convocation granted him his Grace for Bachelour of Divinity, when ever he ſhould think fit to take it. As he was made Fellow, ſo he was Expelled the ſame Day with Mr. Watkins; but his Succeſſor William Woodward, A. B. was not Admitted till the 17th of July that Year. In 1660, he was Reſtored to his Fellowſhip, and having been Pupil to Mr. Woodhead before-mentioned, the Publiſher of ſeveral of his Books, and the Perſon who had the Poſſeſſion of his Manuſcripts after his Death, ſo he was himſelf a Roman Catholick, was the famous Turn-coat-Maſter of the College in King James his Reign, and is another Scandal to this Liſt.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 518

WILLIAM RICHARDSON, A. M. Fellowſhip.
He became Fellow Auguſt 16, 1641. When the Oxford Viſitation came on, he had been a long Time abſent (as is before ſaid of Mr. Elmhurſt) on a ſmall Cure; and ſo was not Diſpoſſeſſed of his Fellowſhip, until the ſame Day that Mr. Elmhurſt was: At which Time Thomas Thornton, A. B. was immediately put into his Place. The Reaſon alledged for turning him out, was his refuſing the Engagement. I take it for granted, that he had not before ſwallowed the Covenant, becauſe then 'tis probable he would have ſubmitted to the Viſitation.
The Seventh Fellow was Richard Waſhington, B. D. He had been formerly Fellow of this Houſe, became Provoſt of the College near Dublin, and returning to Oxford, upon the breaking out of the Iriſh Rebellion, was (September 23, 1644) Re-elected by this Society for his Subſiſtence. In Requital for this generous Act of the College, he afterwards deſerted them, and was the ſingle Fellow of this Houſe who ſubmitted to the Uſurpers. The Eighth Fellowſhip was Vacant at the Time of the Viſitation; nor were there any more in the College at that Time; but their Number is ſince increaſed.

THOMAS SYLVESTER, A. B. Scholarſhip.
He had one of the Leiceſter Scholarſhips; was Elected to it July 15, 1643, and Ejected May 16, 1647.

THOMAS DALE, . Scholarſhip.
He was of conſiderable Standing, having been Matriculated in the Univerſity June 18, * 1630; and Ejected Auguſt 1, 1648. The 18th of October following Matth. Mot, an Under-Graduate, was thruſt into his Place; which was one of Gunſley's Scholarſhips.

* Unleſs it be miſtaken for 1640.

RICHARD GOLDWELL, . Scholarſhip.
He had been Matriculated May 13, 1640, and conſequently was above Maſter's Standing; but whether he had taken his Degrees or not, I cannot tell. He was Ejected the ſame Day with Mr. Dale, and was the other of Gunſley's Scholars: Who was his Succeſſor I know not, unleſs it were Matth. Bee.

WILLIAM BANKS, A. M. Scholarſhip.
He was Elected into it March 26, 1640. The Day of his Ejection doth not appear; but one Peter Adams an Under-Graduate, was thruſt into his Scholarſhip Jan. 15, 1649. He had one of Freeſtone's Scholarſhips.

JOHN DOUGHTY, A. M. Scholarſhip.
He had another of Freeſtone's Scholarſhips, to which he was Elected September 30, 1639. He was Ejected October 22, 1648; and the 24th of January 1649, his Scholarſhip was beſtowed on Stafford Leventhorp an Under-Graduate.

RICHARD HOWSON, . Scholarſhip.
He had the other of Freeſtone's Scholarſhips; was Elected to it April 17, 1644, and Ejected October 17, 1648: That ſelf-ſame Day in the following Year, Steph. Geree was ſubſtituted in his room.

RICHARD

Digitized by Google

RICHARD BROOKES, A. M. Scholarship.

He had Hunt's Scholarſhip, to which he had been Elected March 26, 1640. I do not find the Day of his Expulſion; but October 26, 1648, his Scholarſhip was given to John Chamberlain an Under-Graduate.

ROBERT YOUNG, *A. M. Scholarſhip.

*In 1647, when he had his Grace to be Maſter, it is ſaid in the Act for that purpoſe, Qui impoſterum Academiæ, & omnium ſpoliatoris, tabbet variolinari] plauſibilis affectat Ornamenti, quàm acelpiat.

He had Paine's Scholarſhip, and had been Elected to it March 16, 1640. He was Expelled the firſt of Auguſt 1648. October the 26th following his Scholarſhip was filled with Charles Peard an Under-Graduate.

JOHN DAY, L. L. B. Scholarſhip. He was Elected to Brown's Scholarſhip, January 11, 1642, and Expelled the ſame Day with Mr. Young. Richard Hentelorn, an Under-Graduate, was put into his Place October 17th next following.

*Whoſe this Scholarſhip happened at that Time to be vacant.

* ——— ——— , . Scholarſhip.

This was Heron's Scholarſhip, but the Name of the Perſon that was turned out of it doth not appear: It was filled with George Woodward an Under-Graduate, June 16, 1649.

Who had been Elected May 20, 1644.

There were Ejected alſo from this College John Stone the Bible-Clerk (the Nature of which Office, that is, whether it belongs to the Foundation and Conſtitution of the College, ſo as to be of a Freehold like the Scholarſhips, I know not) and Walter James: But what Place this laſt had, or whether any, I cannot tell. He was Expelled May 22, 1648; in 1655, became M. D. at Padua; and the Year following was Incorporated in the ſame Degree in this Univerſity.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 791.

There was at that Time (tho' their Number is now encreaſed) but one Scholarſhip more in this College, which was a Leiceſter one, and Poſſeſs'd by one John Walker; who was alſo Expelled; but he afterwards ſubmitted, and was reſtored to Favour. He was the only Scholar of them all who kept in: So that of this whole Foundation, the Viſitors left but Two remaining. And I muſt add, that of all the Succeſſors which they put in, Two only were Originally of the College; the reſt being Strangers and Foreigners.

I muſt here ſubjoin, for the Honour of this College, that as the Viſitors choſe Forty Three Delegates to aſſiſt them in the Bleſſed Work of Informing, Plundering and Robbing; ſo there could not be found one ſingle Perſon of all this Houſe, who would undertake that infamous Employment; until Ezr. Tongue, who ſucceeded on the Ejection of Mr. Watkins, had taken his Maſter's Degree, and became one of that Scandalous Number.

W A D H A M.

JOHN PITT, D. D. Wardenſhip, And Chardſtock, V. in Dorſetſhire. . . . .

Wood, Ant. L. L. p. 356, 403 L. 2. p. 321, 326.

He had been one of the Original Fellows of this Houſe, was nominated by the Lady Dorothy her ſelf; was Elected to the Wardenſhip April 16, 1642, and Admitted the 25th of the ſame Month: But the Confuſions allowed him very little Enjoyment of that Promotion; for when the Viſitation of Deſolation was marching round the Univerſity, this worthy Perſon ſhared in the common Calamity: And March 3, 1647, was, by the Committee, voted out of his Headſhip: The 21ſt of the ſame Month I find him under the Inquiſition at Oxford; but he was very Refractory, and gave them juſt ſuch Satisfaction as they deſerved (that is, none at all) to thoſe Queſtions which they aſked him. April 16, 1648, when the Chancellor in Perſon attended by the Dragoons of the Gown and the Garriſon (the Viſitors and the Soldiers) walked the Grand Round, he was actually Diſpoſſeſſed of the Wardenſhip and Lodgings; and John Wilkins was at the ſame Time put in Poſſeſſion of them both, and continued to hold them after he was Married, in direct Oppoſition to the Statutes of the Houſe. As for his Vicaridge, he was not only Diſpoſſeſſed of it, but was Plundered of his Houſhold-Goods and Books; and his Eſtate was put under Sequeſtration. There was one Circumſtance, which did in a peculiar Manner add to the ſharpneſs of his Sufferings, but for certain Reaſons I forbear to relate it. He died not long after his Ejection.

Some where in Somerſetſhire, as I have been informed.

TRISTRAM SUGGE, D. D. Fellowſhip.

He was Born at Yeovill in Somerſetſhire; after wards he became Fellow of this Houſe, was Metaphyſick Reader, and Proctor of this Univerſity: In 1646, he was created (among ſeveral other Loyaliſts and Sufferers) Doctor of Divinity; and October 11, 1648, was Expelled by the Viſitors; after which he ſuffered much in thoſe interrupted Times for his Loyalty. In 1660, he was Reſtored to his Fellowſhip, but died at the College before that Year expired. He was eſteemed, by all that knew him, a Profound Philoſopher and Divine; and very fit to Puliſh what he had writ of thoſe Subjects; but at the Time of his Death, his Papers, as it ſeems, fell into ſuch Hands, as were not like to make them Publick.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 418. Ath. Vol. II. p. 739.

See a Note at Dr. Snape in Berks.

——— STRANGEWAYS, . Fellowſhip.

One Colonel Giles Strangeways of this College (who had ſerved in Parliament as a Knight for the County of Dorſet, and was a moſt Loyal and Worthy Gentleman) was created Doctor of Laws in 1665. Whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, I know not; but if ſo, he was of Melbury-Samford in Dorſetſhire, and died in 1675.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 887.

——— ATKINS, . Fellowſhip.

——— MICHAELSON, A. B. Scholarſhip.

JOHN DINGLE, . Scholarſhip. And St. Cuthbert in Cornwall, ...

He was an Excellent Scholar, and commonly known in the Univerſity by the Name of the Courſer Dingle; that way of managing Diſputations being then common in this Univerſity. He was the laſt Perſon that read the Common-Lecture in this College; and that alone was ſufficient to bring him under the Diſpleaſure of the Viſitors, which he felt accordingly. It was after his Ejection, as I preſume, that he obtained the Living of of St. Cuthbert; whither the Malice of the Party alſo followed him, and ſuffered him not to enjoy that Benefice.

Digitized by Google

LIONEL PINE, . Fellowſhip. I am ſure he was of the Foundation, and Expelled: And I have ſome Reaſon to think, that he was not only Fellow, but it may be the Senior Fellow at that Time.

——— THOMAS, A. B. Scholarſhip. I gueſs by his Degree, that he was not more than Scholar.

* I take this to be the Perſon, who in Oxon. Lachr. is (as I conceive) miſprinted Daker.

——— * BAKER, A. B. Scholarſhip. I judge, for the ſame Reaſon, that this Gentleman alſo was no more than a Scholar.

——— HUES, . Whether he was Fellow, or only Scholar, I know not; that he was on the Foundation, and Expelled by the Viſitors, I am ſatisfied; becauſe I find his Name in Oxon. Lachr. tho' it occurs not in the Regiſter of the Viſitation.

The following Perſons alſo were under Sentence of Expulſion, as appears by the Viſitors Regiſter. But having receiv'd no Informations from the College, I know not who among them might not be on the Foundation; much leſs can I diſtinguiſh (among thoſe that were ſo) the † Fellows from the Scholars; or ſay, who of them did after ſubmit and keep their Places, or who were utterly Ejected.

† I only gueſs that 4 or 5 of the firſt named were Fellows.

THOMAS COWARD, .
RICHARD POTTER, .
THOMAS PEWE, .
JOHN TREGMOE, .
GEORGE DAVENANT, .
EDWARD DAVENANT, .
—— BARTER, .
—— ESCOTE, .
—— HALL, .
—— GERMYN, .
—— GIFFORD, A. B.
—— GOODRIDGE, .
—— SKYWIFFE, A. B.
—— MANING, .
—— MERLAINE, .
—— PHILLIPS, .
—— SHEPPARD, .
—— TUCKER, .

GEORGE ASHWELL, . He is mentioned by Wood as one of the Writers of this College; that Author being wholly ſilent as to any thing of his Ejection; it may be he was one of thoſe who ſubmitted, but Quære. He was afterwards Rector of Hanwell near Banbury. Ant. L. 2. p. 228. I find one Mr. Ashwell mentioned, either as Sequeſter'd from a Living, or Ejected from this University. Quære if the ſame. Heylin's Life, p. 132.

HAMLET PULLESTON, . He was doubtleſs the Perſon mentioned by Wood in the Second Volume of his Athenæ, p. 177; but it not appearing there, that he was utterly Diſpoſſeſſed (inſtead of it the contrary indeed ſeems to be intimated) and having no other Reaſon to think him Expelled, than barely that I find his Name in the Viſitors Regiſter, I ſuppoſe he was one of thoſe who afterwards ſubmitted, and therefore proſecute the Account of him no further.

There were choſen into this College by the Viſitors, in the Years 1648, and 1649, no leſs than Twenty Two Fellows and Scholars; which ſeems to make it plain, that Ten or Twelve at leaſt of thoſe laſt mentioned were wholly Ejected, and never Re-admitted to Favour.

It will, I preſume, be needleſs to obſerve, that the Fellowſhips in this Houſe (and it may be ſome few Scholarſhips in other Houſes) are not properly Freeholds, becauſe they are ſtinted to a certain Term of Years.

I ſhall here beg Leave to ſubjoin Edmund Garton (who had been Fellow of St. John's College, and was created Bacchelour of Phyſick in 1647) the ſuperior Beadle of Arts and Phyſick; who was Diſpoſſeſſed of that Place by the Viſitors: After which he went to London, lived there in a Sharking Condition, and wrote trite Things merely to get Bread to ſuſtain him and his Wife. He was Rector'd in 1660, died in 1666, and was altogether unworthy to be mentioned (being a very Idle, Vain, and Looſe Fellow) but for the ſake of his Place, which is much better than any Fellowſhip in the Univerſity, and ſeldom fill'd but by a Maſter of Arts. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 771. The Particulars of which ſee in Wood

I have already mention'd another of the Beadles under Merton-College; and think that the Viſitors turned out at leaſt Five of the Six: But whether any of the reſt had been * Scholars, and ſo might claim a Place in this Liſt, I do not certainly know. Quære. Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 491 * As it is moſt probable one more of them had.

THIS is the beſt Account that the Informations which I have hitherto receiv'd, enable me to give of the Ravages made in the Univerſity of Oxford. I am ſenſible 'tis a very imperfect one; but until I can obtain ſome further Notices, I muſt be forced to content my ſelf with making the following Computation (which is in it ſelf likewiſe, and for the ſame Reaſons, far enough from being exact) in order to come to any tolerable Reſolution, concerning the Number of thoſe who were turned out of this Univerſity.

I have before ſuggeſted the Difficulties I labour under in this Matter, notwithſtanding the Viſitors Regiſter happen'd to be preſerv'd: And the only Method I can think of to extricate my ſelf in ſome meaſure from them, is to compare the Tranſcript of that Regiſter with the Liſts of thoſe Colleges, of which I have any Accounts that are tolerably Perfect; and by that Means to make a Computation, what Proportion thoſe mentioned in the Viſitors Regiſter, who were not on the Foundations, might bear to thoſe who were either Fellows or Scholars of the ſeveral Houſes. And beſides this, the ſeveral Elections which the Viſitors made, and the Numbers of the Perſons whom they choſe into the reſpective Houſes, will in In a Note of Mr. Middleton of All-Souls College, which firſt.

Digitized by Google

some measure make it appear, How many were Totally cast out of their Fellowships, &c.

For these Ends it will be requisite in the first place to set down the Sum Total of those who were Ejected, both according to the Account which Wood gives of them, and as the Visitors own Register represents it. From the Former it appears, that by July 1648, the Committee of London for the Reformation of the University (whole Executioners the Visitors at Oxford were) had Voted out 334 at one time; 46 at another; 180 at a Third, and 22 at a Fourth time: All, as I understand it, exclusive of one another. To which if we add some of the Canons of Christ-Church, and several Heads of Houses who are not included in that Account, to the Number of at least 15, the Sum Total will amount to 597. And Wood adds, (which is very remarkable) that he finds the Visitors did afterwards faithfully execute these Orders of the Committee upon Most of them.

Wood, Ant. L. 1. p. 409, 410, 412.

Ibid. p. 411, 412.

As to their own Register, according to that Extract of it which I have receiv'd, the Sum Total of the Expulsions (excluding the Canons and Heads before-mentioned, some Duplicates which I apprehend are in the Extract, and All the College-Servants) amounts to about 577. To which we may add about 15 of those mentioned in Oxon. * Lachryme, whose Names I do not meet with in the Register. And if to these we also joyn the 15 Heads, Canons, &c. the whole will make about 607. This Variation of the Two Accounts, may possibly be occasion'd by the Visitors Expelling some few, for which it may be, the Committee did not give them express Orders; or at least, those Orders do not appear in Wood. To this I must add, that there are several Omissions in the Register (besides those which I have ventur'd to Supply out of Oxon. Lachryme) particularly at Christ-Church, Corpus Christi, and University-Colleges: In the Former of which I have discover'd no less than Six omitted, who I otherwise find were wholly Ejected, and that too from the Foundation. In the Second, though the Register mentions Three that were not on the Foundation, yet all of them put together, fall Three short of those Foundation-Men, who by other Informations, I perceive were wholly Dispossessed. The same I find likewise at the Left of these Colleges; where the Register mentions but 13 in all: Whereas I am assured, that there were no less than 18 of that House Expelled wholly from their Fellowships and Scholarships. Nor do I find in any one College, that there were fewer Ejected than what the Register mentions. So that 'tis plain there were more than 607 under Sentence of Expulsion. And because I will make as modest a Demand as I can, let it be said, that there were but Two more in each College, one with another, (and that, I am sure, the Computation from C. C. C. and University-College do sufficiently bear me out in) which being 36, will bring the Whole to 643; or, to make it a Round Number, 640.

* If that may be allowed to be part the Register. Or it may be some more mentioned, might be some way or other Turn'd out before the Visitation came on: Some Instances of which there are in Exeter, Jesus, and Lincoln-College.

But now the first great Quære is, How many of these were On the Foundation, and How many not. In answer to which, I must first observe to the Reader, that 'tis not very probable, many Gentlemen-Commoners, Commoners, or others (who had no Places to detain them) would Tarry at Oxford in those Times of Confusion; when they could not to any tolerable Advantage, follow their Studies on one hand; and on the other, must expect to be Harrass'd and Abus'd by the Visitors. Add to this, that in several of the Largest Colleges, as All-Souls, Magdalen, New-College and Corpus-Christi, no Commoners, or others, save a few Gentlemen-Commoners, are Admitted. So that from this Consideration it seems probable, that abundantly the Greater Part of those mentioned in the Register, were Fellows and Scholars of Houses. But to come to Particulars in the best manner that I can, by comparing what I find in the Register, with the Lists of those Colleges, from which I have receiv'd the most perfect Accounts: At C. C. C. out of Thirty nine mentioned by the Register, Three only were not of the Foundation. At Exeter there were about Eight out of Twenty: At Balliol there were about Seven or Eight out of the same Number: At Oriel about Six out of Eighteen (but in this College they are Expressly taken notice of by the Register it self, as not on the Foundation;) And at University-College not one. So that the greatest Proportion of Non-Foundation-Men to those of the Society, is something more than One Third; the others a Third, a Seventh, and the Least not so much as an Eighteenth (for Eighteen were Ejected out of University-College:) Now betwixt these, I think it will be a very fair Cut (especially considering, as is before intimated, that in the Largest Colleges there were no Commoners) to say that generally there were not above a Fifth of those Ejected, which were Non-Foundation-Men. And if this be allowed, the Number of Fellows and Scholars actually Voted out by the Committee and Visitors, and so under Sentence of Expulsion, was 512; or to bring this also to a Round Number (if I shall not be thought to have taken More than my Due, because I am so ready to Part with it on all occasions) say there were 500.

The 5th of 640, being 128.

But then the Second and Greatest Difficulty is, to Determine How many of these Submitted and made their Peace before the Dire Sentence was in Fact Executed upon them: For as to those who got themselves Re-admitted after they had been Actually Dispossessed, I have some Reasons to think they were so very few, that they are not worth taking notice of. And here we must again go to a Computation. Now, as to those Colleges, of which I have the most perfect Accounts; In Corpus Christi I do not find One submitted (unless Mr. Bogan may be deem'd such an one,) nor in Baliol-College, nor University. In Exeter One did; but in Oriel Seven out of Twelve, were Restored. However, this was after they had been * Actually Dispossessed; and these were Re-admitted, some sooner, some later, betwixt the Years 1648, and 1660. So that in some Colleges (which according to this Account, were by far the most, even no less than Three to One) None at all submitting; and in Another but One in Twelve; but in the Other, somewhat more than Half (who notwithstanding were some Years at least, I mean several of them, out of their Places, and so in great Part Sufferers) I think it will be more than a generous Offer to go Halves again, and cut the greatest of these in two (since there are four to one, in which none, or next to none, submitted) and say, that of this 500, one 4th made their Peace; and then the Number of Fellows and Scholars Totally deprived, will be 375.

* Which is the only Instance of the kind (save a single Person or two) that I have yet been able to discover in the Whole University.

But there is yet Another Ground for Conjecture in this same Matter, and that is, the Number of those Elected into the several Colleges by the Visitors (which also appears on their Register) and which therefore may well be presumed, to have succeeded in the Places of Ejected Loyalists: Of which, besides this reasonable Presumption, there is also Plain Evidence: For within the Compass of the first Two Years (viz. 1648, and 1649) when the Visitation raged most, the Elections are of 8, 10, 12, 16 at a time; and several Elections within a Month and Two Months, &c. one of another, in the same Year, and in the same Colleges. And some such also there are in the Year 1650; particularly of Poft-Masters at Merton-College, and Fellows at New-College.

Digitized by Google

College. Now the whole Number Ejected by the Viſitors (excluding Choriſters, College-Servants, &c. for even thoſe they condeſcended to Expel) was about 396, of which 'tis manifeſt from the manner of their Electing (before hinted at) 393 were into the Places of ſuch as had been Expell'd. And therefore 'tis probable that the Remaining Three were of the ſame nature; ſaving that they might poſſibly Fill up among them ſome Regular Vacancies. But then conſidering that in thoſe Conſultions the Livings in the Country were Sequeſtred as faſt as they were filled up with Honeſt Men (and therefore 'tis probable not many would Quit the Certainty of a Fellowſhip for one of them) conſidering that the College Rights of Preſenting were Uſurped alſo; and that few Honeſt Men could get Patrons to Preſent them (the Aſſociations of Epiſcopal Lay men being in like manner Invaded) and conſidering further, that thoſe were no Times to Marry, eſpecially when an Honeſt Man could hardly get, and more hardly keep a Living to Maintain a Family. Add to all this, that the Regiſter in Four or Five Inſtances taking notice of ſuch Regular Vacancies; it ſeems probable, that had there been very many more of them, They alſo would have been taken notice of. Upon all theſe Conſiderations, I ſay, it ſeems very reaſonable to believe, that few or no Places became regularly Void, any other way than by Death; ſaving that ſome few Vacancies might be occaſioned by the Preferment, or Reſignation of ſome of thoſe, whom the Viſitors themſelves had Choſen in not long before: For abundantly the Greater Part of thoſe Elections were made in the Years 1648, and 1649; after which time, as 'tis obvious to imagine that the Viſitors would leave the Colleges to make their own Elections, when they had thus New-modelled them to their Minds (only now and then turning out a Melancholy Malignant, who had been as yet Left among them) ſo in Fact it ſeems to be intimated from hence, that tho' it appears by the Regiſter, they continued Sitting till at leaſt 1656, yet in very many Colleges I do not find, that they made any Elections after 1649. And as to thoſe Colleges, where they do Appear to have put in any themſelves after That time; I am aſſured from ſome of them, that it was in the Places of Ejected Loyaliſts, and I gueſs the ſame of ſome others; becauſe the Elections of this kind, which I meet with on the Regiſter, were fewer than the Ordinary Vacancies of the College would certainly require. In St. John's College, for Inſtance, it doth not appear by the Regiſter, that the Viſitors themſelves put in more than Three, from 1650, to 1656. And what could be the Reaſon, why the Viſitors ſhould Fill up a Regular Vacancy (if theſe had been ſuch) Now and Then, and not Always? So that doubtleſs thoſe more Sparing Elections alſo of the Viſitors after 1649, were made into the Places of thoſe who had been Ejected: And I am the rather confirmed in this Opinion, becauſe the Elections thus Sparingly made after 1649, Agree ſo nearly with the Perfect Account, which I have received of the Expulſions in ſome of the Colleges. Upon the whole then, I think it will be a very Handſome Conceſſion, if I ſhould allow, that Forty of the Vacancies filled up by the Viſitors themſelves, had been Regularly made; eſpecially when it is obſerved, that Moſt of their Elections were in the Compaſs of Two Years; and that I find by Wood, and by ſome other Notices of my own, that what ever Vacancies had been Occaſioned by the Conſultions, and the Siege, had been filled up by the Reſpective Societies, at what time the Viſitation Commene'd. By this Allowance then, the Number of Elections made by the Viſitors, into the Places of ſuch as had been Utterly expelled by them, will be Reduc'd to 356.

Antiq. Oxon.

But then, to Counterbalance this, it muſt be known, that either the Viſitors themſelves choſe many, who are not mentioned in the Regiſter, or elſe when they had put a Majority of their own Party into a College, they then allow'd them to Fill up ſeveral Places, which They, viz. the Viſitors themſelves, had made Vacant by Expulſion. For in C. C. C. there were Forty two Places Vacated, as I am aſſur'd, by Ejection; Whereas there appear but Thirty eight Elections on the Viſitors Regiſter. So at All-Souls College the Regiſter mentions but Thirty Elections; whereas I am informed, that the Viſitors made no leſs than Forty four there, during the Courſe of their Seſſion. Thus likewiſe at Magdalen-College I do not find by their Regiſter above Two Fellows, and Nineteen Demies Elected by the Viſitors: Whereas there were no leſs than Seventeen Fellows, and Eight Demies, who liv'd to return to the College in 1660: And yet every one muſt readily grant, that Thoſe could not be the one Half of what had been Totally Ejected. So that there cannot be fewer than Thirty Omiſſions in this Single College. As for Exeter, Oriel, and Baliol-Colleges, the Elections which appear on the Regiſter, agree pretty well with a certain Account which I have of the Expulſions made by them: Only I muſt add, that at Exeter-College the Viſitors had a Contrivance to keep Two Fellowſhips void (and Order'd Four more to be kept ſo when they ſhould Fall) to pay the College Debts. And if they took the Liberty to do the ſame in other Colleges, this will prove Another Reaſon, why the Elections which are mention'd in the Regiſter, do not Equal the Expulſions which the Viſitors made. But then, on the other hand, it muſt not be conceal'd, that in ſome Colleges the Elections made by the Viſitors exceed the Certain Account I have of the Expulſions: However, they do not exceed in ſuch Degrees (by a vaſt deal) as the Regiſter comes ſhort of, what I am aſſur'd of in other Colleges.

The Reaſons why the Elections at University-College exceeded the Expulſions, are Peculiar, too long to be here mentioned, and do no way at all Affect this Argument.

Add to this, that not above One or Two of all the Ejected Heads are mention'd in the Regiſter; probably becauſe the Chancellour in Perſon Exeouted the Orders of the Committee upon them; in which the Viſitors ſeem'd rather to be Attendants than Principals.

Upon the Whole therefore, I preſume, I may very well be allow'd to Re-call the Forty which I juſt now Diſcounted for Regular Vacancies, and to Add Ten more to them (which, I think, is a very Modeſt Demand) ſince I can ſhew near Forty of them at Magdalen-College, and among the Ejected Heads; and ſo, according to this Computation, the whole Number of the Fellows, Scholars, Chaplains, &c. Ejected out of their ſeveral Places in Oxford, will amount to Four Hundred and ſix; or, to make it as Low as poſſible, let it be ſaid, they were only Four Hundred; and I ſhould think, I am very much within Compaſs.

Digitized by Google

I muſt here add, that (as it appears in the Caſe of Oriel-College) ſome of thoſe whom I have here Diſcounted, were Tears out of their Fellowſhips, others that Submitted, were for ſome time Harraſs'd and Teiz'd by the Viſitors, and ſome of the Commoners had probably Exhibitions: So that though I am willing to ſay, there were but Four Hundred Totally Ejected out of Fellowſhips, Scholarſhips, &c. yet Theſe others were much greater Sufferers than very many of thoſe Recounted in the Abridgment: And could I diſtinguiſh them, they ought to have a Place in the Appendix, among the Curates, School-maſters, and other Sufferers not formally Sequeſtred: And, it may be, not leſs than an Hundred and fifty of them would go Thither.

CAM-

Digitized by Google

CAMBRIDGE.

The PROFESSORS.

SAMUEL COLLINS, D. D. Regius-Profeſſorſhip of Divinity.
See King's-College.

SAMUEL WARD, D. D. Margaret-Profeſſorſhip of Divinity.

See Sidney-Suſſex-College.

RICHARD HOLDSWORTH, D. D. Margaret-Profeſſorſhip.

See Worceſter-Cathedral.

Querel. Cantab. p. 8. 9. See what is immediately ſubjoined to thoſe Profeſſors.

——— ———, L. L. D. Profeſſorſhip of Laws.

I find him Plunder'd and Impriſon'd; which is all the Reaſon I have to think that he was alſo Ejected. Quare.

THOMAS THORNTON, B. D. the Logick-Lecture.

See St. John's College.

The King's Greek Profeſſor muſt have been either James Newport, Fellow of Trinity College, or Ralph Widdrington, Fellow of Chriſt's-College; and I judge it was the former of them. The Arabick Profeſſor was, as I conjecture, either Abraham Wheelock, or Edmund Caſtell; and to me it ſeems moſt probable, that it was the former of theſe likewiſe. The Publick Orator was Henry Molle, Fellow of King's College, who was choſen in 1639, and continued in that Office till 1650. I judge likewiſe that either Robert Metcalfe, D.D. Fellow of St. John's, or Ralph Cudworth, D. D. Maſter of Chriſt's, muſt have been the Profeſſor of the Hebrew Tongue; and probably it was the Firſt of them. The King's Profeſſor of Laws at that Time, I take to have been either Thomas Merriſon, L. L. D. Fellow of King's, or George Porter, L. L. D. Fellow of Queen's; or Tho. Goad, L. L. D. Fellow of King's, or John Clark, L. L. D. Fellow of Trinity-Hall; and perchance it was the Third of theſe. The King's Profeſſor of Phyſick, was either John Collins, M. D. Fellow of St. John's, or Ralph Winterton, M. D. Fellow of King's. What other Lecturer, Officer, &c. there are in this Univerſity, I know not. As to thoſe here mention'd, none of them occur among the Ejected Maſters, Fellows, &c. and if they all held their Fellowſhips together with their ſeveral Profeſſors Places, then 'tis probable that none of them were turned out; but if any of them had quitted their Fellowſhips, whilſt they ſtill held their Lectures, then perchance ſome of them might be Diſpoſſeſſed; altho' I have not yet met with any Account of it.

Clare-Hall.

THOMAS PASKE, D. D. Maſterſhip.
* Archi-deaconry of London.
Sub-deanery, ... } in the
And } Church of
Canonry in the 5th Preb. } Canterbury.
Prebend of Uiſkelfe, in the Church of York.
Hadam Magna, R. in Hertfordſhire,
And
St. Mary Magdalen Bermondſey, R. in Surry. . . . . }

* Admitted to it about the Year 1625. at I conjecture. Merc. Ruſt. p. 205. Querel. Cantab. Nenc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 63, 932.

He was Advanced to the Maſterſhip of this Hall againſt his Will, ſaith Lloyd; and it ſeems that he once alſo had the Tender of a Biſhoprick, which he refus'd. In 1623, he was Vice-Chancellour of this Univerſity. Upon his Ejection from this Headſhip, he was ſucceeded by Mr. (after Dr.) Cudworth; as Cudworth himſelf was, ſometime before the Reſtoration, by Dr. Theophilus Dillingham; who having marry'd a Daughter of Dr. Paske, the Dr. quitted to him in 1660; upon which the Society Re-electing him, he was continued in the Government of this Hall. As for Dr. Paske's other Preferments, I preſume he was Reſtor'd † to them all; though he liv'd but a very little while to enjoy them, as dying ſome time before the 22d of September 1662. He was, as the Querela Cantab. gives his Character, a Man Eminent for Learning, Prudence, Judgment and Piety; and bore his Sufferings under ſome of which he lay Eighteen Years, with great Chearfulneſs. And it will perchance be thought no contemptible Evidence of his great Worth, that Three Biſhops, Four Privy-Counſellors, Two Judges, and Three Doctors of Phyſick, all of which had been his Pupils in the Univerſity, came in one Day to pay him a Viſit.

Perſec. Und. p. 41. Mem. p. 304. It ſeems plain from Mr. Newcourt, that he alſo held the Vicaridge of Hendon in Middleſex. Quare.

† Mr. Newcourt ſeems to intimate, they were only the Archdeaconry and the Vicaridge of Hendon, p. 7.

BARNABAS OLEY, B. D. Fellowſhip.
And
Great Gransden, V. in Huntingdonſhire.

He was turned out of his Fellowſhip by the E. of M. for not Reſiding, nor Repairing to Cambridge upon his Summons; as the Cauſes of his Ejection are Aſſigned in the Proceedings of that Lord. But it will not be difficult to gueſs at the true Reaſons of his Sequeſtration, when it is known, that he was the Perſon, who had ſome time before led the Party, which convey'd the Plate and Money, gather'd in this Univerſity, to his Majeſty. At the ſame Time that he was turned out of his Fellowſhip, he was alſo Plundered. As for his Vicaridge of Gransden, it was not put under a formal Sentence of Sequeſtration, but he was ſo much Harraſſed and Threaten'd that he was forced to quit it. He was likewiſe 'diligently 'and particularly ſought for by the Rebels, who 'would willingly have Gratify'd thoſe that would 'have been ſo baſe as to diſcover him. This he 'was inform'd of, and of this he himſelf was ſo 'ſenſible, that he was obliged to change his 'Habit, and did conſtantly appear, as is credi-'bly reported, in a Cloak and Grey Clothes. And for almoſt Seven Years, as himſelf declar'd to ſome

Apr. 9 1644. He had been Proctor of this Univerſity in the Year 1635, and before that, viz. in 1634, Yates.

To his Fellowſhip ſucceeded one Pendock.

Digitized by Google

Persons yet Alive, He had not wherewith conveniently to support himself. During some part of the Wars I find him at Pontefract-Castle in Yorkshire, where, with some other Loyal and Worthy Clergymen, he Preach'd to that Garrison, whilst it held out for his Majesty. In 1660, he was Reſtor'd to both his Fellowſhip and Vicaridge; had a Prebend in the Church of Worceſter, and the Archdeaconry of Ely conferred upon him; the laſt of which he Reſign'd, becauſe out of his great Humility, he thought himſelf not ſufficient to diſcharge the Duty of it. He died, if I miſtake not, about the Year 1684. He was a very Learned Man, a profound Divine; and a Perſon as eminent for his Piety and Charity, as any Man in the Church of England. He gave 100*l.* to King's-College in this Univerſity; built a fair Houſe on the Vicaridge of Granſden, and a School there; left part of his Eſtate for the * Augmentation of poor Vicaridges, and part of his Books to the ſucceſſive Vicars of North-Gimſton in Yorkſhire. But he was a more eſpecial † Benefactor to this Hall when it was Re-built; in the Inſpection of which Work, and procuring Benefactions towards it, his Application was extraordinary. In a Word, a ‡ very Learned and Excellent Man, who Perſonally knew him, hath lately aſſur'd the World, That he was a Saint-like-Man.

If I do not miſtake ſome Informations worth 1 have received, he had the Profeſſor-ſhip of Divinity, or at leaſt might have obtain'd one, in or before the Year 1660.

* Dr. Kennet's Caſe of Impropriations p. 183, 230. He alſo gave alſo a † very conſiderable ſum to St. Paul's.

‡ Life of Dr. William Hopkins, prefix'd to his Sermons, p. 13.

He Publiſhed Dr. Jackſon's Works, and Mr. Herbert's Country Parſon; and prefix'd Prefaces of his own to each of them.

He was Elected Apr. 8. 1644.

——— CARTER, B. D. Fellowſhip. He was ſucceeded by one Fowler.

Sinnet was during the Troubles, he obtained a Right to the Rectories of Cotesmore in Rutland, and Stoke-Brewen in Northamptonſhire, but was kept out of them both, till the Reſtoration.

PETER GUNNING, A. M. Fellowſhip. And Little St. Mary's, . in Cambridge. . .

He was Son to Peter Gunning, Miniſter of How in Kent, Born there in the Year 1613, Educated in this Hall under Mr. Barnabas Oley juſt now mention'd; and being taken notice of by the whole Univerſity for his extraordinary Parts and Indefatigable Induſtry, ſoon became Fellow of the Houſe. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was very zealous in the Cauſe of his Majeſty and the Church; and always oppoſed the Faction to the very utmoſt of his Power; for which he became in a particular manner the Object of their Fury: And whilſt he was with his Mother (lately then become a Widow) in Kent, he was hunted about, and forced to lie in Woods; and at length was Impriſoned, for having aſſiſted ſome Forces belonging to the King at Tunbridge, with the Charity he had moved a Neighbouring Congregation to, by Two Sermons. After this he was ſummoned to Cambridge to take the Covenant; which peremptorily refuſing to do, he was Diſpoſſeſſed of his Fellowſhip; and ſucceeded in it by David Clarkſon; as Clarkſon himſelf afterwards was by his Pupil John Tillotſon, then A.B. afterwards Arch-biſhop of Canterbury. Upon this Mr. Gunning was forced to quit Cambridge; but before his going off, he, together with Mr. Barrow, Mr. Ward, Mr. Barwick, and ſome others, drew up a well-penn'd and reſolute Treatiſe againſt the Covenant, which was afterwards Publiſh'd. In 1644, he betook himſelf, with his Friend Mr. Barrow, to his Majeſty's Head-Quarters at Oxford; where the generous Dr. Pink, then Warden of New-College, made them both Chaplains of his Houſe, to ſubſiſt them. About the ſame Time Mr. Gunning became Curate alſo of the little Vicaridge of Caſſington near Oxford; at which Place, for about the Space of Two Years, He endured ſeveral Affronts and Abuſes by the Parliamentarian Soldiers, from Abendon, and elſewhere; either by interrupting him with baſe Language, or by pulling him out of the Church. He ſometimes alſo Preach'd before his Majeſty and the Court, then at Oxford; for which he was Admitted to his Bachelour of Divinity's Degree the Day before the Surrender of that Place to the Parliament. After this he became Tutor to Chriſtopher Lord Hatton, as alſo to Sir Francis Compton, and inſtilled into both moſt excellent Principles of Loyalty. After this again he was Chaplain to Sir Robert Shirley; who as a Reward for his great Worth and Learning (diſcovered more particularly in the ſilencing a Popiſh Prieſt, with whom he had Two or Three ſet Diſputations) ſettled on him a Penſion of One Hundred Pounds per Ann. for his Life: But his Patron being Impriſoned in the Tower for his Loyalty, and dying there, Mr. Gunning undertook to hold a conſtant Congregation in the Chapel at Exeter-Houſe; where by his reading the Engliſh Liturgy, Preaching, &c. he Aſſerted the Cauſe of the Church of England with great Pains and Courage, when the Parliament was moſt Predominant: Which occaſioned his being often ſent for, and Reproved by Oliver; becauſe great Numbers of People flock'd to him. Beſides which, he would alſo 'on the 'Week-days, look out all ſorts of Sectaries, and 'diſpute with them openly in their own Congregations. Nor was there any conſiderable Sect, 'whether Preſbyterian, Independent, Anabapiſt, Quaker, Browniſt, Socinian, &c. but that he 'held with them, ſome Time or other, a Set and 'Publick Diſputation, in Defence of the Church 'of England. After the Reſtoration he became Prebendary of Canterbury, D. D. Maſter of C. C. C. in this Univerſity, and ſoon after Maſter of * St. John's; Margaret-Profeſſor (and upon the Removal of Dr. Tuckney) Regius-Profeſſor of Divinity, Biſhop of Chicheſter; and at length of Ely; in Poſſeſſion of which See he died in 1684. He was a Man of great Learning, a profound Divine, and much admir'd by Men of Letters, as well Foreigners, as Engliſhmen. He was ſuch a conſtant Preacher whilſt he continued in Cambridge, and look'd upon as ſo unblamable in his Life and Practice, that his Adverſaries were ſorry they could not faſten the leaſt Spot on him. He was alſo a Perſon of a moſt Diffuſive Charity; 'For what he had 'not ſpent in his Life-time, by ſupplying Scho'lars at Cambridge, by his large Endowments, 'and Bountiful Benefactions in that Place, by 'his great Sums laid out in his Seat, as well as 'formerly on his Livings, by his Daily Relieving, 'at his Door, and from his Table, all ſorts of 'Indigent and Diſtreſſed Perſons, and by private'ly ſupplying others with a plentiful Hand, he 'diſpoſed of the Remainder by his laſt Will and 'Teſtament, to be laid out for the Augmentation of Poor Vicaridges. In a Word, he was wholly addicted to his Studies, and the Service of God; and had made Preaching, and doing all the Good Offices proper to a Biſhop, ſo much his Delight, that according to the uſual ſaying, he died in his Calling.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 177.

Particularly made a great deal of Arguments and Vehemence, preſſing the Univerſity in a Sermon at St. Mary's, to Publiſh a Proteſtation againſt the Covenant, which was accordingly done.

Tho' I miſtake not, he had been firſt Reſtor'd to his Fellowſhip.

* In which, (as in the Regius Profeſſorſhip) he ſucceeded Dr. Tuckney, to whom however, he allowed an Hundred Pounds a Year. What he Wrote ſee in Wood.

He gave 500 l. alſo towards the Re-building of St. Paul's.

JOHN HEAVERS, A. M. Fellowſhip. He liv'd to be Reſtor'd in 1660, became D. D. Canon of Windſor, Fellow of Eaton-College, and dy'd in 1670; was a Benefactor to this Hall, and a Man of great Learning, Piety, Liberality, and Charity.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 830

——— FABIAN, A. M. Fellowſhip. What became of him afterwards, I am not informed.

——— HICK-

Digitized by Google

—— HICKMAN, A. M. Fellowship.
Of whom I know nothing more.

—— BING, A. M. Fellowship. If I conjecture right, he was afterwards D.D.

* If I mistake not —— POTTER, * A. M. Fellowship.

He was afterwards D.D. and therefore I guess he survived the Restoration. He was succeeded by one Holcroft, an Independent; who was one of the first that gathered a Congregation of that kind in Cambridge (and at last unhappily died Distracted) which seems to lay some Foundation for a Conjecture, that Mr. Potter might be Ejected by the Independents, on the score of the Engagement.

Querel. Cantab. p. 10, 11.

I must here, once for all, let the Reader know, that for the greater Part of this Lift of Cambridge, is taken from One of the End of Querel Cantab. To which some Informations that I have received from this University. Add a few Names; and among the rest, this of Mr. Potter: But several of the Presbyterian Stamp (even some of those likewise who succeeded Ejected Loyalists) being afterwards Turned out for Refusing the Engagement, I am not certain (my Information being seldom Express in that matter;) but that Mr. Potter might be One of them. And, to avoid Repetition, if I meet with any more who are then doubtful, I shall from them make a Reference to this Note. Only I must add, that of Any of Those who were Turned out, on that Independent Tell, had not Taken the Covenant, or Otherwise before Sided with, or Submitted to the Presbyterians, then they properly belong to, and justly claim a Place in this Lift.

Corpus Christi.

DR. LOVE, the Then Master of this College, continu'd in Poſſeſſion, and was not Ejected.

ROBERT TUNSTALL, B.D. Fellowship.

† July 19, 1644.

He was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644; and † ſucceeded by Richard Kennet, a Native of the County of Kent. I know nothing more of Mr. Tunſtall, but that he was a Lincolnſhire Man; and that He, (or one of both his Names, and of this House) was Taxer in the Year 1626.

EDWARD PALGRAVE, B. D. Fellowſhip.

† A Native alſo of the County of Norfolk.

He was a Norfolk Man, was Ejected the ſame Day with Mr. Turſtall, and ſucceeded by † Daniel Johnſon, July 25, 1644.

THOMAS BRIGGS, A. M. Fellowſhip.

He was alſo of the County of Norfolk, and ſucceeded by John Fairfax, Jan. 14, 1644.

I find alſo Mr. Daniel Johnſon, Mr. Joſiah Lamplugh, Mr. Francis Colſer, Mr. J. Fairfax, and Mr. Richard Kennet (Three of whom had ſucceeded the Ejected Loyalists above-mentioned) Turned out of this College in the Years 1649, 1650, and 1651; but I gueſs they All went out on occaſion of the Engagement: And therefore ſince they might be Preſbyterians, tho' they were not Independents, I cannot claim a Place for them in this Liſt.

See the Note at Mr Potter of Clare-Hall.

CHRIST's.

THE Maſter of this Houſe was Dr. Bambrigg, who was not Ejected, but Died, and Mr. Bolton, was Choſen into his Place.

WILLIAM POWER, B.D. Fellowſhip. And The Lady Margaret's Preacher's Place.

He was not only Ejected, but Abuſed by the Rabble and Soldiers as he was going to Preach ad Clerum, according to his Office, the Day before the Term: At which time he "was furiouſly purſued over the Market-place, by a confuſed Number of Soldiers; who in a Barbarous Uncivil manner, cried out, A Pope! a Pope! and vowed High Revenge if he offer'd to go into the Pulpit: Whereupon the Church was immediately filled with Great Multitudes; and when ſome who accompany'd the Preacher, told them it was an Univerſity-Exerciſe, and to be by Statute perform'd in Latin; they reply'd, They knew no Reaſon why all Sermons ſhould not be perform'd in Engliſh, that all might be edify'd; Threatning withal to Tear the Hoods and Habits, which Graduates then wore according to the Univerſity-Statute. And leſt this ſhould be look'd upon as no other than a Tumultuous Outrage of the ignorant and undiſcipliu'd Soldiery; it muſt be known, that when Complaint was made of it to the General, no manner of Remedy could be obtained, and Mr. Power was forced to return without performing the Duty of his Office, and glad he could eſcape ſo. I have only this to add of him, that he ſeems to have continued in his Preacher's Place, either by Connivance or New Election, till the Year 1646: For though he were Ejected from his Fellowſhip for his Loyalty, yet he Received the Salary as Preacher till that Year.

Catal. of Lady Marg. Preachers, prefixt to her Fun. Serm. Publiſhed in 1708.

—— NORTON, A. M. * Fellowſhip.
He was Ejected Apr. 8, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester.

* This is the firſt Perſon that I have found Ejected as well as Reſtored.

low, in Oppoſition both to Scholar and Non-Foundation-Man, as no other Authority than This, that I find him mentioned in the Liſt at the End of Querel. Cantab. And becauſe I ſhall have occaſion to ſet down ſeveral others, as firſt, on the ſame Authority, I ſhall therefore in this Place give the Reader my Reaſons for it. The Title of that Liſt indeed runs thus; Heads, Fellows, and other Learned, Reverend, and Religious Gentlemen, &c. But that All mentioned in That Liſt, were not only on the ſeveral Foundations, but alſo Fellows, I make no Queſtion. For neither among Heads of them as are mentioned by Wood; nor in the Accounts which I have received from ſeveral Colleges in this Univerſity, do I find One ſingle Inſtance of any Perſon mentioned in that Liſt, who was Not a Foundation-Man. And the ſame Reaſon alſo I have to believe, that they were all Fellows (and not Scholars.) For Wood as of the Information which I have from many Colleges, do not mention One of thoſe Recorded in that Liſt, any where elſe, but as Fellows of the Houſe where a Fellow. And the matter ſeems to be put out of all Doubt, by comparing what is ſaid in the Querela at firſt (p. 22.) with the Liſt of Queen's College, as given among the reſt, at the End of it. For there it appears, that the Fellowmen left another Fellow not Sectular in that Houſe. Now the Number of Fellowmen there is 19; and yet (to many, (and no more) are ſet down in the Liſt as Ejected from thence: Which making no reality the Number of Fellows in that College, renders it probable in the higheſt Degree, that None for Fellows are taken notice of in it. And the ſame I find in this College likewiſe, in other Informations (as alſo at one College more, and of thoſe mentioned at Trinity-College, the Liſt is ſet, occaſionally, ſaith they were all Fellows, Two (as there Conteſted) for the whole Number of Fellows here is 13. Now I am aſſured that four Three of them were permitted to Tarry in: And in Correſpondence to this, I find Two Turned out, Nine of which are named in the Liſt at the End of the Querela, and Three Appears from other Notices, which again exactly compleats the Number of Fellows only. To all this may be added that in the whole Liſt None (or but One) are mentioned (thoſe Two or Three which there ſeem doubtful, Otherwiſe appearing to be ſuch) under the Degree of A. M. Which is very many, at leaſt Scholars in Under-Graduates, muſt have been Recounted, had the Liſt taken notice of the Scholars alſo which were Ejected. For that they did Eject the Scholars as well as Fellows, there could have been no Queſtion made, all the Querela had been wholly ſilent in that matter. Likewiſe in Truth it is Expreſs in Telling us, that the Scholars of Houſes alſo were Turned out, as is plain in the Caſe of Queen's-College, now mentioned.

—— HUNTLEY, A. M. Fellowſhip. * Or Huxley.
If I miſtake not, he Loſt the Vicaridge as well as the Fellowſhip.

WILL. BREARLY, A. M. Fellowſhip, And Burwell, V. in Cambridgeſhire. . .

He has a Copy of Verſes in ſome of the Cambridge Poems: For I take it for granted, that he was was the same Person with him whose Name occurs in one of those Collections, and with him who was Taxor in the Year 1641.

—— TONSTALL, A. M. Fellowship. He was Living in 1706, and Beneficed in Lincolnshire.

—— POTTS, A. M. Fellowship. He died not long after his Ejection.

*Or Wilding. —— * WILDNET, A. M. Fellowship.

† See the Church of Durham, and Quare. —— † BAMBRIDGE, A. M. Fellowship.

—— MATHEWS, A. M. Fellowship.

—— WOOD, . Fellowship.

EMANUEL.

RICHARD HOLDSWORTH, D. D. Masterſhip.

See Worceſter-Cathedral.

He was ſucceeded in the Headſhip by Mr. Tuckney; whom Dr. Pierſon in his Life of this moſt worthy Divine, calls a Boſton Miniſter.

ROBERT SORESBY, B. D. Fellowſhip. He was Born in the County of York.

WILLIAM SANCROFT, . Fellowſhip.

Afterwards the moſt Reverend Arch-biſhop of Canterbury. He was Ejected for refuſing the Engagement, and preſuming that he had never taken the Covenant, or otherwiſe ſided with the Rebellion (however it was that he had the good Luck to keep his Place, till that Independent Teſt was ſet on foot) I make no Scruple to inſert him here as belonging to this Liſt.

Contin. of Supl. to GreatHiſtor-Dict. This Great and moſt Excellent Perſon was Born at Freſingfield in Suffolk, Jan. 30, 1616; and in his tender Years gave many Proofs of his future Greatneſs, in a very early Piety, and extraordinary Advances in Learning, beyond the Care and Education of his Maſters. In what Year he was ſent to this College, or became Fellow of it, I cannot find; but his Progreſs in Claſſick Learning, as well Greek as Latin, was ſo ſurprizing, that it made him very much taken notice of, and at laſt recommended him to the Knowledge of all the Learned Biſhops of the Age; Biſhop Coſin more particularly, who ſingled him out, not only for his Chaplain, but for his Friend and Confident; and beſtowed upon him, as I ſuppoſe, a Prebend of Durham; to which I find him Admitted in 1661. But before that Time he had ſpent ſome Years in France and Italy, among the moſt Learned Men of thoſe Countries, and proſecuted his Studies there with indefatigable Induſtry. Returning from thence ſome time before his Majeſty's Reſtoration, he was not long after made Maſter of his College, being Elected Aug. 14, 1662; and governn'd that Houſe with great Prudence and Affability. Much about the ſame Time he was Advanced to the Deanery of York, and in 1664. removed to that of St. Paul's; to which he had been Elected November 11, and was Inſtalled December the 9th that Year; and had been collated to the Prebend of Oxgate in the ſame Church the Second of the laſt mention'd Month; as he was likewiſe to the Arch-deaconry of Canterbury, October 7, 1668. He had likewiſe the Reftory of Houghton in the Spring, in the County Palatine of Durham. Upon his Advancement to the Deanery of St. Paul's, he fet himſelf with unwearied Diligence to Repair that Cathedral, till the dreadful Fire in 1666, imploy'd his Thoughts on the more noble Undertaking of Re building it: Towards which he gave One Thouſand Four Hundred Pounds (New View of London, p. 467,) beſides what he contributed by his Intereſt and Endeavours. He alſo Re-built the Deanery, and improv'd the Revenues of it. In 1677, he was unexpectedly Advanc'd to the Archiepiſcopal Chair of Canterbury, without the leaſt Inclination of his own. Whilſt he continu'd in that high Station, he was eminent for his Charity and Hoſpitality; and more eſpecially for the great Care which he took of the true Intereſt of the Church, by promoting Men of the beſt Lives and Learning to the chiefeſt Truſts of it. June 8, 1688, he was, with Six other BiſhopsCommitted to the Tower,for refuſing to order his Majeſty's Declaration of Indulgence, &c. to be read; but Acquitted with the reſt, the 29th of the ſame Month. After which he, with ſome other Biſhops, endeavour'd, but alas in vain! to Reclaim his Majeſty from the Errors of Popery. In December that ſame Year he concurred with the Lords, the Major of London, &c. in a Declaration to the Prince of Orange for a Free Parliament, and due Indulgence to Proteſtant Diſſenters; but when the Prince was declar'd King, he refuſed the Oaths, and was by Act of Parliament depriv'd of his Arch-biſhoprick. After which he lived in the utmoſt Retirement, at the Place of his Nativity, died there November 24, 1693, in the 77th Year of his Age, and lies Buried in the Church-Yard of that Parish. He was a Man of ſingular Prudence and Integrity, a very Wiſe and a very Good Man; and as his Name imports, One of uncorrupt Sincerity. He Endow'd the Vicaridge of Sandon in Hertfordſhire with 28 l. per An. (Chauncy, Antiq. of Hert. p. 83). He had a vaſt multitude of Papers and Collections, and therein more perhaps wrote with his own Hand, than any Man, either of this or the laſt Age, ever did write, ſaith Mr. Wharton in his Preface to the Tryal of Arch-biſhop Laud. He had made a moſt valuable Collection of Books, which he deſigned for the Library of Lambeth; but afterwards gave them to this College.

Cant. Sac. Part 1 p. 160.

To which he was Collated the 8th of Jan. 1668, and Reſigned it in the Year of our Lord Decem. 1684. As appears by an Authentick and Original Certificate now before me.

Conſecrated the 27th of Jan. 1677-8.

Cant. Sac. Part 2 p. 85.

Several of him to his Chamber ſuppoſed to be Three Sermons (which was I think, all that he Published, unleſs I am highly informed that he Publiſhed a Modern Politicks in 12°.) Printed together in 1691, in 1703. And in the Letter to a Friend, giving an Account of his Sickneſs and Death.

I find alſo Mr. Holbech, Mr. Wright, and Mr. Hall of this College, pronounced Non ſocii by the Houſe of Commons, in 1642, for being Superannuated. If that Sentence had no more of Juſtice in it, than moſt of the reſt of their Votes and Reſolutions had, theſe Gentlemen ought to be look'd on and inſerted as Ejected Fellows of this Houſe: See the Firſt of them accounted for at large in Eſſex. The Second was call'd Ezekiel, as I have been inform'd; was Born at Dinnington in Suffolk, became B. D. Rector of Touncaſton in Leiceſterſhire, and was Father to the late Excellent Lord Keeper. The laſt of them was the ſame Perſon, as I have heard, with the Sequeſtred Rector of Loughborough in Leiceſterſhire; where ſee more of him.

Via March 11. that Year. It was the 1st Prebend.

Newc. Rep Eccles Vol. I. f. 553

Gentill

Digitized by Google

Gonvil and Caius.

THOMAS BACHCRAFT, D. D. Maſterſhip.

He had not been Diſpoſſeſſed when the Querela was Publiſhed: However I find by the Copy of a Letter from the Earl of Manchester to the Sequeſtrators for the County of Cambridge, bearing Date the Firſt of Jan. 1643; that Dr. Bachcraft's Eſtate in Milton, had been put under Sequeſtration; which that Earl Requeſted the Sequeſtrators to Releaſe. What Effect the Letter had I know not: This is ſure, that ſome of his Goods alſo had been Plunder'd, which he Redeem'd again for Twenty Pounds; as I find by the Receipt for that Money, Dated February 25, 1644. About the ſame Time alſo (which was the Time when this Univerſity was under Reformation) Dr. Bachcraft was, as I take it, under Sentence of Sequeſtration from this Headſhip; but by ſome Means or other made a ſhift to continue in Poſſeſſion of it, until the Year 1649. For I find by the Original Order of the Committee of Indemnity, bearing Date the 13th of April that Year, that he was not then firſt under Proſecution; but the Order of that Committee, whereby he was at that Time Diſpoſſeſſed, is thus grounded: That he did appear to them, upon ſerious Conſideration had of the Matters alledg'd on both Sides, that the ſaid Dr. Bachcraft, had been Sequeſtred by Ordinance of Parliament; * for his ſending Money to the Aid and Aſſiſtance of the late King, againſt the Parliament; and hath otherwiſe expreſſed his Diſaffection to the Parliament. For which the Committee then Order'd and Adjudg'd him to be Diſcharged from the Maſterſhip, &c. From which 'tis manifeſt, that he was turned out as a Loyaliſt, and ſo plainly belongs to this Liſt. The Perſon who ſucceeded in the Headſhip, was one Dell, an Arm.-Chaplain; of whom Mr. Baxter, in the Page before cited, gives this Character, That he was, in his Opinion, a Perſon who neither underſtood Himſelf, nor was underſtood by Others, any farther than to be one, who took Reaſon, found Doctrine Order, and Concord, to be the intolerable Maladies of Church and State; becauſe they were the greateſt Strangers to his Mind. But to return to Dr. Bachcraft; it muſt not be concealed that, I fear, he had but even too much comply'd with the Times; which probably might be one, if not the chief Reaſon, of his keeping ſo long in Poſſeſſion of the Maſterſhip. For when his Caſe lay before the Committee of Indemnity, he ob ained a Certificate (the Original of which is before me) from ſeveral of the Leading Men of the Times, ſome of which had ſucceeded in the Places of Ejected Loyaliſts, wherein they aſſure the Committee of Dr. Bachcraft's Affection to the Parliament, and particularly of his having been formerly an Oppoſer of all Innovations; of his refuſing to ſend any of the College-Plate to his Majeſty; and of his contributing large Sums of Money to the Parliament. They withal give him the Character of a Perſon of great Honeſty and Integrity, and of a moſt Pious, Grave, and Upright Converſation.

* So that he was not caſt-out, but forc'd out for Refuſing the Engagement (the much about the Time when that Teſt was firſt rigidly impoſed) as Mr. Baxter inſtances, L. I. Part 2. P. 64, of his own Life. However it may be ſomething of the Engagement might Reverſe his Profecution.

Tookney, Love, Minſhall, Rainborow, Whichcot, Cudworth, Spurſhowe, Seaman, and ſeveral others.

——— SALTER, A. M. Fellowſhip.

The Original Inſtrument for his Ejection by the Earl of Manchester, is now before me. I ſee it was a common Form, which in all probability the Clerks had always ready by them: And Mr. Salter's Name being in a different Hand from that of his Succeſſor's, which is in the Hand of the Form, one would be tempted to think, that any Fellow who could procure a Blank from the Earl (or perchance the Secretary, for a Sum of Money) might go to Cambridge himſelf, inſert whoſe Name he pleaſed in the Vacancy, and ſo turn him out, and poſſeſs the Place. This Succeſſor was one Alex. Gibſon, who was Examined and Approved by the Aſſembly at Weſtminſter, purſuant to a Power lodg'd in them for ſuch Purpoſes. Nor muſt it be forgotten, that this Gibſon was a Scotchman, and conſequently thruſt upon the College, in manifeſt Contradiction of the Statutes; which admit of none but Natives of the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk. This Inſtrument for the Ejection of Mr. Salter, bears Date February 15, 1644.

*RICHARD LONDON, A. M. Fellowſhip.

*Mr. McColebrand, Mr. Hallyburton, and Mr. Pickarel, were all Ejected 19 die E. of March. April 3, 1644.

He was at that Time abſent upon a Travelling Fellowſhip, and Studying Phyſick.

RICHARD WATSON, A. M. Fellowſhip. And Maſterſhip of the Free-School in Cambridge. . . . . . }

In 1642, he had Preach'd a Sermon at St. Mary's, touching Schiſm; which gave ſuch Offence to the Godly of thoſe Times, that when the Reformation of this Univerſity came on, they took care to Diſpoſeſs him of both his Fellowſhip and School. After which, to avoid their Barbarities, he fled into France, where he was Patronized by Sir Richard Brown, and was one of thoſe Engliſh Divines, who did many times argue with the contrary Party, concerning the Viſibility of their Church. He was ſome time alſo Chaplain to the Lord Hopton. In 1661, he returned to England, and became Chaplain to the Duke of York, Doctor of Divinity, Rector of Peaſe in Wiltſhire, Prebendary, firſt of Warminſter, and then of Bitton, in the Church of Saliſbury; and died in 1684. He was a Learned Man, but Vain and Conceited; and hath Publiſhed ſeveral Things, the Account of which ſee in Wood. Being a moſt zealous Favourer of the Church of England, the Party Proſecuted him accordingly; inſomuch that he was accounted one of the prime Sufferers of the Engliſh Clergy beyond the Seas.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 825. See alſo Vol I. p. 902.

Romaniſts.

The former of theſe March 29, 1666, per Cliff. Rich Hyde, and Returning it, was ſucceeded Jan 16, 1671, by Robert Hawkins. The Latter Dr. remember the 11th laſt mentioned Year, on the Death of Thomas Hill, in which he was ſucceeded by Benjamin Johnſon, Jan. 22, 1684. on his own Death.

CHARLES SCARBOROUGH, A. M. Fellowſhip.

After his Ejection from this College he retir'd to Oxford, where he was created M. D. the 23d of June 1646. In the Chancellour's Letters for which Purpoſe, it is ſaid, That he was ſpoiled of his Library in the beginning of theſe Troubles, and afterwards, for his Conſcience, deprived of his Fellowſhip. At the ſame Time alſo he had a Teſtimonial from the great Dr. Harvey, of his being well Learned in Phyſick, Philoſophy, and Mathematicks. He reſided at that Time in Merton-College, where he was aſſiſting to the Learned Dr. Harvey before-named, in writing his Book De Generatione Animalium. Afterwards he became Celebrated for his great Learning and Skill in Anatomy, one of the College of Phyſicians, Principal Phyſician to his Majeſty King Charles II. (who Knighted him) and to the Duke of York, in whoſe Service he continued after that Prince came to the Throne. He was also Physician to the Tower, and at length to his Majesty King William. He was the first that introduced Geometrical and Mechanical Speculations into Anatomy; being admirably well skilled in the Mathematicks; upon which Account he receiv'd this Character from the famous Mr. Oughtred; Suaviſſimis Moribus perſpicatiſſimaque Ingenio vir; cujus tanta eſt in Matheſi ſolertia, & fupiſ fidem Felix tenaxque memoria; ut omnes Euclidis, Archimedis, aliorumque nonnullorum ex Antiquis, Propoſitiones recitare ordine, & in uſum poſſerre, potis ſit, &c. I ſhall only add, that he was alſo a very excellent Grammarian; as appears by a Performance of that kind which he drew up.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 838. See Mr. Cowley's Pindarick to him.

Digitized by Google

The few Things which are Published ſeem in Wood.

ANTH. HALLIBURTON, A. M. Fellowſhip.

He hath a Copy of Verſes Extant in ſome of the Cambridge Poems.

——— COLEBRAND, A. M. Fellowſhip.

New Rep. Eccleſ Vol. I. p. 912.

One Richard Colebrand of this Univerſity, was, in the Year 1660, Dean and Rector of Bocking in Eſſex; September 22, 1673, he was made a Prebendary of Weſtminſter, and died the Year following.

——— BUXTON, A. M. Fellowſhip.

One William Buxton of this Houſe, and doubtleſs the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, was Taxor in 1639.

——— PICKAREL, A. M. Fellowſhip.

ROBERT SHERRINGHAM, A. M. Fellowſhip.

His Name occurs not in the Liſt at the end of the Querela; but Wood ſaith, that he was Ejected, or at leaſt left his Fellowſhip in * 1643. And that his quitting the College, was in Effect, tho' not in Form, an Ejection, appears beyond Contradiction, by his being Reſtor'd in 1660.

* But that is certainly a Miſtake; for I find him Proctor of this Univerſity in 1644.

He was, as Wood thinks, a Native of the County of Cambridge. When he quitted the Univerſity, he retired firſt to London, and thence to Holland; where he taught the Hebrew and Arabick Tongues. Afterwards he was Re-inſtated in his Fellowſhip, and lived in a very retired and ſtudious Condition; and died in the College in 1677. He was a moſt excellent Linguiſt, eſpecially for the Oriental and Gothick Languages; as alſo admirably well verſ'd in the Original Antiquities of the Engliſh Nation; which fully appears in his Book De Anglorum Gentis Origine.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 882.

What other Learned Works he Publiſhed ſee in Wood.

JESUS.

RICH. STERNE, D. D. Maſterſhip. } And Yeovilton, R. in Somerſetſhire. . . .

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 356.

He was Born at Manſfield in Nottinghamſhire, but Deſcended from a Suffolk Family; had been Scholar of Trinity-College, and Fellow of Chriſt's or Corpus Chriſti, (I am not certain which) in this Univerſity. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was very active in ſending the Cambridge Plate to his Majeſty; for which he (together with Dr. Beale Maſter of St. John's, and Dr. Martin Maſter of Queen's) was by Cromwell (who had with ſome Parties of Soldiers ſurrounded the ſeveral Chapels, whilſt the Scholars were at Prayers) ſeiz'd and ' carried in Triumph to ' London; and tho' there was an expreſs Order ' from the Lords Houſe, for their Impriſonment ' in the Tower, which met them at Tottenham-High-Croſs (wherein notwithſtanding there was ' no Crime expreſſed) yet were they led Captive ' through Bartholomew-Fair, and ſo as far as Temple-Bar, and back through the City to Priſon in the Tower; on purpoſe that they might be Hooted at, ' or Ston'd by the Rabble-Rout. Since which Time, ' now above Three Years together (ſays an Account ' hereof then written) they have been hurried up and ' down from one Priſon to another, at exceſſive and ' unreaſonable Charges and Fees exacted from ' them, far beyond their Abilities to detray; having ' all their Goods Plunder'd, and their Maſterſhips and Livings taken from them, which ſhould ' preſerve them from Famiſhing. And tho' in ' all this Time there was never any Accuſation ' brought, much leſs proved againſt any of ' them, yet have they ſuffered intolerable Impriſonment ever ſince, both by Land and Water; eſpecially that in the Ship; where for ' Ten Days together, they (with many other ' Gentlemen of great Rank) were kept under ' Decks, without Liberty to come to breath in the ' common Air, or to eaſe Nature, except at the ' Courteſie of the rude Sailors, which oftentimes was denied them: In which Condition ' they were more like Gally-Slaves than Free-born Subjects, and Men of ſuch Quality and ' Condition; and had been ſo indeed, might ' ſome have had their Wills, who were bargaining with the Merchants to ſell them to Algiers, ' or as bad a Place, as hath been ſince notoriouſly known, upon no falſe or fraudulent Information. Beſides which, there are ſome other Circumſtances, which reuder'd the Uſage of Dr. Sterne, and his Fellow Sufferers, in a peculiar manner Barbarous and Inhuman. For when they were firſt ſeiz'd, they were uſed with all poſſible Scorn and Contempt; (Cromwell was more particularly Inſolent towards them) and when one of them deſired a little Time to put up ſome Linnen, Cromwell told him, That it was not in his Commiſſion. In the Villages as they paſſed from Cambridge to London, The People were called by ſome of their Agents, to come and Aſſiſt and Revile them: They were alſo led leiſurely through the midſt of Bartholomew-Fair; as they paſſed along, they were entertained with Exclamations, Reproaches, Scorns, and Curſes; and it was a great Providence, conſidering the Prejudice which the People had to them, that they found no worſe Uſage. After their Confinement, tho' they often Petitioned to be heard, yet they could never obtain either a Trial, or their Liberty. They had been a full Year under Reſtraint in other Priſons, when they were at length, Friday, Auguſt 11, 1643, by Order of the Parliament, ſent on Board the Ship; the Name of which was the Proſperous Sailor, then lying at Wapping. As they went to Billingſgate to take Water, a Fellow was like to have been committed for ſaying, that they look'd like Honeſt Men. But another of the true Stamp, ' Looking theſe Grave, ' Learned Divines in the Face, Reviled them, ' ſaying, That they did not look like Chriſtians; ' and pray'd, That they might break their Necks, ' as they went down the Stairs to take Water. ' This harſh Uſage they found by Land; but yet ' they found far worſe by Water. Being come ' on Shipboard, they were inſtantly put under Hatches, ' where the Decks were ſo

Querel Cantab. p. 5, 6.

Wood, Mem. p. 436.

Pierce's Address to Bart. Grat. Relig. p. 144, 145.

See alſo Declar. of the Parliam. at Oxon. Mar. 19, 1643.

A Manuſcript Life of Dr. John Barwick (wrote by his Brother Dr. Peter Barwick) in St. John's College Library.

Digitized by Google

Library in Cambridge, relates the Bar among Dregs of many Reverend Persons in their Words: Sine quâ Academicus à Deportatione, vel Relegatione, ad Insulas Americanas, aut etiam ad Barbaros Turcas, metuebant. Hoc enim, tunc temporis, Gehennæ Beio, Edvardo Marino, & Richardo Nortono, Regi quinto Virginiæ & quatuor Academiæ Cantabrigiensis Rectoribus, Pestilentia mentabant. Hos enim omnes, cum multis aliis Theologis Gravissimis, sub Navigii Tabulatis, in duras Thamisi Cæpivos detinebant, Squalore, Fame & Vigiliis perpetuis enecturi, & per infidos Nautas indignis Ludibriis, quàm quavis vilissima mancipiis, Immò quam in infames Aliegis Latrocinii, aut etiam Parricidii, Reis tenerentur. Hos omnes, tunc temporis, Regimus, quidam è Senatoribus Academicis Primi, pro Vermis rosum Mercatoribus exponerent, vendidereque procidibus, si Emporem reperissent.

* Which can on the same Terms with that against Dr. Collins be at Peterhouse in this University.

† Ordering the Scholars to obey him, the not admitted according to the Statutes, because the Statutes themselves, said he, were void Reformation.

‡ For not having subscribed the Covenant. (with a Copy of Part of this Register of this College, which I have seen before me; but I judge that must needs be a Mistake

He gave 1810 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral. N. View of London, p. 467. Lloyd. Mem. p. 516. What few Things he published, see in Wood.

He was succeeded, Oct. 3, 1644, by Th. Langley. A. M. a Native of Cheshire.

He was succeeded in his Fellowship by Fred. Tilney, A. M. a Suffolk Man. Oct. 3, 1644.

* Or D. D.

† Which I take to be the same as Sub-

Master only, and it may be the Senior Fellow is so of Course.

‡ Wm. Apt by the E. of Manchester.

One Tho. Robinson of this House, was Tutor in 1644.

His Successor in the Fellowship was Rob. Brantingh. A. B. a Suffolk Man, who was admitted May 3, 1645.

* This I take to be the Person, who in the List at the End of Querela, is first Hanford, of 100, Mr. Hanson also may be accounted as Another Ejected Fellow of this House.

He was succeeded in Sept. 1644, by Samuel Bantoft, A. B. a Suffolk Man, Oct. 3, 1644.

He

Low, that they could not stand upright; and yet were denied Seats to sit on, or to much as a Burthen of Straw to lye on. Into this Little Ease, in a small Ship, they crowd no less than 80 Prisoners of Quality; and that they might stifle one another, having no more Breath than what they suck'd from one another's Mouth, most maliciously and (Certainly) to a Murtherous Intent, they stop up all the small Augur-Holes, and all other Inlets which might relieve them with Fresh Air. An Act of such horrid Barbarism, that nor Age, nor Story, nor Rebellion can Parallel! Whilst Dr. Sterne thus continu'd in Durance, and if I do not mistake the Day, Mar. 13, 1645, he was by a * Warrant from the Earl of Manchester, Ejected from the Mastership, and one Mr. Young substituted in his Room; whom, that Earl coming in Person to the College-Chapel put into the Master's Seat, and with some other † Formalities gave him the Investiture of this Headship, April 12, 1644: Of which he was afterwards himself Dispossess'd, Nov. 14, 1650, for Refusing the ‡ Engagement. After this Dr. Sterne was Remov'd from the Ship, but still kept under Confinement in some other Prison: Only when the Blessed Martyr'd Arch-bishop (who the Chaplain he was) suffer'd on Tower-Hill, he was allow'd to attend him on the Scaffold, and Perform the Last Offices of Piety about him. At length, having lost all he had, and Suffered to the last Degree for his Loyalty, he was permitted to have his Liberty. After which he liv'd Obscurely until the Restoration; upon which he became Bishop of Carlisle, and in 1664, was from thence Translated to the Archiepiscopal See of York; in Possession of which he died in 1683, in the 87th Year of his Age. He was a Man of Eminent Worth and Abilities, a Person of Unshaken Loyalty, and had the Honour to assist in the Noble Undertaking of the Polyglot.

Stephen Hall, B. D. Fellowship.
See Ely-Cathedral.

Thomas Anscell, B.D. Fellowship.
And Gilden-Morden, V. in Cambridgeshire.

He was Born at Barfield in the County of Bedford, and Deprived of both his Fellowship and Vicaridge, in the Year 1644. He lived to see the Restoration; and in 1660, became D. D. At which time he was Restor'd, as I presume, to his Preferments.

Robert Clarkson, * B. D. Fellowship.

He was Born in Northumberland. In 1639, he became Vicar of Whittlesford in Cambridgeshire. Whether he lost That, or not, in the Confusions, I cannot tell; but this is sure, that in 1644, he was Turned out of his Fellowship.

Charles Bussey, B. D. Fellowship.

He was Born in Nottinghamshire, sent first to Pembroke-Hall in this University, and from thence Elected Fellow of this House. He had also the Vicaridge of All-Saints in Cambridge, which he Obtained in the Year 1629: And to me 'tis not improbable (but quære) that he Lost it, when he lost his Fellowship, in 1644. In 1660, he was Restored, and the Year following Preferred to the Rectory of Hadleton in Cambridgeshire. The same Year he became † President of this College, and Died the Year following.

Robert Blakestone, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Native of the Bishoprick of Durham; and had been Vicar successively of Gilden-Morden, and Whittlesford in this County. Sometime before the Rebellion, he had also the Rectory of Brentfield in Norfolk; whether he was Sequestred from thence or not, I am not inform'd. This is certain, that in † 1644, he was Turn'd out of his Fellowship, and Restored in 1660; in which Year also he became Rector of Raton in his Native County of Durham; to which he was Presented by Dr. Cosin, the most Learned and Worthy Bishop of that Diocese.

——— Robinson, A. M. Fellowship.

Of whom I know nothing more, but that he was certainly Turn'd out.

Henry Beale, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Northamptonshire Man, and Ejected in 1644.

John Taylor, A. M. Fellowship.

He was the Son of Dr. Richard Taylor, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of St. Paul's, and Born at Wesmill in Hertfordshire; of which Living his Father was Rector. After he was Turned out, he Repair'd to his Majesty at Oxford, where he Took up Arms for him, was in the Castle of Hull when it was Besieged by the Parliament, and a Captain at the Siege of Colchester. He Surviv'd the Restoration many Years, and in 1669, succeeded his Father in the Rectory of his Native Parish.

Symon * Harrison, A. M. Fellowship.

He was a Native of the County of Derby, Enter'd first at Corpus Christi College in this University, and thence Elected into this Society. He also was Ejected with the rest of the Fellows of this House in the Year 1644.

Edmond Lincolne, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Born in Lincolnshire, Enter'd first at Magdalen-College in this University, and from thence Chosen to a Fellowship of this College, but Turn'd out in 1644, with the other Loyalists of this House.

Anthony Green, A. M. Fellowship.

He

Digitized by Google

He was a Native of the County of Kent; was first of Christ-College, and afterwards Elected Fellow of this House. It was the Fatal Year 1644, in which he also was Turned out.

His Successor was one Will. Garrard, A. B. who was admitted Oct. 1, 1644

RICHARD MASON, A. M. Fellowship.

Feb 12, succeeding his Predecessor, he was succeeded by T. Young, A.M. a Native of the County of Essex.

He was Born in Suffolk, Enter'd first at Caspus Christi College, afterwards, by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, nominated to a Scholarship in this House, and Dispossessed by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 8, 1644. He survived the Restoration, and in the Year 1660, became M. D.

CHARLES FOTHERBY, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Born in Kent; was nearly Related to Sir John Robinson the Lieutenant of the Tower, and Nephew to the Renowned Arch-bishop Laud; on whose Recommendation he was Elected Fellow of this House; but Swept away again by the common Calamity in 1644; although he is not mention'd in the Querela. One of the Suffering Prebendaries of Exeter (which Church see) bears both these Names. Quere.

—— WALKER, A. M. Fellowship.

He was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644; and Oct. 19, following, was succeeded by William Whitfield, A. M. a Northamptonshire Man.

—— SHORT, A. M. Fellowship.

Succeeded May 5, 1645, by Tho. Woodcock, A. B. a Rutlandshire Man.

Quere if there was not one Mr. Tilney Ejected from this College for Refusing the Engagement.

Prayer may be the same Gentleman that succeeded Mr. Antscell.

In a Transcript which I have, of the Proceedings of the Earl of Manchester in this University, I find one Malker Turned out of this College: But I apprehend it to be a Miſtake of the Transcriber, who miſ-read it for Mr. * Walker laſt mentioned; if not, Mr. Malker alſo muſt be inſerted in the Liſt of this College.

* For if the Original was in Court-Hand (as it was improbable) two W in ſome lines of it doth very little differ from the M, and the t for the r, is a very Obvious Miſtake.

St. JOHN'S.

WILLIAM BEALE, D.D. Maſterſhip, Deanery of Ely, ... Cottingham, R. And Paul's-Pury, R. } in Northamptonſhire.

See the Ch. of Ely.

He was Vice-Chancellour in the Year 1634.

He was firſt of Pembroke-Hall in this University. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion he was very Active in Gathering the University Plate for his Majeſty's Service, and conveying it to him: For which (as alſo on account of the Eſteem which Arch-biſhop Laud had for him, and the Favour ſhewn him by that Great Prelate) he became in a peculiar manner Obnoxious to the Rage of the Party; and accordingly ſuffered under them to a very High Degree. For he was not only Plundered and Hurried away Priſoner to London, with Dr. * Sterne, &c. before-mentioned; but underwent the ſame Barbarous Uſage (of which I have before given an Account) with That Dr. and Dr. Martin of Queen's. His Confinement in ſeveral Priſons, laſted about Three Years: During ſome Part of which Time he was almoſt Starved; and was at laſt ſet at Liberty by an Exchange; but had before been turned out of the Maſterſhip of this College. After he was thus got out of Cuſtody, he betook himſelf to his Majeſty at Oxford, became Chaplain to him, and one of the Preachers before the Court there; but upon the declining of the King's Cauſe, he fled beyond the Seas, * where he died Heart-broken, about the Year 1651. He always feared the King's Murther, and endeavoured, in vain, to diſſuade the moderate Part of the other Side from it: And tho' the Perpetration of that Villany, was what chiefly occaſioned the exceſſive Grief, which haſten'd his End; yet he had a Perſuaſion of the Reſtoration, which he intimated at the Time of his Death. He was a † Perſon of ſuch eminent Worth and Abilities, as rendered him above the reach of Commendation. He was ſucceeded in his Maſterſhip, at the Time of the Sequeſtration, by Mr. Arrowſmith.

The Inſtrument for the Election of Dr. Beale from the Maſterſhip, by the Earl of Manchester, bears Date March 11, 1643, and runs in the ſame Terms with that againſt Dr. Colton, which ſee at Peter-Houſe.

* Viz. at Madrid, in the Family of Sir Edward Hyde; to whom, and the Lord Cottington, he had been Chaplain in his Exile.

† Querel. Cantab. p. 5.

THOMAS THORNTON, B. D. Fellowſhip. And The Logick-Lecturer's-Place. . . . . }

He was, at that Time, Preſident of the College; read the Publick Logick Lecture, Founded by the Lord Maynard, and received the Salary ſeveral Years (viz. 30 l. per Ann.) till the Troubles coming on, a ſtop was put to the Payment of it.

WILLIAM BODURDA, B. D. Fellowſhip.

He was a Welchman, and Chaplain to Biſhop Williams.

AMIAS RIDDINGE, B. D. Fellowſhip.

He was a Native of the Town of Cambridge, Son to Mr. Riddinge, one of the Eſquire Bedells; had been one of the * Proctors of the University; was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April the 8th 1644, and Reſtored at length by a Writ from the † King's-Bench.

* Viz. in 1631, and Taxor in 1634.

† Viz. in 1660, if I miſtake not. At which Time ſeveral Others alſo in this Univerſity, were, as I apprehend, Reſtored in the ſame Manner.

THOMAS TERWHITTE, B. D. Fellowſhip.

He was Born of an Ancient Family in Lincolnſhire; was ſome time one of the Proctors of this Univerſity; was in Exile, and afterwards Reſtored in the ſame manner with Mr. Riddinge.

FRANCIS BLECHYNDEN, B. D. Fellowſhip.

He was, as I ſuppoſe, a Kentiſh-man by Birth.

THOMAS MASON, B. D. Fellowſhip.

He was a Native of the County of Middleſex.

RICHARD BULKLEY, B. D. Fellowſhip.

He was Born in the Iſle of Anglesey.

One Richard Buckly (who was alſo Bedell the ſame Year, in which this S. P. was) Inſtalled Taxor in 1636.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 729.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 655.

Quer. Cant.

* Whom ſee at Jeſus-Col.

JOHN

Digitized by Google

JOHN AMBROSE, B. D. Fellowship.
He was Born in Lancashire; was in Arms for the King, liv'd to be Restor'd by a Writ from the King's-Bench, died in his Fellowship, and was a considerable Benefactor to the College.

JOHN GREENHALGH, B.D. Fellowship.

* In 1649 He had been one of the * Proctors of the University; was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644, and Married before the Restoration.

RICHARD COOPER, B. D. Fellowship.
He was a Yorkshire Man by Birth.

† I mistake if this be not the Person, whom the List at the end of Querela, calls Potter. † JOHN PETTOR, B. D. Fellowship.
He was a Native of the County of Middlesex, was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644, and died soon after. He was succeeded by Mr. John Pawson, who had been barbarously used, and Ejected from Sidney-College: Notwithstanding which, he afterwards accepted of this Fellowship from the Earl of Manchester.

* Some Notices which I have receiv'd, seem to make him the same Person with Mr. Nehemiah Rogers, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Ely. * WILLIAM ROGERS, B.D. Fellowship.
He was Born in Flintshire.

RICHARD WRENCH, B. D. Fellowship.
He was a Native of the City of Chester, Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644; and finding a worthy Good Man in his Fellowship on the Restoration, would not give him any Disturbance. He was afterwards Prebendary of Durham, and Rector of Bolden in that County.

WILLIAM LACY, B. D. Fellowship.
He was a Yorkshire Man by Birth, went into the Army after his Ejection, was Chaplain to Prince Rupert, and Restored by a Warrant from the Earl of Manchester, which was Dated Aug. 27, 1660, and executed November the 2d following. He was also D. D. and by some of the Savile Family, preferred to a rich Living in Yorkshire, where he died.

WILLIAM RICHARDSON, A. M. Fellowship.
He was Born in the County-Palatine of Durham.

JOHN WHITTINGHAM, A. M. Fellowship.
By the E. of Manchester. He was a Herefordshire Man, and Ejected April 8, 1644.

GEO. SPOONER, A. M. Fellowship.
He was Born in that Part of Yorkshire which is called Richmondshire. He married during his Ejection, as I apprehend, and was at length Beneficed in the County of Durham. He had been Ejected April 8, 1644, by the E. of Manchester.

WILLIAM BULLOCK, A. M. Fellowship.
The Querela Cantab. saith that one Mr. John Bullock of this College, and probably a Relation to this Gentleman, was thrown into Prison for not Covenant.
He was Born of a good Family in Derbyshire; and an Estate falling to him by the Death either of his Father or Brother, he was well Provided for. The Warrant for his Ejection by the Earl of Manchester, bore Date April 8, 1644.
being Old enough to take the

JOHN OTWAYE, A. M. Fellowship. Querel. Cantab. p. 12
He was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, March 15, 1643, for Refusing to take the Solemn League and Covenant, and other Misdemeanors; which are the Words of the Warrant for his Ejection. Not any one particular of those Misdemeanors is mentioned in it: Possibly one of them was, what I further find of him, That he had taken up Arms for his Majesty, and was otherwise very serviceable to him; as appears from the frequent mention of him in the Manuscript Life of Dr. Barwick. Upon the King's Return he was Knighted, was Temporal-Chancellour to the Bishop of Durham, having Studied the Law, and left a fair Estate to his Two Sons, by different Venters.

ROGER JONES, A. M. Fellowship.
He was a Native of the County of Salop, and Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April the 8th, 1644.

WILLIAM BARWICK, A. M. Fellowship.
He was Born in Suffolk.

WILLIAM MORGAN, A. M. Fellowship.
He was Born in Monmouthshire.

HUMPH. NEALE, A. M. Fellowship.
He was a Native of the County of Southampton.

HENRY HATTON, A. M. Fellowship.
He was a Northamptonshire Man.

JOHN CLEAVELAND, A. M. Fellowship.
He was Born at Hinkley in Leicestershire, entred first at Christ's-College in this University, and from thence soon after Elected to a Fellowship in this House; where he was justly esteem'd the Delight and Ornament of it. Upon the breaking out of the Civil War, he appeared a Champion in Verse for his Majesty's Cause, and was the first that did so; for which he was afterwards turned out of his Fellowship. Whereupon he retired to his Majesty then at Oxford, and was had in great Esteem by the Court: From thence he went to Newark upon Trent, Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 891. Life Prefix'd to his Poems. And utterly undone, as appears by Lloyd, Mem. p. 618.
where he met with the same Esteem and Respect that he had at Oxford, and was, by Sir Edward Willis, Governor of that Garrison, made Judge-Advocate. In this Place he continued till the Surrender of it to the Parliament: After which he was Imprisoned at Tamworth *, where continuing in a lingering Condition, and with little Hopes of Relief, he drew up that Bright and Gallant Address to Cromwell (Published among his Works) which so much Moved and Affected

The Warrant for his Ejection was Signed by the Earl of March Apr. 1644. * Norwich, saith Lloyd.

Digitized by Google

Affected the Usurper, as to ord. his Liberty: But alas when it was too late! for he had contracted such a Weakness and Diſorder in Priſon, as ſoon after brought him to his Grave; which was in the Year 1658. He was Univerſally Lamented, as he had been B loved, by the Loyaliſts. His Funeral-Sermon was Preached by his Friend Mr. (afterwards Biſhop) Pearſon.

What he Wrote ſee in Wood.

JOHN BARWICK, A.M. Fellowſhip.
See Durham-Cathedral.

JOHN BOTELER, A.M. Fellowſhip.
He was Born of a good Family in Bedfordſhire, and Incorporated A.M. at Oxford, in the Year 1644.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 774. ſaith ſo. One John Butler was D. D. Canon of Windſor, and died in 1682.

EDWARD WATTS, A.M. Fellowſhip.
He was a Hertfordſhire Man.

SAMUEL DRAKE, A.M. Fellowſhip.
He was Born in Yorkſhire, Ejected for Refuſing the Covenant, and was in Arms for his Majeſty at Newark. After the Reſtoration he became Vicar of Pontefract in his Native Country, and was ſucceeded in it by his Son, the very worthy Mr. F. Drake; to whoſe Aſſiſtance in this Undertaking, I owe much more than can be repaid him by this Acknowledgment, tho' the moſt Publick one that I am capable of making him.

See the Note at Mr. Poſtet of Clare-Hall. I have ſome Reaſon to think, that the Three former of theſe had never taken the Covenant, or otherwiſe complied with the Times; nor do I know any Thing of that Kind concerning the Fourth, who, to Note that by the Way, was one of the many Converts from Popery, made by Arch-biſhop Laud. See Heylin's Life of Laud, p. 486

There were alſo Ejected from this College, on account of the Engagement, Allen Henman, A. M. Robert Clarke, B. D. Tho. Wombwell, B. D. and Mr. Topping. The Three former lived to be Reſtored in 1660. If all, or any of theſe, had preſerved themſelves in their Fellowſhips until the Time that the Engagement Diſpoſſeſſed them, without taking the Covenant, or otherwiſe ſiding with the Rebellion (which Quere) then they belong to this Liſt, and muſt be ranked with the other Ejected Loyaliſts.

KING's.

SAMUEL COLLINS, D.D.
Provoſtſhip,
* Regius Profeſſorſhip of Divinity, . . .
Prebend of the 7th Stall in the Church of Ely, ...
Braintree, R. in Eſſex, ...
And Fenny-Ditton, R. in Cambridgeſhire.

* He was ſome Time after Reſtored to the Profeſſorſhip, becauſe, ſaith the Querela, None of them'ſelves were able to diſcharge it.

† In Baton, ſaith Fuller, Worthies, Ath. Vol. I. p. 113.

‡ Oxf. Mem.

§ Querela Cant. tab. p. 6.

Fuller's Worthies Buckinghamſhire.

Tho. Lloyd ſaith in 1622

He was Born in † Buckinghamſhire, and was the Son of Mr. Baldwyn Collins, whom Queen Elizabeth for his great Piety and Charity, uſed to call Father Collins. He was Educated in Grammar-Learning at Eaton, gave great Hopes, whilſt at that School, of becoming a very Eminent Man, and was Elected from thence to King's-College in 1591. Of which he was choſen Fellow in Oppoſition to Six Competitors, who made an extraordinary Appearance; and at that Time Dr. Goad the Provoſt, clapping his Hands on Collins's Head, ſaid, This is my Child, that if he live ſhall be my Heir and Succeſſor. Feb. 15, 1610. He was Admitted to the Rectory of Braintree: In 1615, he was choſen Provoſt of this College, and Two Years after put into the Regius-Profeſſor's Chair. When the Rebellion began, he adhered faithfully to the Royal Cauſe, for which he was Diſpoſſeſſed of all the above-named Preferments, more particularly of his Provoſtſhip in the Year 1645: In which he was then ſucceeded by Mr. (afterwards Dr.) * Woichcot. The Reaſons aſſigned for Depriving him of his Living of Fenny-Ditton, were his Obſerving the Ceremonies, ſending malignant Preachers amongſt them, Non-Reſidence, and ſcandalous Doctrine. This was done by the Earl of Manchester in 1643. After which he underwent greater Miſeries; for he was long Impriſoned, Plunder'd alſo, if I miſtake not, and otherwiſe ill uſed by the Party. He died in the Year 1651, at Cambridge, where he had lived a retired Life after his Sequeſtration. When the Reformers had ſtrip't him of all but his Profeſſorſhip, he uſed pleaſantly to ſay, that They might, if they pleaſed, take his Profeſſorſhip; but he would never take their Covenant. He had Poſſeſſed the Chair almoſt Thirty Years, when they firſt thought fit to turn him out of it; and had ſo much merited the Reputation of a great Scholar, that his Name was Famous, and his Perſon Deſirable, in every Proteſtant Univerſity in Chriſtendom. He had once a Tender made him of the Biſhoprick of Briſtol, which he refuſed.

* He conſented that he ſhould have a Yearly Stipend paid him out of the common Dividend allotted to the Provoſt, which was continued to the Time of his Death. Dr. Whichcot (for ſuch he was when he firſt left off a Legacy of 100 l. to Sir John Collins, the Son of this Excellent Doctor. If he intended it as Reſtitution, it ſerves only to condemn him, for he had received very many Hundred Pounds of the Old Gentleman's, and was able to have Reſtored the whole Sum Entire from the Dr. Whichcot by Dr. Tillotſon.

Querel. Cantab. p. 6. See an Account of ſome Things which he wrote in Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p 318.

HENRY EDMONDS, A.M. Fellowſhip.
Of whom I know nothing more, ſave that he was Elected from Eaton to this College in 1627.

CHARLES MASON, A.M. Fellowſhip.

He was Elected to this College from Eaton-School in the Year 1630, or 1631; was afterwards Tripos, Prævaricator, Created D. D. at Oxford, November 1, 1642, Preſented to the Rectory of Stowre-Provoſt in Dorſetſhire, Admitted to the Rectory of St. Mary-Woolchurch in 1661, made Prebendary of St. Paul's in 1663, collated to the Rectory of St. Peter's-Poor in 1669, died in 1677, and hath Two or Three Sermons extant. One Charles Maſon (who was, as I make no queſtion, the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer) had the Prebend of Bemiſter Prima, in the Church of Salisbury, June 13, 1671, on the Death of Thomas Bowerman, if I miſtake not; and was ſucceeded in it on his own Death, as I likewiſe gueſs, by John Fielding, Feb. 23, 1677, Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 711. Hiſt. Reb. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 201.

Mr. Newcourt makes no Scruple to affirm, that it was this Charles Maſon who was created D. D. at the ſame Time, &c. altho' Wood, who he quotes for it, is not poſitive as to that Matter. I ſuppoſe Mr. Newcourt did not overlook that Doubt of Wood's. Dr. Tillotſon, in his Funeral Sermon for Dr. Whichcot, ſaith, That the College after Mr. Maſon's Eviction, beſtowed upon him a good Living. If he meant, as I ſuppoſe he did, the Rectory of Stowre-Provoſt, that is far enough from being a good One; for I have been informed, that it is not worth above 80 l. a Year. However Quere whether the Times allowed him to keep even That.

WILL. FRANKLYN, A.M. Fellowſhip.

Some Years after he Apoſtatized, took the Covenant, and was Reſtored by the Parliament Feb. 21, 1647: So that he ſcarce deſerveth a Place in this Liſt.

CHRISTOPHER WASE, A.B. Fellowſhip.

He was Born at Hackney near London, Elected to this College from Eaton-School in 1645; took one Degree, and was then turned out of the College for Publishing the Translation of Electra, and delivering a feigned Letter from the King to Dr. Collins. He afterwards married, and was some time School-master of Dedham in Essex, as also at Tunbridge in Kent; was at length chosen Superior Beadle of Law, and Archi-typographer to the University of Oxford, Publish'd a Dictionary, and several other Things, but when he died I know not.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 111.

J. Anstey, A. M. Fellowship. He was Elected to this College from Eaton-School, in the Year 1628.

Barnaby Barlow, A. M. Fellowship. Lloyd seems to make Mr. John Pearson (afterwards the most Learned Bishop of Chester) one of the Ejected Fellows of this House; but I doubt it is a Mistake. Quære. See Salisbury-Church.

Mem. p. 414. The Reason why there were so few of the Fellows Ejected from this College was, that Dr. Whichcot the new Provost, as he had never taken the Covenant himself, so by the particular Friendship which he had with some of the chief of the Visitors, persuaded to have the greatest Part of the Fellows of the College exempted from that Imposition, and preserved them in their Places. Dr. Tillotson's Sermon at the Funeral of Dr. Whichcot.

Katharine-Hall.

Ralph Brownrigg, D. D. Mastership.

He was succeeded by Mr. Spurstow, who himself afterwards lost the Mastership for refusing the Engagement. See Exeter-Cathedral.

The List at the end of Querela, saith, that not one besides of this House was turned out; but I am otherwise informed, that Five of the Six Fellows of this Hall were Dispossessed. Possibly it might be on occasion of the Engagement; and if so, they belong not to this List; unless they had, home to that Time, preserved their Fidelity to his Majesty, and their Fellowships together; of which Quære.

Magdalen.

Edward Rainbow, D. D. Mastership.

He had continued Unejected at the Time when the Querela was Publish'd; but in the Year 1650, was turned out, for Refusing the Engagement: And since, if I apprehend aright, he had never taken the Covenant (tho' possibly in some other Things, he might have comply'd with the Times more than became him) I make no Scruple to set him down as one who suffered under the Usurpations of those Times.

See p. 42. and 44. of his Life.

Life Paſſim. See also his Funeral Sermon. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 683.

He was Son of Thomas Rainbow, Rector of Bliton in Lincolnshire, Born there April 20, 1608, enter'd first at Corpus-Christi-College in Oxford, and from thence Removed to this College, where he became successively Scholar, * Fellow, a noted Tutor, and at length, in 1642, Master of it; but, as is before said, was Dispossessed in 1650; at which Time John Sadler, A. M. Elect; one of the Masters in Chancery, was by Vertue of an Order of Parliament, dated September 19, that Year, and by Letters under the Seal of the Earl of Suffolk, Admitted in his room. This Gentleman had been formerly of Emanuel College, and was, as I have been informed, a very Insignificant Man.

* Some time before he became Fellow of this College, he had taught a School at Kirton near his Native Place, and had been Curate at the Savoy. He was also sometimes Household Chaplain to the Earl of Suffolk. Trial and Troubles of Archbishop Laud, p. 360. Where see a Complaint of that Archbishop's, which concerns him.

After Dr. Rainbow's Ejection from the College, he obtained the Living of Chesterford in Essex, and about the beginning of 1659, that of Benefield in Northamptonshire; both of which he was permitted to Have and Enjoy, without going through the Hands of the Triers. In 1660, he was Restored to his College, and became Chaplain to his Majesty, and Dean of Peterborough; Two Years after he was Vice-Chancellour of this University, and in 1664, was Advanced to the Episcopal Chair of Carlisle, where he died in * 1684. He hath some few Sermons extant, and gave 150 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral.

* Vis. March 26

——— Howorth, B. D. Fellowship. One John Howorth of this College (whom I take to be same Person with this Gentleman) was Chaplain and Tutor to the Earl of Abingdon; Prebendary of Peterborough, Master of this College, D. D. Vice-Chancellour of this University, in part of the Years 1666, and 1667; and died, as I conjecture, in the last of those Years.

In the Second Prebend. Gunnerii. ft. of Peterb. p. 92.

Richard Perenchiefe, Fellowship.

He Out-liv'd the Usurpation, but returned not to the College, being soon after the Restoration of his Majesty, Admitted to the Rectory of St. Mildred-Poultry, and again Instituted to the same Church, with that of St. Mary-Cole-Church annex'd, in 1671. November 3, 1664, he had a Prebend of Westminster bestowed upon him; August 2, 1667 (being then D. D.) he was collated to the Prebend of Chiswick in the Church of St. Paul, and Installed Arch-deacon of Huntingdon, April 2, 1670. He was also Sub-Almoner to his Majesty King Charles II. and died September 3, 1673. He was the Learned Person who Published the Collection of King Charles's Works, made by Mr. Fulman, and compiled the Life of that Blessed Prince, out of the Materials gotten together by the same Learn'd Man, as is elsewhere said.

Wood. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 140, 922. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 888.

——— Howorth, junior, Fellowship.

I find one Theophilus Howorth, M. D. of this University and College, Incorporated at Oxford in the Year 1669. He was of the College of Physicians. Quære.

——— Erskin, B. D. Fellowship. See at the end of the Counties in the Letter E, and Quære.

——— * Green, L. L. D. Fellowship.

——— Pullen, B. D. Fellowship.

——— Leech, B. D. Fellowship.

——— Butler, A. M. Fellowship.

——— Gale, . Fellowship.

* This Gentleman, Mr. Leech, Pullen, Erskin, Gale and Butler, were all Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 1.1644.

In 1650, one Mr. John Davis was turned out of a Fellowship of this College by the Parliament; which I conjecture was on account of the Engagement; and fo he belongs not to this List; unless he had, till that Time, perfevered in Loyalty, and Fidelity to the Church; of which Quære.

See the Note at Mr. Potter in Clarendon Hall.

'Tis remarkable, that the Leaf (in the Register of the College) which is thought to have contained

Digitized by Google

† But whether for the Covenant or Engagement I am not certain.

tained the Names of those who † were Ejected, is cut out of the Book; for there are Two Pages of it wanting, just about the Time of those Transactions.

PETER-HOUSE.

JOHN COSIN, D. D. Masterſhip. He was * ſo cheſen by a Warrant from the K. of Manchester, Dat. d Mar. 13, 1643; and was the very firſt Perſon of this Univerſity that I find Turned out. The Firſt Fellow that occurs thus Diſpoſſeſſed, was Mr. Hall of Jeſus. Dr. Cosin at the time of his Ejection, was ſucceeded by Mr. Lazarus Seaman. See Peterborough-Cathedral.

* For Oppoſing the Proceedings of the Parliament, and other Scandalous Acts in the Univerſity; but not our Particular is mentioned in the Warrant. The ſame Earl ordered him to be Reſtored by a Warrant dated Aug. 3, 1660: which being with thoſe unaccountable Words; Whereas I am informd that Dr. John Coſin, &c. hath been Ejected, &c. whom as he had himſelf Ejected him. That alſo that immediately upon the Reſtoration, the Fellows of this Houſe in a Petition to his Majeſty, complained of the Arbitrary and Unſtatutable Government of Seaman who, they ſaid, Lived in a conſtant Oppoſition, and Open Contempt of the wholeſome and good Rules and Laws of the Founder, &c. And requeſted that Dr. Cosin might be Reſtored to the Maſterſhip.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 638, 670.

ISAAC BARROW, . Fellowſhip. He was of a Good Family in the County of Cambridge. After he was Turn'd out of his Fellowſhip by the Earl of Manchester, he Retired to Oxford, where the Loyal and Generous Dr. Pink, then Warden of New-College, made him One of the Chaplains of that Houſe, to ſubſiſt him; but upon the Surrender of the Garriſon to the Parliament, he was forced to Shift from Place to Place, and Suffered with the reſt of the Loyal and Orthodox Clergy until the happy Return of K. Charles II. at which time he was not only † Reſtored to his Fellowſhip, but made One of the Fellows of Eaton-College; and in 1662, nominated to the Epiſcopal See of the Iſle of Man: After his Conſecration to which, in 1663, he was alſo made Governour of that Iſle; and in 1669, was Tranſlated to St. Aſaph. He died at Shrewſbury in the Year 1680, and lies Bury'd in his Cathedral-Church of St. Aſaph, under the Inſcription which made ſo much Noiſe about that time, occaſioned by this Part of it; O vos Tranſeuntes in Domum Domini, Domum Orationis, orate pro Conſervo veſtro, ut inveniat miſericordiam in Die Dominii. He was a moſt Pious, Generous and Charitable Biſhop, as appears by the very many Good Works which he did in his Life-time: For he Collected upwards of 1000 l. with which he bought up all the Impropriations of the Iſle of Man, and ſettled them upon the Clergy there. He laid out ſome Scores of Pounds yearly in maintaining Youths at School, and at the Univerſity; got 100 l. a Year, (which was like to have been loſt) ſetled upon the Clergy of the Iſland; Founded Three Scholarſhips for Natives of the Iſle, in the College at Dublin; and did many other good Acts there. At St. Aſaph he laid out great Sums of Money in the Repairs of his Cathedral and Palace; Built an Alms-Houſe for Eight Poor Widows, and Endowed it with 12 l. a Year; procured ſeveral Reſtories to be by Act of Parliament appropriated for the Repairs of the Cathedral, and Better Maintenance of the Choir; got ſeveral Sine-Cure Reſtories united to Vicarages within his Diocels, and intended to have Built, and Endowed a Free School, had he not been prevented by Death. However, his Will ran ſo, that his Succeſſor in the See of St. Aſaph, Recover'd 200 l. from his Executors towards it.

He was ſuſpended by one Gabriel Major, by vertue of a Warrant from the E. of March. dated Jan. 21, 1644.

† By a Warrant from the E. of March, dated June 29, 1663; which ſaith that he was wrongfully Ejected; tho he had done it himſelf.

To whoſe Induſtry in quoting all that little Learning a-mong us, and to whoſe Prudence and Charity the poor Clergy owe the Bread they eat, ſaith Sir Sacheverell, in the recommending of him in his Account of the Iſle of Man, f. 118.

He gave alſo 600 l. towards Rebuilding of St. Paul's

RICHARD CRASHAW, . Fellowſhip.

He was Son to that Eminent Divine Mr. William Crashaw, and Born in London; was a ſtrict Scholar of Pembroke-Hall, and afterwards became Fellow of this Houſe. He was Ejected from his Fellowſhip by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 5, 1644; was for a time put to his Shifts, and at length to one of the very Worſt that he could think of, namely, that of Changing his Religion. After which he fled beyond the Seas: And being a meer Scholar, lived in a Pitiful and Sorry Condition; in which the Famous Mr. Abraham Cowley diſcover'd him at Paris, in the Year 1646; who at that time not only gave him What Support his own mean Circumſtances would admit of, but Procured ſome other Favours for him. After this, Mr. Crashaw went to Rome, where he became Secretary to one of the Cardinals, and at length one of the Canons, or Chaplains, of the Rich Church of our Lady at Loretto; where he died in 1650. He was an Excellent Poet, a Great Linguiſt, being very Exact in the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Italian and Spaniſh Tongues; and t'o' a Perſon of Exalted Piety, yet a Diſcredit to this Liſt.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 618. Liber Mem. p. 218

Mr. Crashaw was excommunicated in an Inſtrument dated Jun. 11, 1644.

What he Wrote ſee in Wood's, and ſee Sir Cowley's Poems in a Death. That the Lo. Piety, as of grand Elem. p. 189, endeavours to Leſſen, as well the Credit of his Poetry

JOHN BARGRAVE, . Fellowſhip. He was of the Family of Bargrave in the Pariſh of Patringhourne in Kent; and ſucceeded in his Fellowſhip Jan. 13, 1644, by one James Ball, by vertue of a Warrant from the Earl of Manchester; who had alſo, no queſtion, Ejected him; notwithſtanding the Warrant for his Reſtoration by the ſame Earl, dated Aug. 2, 1660, ran in theſe Terms, Whereas I am informd, &c. hath been wrongfully Ejected, &c. Upon his Expulſion, as I conceive, it was that he Travelled: For Wood ſaith, he had been a great Traveller; and adds, 'twas ſaid, that he had an eſpecial Hand in an Itinerary, containing a Voyage made through Italy in 1646, and 1647. He was afterwards Prebendary of Canterbury, and Died † May 11, 1680, Aged 70 Years. He was Incorporated D. D. at Oxford in 1663.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 618.

† Sir Mark. in Wood Catal. Cant. Sec Pars 2. p. 113. Append p. 9.

—— WILSFORD, . Fellowſhip.

One Roger Wilsford, D. D. became Prebendary of Eldland in the Church of St. Paul, June 23, 1665. One Francis Wilford was Maſter of Chriſt's in Cambridge, and Vice-Chancellour in 1665, and part of 1666. One Edward Willisford had Liberty granted him to be Created B.D. at Oxford in 1643, if he would come and demand it. Quare if either of theſe was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer. See alſo in the Appendix, and quare.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 347. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 718

JOSEPH BEAUMONT, . Fellowſhip.

He was Ejected Apr. 8, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester, and June 11, that ſame Year, ſucceeded by one Charles Hotham; who was thruſt into the Fellowſhip by a Warrant from that Lord. In 1643. if Sir Harry Chauncy doth not miſtake, he was admitted to the Rectory of Keſſhall in Hertfordſhire; but whether he Left that Living alſo, quere. June 22, 1664, being then D. D. he had the Rectory of Barley in the ſame County conferr'd upon him; became alſo Maſter of his College, Regius Profeſſor of Divinity in this Univerſity, Prebendary of Ely, and died Nov. 23, 1699.

Antiq. of Hertf. p. 83

1699. He was in great Esteem for his Learning, and particularly for his Knowledge of the Latin Tongue. What he hath extant, besides his Poem, entitul'd Psyche, I know not.

He was succeeded by Edward Sammes, on a Warrant from the E. of Manch. dated June 11, 1644.

ROBERT TYRINGHAM, . Fellowship.

He was a Native of the County of Leicester, was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester; who by a Warrant under his Hand, Dated July 30, 1660, Order'd him to be Restor'd again, and acknowledged that he had been wrongfully Ejected. He was Proctor of this University in the Year 1661.

THOMAS PENNIMAN, . Fellowship.

One Mr. Penniman was Prebendary of York, and gave 30 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral. New View of London, p. 467. Quare whether he was the same with this Gentleman.

He was Born in Yorkshire, and was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 8, 1644; who by his Warrant, Dated June 11, the same Year, appointed Robert Quarrels to succeed him.

HENRY HOLDER, . Fellowship.

He was Born in Nottinghamshire, and was Turned out by the same Lord, Apr. 8, 1644; who in the same Warrant which order'd Mr. Penniman's Successor, appointed Walter Ellis to succeed Mr. Holder.

JOHN TOLLY, . Fellowship. The Earl of Manchester Ejected this Gentleman likewise, Apr. 8, 1644; and by his Warrant of Sept. * 20, following, order'd one James Clarke, A. M. to succeed him. Mr. Tolly was a Londoner by Birth.

* Or 24.

—— BLAKISTON, A. B. Fellowship.

He was Ejected by the same Earl, and succeeded by one Francis Brocke, A. B. The Warrant for whose Intrusion was the same with that which appointed Mr. Tolly's Successor; both Mr. Clarke and Mr. Brocke being included in it.

CHRISTOPHER BANKES, . Fellowship.

He was a Native of the County of York, and Ejected by the Earl of Manchester; who by his Warrant, Dated May 8, 1645, appointed one Knightbridge, A. B. to succeed him.

—— GOWYN, . Fellowship. He was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 8, 1644.

JOHN WILSON, . Fellowship. He was Born in Hertfordshire, Ejected July 24, 1647, and succeeded by Charles Mildmay.

—— MAXWELL, . Fellowship.

—— WARR, . Fellowship.

FARRER COLLET, . Fellowship.
He was Born in the County of Huntingdon; was Ejected Nov. 9, 1646, and then succeeded by Robert Harrison of Trinity-College in this University.

—— ARCHER, . Fellowship.

CHRISTOPHER CUMMIN, Fellowship.

He was Born in the Bishoprick of Durham, Ejected Nov. 11, 1646, and succeeded by Will. Richardson of Trinity-College in this University.

—— SYMSAPE, . Fellowship.

—— ——, . Fellowship.

—— SANDYS, . Fellowship.

The Number of Fellows in this College is 22, and I have been inform'd from thence, that All of them, except Dr. Francis a Physician, were Turned out; which makes me infer, the Blank Fellowship; because that he and Mr. Cummin last mentioned, added to the Number of Those mentioned at the End of the Querela, make up 21, the Whole of the Fellows which were Turned out of this House. Wood indeed saith, Dr. David Stokes was Turned out of a Fellowship of this College: Which I should judge is a Mistake; but since he is so positive, quere if the Blank ought not to be filled up with his Name.

See the Ch. of Windsor.

If I mistake not, there was not One of the Fellows, save Mr. Blakiston, who was under the Degree of A. M.

Pembroke-Hall.

BENJAMIN LANEY, D. D. Mastership, Prebend of the Eighth Stall at Westminster, And Buriton, . in Hampshire.

He was of a good Family in Suffolk, and Born, as I take it, at Ipswich in that County; Enter'd first at Christ's-College in this University, and thence remov'd to this Hall; of which he was successively Fellow, and Master, and in 1632, Vice-chancellour. He was also Chaplain to his Majesty, Prebendary of Winchester, as likewise of Westminster; the Former of which Prebends I presume, he Resigned before his Sufferings, and was admitted to the Latter in Jan. 1641. About the latter end of 1643, he was Turned out of his Mastership by a ‡ Warrant from the Earl of Manchester; in which the self same Trustees (and no other) are assigned, as in that for the Ejection of Dr. Cosin. He was one of those who attended his Majesty's Service at the Treaty of Uxbridge: At length he Waited on his Majesty King Charles the Second in his Exile, and for several Years suffered great Calamity, as innumerable Royalists did. Upon the Restoration he was Re-inflated in his Mastership, and made Dean of Rochester; as also, soon after Bishop of Peterborough; from whence he was Translated to Lincoln, and from thence again to Ely; where he Died in 1674. He hath some Sermons extant, and a Small Piece against Hobbes.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 828.

He was sometime also Chaplain to Dr. Neil.

Heylin's Life of Laud, p. 55. Nemo Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 926.

‡ Dated, if mistake not, Mar. 11, 1643.

He was succeeded in the Mastership by Mr. Vines.

* ROGER ASHTON, A. M. Fellowship.
See him in the Parochial List in Cambridgeshire.

He was Preferred to St. Paul's.

* This Gentleman, together with Mr. Francis, Ejected by the E. of Manchester, Apr. 8, 1644. Foley, Mapletoft, Bockenham, Cacot, and Lenthall, were all —— FELTON, A. M. Fellowship. He was Ejected for refusing the Covenant, five Days before he was asked the Question, whether he would take it or no; as the Warrant for his Ejectment shewed.

—— FRANK, B. D. Fellowship. This I take to have been Mark Frank, who was Collated both to the Arch-deaconry of St. Alban's, and the Treasurership of St. Paul's, Dec. 19, 1660; and April 21, 1662, (being then D. D.) to the Prebend of Ifledon in the same Church. Feb. 2, following he was also admitted to the Rectory of Barley in Hertfordshire. He had been likewise Chaplain to the Arch-bishop of Canterbury, Master of this Hall, and Died in 1664, in the 51st Year of his Age.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 54. Lloyd, Mem. p. 666. where see his Epitaph at large. He hath a Vol. of Sermons extant.

—— MAPLETOFT, B. D. Fellowship. Possibly he was the same Person with Robert Mapletoft, who was afterwards Master of this Hall, D. D. Dean of Ely, and Vice-Chancellour in 1671.

—— QUARLES, A. M. Fellowship. One William Quarles of this House was Proctor in the Year 1663; and one William Quarles was also President of this Hall, and a Benefactor to it. I take it for granted, that they were the same Person with this Sufferer.

—— POLEY, A. M. Fellowship. One John Pooley of this House was Proctor in the Year 1642; and one of both these Names, Chaplain to the Duke of Ormond, and Dean of Kilkenny in Ireland, was Created D. D. at Oxford in 1682.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 891.

—— RANDAL, A. M. Fellowship. One John Randal of this House, who was doubtless the same Person with this Sufferer, was Taxor in 1643.

ANTHONY BOCKENHAM, A. M. * Fellowship, And Thelnetham, R. in Suffolk. . . .

* A Tadcastrian Socius.

He was Descended from the Ancient and Honourable Family of the Bockenhams of Thurnham-Hall in Suffolk; and was not long after the Breaking out of the Wars, Deprived of his Living, as well as of his Fellowship, and of a Temporal Estate also; upon which he was forc'd to Fly beyond the Seas, and lived some time at Leghorn, some time at Constantinople, and other some at Smyrna; at which last Place he was Consul to the English Factory. On the Restoration of his Majesty, he Return'd to his Native Country, and his Proper Profession; and Quitting his Living of Thelnetham for that of Helmingham in the same County, he died there Jan. 6, 170$\frac{2}{3}$, about the 90th Year of his Age.

—— VAUGHAN, B. D. Fellowship.

—— WEEDON, A. M. Fellowship.

—— HEATH, A. M. Fellowship.

—— LENTHALL, A. M. Fellowship.

—— DIPDEN, A. M. Fellowship.

—— HAMMOND, A. M. Fellowship.

—— CACOT, A. M. Fellowship.

—— KEENE, junior, A. M. Fellowship.

—— KEENE, senior, A. M. Fellowship.

—— MAY, A. M. Fellowship.

QUEEN's.

EDWARD MARTIN, D. D. Masterſhip. Houghton-Conquest, . in Bedfordshire, * Dunnington, . And Covington, R. } In Cambridgeshire.

* Or, It may be Dodington, R. unleſs there was Living's now of the same. and miſ-wrote one for the other.

I take him to be the ſame Dr. Martin, who loſt All theſe Preferments; tho' Lloyd, by Accounting for them in two different Places, ſeems plainly to make the Perſon Diſtinct: Nor doth Wood, in accounting for the Rector of Houghton-Conquest, &c. mention his being Maſter of this College: Tho' indeed he adds in general, that he loſt other Spiritualties. I leave it therefore as a Quære, whether they were Diſtinct or not; and before I am otherwiſe informed, ſhall proceed to Relate what I find ſaid of Both the One and the Other (or rather as I judge, of the ſame Perſon under different Capacities) in this Place.

Wood ſaith, he loſt other Spiritualties, poſſibly the Maſterſhip (which he doth not mention) in one of them; and if Conington and Duningtun be two Livings, the Former of them is another of theſe Spiritualties.

The firſt thing that I meet with of him, worthy of Note, is, that in * 1627, he became Chaplain to Arch-biſhop Laud, and from His Service preferred to the Maſterſhip of this College. Before the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he had render'd himſelf Obnoxious to the Party, by Licenſing a Book of Dr. Jackſon's, and Preaching a Sermon of his own againſt the Predeſtinarian Doctrine: And when Matters were ſo Ripen'd, that thoſe Tumults brake out into Open Rebellion, he felt the Hand of the Party very heavy upon him: For having not only diſobliged them in the Manner before laid; but alſo been Active and Vigorous in Tranſmitting the Place of this Univerſity to his Majeſty; he was, together with Dr. Sterne and Dr. Beale, ſeiz'd by Cromwell, hurried Priſoner to London, and Treated in the Barbarous Manner before related, in the Account of the firſt named Dr. Beſides which, he underwent ſeveral Sufferings that were peculiar to himſelf. Nor muſt it be reckoned among the Leaſt of theſe, that his Name is ſet down in that infamous Libel, entituled The Firſt Century, &c. where the Cauſes of his Sequeſtration from his Livings, are thus aſſigned, either in Effect, or in expreſs Words, viz. That he had aſſerted the Neceſſity of Conſecrating Places for Divine Service; That he had ſtolen Wheat-ſheaves out of the Field in Harveſt, and laid them to his Tithe-Shock; and this too, if any one will believe it, on the Sabbath-day; That he had Promoted the New Canons; That he had Adored (as they termed it) the Altar, falling down upon his Knees before it (a plain Evidence that he Worſhipped it) having his Eyes on a Crucifix being in the Eaſt Window over it (provided only that any one could ſwear to a Foot, where a Man caſts his Eye in ſo large a Compaſs and at ſuch a diſtance;) That he had practiſed the late illegal Innovations, obliging Women who came to be Churched, to come up to the Altar, and there to Duck and Kneel to it (they meant before it) and obliging Perſons to come

* Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 141. 840. Lloyd, Mem. p. 461, 532. perſec. Und. p. 66. More. Ruſt. p. 114 Querel Cantab p. 5. Hiſt. Cantab. p. 161

§ Wilson Sir Jeſus Coll.

P. 43.

Digitized by Google

come up there, and on their Knees to offer their Alms and Obiations to God; which was undoubtedly a very great Hardſhip: that he had Preach'd, that the Parliament were going about in a ſolitom way to erect a new Religion, and had confeſſed, that he had lent and given Money to the King to maintain the unnatural War againſt the Parliament and Kingdom; That he had Pray'd, that the Saints might be freed of their Pains in Purgatory; which Lloyd plainly affirms to be no other, than his Bleſſing God for the Examples of the Saints Departed: That he ſeldom Preach'd at one of his Places, and kept there Scandalous (but withal) Malignant Curates. To which Lloyd joins theſe other Crimes, of Relieving thoſe who were turned out of the Univerſities, diſowning the Authority of the Parliament to Viſit thoſe Two great Bodies, and Refuſing the Covenant. As for his Ejectment from the Maſterſhip, the * Warrant for it ran in the ſelf-ſame Terms (and was ſigned by the ſame Hand) with that for the Ejectment of Dr. Coſin before-mention'd. During his Impriſonment (which continued upward of Five Years) he had a Ticket ſent to him at Ely-Houſe, for the 20th Part of his Eſtate; but the Sum which they demanded of him under that Notion, was ſuch an extravagant one, that he deſired they would take the Nineteen Parts to themſelves, and leave him the Twentieth; viz. of that Eſtate which their Demand ſuppoſed him to have. Whilſt he was thus in Cuſtody likewiſe it was, that he drew up a Mock-Petition, Entitled his Submiſſion to the Covenant, &c. Preſented in a Petition to the Right Honourable the Lords, &c. Which is wrote with ſuch a manly Spirit of Boldneſs, and ſo much diſplays the deteſtable Hypocriſy and Villany of thoſe Times, and withal his own Sufferings, that I cannot forbear Tranſcribing a great Part of it, and giving it the Reader in this Place. He repreſents to their Lordſhips, That 'having been theſe Five Years Priſoner to this 'Honourable Houſe (in which Time having ſuf'fered the often Plunder of his Goods, to the 'very Cloths on his Back, and Sequeſtration 'from any Benefit of Livelyhood or Maintenance, 'and being Unmarried, he is thereby excluded 'from Plea to ſo much as any Fifth Part) he did 'thereupon preſer his humble Petition, that their 'Lordſhips would be pleaſed either to allow him 'ſome neceſſary Suſtenance out of his own Eſtate, 'or ſuch Liberty (upon Bail to appear before 'this Honourable Houſe, upon any Term to be 'limited by their Lordſhips) whereby he might 'be enabled to ſeek and find ſome end of his ex'treme Miſery, either by ſome poor honeſt Life, 'or Death. And that in Anſwer to this Petition, they had told him, that as 'For Maintenance 'out of his own Eſtate, it was not in their Power 'to allow it; and as for Liberty upon Bail, they 'were ready to grant it, upon Condition of his 'taking the Covenant. On this Anſwer he grounds the following Petitionary Repreſentation: 'That the Members of Convocation by the Sta'tute of the 8 Hen. 6. are to enjoy the ſame Im'munities, as touching their Perſons and Perſonal 'Attendants from Impriſonment, that any Peers 'in the Houſe of Lords, or Members of the Houſe 'of Commons (for themſelves and theirs) do 'challenge to that effect; and that himſelf at 'that Time was actually a Member of Convoca'tion. But waving that at preſent, he comes to the Covenant; which he ſaith, he finds 'So op'poſite to his Religion, Faith, and all his Duties 'to God and Man, that daily he doth beſeech 'Almighty God to ſtrengthen him with Grace, 'that he may endure and embrace any extremity 'of Torture or Death, rather than in any Senſe 'of his own or others, take or ſeem to have ta'ken, that which for ought he can any ways 'inform himſelf (and other means of Informa'tion in this long and ſtrict Durance he can have 'none) muſt needs run him into a deſperate 'Hazard, of all the Good he can hope for, in 'this, or any other World. After this he tells them; That 'thoſe Recuſants in this Kingdom, 'who profeſſed themſelves of the Communion of 'the Church of Rome, are very ſeldom, if at all, 'preſs'd or urg'd by any Houſe or Committee '(to their great Commendation be it ever men'tion'd) to that Covenant; upon ſuppoſal, that 'they would not ſwear contrary to their Con'ſciences: And then he adds, 'May it pleaſe 'your Lordſhips to conſider, that the Church of 'England, as it ſtood Eſtabliſhed by Divine and 'human Laws, and ſtill ſtands, to all thoſe Men 'upon whoſe Conſciences Laws have any Obli'gation; wherein your humble Petitioner was 'made a Member of Chriſt, and hath received 'ſuch ſenſible Impreſſions of God's Grace, as 'obliges him to Perſeverance therein, againſt all 'the Temptations of the World, the Fleſh, or the 'Devil; That this Church, he ſaith, may breed Men every whit as Honeſt, and ſtoady to their *Prin*ciples, as the Church of Rome, and then proceeds; Therefore may it pleaſe your Lordſhips to vouchſafe, That Chriſtian Men of this our Church, wherein your very Lordſhips have Held and Profeſſed Communion, may find ſo much Credit and Countenance from your Honours, as thoſe of the Church of Rome daily do, and not be preſs'd with an Oath, more individually and immediately Penn'd, Meant and Intended by the Authors of it, againſt the Church of England, its Doctrine and Government, than againſt the Church of Rome. He offers further to their Conſideration, That all our late Parliaments in England, and moſt of all, this wherein their Honours are now ſitting, have profeſſed always great Severity, and made ſtrict Inquiſition againſt all Men that ſhould Intend, Practiſe, or Endeavour, by Word or Writing, any Alteration of Religion, or Innovation in Doctrine or Worſhip, as a Capital Offence; and therefore ſaith, That when he 'ſees and conſiders Men that En'deavour, Profeſs, Print, and Practiſe Innova'tions and Alterations in the Church Doctrine, 'Worſhip, and Government, in the very Creed, in 'the Thirty Nine Articles of our Confeſſion, in all 'the Eccleſiaſtical Canons, Muniments, Cere'monies, Sacraments, and in the whole Sub'ſtance of Religion, the Publick Service of God, 'and Liturgy of the Church, ſealed in the Blood 'of ſo many Martyrs, and ſetled by the Sanction 'of ſo many Parliaments; and when he ſees ſuch 'Men go about every where, not only with In'demnity, and without Queſtion, but alſo Re'warded with Preferments, Immunities, Privi'leges, for their Apoſtacy from that Faith which 'they have ſo often Subſcrib'd, Preach'd, Practis'd, 'and whereunto, before God, Angels, and Men, 'they have Pighted their Troth: When he ſees 'again Men conſtant to their Religion, and to 'their Foundation, Perſecuted and brought to 'Nought, himſelf eſpecially, not only with to'tal and final Sequeſtration, but alſo with the 'Deſtiny of perpetual Impriſonment, without all 'Neceſſaries, even to Famine, unleſs he will for'ſwear, and renounce his Religion. When he thus ſees ſuch a Time of Jubilee and Indulgence on the one Side, but of hot Perſecution on the other, he ſaith, he cannot think their Lordſhips mean any other than (as Jehu once ſerv'd Baal's Prophets) To Sift and Winnow this populous Kingdom; and by ſuch a ſeeming Diſtribution of Rewards and Puniſhments, do intend only to find out, and to root out all thoſe Worſhippers of Baal, thoſe Falſe, Hypocritical, Adulterate Pretenders to a Religion, who manifeſtly give Sentence upon themſelves, that either they have all this while formerly, not with

* Dated, if I miſtake not, March 11. 1641.

Lloyd ſaith 6 or 7.

But at that Time in the Lord Peter's Houſe in Aldergate-ſtreet.

Digitized by Google

notwithstanding all their Subscriptions, Oaths, and Professions, lived and gone on in a wrong Way; or else that they will now swear themselves into a wrong way for their Advantage. Neither can your Petitioner any wise believe, that it can possibly be your Lordships Will and Honourable Pleasure, that either he, or any constant Christian, should by Perjury seem to be what he is not. After this he adds further, That having been obliged by Sacraments no less than Fourteen several Times, to this Christian Allegiance, and Profession of his King's Supremacy over all Persons in England whatsoever, or howsoever; and having likewise as often declared upon Sacrament of Oath, that he doth not believe, that any Dispensator in the World, no not the Pope himself, the greatest Pretender that way that he ever yet heard of, is able to free or absolve him from that Obligation. Now this Covenant quite dissolving that Bond of Christian Allegiance, and obliging him clean contrary-wise, if he should take it, he could not but Judge and Condemn himself Apostatized from his Christian Allegiance, which is a great part of that Christian Faith in which he hath hitherto lived, and wherein he desires God to grant him Strength and Grace to abide. After this he lays before them, How detestable to all Posterity the Memory of those Gunpowder-Traytors is, who took the Covenant to extirpate our Religion, Root and Branch, by taking away our King, Queen, Royal Issue, Lords, Commons, Arch-bishops, Bishops, Deans, Deans and Chapters, Arch-deacons, and all the rest of our Ecclesiastical Hierarchy, &c. and then suggests, that this Conspiracy was not against the Persons, otherwise than by that means to destroy the ' Doctrine, Worship, and Government of this Church; and that only of this ' Church; not that of Scotland, Geneva, or any ' to be set up; for these were not in any Being ' here at that Time. And the Nation having appointed an Anniversary, and perpetual Thanksgiving for the Preservation of this Doctrine, Worship, and Government; and in this ' Thanksgiving, all Men of this Church, for these Forty ' Two Years, having engaged their Souls to Almighty God, either Cordially, or at least Hypocritically (your humble Petitioner for his Part ' professeth cordially) with what Face or Heart ' then can he possibly swear to the Extirpation of ' that Religion, for the Preservation whereof ' before Men and Angels, he hath so often given ' God hearty Thanks. And then he asketh them, how he shall ever be able to celebrate that Thanksgiving for the future, should he in the Covenant swear to extirpate that Religion, for the Preservation of which he then pretends to give God Thanks: And withal asketh this further Question, ' Whether the Blood of our Forefathers and Ancestors shed, and ready to be shed, in Martyrdom for the Profession and ' Maintenance of this Faith, Worship and Government (and not that of Scotland or Geneva) ' would not cry to Heaven for Vengeance against ' their Posterity, that should now justifie their Persecutors, and swear themselves into the Office ' to extirpate all, without any exception of King, ' or Parent, if addicted to that Religion for ' which they so readily lay down their Lives? After this he concludes, ' Last of all, seeing that ' your Lordships humble Petitioner, after the Loss ' of all in this World, at your Honourable Pleasure, hath past the Probation of Five Years, in ' Six Goals, by Land and by Water, with Plunders, ' Sequestrations, Necessities, want of all Means ' and Support, save (that only which at this Blessed ' Time we solemnly celebrate) the Mission of ' God the Comforter into the Hearts of Faithful Christians (the Publick Commemoration of ' that too, by the Consequence of this Covenant (should your Petitioner take it) he must ' (swear for ever hereafter to abandon) and seeing that all these Sufferings have not been of ' force to impugn that Grace of God, by which ' only (and not by any Strength or Ability of our ' own) he professes himself to out-stand.

' May it therefore please your Honours, that ' this Five Years Probation of Extremities may ' suffice to give your Lordships indubitable Satisfaction, that your humble Petitioner cannot ' by any means of Life or Death be moved to ' enter into this Covenant; and therefore that ' your Honours would be pleased to think of any ' other Course for the Expiation of your Lordship's Displeasure upon him, rather than to order him to perpetual Imprisonment even to ' Death, and that by Want and Famine too, only ' for the Preservation of that Faith, in which he ' hath, with unspeakable Comfort, engaged his ' Soul to Almighty God.

And your Petitioner shall ever Pray, &c.

Such were the Sufferings of this great Man! and such was his undaunted Courage and Constancy under them, even after more than Five Years Miseries of Prisons and Plunderings! But they ended not here; for when he had at length obtained his Liberty, he was forced to quit his Native Country, and fly into France; where he continued till the Restoration; but during his Abode there, joyn'd neither with the Calvinists, nor Papists in their Communion; but with the Congregation of old English, and Primitive Protestants only. And by his regular Life, and good Doctrine, he reduced some Recusants to, and confirmed more Doubters in the Protestant Religion. And notwithstanding the Reproach of Popery and other Accusations cast on the Regular Clergy, and on this worthy Doctor in particular, by Prynn; 'tis well known, that he had Honourable and Advantageous Offers made him by some of the Roman Communion, which he Rejected with this Answer; That he had rather be a Poor Son of the Afflicted, but Primitive Church of England, than a rich Member of the flourishing, but corrupt Church of Rome. In 1660, he returned with his Majesty to his Own, and became Dean of Ely. In Possession of which Dignity he died in 1663. He was excellently well skilled in the Canon, Civil, and Common Law; was a Person of strict Rules in his Conversation, saith Lloyd; a Godly Man, saith Wood; agreeable to that of his Epitaph, Rigidè pius vir, & severè Justus; and was esteemed in Cambridge, a Person of such eminent Worth and Abilities, as rendered him above the reach of Commendation; notwithstanding what Prynn hath said of him in his Canterbury's Doom. I have only more to add of him, that at the Time of his Ejectment from this College, one Mr. Palmer was substituted in his room.

* ANTH. SPARROW, B. D. Fellowship. And Haukdon, . in Suffolk, worth 120 l. per Ann.

* Mr Sparrow, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Hill were all Ejected by the E. of M. Apr. 9. 1644. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 742. Wood, Ath. Fasti p. 67.

He was Born at Depden in Suffolk, became successively Scholar and Fellow of this House; and was the very first of all the Loyalists Ejected from this College, which was April 8, 1644; and June the 11th following was succeeded by † John Wallis, A. M. of Emanuel-College. About the Year 1648, or 1649, he obtained the Living abovementioned; but the Committee of Religion at Westminster permitted him not to enjoy it above Five Weeks.

† That Mr Wallis succeeded an Ejected Loyalist of this College, is certain. But how and when he came into this College that he succeeded Mr Sparrow in particular, is only conjecture. Reader is to know the same of all the other Sufferers mentioned in this

Weeks. He was alſo forced to fly and abſcond. He had at that Time, or ſoon after it, Six Children; but could never obtain any Fifths to ſupport them, from Mr. Firmon, who had been thruſt in to ſucceed him there. Under this S queſtration he continued about eleven Years, when the Reſtoration of his Majeſty Re-inſtated him. After which he was choſen one of the Preachers at St. Edmundsbury; Aug. 7, that Year, was Inſtalled to the Arch-deaconry of Sudbury; afterwards became Maſter of this College; in 1667, was promoted to the Biſhoprick of Exeter, and from thence Tranſlated to Norwich, where he died in 1683.

1660. In 1644, he was Vice-Chancellor. He gave gold, to St. Paul's. Two few things which he Publiſhed are in Wood.

GEORGE BARDSEY, D. D. Fellowſhip. He was Ejected Aug. 26, 1644; and December 12 following, ſucceeded by Sam. Reyner of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, if I miſtake not. Aug. 12, 1645. I find him Incorporated at Oxford, where he alſo died the January after.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 130

THOMAS MARLEY, B. D. Fellowſhip. And Everſden-Parva, R. in Cambridgeſhire. . . . . }

He was Ejected both from his Living and Fellowſhip, by the Earl of Manchester: From the former April 6, 1644; for obſerving the Orders of the Church, preſenting thoſe, who in Contempt went out of the Church, when he went to the Altar to read the Second Service there (and theſe very Perſons, by the way, were the Witneſſes againſt him) and for Refuſing the Covenant. He was turned out of his Fellowſhip Three Days after, and ſucceeded therein, if I miſtake not, June the 11th that ſame Year, by William Whitaker, A. B. a Rutlandſhire Man of Emanuel-College.

And in the Living, one of his Succeſſors was Oliver Sell, who got it in 1654.

DANIEL WICHERLY, B. D. Fellowſhip. And Hemmingſtone, R. in Suffolk. . . }

He was turned out of the College, June 1, 1644, and ſucceeded, as I take it, September 11, that ſame Year, by one Jackſon, A. B. a Staffordſhire Man, of Katharine-Hall. He was Diſpoſſeſs'd of his Living much about the ſame Time, on Sixteen Articles ſo notoriouſly falſe, that I ſhall take an occaſion to mention them at large in another Place.

One Daniel Chandler was Proctor of this Houſe in 1632. I take it for granted, that he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

——— CHANDLER, B. D. Fellowſhip, And Okeington, V. in Cambridgeſhire. }

He was turned out of his Fellowſhip, June 1, 1644, and, as I conjecture, ſucceeded September the 13th following, by Fran. Barkſdale of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford. July 16th the ſame Year, he was alſo Deprived of his Living for his Loyalty, and for his betaking himſelf to his Majeſty's Army.

——— CAPEL, D. D. Fellowſhip. Ejected Jan. 1, 1646; but the Reaſon aſſigned for Ejecting him, was his being Married; which if true, he deſerveth not a Place in this Liſt: Aldo' I find him in that at the end of Querela.

——— COX, L. L. D. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled the ſame Day with Dr. Capel, and died, as I take it, ſoon after; at leaſt before the Reſtoration.

One William Cox of this Houſe was Taxor in 1619. I ſuppoſe he was the ſame Perſon either with this Gentleman, or with him of Sidney who will be mentioned by and by, but moſt probably the Former.

——— COLDHAM, B. D. Fellowſhip. Ejected Apr. 9, 1644, and ſucceeded by John Hore, A. M. of Katharine-Hall if I miſtake not, the 11th of the ſame Month.

——— KEMP, B. D. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled the ſame Day with Mr. Coldham; and his Succeſſor, as I take it, Will. Ames, A. B. a Shropſhire Man, of Emanuel-College, was appointed the ſame day, as Mr. Coldham's was.

——— BRYAN, B. D. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled Apr. 8, 1644, and ſucceeded, if I miſtake not, by Samuel Sylles, A.M. of Emanuel-College, a Northamptonſhire Man, June 11, the ſame Year.

I find one Rl. Bryan of this Houſe Proctor in the Year 1638. I ſuppoſe he was the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Bryan.

——— HILLS, B. D. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled the ſame Day with Mr. Bryan; and his Succeſſor, Nath. Ingelo, A. M. of Emanuel-College, was admitted the ſame Day with Mr. Bryan's Succeſſor, if I conjecture right.

——— ROGERS, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled Apr. 8, 1644; and his Succeſſor, as I take it, John Wells, A.M. of Emanuel-College, was admitted June 11, following.

One Samuel Rogers of this Houſe, moſt probably the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, was Taxor in 1638; and one of Both theſe Names became Prebendary of Hoxborne and Barbeach in the Church of Saliſbury. Nov. 22, 1661, on the Death of James White; and died himſelf before Nov. 28, 1668; when he was ſucceeded by Daniel Whicby.

——— COX, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled Aug. 26, 1644; and, if I miſtake not, George Griffith, A. B. of Emanuel-College ſucceeded him; who was Thruſt in Jan. 2, that ſame Year.

——— WALPOLE, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Diſparched Sept. 26, 1644; but who ſucceeded, I know not.

——— APPLEBY, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Turned out Apr. 9, 1644, and John Smith, A. M. of Emanuel-College was, as I gueſs, the Perſon who ſucceeded him; who was Admitted June 11, the ſame Year.

——— FREAR, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled Auguſt 26, 1644; and Jan. 2, the ſame Year, Mr. Nath. Debank was Thruſt into this College; and if I miſtake not, into Mr. Frear's Fellowſhip.

——— NATLEY, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled Apr. 9, 1644; June 11, that Year Samuel Glover, A. M. a Northamptonſhire Man of Katharine-Hall, became Fellow of this Houſe, and was, as I take it, Mr. Natley's Succeſſor.

——— WELLS, A. M. Fellowſhip. He was Expelled September 26, 1644; and John Watſon, A. B. a Lincolnſhire Man of Emanuel-College (who was put in Fellow of this Houſe Jan. 16, 1644,) did as I conjecture, ſucceed him. This I take to have been William Wells, who upon the Promotion of Dr. Walton to the Bishoprick of Chester, was presented by his Majesty K. Charles II. to the Rectory of Sandon in Essex; to which he was admitted Dec. 16, 1660, as he was afterwards to the Arch-deaconry of Colchester, Feb. 5, 1666 (at which time he was D. D.) and about the latter End of the following Year became Master of this College, was Vice-Chancellour of the University in the Year 1672, and died some time before August 25, 1675.

Digitized by Google

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 93.

—— WHITEHEAD, *A.B. Fellowship.
He was Turned out June 1, in the Fatal Year 1644. Dec. 12, following, one John Pypard of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, was made Fellow of this College; and I guess it to be in Mr. Whitehead's Room.

*'Tis' the Left at the End of Querela. faith A. M.

—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.
—— ——, . Scholarship.

See Dr. Johnson in the Parochial Lib, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter L.

There were 28 Scholarships in this College at that time (which those Blanks compleat:) For they made a Thorough Reformation in this House; leaving neither Fellow nor Scholar.

Quer. Cant. p. 22. Lloyd. Mem. p. 682. Full. Hist. Camb. p 169.

There are besides in this College 12 Bible-Clerks, and Four Exhibitioners. Whether they Turned out any of Them also (as is not improbable) I do not find expressly said.

Sidney-Suffex.

SAMUEL WARD, D. D. Mastership, Prebend of Ampleford in the Church of York, Margaret-Professorship of Divinity, And Much-Munden, R. in Hertfordshire.

He was Born at Bishops-Middleham in the Bishoprick of Durham, of an Ancient Family; which however at that time was, it seems, possess'd of no very considerable Estate. He was at first Scholar of Christ's, afterwards Fellow of Emanuel, and at length advanced to the Mastership of this House, and to the Arch-deaconry of Taunton in the Ch. of Wells. He was likewise Chaplain in Extraordinary to the King, Vice-Chancellour of this University in 1620, had served in Convocation, had been Chaplain to Bishop Montague, one of the English Divines at the Synod of Dort; and being always esteemed a Puritan, was nominated one of the Committee for Religion, which sate in the Jerusalem-Chamber in 1640; as likewise one of the Assembly of Divines; but he never vouchsafed them his Company. On the contrary, upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he joyned with the other Heads of Houses, in sending the College-Plate to his Majesty. He was likewise in the Convocation-House when all the Members of the University there assembled (many of them 60 Years old and upwards) were kept Prisoners in the Publick Schools, in an exceeding cold Night, till Midnight, without any Accommodations for Food, Firing, or Lodging; and for no other reason, but only because they could not in Conscience comply, or contribute any thing to the Detestable War against his Majesty. And to compleat this Outrage, it was done, among all Days of the Year, upon Good-Friday. After this, he was Deprived of his Headship and Professorship; as also Plunder'd and Imprison'd, both in his own, and in St. John's Coll. During this Confinement he contracted a Disease, which put an End to his Life, about Six Weeks after he had obtained his Release. In the Mastership was substituted one Mr. Mynshull; but into his Professorship the University chose Dr. Holdsworth, who was not allowed by the Parliament, to have any thing besides the Burthen of it; which I have upon another Occasion taken notice of. He was a most excellent Governour, and an exact Disciplinarian in his College; which flourished so much under him, that Four New Fellowships were founded in his Time, all the Scholarships were augmented, and a Chapel, together with a new Fair Range of Buildings, were Erected. He was also a Man of Known Integrity, and Universal Approbation, even among those who were his Adversaries; and had this Character at the Synod of Dort: Modestia ipsa, quæ plus

Lloyd. Mem. p. 161, &c.

Querel. Cant. tab. p 3, 9.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 627, 629.

Pope's Life of Bishop Ward, p. 11.

I have not seen this Dr. Samuel Ward's Life, which is also published.

Full. Hist. Camb. p. 168.

March 30, 1643.

How unjustly, see in Pope's Life of Bishop Ward, p. 14.

Several Manuscripts, Works of his are now indexed in the Library of this College. He hath also several things extant.

Digitized by Google

plus Celavit eruditionis quam alii habent; Literarum Abyssus, Taciturnus & Profundus; qui quot verba, tot expressit, & sulco Pectoris, oracula. After his Death his Name-sake (who, tho' Patronized by him, and of the same College, was not in any manner related to him) Bishop Ward, Published some of his Determinations and Prælections. He had also a Hand in Translating part of the Apocrypha, as it now stands in our last Bibles. I have only to add more of him, that he died, as I have been informed, in great Want; and 'tis certain he Breathed his last in these Words, God Bless the King.

See Mr. Herbert Thorndike at Trinity-College and one of the Marginal Notes there.

ROBERT BERTIE, A. M. Fellowship. Of whom I find this Note, Regis Mandato Admissus, Temporum Injuriâ Pulsus. He was Ejected by the Earl of Manchester, April 8, 1644. He was Son to the Earl of Lindsey, and had, as some say, taken Arms for his Majesty; but a Relation of his saith, that it a mistake. He was A Charitable Good Man, and died not many Years since.

SETH WARD, A. M. Fellowship. He was Born at Buntingford in Hertfordshire, and became Servitor to Dr. Ward, the Suffering Master of this House; who being much taken with his Parts and Industry, got him in upon the Foundation. In 1640, he was Prevaricator, and when his Patron and Master was Imprisoned in this University, he attended him during his Confinement (as he did afterwards on his Death-Bed) being either at that Time a Prisoner also himself, or else Imprisoned afterwards, as well as Ejected from his Fellowship, for Refusing the Covenant; against which he soon after joined with Mr. Gunning, Mr. Barrow, &c. in drawing up that noted Treatise, which was afterwards Published. When he was thus Ejected, he was invited to Reside at several Places; but he prefer'd that of R. Freeman's Esq; at Aspenden in his own County; where he continued off and on, till 1649; about which Time (having then been some Months with the Lord Wenman at Thame in Oxfordshire) Mr. Greaves the Astronomy-Professor in Oxford labour'd to get him for his Successor in that Lecture, after he had himself been turned out of it; which was accordingly effected. But it must not be concealed, that Mr. Ward had at that Time very much degenerated from his former Principles, and even taken the Engagement. He was some Time also Chaplain to Bishop Brownrigg, who, on the Death of Mr. William Cotton, collated him (about the Year 1649, or 1650,) to the Chauntery of Exeter; to which he was afterwards Installed (as little Prospect as there was of such a Turn at the Time of his Collation) as also to Mr. Carter's Canonry and Prebend, September 15, 1660. In 1654, he proceeded D. D. at Oxford, after which he was Elected Principal of Jesus-College in that University, by the Direction of Dr. Mansel, who had been Ejected from that Headship several Years before; but the Protector, according to the plenitude of his Power, put in one Howel, with a Promise however of 80 l. per Ann. to Dr. Ward, which yet was never paid him. In 1659, he was Elected President of Trinity-College in Oxford; but was forced soon after to give it up to Dr. Potter, the right Owner. Afterwards he had St. Laurence-Jury conferred upon him by his Majesty. In 1661, he became Dean of Exeter (about the same Time also Fellow of the Royal-Society) the Year following he was nominated to the Episcopal See of that Church; and in 1667, was Translated to Salisbury. Whilst he was Dean of Exeter he got 25000 l. of the Churches own Money to be laid out in Repairing and Beautifying that Cathedral (after the Ravages made in it by the Reformers) and in Erecting of the Noble Organ there. Whilst he sate in the Episcopal-Chair, he augmented several poor Vicaridges, increased the Stipends of the Prebendaries, got the Deanery of St. Burian annexed to the Bishoprick, and reduced the Diocese to great Conformity. When he was remov'd to Salisbury, he likewise Repaired and Beautified that Cathedral, gave considerable Sums to it out of his own Pocket, and laid out no less than 2000 l. in the Repairs of the Palace; which was in a manner quite Demolished during the Confusions; having been sold by the Parliament to one Van Ling a Dutch Taylor. In both Dioceses also he drew up Notices of them (a Transcript of which, for that of Exeter, I have seen) setting down in distinct Columns, the Names, Degrees, Inclinations, Learning, &c. of the several Incumbents; together with the Patrons, Value of the Livings, &c. He had also the same watchful Eye over the Dissenters in the Diocese of Salisbury, as in that of Exeter: Insomuch that there was not one Conventicle in the City of Salisbury, and but few in the whole County of Wilts; and these Two were in the extream Parts of it towards Somersetshire. He kept a most Hospitable Table, and many poor Pensioners in Weekly Pay, besides great Numbers whom he Relieved daily at his Gate: And, which was a much greater Charity, fought out such poor Housekeepers as were ashamed to Beg, and sent them Money; insomuch that Thousands of Blessings from the Poor constantly attended him, when ever he Rode out or Returned to his Palace. He was also Chancellor of the Garter, and procured that Honour to be annex'd to the See of Salisbury. He made it his Business likewise to serve the City, in their Publick Affairs, when he went to Parliament, and contributed largely towards making their River Navigable. He was a Benefactor to the Royal-Society; procured 400 l. towards Printing Castell's Lexicon; Built and Endowed a Noble College for Ten Clergy-Mens Widows in the Close at Salisbury: He built also an Hospital at the Place of his Nativity, for Ten Poor Aged Men, with a Stipend of Ten Pounds per Ann. each; and Founded Four Scholarships at Christ's-College in Cambridge. Towards the latter end of his Life he had a Tender made him of the Bishoprick of Durham, which he Refused. At length this Person of wonderful Parts and Learning, began to lose his Memory, and the use of his Reason in a very great measure; under which Circumstances he died in Jan. 168$\frac{8}{9}$. The Character given of him in his Epitaph is too long to be here inserted: That given by Mr Oughtred in his Clavis Math. is shorter, and can be less suspected of Flattery; which is this, Vir Prudens, Pius, Ingenuus; nec matheſi ſolum, ſed & Omni Politiorum Literaturæ genere, Cultiſſimus.

Pope's Life of him Fasti. Ox. Vol. II. p. 617.

At which Time he Resided in Wadham-College for the sake of Dr. Wilkins.

He gave 360*l. also to St.* Paul's Cathedral. New Survey of London. Vol. II. p. 468.

March 11, 1689. Dr. Gilbert Burnet, a Scotchman, was consecrated to this See.

See the Account of his Works in Wood.

JOHN LAWSON, A. M. Fellowship. He * Died not long after his Ejection.

* In the College being so installed, profested to the Living of Bransburton in York; but lived not to EDWARD GIBSON, A. M. Fellowship. He survived the Restoration, and was by the Interest of his Old Friend, then Bishop Ward, preferred to a good Living in Hertfordshire; as also to a Rich Wife.

Pope's Life of Bishop Ward. p. 84.

† SAMUEL PAWSON, A. M. Fellowship. He had been Pluck'd from the Communion, as he was ready to receive that Holy Sacrament, before the solemn Election of a Master of this College, and thrown into Jail. He was also actually Dispossessed of his Fellowship. Afterwards, notwithstanding this outrageous Treatment, he submitted to the

† If I do not mistake his Christian Name. Querel. Cantab. p. 18.

1666. saith Pope; but it was September 12, 1667.

Digitized by Google

the Plunderers; and was Rewarded for it with a † Fellowſhip of St. John's: So that he ſcarce deſerveth to be mentioned here.

† Via vitæ of Mr John Peter, whom ſee.

Trinity-Hall.

DR. Eden Maſter of this Hall, died during the Reformation of the Univerſity, if I rightly apprehend it; at which Time one Dr. Bond was choſen into his Place; and not one of the Houſe was afterwards turned out.

TRINITY.

THOMAS COMBER, D. D. Maſterſhip.

He was ſucceeded by Mr. Hill; for whom I find the Commons, Jan. 13, 1647, ordering the Soliciter-General to prepare a Patent; and March 17th following, they order'd it to paſs the Great Seal. See Carliſle Cathedral.

CHENEY ROW, D. D. Fellowſhip. And Orwell, in Cambridgeſhire, worth 100 l. per Ann.

He was Diſpoſſeſſed of his Living, February 8, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester, for having been ſeen Drunk (a very likely Story) with Dr. (after Biſhop) Lamy; for aſſiſting his Majeſty with Money, and procuring the Plate of this College to be ſent to him; as alſo for getting a Warrant to recover Thirty Muſquets, which belong'd to the College, and had been ſeiz'd.

MEREDITH, D. D. Fellowſhip.

Of whom I know nothing more.

HERBERT THORNDIKE, A. M. Fellowſhip.

Mr. Thorndike (who was certainly Herbert Thorndike) is expreſly mention'd in the Liſt at the end of Querela Cantab. as one of the Ejected Fellows of this Houſe. But how to reconcile this, with his being admitted (as he was, if I do not miſtake the Date of his Preſentation for that of his Admiſſion) to the Rectory of Barley in Hertfordſhire, July 2, 1642, I know not; becauſe I take it for granted, that Rectory was inconſiſtent with his Fellowſhip; unleſs he was turned out ſometime before the reſt of the Fellows, and before his Year of Grace (which I ſuppoſe is cuſtomary in this, as in other Colleges) was expired. For the generality at leaſt of the Expulſions in this Univerſity, were not made till the latter end of 1643, and the beginning of 1644. Or unleſs the Iniquity of the Times would not allow him the quiet Poſſeſſion of his * Living, and ſo returning to the College, the Society permitted him to continue in his Fellowſhip, without taking any notice of its being Vacated by the Rectory. That he did not Reſign the Living again before his Fellowſhip became Void of Courſe, I take for granted; becauſe I find him in Poſſeſſion of it after the Reſtoration: tho' 'tis poſſible indeed that might be on a new Preſentation. But if the above-mention'd Date of July 2, be that of his Preſentation, then poſſibly he might for ſome time wave his Admiſſion, eſpecially if the Biſhop of London granted him his half Year, on Account of the Confuſions; and by that means might continue in the Univerſity till the Viſitation began. Where this moſt Learned and Excellent Perſon was Born, I cannot find. He was Proctor of the Univerſity in 1638, was on the Death of Dr. Ward, Elected Maſter of Sidney-College, but kept out of it by the Oppreſſions of the Times. September 5, 1661, he was Inſtalled Prebendary of Weſtminſter; in the Year following he Reſigned his Living of Barley, and died in 1672. I have nothing more to add, but that he aſſiſted in the Polyglot Bible.

Some Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. P. 800. Although Camd. Ann. Regn. P. 76. Jan. 10. ac. ſome Author ſeems to 1640, which I am ſatisfied is a Miſtake, becauſe in the Journals of the Houſe of Commons of the Proceedings of the Brownrigg to the See of Exeter.

* Quere if he was not Deprived of the Living of Barley during the Uſurpation, if ſo, that ought to be taken notice of to be obſerved to his Honour, as the Maſterſhip of Sidney-College, ſhould alſo, becauſe it appears below, that he had an equitable Title to it.

Pope's Life of Biſhop Ward, P. 14. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 391. Lloyd, Memo. P. 649. Some Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. P. 921.

CHAMBERLAIN, ſenior, Fellowſhip.

Edward Chamberlain, L. L. D. who was Originally of Edmond-Hall in Oxford, A. M. of that Univerſity, and the firſt Compiler of the Preſent State of England, was of this College: Whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer. Quere.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 862.

JOHN SHERMAN, * D. D. Fellowſhip.

I do not find his Name in the Querela; tho' Lloyd is Peremptory as to his Ejectment from a Fellowſhip of this College. He ſurvived the Reſtoration; but having at that Time gotten a ſmall Eſtate of his own, he did not return to the College and claim his Fellowſhip. He was a very Learned, Sober and Charitable Man in the worſt of Times, and nored for gathering Contributions towards the Polyglot Bible, and other Loyal and worthy Deſigns. He hath ſeveral Things extant, one Entitl'd, White Salt, or Sober Corrective, &c. and another of the † Pope's Infallibility. He died in 1663.

* But whether he ſo at the Time of his Ejectment, Quere.

Mem. P. 620. But Quere further, for that Author is very liable to be depended upon.

Id. P. 449. See alſo Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 319. Who is however wholly ſilent as to his Ejectment.

† The Infallibility of the Holy Scripture Aſſerted.

THOMAS SCLATER, . Fellowſhip.

He was afterwards Knighted: He died December 10, 1684, in the Sixty Ninth Year of his Age; and was a Benefactor to the Buildings of the College: I find one Thomas Sclater, A. M. who had been of this College, Created M. D. at Oxford in the Year 1649: He was afterwards a Burgeſs for the Univerſity of Cambridge, to ſerve in Richard's Parliament of 1658. He was doubtleſs the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 770.

CHARLES WHEELER, . Fellowſhip.

He was afterwards Sir Charles Wheeler.

This Gentleman, together with Dr. Meredith, Mr Marſhall, Weſt Senior, Chamberlain, Wilkin, Barrey, one of the Cooks, Cowley, Arundel, Stacy, Cane, Appleby, and Nicholas, were all Ejected, April 8, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester.

ABRAHAM COWLEY, A. M. Fellowſhip.

The Works of this Great and moſt Celebrated Wit (to which his Life is prefix'd) being in the Hands of every one, I ſhall ſay but very little of him. He was Born in London, and Elected to this College from Weſtminſter-School. He was Ejected in 1644; after which he Retired to St. John's-College in Oxford: But quitting that Univerſity ſome time before the Surrender of the Garriſon to the Parliament, he went to France; where he was received into the Family of the Lord Germyn (afterwards Earl of St. Alban (who afterwards deſigned for him the Maſterſhip of the Savoy, but he was Diſappointed of it. In this Exile

Sprat's Life of him. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 708

Digitized by Google

Exile he continued about Ten Years, partaking in the Sufferings, and Soliciting the Affairs of the Royal Family. In 1656, he Returned into England, and was for ſome time under Trouble; but at length complying (even too much as far as I can learn) with ſome in Power, he got an Order to be created M. D. (as he afterwards actually was) at Oxford. After which he went again into France, and there continued till the Reſtoration; when he came back again into England, and was one of thoſe too many Loyaliſts, who ſuffered as well after, as under the Uſurpation, being never Rewarded for his Services. Whereupon he Retired in Diſcontent, to a ſmall Eſtate at Cherſie in Surry (which the Duke of Buckingham had obtained for him from the Earl of St. Alban) and died there in 1667; but his Relicks were brought to Weſtminſter, and lodged near to thoſe of the famous Jeof. Chaucer.

See the Account of what he wrote, in Wood.

—— PARISH, . Fellowſhip. He occurs not in the Liſt at the end of the Querela; but I am otherwiſe informed, that he was Ejected, and his Name is added by Dr. Babington, together with his own, and that of Mr. Samways, in a Copy of the Querela, as I ſhall further ſay by and by. One George Pariſh was D. D. Prebendary of York, and gave 30 l. to St. Paul's-Cathedral.

New Survey of London. Vol. II. p. 467.

—— SAMWAYS, . Fellowſhip. One Samway was D. D. Prebendary of York, and gave 40 l. to St. Paul's. See alſo one Peter Samwaies mentioned in Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 308.

New Survey of London. Vol. II. p. 462.

—— ASHTON, . Fellowſhip. He died ſoon after his Ejectment. One Peter Aſhton of this Houſe, was Taxor in 1619, and Proctor in 1630. I ſuppoſe he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

—— BRISCOE, . Fellowſhip. One Thomas Briſcoe of this Houſe, whom I take to be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer; was Taxor in 1643.

—— SHERLEY, . Fellowſhip. One Thomas Shirly, not improbably the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, was Taxor in 1635.

—— JONES, . Fellowſhip.

—— NEVILE, . Fellowſhip.

—— WEST, ſenior, . Fellowſhip.

—— MARSHAL, B. D. Fellowſhip.

—— BARREY, . Fellowſhip.

—— SALMON, . Fellowſhip.

—— WYAT, . Fellowſhip.

—— WILLIS, B. D. Fellowſhip.

—— SHAW, . Fellowſhip.

—— COOK, ſenior, . Fellowſhip.

—— OPLEY, . Fellowſhip.

—— HERBERT, . Fellowſhip.

—— CRESWELL, . Fellowſhip.

—— PARROT, . Fellowſhip.

—— BOURCHIER, . Fellowſhip.

—— CRANE, . Fellowſhip.

—— CRAWLEY, . Fellowſhip.

—— ARUNDEL, . Fellowſhip.

—— PRICE, . Fellowſhip.

—— COOK, jun. . Fellowſhip.

—— APPLEBY, . Fellowſhip.

—— CAVE, . Fellowſhip.

—— HOWARD, . Fellowſhip.

—— MEADE, . Fellowſhip.

—— CAMPIAN, . Fellowſhip.

—— TREVIS, . Fellowſhip.

—— LISTER, . Fellowſhip.

—— YARDLEY, . Fellowſhip.

—— STACY, . Fellowſhip.

—— NICHOLAS, . Fellowſhip.

HUMPH. BABINGTON, . Fellowſhip.

The Names of theſe laſt Three, are not in the Liſt at the end of the Querela; but I am otherwiſe aſſured they were Diſpoſſeſſed of their Fellowſhips. Dr. Babington (for to be was afterwards) the laſt of them, added his own Name, and the Names of Mr. Pariſh and Mr. Samways, in his Copy of the Querela; which is now in the Hands of the very Learned Mr. Baker of St. John's College.

Vit. Nicholas, Stacy, and Babington. But whether they might not go out on the Engagement Score. See alſo the Note at Mr Potter of Clare-Hall.

As for this Dr. Babington, it muſt be known, that he was alſo Sequeſtred from Keyworth, R. in Nottinghamſhire; but he ſurvived the Uſurpation, was Reſtored to his Preferments, became D. D. Vice-Maſter of the College: A Writer againſt Popery in the Reign of King James, and died not many Years ſince in the College. In his Living, at the Time of the Sequeſtration, ſucceeded one Philip Ormeſton, who conformed upon the King's Return, and died Poſſeſſed of the Rectory of Scrimsby in Lincolnſhire.

In a manner which was shameful enough, as 'tis ſaid, January 4, 1691. He was a Benefactor to the College, and gave 50 l. to St. Paul's-Cathedral. New View of London, p. 461.

GYLES OLDSWORTH, A.B. Scholarſhip.

His Name is not in the Querela, as neither that of any other Scholar of an Houſe. He was Born in Gloucesterſhire of a good Family there, and Elected Scholar of this Houſe from Weſtminſter-School, in the Year 1639; but was Diſpoſſeſſed ſome few Years after. In 1646, he occurs Rector of Burton on the Hill in Gloucesterſhire, and was in that Year created A.M. at Oxford. He

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 747.

Queriſt on aſſertion, as to what he is ſaid

T t ſeems

Digitized by Google

seems to have been considerably read in the Fathers, and other old Authors, and to have been Honest, Loyal, and a zealous Stickler, to his Capacity, for the Eſtabliſhment of the Church of England, in its whole Conſtitution; but in ſome of thoſe Things which he hath Publiſhed, are inferred many Trivial, Impertinent, and Weak Paſſages. He died in 1678.

The Account of his Life is in Wood.

The Reader is to know, that none of the Fellows before-mention'd, were under the Degree of A. M. and ſeveral of them Bachelours of Divinity.

—— Leech, } Conduct's-Place of the —— Scarlet, } Chapel, or Chaplain-
—— Yates, } ſhip.

—— Fenwick, . He was actually Diſpoſſeſſed of a Fellowſhip (but of what Houſe I know not) in this Univerſity, and Reſtored again about the latter end of 1647, by an Ordinance of the Lords and Commons.

Whitlock, Mem. p. 283.

Edmond Baldero, .

I am not certain that he was upon any Foundation, much leſs that he was actually Diſpoſſeſſed; tho' both of them ſeem highly probable: For he had the Covenant tender'd him by the Earl of Mancheſter; and being upon that Occaſion brought before his Lordſhip, he requeſted that his Lordſhip's Chaplain (then preſent) 'might reſolve him in ſome Scruples about it. To this 'Motion (being then thought not unreaſonable to 'his Lordſhip, and much preſs'd by ſome that 'were there preſent) his Reverend Chaplain learn-'endly replied before the whole Company, that 'he came not thither to reſolve Mens Conſciences, 'but to Preach to his Lordſhip: Whereupon 'the Gentleman was, not long after, ſent up Pri-'ſoner to London by the ſaid Earl, for tendering 'the Reaſons for his Refuſing the Covenant; 'tho' invited and required thereto by his Lord-'ſhip; and there, without further Hearing, com-'mitted to Priſon; where he continued a long 'Time at exceſſive Charges: Which is all the 'Satisfaction he could find (or any other can 'expect) from them, for the Scruples of a tender 'Conſcience. I have been alſo told, that he was like to have been Hanged in thoſe Times; but upon further Conſideration he was not thought conſiderable enough. After the Reſtoration he became D. D. Maſter of Jeſus-College in this Univerſity, Vice-Chancellour in the Years 1668, and 1674, and is well remembred at this Day for a Man of an honeſt good Meaning; tho' he would be often very unfortunate in expreſſing it.

Querel. Cantab. p. 25.

I muſt here ſubjoin, that far the greateſt Part, the fore-mention'd Fellows were turned out about the latter end of 1643, and the beginning of 1644, by the Earl of Mancheſter (moſtly for refuſing the Covenant) and that many of them were not only Ejected, but alſo Plundered, Impriſoned, and Expelled the Univerſity. To which let me add the Character of very many of them; who were, not only in the Title of the Liſt ſo often mention'd, called Learned, Reverend and Religious Gentlemen; but in a Manuſcript Life of Dr. Barwick, depoſited in the Library of St. John's College in this Univerſity, have this honourable mention made of them; Venerandos ſenes, Theologiæ & Legum Profeſſores, toto orbe Celeberrimos, una cum Procancellario, & ducentis circiter aliis viris Gravisſimis Doctisſimiſq; de ſenatu Academico, è propriis Laribus exulare jubent; Bardis, ut plurimum Infrunitis Ingenii Beneficentiæ, in eorum locum ſufficiit.

Vit. of the Lady.

THUS I have likewiſe accounted for the Ravages made at the Univerſity of Cambridge (in the beſt manner that I could) out of the Querela, and ſome few Intelligences, which I have received from thence: However, that the Liſt of this Univerſity is ſtill very imperfect, cannot but appear too plain to be denied. That all thoſe mentioned in the Querela, were Fellows of the ſeveral Houſes, I have before ſhewn; and that the Liſt at the end of that Piece, doth not contain a perfect Account, even of all the Fellows that were Ejected (not only for the Engagement, but the Covenant alſo) is plain from thoſe few Additions which I have here made to it. And it ſeems further evident from hence; becauſe there is not one Bachelour of Arts (or not more than one) mentioned in it. But that there were ſeveral Bachelour-Fellows in the Univerſity, in 1643, and that ſome of them muſt have ſuffered in the common Calamity, cannot, I ſhould think, be queſtion'd. Add to this, that as in Oxford, ſo likewiſe in this Univerſity, ſome of the Chaplains were no doubt Ejected; and that none of them are mentioned in the Querela, thoſe at Trinity-College excepted, ſeems plain; becauſe the Liſt is ſo careful to take expreſs Notice of, and to diſtinguiſh them at that College, where their Names came to be inſerted. Upon the whole then, I ſhould Imagine, there could not be ſo few as Two Hundred and Thirty Maſters, Fellows, and Chaplains turned out of the ſeveral Colleges and Halls at Cambridge, excluſive of thoſe who went out on the Engagement.

See the Note at Mr. Bloxom at Christ's-College.

By which Computation I do not take in above Fifteen more than what I have particularly mentioned by Name.

But then the great Omiſſion of all, is in the Scholars of Houſes; for the Deſign of the Liſt at the end of Querela (the main Foundation of this Liſt) being chiefly (as I apprehend) to account for ſuch as were of ſome Note and Diſtinction; the Scholars, who muſt be moſtly Under-Graduates, were probably (as well as the Bachelour-Fellows) omitted, as they wholly are, for that Reaſon. That they did expel the Scholars of Houſes, as well as the Fellows, is not only probable in it ſelf, but plain in the Caſe of Queen's-College before noted: Upon which Foundation they did not leave a ſingle Fellow, or Scholar. And one Inſtance more I find at Trinity-College, in the Caſe of Mr. Holdſworth; who was an Ejected Scholar of that Houſe, but not mentioned either in the Body of the Querela, or in the Liſt at the end of it. Nor are the Names of the Scholars of Queen's-College given us in the Liſt; tho' the Outrage of Expelling every one, both Scholar and Fellow, in that Houſe, was ſo notorious, that the mention of it in general could not be omitted in the Body of that Complaint: which manifeſtly ſhews, that it was not the Intent of that Liſt to take the leaſt Notice of any, but the Fellows of the ſeveral Houſes. If then to ſupply the Defect, we may be allowed to have Recourſe to a Computation, the Number of the Ejected Scholars muſt, as I ſhould think, appear very great. In thoſe Colleges at Oxford, from which I have receiv'd the moſt perfect Accounts, the Ejected Scholars were, in Proportion to their Number on each Foundation, as many as the Ejected Fellows. And the ſame appears in Fact, at Queen's-College in this Univerſity: For all of each Kind, as well Scholars as Fellows, were turned out. And if this be admitted as a reaſonable Foundation for

As they afterwards did in Oxford, when that Univerſity was under their Reformation. See that College.

Digitized by Google

for the Calculation; it appears that the Ejected Fellows were upwards of Two Thirds of the whole; and by conſequence, the Ejected Scholars muſt be more than Four Hundred,

There were about 355 Fellowſhips at that Time, in the ſeveral Houſes of this Univerſity.

For the whole Number of Scholars, Exhibitioners, &c. then actually founded in the ſeveral Colleges and Halls, was about Seven Hundred. So that by this Account, there were not leſs than Six Hundred Perſons in all, turned out of this Univerſity.

Digitized by Google

A LIST

Of some of the

Loyal and Epiſcopal CLERGY,

Who were Diſpoſſeſs'd of, Driven from, or did otherwiſe loſe, or were kept out of their Preferments, &c. for their Loyalty to the Eſtabliſh'd Church, during the Time of the Grand Rebellion, &c.

The LONDON-CLERGY, and Thoſe within the Bills of Mortality, and Parts Adjacent.

See Preface, Unleſſons, p. 41, &c.

ADAMS ——, . St. Bennet-Paul's-Wharf, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 302.

He was eſteemed an Excellent Preacher, and Died before the Reſtoration. See the Cathedral of St. Paul's, and quære.

See Mr. Woodcock in his Liſt of the Lond. Clergy, as alſo in the County of Devon.

BAKER, SAMUEL, D. D. St. Mary-Hill, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 432.

He had been twice admitted to this Rectory, Firſt, July 5, 1637, and then June 16, 1646. The former time on the Preſentation of a Private Perſon; the latter, on that of the Pariſhioners. See Canterbury-Cathedral.

BALCANQUALL, WALTER, D. D. Maſterſhip of the Savoy.
See Durham-Cathedral.

[a] Or Baſeby. Lloyd, Mem. p. 507.

* BATTY, JAMES, A. M. St. Vedaſtus-Foſter-Lane, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 561.

He was alſo Plunder'd, forc'd to Fly, and Died not long after. He had been Collated to this Living by the Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, Nov. 28, 1617, on the Reſignation of Mich. Rabbet.

BENNET, MATTHEW, A. M. St. Nicholas-Acon, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 105.

To which he had been admitted Feb. 15, 1636, on the Preſentation of his Moſt Sacred Majeſty King Charles I. He was likewiſe ſometime Rector of Harlington in the County of Middleſex. He was a Learned and Genteel Man, and Valued by Biſhop Uſher. He died, as I judge, during the Uſurpation; at leaſt, ſome time before July 18, 1661.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 521.

BOOSIE, ——, D. D. St. Olave's-Silver-Street, R.

He was Abuſed, and died with Grief: So that his ill Uſage bringing him to his End, I make no Scruple to place him in this Liſt.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 517.

BOOTH, ——, . St. Botolph-Aldersgate, .

Ibid. p. 516

He was alſo Plundered. This is a Donative; whether in Tenure deemed Equal to a Freehold, quære.

BRADSHAW, NICOLAS, A. M. St. Mildred-Bread-ſtreet, R.

Ibid. p. 499

He had been Admitted to this Living June 27, 1604. I preſume he died during the Uſurpation. About 1655, Richard Adams came to this Rectory, who loſt it again after the Reſtoration, for Nonconformity.

· BRAY, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Martin's in the Fields, V.

Ibid. p. 492.

· He had been Collated to this Vicar, by the B. of London,

Digitized by Google

London, March 2, 1632. See Canterbury-Cathedral.

BROUGH, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Michael's-Cornhill, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 483. See Gloucester-Cathedral. He Resigned this Living in 1663.

I find one Matthaduke Brown, and one Joseph Brown of this Place; which of these Two was the Sufferer, I know not. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 917.

BROWN, ——, . Bridewell-Precinct. Of whom I know nothing more.

BROWN, JONATHAN, L. L. D. St. Faith's, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 849. See Hereford-Cathedral.

BROWN, THOMAS, D. D. St. Mary-Aldermary, R.

Ibid. p. 436. He was not Formally Sequestred, but Forced to Forsake this Living. See Windsor.

CHAMBERS, RICHARD, D. D. St. Andrew-Hubbard, R.

Ibid. p. 265 I guess he died during the Usurpation. He had been admitted, as 'tis thought, in 1622.

CHESHIRE, RICHARD, D. D. St. Nicholas Olave's, R. And Heston, V. in Middlesex. . . . .

Ibid. p. 509, 646. He had been Collated to the Latter of these by the Bishop of London, Nov. 15, 1616, being then B. D. only; but was forc'd to quit that, and his Living in London, in 1642; being Molested and Forc'd to Resign: At which time the House of Commons placed one John Creffe into St. Olave's. I believe he Died before the Restoration.

* Or Chestlen. *CHESTLIN, ROBERT, A. M. St. Matthew's Friday-street, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 476 This was the Living of which Burton had been deprived for his Seditious and Scandalous Practices, in 1637; at which time he was Succeeded by Mr. Jos. Brown, who in 1640, Resigning it again, Mr. Chestlin was admitted to it Oct. 8, that Year; and his being thus unhappily placed in this Living, was alone, no question, sufficient to make him a Jesuit, an Arminian, or any thing else, that should conduce to the Displacing of him, in order to Re-possess Burton (as the Event afterwards shew'd,) whenever the Party should have it in their Power so to do. And accordingly, in the Beginning of the Rebellion some of Burton's Old Disciples in the Parish, resolved with themselves, by unjust Molestations, to weary out Mr. Chestlin if they could; and by that means to make way for Mr. Burton. To this purpose they deny to pay him his Tithes, or any other accustom'd Dues; and endeavour'd what they could, to draw others into the same Conspiracy with themselves: Nor were some of them ashamed openly to profess this wicked End for which they designed it. This put Mr. Chestlin upon petitioning Sir Edmond Wright, then Lord Mayor, which (the Ecclesiastical Court being suppress'd) was the only Remedy he had left; the Stature having empower'd the Ld. Mayor, in case any one should apply to him, to Judge of these Matters. When the Hearing came on, Isaac Pennington, tho' not at all interested in the Cause, otherwise than to countenance Mr. Chestlin's Factious and Sacrilegious Parishioners, took especial Care to be present, and openly reviled Mr. Chestlin, calling him Sawcy Jack, brazen-faced Fellow, and the like; and withal had the Modesty to Threaten the Judge himself; who, however, in a just Indignation, reply'd, what shall I be afraid to do Justice? As indeed he was not: For upon a full Hearing, he gave Sentence for Mr. Chestlin, and order'd the Parishioners to pay their Tithes. However, Faction and Malice are too industrious to give out for One bad Bargain; and accordingly they prosecute their wicked Designs yet even further: For One of the Parishioners utterly refused to obey the Lord Mayor's Decree; For which his Lordship, as he was empower'd by the Statute, proceeds to commit him: But those great Patrons of the Law, in direct opposition to all Law and Justice, set him again at Liberty, tho' he was in Prison upon Execution; which was done in the Name of the House of Commons, by Two of their Members. After this, these Indefatigably wicked Men resolve upon another Course with Mr. Chestlin, which was to Dispossess him, if possible, by an Action of Ejectment. In order to which they make a Common Purse, and declare they will have him out, tho' it cost them 500 l. but this not being Feasible, they presently give it over, and betake themselves to another Method, and Trumpet him about for a Preacher of Popery and Arminianism; which had such Effect, that he could not pass the Streets without being affronted and flouted at. After this they endeavour to dissuade his Parishioners from hearing him, telling 'em that they would be Damned, if they lived under his Ministry, and Branding them with the Name of Malignants, if they offer'd to live in Obedience to, and Communion with that Person, whom both the Laws of God and Man had made their Spiritual Father and Governour. And to this they added another Contrivance; which was, to get those deeply Tax'd in all Assessments, who attended his Ministry: They also threw menacing Libels into his House, provoked him as they could have occasion to speak of many things (relating to the Times) that they might have wherewithal to accuse him; and Examin'd into his Conversation in all Places where he had liv'd, even from his very Childhood. After which they go from House to House for Hands to a Petition to the House of Commons against him; the Subject-matter of which was, That he had preached false Doctrine: And if any Man refus'd to Subscribe that Known Lye, in their Spirit of Meekness, they call'd them Malignants, Papists, and Enemies to Religion. About Mar. 1641, this worthy Petition was brought into the House, in the Name, forsooth, of the whole Parish; altho' no less than Three Parts of Four Protested against it under their own Hands. When it was thus brought in, Pennington and Venne pleaded earnestly for the Reading of it, and took that Occasion to revile Mr. Chestlin in a most wicked manner; representing him as a very Dangerous Man. At their Instances the Witnesses (who, to note that by the way, were also the Promoters) were produc'd and Examin'd. However, at that time the Petition was thrown out as Frivolous: But these Bloodhounds would not thus quit the Scent: For, saith my Author, to shew the World that Malice is Part of a Puritan's Preparation for the Sacrament; Upon the Easter-Eve, in a very thin House, and when Private Business had been by their own Order laid aside, Pennington and Venne bring on the Petition again, and get it referred to the Committee for Scandalous Miniſters, who ſat in Eaſter-Week, on purpoſe to do that Good Work: But whilſt Mr. Cheſtlin was thus under a Tedious and Chargeable Attendance, it pleas'd God to take off the Chief Promoter of his Proſecution, with whom alſo, for the preſent, died Mr. Cheſtlin's Trouble and Vexation: However, not in ſuch a manner, but that it had a Reſurrection, and was Reviv'd by a Combination of the Faction, to make Mr. Burton their Lecturer, ſince they could not obtain him for their Miniſter. For which purpoſe they obtain Subſcriptions, which they Annex to a Petition, and Preſent it to the Houſe of Commons; who readily gave Mr. Burton the Command of Mr. Cheſtlin's Pulpit: But Mr. Cheſtlin refuſing to part with his undoubted Right, Godly Mr. Caſe adviſes the Faction to Frame New Articles againſt him: In Obedience to which Ghoſtly Counſel, they take for the Matter of their Accuſation, an Honeſt and Loyal Sermon which he happen'd to Preach on the memorable 23d of October, the very Day on which the Battle at Edge-Hill was fought: Upon which a Warrant is granted for the Apprehenſion of Mr. Cheſtlin; when they Riotouſly aſſault him in his Houſe with great Tumults, armed with drawn Swords and Piſtols, and feizing him in great Triumph, carry him to the Court of Aldermen, where Pennington the Pretended Lord Mayor, had at that time the Chair, and Captain Venne, the Ringleader of the Mobb, ſtood forth, and accuſed him for a Dangerous Seditious Preacher, a Delinquent, and for ſome other Facts which were notoriouſly Falſe. Here every Alderman had a Fling at him; and at length having made him a publick Scorn of the Multitude, Pennington commits him into the Hands of his Accuſers, to expoſe him to more Abuſe, and to commit him to the Compter, altho' Mr. Cheſtlin's Father tender'd Bail of 10000 l. for him; but it not being accepted, he was ſent away into Cuſtody, and the Rabble being now made Serjeants, they threaten to carry him in a Cart through the open Streets to Priſon. The Friday following he was brought to the Bar of the Houſe; and preſently, tho' no Witneſs appeared, tho' no Crime was objected, tho' no Accuſer appeared againſt him, they order him Priſoner to Colcheſter-Jeyl, during the Pleaſure of the Houſe; and inſert in the very Warrant for his Commitment, a Clauſe appointing him to pay his own Charges. And thus Mr. Cheſtlin being remov'd, that Infamous, Stigmatiz'd Schiſmatick Burton was Thruſt into his room. The Day following Mr. Cheſtlin was convey'd to Colcheſter, where he was Thruſt into the Noſom Common Gaol, with Thieves and Felons. Whilſt he remain'd in this Durance, whoever made him a Viſit, was in danger of being Plunder'd: And becauſe ſome of his Friends had the Courage to come to him, they took that Occaſion of Spreading a Rumour, as if great Numbers of Cavaliers reſorted to him, brought him Arms, and they knew not what; and by ſeveral Petitions, and other means, poſſeſs the Houſe and the Committee, as if the Town was not in Safety while he was there. At length, with much adoe, he had Liberty to be remov'd to a Private Houſe; and tho' this was done by their own Order, yet they not only Reproach'd and Revil'd Honeſt Mr. Hammond who entertain'd him, but got him ſent for up to the Parliament, and Committed for Receiving Mr. Cheſtlin into his Houſe. It was Oct. 1642, when he was firſt taken into Cuſtody, and he continu'd ſo till the February following, when the King's Expreſs Warrant was ſent for his Releaſe; but that being taken no Notice of, Mr. Cheſtlin contriv'd a Way to make his Eſcape to his Majeſty at Oxford; but his Goods in the mean time at London could not meet with ſuch an Eaſie Conveyance; for they fell all into the Hands of the Rabble, who brake up his Houſe, and Plunder'd them.

Digitized by Google

Before I proceed further to the ſmall Remainder of what I have to ſay of him, I muſt obſerve to the Reader, that tho' the Particulars of Mr. Cheſtlin's Sufferings happen to be related thus at large, whilſt ſo very little is ſaid of Others; yet he is not to think that thoſe Inhumane Barbarities were Exerciſ'd upon him alone; but is to believe, that ſuch Shameleſs and Outragious Injuſtice was practiſed upon moſt of the reſt of the London and Other Clergy; and that it is not becauſe they did not undergo the ſame Sufferings, but becauſe the Particulars of them did not happen to be preſerv'd, that the Accounts of the Reſt are ſo much ſhorter. And therefore what is here ſaid of Mr. Cheſtlin, is to be look'd upon as a Standing Comment on theſe comprehenſive Terms (which I have ſuch frequent Occaſion to make uſe of) Sequeſtred, Plunder'd, and Forc'd to Fly.

But, to proceed; What became of Mr. Cheſtlin, after he betook himſelf to his Majeſty at Oxford, I know not; ſave that he Died before the Reſtoration: At which time Mr. Hen. Hurſt, who had before been poſſeſs'd of this Living, accepted of the Biſhop's Collation to it; but Quitted it again in 1662, for Nonconformity.

Chibbald, James, A. M. St. Nicholas-Cole-Abby, R.

He ſucceeded in this Living March 6, 1640, on the Death of his very worthy Father Mr. Will. Chibbald. He was Educated at Magdalen College in Oxford; which is all that I know of him; only I gueſs he did not ſurvive the Uſurpation.

* Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 544.

One Jac. Sibbald was Lecturer of Cumae of St James-Clerkenwell in Nov. 1641. Quere. Mem. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 656.

Childerly, John, D.D. St. Dunſtan's in the Eaſt, R. And Sheinfield, R. in Eſſex. . : . .

He had been of St. John's College in Oxford; and whilſt Junior Fellow there, became Preacher to the Engliſh Merchants Trading to Stede. After his Return, he became Chaplain ſucceſſively to p. 510. Richard and George, Arch-biſhops of Canterbury, ſome time Rector of S. Mary-Woolnoth, and in 1626, was by his Majeſty preſented to St. Dunſtan's; ſo which he was Admitted the 23d of June that Year. Altho' he was Blind, and had been paſt Preaching for near Thirty Years, yet they ſpar'd not to Revile, Abuſe, and Sequeſter him. He Died very Aged in 1645. He was a Learned Divine, and had been in his time a very Eminent and Frequent Preacher: Nor had his Age alone, but his continual Labour alſo, contributed to the Loſs of his Sight.

Wood, Ath' Vol. I. p. 729. Lloyd, Mem. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 384.

Clark, John, . St. Ethelborough, R.

He was Collated to this Living Mar. 22, 1632, by the Biſhop of London. In the Beginning of the Rebellion he was Sequeſtred for Preaching Popiſh Doctrine; and among other Charges of that kind, this is One, That he had ſaid, the Very Cloaths and Raggs wherein Chriſt was wrapt, were Glorious Raggs; and that the Croſs wherein Chriſt was Crucified, was made of four ſorts of Wood. The Remainder of his Charge was Tavern and Alehouſe-Haunting; as alſo Drunkenneſs: But what compleats it, is his having ſaid, That the Parliament could not meddle with, or ſettle the Buſineſs of the Church, they being not Scholars, but Mechanick Men. On theſe Accuſations he was both Ibid. p. 246 White's Cent. p. 25.

Digitized by Google

both Sequester'd, and Imprison'd: But he outlived his Own and the Nation's Sufferings, was Restor'd with his Majesty and the Church in 1660, and died possess'd of this Living in 1676.

CLEWET, RICHARD, D.D. St. Anne Aldersgate, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles' Vol. I. p. 278. See St. Paul's Cathedral. During some Part of the Usurpation Mr. Daniel Bachelor had this Living, and after Lost it for Non-conformity.

* Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 115, confounds him with Isaac Colf, Rector of Chaldwell in Essex. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 191.

COLF, * ABRAHAM, A. M. St. Leonard Eastt-Cheap, R.

He was Admitted to this Living Jan. 30, 1609; but upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion was forc'd to give it up to Mr. Robrough, Scribe to the Assembly of Divines: After which he Retir'd to his Vicaridge of Lewisham in Kent, where he Founded and Endowed a Free-School and an Alms-House, and Died there Dec. 5, 1657. Thus much I am assur'd, belongs to Mr. Abraham Colf; but as for the Remainder of what Wood saith, since he hath by Mistake Blended the Accounts (or at least the Names) of Two Persons together, I know not how to distinguish what properly belongs to Each of them.

COOK, JOHN, A. M. St. Mary Somerset, R.

Ibid. p. 456. He was Admitted to this Living on the Death of Mr. Tho. Burton, Oct. 13, 1631; and though Sequestred in the Times of the Rebellion, yet he liv'd to Re-possess his Place on the Restoration, and Died not till 1676.

COOK, RALPH, B.D. St. Gabriel Fenchurch, R.

Ibid. p. 351. He was Admitted on his Majesty's Presentation, Feb. 27, 1637. He liv'd to be Restor'd in 1660.

COOPER, WILLIAM, . St. Thomas the Apostle, R.

His Admission to this Living appears not; but Ibid. p. 352. he occurs Rector in 1636. He was Dispossess'd by the House about Apr. 1643, at which time he was also Plunder'd and sent Prisoner to Leeds-Castle in Kent; and at length Died with Grief. His Successor, nominated by the Parliament at the time of his being Dispossess'd, was James Mor.

CRANE, THOMAS, B. D. St. Laurence-Jewry, V.

Ibid. p. 386. He was Admitted to this Living Jan. 5, 1631. I don't find that he Return'd to it in 1660; and therefore Guess he Died under the Usurpation.

DRAPER, JOSEPH, . Hospital and Curacy of St. Thomas Southwark.

P. 37. He makes up one of the Century of Scandalous and Malignant Priests. The Causes of his Sequestration are thus assign'd in that Infamous Pamphlet; That he is a Common Drunkard, and common Haunter of Taverns and Ale-Houses, and a common Swearer, and hath Express'd great Malignity against the Parliament; affirming them to be all Rogues, and that he was confident God would shew no Mercy to them that died in the Parliament-Service; and that all that went forth into their Service were Rogues and Rascals; and that those which died in their Service at Edge Hill, went to the Devil. He was Dispossess'd in the Year 1643; and the true Occasion of it (as I find by the Original Petition of his Widow to the Corporation for Ministers Widows, &c.) was this: After Edge-Hill Fight, some Wounded Soldiers of the Parliament-Army were brought to this Hospital; and one of them being in a dying condition, Mr. Draper, according to his Duty, attended upon him; and endeavouring to assist him in the Review of his Life (in order to his Exercising of a Hearty Repentance for such Sins as he had committed) among other things, suggested to him the Heinousness of Rebellion, from that Text of the Apostle, Let every Soul be subject, &c. (which was undoubtedly the Foundation of that Part of his Accusation, That he had 'said, that those who Dy'd in their Service at 'Edge-Hill, went to the Devil) Two Women being by, went and swore Blasphemy and Treason against him to the Parliament. On this, 'he was sent for by a File of Musqueteers, kept 'Prisoner Six Months in a very sad Condition, 'his Wife having lain in but a Fortnight, they 'rifle the House, and took away all that was 'therein. She was forc'd to make Friends to 'get her Husband to come to his Trial. On 'Examination, the Witnesses that swore against 'him, were proved to be Persons that came there 'to be Cured of the P——x. Being releas'd, he went into Kent, where he was also ill Treated, Seiz'd, and carried before the Committee, on pretence (for some Person swore it) that he came thither to raise Arms for the King, and to bring in Sir Edward Dearing with a great Army, whose Face he had never seen. On this, the Committee made him a Prisoner, put Irons about his Neck, and lock'd his Right Hand to his Side, and put him into a Free-Stone Yard, where he had nothing but Heaven for his Canopy, and lay in that miserable Condition for a long time. At length, by the Intercession of some Friends, he got his Release; but grew Distracted on his Sufferings two Years. Afterwards Sir John Jennings of St. Alban's gave him a small Living, which he was permitted to keep until the Restoration. How long he survived that Happy Day, I know not; but 'tis plain that after his Death, his Family were in a miserable Condition, and Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation before-mentioned.

This Person in the Century is called Davis: but I am satisfied, as well from the Christian Name, as from the last Circumstance of his Accusation, that the Person there meant, is the same with this Mr. Draper, and that it is by Mistake Printed Davis.

See what Credit is to be given to White's Calumnies, since he took them from the Depositions of such pretended Witnesses.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811. White, Cent. p. 40.

He was Instituted to this Living, Apr. 28, 1641. upon the Presentation of William Earl of Exeter.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 593.

Was not Sir John Jennings, but Richard Jennings, Esq. who Presented him to it. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 882.

Viz. the Vicaridge of Sandridge in Hertfordshire, which he Quitted again in 1661. It

DUKESON, RICHARD, D. D. St. Clement Danes, R.

He was Originally of the University of Cambridge, but incorporated at Oxford in the Year 1643; at which time he had, as I conjecture, fled thither for Shelter, as great Numbers of the Loyal Clergy did. White is not asham'd to put him into his Scandalous Century, for the following Reasons, as they are there Alledg'd; That he had Taught that Children dying after Baptism, were saved by the Faith of their Godfathers and Godmothers. The Misrepresentation of which Charge may be seen at the First View: That he us'd to Game for Money, to Swear by the Faith of a Priest, before God, and upon his Salvation: That he spake against Extempore Prayer, Observed ved the Orders of the Church, refused to Admit a Factious Lecturer, discourag'd the Collection for Wounded Soldiers of the Rebel Army, Refused the Protestation; and being desired to Lead his People in Taking the Covenant, said, he would not lead them into Sin; not Preaching on Christmas-Day* in the Afternoon; saying, it had been happy for the Kingdom, if no Puritans had been also Plunder'd, and was by the House ordered to be Imprisoned July 13, 1642, for Reading his Majesty's Declaration.

Digitized by Google

If they mean one of their Faults, but that Day, what wonder is it? if otherwise, how is this an Accusation, unless themselves pretend and do to hold that a great Festival.*

* Or George

ECCOP, * GERRARD, A. M. St. Pancras Soper's-Lane, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 519.

He was Admitted to this Rectory, Dec. 22, 1636, and about 1643, was Dispossest of it again by the Parliament; who at that time also Substituted Cristopher Goad in his Room. He was also Plundered, forc'd to Fly, and his Wife and Children were Turned out of Doors. I believe he never lived to see the Restoration.

Ibid. p. 576.

EDLIN, PHIL. B. D. St. John Zachary, R. Bushey, R. in Hertfordshire, then worth 300 l. per Ann. And Kept out of the Lecture of Gray's-Inn. . . . . .

Ibid. p. 616.

He was Presented to Bushey, Feb. 4, 1642, on the Resignation of Dr. Seaton (whom see in that County, and the Note there) and Dispossest of it, as I guess, about the 11*th* of July 1643, by the House of Commons; who at the same time Order'd him to be kept out of the Lecture at Gray's-Inn. His Sequestration was first Voted in a Committee of Parliament, of which White the Centurist had the Chair. That most Bitter and Implacable Enemy of the Clergy, had a House in Hertfordshire, not far from Bushey; tho' Mr. Edlin reaped no Advantage from his Neighbourhood; but rather in all probability fared much the worse for it: Because when it was pleaded in his Behalf, that he was a Man of most admirable Learning and Piety, the Worthy Chair-man, as 'tis said, Replied, that he was the more Dangerous for that; and Sentence passed upon him accordingly: Although the utmost that was proved against him, after the basest Methods to hunt for Accusations where he had formerly Lived, was, That he had said, His Majesty had gotten One Victory over his Enemies, and he hoped e're long he would overcome them all: Which was Testified against him by a Maid-Servant of his own Family. I must not forget to add, That when he was Turned out of St. John Zachary, he was also Plundered, and Forced to Fly. He died, as I guess, under the Usurpation.

Lloyd seems to insinuate (but no one can understand what Author) as if he had affronted Bishop Laud.

Lloyd also mentions his Frequent and Excellent Preaching, and his most Exemplary Life, Mem. p. 511.

FAIRFAX, WILL, D. D. St. Peter's Cornhill, R. And East-Ham, V. in Essex. . . . .

He was Originally of the University of Cambridge, and came to the Living of St. Peter's Cornhill in the Year 1626, if I mistake not. He is one of White's Scandalous and Malignant Priests; in whole Infamous Century the Causes of his Sequestration are thus assigned: That he Refused to Administer the Sacrament, but at the Rails; That he refused to admit Lecturers into his House; That he used to Play at Cards on the Sabbath-Day, to be often Drunk, and to Frequent the Company of Ill Women in a very suspicious manner; and that he had Charged the Parliament to be the Cause of all the Troubles and Disturbances in the Kingdom; as also, that he had neglected his Cure, and Supplied it with Scandalous Curates. Notwithstanding which Heavy Charge, I have heard the Late most Learned and Pious Bishop of St. Asaph (one of his Successors in this Living) say, that he was an Honest Old Gentleman. He was Dispossess'd of this Living by the House of Commons about Aug. 1643; at which time Thomas Coleman was Substituted in his Room by the same Authority. After his Sequestration he was also Plundered and Imprisoned in Southwark, in Ely-House, in the Tower, and on Skip-board; and died in 1655.

He was also Dean of Salisbury-College (but whether that be a Piece of Preferment, I am not informed) and Chaplain in Ordinary to K. Ch. I.

Charged the Parliament with the Cause of all the Troubles in the Kingdom!

A Preacher before the Long Parliament, and a Favourer of the Presbyterian and Independent Principles. See Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 32.

* FEATLEY, DANIEL, D.D. Lambeth, R. And Acton, R. in Middlesex. . . . .

* Alias Fairclough.

He was descended from an Ancient Family in Lancashire; but Born at Charleton upon Otmore in Oxfordshire; was first a Chorister of Magdalen College, and thence Elected to a Scholarship in C. C. C. in Oxford; of which afterwards he became Fellow; and having made himself known by his great Learning, not only in his College, but Abroad also, he was by Sir Tiveniat Edmonds taken for his Chaplain, when he went on his Embassie to France; where, to the great Honour both of the Protestant Religion, and the English Nation, he held many Disputes with the Sorbon Doctors, and justly won himself (what indeed his Adversaries were so fair as to give him) the Title of Acutissimus and Acerrimus. Upon his Return into England, he was made Rector of Northill in Cornwall, and from thence sent for soon after to be Chaplain to Arch-bishop Abbot; who not long afterwards preferred him to the Living of Lambeth. In 1617, he proceeded in Divinity at Oxford, at which time, it seems, he had so much Non-pluss'd Dr. Prideaux the Professor, that it occasioned a Quarrel; in which the Arch-bishop himself was forced to interpose. There happen'd to be present at the Disputation Marc. Ant. de Dom. Arch-bishop of Spalato, at that time Master of the Savoy; who was so much pleased with that Performance of Dr. Featley, as forthwith to bestow upon him a Brother's Place in that Hospital. About that time also he had the Rectory of All-hallows-Breadstreet, which he exchanged afterwards for that of Acton in Middlesex, to which he was Admitted Jan. 30, 1622, and at length became also the Third and Last Provost of Chelsey-College. It was about 1625, that he quitted the Se-

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 37. Great Hist. Dict.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 529, 630

Mem. Russ. p. 166.

I have not yet seen my Life, written by his Nephew

Query if he did not also hold that also.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 372.

Digitized by Google

He was also Chaplain to his Majesty K. Char. I. but when he became so, I do not find.

Service of the Arch-biſhop of Canterbury; after which he laid aſide his Polemical Divinity, and wholly Devoted himſelf to the Study and Practice of Piety and Charity; the Exerciſe of which he enjoy'd until the Breaking out of the Civil Wars, when he was Plunder'd, Harraſs'd, Impriſon'd, and moſt miſerably uſed. In Novemb. 1642, a Party of the Rebels, which were quartered at Acton, underſtanding that he was very Exact in obſerving the Canons and Rubricks, came to his Church, the Doors of which they brake open; and finding this Inſcription on the Wall, This Chancel was Repair'd and Beautify'd ſuch a Year by Daniel Featley, D. D. Rector; they immediately Deface it, and then proceed to Tear up the Rails, which they Burnt in the open Street, declaring at the ſame time, that if they had the Parſon there, they would burn him with his Popiſh Trinkets: They alſo Drank and Eat up his Proviſion, and either by Accident or Deſign, Burnt down a Barn of his full of Corn, and two Stables, the Loſs amounting to 211 l. and at the ſame time did not only Prophane the Church there by their Beaſtly Actions, but alſo burnt the Rails (as is before ſaid) pulled down the Font, brake the Windows, and I know not what. In Feb. after they committed the ſame Outrages, or rather worſe at his other Living of Lambeth alſo; where on the 19*th* of that Month, Four or Five Soldiers came to the Church in the time of Divine Service, with a Deſign, as it afterwards appear'd, to Murther the Doctor, who was happily prevented by an Intimation of the Deſign, after he was come out of his Houſe in order to go to Church; but tho' the Doctor eſcap'd, Two other poor Wretches periſhed by their Murderous Hands: For ruſhing into the Church with Piſtols and Drawn Swords, they affrighted the Whole Congregation, wounded one of them, who ſoon after Dy'd, and Shot another Dead on the Place; and withal declared, that could they get the Doctor, they would chop the Rogue as ſmall as Herbs to the Pot, for ſuffering Vottage (for by that Name they uſually ſtiled the Book of Common-Prayer) to be read in his Church; others ſaid, they would ſqueeze the Pope out of his Belly, &c. In a Sunday or two after, the Doctor had the Courage to appear again in his Pulpit at Lambeth; and perceiving ſome of the Sectaries at Church, he very largely and openly declared his Opinion againſt them; for which, and ſome other things, Three Mechaniſts of his Pariſh, who had formerly been indicted for Browniſts at the County-Seſſions, preferred Articles againſt him to the Committee for Plundered Miniſters. What his Uſage was before that Committee, I have already ſaid in the Firſt Part: I ſhall only here take notice, that as he paſſed to and from the Committee, he was not only Flouted and Hooted at by the Mob, but Twice in evident Danger of his Life: But notwithſtanding all this, he was afterwards Nominated one of the Aſſembly of Divines, and ſate among them; and not only ſo, but he was alſo Singled out by the Houſes themſelves for peculiar Services: For the Review of St. Paul's Epiſtles, as alſo the Marginal Annotations and Expoſition were committed to his Care: And he was alſo by them put upon anſwering the Popiſh Pamphlet, called the Safeguard. Whilſt he thus attended the Aſſembly, he received a Letter from his Majeſty, forbidding him to Sit any longer among them. In Anſwer to which he wrote One to Dr. Uſher, Arch-biſhop of Armagh; which being intercepted, a Copy of it was ſtift taken (but very Falſly, and with Additions) and then it was forwarded to Dr. Uſher: This was ſent to the Committee of Examination, and afterwards to the Houſe: Upon which Dr. Featley was taken into Cuſtody of a Serjeant at Arms; and then (becauſe he would not ſwallow the Covenant) September 30, 1643, committed Priſoner to the Lord Peter's Houſe in Aldersgate-ſtreet, where he was kept as Poor as the ſevereſt Cenſure of Authority could make him. I muſt now inform the Reader, that the Committee of Plunder'd Miniſters had Voted his Sequeſtration at his Appearance before them; but when their Reſolution came to be reported to the Houſe, it was thrown out: But now upon the intercepting of this Letter, the Houſe re-aſſum'd that Matter, and Diſpoſſeſs'd him of both his Livings, on thoſe very Articles, if I miſtake not, which about a Year before, they had thrown out as Frivolous, Scandalous, &c. for I find thoſe Articles read in his Church at Lambeth the Sunday following.

Answer to the Articles againſt Dr. Featley.

Gerrard Laſh.

See Clar. Hiſt. Vol. II. p. 281. where are ſome things inconſiſtent with Dr. Featley's own Account of that Matter, which I have followed in his Relation, and wiſh, it may be, that both are not ſeen.

Underwent cruel Wants (Clar. Hiſt. Vol. II. p. 286.) which haſtened his Death.

This Reſolution of the Houſe was taken September 30, 1643. At Lambeth they ſubſtituted the famous Mr. John White, who afterwards got an Order for Dr. Featley's Library alſo, in lieu of his own, which had been ſeized at Dorcheſter by the Order of Prince Rupert: At Acton they thruſt in Phil. Nye: Nor was this all; for they likewiſe ſeized his Houſe, his Goods, and his Eſtate, and put them all under Sequeſtration. After theſe Proceedings of the Parliament, 'tis not to be wonder'd at, that he was Abuſed and Vilified in the Diurnals, and other Weekly Papers; in which, tho' they had before celebrated him for a Grave, a Good, and Famous Doctor, he is now called Court-Spy, Traytor, Rotten Member, &c. and withal they traduce him as * complaining of the Sequeſtration of his Living at Lambeth, ſetting forth his Merits in Viſiting the King's Priſoners, ſuing for a Biſhoprick, and owning, that all the while he had diſſembled with the Aſſembly; tho' there was not one Syllable of all this in the Letter: And alſo affirmed, that in the Aſſembly he had Voted for the Extirpation of Popery and Prelacy; which was true as to the former Part of it, but as to the latter, a moſt barefaced and known Falſhood. And further, they make him to have mention'd the burning of his Barn at Acton; and on that Occaſion moſt impudently tell the World, That he ſuffered no great Loſs by it, for there was no Corn in it; whereas it was full, as was notoriouſly known at that Time: But in truth the whole Subſtance of the Letter was taken up in theſe Three Points (beſides the Anſwer to his Majeſty's Command) viz. That he acquainted Biſhop Uſher, who was one of the Members of it at that Time, with ſome Paſſages of the Aſſembly; That he conſulted him in ſome Points of Faith, and, which made it Capital, did indeed imploy his Intereſt to get him a Deanery.

In terminis.

The Obſervators and Reporters of thoſe Times.

* Vid. in the intercepted Letter.

I have been the more particular in accounting for the many Sufferings of this great Man, becauſe he was a known Champion for the Proteſtant Cauſe, Calviniſtical (in great meaſure) as to his Opinions, a Man of Moderation, and not many Months before, a moſt Celebrated Favourite of the Party; and yet becauſe he would not run all their Lengths with them, they were ſo far from ſhewing him any Favour, that they rather ſeemed to have ſingled him out for peculiar Sufferings: A moſt proper Subject, I ſhould think, for the Meditations of the Patrons of Moderation in our Times. But to proceed, he continued in Durance till the beginning of March 1644; when being drawn very weak and low by the Dropſie, he got a Certificate from his Phyſician, that he could not live long, if he had not ſome freſh Air; and then, after much Application made to the Parliament in his behalf, he was upon good Bail permitted to go to † Cheſea-College for Six Weeks;

The Words of the Noble Lord Clarendon on this Occaſion (which I have ſince met with) are theſe: So ſollicitous was that Party, &c. And to implacable to any who were weary of their Journey, tho' they had accompanied them very far in their way.

† The Profits of which however I ſhould think, they had not left him, ſeeing they ſeized his Eſtate, &c. (but Quaere.) And if ſo, then this alſo muſt be added to the other Preferments, ſtated in Sect.

Digitized by Google

where he ſpent the remainder of his Time in much Piety and Devotion, declaring earneſtly againſt the Covenant, expreſſing his utmoſt Abhorence of the Sectaries, his high Eſteem of Epiſcopacy, and praying earneſtly againſt the Enemies of the Church: He died April 17, 1645, which was the very laſt Day of the Liberty allowed him by the Parliament. He was eſteemed to be one of the moſt Reſolute and Victorious Champions of the Proteſtant Religion in his Time, a Compendium of the learned Tongues, and of all the Liberal Arts and Sciences. He was alſo moſt ſeriouſly and ſoundly Pious and Devout; and in a word, Tam ſtudio quàm Exercitio, Theologus inſignis.

In the 61th Year of his Age.

See his many and learned Works in Wood.

Thus much muſt be ſaid of him; but his writing againſt A. B. Laud, and his ſuing for the Deanery, are Blots which cannot be wiped out. For the former, ſee Heylin's Hiſt. of Laud, p. 52. and for the latter, ſee Clarend. Hiſt. Vol. II. p. 286. See alſo Heyl. Hiſt. Presb. p. 403.

Finch, Edward, A.M. Chriſt-Church, V.

Wood, Ath. Vol II p. 469. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol I. p. 320.

He was a Cambridge Man, Brother to Sir John Finch, afterwards Lord Finch of Fordwich, and Admitted to this Living December 9, 1630: He was the very * firſt Parochial Clergy-man that I find actually Diſpoſſeſſed, which was done by the whole Houſe, May, 8, 1641; when it was reſolved, that he was unfit to hold any Benefit or Promotion in the Church: This was done on ſeveral Articles preferred againſt him (of which I have already ſpoken in the firſt Part) and Buſineſs of this kind not being at that Time ſo plentiful in the Houſe, nor the Members of it as yet ſo barefaced and open in their Oppreſſion, Mr. White was ordered to prepare the Tranſmiſſion of his Caſe to the Lords, to the end that the Parith of Chriſt-Church might be the ſooner eaſed of him. He died ſoon after the Sequeſtration: And Feb. 1. 1642, William Jenkins was admitted to it; who was afterwards (for what † Reaſons I know not) Diſpoſſeſſed alſo, as I find by the Books of the Commiſſioners for the Approbation of publick Preachers: However after that he obtained it again, but loſt it a ſecond Time for Non-conformity in 1662.

* Dr. Cofin was the firſt Dignitary turned out, which was January 1. 1643-4. but the firſt Reſolution of this kind, which I find, was in the Caſe of Mr. Peel of Wickham; only I am not abſolutely certain, whether the Sentence againſt Mr. Peel was then immediately put in Execution or not (it paſt Jan. 16th 1643-4.) and was this, That he is unfit to continue the Miniſterial Function any more; or in truth whether it only ſtood him, and to leſt the Profits, at leaſt for ſome time, ſtill in his Hands. See Ibid. Peel in Berks, and Mr. Latham in Staffordſhire.

† But gueſs it is have been for his being concerned with Love, &c. See Wood Ath. Vol. II p. 552.

Foxley, ——, . Preacher's-Place at the Charter-Houſe.

However for the ſake of what follows, Quere whether he was not prior than the Reader here.

He was a Second Sufferer in it (ſee Mr. Tutchival in the Liſt of the London-Clergy) if I miſtake not. I believe he was the Perſon, whom the Houſe of Commons order'd to be Sequeſtred in September 1643. under the Title of Reader at the Charter-Houſe.

Freeman, Richard, St. James Garlick-Hithe, R. And Spring-field, R. in Eſſex. . . . .

Kenn. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol I. p. 367. * Who was alſo ſoon after turned out of his other Living, viz. Peter's-Poor, Wharfe, where ſee him.

Perſec. Und. p. 28.

He was Admitted to the former of theſe Livings, April 14, 1642, on the forced Reſignation of Mr. * Marbury; and therefore, tho' he was afterwards indeed Sequeſtred from it, yet I can ſcarce reckon St James's to his Account, becauſe I look upon Mr. Marbury, who was then living, as the equitable Incumbent. However his Sequeſtration here, having paſt in ſuch a peculiar Form as ſhews the moſt barefaced and Outrageous Oppreſſion of the Times, I ſhall ſet it down as followeth: It is this Day ordered by the Committee for Plundered Miniſters, that all the Profits of James Garlick-Hithe be Sequeſtred into the Hands of, &c. from Mr. Freeman the preſent Incumbent, TILL CAUSE BE SHEWN TO THE CONTRARY. Beſides this, Mr. Freeman ran the common Fate with moſt others of the Sequeſtred Clergy; that is, he was Plunder'd as well as Sequeſtred: But he ſurvived the Uſurpation, and was Reſtor'd to the Rectory of Spring-field (at which Time one Reve, who had been in Poſſeſſion of it, was forced to give it up to him) and before his Death became D. D. but about what Time I know not.

But poſſibly not to St. James Garlick-Hithe, becauſe I find J. Buck A. D. admitted there Dec. 27. 1661.

Fuller, Thomas, D.D. The Lecture at the Savoy.

See Salisbury.

Fuller, William, D.D. St. Giles's Cripplegate, V.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 317.

See Durham.

Gifford, ——, D. D. St. Michael Baſſiſhaw, R.

He occurs Rector here in 1636; but how long before he had been poſſeſs'd of it, I do not find. He was turned out in 1642, at which Time one Charles Newton was by the Houſe of Commons ſubſtituted in his Room: I have reaſon to think he died before the Reſtoration.

Ibid. p. 478.

——, ——, . St. George's Southwark, R.

I have not as yet been able to obtain the Name of this Sufferer. In 1657, one Alex. Pigel ſucceeded in this Living.

Grant, John, D. D. St. Bartholomew-Exchange, R.

He had been alſo, if I miſtake not, ſome time Vicar of South-Bemfleet in Eſſex, and died before the Reſtoration.

Ibid. p. 291.

Griffith, Matthew, A.M. St. Mary Magdalen Old-Fiſhſtreet. And * St. Bennet Sherebog, R. . . . .

* See Mr Morgan in this Liſt of London, for Mr. Griffith was a ſecond Sufferer in this Living.

He was a Native of this City, and Deſcended from a good Family of it. He was firſt of Brazen-Noſe-College, and afterwards of Glouceſter-Hall in Oxford. Soon after he took Holy Orders, he was made Lecturer of St. Dunſtan's in the Weſt, and became a very great Favourite of Dr. John Downs. In 1640, he was inſtituted to St. Bennet Sherebog, on the Death of Mr. Morgan; but when the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's collated him to the Church of St. Mary-Magdalen Old Fiſhſtreet, I do not find. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was not only Sequeſtred, but alſo Plunder'd, Impriſon'd in Newgate, and (upon the obtaining of his Liberty) forced to fly to his Majeſty at Oxford; where in 1643, he was actually created D. D. and made Chaplain in Ordinary to that Bleſſed Prince. Upon the Declining of the King's Cauſe he returned to London, where, by ſtealth, he continued the Service of the Church of England to the poor Cavaliers, during the Uſurpation; for which, as 'tis ſaid, he was Seven Times violently Aſſaulted, and Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 552. Lloyd, Mem p. 521. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 305.

Particularly, at the time obſcure Church of St. Nich. Olave's on the Back ſide of Old Fiſhſtreet.

un-

Digitized by Google

For a Sermon before General Monk, where-in he had ex-prest more Loyalty than the Times would bear for which cheer General, to blind the Mobile, first Imprisoned, and soon after Released him.

underwent Five several Imprisonments; the last of which was in Newgate, not very many Weeks before his Majesty's happy Return: Upon which he was restored to the former at least, if not to both his Rectories, and afterwards became Preacher at the Temple, and Rector of Bladon in Oxfordshire, where he died in 1665, in the 68th Year of his Age. He was a Right Loyal, and Worthy Person, and very deserving of some Dignity in the Church, to which notwithstanding it doth not appear that he was ever promoted. See in Wood the Account of what he Published.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 271.

HACKET, JOHN, D. D. St. Andrew's Holbourn, R.

See Lincoln-Church.

Perfec. Und. p. 46 Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 678.

——, ——, . Islington, V. Divers Ministers turned out; I presume successively. I find one William Hunt, A. M. Admitted to this Vicaridge in 1639, and after him one Leonard Cock, some time before 1661; Quære whether either of these Suffered. Who, or what the others might be, whether Curates, Lecturers, &c. I know not.

HAINES, ABRAHAM, A. M. St. Olive's Hart-street, R.

Ibid. p. 512.

He had been Admitted to this Living on the Presentation of Thomas Lord Windsor, December 7, 1633. I have some Reason to think that he did not live to see 1660.

HALSEY, JAMES, D. D. St. Alphage, R.

Ibid. p. 261. Lloyd, Mem. p. 503. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 16. 17.

He had been of Clare-Hall in Cambridge, and was Admitted to this Living on the Collation of the Bishop of London, October 13, 1638. He was one of the most early Sufferers of all the Clergy; being Voted unfit to hold any Ecclesiastical Preferment by the House of Commons, Feb. 22, 1643. He was also shamefully Abused; and when under Examination, was order'd to have his Cap pulled off, to see if he was not a shaven Priest. His ill Usage hasten'd his End; for he died with Grief soon after his being Voted out of his Living; and April 1, 1641, was succeeded therein by the infamous John Sedgwick. He was a Man of admirable Piety, and so very Charitable, that 'tis said of him, he Never met a Poor Man, but he had an Alms to offer him, nor a weak Man; but he had a Comfort to relieve him. Nor can I omit this Particular of him, that he always read the Prayers himself, which was doubtless to shew his own Esteem of them, and to create the same in others.

See his Epitaph, and some-more more of him. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 261.

HANSLOW, JOHN, A. M. St. Christopher's, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 533.

He was so Persecuted that he was forced to Resign; and upon giving up, was succeeded by James Cranford, Jan. 16, 1643. Mr. Hanslow had been but a very little while possess'd of this Living, being Admitted April 4, 1640. See St. Paul's.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 324.

HARISON, EDWARD, . H. Trinity the Less, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 516.

He was Rector in 1636, how long before I know not; he died with Grief not long after his Sequestration.

HALWOOD, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Giles's in the Fields, R.

See Westminster-Church.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 613.

HEATH, WILLIAM, . Stoak-Newington, R.

He out-lived the Usurpation, was Restored, and Resigned in 1664.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 700.

HILL, JOHN, . St. Michael Queenhithe, R.

He occurs Rector in 1636, and was Dispossessed in 1642. I conjecture, he did not live to see the King's Return. But Quære.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 436.

HILL, PERCIVAL, D. D. St. Katharine-Coleman, R.

I presume he was some time Vicar of Dagenham in Essex. See Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 379. Cens. p. 14. 15. †Ab. Kibus. whom so.

He was not formally Sequestred, but forced to Resign in order to prevent it. His Parishioners having Articled against him; and so, that as White himself owns, he fled from the Censure of the Parliament upon the said Articles. I shall have occasion to mention his †Successor by and by: I believe he died under the Usurpation.

HOLDSWORTH, RICHARD, D. D. St. Peter's-Poor, R.

He was Rector here in 1636, but how long before I do not find. See Worcester-Cathedral.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 140.

HOWELL, THOMAS, D. D. St. Stephen's Walbrook, R.

He was Admitted to this Living, April 30, 1635, and Persecuted into a Resignation in the beginning of the Troubles. See Bristol-Cathedral.

Ibid. p. 529.

*HUMES, ——, , St. Dionysius Backschurch, R.

* Or Hamey.

He was Ejected in 1643. He was a Grave Man, and a most Affectionate and Excellent Preacher. I have Reason to think that he died under the Usurpation.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 331. Lloyd, Mem. p. 502.

JERMIN, MICHAEL, D. D. St. Martin's Ludgate, R. And Edburton, R. in Sussex. . . . . }

He was Born at Knowston in the County of Devon; but his Father and Grandfather had undergone some of the chief Offices in the City of Exeter. He was first enter'd in the College of that Name in the University of Oxford, and from thence Elected to a Scholarship in that of Corpus Christi; where he afterwards became likewise Fellow. He was * Chaplain to the Lady Elizabeth, when married to the Elector Palatine of the Rhine; and either in his Passage forward, or Return, made D. D. at Leyden; and in 1624, incorporated in that Degree at his own University. The precise Time of his † Admission to St. Martin's, appears not; but he occurs Rector there in ‡ 1628: He was also Chaplain to his Majesty King Charles I.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 150. who is somewhat Wholly silent as to the Living of Edburton; but I am very well assured, that he both possess'd and lost it, after the breaking out of the Rebellion.

‡ Lloyd, Mem. p. 507. Calls him Brother to Prince's. not.

Judge Jenkins; but how he was so, I leave not.

† Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 416.

‡ Wood saith, about 1618, which must be either his Mistake, or the

Not

Digitized by Google

Not long after the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was Dispossessed of St. Martin's, but was not, as I am informed, turned out of Edburton, until 1654, or thereabouts; for I cannot altogether depend upon the certainty of my Intelligences from thence, as to the Point of Time. Besides the Sequestration of his Livings, he was also Plundered, and suffered much for the Royal Cause, undergoing several Miseries, and Living as Opportunity served, and on the Benevolence of some generous Royalists. After his last Sequestration he retired to Kemsing in Kent; and died suddenly on the Road, betwixt that Place and Sevenoke (where he had been to Preach that Sunday) Aug. 14, 1659. He was always reputed a Pious and Laborious Man in his Caling, Learned, and well read in most Parts of Divinity.

What Few things he Publish'd, lies in Wood.

JOHNSON, JOHN, D. D. St. Mary White-Chapel, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 700.

He out-lived the Usurpation, was Restored; and Resigned this Rectory in 1668. One of both these Names was of St. John's-College in Cambridge, and Taxor in 1632.

JONES, ——, . St. Mary-Magdalen's Milk-street, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 471.

All that I know of him besides his Sequestration, is, that he was succeeded by * Thomas Case.

* Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 339.

ISAACKSON, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Andrew's Wardrobe, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 828

He was Son of Richard Isaackson, Sheriff elect of London, and was younger Brother to the Chronologer Isaackson: He was, as I take it, originally of the University of Cambridge, because I find him Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in 1617. March 26, 1629, he was Admitted to this Living on the Presentation of his Majesty. In January 1642, he was Dispossessed of it by the House of Commons; at which Time one Mocket was thrust into it. What became of him after his Sequestration, I know not; only I conjecture that he died before the Restoration.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 272.

——, ——, . * St. James Duke's-Place.

* Called indeed a Curacy; but Take the Tenure of it to be Establishment to a Freehold.

I cannot yet learn the Name of the Loyalist Ejected from this Living.

* Or Kiberd. * KIBUTS, HENRY, A. M. St. Katharine's Coleman-street, R.

It is very certain that he was Sequestred from this Living; but notwithstanding that, he can scarce be allowed to belong to this List; because Mr. Hill (before-mentioned at this Living) had in Truth the Equitable Right to it: For tho' I do not find but that Mr. Kibuts was Presented to it by the Right Patron, and was regularly Admitted to it, as to other Matters; yet 'tis certain that the Living was not Vacated, but upon the forced Resignation of Mr. Hill for his Loyalty: Only the Parliament were in these Beginnings of the Sequestrations, content with Turning out the Ministers, without Usurping the Patrons Right of Presentation, as they soon after began to do: So that Mr. Kibuts was Collated to this Living by the Bishop of London, whose Gift it was. However he was permitted to Enjoy it but a very little while: For the Party soon got him Removed for the following Reasons, as they are assigned in the Century, where he hath the Misfortune to make up One: For having obtained a Certificate from the Parish by indirect Means, in order to procure himself Collated to it; for frequenting Taverns, Ale-houses, and the Company of a Married Woman of ill Fame, his Behaviour and Converse with whom had been very Unseemly and Suspicious; for Absence from his Cure, subsituting Drunken, Lewd, and Lascivious Curates in it; at length wholly Deserting it; for preising Illegal Innovations, and for Malignancy against the Parliament. I presume he died during the Usurpation; because I do not find that either He, or Mr. Hill, claimed this Living in 1660.

I guess Mr. Kibuts had been either Lecturer or Reader of this Church before Mr. Hill's Resignation.

Apr. 1641.

Apr. 6, 1641. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 179.

P. 35.

KING, PHIL. D. D. St. Botolph's Billingsgate, R.

He was Younger Brother to Dr. Henry King, the Suffering Bishop of Chichester; became Student of Christ-Church in Oxford, and Publick Orator of that University. In the Beginning of the Rebellion he was Sequestred from this Living, and Fled for Sanctuary to Oxford, where he was Created D. D. in 1643. Afterwards he lived a Retir'd Life till the Restoration of his Majesty; at which time he was Re-possessed of his Living, made Treasurer of Chichester July 12, 1660; Aug. 14, following, Prebendary of St. Pancras in the Church of St. Paul; Oct. 11, that same Year, Arch-deacon of Lewes in the Church of Chichester before-named, and Died March 4, 1666. He was, saith Lloyd, a Meek, Charitable, Peaceable, and Good-natur'd Man, and an Excellent Christian.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 732.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 197.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 507.

Perse. Und. p. 42.

Both Lloyd and Wood seem to make him the suffering Archdeacon of Lewes, but I am satisfied that is a Mistake, the Successor was Instituted by the Latter.

LAUNCE, ——, . St. Michael Querne, R.

He was Rector here in 1636; but how long before I know not. He was a most Excellent Pastor, and extreamly belov'd by his Parish before he declared against the Rebellion: Upon the Breaking out of which he was Sequestred in 1642; and did not, as I conjecture, Live to be Restored to it in 1660. But quære.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 490.

One Will. Lance became Vicar of Harrow on the Hill in Middlesex in 1625. Quære if he was the same with this Person; and if he was, whether he suffered there. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 638.

LAYFIELD, EDWARD, D. D. Allhallows-Barking, V.

He had been Admitted here on the Collation of the Arch-bishop of Canterbury, May 4, 1635; and surviving the Usurpation many Years, he was at the time of his Death, in 1680, succeeded in this Vicaridge by the Most Learned Dr. George Hickes, afterwards Dean of Worcester, &c. See St. Paul's Cathedral.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 243

LEECH, JEREMIAH, A. M. St. Mary Le Bow, R.

He was Collated to this Living by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Apr. 28, 1617, and Died with Grief not long after he was Sequestred.

Ibid. p. 444

LITTLETON, JOHN, D. D. The Temple.

Of what nature this Tenure is, I know not; and

Digitized by Google

and therefore am in some Doubt whether it ought to be Ranked here among the Free-holds.

He was Turned out by the House in 1644, for being in the King's Army, and Richard Vines placed in his Room. He was Brother to Sir Edward Littleton.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 597.

MADEN, RICHARD, B. D. St. Mildred Poultry, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 593.

Mem. p. 533. I guess that he had some time no Living of St. Peter's in Colchester. Quere whether he left that also?

* Ath. Vol. II. p. 744.

He was Presented to this Living by his Majesty, and Admitted to it Sept. 17, 1638. After his Ejectment he Fled beyond the Seas; where, if I do not mistake Lloyd, he met with some Preferment: I believe he either died before the Restoration; or, at least, never Returned to Claim his Living again. Lloyd saith, he was never seen to be angry but once, when a most Horrid Oath was Sworn in his Presence. I take him to be the Person mentioned by Wood*, as Author of some Sermons which were made Publick.

MARBURY, EDWARD, . St. Peter's Paul's Wharf, R.
And
* St. James Garlick Hithe, R. . . .

* See Mr. Rich Freeman before.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 528.

To the Latter he was Admitted Nov. 18, 1613.

The time of his Admission to the Former of those Livings, appears not. 'Tis certain he was poss'ss'd of it in the Year 1636. He was forc'd to Resign the Latter of them in 1642, (and therefore I make no Scruple to reckon it as one of the Preferments which he Lost) by which Means he made way for a Second Person to be Harras'd and Abus'd in it. He was soon after Thrown out of St. Peter's also, and Died about the Year 1655.

MARSH, JAMES, D. D. St. Dunstan's in the West, V.

I suppose his had been some time Rector of Chingford in Essex. See Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 337.

. He was admitted to it June 21, 1631, on the Presentation of Edward Earl of Dorset. See Chichester-Cathedral.

MASON, HENRY, B. D. St. Andrew's Undershaft, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 56. Lloyd, Mem. p. 506. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 529.

So that his Case is much the same with that of Mr Percival Hill before-mentioned. See Mr. Pri-chard in this List of the London-Clergy.

See in Wood what he published.

His Patron Dr. King conferred in him the Prebendship of Hill-Ingdon in Middlesex in 1611; the Rectory of St. Matthew Friday-St. Dec. 19, 1622; and the Treas. of Wilts-don in the Ch. of St. Paul, about the Year 1623: At which he Voided before the Rebellion broke out.

He was Born at Wigan in Lancashire; enter'd first of Brazen-nose College, and afterwards became Chaplain to that of Corpus Christi in Oxford, as also to Dr. King Bishop of London; who Feb. 14, 1613, Collated him to this Living; from which in 1641, he was forced to Retire, being Turn'd and Harras'd into a Resignation. After which he returned to the Place of his Nativity, where he lived Obscurely till the Time of his Death; which happen'd in the Year 1647. He was a Person of an Exemplary Life, an Edifying and Judicious Preacher, and a True Son of the Church of England. He had in his Life-time given 13 l. per Annum to the Poor of Wigan, for Binding out Apprentices: His Library of Books he gave to the School there, and Distributed a Confiderable Number of Bibles among the Poor of that Town. Nor muft it be omitted, that he was an Intimate Acquaintance of Dr. Jackson's, Mr. Mede's, and Dr. Clewer's; the laft of which ufed to fay, that he Learned more by an Hours Converfe with Mr. Mafon, than from a Weeks Study by himfelf. To which I muft add, that he was Brother alfo to the Incomparable Mr. Francis Mafon, Archdeacon of Norfolk, and Author of the Book De Miniflerio Anglicano.

MEGGS, JAMES, A. M. St. Margaret Pattens, R.
And Newington-Butts, . in Surry. . .

He was Son to William Megge, Efq; of St. Mary White-Chapel near London; and probably was a Native of that Parifh. He was Admitted to the Former of thefe Livings, Nov. 23, 1637, on the Refignation of * Samuel Baker. The precite time of his being Sequeftred from St. Margaret's, I do not find; but the Houfe of Commons Turned him out of Newington about June 1643, and then order'd Hen. Langley to fucceed him. He was alfo Plundered and Imprifoned in Ely-Houfe. In 1660, he was Reftor'd to both his Livings; the Former of which he Refigned the Year following to Dr. Edward Hicks, who was admitted to it May 11, 1661: Which fheweth the Mif-reprefentation of the Lift cited by †Wood, which made him Guefs Dr. Hickes to have been a Nonconformift, before he came to St. Margaret's Pattens.

New Survey of London, Vol. II. p. 407.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 499.

* In the Parliamenta-Journals I find not Dr. Baker Sequeftred from St. Mary Pattens July 27, 1643; but I prefume there is no fuch Perfonage as St. Mary Pattens; and that is to there miftaken for St. Margaret Pattens; where I find Dr. Samuel Baker, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Canterbury, had been Rector; who was diveiled of the Samuel Baker that Refigned to Mr Megge; but long be it there ordered to be Sequeftred from that Living, whom he had fo long before Refigned, I know not. However, I find not John Lea was then ordered to Succeed him.

† Ath. Vol. II. p. 814.

MILLER, ——, . St. Hellen's, He did not long Survive his Ejectment.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 564.

MOOR, GEORGE, . Hackney, R.

Ibid. p. 618.

I presume he lived to be Reftor'd, and Died about the Year 1664.

MORGAN, CADWALLADER, . St. Bennet Sherehog, R.

His Name occurs in the Lift of the Sequeftred London-Clergy, fo often Printed; but nothing is there added to it, fave that he was Dead with Grief.

See Mr. Grifith in this Lift of Lond. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 104.

OWEN, RICHARD, B. D. St. Swithin's, R.
And
Eltham, V. in Kent. . . . .

He was Born in Montgomeryshire, and Educated at Oriel-College in Oxford, of which he became Fellow, as his Father had alfo been. In 1633, he was by the Univerfity Preferred to Eltham, and Sept. 2, 1639, was admitted to St. Swithin's. At the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he Adhered faithfully to his Majefty's Intereft; for which he was thrown out of both his Livings, and fuffered much for about 17 Years for the Royal Caufe: But he lived to be Reftored with his Majefty, had afterwards the Prebend of Reculver-land in St. Paul's, the Living of St. North-Cray in Kent, became D. D. and died not till 168$\frac{1}{2}$. He was in High Eftcem for his Holy Life and Converfation, for his Orthodoxnefs in Judgment, Conformity to the True, Ancient Doctrine and Difcipline of the Church of England; and in the Former Revolutions, for his Loyalty to his Sacred Majefty.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 148.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 543.

Not St. Mary Cray, as Wood faith, Newc. p. 543. See the laft Marg. Note at Mr Stone in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Digitized by Google

PAGET, EPHRAIM, . St. Edmond's Lombard-ſtreet, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 72.

He was Born of a good Family in Northamptonſhire, and Educated at Chriſt-Church in Oxford; and was Collated to this Living by the Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, Aug. 19, 1601. Upon the Breaking out of the Civil War, he was ſo moleſted and troubled, that meerly for Quietneſs ſake he was forced to leave his Benefice, at an Age when he was become ſo Venerable, that he was commonly called Old Father Ephraim, and had been Rector of it more than 40 Years: To which the Liſt in Perſecutio Undecima expreſly adds, that he had been Silenced. He Retired to Depford in Kent, where he ſpent the ſhort Remainder of his Days in great Devotion, and Died in 1647.

Heylin Hiſt. Presb. Part. Vol. I. p. 344.

What ſermons are published, ſee in Wood.

PALMER, THOMAS, B. D. St. Bride's, V.

Where he was Admitted April 19, 1616, on the Preſentation of the Dean and Chapter of Weſtminſter; in which City he was Born, and was Bred at Magdalen-College in Cambridge. During his Abode at St. Bride's, he had by an Honeſt Frugality gotten a pretty good Eſtate, which he Imployed to the Beſt Uſes of Piety and Charity, in thoſe continued times of Miſery, which ſo loudly called for the Exerciſe of theſe Duties: for he made it his Buſineſs to enquire out the Widows of Sequeſtred Miniſters, whom he not only Relieved, but Doubled his Charity by the moſt Chriſtian and Handſome Manner of Doing it; Uſing to drop the Money ſome where or other in the Houſe, where it might come to their Hands. He was alſo very Charitable to other Poor, wherever he reſided; and at laſt built an Alms-Houſe over-againſt the New Chappel at Weſtminſter for Twelve Poor People; providing for them there from Head to Foot, and for Body and Soul; Reading Prayers, and Preaching to them himſelf, till his Death; which happen'd in 1659. He was a pious Man, and painful Preacher. And Fuller paſſes this Juſt Obſervation on his Charity before-mentioned; that there was more of that Grace in this One Sequeſtred Miniſter, than in many who Enjoyed others Sequeſtrations.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 317.

Full. Worth. in Wilts. who hath miſtaken his Chriſtian Name.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 512.

Hiſt. Camb. p. 121.

PASKE, THOMAS, D. D. St. Mary Magdalen Bermondſey, R.

Dec. Will. Whitaker and the Living in 1654.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd of it by the Houſe of Commons, about May 1643; at which time Jer. Whitaker was by the ſame Authority thruſt into his room. See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

Admitted in 1633. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 420.

PIERCE, THOMAS, D. D. St. Martin's Outwich, R.

He died not many Years after his Sequeſtration.

PORY, ROBERT, B. D. St. Margaret's New-Fiſh-ſtreet, R. And Thorby, R. in Hertfordſhire. . . .

Ibid. p. 83.

He was, as 'tis ſaid, Related to Arch-biſhop Juxon, who whilſt Biſhop of London, conferred on him the Former of theſe Rectories, Sept. 28, 1640; and in Nov. following he had the Other Rectory beſtowed upon him. On the Breaking out of the Rebellion he was Sequeſtred from Both theſe Livings; from the Latter of them about March 1642, (at which time one Hallſtead was ſubſtituted in his Room there) by the Houſe of Commons; and much about the ſame time he was alſo Turned out of St. Margaret's. He was likewiſe Plundered and Forced to Fly. In 1660 he was Re-poſſeſs'd of Both his Rectories, but Quitted them ſoon after, became D. D. Archdeacon of Middleſex, Rector of St. Botolph's Biſhopſgate, Prebendary of Willeſden in the Church of St. Paul, Rector of Much-Hadham in Hertfordſhire, Canon-Reſidentiary of St. Paul's, and Died ſometime before Nov. 25, 1669. One Dr. Robert Pory gave 100 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral. He was doubtleſs the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

Having Reached to Decrepit Age.

PRICHARD, JOHN, A. M. St. Andrew's Underſhaft, R.

He was Admitted to this Living June 14, 1641, on a Reſignation which had been extorted (by the ill Uſage of the Party) from * Mr. Maſon, as is before-mention'd; but was himſelf alſo ſoon after formally Sequeſtred. And ſo the Caſe between Mr. Prichard and him, is juſt the ſame as that betwixt Mr. Percival Hill and Mr. Kibbit; with this only Difference, that Mr. Maſon dying many Years before Mr. Prichard, the Living could not but be look'd upon, after that Time, as both the Legal and Equitable Right of Mr. Prichard: And ſo for thoſe Years (which were at leaſt Thirteen) he muſt be unqueſtionably deemed the Sequeſtred Miniſter of it. And accordingly, living to the Reſtoration, he claimed it; and was Poſſeſſed of it till about the Year 1664; at which Time he Reſigned it. He was a Native of the City of London, or County of Middleſex; Educated partly at Queen's-College, partly at St. Edmund's-Hall in Oxford, and afterwards obtained the Living of St. Andrew's Underſhaft, as is before ſaid. In 1661, he became Rector of Harlingeton in Middleſex, and Prebendary of Mora in the Church of St. Paul's. In 1663, he was collated to the Vicaridge of St. Giles without Cripplegate (about which time he Reſigned St. Andrew's) and in 1672, being eſteem'd a Wealthy Clergyman, was Advanc'd to the Poor Biſhoprick of Gloceſter; keeping the Vicaridge of St. Giles, the Rectory of Harlington, and the Prebend of Mora, in Commendam with it. He died at Harefield in Middleſex, Jan. 1, 1680.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 368.

* Whom ſee.

Both which ſee before.

Where of the other Two ſee Ibid. & above cit.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 681.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 280.

PROCTOR, ——, . St. Mary Bothaw, R.

He was alſo Forced to Fly, and I believe died under the Uſurpation.

Ibid. p. 44 S. Whether the two a different Perſon from Mr. Luke Proctor, who immediately ſucceeds, Query.

PROCTOR, LUKE, A. M. St. Michael Royal, R.

He was Admitted to this Living Feb. 11, 1636, on the Preſentation of the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury; and Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Parliament in Aug. 1643; and, as I gueſs, never lived to be Reſtored with his Majeſty. Quære.

Ibid. p. 404.

QUELCH,

Digitized by Google

QUELCH, ——, . St. Bennet's Grace-Church, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 301. He was Admitted July 1, 1637, Sequestred in 1642, and Died, as I guess, before 1660.

ROGERS, NEHEMIAH, . St. Botolph's Bishopsgate, R.

Ibid. p. 333. See the Church of Ely.

RUSH, ——, . St. Katharine-Cree-Church, .

Ibid. p. 381, 918. This Place is a Curacy; but, Equivalent, if I mistake not, to a Prebend. I find the Widow of one Rush, a Sequestred Clergyman, reduc'd to such Extremity, that she was forc'd to Beg the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows. I take it to be the Widow of this Mr. Rush. He was Licens'd to this Church 08. 8, 1636.

RYVES, BRUNO, D. D. St. Martin's Vintry, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 421. He had been Admitted here in Sept. 1628, on the Promotion of John Lesley to the Bishoprick of the Iſlands in Scotland. See Chichester-Cathedral.

SHUTE, JOSIAS, A. M. St. Mary Woolnoth, R.

Ibid. p. 463. See St. Paul's Cathedral.

SPARKE, EDWARD, A. M. St. Martin's Ironmonger-Lane, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 787. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 412. The Pious Author of Scintilla Altaris. He was Originally of the University of Cambridge, Incorporated * B. D. at Oxford in the Year 1633, and afterwards became Doctor of that Faculty. He had been admitted to this Living Sept. 28, 1639. He was not only Sequestred, but Plundered also. One of those who have prefixt Verses to his Book of Devotions before-mentioned, thus speaks of him and others of the Sequestred Clergy, in these Rough Verses:

* He was no more than A. M. when he was Admitted to this Living: nor do I know other, than that he took his Bachelour of Divinity's Degree after his Sequestration, 1643 quære.

Thanks to such Lights as you are, who have stay'd
In that firm Truth from which they fondly stray'd; Endur'd Reproach and Want, all violent Shocks!
Which row'd like Billows, while you stood like Rocks,
Unmov'd by all their Fury, kept your Ground,
Fixt as the Poles, whilſt they kept twirling round;
Submitted to all Rage, and Loſt your All,
Tot ne'er comply'd with, or Bow'd Knee to Baal.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 412. He Out-liv'd the Uſurpation very many Years, was Reſtored with his Majeſty, to this Living, became his Chaplain, and Reſigning this Church in 1661, he removed to that of St. James Clerkenwell: After which, he had alſo the Vicaridge of Walthamſtow in Eſſex, where he was Admitted Dec. 26, 1662; but Reſigning that, he obtained the Vicaridge of Tottenham; to which he was Admitted Jan. 23, 1665, where he continued till the time of his Death, which was about that of the Revolution, when he was become very Aged. Wood ſeems to be in Doubt, whether he had not ſome Dignity in the Church; but 'tis ſure, that how much ſoever he deſerved, he never obtained any. He publiſhed ſeveral things beſides the Scintilla Altaris, ſome of which you may ſee in the Author now mentioned.

SPENCER, ——, . St. Thomas Southwark, .

He was alſo Imprisoned.

SQUIRE, JOHN, A. M. St. Leonard Shoreditch, V.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 805. Lloyd, Mem. p. 508. White's Cent. p. 15. Perſec. Undec. p. 45. Anſw. to the Articles againſt him paſſim. * Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 637. He was the Son of Adam Squire, D. D. ſometime Maſter of Baliol-College in Oxford; and by the Mother's ſide, Grandſon to Dr. John Aylmer, ſome time Biſhop of London. He was Born about the Year 1587, and by the Care of his Uncle Dr. Theophilus Aylmer Arch-deacon of London, Educated at Jeſus-College in Cambridge; where he was much valued and beloved, and his longer Stay among them earneſtly deſired and courted, when his Uncle the Arch-deacon, in 1612, Preſented him to this Living; to which he was Admitted * Apr. 29, that Year: Where, as he continued for the Space of near Thirty Years, to Diſcharge all the Offices of a moſt Excellent Paſtor; ſo he met with a ſuitable Eſteem and Affection from them, which they had but too ſad an Occaſion of Teſtifying afterwards, when he fell under the Diſpleaſure of the Mobb and the Parliament. Some time after his coming to the Pariſh, his Communicants exceeded 3000, the Income of it was doubled to him; and by ſeveral other Contributions (at the Expence of but 100 l. of his own Money) they enabled him to Build a new Vicaridge-Houſe. He was alſo ſo Happy at his coming among them, as to reconcile the jarring Veſtries; and had by that, and other means, won ſuch an Eſteem and Repute among them, that they never undertook any Buſineſs of Moment without him, and his Word was a ſort of Oracle among them. Nor was he wanting to make uſe of this his Authority to the beſt Purpoſes: For by means of it he made up many Differences, and reconciled many Parties in his Pariſh. His Diligence in Viſiting the Sick was Extraordinary; particularly in the Great Sickneſs which happen'd in 1625; when, (tho' he retired ſome way out of Town with his Family, yet) he came conſtantly to his Pariſh, as well at the Weekly Faſts, as on Sundays, to do his Duty; and brought with him conſiderable Sums of Money (beſides what he gave of his own) which his Great Character had enabled him to Obtain, from ſome of the Religious Gentry. Beſides which, he was a Steward, or rather a Father to the Poor, in their Common and Ordinary Neceſſities: For which alſo he procured ſeveral Conſiderable Gifts; and when he diſtributed them, would add his own Charity likewiſe of a Sermon, ſuited to their Condition and Circumſtances: For he was a very Conſtant Preacher in his Pariſh, and ſo much admired by them for it, that they were in a manner Tranſported with him. Neither was he leſs Diligent in Catechiſing; in which he ſo much exceeded, that his Youths would anſwer to the Admiration of the Congregation. All which added to the Excellence and Unblameableneſs of his Life, had brought his Pariſh into a moſt Lovely Reverence and Decency in the Publick Worſhip of God, as Eſtabliſhed in the Church of England; of which he was a Great Admirer and moſt Zealous Defender; (and which had procured him great Eſteem and Reſpect from that moſt Incomparable Prelate late Arch-biſhop Laud) for which he afterwards Suffer'd in the Higheſt Degree. For upon the Breaking out of the Scots Rebellion, he became a Strenuous Champion for Allegiance; to which (perceiving how the Humour of Rebellion began to ſpread) he moſt earneſtly exhorted his Pariſhioners. This, to be ſure, could not but Single him out for a Storm, which afterwards fell upon him in a moſt heavy manner. The Raſcally Part of his Pariſh began the Dance; and upon his thus Preaching up Obedience, cry him about for an Incendiary, and according to the Mode of the Times, as an Antagonist againſt the Peſtilential Diſeaſe of Loyalty, get an Order from the Houſe of Commons, to have a Lecturer ſettled in their Pariſh, to Preach up Faction among them: But at the Meeting of the Pariſh to chooſe a Lecturer, the Sober and Hon. ſt part of it choſe Mr. Squire their own Miniſter, for their Lecturer alſo; which was no leſs a Surprize, than it was a Diſappointment to the Factious Rabble, as they may very juſtly be called: For the Chief and Leading Man amongſt them was ſo deſpicably Ignorant, that hoping to Vacate the Election, and Expreſſing his Reſentment of it, he declar'd with an Audible Voice, that he Deteſted againſt it: Which the Pariſhioners, reſolving to Expoſe both Him and His Party, and make his Nonſenſe the more Apparent, made him Repeat the Second time. Such were the Godly Reformers; Such were the Promoters againſt the Clergy: Such were the Judges of their Abilities and Preaching, and Such were the Shameleſs Fellows countenanc'd by the Parliament. For, to proceed, this Kind and Lucky Thought of the Pariſhioners ſtood Mr. Squire in very little ſtead: For the Houſe joyning with this Deteſting Gentleman and his Party, ſoon made them too hard for the Beſt and Moſt of the Pariſh; fixſted in a New-England Fellow for a Lecturer upon them, Impriſoned, and at length Sequeſtred the poor Vicar. The Time when they firſt got him Summon'd before the Parliament, or the Committee, I know not; but I find him Once before them very early in the Troubles, which was Feb. 18, 1640; but what that was for, doth not appear. Afterwards they drew up Articles againſt him (which they Printed, and made Publick, before ever they were offer'd to be Prov'd at the Committee) and Preſented them Aug. 7, 1641. Of theſe I have ſpoken in the Firſt Part; and therefore ſhall only ſay now, that whilſt that Matter was on foot, his Pariſhioners being Earneſtly deſirous to keep him, drew up a * Counter-Petition in his behalf, ſetting forth his having been Thirty Years their Miniſter, his Great Diligence in the Diſcharge of his Duty, his Conſtant Preaching againſt Popery, and Arming the Youths he Catechiſed, againſt it: Alſo the Miſery and Ruin of his Family, ſhould he be Deprived, &c. This was Sign'd by the Beſt of the Pariſh, and would have been Preſented by a Great Number of them in a Body, but they fear'd (and, God knows, not without juſt Cauſe) that it would have been Conſtru'd a Riot in Them, though Encouraged in the Others: And ſo they content themſelves to Preſent it Otherwiſe; but all to no purpoſe: for inſtead of meeting with any Favour, Miles Corbet, who had the Chair of the Committee, by angry Looks and rough Language, manifeſtly portended the ill Fate which was deſign'd for Mr. Squire: And to help it on, Mr. Alderman Penington was pleaſed, on mere Hear-ſay, to tell a Story of Mr. Squire's diſturbing a Congregation of God's People; which was indeed done by ſome Boys (in Mr. Squire's Pariſh, if I miſtake not) but himſelf knew not the leaſt Tittle of it, nor was he at the Place, or ſo much as out of his Houſe that whole Day. Notwithſtanding which the Committee proceed to Sequeſter him, and the Houſe agreed to the Report, March 17, 1642, to the great Trouble and Grief of the Pariſhioners; who when the Hearing came on, flock'd in great Numbers to Weſtminſter to hear the Event; and by the Concern which ſate on the Countenances of every one of them, plainly diſcover'd their great Affection to him. And (ſee the Cunning and Induſtry of Malice) to compleat his Ruin, his Enemies got his Sequeſtration ſo managed, as to deprive him of a whole Years Profits; for it being cuſtomary in this Pariſh, that whoever is poſſeſs'd of it March 25, hath the intire Benefit of the foregoing Year, they got him turned out (as they uſed to do the Country Clergy juſt before Harveſt) the very Day before. I cannot proceed in this Account before I let the Reader know with what great Calmneſs and Serenity of Mind he bore his Sufferings; as will appear by this Inſtance, that the very Night after he had appear'd before the Committee, ſome, who had earneſt Buſineſs to him, were forced to come unſeaſonably after he was in Bed, and found him ſo faſt aſleep, that they had much a do to wake him. So little did his utter Ruin, and the loſs of all he had in this World, affect him. But I go on with the Account of his Sufferings; the Malice of his Perſecutors was not ſated with his Sequeſtration, but they alſo got his Wife and Children Plundered and turned out of Doors, and himſelf Impriſoned; firſt in Greſham-College, where he was barbarouſly treated, his Friends were ſcarce allowed to come unto him; arbitrary and unreaſonable Fees were demanded of him (as likewiſe from his Fellow-Priſoners and Sufferers) and if he refuſed them, the Keeper would not ſuffer his Victuals (provided and ſent by his own Wife) to come to him. He was alſo kept out of the Beds, and forced to lye upon Straw. From this Durance he was removed to London-Houſe, and from thence to Newgate, but at a vaſt Expence, he had the favour of being let out of that Common and Noyſome Jayl, and was allowed to be in the Priſs-Yard. Theſe ſeveral Impriſonments utterly ruin'd both his Eſtate and Health, and brought him into a Dropſie, whereupon he wrote to Miles Corbet, who (being in the Chair of the Committee) had order'd his Confinement: Upon which the Keeper was order'd to bring him before the Committee, who having waited with him a whole Afternoon without being called, went at length to Mr. Corbet to have his Orders what to do with his Priſoner; but all the Anſwer he could get was, Let him be Hanged; and ſo he was carried back again to his former Confinement. Nor muſt it be omitted, that a Gentleman of his Acquaintance coming by chance that Night to ſee him, found him as Pleaſant as ever he ſaw him in all his Life: In ſo much Patience did this good Man poſſeſs his Soul. At length his Friend Mr. Oſbaldeſton got him removed to the King's-Bench, and ſome Time after (when his ſeveral Confinements had compleated the Space of about Three Years) upon ſufficient Bail obtained his Liberty; at which his Pariſhioners were ſo Tranſported with Joy, that they ſcarce knew what they did; for to their manifeſt Hazard, they made above Twenty Bonfires. Being thus once more at large, he went into the ſeveral Counties of Cambridge, Norfolk and Suffolk to viſit his Friends, and at laſt ſettled at Richmond; where he kept a private School, read the Liturgy, Preach'd every other Lord's Day; and died there of a Quartan Ague, on St. Simon and St. Jude's Day in 1653; making a moſt Pious and Chriſtian Exit out of this World (to him truly, and in the moſt literal Senſe, Troubleſome and Wicked) declaring to the laſt his utmoſt Deſtation of the Covenant and Rebellion, and much lamenting the Miſeries of our

Digitized by Google

T. which he afterwards printed an Anſwer.

 Called a Certificate in his Printed Anſwer.*

Then I preſume the Sentence was put in Execution.

Which I take to have been the Prebendary of Weſtminſter, who was for ſome time in favour of the Parliament, but at length ſuffered in common with the reſt of the Clergy.

Digitized by Google

our moſt Excellent Church; for whoſe Conſtitution, he ſaid, he truſted in God, he could not only paſs through ſo many Priſons, as he had already done, but alſo undergo the Rack of Death it ſelf. He left behind him when he died a Folio in Manuſcript, written againſt Sta. Clara; and ſeveral other Volumes in Folio (written during his Confinement) which he inſtiled, An Engliſh Rhapſodie, or the Judgment of particular Men concerning the general Judgment of God on England, our Civil War, &c. I cannot diſmiſs the Account of this Excellent Perſon, without ſuggeſting the ſame Reflection, which I have before made at Mr. Cheſlin; that the Reader is not to look upon the barefaced, ſhameleſs, and barbarous Oppreſſions of Mr. Squire, as peculiar to himſelf, but as the common Fate of very many Hundreds of the Clergy in thoſe Times; and is to believe all this, and ſometimes much more, to be implied in thoſe general Words, Plunder'd, Impriſoned and turned out of Doors, ſo often uſed in this Account of London, and other Parts of the Kingdom; which, as they were the only Terms made uſe of to expreſs this barbarous Treatment of Mr. Squire, in the Liſt of the Clergy Sequeſtred in London ſo often Printed; ſo are they likewiſe ſubjoin'd to the Names of ſeveral others of the Clergy there: And that only which diſtinguiſhes Mr. Squire's Caſe from the reſt of them, is, that the Particulars of his Sufferings happened to be thus preſerved, and their coming to my Hands (which I cannot forbear to mention upon this Occaſion) is owing to the moſt ingenious Mrs. Aſtell; to whom I beg Leave in this Place to pay my Thanks for that great Favour.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 98. Lloyd, Mem. p. 597. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 741.

STAMP, WILLIAM, D. D. Stepney, V. He was Born in Oxfordſhire, of a Good Family there, Educated at Pembroke-College in Oxford, of which Houſe he became Fellow, and at length Vicar of this Church; to which he was Admitted May 13, 1641; where he became a noted Preacher, and much frequented by the Royaliſts. In September 1642, I find one of his Name Impriſoned for Words againſt the Parliament, which I take to have been the ſame Dr. Stamp: But however that Matter be, this is certain, that in the beginning of the Rebellion, he was violently thruſt out, Impriſoned, Plundered, and at length forced to get away and fly for the ſafety of his Life: The Place he betook himſelf to, was Oxford, the common Aſylum of the Suffering Royaliſts in theſe Times, where he was created D. D. about the beginning of 1643: His Majeſty's Order for that Purpoſe ran in theſe Words, 'The King's 'Majeſty taking into his Princely Conſideration 'the great Sufferings of Mr. William Stamp, who 'hath not only undergone a long and hard Im-'priſonment of Thirty Four Weeks, but alſo is 'now outed of a very good Living; and all this 'for Preaching Loyalty and Obedience to a diſaf-'fected Congregation, to the exiream Hazard 'of his Life; his Majeſty being willing to repair 'theſe his Sufferings, and to encourage his known 'Abilities (for which by ſpecial Favour and 'Grace, he is ſworn Chaplain to his deareſt Son 'the Prince) hath commanded me to ſignifie to 'you, that you forthwith confer upon him the 'Degree of Dr. of Divinity, &c. After this he followed the Prince beyond the Seas, was made Chaplain to the Queen of Bohemia, and became a frequent Preacher to the Proteſtants at Charenton near Paris, and at length removed to the Hague; where he died in 1653.

See in Wood what he has publiſhed.

STILES, MATTHEW, D. D. St. George Botolph-Lane, R. And St. Gregory's by St. Paul's. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 514. Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 891.

The Sufferings of this Learned Man I ſhall give the Reader, in the ſame manner as I have receiv'd an Account of them from a*Grandſon of his by one of his Daughters.

*He was alſo ſome time Rector of Orſet in Eſſex.

'He was Born (as I have Reaſon to believe) 'in this County of Devon, formerly Fellow of 'Exeter-College in Oxford, and one of the Proctors 'of that Univerſity. After his Return from his 'Travels Abroad with Sir Iſaack Wake, then 'Ambaſſador at Venice, he was made Miniſter of 'St. George Botolph's-Lane, and St. Gregory's by St. 'Paul's, and one of the Chaplains to King Charles 'the Martyr: But all theſe modeſt Qualifica-'tions could not prevail with the moderate 'Men of thoſe Times, to preſerve him from be-'ing Ejected from all, as Unqualified, tho' as 'Eminent, Laborious, and Conſtant a Preacher (as 'the Two Cures required, beſides his Month at 'Court) as any they had in the whole City; 'from whence they not only † Ejected him, but 'followed him in his Retirement in the Coun-'try, Plunder'd him and his Family, a Wife 'and ſeveral Children, who were all Sequeſtred, 'even of their neceſſary Supports of Victuals and 'Apparel; and he dying ſome time after their bar-'barous Uſage, were forced to ſell his Col-'lection of Valuable Books, gather'd in his Tra-'vels Abroad, as well as collected at Home, and 'what made a celebrated and large Study (which 'he deſigned for ſome of his Sons) for their Sub-'ſtenance and Subſiſtance: And after the Deceaſe 'of this Loyal Sufferer, that their Malice to him 'might not terminate with his Life, they vexa-'tiouſly carried on a Suit at Law againſt the di-'ſtreſſed and diſconſolate Widow, to Eject her 'too, out of a ſmall Eſtate ſhe held by Copy; 'that there might no means in the World be left 'remaining, whereby to ſubſiſt her ſelf and her 'poor Children. The Proceſs of the Tryal, they 'commenced before ſome of the Judges of their 'Uſurpation, I have ſtill by me; and the Cauſe 'was carried for her, only by the providential 'Diſcovery of a Writing or Copy of the Court-'Roll, they thought they had Plunder'd away. 'And thus according to the very Letter, the 'Prieſt of the Lord was caſt out, they judged not 'the Cauſe of the Fatherleſs and Widow, but took 'away their Raiment for a Pledge; and at laſt, 'with a Pretence and long Prayer, would have 'devour'd her Houſe too. What I have more to 'add of him is, that he was preſented to St. 'George's by his Majeſty, and admitted there June 18, 1630; and that he was an Excellent Gram-'marian and Caſuiſt, and had gained great Know-'ledge and Experience by his Travels into ſeveral 'Parts of Italy.

† He uſes the word Ejected without Scruple, nor indeed was there any great need of Scrupling; for the Dr. Stiles was not formally Sequeſtred, yet in effect he was, being forced to Re-ſign by their ill Uſage.

He died not very long before the Reſtoration.

I find the Widow of the Stiles, who had been a great ſufferer for his Loyalty, and Chaplain to King Charles I. Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows: I take him to be this ſame worthy Doctor, and this ſhews to what Mi-ſeries his Sequeſtration had reduced his Family.

STONE, BENJAMIN, A. M. St Clement's Eaſt-Cheap, R. And St. Mary Ab-church, R. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 527.

See St. Paul's-Cathedral.

Digitized by Google

Swadlin, Thomas, D. D. St. Botolph's Aldgate, .

Newc. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 916. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 111.

He was Born in Worcestershire, and Bred at St. John's College in Oxford: He was Promoted to this † Living in 1635, where he b. came a noted Preacher; but in the beginning of the Rebellion, being esteemed a Creature of that most excellent Prelate, then advanced to the Archiepiscopal See of Canterbury, he was Sequestred, Plundered, and Imprison'd in several Jayls, and his Wife and Children turned out of Doors. I find him, among others, Fellow-Prisoner with Mr. Squire in Gresham-College, where he underwent the same ill Usage of not being permitted to have his Victuals brought to him, unless he paid the Arbitrary and Excessive Fees, which were demanded of him. Wood saith, that he was Imprison'd at Crosbie-House for about Two Months; in all which Time, being unseen and unheard, he by his Letter sent to the Lord Mayor for Releasement, was sent for to him; but being there accused of several Things, by J——l——, a Tallow Chandler, which were only praying for Peace, and Preaching up Obedience as an unseasonable Time, he was remitted back to Prison; only the Place of his Confinement was changed from that of Crosbie-House, to Gresham-College; where he continued a long time, and afterwards in Newgate, where he had scarce Straw allowed him to lie in; whilst (as Wood justly remarks) his Majesty was exclaimed against, when he afforded the Rebells better Usage. He did not undergo his Sufferings with a Courage and Firmness of Mind, equal to that of his Fellow-Prisoner and Sufferer, Mr. Squire: For the great Miseries which he endured, made him in a manner Distracted: At length he got his Liberty; at which time he retired to Oxford, where in 1646, he was created D. D. he out-lived the Usurpation, was Re-instated in St. Botolph's; but leaving it in 1662, he was preferred to the Vicaridge of St. James in Dover, and to the Neighbouring Rectory of Houghham, by Dr. Juxon Arch-bishop of Canterbury; and at length to the Rectory of All-hallows, in Stanford in Lincolnshire, by the Favour of the most Noble Earl of Clarendon, about the Year 1664, where he died in 16$\frac{66}{67}$, having by his last Words order'd this Inscription for his Tomb, Hic vixit Temporibus, quibus Carolum Primum, Magnæ Brit. Fran. & Hiber. Regem, fevivo more truculentant Rebelles. I have only this more to add, that I find the Widow of one Swadlin (whom I take to be this Person) driven to such Necessities, that she was forc'd to sue for Relief from the Corporation for Ministers Widows, and was supported with that Charity.

† This is also Native or Canterbury, but the Tenure of it, if I remember aright, is Lease, & in an Equivalent to that of a Freehold, Quære.

He had been some time Curate of Stebenhythe, near London Newc. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 891.

In 1642.

Sam. Wood was at the publishing.

Tabor, Humphry, A. M. St. Margaret's Lothbury, R.

Newc. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 400.

He was Admitted to this Living June 11, 1627, on his Majest.'s Preferration, and Sequestred in 1642; at which time one Leonard Coke was by the Parliament Thrust into his room. He was also Plundered, Imprisoned in the King's-Bench, and his Wife and Children Turned out of Doors at Midnight. He Died in Hertfordshire, under the Usurpation, in Want. He was a modest Man, and an Excellent Christian.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 513.

One of both his Names, was some time Vicar of All-Saints in the Town of Hertford. Chaun. Antiq Thrall, Thomas, A. M. St. Mary Monthaw, R.

Newc. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 474. P. 1.

He was Admitted here Dec. 24, 1630. He helps to make up one of * White's Century; and the Crimes there charged upon him are, Neglecting either to Preach or Catechize in the Afternoon, refusing to Admit a Lecturer, Drunkenness, Reading and Promoting the Book of Sports, Swearing and Cursing, Bowing to the Communion-Table, and saying, that the House of Commons in Parliament was an unjust Court. How much of this is true, I know not. This is sure, that he was not only Sequestred, but Shamefully Abused; which is all that I know more of him; only I guess that he never Lived to see the Restoration.

Tireman, John, B. D. St. Mary Woolchurch, R.

Newc. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 481.

He was Presented to this Living by his Majesty King Charles I. and had his Admission to it Dec. 16, 1641; but was soon after forced to Forsake it. I do not find that he Returned at the Restoration; and therefore it may be, he died before that Happy Time.

He had been some time V. of Grandborough in Hertfordsh. Newc. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 818

Tuke, Thomas, A. M. St. Olave's Jewry, V.

He had been Presented to this Living by King James I. and was Admitted to it July 19, 1617. He was also Plundered and Imprisoned. I do not find that he Returned to his Parish after the Restoration; and therefore suspect that he Died before it.

Ibid. p. 511.

I find in the Parliament. Journals one T. Tuke said to be Sequestred from St. Olave's Southwark; but that was doubtless a Mistake of the Entry for St. Olave's Jewry. It was done March 16, 1642.

Turner, Thomas, D. D. St. Olave's Southwark, R.

See Canterbury.

Tutivall, Daniel, . Preacher's Place at the Charter-House.

Whether this be above Ground or not, Quære.

Cens. p. 5.

He makes up another of White's Scandalous and Malignant Priests. His Charge there is Drunkenness, Neglecting the Monthly Fasts, Procuring Scandalous and Malignant Ministers to Preach there to Corrupt his People; and saying in his Sermon to that House, That Moses and Aaron being before them, and the Organs behind them, they were a Happy People; and what greater Comfort could mortal Men have? The Reader will easily believe, that his Prosecutors were hard put to it for Accusations; and that White was at a great Loss for Scandal, when both the One and the Other were forced to Alledge such trifling ridiculous Stuff. See Mr. Foxley in this List of the London Clergy.

Udal, Ephraim, . St. Augustin's, R.

Of what Universty this Excellent Person was I do not find. There was one of both these Names who was Enter'd a Student in the Publick Library at Oxford, in the Year 1630, which Wood apprehends to be the same Person with this very Reverend and Learned Sufferer. The time of his Ad-

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 868.

White's Cent. p. 9

Mercr. Rust p. 131. Lloyd, Mem. p. 507, 511.

Digitized by Google

Neale, Rer. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 388.

He was Son to that Udal who was prosecuted in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, for his Libels against the Government, &c. Heyl. Hist. Presb. p. 322.

He had been some time before Curate at Tolleshunt-Major in Middlesex. Neale, Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 516.

Dr. Eyres, Author of More. Ruff.

Admission to this Living doth not appear; but that of his Sequestration was about June 1643: At which time Fr. Roberts was put in by Order of the House, which had thrown out Mr. Udal. Before the Contusions he was in the highest Esteem with the Puritans, and was just such a Man as they pretended to wish all the Clergy might be: But when the Party began to be more Bare-faced and Open, and it became but even too plain to every body, what the Ends and Intentions of the Heads of the Rebellion were: When he saw their pretended Zeal was indeed Madness and Frenzy; and then Pretence to Reformation had a manifest Tendency to Anarchy and Sacrilege; he Honestly quitted the Faction; and on the contrary, bent both his Tongue and Pen against them. In a Publick Sermon at Mercers-Chapel, he plainly told them, You much desire Truth and Peace: leave your Lying, and you may have Truth; Lay down your Unduteful Arms, and you may have Peace.

He also declar'd himself openly for Episcopacy, and the Established Liturgy, and Publish'd a Learned Piece against Sacrilege, intituled A Coal from the Altar; and another call'd Communion Comeliness; In which, by many Incomparable Arguments, he proves a High Convenience, if not a Necessity, for that most Laudable Custom of having Rails about the Lord's Table. Besides which, he also publish'd a Sermon, intituled Noli me tangere, full of Loyalty to his Majesty, and Affection to the Establish'd Church. 'Their 'were, in the Schismatick Opinion (as a Learned Person, who liv'd thro' those Times, words it) 'Crimes enough to Un-faint a Man: Nay, had 'St. Paul himself been now in the Flesh, and 'preach'd against Sacrilege and Anarchy, there is 'no doubt but there would have been some 'found to Petition against him, and John White 'fitting in the Chair, as undoubtedly he had 'been Voted a Scandalous Minister at a Com-'mittee. And accordingly, tho' Mr. Udal's Reputation had a long time bore him up, against all the Murmurs and Artifices of the Party, and his Church was at the last more crowded than any Church in London, not excepting the very Belweathers of the Faction themselves; yet at length when the Sparks of Rebellion had broken out into an Open Flame; and it was almoft Treason but to Name the 13*th* Chapter of the Romans; Th y lay their violent Hands on him also; and not only Sequester him, among the reft of the Scandalous and Malignant Clergy, but most shamefully provide a Place for him in the Vile Century of that kind, published by White. Where the Crimes laid to his Charge, are, his having affirmed that the Great Reformers of the Church now were Hypocrites; having charged the Parliament with Sacrilege in endeavouring to abolish Episcopacy, and to take away the Lands of Deans and Chapters, to amend therewith the Maintenance of Preaching Ministers; having also said, That it is a thing senseless, that Lay-men should have any Tithes; and tha: the Tithes are Jure divino; and that to Alienate the Lands of Cathedral Churches to maintain Preaching Ministers, is to pervert the Will of the Dead that gave them: And having otherwise expressed great Malignancy against the Parliament. But bare Sequestration, and Endeavouring to Tranimit One of the best of Men to all Posterity, for a Scandalous Minister, was not thought sufficient Punishment for Mr. Udal; and therefore they also Plunder his House, take away his Library and Houshold-Stuff, and fought for him to commit him close Prisoner, altho' he was at that time 'Aged, of very weak and in-'firm Body, his Strength exhausted with continu-'al Labour in Preaching the Word of God, 'Visiting the Sick, and in Execution of other 'ministerial Functions. In performance of which 'in his own Person, few of his Brethren were 'more Conscientious. And lastly, they cast him 'out of his Dwelling-House. But when they 'came to seize on his House, they found one 'Impediment, which unless they could find 'some Art to Remove, they could not take full 'Possession of it. Mr. Udal (besides the Infirmities of Age) was Lame; and it had been 'monstrous Inhumanity to take her by Violence, 'and carry her out of her House, not knowing 'where to dispose of her, but in the Open Street; 'Therefore to gain her Consent, and prevent 'Clamour until the Feat was done, they tell the 'Good Old Gentlewoman, that the Parliament 'had a tender Respect to her Years, and to her 'present Infirmities; and therefore, tho' they had 'Order'd to Dispossess her of that House, yet 'they did not mean to leave her Harbourless; 'but had, out of the Abundance of their Good-'ness, provided another House to receive her. 'She, Good old Woman neither Awed by Fear, 'nor won by their Perswasions and Promises, was 'taken up by Two Men (brought in by him who 'had broken open Three Locks, and Entered the 'House by Force) and carried out of her House 'into the Street; where they let her down in a 'Chair, and so leave this weak infirm Matron, of 'a long time not accustomed to the Open Air, 'nor being able to go out of Doors in three or 'four Years before, unless unto the Church; 'Exposed her (a sad Spectacle of the Rebels Cru-'elty) to the Mercy of Wind and Weather. What became of Mr. Udal and his Aged Wife afterwards, I know not, save that himself Died the latter End of May 1647. He was a most Pious and Meek Man, of Exemplary Conversation, Profound Learning, Indefatigable Industry, preaching constantly every Lord's day twice; and for the Winter Half Year, if not the whole Year, Preaching a Lecture at his own Parish every Tuesday in the Afternoon; and, if I am not mistaken, every Saturday before the First Sunday in the Month, a Preparation-Sermon to the Blessed Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. He was also a Man of an Affable and Courteous Temper; and in a Word (without Profanation be it spoken) a Burning and Shining Light; and they were willing for a Season, to rejoyce in his Light; until his declaring himself against Rebellion and Sacrilege, exposed him to the Rage and Fury of the Party. A Glaring Instance, that notwithstanding the Clamour which was made of Idle, Lazy, Drunken Priests; yet no Qualifications either of Piety, Learning, and (I will add their Celebrated) Moderation in itself could Screen a Man from their Fury, if he refused to run the fame Riot of Rapine, Plunder, and Rebellion with themselves: Which I cannot forbear again to Recommend as a Seasonable Considera-tion for the Moderate Men of our Times.

The Last Perfect Und. saith, that for was Turned out of doors, and left in the Streets.

He published some other things besides those above-mentioned.

VOCHIERE, DANIEL, A. M. St. Peter's Cheap, R.

His Admission to this Living bears Date Nov. 24, 1615. He died with Grief, not long after his Sequestration. Neale, Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 522.

WALTON, BRYAN, D.D. St. Martin's Ongars, R.

See St. Paul's. Ibid. p. 488.

WARD,

Digitized by Google

WARD, WILLIAM, . St. Leonard's Foster-Lane, R.

As doth Lloyd alſo, Mem. p. 108.

The Liſt in Perſec. Undec. expreſly ſaith, that he was Sequeſtred; but by the Admiſſion of his Succeſſor George Smith, Apr. 19, 1642, (whom his Grace the Arch-biſhop of Cant. was forc'd by three ſeveral Orders from the Houſe of Lords, obtained by the Petition of the Pariſhioners, to Preſent; tho' he could never get him to come to him, and produce his Letters of Orders) it ſeems as if his Sequeſtration was not in Form, but in Effect only: For his Reſignation is there mentioned, which was doubleſs a forc'd and compulſory one. His Crime was Preaching Boldly and Honeſtly againſt the Scots Rebellion. He was alſo Plundered, and Forced to Fly to Oxford; and at length died for want of Neceſſaries: which in plain Words, is, that he was Starved.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 195.

He was alſo Confined for Innovations, &c.

One Roger Warfield, A. M. was Licenſed to this Living in 1634; but in 1636, his Sequeſtration. I find another Perſon Licenſed to it. If this Suffer was That Roger Warfield, he muſt have Returned to it again before the Rebellion, of which however, I find no Footſteps. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. p. 915.

WARFIELD, ——, . St. Bennet Fink, .

Of whom I know nothing more than barely whether deem'd Equal in Tenure to a Freehold, quære.

WATTS, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Alban's Woodſtreet, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 238.

See Wells.

* Or Walmſley.

* WEEMSLEY, RICHARD, A. M. St. John Baptiſt, R.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 372.

The Bleſſed Martyr'd Prince, King Charle I. had Preſented him to this Living in 1633; and he had his Admiſſion May 8, that Year. The preciſe time of his Sequeſtration I know not; only that it was about the time of the Common Calamity, which like a Flood, ſwept off the Clergy of this City. I do not find any thing of him at his Living after 1660; and therefore gueſs that he did not live to ſee that Happy Time.

WESTFIELD, THOMAS, D.D. Great St. Bartholomew, R.

Ibid. p. 298. See Briſtol-Cathedral.

WESTON, JOHN, A. M. Allhallows-Lombard-ſtreet, R.

Ibid. p. 355.

He was Preſented to this Living by his Majeſty, and Admitted June 19, 1634. He was Sequeſtred by the Houſe about July 1643; at which time J—— Cordell was by the ſame Authority, thruſt in to Succeed him. I believe he Died during the Uſurpation; becauſe I do not find any Footſteps of him at his Living after 1660.

Lathaugh his Succeſſor was not Admitted till the latter End of 1662. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. p. 355.

WIMBERLY, GILBERT, D. D. St. Margaret's Weſtminſter,

See Weſtminſter-Church.

WOODCOCK, THOMAS, A.M. St. Mary-Hill, R.

The Liſt in Perſec Undec. is Expreſs in taking Notice of the Curates; and there not being ſuch a Note added to Mr. Woodcock's Name, one would be apt to think, that he had ſucceeded Dr. Baker in the Rectory. However, I do not find his * Admiſſion to this Living; and therefore leave it as a Quære whether he had been Rector or not. If he had, and did ſucceed Dr. Baker, he could not be Deem'd to have an Equitable Right to the Rectory during that Doctor's Life: And therefore with Reſpect to this Living, he can only be Deem'd a Perſecuted, but not a Sequeſtred Miniſter: But he was afterwards Turned out of a Living in Devon; where ſee more of him.

See Dr. Baker before.

* But rather the contrary: For Nov. 3, 1661, Tho. White, A.M. was admitted to this Living per more. Baker. So that perchance he came to the Living, and Reſtitution: For I cannot think he was the Curate here, ſeeing he was not only a Mem of Character, but Chaplain alſo to his Majeſty. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 45.

Supplied in of to the Election of Dr. Baker, but did not take poſſeſſion:

THUS were about One Hundred and Ten of the London Clergy turned out of their Livings (nor do I know whether the Liſt be yet compleat) above Forty of which were Doctors of Divinity, and moſt of them Plunder'd of their Goods, and their Wives and Children turned out of Doors. About Twenty were Impriſoned in London, and in the Ships, and in the ſeveral Jayls and Caſtles in the Country; upward of that Number fled to prevent the like Impriſonment. About Twenty Two died ſoon after in remote Parts, in Priſons, and with Grief; and about Forty Churches lay void, having no conſtant Miniſter in them.

They were moſt, if not all, of them turned out in the Years 1642, and 1643. Some few more immediately by the Houſe of Commons; but moſt of them by the Committee of Religion, and that of Plunder'd Miniſters, and chiefly, as I conceive, by the latter: The Reſolutions of which Committee were in the beginning, if I miſtake not, moſtly reported to the Houſe: But when that Godly Work increas'd upon their hands, a Power was lodg'd in the Committee, as I take it, which made their Reſolutions Final. I muſt here add, that a Learned and Eminent Perſon who liv'd through, and ſuffer'd under thoſe Times, gives this Character of the then London-Clergy in general: 'That for a more Pious, Learn'd, and Laborious 'Miniſtry, no People ever Enjoy'd it, even their 'Enemies themſelves being Judges. I have only this more to ſubjoyn, that poſſibly I may have here mention'd (through Inadvertency) ſome Donatives, or other Places, which are not Freeholds: But if there are any ſuch in this Liſt, I ſhall be glad to Diſcount them, as ſoon as I Diſcover them, and place them in the Appendix among the Curates, &c.

Merc. Ruſt. p. 130.

A LIST

Digitized by Google

A

LIST

Of some of the

Loyal and Epiſcopal CLERGY,

Who were Diſpoſſeſs'd of, Driven from, or did otherwiſe loſe, or were kept out of their Preferments, &c. for their Loyalty and Affection to his Majeſty and the Eſtabliſh'd Church, during the Time of the Grand Rebellion, &c.

The PAROCHIAL-CLERGY.

A

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKS.

BUCKS.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

ASHTON, ROGER, A. M. Lynton, V. And Fellowſhip of Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge. . . . . .

He was Diſpoſſeſſed of his Living by the * Earl of Manchester, April 13, 1644, for obſerving the Orders of the Church, for Malignancy; and becauſe the Society of Pembroke-Hall, had preſented him on the Recommendation of Biſhop Wren. Which by the way induces me, as I believe it will the Reader, to think that he was a Learned and Worthy Man. There was one of the ſame both Chriſtian and Sirname, who became Prebendary of Exeter on the Death of Dean Peterſon in 1661. It ſeems not improbable to me, that he might be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

* Vin. by Sequeſtrators Authoriſed by and under him, as himſelf had been by an Ordinance of the Rebel-Parliament. Which the Reader is always to underſtand by this Expreſſion, as often as it occurs (which is often wiſe) in any of the Aſſociated Counties; but in the Univerſity of Cambridge it is to be underſtood of that Earl in Perſon.

I muſt here let the Reader know, that I have by me the Copy of an Extract of the Original Proceedings againſt the Clergy of the Seven Aſſociated Counties, taken by the Learned Dr. Nalſon, wherein are contained the Articles at large which were Exhibited againſt that Clergy, and on which they were Sequeſtered: In the Abridging of which, as alſo of thoſe in the Century (for they are too many to be inſerted at length) I ſhall have occaſion frequently to make uſe of theſe and ſuch like general Expreſſions, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church, for Canonical Obedience; for Malignancy, as they then called Fidelity and Obedience to his Majeſty, or (as it ought to be called, and as I ſhall ſometimes call it) for Loyalty. The Two Extreams of which Expreſſions the Reader is to underſtand as including one or more of theſe, and ſuch like preatended Crimes, (viz.) Railing in the Communion-Table, delivering the Sacrament at the Rails; Bowing at the Name of Jeſus, and towards the Altar; Standing up at the Gloria Patri; Reading the Second Service at the Communion Table, ſeeming that Table Altar-wiſe; uſing the Canonical Prayer; Reading Service, and Preaching in the Hood and Surplice, &c. For, how incredible ſoever it may ſeem, even for theſe Things were the Clergy Sequeſtred: Which, together with what followeth, as included under the Two other Expreſſions, made up the Bulk of the Accuſations brought in againſt the Clergy, viz. Inſulting up Obedience to his Majeſty, Aſſiſting him in his Wars, Reading his Declarations, Diſclaiming the Parliament's Rights of taking up Arms againſt him; Refuſing to read their Declarations; and to give, lend, or pay Money towards carrying on that Deteſtable Rebellion; with numberleſs Particulars of the like kind. Only where any Thing of Immorality is alledged againſt the Clergy, whether in the Extract, or by Writ, I have likewiſe taken, and always ſhall take expreſs Notice of ſuch a Charge. I muſt likewiſe add, That I have taken the liberty wholly to omit very many of the Articles againſt the Clergy, as well thoſe of the Century, as of the Proceedings in the Aſſociated Counties, and amongſt them ſome altogether as Trifling and Ridiculous as thoſe which I have inſerted; becauſe had I recited them at large, they would have ſwelled the Volume to a much greater Bulk, even than what I perceive with Sorrow, it will otherwiſe unavoidably ariſe to: And therefore when in accounting for any of the Clergy, whether from the Century or the Extract, I make uſe of thoſe Words, He was Sequeſtred for, &c. I mean thoſe more Form and the chief of the Accuſations brought againſt them. The Reader will be pleaſed further to know, That I ſhall often take the Liberty to ſum up the Charge againſt them, not in the very Words and Miſrepreſentations of their Accuſers (who had perfectly learned to put Darkneſs for Light, and Light for Darkneſs; Bitter for Sweet, and Sweet for Bitter) but as it was in the Truth and Reality of the Things themſelves, and in the Words and Terms, by which it ought to be called. As for inſtance, where any one was Sequeſtred for Bowing at the Name of Jeſus, &c. For Preaching againſt the Rebellion, &c. I have expreſſed in this, or ſome ſuch Form, for Paying Obedience to his lawful Governors in Church and State, &c. And the like in other Caſes.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

ARCHER, ——, . St. Michael Carrhaia, R. To which (as a Daughter Church) is alſo annexed St. Dennis.

That he had the whole of this Rectory, an ancient Gentleman of this County tells me he is pretty ſure; and that he loſt the laſt mentioned Church is undoubted: Which to me makes it probable that he loſt the former alſo. However Quare.

Digitized by Google

ARUNDEL, GREGORY, Laddock, R. . . . . } And Shivcock, R. . . . . }

Each then worth 200 l. per An. He lived to be Reſtored.

St. AUBIN, HENYR, . ——, .

He had a Living ſome where in this County. I have indeed no poſitive Certainty of this Sequeſtration; but the ſame ancient Gentleman, juſt now mention'd, aſſures me, that he was moſt certainly Beneficed during ſome Part of the Confuſions; as alſo, that he was a Sufferer, particularly by Imprisonment: which is the only Grounds I have on which to Found the Conjecture of his Sequeſtration; and therefore Quære further.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE

ADAMS, WILLIAM, A. M. Totneſs, V.

Whether he had Legal and Regular Inſtitution and Induction to this Living I know not certainly; but I have ſome Reaſon to gueſs that he had * no other Title to it than ſuch as the Confuſions would allow him; becauſe I find he came into this Country with the King's Army, and ſo neither he (nor any other of the ſame kind which ſhall afterwards occur) are to be look'd upon as in an equal Rank with thoſe who had regular Admiſſion to their ſeveral Preferments. He was of an ancient Family in Shropſhire, Educated at Cambridge, under the Care of Dr. Brownrigg, afterwards Biſhop of this Dioceſs, to whom he was Chaplain; but that Biſhop never coming to his Dioceſs, being prevented by the Confuſions, Mr. Adams could not come hither with his Patron, but attended his Majeſty's Army, as is before-ſaid, into this Country. Whilſt he was at this Living, Cromwell ſent for him, and would have purchaſed him with any Preferment; but he was deaf to every Thing of that kind; which ſoon after occaſion'd an Order for his Apprehenſion, from which he fled into Cornwall, and had at laſt (poſſibly in an Interval made by the Sequeſtration of Dr. Crichton, or Dr. Weeks) got Poſſeſſion of the Deanery of St. Burian; but the Commitee of that County ſoon Diſpoſſeſs'd him, got him Plunder'd alſo of all that he had, and turned his Family out of Doors: On which he was forc'd to fly to London, (where he died) leaving his Wife and Two young Children with no more than a ſingle Three-pence, to the Mercy of the wide World.

Adams here in this Living of Totneſs) according to the known but then filenced Laws. And where I meet with ſuch an one Turned out or Deprived of that Right, I make no ſcruple to rank him in this Liſt. But then if any one got Poſſeſſion of a Place by any other means than that of a Preſentation from the rightful Patron, &c. (which I judge may have been this very Gentleman's Caſe at St Burian) I never look upon ſuch an one as a Sequeſtred Miniſter, tho' on Account of his other Sufferings he may very well claim a Place in the Appendix among the Curates, &c. And if any ſuch there are crept into this Liſt, I ſhall not only moſt readily diſcount them on the firſt Notice, but alſo moſt thankfully receive the Information. Tho' to obſerve that by the way, not one in Twenty of Mr Calamy's Liſt, had any other Title than ſuch as That, Antecedent to the Miniſters Act in 1660.

By no other Title than ſuch as the Confuſions would allow; and by the Title of the Times (which are Expreſſions that I ſhall be obliged anon and often to make uſe of) the Reader muſt obſerve that I do not mean an Uſurped and Arbitrary Title, derived from the Invaders and Ravagers then in Power, but a Preſentation from the Right. Patron in a Regular Vacancy, only without Inſtitution from the Biſhop, for which for any Thing that appears to the contrary, was the Caſe of Mr.

ASHWOOD, BARTH. A. M. Bickleigh, R.

That the Reſtor of this Living was Sequeſtred, I am Expreſly Inform'd; but my Account of that Pariſh doth not furniſh me with his Name. The laſt Regular Incumbent which appears on the Biſhop's Regiſter, before the Rebellion, was this Mr. Aſhwood; whence I conjecture he was the Perſon who thus ſuffered, and that he dyed under the Uſurpation.

DORSETSHIRE.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

ALLEN, PETER, A. M. Tolsbury, V.

He was admitted to this Living in Nov. 1616; and the Reaſons for his being Diſpoſſeſſed, as Repreſented by Mr. White, were his Incontinency with ſeveral Women, Baſtardy, obliging his Pariſhioners to come to the Aſſiſes, for the Communion, Neglect of Cure, and Malignancy.

He is another of White's ſcandalous Prieſts. Cent. p. 45.

ALSTON, EDWARD, . Pentice, R.

He was Sequeſtred in 1642; for Attemping, as they Alledg'd againſt him, the Chaſtity of ſeveral Women, and uſing many Beaſtly and Obſcene Practices with them; for ſaying the Parliament ſat to make Laws by Authority, and Brake them without Authority; and, That he ought to lift up his Voice like a Trumpet, againſt the Rebellion; alſo for Reading the King's Declarations, and Rejecting thoſe of the Parliament. He Lived to be Reſtored, and Dyed about 1675.

One of White's ſcandalous and malignant Prieſts. And he is ſo called beyond all queſtion very juſtly, if what is Charged upon him be True.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

*ASTON, WILLIAM. . Painſwick, V.

Febr. the 20th, 1639,-40. It was Reſolved by the Houſe of Commons, That he was unfit to hold any Eccleſiaſtical Benefice; and May the 12th following, the ſame Reſolution was renewed. He is the 2d Parochial Clergy-Man that I meet with, Sequeſtred.

*Or Axton. There are ſeveral Liwings of this Name in this County. One will be after mention'd at Mr. Wild: If that be the ſame Painſwick with this, then there were Two Sufferers in this Living, of which, Mr. Aſton muſt have been the firſt, and died, as I therefore conjecture, ſoon after his Sequeſtration: Otherwiſe Mr. Wild ought rather to be conſider'd as Hereford only, and not Sequeſtred.*

HEREFORDSHIRE.

ADNEY, ANDREW, . Canon-Froom, R.

I doubt whether he had Legal Inſtitution and Induction to this Rectory, or any other Title than ſuch as the Confuſions would allow him; becauſe my Informations ſay, that he was admitted to it by Prince Rupert.

He was Diſpoſſeſſed for * Scandal, Aug. 5. 1646. by the Committe of Hereford, who took no care to ſupply the Cure, but ſuffered the Pariſh to lie void without any Miniſter.

* What is to be underſtood by Scandal on the Score of this Committee for, I ſhall have occaſion to mention hereafter in the Caſe of Dr. Henry Rogers.

HERTFORD-

Digitized by Google

HERTFORDSHIRE.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

ALPHERY, MYKEPHER *, Wooley, R.

He was Defcended from a Branch of the Imperial Line of Ruſſia; and with Two of his Brothers (who died of the Small-Pox in Oxford) was ſent over into England to Mr. John Bidell a Ruſſia Merchant; and by his Care ſent to the Univerſity. The Occaſion of their being ſent hither, was, it ſeems, the Growth of a Powerful Faction in that Kingdom, which threaten'd their Lives. 'Tis ſaid, that this Gentleman in particular, was, after the Suppreſſion of that Faction, Twice ſolemnly Invited to Return to his own Country, and to take the Government upon him; but for what reaſon he Declin'd it, I do not find. However that be, 'tis ſure that he came to this Living in 1618; and was, as I conjecture, Diſpoſſeſs'd about 1643. The Particulars of his Sufferings are theſe: 'On a Lord's Day, as he was Preaching, a File of Muſquiteers came and Pull'd him out of his Pulpit, Turn'd him out of the Church, and his Wife and Children, with their Goods, out of the Parſonage-Houſe. The poor Man thus Ejected out of his Houſe, built an Hutt, or Booth, over-againſt the Parſonage-Houſe, in the Street, under the Trees growing in the Verge of the Church yard, and there liv'd for a Week with his Family. He had procured Three Eggs, and and gathered a Bundle of rotten Sticks (in that time) and was about to make a Fire in the Church Porch, to boyl his Eggs; but ſome of his Adverſaries (whoſe Names are known) coming thither, broke his Eggs, and kicked away the Fire. He afterwards made a ſmall purchaſe, and built an Houſe, in which he and his Family lived ſome Years. After which he removed to Hamerſmith, and continued there until the Reſtoration. 'Tis probable that he had a Large Family and many Children, at the time of his Sufferings; for it appears by the Regiſter of this Pariſh, that he had Eight Baptiz'd, during his abode there, before the Rebellion. As far as I can learn, his Fifths were duly Paid him by his Succeſſor Mr. B——; which were, as I preſume, his chief Support, until the Year 1660. when he returned to his Living, and Continued upon it ſome time; but at length retired to Hamerſmith, to the Houſe of his eldeſt Son, and Dy'd there. He was univerſally Commended and well ſpoken of, by ſuch of his Antient Pariſhioners as Remembred him.

If I read his Name aright.

It ſeems indeed altogether Improbable that a Perſon of ſuch Eminence, eſpecially after ſuch an Office, as 'tis ſaid, was made him in his own Country, ſhould continue in a Poor Obſcure Living in this Kingdom. But I have received Two Letters of it from Mr. Peter Phelps, Miniſter of this Pariſh; One tranſmitted to Mr. Clavell, the Other delivered to, as I apprehend, at a Viſitation. And unleſs I much miſtake ſome other Notices which I have received, the Sequeſtration of the Pariſh as itſelf, is confirmed.

AYCRODD, ANTHONY, . Catworth Magna, R.

It is in this County, if I miſtake not.

K'ENT.

ABBOT, ROBERT, . Cranbrook, V.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Houſe, March 9, 164$\frac{2}{3}$; and the Reaſon aſſign'd for it is, that he had taken another Living, which by his own Confeſſion, was Inconſiſtent. But the Reader will enquire farther, whether that be true or not.

AMNES, JOHN, . Charleton, R.

His Accuſations were, Keeping a Common Alehouſe, Drunkenneſs, Sabbath Breaking, Attempting the Chaſtity of Women; but withal Deſpiſing the Parliament-Faſts, Practiſing the late Innovations, and not Preaching in the Afternoon.

He is another of White's Scand. and Malig. Priests Cent. p. 46.

One Jonas Wheeler was admitted to this Living in 1657

ANHERST, JEFFERY, D. D. Horſmanden, R.

He is Another of White's Scandalous and malignant Prieſts. Cent. p. 33.

The Allegations againſt him there mentioned, are his Obſerving the Rules of the Church himſelf, and urging the Neceſſity of it upon Others; to which are added the Neceſſary Appendixes of Drunkenneſs and Malignancy. Tho' I am otherwiſe aſſured *, that he was a very ſober, honeſt Gentleman, of a good Family, and left behind him a good Character with all good Men. However, when the Rebellion brake out, he was Horribly abuſed by the Party; who uſed to call him Old Pope, and Treat him with all manner of opprobrious Language: Which oblig'd him to Retire from this Living, to Ancher that he had in Suſſex, call'd South-Eaſe. And this, no doubt, was what White in his Century, calls his having Deſerted his Cure for above Seven Months, &c. Upon which he was Sequeſtred. He died about the Year 1647. On Elleſton was at firſt put in to ſucceed him; but upon the Death of this Good Old Gentleman, Mrs. Beſwick preſented John Crouch, A. M. who afterwards became another Sufferer in this Living. One of Dr. Anherſt's Sons was an Eminent Phyſician at Tunbridge, and another of them is now a Juſtice of Peace, and poſſeſs'd of 1000 l. per Annum in this County, if I miſtake not.

* Vit. by a Gentleman, who ſaith, That he had converſ'd 33 years with many who knew him at H. ſmanden.

Whom ſee afterwards.

ATKINSON, ISAAC, . Frenſted, R.

He was alſo utterly Ruin'd, and his Family reduc'd to ſuch Neceſſities, that they were at length forc'd to beg the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

I ſhall have frequent Occaſions to mention ſuch Clergymen whoſe Families were reduced to the ſame Miſeries: And I muſt deſire it may be here obſerved once for all, that by thoſe Expreſſions, At length, Afterwards, &c. I mean After the Reſtoration: For till then, this Corporation was not Erected.

ASHBURNHAM, EDWARD, . Tunbridge, V.

He was Sequeſter'd for paying Obedience to the Canons of the Church; Neglecting the Parliament-Faſts; Encouraging his Pariſhioners to Aſſiſt his Majeſty: And therefore there is no queſtion to be made, but that he muſt have been an Alehouſe-Haunter and a Drunkard.

He is one of White's Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts. Cent. p. 21.

See the Cath. at Chicheſter, quere.

AYSGEVILLE, ——, D. D. Lydd, V.

LANCASHIRE.

ALLEN, ISAAC, A.M. Beſtwich cum Ouldham, R. then worth 400 l. per Annum.

See John Lake in this County.

He was a very Great Sufferer; and among other Ill Uſages, was Impriſon'd in Manchester. After he got his Liberty, he Fled to Ripponden* (a ſmall Chapel) in Yorkſhire; where he, ſome way or

* Rippon, as I have otherwiſe been informed; but I am ſatisfied that it is a Miſtake.

Digitized by Google

or other subſiſted himſelf by Preaching: But whether it were by Connivance or Settlement, I know not. The Rebels alſo pulled down 10 or 14 Bays of Building for him. He ſurvived the Uſurpation, and Returned to his Living, to the Great Satisfaction of his Pariſhioners.

ANDERTON, CHRISTOPHER, . Deanchurch, .

He was Turned out by the Houſe, about Oct. 1643, and 7—— T——, then thruſt upon the Pariſh by the ſame Authority.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

MIDDLESEX.

The London-Divines are before ſet down in a Diſtinct Liſt.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

See one of both theſe Names in Suffolk, and quare.

ALSOP, SAMUEL, . Curwent, R.
He was Sequeſtred from this Living ſome time before 1649.

Quare if he be the ſame with Mr. Alſop immediately before, as alſo whether St. Price and Offemhill be one Living or two.

ALSOP, ——, . St. Price and Offemhill, .
In 1649.

NORFOLK.

ANGUISH, RICH: . Starſton, R. worth 100 l. per Annum,
And
Staring, . worth 80 l. per Annum.

He was Sequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester Apr. 29, 1644, for a Pluraliſt; for Obſerving the Orders of the Church; for Preaching but Once a Day, and then Preaching up Obedience to his Majeſty; for getting Sequeſtred Miniſters to Preach for him; and Affirming that Sacrilege and Rebellion were Damnable Sins; or in their Own Words, that Pulling down the Monuments in Churches, and ſending Money to the Parliament, were Sins.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

ALVEY, EDARD, . Newcaſtle, V. then worth above 200 l. per Annum, ...
And
* Eglingham, V. . . . . .

* Quare if it be the ſame Perſon with both theſe Vicaridges, but quere.

He ſucceeded in the Vicaridge of Newcaſtle in the Year 1630, when the moſt Learned Dr. Jackſon was Elected Preſident of Corpus Chriſti College in Oxford. His Sufferings began very early in the Troubles, as I find by a Letter of his written to his Grace the Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, and dated from York, Oct. 16, 1640; wherein he ſets forth what he had then ſuffer'd, in the following manner: 'I am for the preſent Outed of all 'my Spiritual Promotions, to the Yearly Value of '300 l. and have moſt of my movable Goods ſeiz'd upon by the Rebels; being forc'd (upon ſome 'Threatening Speeches given out by them, that 'they would deal more Rigorouſly with me than 'others) ſuddenly to Deſert all, and to provide 'for the Safety of my ſelf, Wife, and Seven 'Children, by a Speedy Flight in the Night-time. 'How they would have dealt with me, they have 'ſince made Evident, by their harſh Dealing 'with two of my Curates, whom I left to of-'ficiate for me in my Abſence; who have not 'only been interrupted in Reading Divine Service, 'but Threaten'd to be Piſtol'd, if they would 'not deſiſt from the Execution of their Office. 'And whereas I had lately purchaſed 80 l. per 'Annum in Northumberland, and hoped to have 'been ſupplied that way in theſe Calamitous 'Times, till I might with Safety return, they 'have ſince I preſented my Petition to his Ma-'jeſty, Seized upon that alſo, and commanded 'my Servant to be accountable to them for it. 'This is my Caſe at this time. And afterwards, as might be well expected, it was much worſe: For, as I am otherwiſe informed, he was not only pulled out of his Pulpit by two Holy Siſters, but Impriſon'd at Newcaſtle, at Holy Iſland, and at Norwich. His Family likewiſe increaſed, under his Troubles, if I miſtake not, to Ten Children (for ſo many I find his Wife bore him in all) which were reduc'd to great Streights, and Subſiſted in good meaſure by Charity. I perceive by the Letter above-mention'd, that he had been Active, as well as Paſſive, in the Service of his Majeſty; by both which means he had ſo far recommended himſelf to the Favour and Eſteem of that Prince, that he had deſign'd ſome Reward for him; which in all Probability the Rebellion prevented the King from beſtowing. Nor did Mr. Alvey live to receive it from his Royal Son on the Reſtoration: For his Death happen'd in the Year 1648, and was haſten'd, as 'tis thought, by his Sufferings. He was a very Honeſt, Good Man, and a True Son of the Church of England; as I am told appears by a little Tract which he wrote (and which I have not yet been able to get a Sight of) intitul'd The Humble Confeſſion and Vindication of them who Suffer'd much, and ſtill Suffer, under the Name of Malignants and Delinquents, &c. publiſh'd in 1647.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXFORDSHIRE.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

ADAMSON, JAMES, . Tigh, R.
The only Authority which I have for this Sequeſtration, and which I preſume the Reader will judge a ſufficient one, is his Epitaph in theſe Words: Jacobus Adamſon, Natu Scotus, Anglus Vitâ, Moribus antiquus, cum ſue Rege in Proſperis & Adverſis; Rectoribujus Eccleſiæ per 31 annos; p. 122. Obiit die Martii octavo 1654.

Wright's Hiſt. of Rutland.

ALLINGTON, JOHN, . Wardley cum Belton, R.

He was Sequeſtred May 5, 1646, by the Committee for Plunder'd Miniſters: But if I judge aright, he was not Actually Deprived of the Living ing unto the 28th of November 1655, when he was Dispossess'd by Major General Butler, for celebrating Divine Service by the Common-Prayer, for which he had been Indicted March 17, 1653, at the General Quarter Sessions at Oakham, on the following Pretentment, 'The Jurors for the 'Lord Protector of England, upon their Oaths do 'present, that Edward Freeman of Ayston in the 'County of Rutland, Gent. and Dorothy his Wife, 'the 25th of December, and the 1st of Jan. 1653, 'and divers other Sabbath days, and several Days 'commonly call'd the Holy-days of Saints, and 'Friday called Good Friday, and such like Days; 'as Ash-Wednesday, and Sundays in Lent, Easter-day, and Whit-Sunday, do usually travel from 'Ayston aforesaid to Wardley in the same County, 'to hear Mr. John Allington, Clerk, to read the 'most part of the Book of Common-Prayer, and to 'receive the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper according to the Form of the said Book. And 'also do present the said John Allington, Clerk, for 'reading the said Book of Common-Prayer, and Administring the Lords Supper to Popish and Prelatical Persons of other Countries, Cringing, 'Bowing, and Kneeling to the Altar and Sacrament then Administred, contrary to the Ordinance of Parliament in that Case provided; and also say, He would be torn in Pieces by wild Horses, before he would give over bowing at naming Jesus. He was succeeded by one Mr. Spriggs, who turned his Wife and Children into the Town-Street. He lived to be Restored with his Majesty.

Digitized by Google

He writes an Apology for the Sequestred Clergy which was Published.

One of those who succeeded him, if there were more than one, or Some one at least, that Preached in his Church after the Sequestration, had this Flight in the Pulpit; O Lord! get up upon thine Horse, and make haste into Ireland; or thou wilt lose more Honour there, than ever thou gottest in England.

SALOP.

AMIAS, THOMAS, . Stoddesden cum Farlo, V.

He was first succeeded by one Eastham, and after that by Mr. Regin Foulow, who surrender'd this Living up to him again at the Restoration.

ARNWAY, JOHN, D. D. Hodnet, R. And Ightfield, R. . . . . }

See Lichfield-Cathedral.

ATKINSON, THOMAS, . Staunton-Lacy, .

I have some Reason to think him a different Person from that Atkinson below.

He died before the Restoration: He was succeeded in this Living by one Major Sanders, who went off upon the King's Return.

ATKINSON, ——, . * Winstanstow, R.

* Or Wistanton it may be.

He likewise met with such barbarous Treatment, as was thought to shorten his Days.

AUMBLER, JOHN, . Leedham, .

AUNSHAM, RICHARD, A. M. Hopesay, R.

* At Shrewsbury in 1644; and during his Confinement

He was also Imprisoned and most severely used; he had then a Wife and more than Ten Children. His last Successor before the Restoration, was one Stone a Trooper; who surrender'd this Living to Mr. Aunsham on his Majesty's Return; but had by that Time got Money enough out of it to purchase himself another; in Possession of which he died.

there if it may be so call'd, was that this Living was Sequestred. I am informed that his first Successor was one Heath, and that one Wall (which however I am satisfied is a Mistake) was the Person who gave it up to Mr. Aunham on the Restoration, after which he enjoyed it about Ten Years.

One Richard Aunham was some Time Rector of Cranford in Middlesex, and Vicar of Layston in Hertfordshire, if he was the same Person with this Sufferer, he must have been much above One Hundred Years Old at his Death. Newc. Repert. p. 195, 845.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

ALLEN, ——, . Bratton, R.

He had a little Tenement at Wyke, in the Parish of Brewton, in this County; to which he retired after his Sequestration: And during some Part of the Usurpation was School-Master at Shepton-Mallet. After the Return of his Majesty he got himself presented to the Living of Shepton-Mallet also; but lived not to pay his first Fruits: He was a very Learned Man.

ALSOP, JOSIAS, . Norton-Fitz-warren, R.

He was worried out of this Living by the troublesome Neighbourhood of the Garrison of Taunton, He out-liv'd the Usurpation, and was at length Minister of St. Clement's-East-cheap, London.

ANKEHIL, HEN. D. D. Mells, R. See the Cathedral-Church of Wells.

SOUTHAMPTON.

ADERNE, ——, . Bedhampton, R.

ALCOCK, LEWIS, . North-Stoneham, R.

He had been Chaplain to the Earl of Southampton, in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, and Rector of this Living about Fifty Five Years, when he was Sequestred. He was also Plunder'd and barbarously used, and what much aggravates his Sufferings was, that one of the most busie Actors in Rifling his House, was a Fellow whom he had taken, and bred up from a poor Boy, and at length made a Bailiff. This Villain had been a Trooper in the Parliament Army, and from thence came to North-Stoneham to Dragoon his Old Master, who with great Meekness saw him Ransack his whole House, until at last he had found the Surplice, which he put on, Girded his Sword about it, and so did off in Triumph with it through the Parish. At which the Pious, Good Old Man could no longer contain, but fell into a bitter Passion of Weeping. After his Living had been Sequestred, and his Successor appointed, the Old Gentleman (who was naturally Stout, and noted for his Courage and Bravery) was resolved to dispute the Title with him as far as he could; and accordingly put himself upon his Guard, to keep Possession of the Parsonage-House at least. For which Purpose he Caused his Bed to be brought down into his Parlour, kept his Guns still charged, had a Watch every Night, and declared himself resolved, not to deliver up the Possession of his House to the Usurper, but with his Life. Upon which the Parishioners who had intruded into his Living, was forced to betake himself to another House, until the Death of Mr. Alcock; which which happen'd June the 15th 1647, in the 87th Year of his Age. 'He was a Person of a Sober, 'Pious, and every way Exemplary Converſation. 'He was a Wiſe, Pacifick Man, a famous Arbitra- 'tor, and Compoſer of Differences to prevent 'Suits at Law; and never was himſelf engaged 'in any, that ever I could hear of; tho' he was 'a very exact Aſſerter of the Rights of his Church, 'and always took up all his Dues in kind; Ma- 'ny of which afterwards, by the precarious Title 'of his Covenanting Succeſſor, were ſcandalouſ- 'ly ſunk; and are at preſent loſt without Re- 'medy. I have been told by a very ſenſible ho- 'neſt Man, who was his chief Servant for ſe- 'veral Years, that he was a ſtrict, conſcientious 'Obſerver of the Rubricks of the Church; ac- 'cording to which it was his conſtant Practice, 'when he was able, to read Prayers every Day 'in his Church, and even in the Winter, in the 'coldeſt and worſt Weather; and when he was 'very Old and Infirm, he would every Morning 'go with his whole Family to the Church, be- 'twixt Five and Six of the Clock; and after 'Divine Service was over, in his way Home '(which is at ſome Diſtance from the Church) he 'would give his Servants Directions for the Bu- 'ſineſs of the Day. This Church, which he 'made ſo good a Uſe of, was new Built in his 'Time: He gave Four Hundred Pounds and 'upwards, towards the Building of it, as we 'have it upon his mean Tomb in the Church: 'and beſides, at his own Charge, he fenced the 'Church-yard with a ſtrong Brick Wall, decent- 'ly coped with large Purbeck Stone: 'Tis but a 'little Church, the Pariſh being very ſmall; 'but by the Charge he himſelf was at, by his 'Advice, Direction, and Care, it is one of the 'Strongeſt, beſt Built, moſt beautiful Churches, 'of any Country Church in the County. He 'was very Eminent for his generous, regular 'Hoſpitality; but more for his great Charity to 'the Poor; many of whoſe Children he took 'into his Family, bred them up, and provided 'for them. And his way was to have a Hogſhead 'of Wheat, and another of Peaſe, or Barley to 'ſtand in his Hall; out of which he would li- 'berally give to the poor Houſe-Keepers of his 'Pariſh; and when his Hogſheads were empty, 'he would ſtill fill them again for the ſame Uſe. 'Indeed had we no particular Inſtances of this 'good Man's Charity and Munificence, we muſt 'conclude them to have been very great; be- 'cauſe when it pleaſed God to take him to him- 'ſelf, he left hardly enough behind him to Bury him decently; tho' he had long enjoy'd an In- 'come (of which he was known to be a very 'Prudent and Skilful Manager) of above 300 l. per Ann. he was a married Man but a little 'while, never had a Child, nor any Poor Rela- 'tions (that ever I could hear of) but one old 'Man, for whom he had made ſome ſmall Pro- 'viſion.

ALEXANDER, FRAN. L. L. D. Houghton, . And Crawley, R. . . . . .

See Winchester-Cathedral. In 1655, one Sam. Tomlyns was preſented to Crawley.

ALEXANDER, ——, . Worthing, R.

See him in Suſſex.

ALWORTH, ——, . Kingſgate, R. And St. Maurice, ...

Quare if he be the ſame Perſon (the Name differently ſpelt) with Mr. Richard Aylward one of the Minor-Canons of Winchester: This Mr. Alworth was alſo Plunder'd.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

ANGE, ——, . Handſworth, R.

I have no abſolute certainty of this Sequeſtration, and therefore Quare.

SUFFOLK,

AGGAS, ——, . Ruſhbrook, R.

He afterwards got his Livelihood (ſuch an one as it was) by his Fiddle.

ALCOCK, WILLIAM, . Brettenham, R.

He was a Man of an unexceptionable Life, and Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 10, 1644, for keeping to the Rubricks and Canons, ſpeaking lightly of the Parliament, Declaiming earneſtly againſt the Rebellion, ſaying the Covenant was contrary to the Oath of Allegiance, and calling our Loving Brethren in Scotland, Rebels.

Theſe are the Cauſes which are aſſigned for his Sequeſtration, as I find them mention'd in the Extract of the Proceedings againſt the Clergy of the Aſſociated Counties. I have been alſo informed, that One Article againſt him, was, his having Acted in the Play call'd Ignoramus. But if it be true, that this was One Part of his Charge, 'tis ſure they were aſhamed, as well they might, to leave it upon Record: Or, it may be, they were aſhouned to put it into the Articles; and only alledg'd it againſt him by Word of Mouth before the Committee, at the time of the Sequeſtration. And if it was then Admitted as one good Reaſon why he ought to be Diſpoſſeſſed, it makes a ſignal Inſtance of the Hypocriſie of the Times: For one Legate who Perſonated Ignoramus himſelf in that Comedy, was by the Saints themſelves thruſt into Poor Doctor Croft's Living of Burnham in this County; and that too, when he ſtill continu'd a Comedian (and, as far as I can gueſs, acted the ſelf-ſame Part) in the Pulpit. I have Grounds enough to make it a Quare, whether Mr. Alcock did not Loſe a Temporal Eſtate alſo of 16 l. per Annum, and Sixty Pounds in Stock. He had at the time of his Sequeſtration a Wife and Three Children. I miſtake if he did not Die before the Reſtoration.

ALDUS, WILLIAM, . Cobdock, R.

He was Sequeſtred about the Year 1644, for Reading the Confeſſion and Abſolution, and other Parts of the Service; and for Tipling with one Gooch, who was Drunk; which is the whole of what was Articl'd againſt him.

ALLEN, ——, . Froſtenden, R.

He was alſo Plunder'd of his Goods; but they allowed him the Parſonage-Houſe, and a ſmall small Pittance of the Glebe Land, to subsist himself and his Family, who notwithstanding this were reduced to great Straights (tho' he was a Prudent and Frugal Man) and must have been in much greater, but for the Charity of some Neighbours. He died before the Restoration; and the Parsonage-House soon drop'd after him (and continued in Rubbish till 1686) he not having wherewithal to Repair it. His Successor was one Row, who was a sort of Itinerant, and had the Care of several other Sequestred Livings in the Neighbourhood; who, as hath been * Credibly reported from Persons that very well knew him, was Originally an Apprentice to an inferior kind of Grocer in the City of Norwich; and the Chandler that served the Shop with Candles during his Apprenticeship, having brought home a large Quantity of Candles, wherein several of the Pounds thereof had some Broke; the Master of the Shop pick'd out the Broken Pounds of Candles, and Order'd his Apprentice Row to take them into his Apron, and carry them into his House: For he said he would not sell them to his Customers, but have them burnt at home. Whereupon the said Row hearing his Master's Pleasure, carried them out of the Shop into the Kitchen, and cast them into the Fire, whereby the House was in some Danger of being Fired. And his Master by this and many other Blunders, finding him not fit for his Business, dismissed him; and from thence coming into Suffolk, he was Entertain'd in a Gentleman's House (who was, as they call'd him, a Great Man of the Times) as his Butler. He soon became an Inspired Man, and set up for a Preacher; being much followed by the Factious Common People.

Digitized by Google

He helps to make up one of White's Century, p. 14.

See a Gentleman of both these Names in Monmouthshire, and Quære.

ALSOP, SAMUEL, . Alton, V.

He is by White charged with having attempted the Chastity of several married Women, with getting a Maid with Child, and with suspicion of Incontinence with others: But he had withal Set up the Jesuits Badge in his Church, and expressed great Malignancy against the Parliament. He is also there charged with having Deserted his Cure for Six Months; which was, I make no Question, what I am otherwise informed of; his betaking himself to his Majesty's Army (in all probability) for Shelter. He out liv'd the Usurpation indeed, but died before he was actually Re-possessed of his Living.

AMBLER, THOMAS, . Wenastone, V.

He was Dispossess'd June 23, 1644. for Swearing by his Faith, keeping Company with Drunkards and Malignants, refusing either to Take the Covenant, or Assist in the Rebellion, Disswading others from the same, and Observing the Rules and Injunctions of the Church. He had at that time a Wife and Four Children. And it is a Matter of Quære, whether he did not also Lose a Temporal Estate of 25 l. per Annum.

AYLMER, EDWARD, A.M. * Akeham, .

Or it may be Akenham, R.

He was Grandson to Dr. John Aylmer, some time Bishop of London; and had been Educated at Queen's-College in Cambridge. In 1645, he fled to his Majesty at Oxford; where he was, by vertue of Letters from the Chancellor and Prince Rupert, created D. D. I also find (as is said in the Margin) one Edward Ailmer of Akeham, Clerke under Sequestration, who Compounded for his Estate at 190*l.* I make no question, but he was the same Person with him who was created D. D. at Oxford, and consequently the same with this Sufferer.

I have no direct Information, either that this was his Living, or that he was at all Sequestred from it; but only conjecture both the one and the other. Wood saith, that he was forced from his Station by the Barbarities of the Presbyterians. And other Informations which I have say, that after his Sequestration (which however probably may be but of his Temporals only) he compounded for his Estate, &c. To the same Informations he is called Edward Aylmer of Akenham, Clerk. If he had not this Living, he must be struck out here, and Ranked in the Appendix with the Curates. Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 733.

SURREY.

ANDREWS, NICHOLAS, D.D. Gilford, R.
And
Godalmine, V. . . . . }

See the Ch. of Salisbury, and quære. * P. 9.

He was of the University of Cambridge. White is not ashamed to put him into his * Scandalous Century, for these following Reasons, viz. for being an Enemy to Frequent Preaching, (one Proof of which, and that also made another Article against him, was his Refusing to Admit a Factious Lecturer in his Parish to Corrupt and Distract it) for Endeavouring to Oblige his Parishioners to attend the Ministry of their own Pastor; for greatly Exclaiming against that Dolt ine, which teacheth, that the greatest Part of the World should be Damn'd; for several Instances of Superstition and Malignancy (the Meaning of which every body knows) and such a Man, to be sure, could not be otherwise than a Frequenter of Taverns, and a Tipler. He was Hurried from Jayl to Jayl, some time Imprison'd on Ship-board, and D. d under this barbarous Treatment and Confinement: Being, in a word, a Zealous Man for the Church of England, and a Great Loyalist.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 811.

ARUNDEL, THOMAS, . ——, .
And
——, ... }

I cannot obtain the Names of his Livings; but he Lost Two in this County.

SUSSEX.

——, ——, . Abberton, R. One Nich. Shepherd came to it in 1655.

This Person, and all such as are referr'd hither, are taken out of the Admission-Books of those Times, and the Books of the Commissioners for the Approbation of Publick Preachers, which were Enacted to our Registers of Institution; In which Books the Name of the Person from whom the Livings were Sequestred, doth not appear: It is only said, A—— Admitted to the Sequestration, or the Sequestred Rectory, or Vicaridge of B——, which I mention in this Place once for all.

I must here also add, that when I discover a Sequestred Living, without finding the Name of the Suffering Incumbent, I rank it under that Letter wherewith the Name of the Living begins; as I have here done.

ALCOCK, ——, . Tillington, R. worth 200 l. a Year.

He was, partly by Threats, and partly by Promises, perswaded into a Resignation of his Living: For his Behaviour was such, that they had nothing to object against him: But they never made good their Word to him; nor did he receive any thing from those, who had given him Hopes of other Preferments: And so he was reduc'd with his Family, to very great Extremities.

ALEX-

ALEXANDER, ——, . Iping cum Chichburſt, R.
And
Worthing, R. in Hampſhire. . .

He was a Man Eminent for his Learning and Piety, and very firm to the King's Intereſt; for which he was Ejected, about the Year 1644. After which he liv'd by the Charity of his Friends until the Year 1660. At which time one H—— who had ſucceeded him, was forc'd to deliver up his Living to him again. He was, either at the time of his Sequeſtration, or afterwards, B.D.

APSLY, ——, . Pulborow, R. worth 400 l. per Annum.

He had a ſmall Living beſide as, which he was permitted to keep.

He was firſt ſummon'd before ſome Ruling Men, and commanded to give an Account of his Election, according to the Mode of the Times; which it ſeems he did in ſuch a manner, that they could not then take any hold of him. But he had too good a Living to eſcape ſo; and therefore upon Information, that he was ſeen in a Publick Ale-Houſe, he was again conven'd before them; and this Fact made ſufficient Ground and Proof of his being a common Drinker, and ſcandalous Liver: And without being permitted to make any Anſwer, he was thrown out of his Living, almoſt to the utter Ruin of his Family; who liv'd very meanly in the other ſmall Living; his Children being kept by the Charity of his Relations. His Succeſſor was one G——, who was forc'd to Redeliver to Mr. Apſly upon the Reſtoration.

ATKINSON, ——, . Furle, .

WARWICKSHIRE.

WESTMORLAND.

AMBROSE, JOHN, . Groſmere, R.

WILTSHIRE.

ALBRIGHT ——, . Lanſton, R.

ALEXANDER, ——, . Colingbourn-Kingſton, V.

He Survived the Uſurpation; but I think never claimed his Living again.

AYLESBURY, THOMAS, B. D.
Kyrſtem-Deverel, R.
And
* Berwick St. Leonard, . . .

* Or Cole-Berwick; which I take to be two different Names for the ſame Place: Otherwiſe there was one Mr. Aylesbury ſequeſtred from this laſt mentioned Place alſo, who ought to be enter'd in a Diſtinct Article.

The Two Livings were worth betwixt 2 and 300 l. per Annum. He was frequently carried before the Committees, and Impriſoned at London a long time, and alſo otherwiſe barbarouſly uſed by the Rebels. Once he was ſeized as Officiating in a Neighbouring Church; where the Soldiers cut the Common-Prayer-Book in pieces; and, in a word, innumerable Barbarities were exerciſed upon him. He had at that time a Wife and Eight Children; with whom, when he had obtained his Liberty, he retired to Cloford in Somerſetſhire, where he had a ſmall Eſtate of about 12 l. per Annum: Notwithſtanding which, he muſt have periſhed with his Family, if he had not been ſupported by the Charity of Sir George Horner. The ill Uſage he met with from the Rebels, brought him into ſuch a weak Condition, as ended not but with his Life, about the Middle of the Year 1660.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

ARCHBOLD, THOMAS, A. M. Harvington, R.

He was Admitted to this Rectory in 1623, on the Preſentation of the Dean and Chapter of Worceſter. The chief Occaſion (as 'tis ſaid) of his Sequeſtration (beſides his Great Zeal for Epiſcopacy, and Extraordinary Fidelity to his Majeſty; in both which, as he was very Eminent, ſo they, no doubt, contributed to his Suffering) was his Oppoſing a Deſign then ſet on foot by ſome of his Pariſhioners, to Incloſe Part of the Common Field: Which, it ſeems, provok'd ſome of the Projectors to Article againſt him. He was Sixty four Years of Age, and had a Wife and Ten Children, when he was put under Sequeſtration: Which was alſo managed in ſuch a manner, that they got him Diſpoſſeſſed about Auguſt; and ſo he Loſt all the Crop of that Year.

Which Method of Proceeding, however barbarous, was nevertheleſs Law, very common in theſe Times.

Nor was this thought Puniſhment enough for him; but they alſo ſeiz'd the whole Crop of his Glebe, and Divided it among his Proſecutors. After which, they Pulled his Wife and Family out of his Houſe by Violence, and put them into a Poor Cottage, lately a Cow-Houſe, in the Town; where his Wife in few Years died with Grief. At length he remov'd to London, and Died there in a ſhort time after. I find a Petition of ſome of his Children, preſented to the Corporation for Miniſters Widows &c. wherein they let forth, that their Father 'was Plunder'd and thrown out of Doors; not 'ſo much as a Bed was allowed him for himſelf, 'a Wife and Ten Children. However he made 'a hard ſhift to live by the help of ſome Friends, 'and the Labour and Induſtry of his Children: Who after his Death, lived by their Labour ſome time: But at laſt were brought to Extream Want and Neceſſity, and forced to implore Charity to keep them from periſhing. His Succeſſor was one William Bridges, who had been ſome time Curate at this Living, during the Vacancy of the Church; and could get no Preferment, till he Thruſt out Mr. Archbold. He continued at Harvington (very unkind to poor Mr. Archbold's Family) till he Died; which was in Nov. 1654.

YORKSHIRE.

ADAMS, ——, . Freeton, : Value 100 l. per Annum.

AMBROSE, ——, D. D. * Methley, R. Then worth 250 l. per Annum.

AUDESLEY, ——, . Batley, .

I believe he lived to be Reſtored.

WALES.

Digitized by Google

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

I take this Living to be in this County, but Quere, because there are several others in the Welch Counties of the same Name.

ABERLEY, ——, . Llyfwen, R.

I must here observe to the Reader once for all, that the frequent use of Sirnames for Christian Names, and of Christian Names for Sir-Names in Wales, is, I doubt, have occasioned several Mistakes in this Life, and made me sometimes rank some of the Clergy under the wrong Letter.

CARDIGAN.

CAERMARTHEN.

The Authority which I have for this Sequestration, is, That I find by the Accounts of the Welch Sequestrators (the Originals of which were lately before me) that this Living was reserved in their own Hands, and the Reader is to understand the same of all those other Livings, from whence I fail refer to this Note. That some of those Livings had been Sequestred from the Legal Incumbents is manifest, because the Profits of them are charged in those Accompts. And the 'tis possible that some of them might come into the Sequestrators Hands, and be detained there on the Death, &c. of the Incumbents; yet this is not probable, because the Act for propagation between the Years 1649, and almost every one of these Livings appears to have been in the Sequestrators Hands in 1650. Some indeed might be so by the Incumbents Resigning or Quitting their Livings; however, since if they did so, there is no doubt but their Cessions were Compulsory, they are therefore contained to a formal Sequestration. But there is one Way more of accounting for these Livings without the Sequestration of the Incumbents, which is by saying, that they might be either Appropriations or Impropriations, the latter of which seem to receive some Countenance from what occurs in one Place of these Accounts: But there are many other Things in them, which much more strongly infer the contrary, and amongst them this, that the Appropriations especially are taken express notice of, in many of the Counties, and therefore it seems reasonable to suppose the same of the rest (at least generally speaking) were there any appropriate Livings in them. I find indeed one Case (which is that of Mr. Charles Herbert in Brecon) where the Living was in the Sequestrators Hands, and if I conceive right, they allowed him one of it, what (small matter they thought fit. If this was the Case of any of these Livings, it will make some (tho' a great) alteration in the Matter: For such an one must be deemed, in good part, a Sequestred Minister. But I need not have mentioned this, for I take Mr. Herbert's Case to be particular.

Living, because I find them, as I have done this Gentleman, at the end of all the Counties.

ALLIBOND, JOHN, D. D.——, .

He is mentioned in the Life of Dr. Heylyn, either as a Sequestred Minister, or an Ejected Fellow. Tho' Wood says nothing of his Sufferings, nor gives any other Intimation of them, except that he was created D. D. at Oxford, in 1643, among a great many Loyal Sufferers. On the other Hand he seems to make him possess'd of the Rectory of Bradwell in Gloucestershire at the Time of his Death; which happen'd in 1658. He was Born in Buckinghamshire; was of Magdalen-College in Oxford, some time Master of the Free-School adjoining to that College, a most excellent Philologist, and Author of the noted Verses intitled, Rustica Academiæ Oxoniensis nuper Reformatæ descriptio. Quare farther of his Sequestration.

P. 19.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 723.

AUBERY, RICHARD, . Bugh-roid, R.

He was outed some time before 1649.

AUBERY, RICHARD, . Llanbe-der, R.

'Tis not improbable that he was the same Person with him who immediately precedes, but the same Surnames are so common in this Country, that one can scarce say 'tis probable that such an one with both the same Names, are for that Reason the same Person, and therefore Quare.

AUCHER, JOHN, .——, .

He seems by his Epitaph to have been a Sufferer in those Times; for it is there said, that he was made Prebendary of Canterbury, upon the Restoration of his Majesty King Charles II. for his Fidelity to the King and the Church. Quare. He was Prebendary in the Sixth Stall at Canterbury, and Admitted to it some time in the Year 1660. Jan. 12, 1662, being then D. D. he was presented likewise to the Rectory of All-hallows Lombard-street, and died March 12, 1701, in the Eighty Second Year of his Age. He left 80 l. a Year for the Maintenance of Clergymens Widows.

Cant. Sac. part 3. p. 126. Append. p. 98

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 955.

CAERNARVON.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

MERIONETH.

ATKINS, THOMAS, . Bettws-Gwerfilgoch (or Gwerfigach.)

MONTGOMERY.

PEMBROKE.

See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire, in this Letter A. I find this Vicar was a Pluralist, but whether he loft the Reft of his Livings, or if he did, whether he be one of those, whose Names may be otherwise in this List, I know not.

——, ——, . Ambwith, V.

RADNOR.

When I can't discover the County to which any Sequestred Minister, or ADAMS, ——, . ——, . He was Father to that Mr. Adams who is mentioned at Tor-nes's in Devon. I am informed that he was a Suffering Minister in these Times; which general Ex-

B

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BAYNE, ROBERT, . Little Barkford, R.

I find one Robert Baines was preferred to the Rectory of Wel. I. p. 840.

One Robert Pierson succeeded in 1655.

Hunsdon in Hertfordshire in 1703. Newc. Rep. Eccles.

BRADSHAW, JOHN, . St. Paul's in Bedford, V.

One of both these Names was some time Rector of St. Michael Crooked-Lane in London, which he quitted in 1671; and in 1664 had been also presented to the Rectory of St. George Botolph-Lane, which he Resigned in 1669.

At his Death he left a Wife and Four small Children, which were after reduced to great Streights, insomuch that they begg'd for a Publick Charity.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 314, 486.

He was B. D

Digitized by Google

BERKS.

BARNES, JOSEPH, A.M. East-Ilsly, R. then worth 120 l. per Ann.

Or Market-Ilsby, for I take them to be the same. If not, there was one Mr. Barnes Sequestred there also.

He had been Bred at Magdalen-Hall in Oxford; Articles were preferred against him by some of his Parishioners, to the Commissioners which sate at Abingdon in 1654; the Contents of which were Deposed upon Oath at another Session of those Commissioners, at Speenham-Land, the 30th of the following Month: At which Time he was Sequestred, and his Non-Appearance alledged as the Reason of it; altho' several of the Principal Inhabitants of the Parish came there at his Request, and testified on Oath, that he was Disabled from coming thither by having his Leg broken. Which (to observe that by the way) was done by one Edward Allen, a Merciless Zealot of those Times, who came out of the Lamb Inn at Ilsby, and threatned to do the Parson's Business; and to shew he was in Earnest, immediately pursued him, and with a kick broke his Leg. Besides these Depositions which they made, they carried also with them a Certificate (the Original of which is remaining to this Day) signed by more than a third Part of the Parishioners, acquiting him from those Allegations which had been brought against him: But this was so far from having any Weight with the Commissioners, that they would not vouchsafe so much as to receive it. He had at the Time of his Sequestration, a Wife and Seven Children; to whom the Commissioners did upon a Petition at their next Meeting, grant an Order for the Fifths; but on no other Condition, than that Mr. Barnes should depart with his whole Family out of the Parish; which he chose to do rather than Starve. But alas! this would not help him; for his Godly Successor Mr. John Framn, utterly refused to pay the Fifths. Necessity obliged Mr. Barnes not to desist upon one Denial; and to make surer of succeeding in his next Application, he sent one of his little Daughters to him, hoping such an innocent Object of Charity might move the Wretch to Compassion: But neither did this Method succeed; for when the poor little Creature to inforce her Request, and if possible move his Pity, told him that without it they must all Starve; The relentless Wretch, from his Heart of Adamant, returned this barbarous Answer, That Starving was as near a way to Heaven as any! And surely Oppression and Murder are as near a Way to another Place, Mr. Barnes himself however, as Conjecture, did not go to Heaven in that manner, before the Year 1660; because soon after that Time, the merciless Usurper of his Bread, was, I find, forced to leave this Country, for fear of being compelled to pay for some of it; As several of his Brethren, who would not pay Fifths before the Restoration, were by Law obliged to do it after.

BUNBURY, THOMAS, . St. Mary's in Reading, V.

Wood's Fasti, Vol. II. p. 228, 719. Antiquities, p. 237.

He had been Educated at Baliol-College in Oxford: What his Degree was at the Time of his Sequestration, I know not; it could not, to be sure, be under that of A.M. because flying from thence, to put himself under his Majesty's Protection at Oxford, he was there created D. D. in the Year 1644.

BUCKS.

BRADSHAW, JAMES, . Chalfont St. Peter's, V.

He makes one in White's Century of Scandalous and Malignant Priests; tho' there is not one Syllable of the former kind alledged against him; and the whole of the latter was no other, than Observing and Vindicating the Orders and Rights of the Church; only he had wish'd the Lecturers hang'd. He died before the Restoration; and The. Hele, who had succeeded on his Sequestration, then conforming, continued in the Living. P. 7.

If I read the Name right.

BURDEN, REGINALD, . Chedington, R.

His Widow was afterwards relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows: A Gentleman of the same both Christian and Surnames will be mentioned in Leicestershire: They are neither of them common Names, and therefore I believe it was one and the same Person, but Quære.

One of both those Names was presented to the Vicaridge of Grandborough in Hertfordshire in 1637. Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 328.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

BAKER, ——, . Bartlow R. Then worth 100 l. per Ann.

I am not certain whether he did not lose a Temporal Estate of 180 l. per Ann. He was turned out by the E. of Manchester, about March 22, 1643, for calling those who took up Arms against the King, Traytors; for saying, He hop'd to see King Pym Hang'd; and for refusing the Covenant. In the Order for his Sequestration, all Soldiers, &c. were required to be Aiding and Assisting in Dispossessing him, and putting his Successor William Hinton into Possession of the Living; which is Dragooning in the most literal Sense. He had at the Time of his Sequestration a Wife and Three Children.

BAYLY, GEORGE, B.D. Leverington, R.

He was Sequestred about the Year 1646, and lived about 12 Years under his Sequestration, with A great Family of Children, and in great Hardships and Wants, till within Two Years of the Restoration. And, if I mistake not, then dying, left Three Daughters particularly, in a very poor, mean, and helpless Condition; who were afterwards supported by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

BEARDSALL, GEO. *D.D. Arkesden, .  All concurr in the following Account.* Outed by the E. of M. Jan. 16, 1646. I find one George Bardsey, who had been of Queen's-College in Cambridge, Incorporated D. D. at Oxon in 1644, among other Loyalists, who had fled thither for his Majesty's Protection. He was possibly the same Person (tho' the Name be differently spelt) with this Sufferer: And if so, the Crimes alledged against him, were Neglect of his Cure, Refusing the Covenant, Obedience and Affection to his Majesty, Abhorrence of the Rebellion, and particularly bidding his Parishioners, search the Scriptures, and see if they could there find it lawful, to take up Arms against the King, and to Plunder. I am not certain whether he did not also suffer, in his Temporals. He died (if he be the same with Doctor Bardsey, of Oxford, in the latter end of 1645.

Wood's Ath. Vol. II. p. 772.

Heads of Quære.

CHESHIRE

CHESHIRE.

BISPHAM, WILLIAM, . Eccleſton, R.

See Cheſter-Cathedral.

BRIDGEMAN, HEN. A.M. Barrow, R. And Bangor, R. in Flintſhire, worth betwixt 2 and 300 l. per Annum.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 680.

He was the Third Son of the Suffering Biſhop of Cheſter, Born in Northamptonſhire, admitted firſt of Oriel, and thence Elected Fellow of Brazen-noſe College in Oxford. In the time of the Rebellion he did his Majeſty Faithful Service; For which, as he was on the one hand Diſpoſſeſſed of his Livings; ſo on the other, he was in 1660, Created D. D. at Oxford; and the ſame Year made Dean of Cheſter, as alſo Prebendary of Stillington in the Church of York; and at length Anno 1671, he became Biſhop of Man. He died in 1682.

He which Diane he was alſo Rector'd to Bangor at leaſt (ſo not in the other Living) and Mr. Fogg (who is by the Abridgment reckoned as Ejected from that Living, p. 484. See alſo p. 476.) delivered it up to him.

* BRIDGES, THOMAS, . Malpas, .

I am not abſolutely certain of this Sequeſtration; and therefore quære.*

BURGES, GEORGE, . Woodchurch, R.

One Peter Burgher was Preſented to this Living in 1654; and the ſame Year I find one Samuel Graſſy alſo upon it.

CORNWALL.

BANBRIGG. HENRY, . Merrin, V.

He was alſo Violently Perſecuted. I am told that afterwards he had Lanteglos by Fey; but whether it be meant, during ſome part of, or after the Uſurpation, I know not.

BEARD, THOMAS, . Alternun, V. He ſucceeded on the Reſignation of his Father, about the Beginning of the Wars, and was Diſpoſſeſs'd not long after. He ſurviv'd the Uſurpation, but not long enough to Repair his Loſſes, which were very great; for he Died about 1663.

He was allowed to keep Lower St. Columb, worth 200 l. per annum.

BEAUFORT, JOHN, A. M. St. Columb Major, R. worth 400 l. per An.

He had been of Exeter-College in Oxford, was Turned out in 1652, Liv'd to be Reſtor'd upon his Majeſty's Return, Died in 1677, and was a Perſon Eminent for Learning, Piety, and Exemplary Life.

BETTY, HUMPHRY, . Little St. Petherick, R.

There was no ſetled Miniſter in this Living for about five Years after Mr. Betty's Sequeſtration

He was otherwiſe moſt inhumanly dealt with. He ſurviv'd the Uſurpation, and enjoy'd his Living again till the time of his Death; which happen'd in the Year 1673. He has the Character of a very good Man.

CUMBERLAND.

PRIESTMAN, ——, . Sannix, . Which is in this County, if I miſtake not.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVON.

BACHE, JAMES, . Egbuckland, V. He was Sequeſtred in 1653; and ſurviving the Uſurpation, was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Living; but Died ſoon after: For in 1661, I find Mr. Charles Sambe ſucceeded in it, on the Death of Mr. Bache. This ſame Gentleman had alſo ſucceeded on the Sequeſtration, was Graduate in the Univerſity, and had permitted Mr. Bache to live in the Vicaridge-Houſe, during the Remainder of the Uſurpation.

BAGLEY, HENRY, B. D. Modbury, V. He had receiv'd his Grammar-Learning at Eaton-School, and his Academical at Merton-College in Oxford. He was driven from his Living by the Parliament-Army; at which time he betook himſelf to his Majeſty's Forces; with whom he retired into Cornwall. He had at that time a Wife and Seven Children, who were Turned out of Doors by a Party of Horſe, and might have lain in the Field, had not Colonel Chompernon afforded them Lodging in Modbury-Houſe. He was afterwards Seiz'd and Impriſon'd on board the Ships: And when he had obtained his Liberty, he was ſome time after forced to Fly for fear of a Second Impriſonment. His Poor Family had no Fifths for ſeveral Years; but at length had 12 l. per annum allowed them, and recover'd ſome Arrears after the Reſtoration. He died about the Year 1660, and left his Wife and Children in a very poor miſerable Condition. His only Crimes were Loyalty, and Firm Adherence to the Eſtabliſhed Church. He was a Perſon of an Unſpotted Life, of Excellent Learning, and ſuch an Eminent Preacher, that the Biſhop of London had ſeveral times appointed him to Preach at St. Paul's Croſs. Some were ſo well apprized of this, that at the time of the Sequeſtration, they adviſ'd the Committee to ſubſtitute one of the beſt Men they could find, in his room, that the Pariſh might be the leſs ſenſible of their Loſs. However, they had little regard to it, and Thruſt upon them one William Collins, who (as far as any of the ſurviving Pariſhioners can remember) never had any Univerſity Education, at leaſt made no Shew of it: For he was a very Poor, Deſpicable, Canting, Dull Fellow.

BAITSON,

Digitized by Google

BAITSON, CHRISTOPHER, A. M. Chulmley, R.

He was Actually Sequestred, but how long he lay under that Sentence, I know not: For I find that after some time (which was at least Several Years) he got his Sequestration revok'd. In the mean while he was horribly Abused and Harassed; his Temporal Effates of 80 l. per annum, was put under Sequestration; his Goods were once Seized, and an Inventory of them taken, in order to sell them; but on Security given by some of his Neighbours, to produce them on the First Demand, they were not disposed of at that time: Whether they were afterwards, or no, I cannot say. He was moreover Decimated, and otherwise severely Persecuted; insomuch that he was forced to keep a Watch on the Tower, for fear of being Seized in time of Service: And once a Party came for that purpose, declaring they would have him Dead or Alive; but having timely Notice of it, he got out of the Church, and was by some Friends convey'd over the Church-yard Wall, and so made his Escape. At another time he was Threatned with a Pistol at his Breast, because he had Rebuked a Lewd Soldier, that attempted to Ravish one of his Daughters: In a Word, he was so Tossed to and fro, that he was forced to Abscond, and durst not appear at his own House for six Months together. His Unpardonable Crimes were Refusing the Covenant, and Harbouring Fourteen of his Majesty's Soldiers; some of which he had also Armed. He had at the time of his Sequestration Twelve Children; and having no Fifths paid him, was forced to Practise Physick to Maintain his Family: Altho' as numerous as it was, he found something to spare from them, for some other Sequestred Ministers. He Survived the Usurpation; but how long, I know not; nor any thing more of him, but that he was a found Preacher, and a very Learned Man. Only, since those of the Other side, are so forward in Relating such Judgments, as they apprehend befal their Persecutors; I shall here add, that of those who Articled against him, Three of the most forward Died in a very unhappy manner; One by a Fall from his Horse, Another was drowned, and the Third expired in a Raving and Distracted Condition.

BAKER, THOMAS, A. M. St. Mary the More, R. in Exon, And Whitstone, R. . . . . .

He Died before the Restoration; was Reputed a Man of Learning, and hath Two or Three little Pieces extant. He was succeeded in the First of these Livings by John Bartlet, who kept it till 1662, and then Lost it for his Nonconformity.

BALL, ROBERT, A. M. St. Mary-Church, V.

This Worthy Person was Born at the Neighbouring Parish of Cockington in this County, Bred in Oxon, where he was Fellow of Baliol-College, and from thence Presented to this Vicaridge, about the Year 1644. He was a Person of very considerable Learning, which, I presume, recommended him to Dr. William Huchenson, one of the Canons of Exeter, whose Daughter he married, and had with her a very considerable Fortune. About the time of the King's Murther, he Preached upon that Unseasonable Text, Fear God, and Honour the King; for which he was hurried to Exeter by a Party of Horse, there Reviled and Abused by the Committee, Sequestred from his Living, and forced to give in Bail, before he could obtain his Liberty. His Temporal Estate also was seized, his House Plunder'd, and his Cattel driven away for Payment of Arrears and unmerciful Taxations laid on him; in a word, he was so continually Harrassed, that he was forced to abscond, to save himself from Prison; and was often seen in the Habit of an Hedger, with an Hook and a Pair of thick Gloves, (and sometimes actually at that Work) to conceal himself from those who were sent to seize him. His Temporal Estate was about 50 l. per Ann. which by Sequestration, Decimation, and Compositions, they had reduced to about 35 l. and having then a Wife and Ten Children, he was forced to be beholden to Charity for part of their Maintenance, having no Fifths paid him. However, as he was an excellent Scholar, and a sound Divine; so was he a very good Man, and bare his Sufferings with a most Christian Patience, and an undaunted Courage. He was succeeded by one Robert Stidson, a very sorry canting Fellow, and whether of any University, or in any Orders, is wholly unknown: But this is sure, that he lived to deliver up the Living again to Poor Mr. Ball on the Restoration (tho' the Abridgment makes him an Ejected Sufferer here at Bartholemew-Day) Mr. Ball lived till about 1675; and then died in the Seventy Fourth Year of his Age. He left behind him a Manuscript Volume of Prayers, Meditations, &c. which (as a Man of Learning assures me) very well deserves to see the Light. William, saith the Abridg. p. 304

BAMPHIELD, JAMES, A. M. Rattery, V.

He was of the Family of Poltimore near Exeter, and Brother to Sir Ames Bamphield: He was Dispossessed of this Living on the Ordinance against Pluralities; being also Rector of Black-Torrington in this County, which he was permitted to keep; and procured that Favour, as I have heard, by the Stratagem of setting up a Godly Lecture in his Parish. He was also several Times Plunder'd; and once carried away Prisoner to Dartmouth; but purchased his Liberty again at the Expence of 50 l. His Successor at Rattery on the Sequestration, was John Searle, who lived to deliver it up again immediately after the Restoration (if I mistake not) as Mr. Bamphield did indeed to receive it, but died not many Years after, viz. in 1663. Tho' I have been otherwise informed, that to get the other Living of Black Torrington, after he had lost this of Rattery.

BANKS, WILLIAM, . Heavitree, V.

He makes a Second Sufferer in this Living, being the Person to whom Dr. Bury quitted it (whose Daughter he had married.) Mr. Banks was also himself actually Sequestred; but continuing under the Sentence not many Months, he is not to be look'd on as in an equal Rank with the rest here mentioned. Among other Things that were urged against him at the Committee, one was, that he was a Card-Player; and when the Proof of it was enquired into, it amounted to thus much; That seeing some Children playing at One and Thirty, and smiling to see how they counted, he bid them Number the Picks with their Fingers. And tho' to give the Committee their due, this trifling Accusation had not any Weight with them, yet it shews what Stuff the Enemies of the Clergy were forced to trump up against them; and how ready they thought the Committees were to lay hold of any the least Pretence for a Sequestration. But the true Cause of his Dr. Bury was actually Sequestred, but at last got the Power to make a sort of a Resignation of this Living to Mr. Banks.

Digitized by Google

his being Dispossess'd, was (as I have been told) his having put in Mr. Gane, the Sequestred Minister of Hinton St. George in Somersetshire, to serve the Cure of St. David's, which is a Daughter Church to this Vicaridge. During the Time of his Sequestration, he served the Neighbouring Church of Axminster, and at length was restor'd to Heavitree, by the then growing Interest of Mr. Strkeley, the afterwards famous Independent, on Condition that Strkeley should be placed in St. Sidwell's (another Daughter Church belonging to this Vicaridge) out of which the Presbyterians had with Might and Main laboured to keep him. Mr. Bauge not only survived the Usurpation, but became also one of the Prebendaries of Exeter, and died in a good old Age at Heavitree, not very many Years since.

BATTISHILL, WILLIAM, Shebbear cum Shepwash, V.

He was actually some time under Sequestration, and therefore claims a Place in this List: But being not long after restored, he is not to be put on an equal Foot with the rest; which is the Case of some others, who have been, and will be mentioned, but not without taking express notice of it, as I have here done.

This Living was then worth about 36 l. per Ann. and therefore he was permitted to keep it, until the Augmentations were set on Foot; and it being then made 80 l. a Year, he was put under Sequestration for some time; but he soon made Friends and had it revoked. However, a Godly Man of the Party was as quick with him on the other Hand: For no sooner was Mr. Battishill restored, but he got the Augmentation re-called. Which yet turn'd more to Mr. Battishill's Advantage than to be sure was meant him; for the Place by that means becoming again so small, that no Godly Man would accept of it, he was therefore allowed to continue in it, during the whole remainder of the Usurpation, tho' he met with some Abuses and Disturbances, before his Sequestration at least, if not after his Restitution.

BEDFORD, THOMAS, Plymouth, V.

He was Curate here to the very worthy Dr. Wilson*, at the Time of that Doctor's Death; upon which his Majesty (in whom that Right had always been vested) presented him to the Vicaridge: But the Faction put him by, and were not content to throw him out of his undoubted Right only, but proceeded also to cast him into a nasty Jail; and soon after sent him by Sea Prisoner to London, from whence he never returned. The occasion of this barbarous Usage, was an honest Sermon, which he had Preach'd in the Town; and possibly his Majesty's countenancing of him, added not a little to it. I cannot forbear telling the Reader, that whilst he continued in Custody, the Governor of Plymouth happen'd to be remov'd; and at his going off, leaving Mr. Bedford still in Durance, an honest Minister the next Sunday (who consulted the Case before him, more than his own Safety) Preached upon this Text, And Felix willing to do the Jews a Pleasure, left Paul Bound: But he was like to have paid dear for the Application; for he had much ado to escape accompanying Mr. Bedford in Prison, and ministering to him in his Bonds.

* Whom fee at Exeter-Cathedral.

BENNET, MATTHEW, St. Olave's, R. in Exon.

He was only a Reading Minister. He survived the Usurpation, was re-possess'd of his Living, and soon after made one of the Priest-Vicars of the Cathedral-Church in that City. Whether he held this Living by Institution and Induction (and consequently whether it be look'd upon as a Free-hold) or by Sequestration only, as this, and some other small Livings in Exeter are now held, I know not.

BERRY, DANIEL, B. D. Knowstone and Molland, V.

He was of a very Antient Family, which had flourished in the North Parts of this County (where this Living lies) for at least Three Descents before the Times of Edward III. and have given the Name to the Parish of Berry-Narber, which was the Place of their Residence. His Father also had been Vicar of this Place; whom he succeeded: but was Dispossessed of it for his Loyalty and Affection to the Establish'd Church; having vigorously endeavour'd, according to his Duty and Conscience, to support the Constitution, as well Civil as Ecclesiastical. But his Sequestration from the Living, may be justly accounted the least Part of what he suffered; for he was otherwise most barbarously treated and abused. The Common-Prayer-Book was once, as he was officiating, taken from him by a paultry Mason. After he was turned out of his Vicaridge, he lived upon an Estate of his own in Molland, where his House was broken open, his Servants unmercifully beaten, to make them discover his Goods; his Wife and Nine Children turned out of Doors; and some of them afterwards would have been glad of a Piece of Bread. He was forced to conceal himself under a Pile of Broom-Faggots; but the Diligence and Industry of the Soldiers who searched after him, soon discover'd him there, by thrusting in their Swords; one of which Wounded him; and when they had thus gotten him into their Hands, they threaten'd immediately to hang him up at the Court-Gate of one Paltreman, a Parishioner of his, but his most implacable Enemy: Upon which Mr. Berry entreated them, that he might rather be hang'd at his own than his Enemy's Door. However they were at last content, that he should not be Hang'd at either, if he would deposite the Sum of 20 l. which he some way or other procured for them. 'Tis also reported, that his whole Family were Poisoned. His House was likewise several Times Plunder'd; and at the Time when they thus seized him, they also thresh'd out his Corn, and carried it away. At another Time they made a clear Riddance, and Strip'd him of all he had, even to the Bed he lay upon; and exposed all his Goods to Sale by a Publick Survey; his Books only excepted, which were of good Value; and these they bestowed upon Mr. L——— S———, the famous Independent Preacher, who some time Lorded it at Exeter with more than Prelatical Rigour. Which great Zealot, as he had not the Conscience at first to refuse them, so had he never after the Honesty to restore the Value of one Farthing for them; tho' there were no less than Nine Horse Loads of them, and the poor Family reduced to very great Extremities. I have been also informed, that the poor Gentleman begg'd but one of his Books again, and was denied it! With the Grief of this barbarous inhumane Treatment, he contracted such Distempers and Diseases, as at length brought him to his Grave in the Year 1653, and in the 45th of his Age. His Wife and all his Nine Children were living at the Time of his Death, and their Condition became more especially miserable upon this Account, becauſe not only the Fifths (as I apprehend) then ceaſed, but the ſmall Eſtate of 20 l. a Year, which had all along been their main Support, fell away with his Life; ſo that his Wife (who was a Gentlewoman of a good Family) and ſome of the Children, being left in this deſolate Condition, were forced to Spin for their Livings; and one of the Sons was bound Apprentice to a Weaver, tho' it pleaſed God afterwards to reward the Fidelity and Conſtancy of Mr. Berry's Sufferings, in the Perſon of the Second Son John; who by many gallant Actions and good Conduct, paſſing through ſeveral Poſts of the Navy, became Rear Admiral, and at laſt for ſome Time Admiral, after my Lord Dartmouth laid down his Commiſſion. He had alſo the Honour of Knighthood conferred upon him, was made Governor of Deal-Caſtle, and at length one of the Commiſſioners of the Navy, in the late Reign. Mr. Berry's firſt Succeſſor in this Living was one Robert Cobley: After him came one Miller, and then one William Littleton, who had been a Captain in his Majeſty's Army, and continued a great Loyaliſt, as well as Vicar of this Living, after the Reſtoration; but never obtained any other Preferment (tho' he ſought after it) as dying in 1662. Mr. Berry was a Man of Excellent Parts and Learning, and well remembred in the Pariſh for his great Charity to the Poor.

Prince's Worthies of Devon. p. 116.

Digitized by Google

Or Littleton.

BLAKE, MARTIN, B.D. Barnſtaple, V.

He was * Born in the Town of Plymouth, but where Educated I know not; nor any Thing more of him (unleſs that he had for ſome Time the Living of King's-Nympton in this County) until the Time of his Sufferings: Which were chiefly occaſioned by his writing a Letter to the Mayor and Aldermen of his Native Town, when it was Beſieged; exhorting them to return to their Duty, and reconcile themſelves to his Majeſty; offering withal his own Service, as far as he was capable, for that end. To which it muſt alſo be added (if any Credit can be given to one of the Petitions, which was preſented againſt him) that he had been inſtrumental in getting the Town of Barnſtaple delivered up to his Majeſty; which they called betraying it to the King. His greateſt Enemy was one Tooker, whom (to mention that by the way) Mr. Blake, as Tooker himſelf confeſſed, had formerly obliged in a particular manner, by many Favours, and once ſaved him from total Ruin. This Fellow ſollicited a Petition againſt him in London, to which, after all the baſe Methods he uſed, there were but Nine Hands ſubſcribed; one of which was forged, as the Perſon himſelf, whoſe Name it was, afterwards declared; and another who did really Subſcribe, as frankly owned, that the Petition was alter'd after he ſet his Hand to it. As this Petition was framed and ſigned in London, ſo was it immediately there preſented to the Grand Committee for the Weſt; and the main Accuſation in it, was the Plymouth-Letter; tho' it was alſo ſtuff'd with many other Lies and Falſhoods. Notwithſtanding which it had ſo much Credit with the Committee, as to obtain from them a Summons for Mr. Blake to appear before them at London, May 14, 1646. With this Summons in his Pocket Tooker poſts down to Barnſtaple, and there endeavours to get more Hands to corroborate his Petition; but after all that he could do, there was not one ſingle Perſon found in the whole Town, who would ſubſcribe it; but inſtead of it, they drew up a Petition directly contrary to that which Tooker had framed in London; and this they readily ſigned. Upon which Tooker, ſeeing he was like to be diſappointed, drop'd his Summons, and never ſerved it upon Mr. Blake; but notwithſtanding threatned to ruin ſeveral of thoſe, who ſubſcribed the Petition in Mr. Blake's Favour. However, tho' he drop'd his Proſecution before the Grand Committee for the Weſt; yet he ſoon after revived it before the Standing Committee for the County of Devon, to which he likewiſe preſents a Nine-handed Petition; the ſame (in Subſtance at leaſt, if not) verbatim with that which had been before preſented in London; and ſubſcribed (if I miſtake not) by the ſame Nine Hands; of which Two only were Mr. Blake's Pariſhioners, ſome his known Enemies, and one an utter Stranger to his Perſon. This produced a Summons likewiſe for Mr. Blake to appear before the Committee at Exon, May 1, whither he repairs accordingly; and with him ſeveral of the Town; who brought with them a Petition in Mr. Blake's behalf, ſubſcribed by the Corporation, and almoſt the whole Town; who had alſo ſigned a Certificate in his behalf: But when the Day of Hearing came on, after being made to wait a long Time at the Door, his Buſineſs was at laſt deferred to that Day Sevennight; only the Pariſhioners had at that Time the liberty to preſent the Petition which they had drawn up in his behalf. At length the Second Day appointed coming on, he is called in, and there accuſed before the Committee, not now on Tooker's Petition, which had occaſion'd the Summons, but on another Petition; which by whom it was framed and contrived, was as far as I can learn, a Secret even to Mr. Blake himſelf as long as he lived. For if it was the Petition of any one, or any Number of Men, it was more than Mr. Blake was allowed to know. The Title of it, as read to him, was thus, The Humble Petition of & Cetera. Nor were there any Names read as ſubſcribed to it; nor is it certain that it was at all Signed by any one. And when Mr. Blake deſired to know, who they were that made this Petition, he was anſwered, that that was not material, and that it was not the manner in exhibiting Petitions to ſubſcribe their Names. And when he preferred the like Requeſt, to know in whoſe Name, or Names the Petition ran, he was denied that Favour likewiſe. The Subſtance of this Petition was, that Mr. Blake was an Enemy to Godlineſs, had betray'd Barnſtaple to the King, endeavoured the ſame of Plymouth; and that the good People of Barnſtaple could receive no Comfort or Benefit by his Miniſtry. This Petition was once (and but once) read over to him; for he could not obtain the Favour of having it read a ſecond Time; nor would they grant him a Copy of it. After this they alſo produce the Copies of his Letters, which he had wrote to the Corporation of Plymouth, but not exact ones. To theſe, as likewiſe to the matter of the Petition, Mr. Blake gave ſuch a full and compleat Anſwer, as ſilenced the Committee: Two of which own'd to Mr. Blake, that they were convinced; and plainly ſhewed as much, when his Sentence came to be pronounced: For they withdrew, and refuſed to Joyn in it. As ſoon as he had made his Defence, he was Order'd to withdraw; and after ſome Debate, thoſe Two Members of the Committee were ſent out to steal and tamper with him; who endeavour'd to Perſwade him to a Reſignation: And finding him Reſolute againſt it, they Threaten'd him preſently to Sequeſter his whole Eſtate, both Spiritual and Temporal. After which, they returned to the Committee, and made their Report: Whereupon Mr. Blake was Voted a Delinquent; and then being called in and acquainted with it, he was required to ſhew Cauſe, why they ſhould not proceed to a Sequeſtration. To which, after he had anſwered, he was order'd to withdraw, and ſoon after being call'd in a

Third

* If I miſtake not.

If I conjecture right, he was Poſſeſſed of another Living, which he afterſaid.

'Tis I believe the firſt time that ever & Cetera preſented a Petition.

Digitized by Google

Third time, was told, that for the prefent they did not think fit to Sequeſter him, but had only Suſpended him: Tho' the Honeſt Clerk, Mr. Rowe, took upon him to utter the Sentence, and thus Enter'd it: Fatft, Reſolved that he is a Delinquent. 2dly, Reſolved that he ſhall be Remov'd from the Benefice of Barnſtaple, and another Able, and Orthodox Miniſter placed in his room. Which Piece of Villany afterwards occaſioned Mr. Blake very much Trouble, as we ſhall ſee by and by. But to go on; After they had thus Tried, Condemned and Sentenced him to Suſpenſion, on One Petition, they then read to him Another; which had never been produced at his Trial (and was the Nine-handed one Fram'd by Tooker) and declare that to be the True Ground of their Proceeding againſt him: Whereas there had not been a Syllable alledg'd for the Proof of it; nor one ſingle Perſon called in to Atteſt, much leſs to Swear to one Word of it; although the moſt forward of Mr. Blake's Accuſers were then in Exeter, and in Houſes adjoyning to the Place where the Committee ſate. In fine, Mr. Blake renewed his Requeſt for a Copy of the Petition, and for her time to Anſwer, but was deny'd both, and ſo diſmiſs'd. Thus were Forgers, known Enemies, and Utter Strangers (who yet altogether made up but Nine Perſons) admitted without ſo much as the Quaker-Oath of a Declaration, in Open Court, as ſufficient Evidence; in Oppoſition to the little leſs than Unanimous Teſtimony of a whole Town and Corporation; by theſe very Committees which at other times ſo Frequently and Solemnly pretended the Bent and Diſpoſition of the People for Sequeſtring and Removing the Miniſter. After they had got Mr. Blake thus Suſpended, their next Buſineſs was to make the People of Barnſtaple believe, that as the Honeſt Clerk had Enter'd it, he was really Sequeſtred: And the uſe they make of it, is to get the Town to Petition the Committee for another Miniſter; and two Agents were accordingly employ'd, to deal with them about that Matter; who took care to ſecond their Perſuaſions with Threatnings; and told them, that otherwiſe they would be deem'd Malignants. But Mr. Blake's Behaviour had deſervedly won him ſuch an Eſteem with his Pariſh, that on the other hand, the Mayor and others, by a Petition to the Committee, repreſent their ſad Caſe for want of their Miniſter; and alſo requeſt the Committee to appoint them Mr. Hughs, or Mr. Hanmer, to officiate there, until Mr. Blake ſhould be Reſtored. In this Petition likewiſe, or in a following one, they teſtify'd their great Love of him, the Integrity of his Converſation, and the great Comfort they had in his Doctrine; and offer'd to Atteſt what they ſaid on Oath, and with the Hands of many Hundreds of the Town and Pariſh; But all in vain: For ſince the Petition favoured Mr. Blake, and intimated their Expectation of his being Reſtored; as his Enemies at Barnſtaple had endeavoured by Threatenings and other Vile Arts, to put a ſtop to it: So when it came to Exeter, the Clerks and others contrived to ſtave off, and delay the Meſſenger from time to time, in ſuch a manner, that he could never have an Opportunity to Deliver it: And ſo he was forced to leave it in the Hands of one, who promiſed to get it Preſented, and probably did ſo; But the Committee never took any notice of it, nor had the Town ever any Anſwer. May 24, 1646, Sir Hardreſs Waller alſo writes to the Committee in his behalf, and teſtifies that he had received Spiritual Comfort from him, obſerv'd in him a great Zeal to God's People, and aſſured them that he was ſingularly Gifted, and truly and powerfully Godly: But I do not find that even this Letter had any Effect upon them.

And 'tis plain, not a Word of the Other Petition was either offered to be proved: for if it had, Mr Blake would have ſworn thoſe concerned in it, which he did not.

I find ſome other Articles of Delinquency, &c. were drawn up, and preferr'd againſt him; but by whom, or to whom, doth not appear.

Tho' the Committee had thus ſilenc'd Mr. Blake, they did not, as is before intimated, in full Twelve Months after provide the Town with any other Miniſter *. And it ſo happen'd, that not long after his Suſpenſion, a great and Peſtilential Sickneſs brake out in the Town; at which time Mr. Blake having nothing to do, as not daring to Officiate, Retir'd into the Country. Upon this the Town again renew their Inſtances to the Committee by one of their Magiſtrates; and repreſent to them in a Second Petition, their Double Miſery, for want of a Miniſter at ſuch a Seaſon; and ſuggeſt to them, that they believ'd no one would come into ſuch an Infected Place, but that their Old Miniſter would gladly return. Againſt this Petition they objected, that there were no Names to it, and that it had not the Town-Seal; altho' the Petition on which Mr. Blake was acquitted at the time of his Hearing, was not Preſented, as far as appeared, in the Name of any one; nor had any Name ſubſcrib'd to it; and themſelves at that time had ſaid, it was not neceſſary. However theſe were meer Pretences. For when they were anſwer'd, that they ſhould have both Hands and Seal, they were forced, to confeſs that the Reaſon why the Petition would not be accepted, was becauſe they did not utterly diſown Mr. Blake, and petition for another Miniſter: And ſo all that could be obtained from the Committee, was this Verbal Anſwer, that Mr. Blake was not to Preach any more in Barnſtaple. But neither did this ſatisfie them; For if I do not very much miſtake, they had alſo by ſome means or other extorted a Bond from him, not toPreach within ſuch a Diſtance of that Town.

* Neglect of Cure was ſo often mixed with the Epiſcopal Clergy, as a Crime of their Sequeſtration.

Thus ended Mr. Blake's Troubles in the Country; but a New Scene of his Sufferings ſoon opens to London; where I find his Caſe before the Committee of Plundered Miniſters: How it got thither I know not, unleſs it was thus: Tooker, his chief Perſecutor, and one Peard, did, as I find, apply to that Committee for an Order to have the Sequeſtration of the Place, and provide for the Cure. Now 'tis poſſible they might deſpair of getting ſuch an Order from the Committee of Devon, who, they well knew, had only Suſpended Mr. Blake (al ho' the Clerk in the Plenitude of his Power, had in the Form of his Entry made it a Sequeſtration) and therefore betook themſelves to that Supream Committee, on whom, as being uninformed of what paſs'd at Exeter, they could eaſily Impoſe, if there had been any need of it, and the Committee-Men there had not been of themſelves forward enough for for any Piece of Injuſtice. But however that Matter was, this is certain, that on a Petition of Seven of the Town, by their Order of Dec. 9, they empowered Sequeſtrators to take the Profits of the Place, and provide for the Cure; on Suppoſition that the Living had been really Sequeſtred by the Committee of Exon.

Or c

I ſhould have tranſlated from this favourable Character of him by Sir Hard. Waller, that he had but appears from ſhown him,

Theſe Sequeſtrators were no other than Tooker and Peard, who kept the Order private to themſelves: Nor did Mr. Blake know one Tittle of it, until by Chance, being in London, he came to that Committee, in hopes to get his Suſpenſion taken off: At which time he firſt heard of their Order of Sequeſtration. Upon which Mr. Blake ſets himſelf to get that Order revok'd; and for that end gets a Petition from the Town of Barnſtaple in his Behalf, and gets Tooker and Peard, the Promoters and Sequeſtrators themſelves to joyn in deſiring the Committee to Diſcharge that Order; which was accordingly done Apr. 13, 1647. But Three Days after, viz. the 16th of the ſame Month, another Petition is preſented to that Committee from ſome, not only tes much complied with the Times, &c. But I am aſſured, that in ſome Letters which are yet preſerved, that whole Favour was ariſing to his Friendſhip with his Nameſake Admiral Blake of, but then at Barnſtaple; praying them to Revoke Mr. Blake's Diſcharge.

Digitized by Google

The Reader will doubtleſs wonder very much how a Petition could in three Days be obtained; ſince from London to Barnſtaple, and back again, is not much leſs than 400 Miles; and will certainly think, as I do, that he who walked to and fro in the Earth, helped them to it; tho' not in the Quality of a Courier, but in his other Capacity, that of the Father of Lies. For in the firſt place, they had Foiſted into the Petition, that the Requeſt which they then made, was the Sence of many in Barnſtaple; whereas none could at any time be perſuaded to ſpeak againſt Mr. Blake, beſides theſe Two Proſecutors, and Two or Three Brownifts and Anabaptiſts. In the next place, to excuſe this ſhameful Forgery, they pretended that their Attorney had Orders to put the Names of thoſe mentioned in the Petition, to whatſoever thoſe who framed it, ſhould think fit: Which however, was notoriouſly Falſe; as will appear from what muſt be obſerved in the Third Place; That one of thoſe very Perſons, whoſe Name was to this Petition, (as it had been to divers others) declared, that he never did, nor ever would ſet his Hand to any Thing againſt Mr. Blake, and therefore to be ſure, had not given any ſuch Orders. And to compleat this Piece of Villany, it muſt be known in the Fourth Place: That the Names of Tooker and Peard, who but Three Days before had aſſiſted Mr. Blake, and joined with him, in requeſting the Committee to diſcharge his Sequeſtration, were likewiſe ſet to this Petition, which now Solicited and Pray'd the Continuance of it: Altho' (if I do not very much miſtake) Tooker himſelf had juſt before told Mr. Blake, that he had done, and did not intend to give him any more Trouble. It muſt here alſo be obſerv'd, that either when they firſt applied to the Committee of Plunder'd Miniſters for the Order of Sequeſtration; or elſe (as I rather judge) when the Caſe was Canvaſs'd, upon this laſt mention'd Petition of Mr. Blake's Perſecutors, they alſo procured a Copy of the Entry, which the Godly Clerk had made at Exeter; and which, as was ſaid above, paſſing Mr. Blake's Sufpenſion into a Formal Sequeſtration; this, among other things, had ſo much Weight with the Committee at London, that they declared they would re-call their Order of the 13*th* of April, which diſmiſſt Mr. Blake's Sequeſtration, and leave him ſtill under their Firſt Sentence, unleſs he could ſhew Cauſe to the contrary. Upon which Mr. Blake appear'd before the Committee, and did ſhew Cauſe with ſo much Succeſs, that they unanimouſly agreed to let their aforeſaid Order of the 13*th* of April ſtand in full force; and did not only thus diſcharge Mr. Blake's Sequeſtration, but order'd as much to be ſignified to the Committee of Devon: Who thereupon bid Rowe, their Honeſt Clerk, write to the Town of Barnſtaple, and let them know, that Mr. Blake was to return among them. But this was an Office which he very little cared for; and therefore with the ſame Honeſty that he had formerly corrupted the Entry, he now thiſts, and puts off Writing to Barnſtaple from time to time: which one of the Members of the Committee perceiving, Wrote himſelf to that Town. Upon which Mr. Blake is immediately re-call'd, and continu'd among them Eight Years; but not without the Cumbrance of a Factious Lecturer, one Hanmer, whom they thruſt upon him, and with whom he was forc'd to bear, leſt they ſhould a Second time get him Diſpoſſeſs'd of his Living; as they did afterwards, notwithſtanding this Compliance.

For about the Year 1655, his Old Perſecutors renew'd his Troubles, upon Oliver's Declaration, that no Sequeſtred Miniſter ſhould Preach, &c. The Particulars of his Proſecution at that time I do not meet with: But I find that he was actually Diſpoſſeſs'd, and in the Year 1657, went to London; where he obtained an Order from Cromwell to continue in Poſſeſſion of his Vicaridge, until the Law ſhould try his Caſe. I alſo find, that it was the Forged Entry of the Honeſt Clerk, ſo often mentioned, which now once more roſe up in Judgment againſt him, brought him within the Verge of the Proclamation, and wholly occaſioned this Third Scene of his Troubles. After his Return from London, he came to his Vicaridge-Houſe in Barnſtaple, which they had not yet taken from him; tho' they had Seiz'd both his Pulpit, and the Profits of his Living: But ſoon after they proceeded to ſecure the Vicaridge-Houſe alſo: For which purpoſe they ſent a Party of Horſe to Diſpoſſeſs him, who broke open his Houſe (even that very Vicaridge-Houſe which he had at great Charge built anew from the Ground) but, by what means I know not, did not at that time Turn him out: But ſome Days after, (he having been Seized by a Party of of the ſame Horſe, and hurri'd Priſoner to Exeter in a very bitter, Stormy, Winters day, tho' he was then Old, and the Journey at leaſt Forty Miles) they returned to the Vicaridge, brake open the Doors once more, Turn'd out all that were in the Houſe (which were none but Women-kind) and among them a Child, at that inſtant ſick of the Small-Pox; wherewith the poor Girl was ſo much frighted, that for many Weeks after, they thought ſhe would never have recover'd her Senſes. After this Mr. Blake continu'd a Priſoner at large in Exeter for ſix Weeks; at the End of which he was called before the Commiſſioners, who uſed him in a very indecent manner; and ſometimes by Threats, and at other times by Soothings, would needs perſuade him to relinquiſh his Right to Barnſtaple; offering him a Paper to Sign for that purpoſe. But he gave them a Bold and Reſolute Anſwer; and among other things, pleaded his Engliſh, Free born Liberty, utterly refuſed to Reſign, and inſiſted upon it, that he had not been Regularly Sequeſtred, and was Reſolved to Try it at Law, and would be ſet at rights in that matter, and be ſo Recorded in their Books. After this, he was diſmiſt to Return to his Family; but ſo much Weaken'd with Travel and Sorrow, that he came home in a very ſickly Condition, and was never Re-poſſeſs'd of his Vicaridge, as far as I can learn, until the Reſtoration.

I find Oliver Preſented Nath. Mather to it in 1656.

I have but this further to add, as to the Sufferings of this Worthy Man, that before the Tumults brake out into an Open Rebellion, I find ſome of his Factious Pariſhioners had created him a great deal of Diſturbance; That his Temporal Eſtate in and about Plymouth, was alſo put under Sequeſtration, for ſome time at leaſt; which I gueſs to have been about the Year 1644 or 1645, if not ſooner; That there was an Order iſſu'd out for ſeizing, and carrying him Priſoner to Scilly; but by what Authority, at what time, or with what Effect, I do not find: and that the Chief Occaſion of the Malice and Inveteracy, wherewith Tooker and Peard had always followed him, was an ancient Grudge.

In the happy Year 1660, at leaſt, he obtained the quiet Poſſeſſion of his Vicaridge again; and June 3, 1665, was Collated to a Prebend in the Church of Exeter, which he Vacated by his Death a little before September 1673. At which time he was ſucceeded in it by Hen. Greenſworth, A. M. whoſe Collation bears date the 27*th* of the afore-mention'd Month.

As far as I can learn the Character of Mr. Blake, from a Perſon who knew him intimately well for many Years. He was a Learned Man, a found Divine, a very frequent, conſtant, laborious, and moſt uſeful Preacher, moſt eſpecially Vigilant againſt all Errors, Vices, Factions, &c. and a moſt most Excellent Christian. And indeed there is a plain Spirit of Seriousness and Piety runs through all his Papers; many of which I have seen and perused.

Digitized by Google

Before I dismiss the Account of him, I must here repeat the Observation which I have already made at Mr. Cuffelin in London; and it is this: That the Reader is not to believe Mr. Blake was the Only Person who suffered under such shameful and bar fac'd Oppressions, because he alone is accounted for so largely; but he is to know, that this was the Case of many other (not to say most) of the Loyal Clergy: Only the Particulars of Mr. Blake's Sufferings happen'd to be preserved, whilst those of others were almost wholly lost. And I have taken the Liberty to give the Reader so large a Detail of those detestable Oppressions, under which Mr. Blake groaned, as well that from hence may be gathered what others suffered, as because I was very sure of the Truth of what is here said, having taken it out of the Original Papers, drawn up by Mr. Blake himself, in order to perpetuate the Memory of his most horrible and wicked Treatment.

abused by those Ruffians, when they mist their Aim of seizing him. He had a Wife and Eight Children, who were all in a manner ruined; some of them forced to Spin, and the rest to imploy themselves in other servile Works for a Livelyhood; and one of them is at present Clerk of the Parish. His first Successor was Jonas Holmes (who had also been put into Baliol-College in Oxford by the Visitors, on the Expulsion of a Profligate Wretch whom they had before thrust into the Place of a Loyalist) but he soon removing to a Rich Living in the Neighbourhood, one Mr. Daniel Cudmore came into Stockley. Mr. Bowler was Restored in 1660; but when he died I am not informed. He was a right Honest, Good Man, and a considerable Scholar. His Eldest Son, who next to his Father, suffered most by the Plunderings of the Family, and who attended him, as well before the Commissioners, as in the Fields and Brakes, was living in 1706, and Rector of Stockley-Ingilsh in this County. It is from him that I have these Informations, and he is the Person, much mistaken by the Abridgment, for a Nonconformist at Kennesly in this same County, as himself further assures me. P. 305.

* In Aug. 1638, Rich. Down, D.D. seems Rector here; nor do I wear in the Register with any other Presentation to this Living afterward, until the Abolishing of Episcopacy. So that either the Confusions prevented the Regular Entry of Mr. Bourcher's Admission, or else he had only such a Title to this Living, as the Tumults could allow him. But that it was Valid in Equity is plain from hence, that he was possessed of this Living again after the Restoration, without any new Presentation, as far as appears by the Register. And I guess that Dr. Down had indeed Resigned to him; because I find that Doctor possessed of Two other Livings in this County.

BOURCHER, WILLIAM, . * Marwood, R.

He was a very Reverend Person, and a great Scholar; which is all that I have been informed of concerning him, further than that he lived to be Restored.

BRUSH, GEORGE, . ——— .

I have been informed there was such an one Sequestred about the Northern Parts of this County, but I cannot depend upon the Information, and therefore do not give it the Reader as an absolute Certainty.

BUCKLAND, THOMAS, . Combe-intinhead, R.

He had Compounded for his Place Two or Three Times, and yet was at last Ejected: So that, as my Account pleasantly remarks, he partook not so much as of their cruel Mercies. He died during the Usurpation.

BOWBER, ROBERT, : Stockly-Pomery, R.

He had been presented to this Living by the most Pious Bishop Hall, whilst he late in the See of Exon, and had made a shift to keep it, under much Difficulty and frequent Disturbances, until about the Year 1653, as I conjecture. At which Time he was carried before the Commissioners; but a Sum of Money rightly directed and applied, put a stop to his Prosecution for a little while: After which it was renewed, and he was again summoned before them; and though he brought some of the best and chief of his Parish to Countenance and Assist him; all was in vain. For they proceeded to Dispossess him, and that too, without so much as letting him know his Accusers, much less bringing them Face to Face. And when this, and other hard Usage, was complained of by himself and his Friends then present, they were so far from meeting with any Redress, that they were dismiss'd with Scorn, Taunts, and Threatnings. The chief Cause of his Sequestration, next to that of his great Loyalty, and Affection for the Established Church, was his having Baptized a Child by the Liturgy; for which a Neighbouring Minister of the Times (to whose Parish indeed the Child belonged) would never forgive him; nor ever ceased his Prosecution of him, till he had wrought his Ruin. Besides this he was (several Times Plunder'd, and frequently forced to Abscond for his Security. Once he got out of a Window in Frost and Snow, in his Shirt only, to escape the Soldiers. He also lay Three Days and Three Nights together in a Furse Brake; as his Eldest Son (of whom more by and by) who was then with him, assures me. His Family also was

* BURCH, NICHOLAS, A. M. Calverleigh, R.

* Unless the Confusions prevented the Regular Entry of his Admission, he could have no other Title to this Living, than such as those Tumultuous Times allowed him, for the last regular Incumbent which appears in the Register before the Wars, viz. Powle.

He survived the Usurpation, and died in 1677. Having been succeeded here by one Horsman, a New-England Divine; of whom 'tis reported, that talking in Defence of Extempore Prayer, he said, Tho' we speak Nonsence, God will pick out the Meaning of it.

BURNARD, JAMES, A. M. Awliscome, V.
And
Upautry, V. . . . . }

He was of a good Family, and Born at Cullinton in this County, and Educated at Oxford, but in what College I know not. He was Admitted to the former of these Livings about the Year 1644, and to the latter in 1639; but left them both in the beginning of the Wars. The Reasons alledged for his Sequestration, were Drunkenness and Incontinency: The last of which Crimes was never thought of, until his Loyalty and Zeal for the King's Cause had rendered him Obnoxious to the Party, and put them upon trumping up that Accusation against him. After his Sequestration, a Party of Horse from Lyme Plunder'd his Goods, and seiz'd them before his Face, rifled his Study also, which was a valuable one, throwing his Books about the House, tearing them in a shameful manner. They also seized his Person, and carried him Prisoner to Hemmyock Castle,

Digitized by Google

'and I have good grounds for it: For when his Brother Brown was Elected Knight of the Shire, he told some of his Friends, that he had now as much as he desired: And being demanded why? he answered, that now he would be Avenged on the Vicar of Tewinster. Mr. Walter Foy also being his Cosin-German, came to him when he was to be a Committee-Man, and told him, Now was the time to be avenged on me; and then indeed it began to Work: And I was never suffered to be quiet since; and they chose such a time to call me, as never could have been the like, even when Mr. John Brown was Chairman, and Mr. Walter Foy a Committee-man present; a Set Match! So I quickly had my Doom, though to the Dislike of some of the Committee themselves: For Mr. Coker, one of the Committee, told Mr. Fox, and another of the said Society, that they had done what they would afterwards be ashamed of; speaking it of the Depriving me of my Means and Liberty; and would not put his Hand to the Commitment, for that he perceived I was altogether accused of Malice. But howsoever, I am an undone Man; and how to recover my self I know not, for want of Means: My Innocency can bear no Plea in these times, notwithstanding I challenged my Accusers before the Committee, that if they could lay any Scandal of Life and Conversation to my Charge, they should declare it; but they were not able to do it. I have lived Vicar in this Place 39 Years, time enough to know me Inside and Outside: But notwithstanding that, all my Possessions are taken from me, which were my Father's Patrimony, whereunto God hath called me, and wherein I was Settled by the Laws of the Kingdom. The Lord give me Patience, and his Name be blessed for all. I have no better News to tell you at present, but what I have already Related: God send us better in his good time, and send Peace to the Kingdom, as may stand best for his Glory. So having sufficiently tired you with this tedious Discourse, I leave you to the Almighty; Resting, &c.

This he left the Pennsy: He had a Temporal Estate under sequestration.

DURHAM.

BASIERE, ISAAC, D. D. Stanhope, R. And Eggliffe, ... And Howick, R. in Northumberland. . . } In this County.

See Durham-Cathedral.

BEDFORD, THOMAS, . Bishops-Middleham, V.

I do not find there was any other Fault alledged against him than his Loyalty. He was, it seems, so well beloved by his Parishioners, that they never ceas'd, till they had got one Third Part of his Benefice allow'd him; but at length having committed the Unpardonable Crime of Refusing the Covenant, by which he render'd himself wholly incapable of any Mercy, he lost the Whole Profits of his Living, and a Temporal Estate also, if I misstake not. He had at the time of his Sequestration, a Wife and Eight Children to Maintain. He just liv'd to be Restor'd, Dying Sept. 1660, in the 72d Year of his Age.

ESSEX.

BAINBRIGG, CHARLES, . Harwich, V.

I find the House of Commons, on his Fourteen Weeks Absence, order'd one Wood to Supply the Place, and Take the Profits; which, I presume, the Reader will think with me, amounts to a Sequestration.

BAKER, SAMUEL, D. D. Southwell, V.

See Canterbury-Cathedral.

BALDOCK, SAMUEL, . Stanmoway, R.

One John Okely succeeded in this Living in 1654.

BERNARD, NATH. A. M. ——, . Wood Ath. Vol. I.

I cannot obtain the Name of this Gentleman's Living; but this is certain, that he was Originally of the University of Cambridge; and in the Beginning of the Grand Rebellion, in 1642, he was Sequestred from his Calling and Charge in this County, by several Committees sitting at Westminster, banished from his Dwelling, and the Society of his Wife and Children, and thy turned out of Doors. After which he Retir'd to Oxford, where he was Incorporated in his Degree, and Preached a Sermon before the Two Houses of Parliament, which he afterwards Published with this Title. A Looking-Glass for Rebellion. There was one Dr. Nath. Bernard who died beyond the Seas in 1656, whom Wood takes to be the same Person with this Sufferer.

——, ——, . Birch-Magna (or Much-Birch) R.

One John Davies succeeded in it in 1654.

——, ——, . Birchbrook, R. He was Restored, as I conjecture.

In the First List of the Ejected Nonconformists, which was Printed in the Year 1663, Notice was taken of those who were Sequestred Livings, and gave them up again (as I have sufficient Reason to think) to the Right Owners. This is One of the Livings of which was mentioned in the forenamed List; and being the First of them which came to be Inserted on that single Authority, I take this Opportunity of setting the Matter down, that the Case of all those other Livings, from whence I shall after to this Note, is the same with that of this Rectory.

BIRD, JOS. . Otton-Beschamp, R. He was Sequestred in 1644. He was also Rudely and Cruelly us'd, to the Ruin of himself and numerous Family. He lived to be Restored with his Majesty, though not without some Discontent. There was one Josias Bird, who was originally of the University of Cambridge, but afterwards became Chaplain, first, of All-Souls-College in Oxford, and after to the Countess Dowager of Derby. He hath a Sermon Extant. Whether he be the same Person with this Sufferer, or no, I cannot be positive. One Josiah Bird was also Rector of Baldock in Hertfordshire in 1614. Quare.

Wood Ath. Vol. I. p 306, 307.

Chauncy. Antiq. p 382.

BLAKE,

BLAKE, SAMUEL, D. D. Southwould, .

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Houſe about 1643: At which time one N— Farthingham was by the ſame Authority ſubſtituted in his Living, as I find by the Journals of the Houſe. Though poſſibly his Name is there miſ-ſpelt, and he is the ſame Perſon with Dr. Samuel Baker abovemention'd; and if ſo, he muſt be Diſcounted from this Liſt. Quare.

BOSWELL, ——, D. D. Rivenhall, . worth 200 l. per Annum.

He di'd before the Reſtoration. His Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration was one Liſle. I find one William Boſwell of Baliol-College in Oxford, admitted A. M. Dec. 16, 1605. Whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, quare.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 792.

And another of both the ſame Names, was Fellow of Jeſus-College in Cambridge, and Proctor of that Univerſity in 1624. Quare of him alſo.

BONNIMAN, ——, . Eaſterford Kelvedon, .

I have no direct Information of this Sequeſtration, but only build it upon Conjecture. There was one Mr. Stephen Withers (who will be here after mention'd) Sequeſtred from the Rectory of Kelvedon in this County. If that Kelvedon and this be the ſame, 'tis poſſible Mr. Bonniman might get it after Mr. Withers had been ſequeſtred, and at length be Turn'd out of it himſelf likewiſe; which was no uncommon Caſe in thoſe Times: Tho' if Mr. Withers was at that time living, Mr. Bonniman muſt rather be deem'd a Suffering, than a Sequeſter'd Miniſter.

BROWNING, JOHN, B. D. Rawreth, R.
And
Horn-Church, R. . . . . }

He was a Native of the County of Worceſter, and firſt became Scholar of Jeſus-College in Cambridge, afterwards Fellow of Peter-Houſe, then Chaplain to the Biſhop of Ely; by whom he was Preſented to the Former of thoſe Livings, as he was to the Latter of them by John, Lord Maynard, but Diſpoſſeſs'd of both in the Times of the Rebellion.

Quare if he be the ſame with the Suffering Prebendary of Ely, of theſe Names.

BURGES, ELIZEUS, . ——, . I cannot obtain the Name of the Living. He was Sequeſtred in 1644. for Pluralities and Non-Reſidence.

BURTON, NICHOLAS, . Abbas Rooding, R. worth upwards of 100 l. per Annum.

He was Turned out about Oct. 1643, and then ſucceeded by one John Wood; who gave up to him again upon the Reſtoration, and is ranked among the Perſecuted Confeſſors of the Abridgment, becauſe he was not permitted to devour the Subſtance, and eat the Bread of another Perſon, any longer than 17 Years.

P. 158.

BURY, GILES, B. D. Bradwell juxta Mare, R.

See St. Paul's Cathedral. I cannot give the Reader this Sequeſtration for an abſolute Certainty: Therefore quare.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

BARKESDALE, CLEMENT, A. M. Sudely, R.

He was Born at Winchcomb in Glouceſterſhire, and Entered firſt a Servitor of Merton-College in Oxford; from whence he afterwards Remov'd himſelf to Glouceſter-Hall, under the Tuition of the Famous Dr. Wilcox. Afterwards he became Maſter of the Free School at Hereford, and one of the * Vicars-Choral in that Cathedral; as likewiſe Vicar of Aldingtons in that City: After which he obtain'd this Rectory; from whence he was Sequeſtred, as I have been aſſur'd from this County; tho' Wood in one Place ſeems to intimate the contrary: But by an Expreſſion in Another, inconſiſtent, as far as I can perceive, with the Former, ſeems to countenance the Certainty of his Suffering.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 611.

* I preſume he quitted the Vicars College on his having the Living of Sudely. For I do not find him among the ſuffering Clergy-Vicars of Hereford. But quare if he might not alſo loſe the Vicaridge of All-Saints, by the Times.

His Chief Enemy was one Helmes, formerly a Lewd Soldier; but at that time, the Godly Miniſter forſooth! of Winchcomb; who had before Turned out of that Place One or Two at leaſt, and perhaps Mr. Barkſdale himſelf alſo, as I have ſome Grounds to conjecture: And at length proceeded in an Arbitrary manner to Diſpoſſeſs Mr. Barkeſdale of this little Rectory, which he very graciouſly took to himſelf. Mr. Barkeſdale ſurviv'd the Uſurpation, but returned not, as far as I can learn, to his Living; having been by his Majeſty Preferred to one much better, that of Naunton in this County; where he died very Aged, about the latter End of 1667. He had been a very hard Student, was a good Diſputant, a frequent and edifying Preacher; and in a Word, was really a Learned, tho' Vain and Conceited Man. He Publiſhed a great many Small Things, the Account of which ſee in Wood.

BOWIN, ——, D. D. Weſton upon Avon, R. worth 150 l. per Annum.

He was ſucceeded by one Trap.

BROAD, SAMUEL, . Rendcombe, R. worth about 120 l. per An.
And
Great Riſington, R. worth 200*l. per Annum.* . . . . . }

After the Raiſing of the Siege of Glouceſter, he was continually Harraſs'd with Parties, and forced to keep himſelf in a Chamber, where there was a Trap-Door, conceal'd with a Heap of Apples upon it, through which he was let down, and had the good Fortune always to Eſcape. In 1649, he was Formally Sequeſtred from Rendcombe; for having been in his Majeſty's Army (together with his Servant) and for Couſing a Hare on the Sabbath-day. The Truth of which laſt Part of his Accuſation, was, as I have been informed, no other than this: As he walked out one

Digitized by Google

one Sunday Evening; in his Return his Grey-hound, which had follow'd him, came by chance athwart a Hare, which the Dog purſued and killed. He had at the time of his Sequeſtration a Wife and Eight or Nine Children; and not being able to get any Eſtate, they muſt have wanted Bread, but for a Temporal Eſtate of which he was Poſſeſs'd, and which he was forced to Sell after the Reſtoration, to pay the Debts which he had contracted in the Time of his Troubles. His whole Loſſes were computed at 2000 l. He had only an Equitable Title to the other Living, being Preſented to it in 1652, by Sir Edmond Bray, the Undoubted Patron; but Rejected by the Triers, who Tore his Preſentation in Pieces.

Poſſibly his Temporal Eſtate diſabled him from claiming them.

On the Death of Dr Whittington, as I conceive; and therefore he makes a Second Sufficient in it. See that Dr. after mentioned in this County.

——, ——, . Buckland, R. One Becket, a Baker, was by an Arbitrary Order of Mr. Helme (the Intruding Soldier at Winchcomb in this County) plac'd here as Miniſter, after the Ejection of the Legal Rector.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

BREINTON, ROGER, A. M. Stanton cum Wye, R.
And Credinghil, R. . . . . }

He was Sequeſtred from both theſe Livings by the Commitee of Hereford; from the former of them Feb. 8, 1646, and from the Latter the 13*th* of the ſame Month. He was ſo well beloved by his Pariſhioners, that they would not part with him; and therefore the Committee by their Order of Mar. 6, 1646, impower'd the Sheriff to Diſpoſſeſs him by Force; and in the ſame manner of the Times, to give Mr. Primroſe Induction to it: Which was accordingly done; as appears by another Order of the ſame Committee, which appointed the Under-Sheriff 50 s. for his Good Service in that matter. Mr. Breinton dy'd heart-broken ſoon after his Sequeſtration. In 1660, I find one Edmond Quarrell poſſeſs'd of the Living, who Reſign'd it that Year to Mr. William Carpender; but afterwards conteſted the Title with him. The Commiſſioners before whom the Cauſe was brought, Declar'd and Adjudg'd the ſaid Quarrell to be wholly incapable and diſabled to have the Paſtoral Charge of the Pariſh; not only becauſe of the Reſignation, but becauſe 'he was in Actual Arms againſt his Majeſty a-'bout Auguſt in the Year of our Lord 1659: 'And that he maintained a Trooper with Horſe 'and Arms againſt his Majeſty: That he gave 'God Thanks in his Prayer in the Church, for 'the King's Overthrow at Worceſter: That he 'Preached againſt Kings, ſaying they were all 'Tyrants; and that he cauſed Bonfires to be made 'for his Majeſty's Overthrow at Worceſter, and 'procured Muſick to play in the Church-yard; 'and cauſed People to Dance; and other Ex-'preſſions of Joy did make Openly and Publick-'ly: That he Preached againſt both Sacraments: 'That there was a Cauſey in Hell made of 'Kings Skulls; and that the Book of Common-'Prayer was invented by the Devil; and that he 'Perſecuted a Miniſter for Praying for the King. Theſe Qualifications were, it's like, the Reaſons why he was by the Committee of Hereford, preferr'd to One or Two Sequeſtred Livings in this County.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

BALLS, ——, . Little-Hormead, R. My Notices are not clear in the Matter of this Sequeſtration; and I have ſome Reaſon to ſuſpect, that Mr. Balls was not the Sequeſtred Perſon, but the Succeſſor in this Living, on a Sequeſtration: And that either Edward Hemſden (who was Admitted in 1604, and died in 1646) or William More, A. M. (who was Admitted in the laſt-mention'd Year, per mort. Hemſden) was the Sequeſtred Rector: And moſt probably it was the Latter of them; who appears to have been Regularly Preſented and Admitted, which could hardly have been done, had the Living been under Sequeſtration before he came to it. He dy'd before July 30, 1660, (and perchance ſome time during the Uſurpation) as appears by the Admiſſion of his Succeſſor in that Year. Mr. Balls doth not occur among the Incumbents on this Rectory in Mr. Newcourt's Liſt; and therefore, if he was at all Diſpoſſeſt of the Living, I preſume he could have no other Title to it, than that of the Times. Quære.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 838.

BAYNES, EDWARD, . Hartingfordbury, R.

I preſume he ſucceeded on the Death of Dr. Brown; and ſo makes a 2d S. ſucceſſor in this Living.

He was Sequeſtred by the Houſe of Commons, about May 1644; at which time they alſo thruſt John Green into his Living. One Edward Baynes, D. D. was ſome time Rector of St. Andrew's in the Borough of Hertford. Chaun. Antiq. pag. 260.

BOLTON, EDWARD, . Bramfield, R. worth 100 l. per Annum.

He was Turned out about the middle of 1643, by the Houſe of Commons, who at the ſame time ſubſtituted Thomas Owen in his room. Mr. Bolton lived to Enjoy his Benefice again after the Reſtoration.

BOWLES, JOHN, A. M. Wallington, R.

He was a Gentleman of a Good Family, and had this Peculiar in his Sufferings, that he was Ejected by his own Nephew, a Zealous Parliamentarian, and a Captain in the Rebel Army. He was Reſtored, and Died Poſſeſt of his Living in 1670. His immediate Succeſſor upon the Sequeſtration, was one Shewin, who made 300 l. per Annum of the Living; and had the Mortification to let go that Fat Morſel from betwixt his Teeth in 1660. Tho' the Abridgment recounts him, as one of the Ejected and Perſecuted Saints.

P. 278.

BROCKET, EDMOND, . Gravely cum Shefficld, R.

Mr. Brockes was admitted to it, if I miſtake not, in 1613.

Chaun. Ant. p. 169.

BROWN, JONATHAN, L. L. D. Hartingfordbury, R.

See Hereford-Cathedral.

Digitized by Google

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

BAKER, ——, . Wistow, R. worth 160 l. per Annum.

He was Imprisoned at Huntington-Jayl, where he was Abused and Barbarously treated. His Goods were also Plundered, and Exposed to Publick Sale; but his Neighbours were so Generous, that none of them would Buy them.

BROOKE, JAMES, . Ripton-Regis, R.

He was so Horrassed and Abused, that he was forced to Quit his Living in the Beginning of the Rebellion; being Assaulted in his Person, having his Horses Hamstring'd, and suffering other Insults and Indignities from the Party.

KENT.

* I cannot be positive, but have been some reason to think, that this was the Living which he left.

BARBETTE, EDWARD, . * Chistlette, V.

He was not only Sequestred, but also involved so much in Other Sufferings, by the Rebellion, that he was utterly Ruin'd: For at his Death he left his Wife so deeply in Debt, that she was forc'd to sell her own Lands to pay it; and was at last reduc'd to such a miserable, poor, and deplorable Condition, that she was necessitated to beg the Publick Charity of the Corporation beforemention'd, and was supported by that means.

BARGRAVE, ISAAC, D. D. Chartham, R.

See Canterbury-Cathedral.

† Or Barrett.

† BAUREL, ——, . Maidstone, V.

He was sent for by the House of Commons as a Delinquent, for Words which he had utter'd in a Sermon; and Sequestred about April, 1643. At which time one Samuel Smith was Forced into the Place.

Maidstone is a Perpetual Curacy under the Arch-bishop, but endowed with Small Tithes.

BAYLY, THOMAS, . Brasted, R. } And Chaplainship of Christ-Church in Oxford. . . . . }

He 'was born in Rutland, bred up in the University of Cambridge, and taken from thence by Dr. Augustine Lindsell, Prebendary of Durham, and entertain'd by him as his Amanuensis. When Dr. Lindsell was made Bishop of Peterborough, he took him with him thither, and from thence to Hereford, to which See he was Translated about 1633. Whilst he was with him, he Transcribed the Greek Fathers, which that Bishop had prepar'd for the Press; but the Bishop dying before that Great Work was compleatly Finished, left the Manuscripts with his Chaplain Bayly, enjoyning him to deliver them to the then Arch-bishop (Dr. Laud) to be disposed of, as he in his Wisdom should think fit. Dr. Bayly, according to the Will of his Deceased Patron, carry'd them to Lambeth, and Presented them to the Arch-bishop: The Arch-bishop knowing the Man and his Worth, received him, as he did all Learned and Industrious Men, very kindly and affectionately; and, as a Token of his Esteem, bestow'd upon him the Parsonage of Brasted in Kent, worth about 200 l. per Annum; and requir'd him to take all imaginable Care about the Editions of the Greek Fathers; which he readily and chearfully undertook: But he being Sequestred, and the Arch-bishop under Troubles, could not go on with that Useful Work. However, he made shift to Publish Theophilact, and Dedicated it to his Patron the Arch-bishop. The Doctor, after he was Sequestred, came up to London, and taught a Private School in Clerkenwell, for a Subsistence; but being found out there by some of his Malicious Enemies of Kent, he was thrown into a Jayl for some small Debts which he had contracted, and was unable to Pay, by reason of the Sequestration. But they being at last discharg'd by some of his Friends, and he set at Liberty, he went down to Oxford; where he was made one of the Chaplains of Christ-Church, and Enjoy'd it till he, with the rest of the Loyal Students of that Place, was Turn'd out by the Lawless and Arbitrary Visitors. After this, Dr. Jeremy Taylor, who valu'd him much for his Parts, Learning, and profound Skill in the Greek Tongue, took him with him into Ireland, where they lived together till the Happy Restoration in the Year 1660; and then they came into England. Dr. Bayly was made first Dean of Down, and afterwards in the Year 1664, by King Charles II. Bishop of Killala and Sligo, as a Reward for his Sufferings, and Signal Loyalty to him and his Royal Father. When he was going over to Ireland to take Possession of his Bishoprick, he put his Goods and Books on board a Small Vessel, which was unfortunately cast away in a Storm, and all his Goods and Books, and what he valu'd beyond them all, the MSS. before-mention'd, were irrecoverably lost. I must not omit to add concerning this Great Man, that Arch bishop Laud, considering his Skill in the Greek Tongue, pitched upon him as the fittest Person in England, to be sent into the Levant to collect Greek Manuscripts; but that Arch-bishop falling into his Troubles, &c. that Design prov'd Abortive. When he became D.D. (for that he was before his Death; but not at the time of his Sequestration, as I conjecture; because the Century doth not mention that Title) or when he dy'd, I know not; nor any thing more of him, unless that Mr. White, the Centurist, to his perpetual Shame, hath thrust this most Excellent Person (as he hath many others of the best Characters) into his Century of Scandalous and Malignant Priests (p. 39.) where he is accused of having Taught his People That Extempore Prayer was Pharisaical at the best; and that no Prayer ought to be longer, than the Lord's Prayer: As on preached before his Majesty at Chuft-Church in Oxford, after his Sequestration, first published of late in the Biblioth. Eccles. Anglic. where he recommends the Reviving and Executing of the Ecclesiastical Censures against the Dissenters: On which Subject, speaking more freely than his Friend Dr. Hammond thought advisable, at least at that time, as he came from the Pulpit, the Dr took him aside into the Cloyſters, and gave him a gentle Reprimand. Whereupon Dr. Bayly told him to this Effect: That whilſt he was Chaplain to Dr. Lindsell Bishop of Peterborough, that Prelate hearing in his Visitation, that Brown, the Biographer of the Brownists, lived at Northampton, a Market Town in his Diocese, cited him to appear before him; but he neglecting, or refusing to Appear, the Bishop, upon mature Deliberation, Excommunicated him. This to Brown the Old Gentleman, that he submitted himself to the Bishop, defired to be Absolved, and being Absolved accordingly, and re-admitted into the Church, never after left it. Whereunto Dr. Hammond was satisfied, and thank'd him for the Learned Discourse. See also p. 130, of the Biblioth. now mentioned: of the booklet, whom this is a Digreſſion, I muſt own it to be ſuch; but ſince it will not be termed an unneceſſary one, becauſe this Story is ſo very ſurprizing, and yet ſcarce known to moſt People.

I have no Account of what he Published, except Theophylact before-mentioned, and a Sermon before his also

Digitized by Google

also of having vindicated the Book of Sports, and Preached up the Necessity (which was doubtless the Decency and Convenience) of People's making their Obeisions at the Altar on their Knees. To this is added, his suspending the Celebration of the Sacrament, whilst the Church-Wardens are collecting the Alms, and his using to set them upon his Book, bless them, and offer them up when they were brought to him. After this followeth his having spoken in favour of Abbies, saying, that The Curse of God was on them that kept Abby-Lands, and therefore they did not prosper; but refusing to read the Burial-Service, at the Burial of some Children, because they died before Baptism; his having let up the Jesuits Badge in his Church, and the Picture of a Flying Dove over the Font. To all these are subjoined several Instances of his Obedience to the Rules and Orders of the Church; as likewise some Things that he had Preached of Absolution, and Auricular Confession; which as there represented (or rather beyond all question, misrepresented) favour somewhat of Popery: Amongst these in particular, are his crossing fick Persons on the Fore-head. But then the Interpretation of the whole follows in the last Clause, thus; And hath expressed great Malignity against the Parliament.

BOUGHEN, EDWARD, A. M. Woodchurch, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 115. Annoq. L. 2. p. 277.

He was Born in Buckinghamshire, Elected Student of Christ-Church from Westminster-School, in the Year 1605; afterwards became Chaplain to Dr. Howson Bishop of Oxford, and in 1636 was Admitted to this Living. He was sent for into Custody by the House of Commons as a Delinquent in the beginning of the Rebellion, and at last was Dispossess'd of his Living, on a Nonsensical Petition of some few of his Parishioners. After his Sequestration he retired to Oxford, where he was created D. D. about the Year 1646, being before no more than A. M. as I conjecture. Upon the Surrender of that Place to the Parliament, he went to Chartham in Kent. He was Restored with his Majesty in 1660, was a very learned Man, and hath several Things of his writing Extant, which shew his great Affection to the Constitution of the Church of England. See Chichester-Cathedral and Quære. Altho' I should think Wood could not have been uninformed of his Prebend, had he been the same Person with him at that Cathedral.

The Particulars of which are to Wood.

BRET, NICH. A. M. Headcorne, V.

He was dragged out of the Church by the Mob, Imprisoned in Maidstone, and forced to quit his Living: After which they had no setled Minister, for some considerable Time at least.

BROWN, JOHN, . Staplehurst, R. worth 200 l. per Ann.

One John Brown was Fellow of Caius-College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1616

He was Sequestred in 1642, died in 1645; and was a very Learned Man.

BURNEY, RICHARD, . Old Rumney in the Marsh, R.

One William Ruff-ll was Admitted to this Living in 1617.

He was also Imprisoned, and utterly Ruined: His Wife was at last maintained by the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

BURVILLE, JAMES, . Norbourne, V.

LANCASHIRE.

BRIDBOAK, RALPH, A. M. Standish, R. And The Free-School at Manchester. . . .

He had only an Equitable Title to the Living; having indeed a Pretentation to it from the Rightful Patron, but he was kept out of it by the Tyers. As for the School, unless I very much mistake, he utterly lost that; and was also Plunder'd of all his Goods. But tho' he suffer'd thus in the Beginning of the Rebellion, yet his Troubles were, after the Year 1651, very much Alleviated, and in a manner Recompensed, by his Having and Enjoying some considerable Livings. And therefore I forbear to Prosecute the Account of him any further, than just to say, That he was Born in Lancashire, and after the Restoration became Chaplain to his Majesty, Canon of Windsor, Dean of Salisbury, at length Bishop of Chichester, and died in 1678.

Bonis Omnibus but Mulctatus. Epitaph.

See his Letter to Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 680.

He gave 60 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral.

New Surv. of London, p. 461.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

BARLOW, ——, D. D. * Barton in Fabis, .

In this County of Lincoln not. See a Note at Mr. Barnaby Barlow in the Church of York.*

I conjecture he died during the Usurpation, because his Successor one Goodwin, after the Restoration conformed and kept the Place.

BENDY, ——, . Norborow, R.

He was a very worthy Person, and lived to be Restored.

BENSKIN, RICHARD, . Warlip, R.

He was also Murther'd.

BERRIDGE, ANTH. . Barrow, V.

BERKLEY, MAURICE, . Seagrave, R.

BLOUNT, EDWARD, A. M. St. Margaret's, V. in the Borough of Leicester, And Walton on the Woulds, R. . . .

He was also Plundered of Eight or Nine Horses.

BRETTON, CLEMENT, D. D. Church-Lawton, R.

He had been some time Fellow of Sidney-College in Cambridge, out-lived the Usurpation, and in 1660, was collated to the Arch-deaconry of the East-Riding in Yorkshire. I find that Dignity vacated Two Years after; but whether by the Death or Resignation of Dr. Bretton, I know not. Quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 551.

* BURDEN, REGINALD, . Leir, R.

See what is said as a Gentleman of both those Names in Buckinghamshire.*

Digitized by Google

LINCOLNSHIRE.

BARCROFT, HUGH, . Hikeham, . worth 100 l. per Ann. Broughton, . worth 100 l. per Ann. And * Whiberton, R. . . . . .

* Or Wilberton.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd of the Two former Livings by the E. of M. September 20, 1644, for doing his utmoſt in diſcouraging the Rebellion, and ſerving his Majeſty. Some of the Particulars of his Charge, are his bidding the People Kneel at the Litany, and ſtand up at the Belief; Extolling the Liturgy, getting Hands to uphold the Biſhops, and having by him many Mercurius Auliculs. He is alſo, in general, ſaid to be Scandalous in his Life: But that which ſeems to be ſuggeſted, as the Ground of that Accuſation, is his refuſing the Company of Godly Miniſters, neglecting the Lecture at Boſton, and ſuffering the Pariſhioners and his Family to go to the Ale-Houſe on Sundays. The Order for appointing his Succeſſor (one Thomas Lawe) at Whiberton, bears Date April 21, 1647; which being Three Years after his Sequeſtration from the Two former Livings, ſeems to lay ſufficient Grounds for a Conjecture, that he got that Living after he had been turned out of the Two others. Whether it was ſo or not, 'tis certain the E. of M. turned him out of that Rectory alſo.

See a Note at Abberton in Suffex, under the Letter A.

BAWTREE, HAMMOND, . Friskney, V.

His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration, for which he was forced to compound at 148 l. 12 s. 3*d.* Anth. Graves was preferred to this Living in 1654.

† Or Braborn.

———, ———, . Boothby, R.

I take this to be a different Living from Boothby-Pannell, which Dr. Sanderſon loſt for ſome time. Quere.

* But Quere if this be not annexed to the Vicaridge of Mounmouth

BULLEN, EDWARD, . Stutterton, V.

One Samuel Whiting ſucceeded in this Living in 1654.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

† Or Brabazon.

† BRABANT, ROBERT, . Monmouth, V. And * Pentery, ...

* But Quare if this be not annexed to the Vicar of Mounmouth.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Commiſſioners for Propagating the Goſpel, for Malignancy and Delinquency. One Robert Charnock was preferred to this Living in 1654.

———, ———, . Bettus, . See a Note at Aberguwley in Caermarthenſhire.

———, ———, . Biſſton, .

See the ſame Note. This I take to be an Impropriation belonging to ſome Cathedral: Whether it be ſerved by a Vicar, or only by a Curate; as alſo whether the Impropriate Tythes only were Sequeſtred from the Cathedral, or elſe the Vicar or Curate, was alſo turned out, Quere. Sure I am the Place was under Sequeſtration.

———, ———, . St. Brides, .

See the ſame Note alſo. There are, as I take it, Two Livings of this Name in this County. See William Morgan under the Letter M.

NORFOLK.

BARNARD, CHRIST. . Dicklebrough, R. *

* Worth 140 or as ſome ſay, 100 l. per Ann.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd in 1643, by the E. of M. who tendered him the Covenant, together with an Offer of keeping his Place, if he would take it; both which he generouſly refuſed, and by neceſſary Conſequence brought upon himſelf the common Calamities and Fate, which then attended Loyalty and Fidelity to his Majeſty. For his Houſe was Plunder'd and rifled of a great deal of Plate, Linnen, and other Goods: He was alſo ſeiz'd, and dragg'd away towards Norwich-Caſtle; but he had by his excellent Life and Doctrine ſo much recommended himſelf to his Pariſhioners, that as they thought a greater Judgment could not befal them than to loſe him; ſo by Conſent they followed the Party which had him in Cuſtody, and reſcued him. They alſo gave this further Teſtimony of their Affection to him, that when the Villains had deſigned to Plunder his Houſe a ſecond Time; unknown to him they voluntarily went, and by force ſecur'd the remainder of his Goods in their own Houſes; and even the very Women and Children aſſiſted in this perilous Undertaking, to the manifeſt Hazard of their Safety, and perhaps of their Lives, if it had been diſcover'd. He had at the Time of his Sufferings, a Wife and at leaſt Nine young Children, which helped to compleat his Miſery, and ſufficiently aggravate the Barbarities which were exerciſed upon him. 'Tis remarkable that he had always a firm Perſuaſion of his Majeſty's Reſtoration, which he afterwards lived to ſee, and was himſelf one of the firſt Miniſters reſtored in this County; after which he enjoyed his Rectory Twenty Years: And having been admitted about the Year 1620, and not dying till 1680 (in the Eighty Fourth Year of his Age) he muſt in all have been Rector of it near Sixty Years.

Another Information which I have ſeen.

BARWICK, WILLIAM, . Hempnall, V.

He was Sequeſtred April 28, 1644, by the E. of M. for obſerving the Orders of the Church, declaring againſt the Parliament and Rebellion, oppoſing the Lecture of Godly Miniſters in the Town, and ſwearing by his Faith and Troth.

Quere if he loſt not a ſo 5 l. per Ann. Temporal Eſtate.

BISSING, THO. . Ighborough, . Quere if he loſt not a Temporal Eſtate alſo of Fifty Pounds a Year.

BLO-

Digitized by Google

BLOFIELD, ROBERT, Thorpe, R. And Westwich, * . . . . . }

He was also horribly Reviled, Abused, Imprisoned, Plunder'd, and had his Temporal Estate likewise put under Sequestration. He had at that Time a Wife and Seven Children, the Eldest of which did not much exceed Eight Years of Age. His Losses in all were computed at 2000 l. He survived the Usurpation, and was re-instated in both his Livings; one of which indeed he had gotten Possession of some time before 1660 (but not without very much Trouble) and by some means or other made a shift to keep it, without taking the Covenant, or any other of their Oaths. He was a Gentleman of very good Quality, and a grave Divine.

* Or Westwick, R. at Lynn.

One Robert Blofield, who was Rector of Reed in this County, had been some time Fellow of Caius College in Cambridge; wrote an Account of the English Bishops from 1660, to 1672, MS. and had a numerous Son, who served lately in Parliament for Norwich. He was doubtless the same Person with this Sufferer.

BLOFIELD, THOMAS, . Axlenton, .

He had a Wife and Five Children.

BOTOLPH, THOMAS, . Larlingford, R. And Hackenham, ... }

His Troubles were the less, because his Family consisted but of a Wife and one Child; tho' I have some Grounds to make it a Quære, whether he did not also lose a Temporal Estate of Twenty Two Pounds per Ann. and 100 l. in Stock.

BRETTEN, JO. . East-Dereham, V. He had a Wife and Eight Children.

BROOKE, MATTHEW, * D. D. Tatmouth, V.

* Quære if he became not D. D. after his Sequestration.

A Gentleman who hath seen some of the Letters sent up against him to the Parliament, tells me, that their Devil is one of the most moderate Expressions in them. He was accused before the Committee at London, for having Preached Blasphemy; because he had said, That the Virgin Mary was the Mother of God; and had not a Divine whisper'd one of the Committee-Men in the Ear, these Learned Judges, with as little Sense as the Accusers, would have Voted him a Blasphemer for it? Nor would it have been strange had they proceeded to do so, since, according to the Justice of these Times, the Judges themselves were underhand the Accusers, and very frequently gave Instructions what to say in Petitions against the Clergy; and some times themselves drew up both the Petitions and the Articles; as Miles Corbet, the Chairman of the Committee, had done in this Case of Mr. Brooke. So that 'tis probable the Charge of Blasphemy upon these Words, was of the Chairman's own framing, and therefore had not quite passed into a Vote, had he not in that critical juncture of Time been better inform'd. By this and other Methods Mr. Brooke was much Harassed and Abused, and was at length forced to fly for his Life.

Perfec. Unjec. p. 32.

Perfec. Und. p. 22.

I take Mr. Brooke mentioned p. 22, to be the Person mentioned p. 32, he is in each Places called Mr. Brookes, which occasions the Quære before in the Margin, whether he did not become D. D. after his Sequestration.

* BROWN, ——, . Fowlesham, . I presume they successively possess'd and lost this Living, which was no uncommon Case; and if the former of them was dead, or had made a valid Resignation before the other was admitted to it (or at least before he was Sequestred from it) then they both belong to this List; otherwise the latter is rather to be look'd on as one who was Harass'd and Abused only, than as one who was Sequestred, and consequently belongs to the Appendix.

* Quære if the same with either of them below, and so might live Two Livings. One Rich. Worth succeeded to in 1654.

BROWN, ——, D. D. † Weston Longville, R.

† One John Sheffield succeeded in it in 1654.

BROWN, NATH. : Hunworth, R. One John Pyle succeeded here in 1654.

BURTON, ——, . Fowlesham cum Themilthorp, .

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

‡ BANADALL, ——, . Farringdon, R. near Narborough, worth 200 l.

‡ If I read the Name right.

He had been Chaplain to the old Earl of Essex; was a Grave Divine, an Excellent Preacher, and of a good Life. At the Time of the Sequestration he had no less than Ten Children, and his Miseries were the more encreased, because having the Perpetuity of this rich Living, he had bred his Eldest Son to the University, in order to succeed him in it, and support the Family; but those Ravagers, without any Bowels of Mercy, thrust into it a young Fellow, one G—— a notorious Drunkard.

BAYLEY, THOMAS, . Coldingham, R. worth 140 l. per Ann.

He was a Man of a good Life, and Sequestred only for reading the Common-Prayer. His Troubles fell the harder upon him, because he had built much upon the Parsonage-House. His Successor was one H—— a Beardless Boy, who would not pay him the Fifths without putting him to the Trouble of a Suit at Law.

A Gentleman of this Sirname, at a Living of a Name very like this, will be mention'd in Hampshire: I leave the Information concerning the Latter out of the Admission-Book of those Times; but I doubt Southampton was there mistaken for Northampton, especially considering that I find no such Man or Living in the printed List of the Clergy Sequestred in Hampshire. Quære.

BENT, NICHOLAS, . Braybrook, R.

He was Sequestred by the House of Commons, about 1644; who then thrust Jonas Dty into his Living.

BENTHAM, JOS. A. M. Broughton, R. worth 140 l. per Ann.

He was Sequestred July 13, 1643, for no other Crimes than Loyalty and Conformity; being a Man of such an unblameable Life and Conversation, that even those Times could not charge him with any Thing of Immorality. On the contrary the Committee, to their great Shame, were forced to tell him, That by his Example he did more harm to God's Cause than Twenty other Men; and therefore he should fare the worse for it. Altho' he was an Infirm Man, he was forced to ly abroad in Haycocks, to avoid the much worse Accommodation of a Dungeon, in which several of his good Neighbours then lay. His Wife and Five Children were also turned out of Doors, with this peculiar Circumstance of Barbarity, That the was not permitted to take so much as one Peck of Corn out of her own Barn to make Bread for her Children; nor could she ever recover any Fifths, tho' the several Times Petitioned the Commissioners for them. Mr. Bentham after his Sequestration liv'd at Nether-Winchen in Buckinghamshire, where he had a little School, and by some means or other was suffered to serve a small Cure. September 29, 1660, he was Restor'd to his Living, and died possess'd of it about the Year 1670, leaving to the Poor of that Parish 40 l. per Ann. for ever, to be distributed on the happy Day of his Majesty's Restoration. He was a learned Man, and a constant and painful Preacher. He hath Published a Treatise of the Blessed Trinity; another Entitled The Society of Saints; a Third Entitled The Christian Conflict; as also a little Piece directed to his Neighbours concerning their hard Usage of him, out of which probably much more of his Sufferings might be had, but I have not yet been able to obtain the sight of it. 'Tis possibly he may have also Published some other Things. I judge he was Educated in the University of Cambridge, because I do not find him, tho' an Author, mentioned in Wood.

His Successor was one Mr Bateley, who seized the Corn in the Ground, notwithstanding Mr. Bentham had by himself, or others of his procuring, Sowed the Place, and paid the Tithes to that Harvest. Whereas Bateley did not Preach one Sermon there, till about October following.

Or Bunny.

BUNNING, ——, . Grafton Regis, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He was Chaplain to the Lady Crane, and, unless I very much mistake, both * presented to this Living by the rightful Patron, and had also the actual Possession of it, on the Death of the Old Mr. Austin, the former Incumbent; but was by the Classis of Northampton hindred from the Enjoyment of it, and one Payne thrust into the Place, who had been a Horse-keeper to Mr. James Vicar of Fifield, after whose Death he obtain'd a Licence to read Prayers under old Mr. Markes the Rector of Gaiton: This being taken notice of, I need not say that he was a very illiterate Fellow, of no desert or competent Abilities; however an Instance or two of this kind may not be amiss. He was some time 'Curate at Brackley, and 'Preached there on Rev. 6. That the Souls under 'the Altar cried with a loud Voice, How long, O 'Lord! from whence he told the People that it 'was apparent that those Souls were in great Torment, because they cried out oh! which shew'd 'the extremity of their Sufferings. At another 'Time he told his Auditors in a Sermon, that 'he had read of a Beast call'd Draco, which sometimes liv'd in the Water, some times on Land, 'and this Beast was of hot of Constitution, that 'many Times seeing a Ship sail, he would fly 'unto it to cool himself with the Wind that fill'd 'the Sail; and from thence he said came the 'Names of such Soldiers as are called Dragoons. He had (to continue the Words of the learned Mr. Stephens, out of whose Papers I have this Account) 'Three or Four Daughters, Chaunting and Singing Syrens, who are very infamous 'in the Country. Mr. Bunning's disappointment in the Living, was not the only Thing which he suffer'd from the Rebels, for he happen'd to be in Grafton-House in Northamptonshire, when it was defended by Sir John Digby against Major-General Skipton; and not to mention the Barbarities exercised upon the Servants, and more especially the common Soldiers after the Surrender of that small Garrison, 'Mr. Bunning was strip'd 'and drove to Alderton, a Neighbour Town; he 'was there by his Friends of the Royal Party 'Cloathed, from thence soon drove back to Grafton and strip'd again; so that he refused Cloths 'when offered to him, having been twice strip'd 'already. From Grafton he was forced in the 'manner aforesaid to London, and Imprisoned; 'for want of Shoes and Stockings you might 'have put your Fingers into the Wounds of his Feet. Mr. Bunning was a Learned young Man, and a very good Preacher, of good Life and Deserts in other respects. I cannot omit to tell the Reader upon this Occasion, that the Widow of the Loyal and very Learned Mr. Weild, Rector of Ashton, happen'd to be in Grafton-House at the same unfortunate Time, and was dragg'd by the Hair of the Head into the Old park, where they threaten'd to shoot her Dead, with these opprobrious Words in their Mouths, You love Parsons, you Whore, you love Parsons; with which Usage she was so much terrified, that she became Distracted, and continued so for some Time. The Officer indeed, as it must be owned, shewed her some Civilities when she was known unto him.

* If not he must be turned over to the Appendix.

I am sensible a very great Man indeed hath lately hinted at something not altogether unlike this; but I hope he had better Authority for it than that of the Learned and Grave Mr. Payne.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

BASIRE, ISAAC; D. D. Howick, R. See Durham.

I am not certain whether this Rectory be not annexed to the Arch-deaconry of Northumberland, which Dr. Basire then had, but sure it is that he left it.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

BARRINGTON, HUMPH. . Keyworth, R.

See Trinity-College in Cambridge.

BIGLAND, EDWARD, B. D. Great and Little Leak, R.

Takes them to be United Livings.

He was likewise Plunder'd of all his Personal Estate to a great Value, and had a Temporal Estate of 100 l. per Ann. some Years under Sequestration. He was also seized and carried Prisoner towards Nottingham; at which Time being forced to lie in a Waggon in the Fields, he got a Palsie, of which he died. He was succeeded * by one Jones ——— Moor, who conformed after the Restoration, and kept the Living.

* Vit. Aug. 2, 1660, in the 51st Year of his Age. Theor. Ant. of Notting. p. 18.

OXFORDSHIRE.

BECKINGHAM, JOHN, . Enston and Highthorp, V.

BESSLEY, HENRY, A. M. Swerford, R.

He was Born in the City of Oxford, was first either Clerk or Portionist of Merton College; and thence removed to St. Alban's-Hall in that University; where he was afterwards Terræ Filius; and at length being appointed Tutor to the young Earl of Down, he was for the great Care he took of his Pupil, presented to this Living.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 456. Where also he should be grave.

Digitized by Google

Living. He out-liv'd the Uſurpation, and was not only Re-poſſeſs'd of his Rectory, but alſo as a Reward of his Sufferings, actually created D.D. and died in 1675. He was accounted in his younger Years a Witty Man, and a Good Poet; and in his Elder, a good Preacher, and ſober Divine.

BELCHIERE, ——, . Barton, .
He was ſucceeded by one Bowen, who uſed him very ill: For he not only Seiz'd the Corn in the Field, which was Mr. Belchiere's beyond all queſtion, but refuſed alſo to pay him the Fifths. Notwithſtanding which, he hath ſince been Canoniz'd in the Bartholomew Legend. Mr. Belchiere was alſo driven out of the Pariſh, and not permitted to keep a School for his Subſiſtence.

BROWN, THOMAS, . Odington, R.
See Windſor.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

BAILY, ANDREW, A. M. Shifnall, V.
Sacriſt's Place, And * Official's Place } of Wolverhampton. {

* Which I take to be diſtinct from the Sacriſt's Place. Quere

By his Adhering ſtedfaſtly to the Intereſt of the Church, Refuſing the Covenant, and Preventing others from taking it; he had render'd himſelf ſo obnoxious to the Prevailing Party, that they not only Turn'd him out of his Living, but Sequeſtred his Temporal Eſtate (tho' he had then a Wife and 16 Children) Plunder'd him, and Burnt his Books, to the Value of 300 l. and carry'd away at one time in Plate and Goods, to the Value of 300 l. more. They alſo Turn'd ſome of the Children out of Bed, ſtung the Feathers about the Houſe, and made Bags of the Tickings to carry away what Goods they could put in them: And a Party of Horſe being ſent from Stafford to Apprehend Mr. Baily, not finding him, they Threatned to put lighted Matches betwixt the Fingers of one of his Children, who was not Ten Years old, in order to extort from him a Confeſſion where his Father was. But tho' Providence preſerv'd him at that time, he after fell into their Hands, and was Twice impriſoned; and to compleat their Barbarities, his Numerous, and almoſt ſtarving Family, could not obtain one Penny of the Fifths; tho' poſſibly they were deny'd them on account of his Temporal Eſtate; which however I believe afterwards was no Impediment; for I find he was forc'd to Sell it (or at leaſt Part of it) to ſupport himſelf.

BAKER, JOHN, . Cleobery-Mortimer, V.

BENSON, GEORGE, A. M. Chetwin (or Cheſton,) R.
See Chicheſter-Cathedral.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

BARR, ——, . Heathfield, R.

BANGER, ——, . Yarlington, R.
He had at that time a Wife and Family. His Succeſſor was one Dovington, a reputed Papiſt; who (as himſelf afterwards confeſs'd to the Gentleman who inform'd me of this) was bred at St. Omers, and deſign'd for Prieſtſick. Mr. Banger ſurvived the Uſurpation, and therefore in all Probability, returned to his Living.

BASKET, ROBERT, B. D. Ditcheat, R.
He was of an Ancient Family in Dorſetſhire; and was not only Sequeſtred from his Rectory, but from his Temporal Eſtate alſo. He was likewiſe Plundered, and his Wife and Family were ſupported by Charity. He liv'd to be Reſtor'd, and became Prebendary of Hereford. He was a Perſon of an Excellent Life and Great Learning.

BAYLEY, JOHN, . Barkley, R.
He was admitted to this Living about 1631; and Sequeſtred about the Year 1645. He alſo underwent a long Impriſonment, ſurvived the Uſurpation, returned to his Living, and Died Dec. 13, 1666. His Succeſſor upon the Sequeſtration, was one Pope, who made Havock of the Glebe, particularly in the Trees; whereas Mr. Bayley, though he had built as ſtrong a Parſonage-Houſe as any in the Country, uſed little of the Glebe-Timber for it: And near the time of his Death, notwithſtanding he was like to leave but a Slender Proviſion for his Children, declin'd putting in any of their Lives upon a Tenement belonging to the Parſonage, with this generous Saying, 'Tis the only thing I have, and that I will leave to the Church. He was a Perſon of a very good Life, and a True Son of the Church.

BLANCHFLOWER, THOMAS, . Staplegrove, R.

He was Turned out in 1653.

BURDEN, ——, . * Brewton, .
He was alſo Impriſoned three Months in the Biſhop's Palace at Banwell, for Reading Common-Prayer; and with him, Edward Drew, his poor Clerk, for Singing Malignant Pſalms; as the Reaſon of it was expreſly aſſigned to the Perſons who gave me this Information. Mr. Burden, after his Sequeſtration, was maintained by the Charity of ſeveral Gentlemen. He died before the Reſtoration, and was a Perſon of Exceeding great Learning and Piety.

* I have from reaſon to make it a Quere whether this be a Prieſthold, or Impropriation: If not, Mr. Burden muſt be ſtruck out of this Liſt, and be ranked in the Appendix.

BURTON, ——, . ——, . ſomewhere near Bath in this County.

BUTLER, AMBRY, . Morlegh, V.

BYAM, ——, . Clotworthy, R.
He was Brother to Dr. Henry Byam, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Exeter; and not only Sequeſtred, but Seized by a Party of Soldiers, carried Priſoner to Wells, and inhumanly Abuſed upon the Road. The Occaſion of his Impriſonment was his having Wrote a Letter to the Governour of Dunſtar-Caſtle whilſt it was Beſieg'd by the Parliament Forces, exhorting him to hold it it out to the utmoſt for his Majeſty. This Letter which had been unhappily Preſerved, came at unhappily to the Hands of the Rebels after the Taking of that Caſtle; and brought theſe Sufferings upon the Writer of it. I have been aſſured that Mr. Byam left an Account of his Troubles under his own Hand, which is yet Preſerv'd; but I know not where to apply for it.

Digitized by Google

BYAM, HENRY, D. D. Eaſt-Luckham, R.
And
Selworthy, R. . . . . }

See Exeter-Cathedral.

SOUTHAMPTON.

BARLOWNS, ——, . Woolton, .
He was alſo Impriſoned.

* Quere further of his Sequeſtration, tho' I think, I can be pretty poſitive of it: And if ſo, there muſt have been Two Sufferers in this Living. See Mr. Squire in this County.

* BAXTER, SAMUEL, . Dibdon, R.

† See what is ſaid in the Margin of Thomas Bayly in Northamptonſhire.

† BAYLY, ——, . Colchingham, .

BEASLY, ——, . Long-Stoak, .
He was alſo Impriſoned.

BLONDWORTH, ——, . Weſtmean, .

BOUND, ——, . Milton, .

BURBY, EDWARD, D.D. Wanſton, .
See Wincheſter-Cathedral.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

* If he was as I take him to have been, the ſame Perſon with the Dean of Durham, whom ſee.

BALCANQUAL, (* WALTER) D. D. Tutenal, R.

BATT, ——, . Bentley, . For Refuſing the Covenant.

BAYLY, DANIEL, . St. Mary's in Stafford, R.

He was Sequeſtred for not taking the Covenant, and lived to be Reſtored.

* There is one of both theſe Names mentioned in Norfolk; but the Counties being ſo diſtant, that will ſcarce found ſo much as a Surmiſe that they might be the ſame Perſon.

* BLOFIELD, THOMAS, . Elmerton, .

He was Turned out in the Beginning of the Rebellion, and Subſiſted afterwards by Charity until the Reſtoration, when he Re-poſſeſſed his Living.

BROWN, ——, . Ilam, V. See a Note at the Arch-deaconry of Stafford in the Cathedral of Lichfield. However, quare further.

SUFFOLK.

BALL, ——. . Wilbie, R.

* Or Barter.

* BARTER, THOMAS, B. D. Troſton, R.

I have no direct and expreſs Information of his Sequeſtration, or that this was his Living; but his Widow is rank'd among thoſe Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy who were relieved by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. And in her Petition, her Husband is ſaid to have been Rector of this Living, and in general, to have been a Great Sufferer. All which laid together, will, I preſume, make every one believe with me, that he was both Sequeſtred, and that this was his Living.

BARTON, EDWARD, . Grundſburgh, .

Sequeſtred Aug. 7, 1644, for Non-Reſidence, for having an † Infirm Body, a low Voice, Reading his Sermons, and that Imperfectly; and what's worſe, they leſted but half an Hour; as alſo for Neglecting his Cure one Sunday: And this is the whole of his Accuſations.

* The firſt time I ever heard of this Crime.

BEADLE, JOHN, : Tremley St. Martin's, .

See 2 Perſons of theſe Names mention'd by Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 843. See alſo New. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 301, 920. and quere.

Sequeſtred July 18, 1644, for obſerving Wren's Ceremonies, Refuſing to Aſſociate, Take the Covenant, or Proteſtation; ſaying he would ſooner be torn in Pieces; denying to aſſiſt in the Rebellion, and for Abſence.

BEADLE, THEODORE, . Aſh-Bocking, V.

He was Sequeſtred July 18, 1644., for inveighing againſt the Rebellion and the Parliament; for ſaying Strafford died unjuſtly, and that the Parliament forced the King to it; for Exhorting his People againſt * Popery, and not mentioning Epiſcopacy; for not encouraging his People (to Rebellion indeed, but as they Word it) to Reſiſt the Rebellion of the Cavaliers againſt the King and Parliament, ſuch was the Hypocriſie of the Times! for Obſerving the Orders of the Church, and for being Diſguiſed in Drink.

* 'Tis plain then, that All the Clergy were not Papiſts.

BENSKIN, ——, . Kettiſhall, R.

BLEMEL, ——, . Bury, .

BLOXHAM, NICHOLAS, . Waldingfield Magna, R.

He is another of thoſe ſingled out by White for his Century (p. 23.) as a common Swearer and Drunkard, very negligent of his Cure, ſuſpected of Incontinency, and, which was, no doubt the greateſt of all his Crimes, a Contemner of the Parliament-Faſts.

Boc-

Digitized by Google

BOCKENHAM, ANTH. . Thelnotham, R.

See Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge.

BOND, ——, . Debenham, V.

Sequeſtred about 1644, for obſerving the Orders and Rules of the Church; * Reading part of a Goſpel at the Creſs in a Perambulation; ſaying, that to avoid Superſtition, they would run into Prophaneneſs; ſhewing his utmoſt Abhorrence of the Rebels; maliciouſly reading the Litany to offend weak Conſciences; ſaying, the King was forced from the Parliament; and that the Blood which was ſhed would be heavy; for † not encouraging his People to go into the Service; hindering the Aſſociation; and for other Inſtances of Malignancy.

* Which is a Cuſtom in ſeveral Pariſhes.

† The Reader will obſerve how often Sins of Omiſſion are produced againſt the Clergy.

BRADSTREET, SYMON, . Hoſlet, R.

One of the Articles againſt him was, that he had ſold his Calves for Kiſſes; and if ſo, it muſt be own'd he was the more Criminal, becauſe the Naughty Man had not only a Wife of his own (how handſome I cannot ſay) but alſo ſeveral ſmall Children, who could live but ſorrily, by Love, however their Father might. But as bad as he was, I doubt they did no much mend the matter by Turning him out; becauſe they put into his room an Iriſh Bone-Setter.

BRETTON, LAURENCE, B. D. Hitcham, R.

He was Born at Hadleigh about Five Miles diſtant from this Living, and Educated at Queen's-College in Cambridge. Beſides this Living, which was then computed at 200 l. per annum, He had alſo a conſiderable Temporal Eſtate; which together with his Great Worth and Learning, had procured him to be put into the Commiſſion for the Peace, and alſo recommended him to the Clergy of this Diocels for one of their Proctors in the Convocation attending that Parliament, which immediately preceded the Rebellious one. There could no other Cauſe be aſſigned for his Sequeſtration, beſides the Richnels of his Living, and his great Loyalty and Affection to the Eſtabliſh'd Church; which had render'd him ſo odious to the Party, that in the Beginning of the Rebellion, they often beſet his Houſe with Armed Soldiers; but he was ſo belov'd by his Pariſhioners, that having always timely Notice of it, he eſcap'd their Mercileſs Hands. At length finding that he could not with any Safety tarry longer at Home, he was forced to Fly. Both his Living and his Temporal Eſtate were ſeiz'd, and put under Sequeſtration; the Former of them about October 1643, by the Houſe of Commons. However, he had about 7 or 8000 l. in Money, which he had happily plac'd in ſuch Hands as would not diſcover it to the Committees; and on that he lived very comfortably at the Place of his Nativity, and miniſtring out of it alſo to the Neceſſities of many of the Poor Beggar'd and Starving Clergy. Here he continu'd leading a moſt ſtudious and Pious Life, and privately reading the Prayers of the Church every Day; as alſo adminiſtring the Bleſſed Sacrament on the Three great Feſtivals of the Year, to ſuch Loyaliſts as reſorted to him: Nor would he ever ſubmit, either to ask his Living himſelf, or ſo much as ſuffer any of his Friends to do it; tho' ſome were of Opinion, and told him as much, that he might have obtain'd it, if he would have ſued for it; but he utterly diſdain'd to crave any Favour at the Hands of the Rebels: 'Nor, ſaid he, will I put another 'upon doing what with a ſafe Conſcience I can-'not do my ſelf. His Sequeſtration is the more to be lamented, becauſe juſt upon the time of it he was going to purchaſe an Eſtate of 20 l. per annum contiguous to the Glebe; which he would have annexed to it for ever, only obliging his Succeſſors to pay 10 l. a Year out of it to the Poor of the Pariſh. Nor did he Survive the Uſurpation to compleat that Work of Piety: for he Dy'd in 1659. He had been ſo Eminent in the Univerſity for his Learning and Preaching, that he was pitch'd on by them to Preach before K. James at Newmarket; which he did ſo much to the Good-liking of his Majeſty, that in the Cloſe of his Sermon apologizing for the Length of it, that Prince call'd to him and told him, You need no Excuſe, Nimble Chops, I muſt have you here again. He was alſo a Perſon of a moſt Sweet, Pleaſant, and Hoſpitable Temper; which together with his Learning and Piety, had brought him into great Repute with the Gentry and Clergy, and made him Extreamly beloved by his Pariſhioners.

I muſt not omit to let the Reader know, that he had before the Breaking out of the Rebellion, furniſhed the Communion-Table of his Church with two Large Flaggons, a Large Cup, and a very handſome Baſon for the Offerings, all of Silver: Which I mention, as an Inſtance, not only of his Piety, but of his great Modeſty likewiſe: For he would neither permit his Name nor his Arms, nor any thing but the Word Hitcham, to be engraven upon them; which was happily the Occaſion of ſaving them in the time of the Rebellion: For being ſeized by the Plunderers as Mr. Bretton's Houſhold-Plate, it was carried before the Committee; who finding no other Inſcription than that mentioned upon it, were ſatisfied that it belonged to the Pariſh, and in a fit of Tenderneſs not Common in thoſe Times, ſent it back again.

In a word, had he Survived the Uſurpation, it was thought he would have ſhod the Faireſt of any Man for the Biſhoprick of Norwich. His immediate Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration, was one * Miles Burket, who was very ſevere upon the Pariſhioners in his Tithes; (though he would not pay Mr. Bretton one Farthing of Tithes) never adminiſtred either of the Sacraments during almoſt 18 Years ſtay among them; And notwithſtanding he had in his Prayers, the Sunday after the Horrid Murther of the Bleſſed Martyr, aſked Almighty God if he had not ſmelt a ſweet Savour of Blood, yet he was preparing himſelf to Pray for his Majeſty K. Charles the 2d. on the approach of his Reſtoration; and did not at laſt quit the Living, until he was Ejected by a Suit at Law. After all which, he is one of the Saints in the Bartholomew Legend.

* In the Abridgment, p. 564. he is called Will. by a Miſ-reading, as Bowtrey, of Will. for Bill.

BREWSTER, ED W. . Lowſhall, R. Or Hamſhall.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd about Oct. 1643, by the Houſe of Commons; who alſo ſubſtituted one Tho. Thomas in his Living. He was pitch upon by White to make up one of his Century; where he is charged with Obſerving the Orders of the Church, Neglecting the Parliament-Faſts and Thankſgivings, Speaking againſt the Earl of Eſſex, and being a Tipler and Alehouſe-Haunter; of the laſt of which Crimes he is there ſaid to have been Convicted, and Fined at the Aſſizes. After his Sequeſtration, he kept a little School at Heſſet in this County. P. 14.

Digitized by Google

BRIDGES, ——, . Newton, R.

BROWN, JOHN, . Monkton, V. Sequeſtred March 17, 1644, for obſerving the Orders of the Church, not praying for a Bleſſing on the Parliament, the Aſſembly, the Forces, &c. for refuſing to Aſſociate and Aſſiſt in the Rebellion, ſaying, Shall I find Arms againſt my King? Wiſhing alſo we had Peace one way or t'other; and when aſked which was in the right the King or the Parliament, he gave it againſt the Parliament. I miſtake if he did not loſe alſo 100 l. Perſonal Eſtate.

How are thoſe now Sainted, who came with Peace! in their Mouths, tho' it was a Crime unpardonable then, as it ſeems.?

BRUMHALL, JAMES, . Poulſtead, R.

He lived to be Reſtored.

BRUNDISSE, ——, . Swefland. .

BUCK, JAMES, B. D. Stradbrook, V. White chooſes this Gentleman alſo to help fill up his Number, and accuſes him of having Preached up the Pope's Supremacy, Tranſubſtantiation, Auricular Confeſſion, Univerſal Grace, and that Children dying Baptized are undoubtedly Saved, but Damned if they die Unbaptiz'd; as alſo of having denied the Cup to ſome, to whom he had before delivered the Bread, and of bowing towards the Altar, &c. But then the Sting of the whole followeth in the laſt Clauſe, which is his having Expreſt great Malignity againſt the Parliament. About the beginning of the Rebellion, when he had been Vicar here upwards of Twenty Years, he was ſeized and carried Priſoner to Ipſwich Jayl; in which Durance he was for a time allowed part of the Profits of his Vicaridge; 'but in a while he had 'News brought him, that he was no longer to 'expect any thing from Stradbrook; whereupon 'he acquainted the Maſter of the Priſon, that 'he muſt live upon the Allowance of the Country, for he had nothing wherewith to ſubſiſt: 'This the Jailer told him could never be, for 'the utmoſt Allowance was but a Penny per Diem 'for Bread, and Water to drink. As this was 'the Condition God's Providence had reduced 'him to, he reſolved to ſubmit to it, and did 'for Two Months together live on Bread and 'Water. The Conſequence of which was very 'remarkable: For whereas before he was Forty 'Years Old he was ſo extreamly afflicted with 'the Gout, that the Phyſicians did not believe he 'could live Two Years longer; his Conſtitution 'was by this Change of Diet and Abſtemiouſneſs 'ſo altered, that he never had the Gout after, 'but enjoyed great Degrees of Health, notwithſtanding his being a very hard Student even till 'after Eighty Years of Age. Thus did GOD's 'Providence bring GOOD out of EVIL; 'however I dare ſay I ſhall not be blamed for 'ſetting him down as a Sufferer; eſpecially if it be conſidered, that his Family was alſo thruſt into a Cott, where his Wife and Children ſuffered great Hardſhips, were reduced to Want, and forced to drink Water with Crabbs ſtamped in it to reliſh it; no one in the mean time daring to relieve them. After the Reſtoration he became D. D. but returned not to Stradbrook, being * preferred in London, where he died Preacher at the Temple in 1683. So that there are many now alive who muſt have very well remembered him; and to thoſe I appeal, whether he deſerved a Place in White's Century of Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts, as a Papiſt; eſpecially conſidering he had ſuch Opportunity and Incouragement to declare himſelf that way in the Two laſt Years of his Life.

P. 41.

One of his Succeſſors was John Stanley, who was proſecuted to it in 1654.

This was ſome time before he was actually Sequeſtred, which was at length done by the Committee at Cambridge about 1643, or 1644.

* To the Recdory of St. James Garlick-Hith.

News. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 367. And to that of St. Peter's Cornhill, ſaith the New Survey of London, p. 466. But no ſuch Man occurs in Mr. Newcourt's Liſt of the Incumbents in the laſt mentioned Church. The former of theſe Authors commends him for his great Learning, and the latter calls him a Pious and Learned Man. He gave 40 l. to St. Paul's Cathedral, New Surv. p. 463.

BURGESS, , . Eye, V.

SURREY.

BERNARD, SAMUEL, D. D. Croydon, V.

He was turned out in February 1643, by the Committee of Plundered Miniſters, for Errors in Doctrine, Superſtition in Practice, and Malignancy.

SUSSEX.

BAILY, ——, D. D. Barcomb, R. worth * 120 l. a Year.

* Or, as I believe, much more.

His Succeſſor was one J. W. who 'tis ſaid paid his Fifths.

BARBER, ——, . Ramſey, .

He was a great Sufferer alſo in other kinds; which is all that I know of him.

BARTON, ——, . Weſtmeſton cum Chiltinton, R.

He was ſequeſtred by one William Osbourn.

I find one Thomas Barton of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, created D. D. in 1663; who in the Chancellors Letters for that Purpoſe, is ſaid to have been Chaplain throughout the War to Prince Rupert, and to be at that Time A. M. I ſuppoſe he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, who in ſome Informations which I have received, is called Dr. Barton.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 813.

BISH, ——, . Pycomb, R.

His Crime was the reading of his Majeſty's Declaration.

WARWICKSHIRE.

BAKER, THOMAS, A. M. Baxterly, R.

He had been admitted to this Living July 3, 1641, but the Year of his Sequeſtration I know not. His Wife and Children were turned out of Doors by an Officer of the Parliament Army, who drew out his Piſtol, and produced that as his Commiſſion for it, when the poor Woman had the Courage to aſk him by what Authority he did it: Among the other Outrages which he then committed, one was his Setting a Cradle with a young Child of Mr. Baker's in it on the Dunghill. After this, Mrs. Baker with her Family, which was numerous, ſuffered much Hardſhip. Mr. Baker himſelf was Entertained and Relieved, partly by the Charity of Thomas Corbin of this County, Eſq; and partly by that of Sir Francis Burdett of Derbyſhire; until at length he got a School at Saffron-Walden in Eſſex, out of which alſo he was turned. He out-liv'd the Uſurpation, and was at laſt preſented to the Rectory of Grindon, by Mr. Chetwind of that Place. He was a Man

Digitized by Google

Man of Learning, and an approved Preacher, and much beloved in his Parish.

BOLD, HENRY, . Willoughby, V.
There was one of both these Names of Christ-Church in Oxford, who was some time Chaplain to the Lord Arlington; by whose Interest he became Fellow of Eaton-College, and at length Chaunter of the Church of Exeter, and died in France in the Year 1677: Whether he was the same Person with this Sufferer or not, Quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 834. One Francis Hibert was created in Willoughby in 1614.

———, ———, . Birmingham, .
He was Restored in 1660.

Abridg. p. 102.

WESTMORLAND.

BUCHANNAN, GEORGE, A. M. Kirkby-Lonsdale, V.

He was of an Ancient Family in the West of Scotland, and by Marriage related to Bishop Whitford, whom he succeeded in the rich Living of Moffet in Anandale, and with whom he was afterwards Banished that Kingdom for refusing the Covenant. He had at that time a Wife and Six Children, with whom he came into England, and applying himself to Arch-bishop Laud, that great Patron of Learning and Piety, bestowed upon him a good Living in or near the County of Essex; which he exchanged for this Vicaridge, as being nearer to his own Country, where his Scotch Pronunciation would be less offensive, and better understood. He had not been long there, before the Rebellion broke out in England, under which he suffered to a very great Degree; being most grievously persecuted by Two of his Parishioners, who were Captains in the Parliament-Army, and got him not only Sequestred, but also several times taken and hurried to Lancaster-Jail; once out of the Church, another time out of his Bed from his Wife (then big with Child) in a rude and barbarous manner; the last of which times he suffered near Three Years Imprisonment. After which being set at Liberty, he fled into Yorkshire, where he was Patronized by Sir —— Wentworth, who gave him the little Vicaridge of Rosston, worth not much more than 20 l. per Ann. The inconsiderableness of which Income however proved his Protection; tho' he much encreased it, by Reading the Service, and Administring the other Offices of the Church of England to such Loyalists as resorted to him. There he continued until the Restoration; at which Time he Re possess'd himself of his own Vicaridge, yet kept it but a little while; for being soon after made Prebendary of Carlile, he took another Living near that City, and Resigned Kirkby-Lonsdale. He died about the Year 1665, Universally lamented by the whole City of Carlile, great Numbers of whom attended his Corps, and made the most truly mournful Funeral, that had ever been remembred there. I have been told that he was offered a Bishoprick, which he refused. He was a Person of such an Excellent and Regular Life, and such great Integrity, that the worst of his Enemies, in either Kingdom, could not object any one Crime to him but his Loyalty. And he was likewise possess'd with the genuine Fruit of this Integrity, a true Spirit of Christian Boldness. I cannot forbear to add, that after he was turned out of Moffet, the great Tythes of that Living (which is the best in all Scotland, and then worth, as I have heard, 500 l. per Ann. Sterling) were immediately Alienated into the Hands of a certain great Lord, and are not restored to this Day. 'Tis observable that one of the Two Captains, who had been the chief Instruments in his Sufferings, grew very Rich, purchased a Field (and built a very fine House) with the Price of Iniquity, in those Times; but before his Death he became miserably Poor, lay some Time, and I think died in a Prison, and was daily relieved from the Table of one of Mr. Buchannan's Sons. A Grandson of this worthy Old Gentleman, from whom I have this Relation, told me, that he saw one of this Captain's Sons begging (I think at Edinborough) and he happen'd in particular to ask his Charity, which was not denied him.

WILTSHIRE.

BAYLEY, FRAN. . Woodborough, R. worth 140 l. per Ann.

I think he lived to be Restored in 1660. One of both these Names, and most probably the same Person, became Prebendary of Lyme and Hasstock in the Church of Salisbury, Aug. 21, 1663, on the Death of William Creed; and voided it himself by Death, if I mistake not, before May 14, 1667; being succeeded by John Nicholas.

BING, ROBERT, L. L. D. Alcanings, R. Then worth 450 l. per Ann.

He was violently thrust out of this Living by one Jeff. Simkins, whilst he was building a large House there, on which he had expended 1500 l. His Temporal Estate also was put under Sequestration, for which I find him Compounding at 59 l. He died under the Usurpation.

BISHOP, ALLEN, . Alston-Keynes, V.

BLAND, ——, . Laverstock, .

*BOWEN, ROBERT, . Great-Wishford, R. 200 l. per Ann.

* Or Bower.

——, ——, . † Little-Bedwin, V.

† See the Note at Aberton in Sussex under the Letter A.

——, ——, . * Buttermere, R.

* See the same Note.

BUSHNELL, WALTER, . Box, V.
He was a Native of this County, and Educated in Magdalen-Hall in Oxford. He lived to be Restored, and died in the Year 1667. As for his Numberless Oppressions, I have already at large accounted for them in the first Part out of his own Narrative, Printed in 1660, which was, as I think, the only thing that he Published.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 771.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

BENSON, GEORGE, D. D. Lindridge, R.

Sequestred by the Committee of Worcester. He was succeeded by one G—— See Hertford-Cathedral

BOWTON,

BOWTON, ——, . Wolverley, V.
Quære whether the ſame before mentioned at Worceſter-Cathedral.

BRACE, EDWIN, . Doverdale, R.

BURLEY, ——, . Croſton, R.

BURROUGHS, ——, . Hooton-Roberts, R.

YORKSHIRE.

* He was the Aſſiſtant-Miniſter here, which I take to be a Setled Office, and Equivalent to a Freehold. If not, he muſt be Struck out here, and placed in the Appendix among the Curates, &c.

BARNEY, ——, . * Sheffield, V.
He was Turned out, and otherwiſe ill uſed.

BEAUMONT, . South-Kirby, .
He was inſtrumental in ſurprizing the Caſtle of Pontefract for his Majeſty; the whole Deſign of which was laid at his Houſe, which was within Five Miles of that Caſtle. He alſo correſponded afterwards with Major Morris the Governour; but being diſcover'd by an intercepted Letter, he was ſeized, Impriſoned, and had Extream Heavy Irons laid upon him. And becauſe he would not diſcover thoſe who were concern'd with him, he was tried by a Council of War, and Executed within the compaſs of two Hours. And to compleat this Outragious Barbarity, one of his Neareſt Relations was forced to have a hand in the Execution. He left behind him a Wife and Four ſmall Children, with little or nothing to maintain them.

He had alſo done his Majeſty ſeveral Services in the Army.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 563.

BELL, ——, . Thurnſcoe, .

BELTON, ——, . Maxbrough, .

——, ——, . ——, V. in Beverley.

——, ——, . * ——, V. in Beverley.

* If I do not miſ-apprehend a Letter which I have received from this County, there are Two Churches in the Town of Beverly; the Vicars of both which were Sequeſtred: But I cannot yet obtain their Names, much leſs the Particulars of their Sufferings.

BLAKESTAN, ——, . Northallerton, .

His Living was uſurp'd by Mr. —— Man, who came into the Church as Mr. Blakeſtan was reading one of the Leſſons, and producing an Inſtrument, by which he claimed the Living under the then Uſurpation; firſt turned Mr. Blakeſtan out of the Desk, and then getting himſelf up into the Pulpit, made there a very long Prayer, and a longer Sermon; as is atteſted by a Perſon of great Worth and Learning, who was then in the Church; who alſo remembers, that Mr. Blakeſtan had been much perſecuted there before he was Turned out, often forc'd to Retire from his Houſe, and Abſcond, and to leave his Wife and Children in Want.

See Tho. Blakeſton in the Ch. of York, and Mr. Blakiſton at Jeſus-Coll. and another at Peter-Houſe in Cambridge, and quære.

BRADLEY, THOMAS, D. D. Caſtleford †, .
And Ackford, ...

† Caſtleford, R. I ſuppoſe.

See the Cathedral of York.

* Different, I conceive, from that Sheffield juſt now mentioned; unleſs there were two Sufferers in it.

BROWN, ——, . * Sheffield, .

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

CARDIGAN.

BOUNER, ——, . Aberyſtwyth, .

He was not Formally Sequeſtred; but the Pariſhioners took upon them to detain all his Tythes from the Year 1648, to 1660.

CAERMARTHEN.

CAERNARVAN.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

BRIDGEMAN, HENRY, A. M. Bangor, R. then worth betwixt 2 and 300 l. per Annum.

He was ſucceeded here by one Robert Fegg. Abridgm. p. 484. See Dr. Bridgeman before mentioned, in Cheſhire.

GLAMORGAN.

BASSET, THOMAS, . Lantriſſent, V. together with the Churches of Lantwit-Vaird, Iſtradyvodog, Lanwnno, and Aberdare, worth 300*l.* a Year,
And
Lecquith, Laudaugh, and Cogan, R. . . . . .

All theſe made up one Vicaridge and one Rectory only, that I muſt here inform the Reader once for all, that as he will frequently meet with ſeveral Places in the Welch Counties, of the Name of the ſame Perſon; ſo I am ſeldom able to Diſtinguiſh the Rectories and Vicaridges from the Chapelries and Daughter-Churches; and by Conſequence cannot let him know, whether it was One only, or More Livings, of which ſuch a Perſon was Deprived.

BASSET,

Digitized by Google

See Mr. Arnold Boxter just above.

BASSET, WILLIAM, . Newton-Nottage, R. worth 100 l. per annum.

Before 1649. I guess that it was about the Year 1644; and that he died soon after.

BEVANS, WILLIAM, . Laugher, R. worth 100 l. per annum.

He was by the Commissioners for Propagation Turned out for Delinquency, and succeeded by one John Robert, a Miller, an impudent, as well as ignorant Fellow; who was put into the Parish by Colonel Jones. Mr. Bevans Died immediately after, if not before the Restoration.

One Allop, an Enthusiast, afterwards took Possession of this Living; telling the People, That he was sent from the Lord unto them, to pitch his Tent among them: As he did, undisturbed, until the Restoration.

BUTLER, JOHN, . Penath and Lavernock, V.

Sequestred for Insufficiency and Delinquency by the Commissioners for Propagation.

BUTLER, ——, . St. Bride's, V.

Before 1649. Quære if the same with Mr. John Butler before mentioned.

BUTLER, ARNOLD, . Newton-Nottage, R.

He was the Second Person Sequestred from, or rather Deprived of, this Living; which was in 1650. For he had been Presented to it by the Undoubted Patron, on the Death, if I mistake not, of Mr. William Basset; but one Elliot usurped the Place, and kept Possession of it till the Restoration.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

BAYLY, WILLIAM, . Penstrowed, R.

In 1650.

PEMBROKE.

He was a Pluralist, but whether he left the rest (as is probable enough) I cannot directly say.

BROOKS, RICHARD, . Nowlton, R.

Turned out by the Commissioners for Propagation.

BROWN, THOMAS, . Levefton, . By the same, for the like Crime.

BURGES, EDWARD, . Pendergest, R.

Either he was but a Reading Minister, or else only a Reader here. I guess the Former; but if it was the Latter, he must be Discounted, and Ranked among the Curates.

RADNOR.

BICKNEL, ROBERT, . Llandegly, V.

Before 1649.

——, ——, . * Bletbvach, . See the Note at Abergevenny in Caermarthenshire, under the Letter A.

BROWN, ——, . Llangunllo, .

BABBINGTON, ——, . ——, . He was Sequestred some where for his Loyalty, and his Family at last reduced to such Miseries, that they were constrained to beg the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows. There was one of this Name of Christ-Church, who was Created D. D. (or at least Nominated for that Purpose by his Majesty) at Oxford in 1642. Whether he was the same with this Person, whole Family was supported by the Corporation beforementioned, I cannot tell. If he was not, 'tis probable (for Reasons which you will see at Mr. Bowerman, who will be mentioned by and by) he also was Sequestred, and so ought to have a distinct Place in this List.

It is a different person from Mr. Babbington in Nottinghamshire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 713.

BARDSEY, JAMES, . ——, . He was Created B. D. Oct. 17, 1643; and stands on the same Foot with Dr. Bowerman.

Ibid. p. 728.

BAYLY, ROBERT, D. D. ——, . His Temporal Estate also was put under Sequestration; for which he compounded at 275 l.

Quære if he was the same Person with him in Suffex.

My only Authority for this Sequestration is, That I find the Name of this Reverend Doctor in the Catalogue of Lords, &c. who compounded for their Estates, and this with, I presume, to decend Authority sufficient, when it shall be considered, how improbable it is, that any one should be permitted to keep his Spirituals, who had his Temporals put under Sequestration. Nor could this Compolition of the Clergy be for their Preferments, since they had this peculiar Hardship put upon them, as never to be admitted to Composition for their Spiritualities. To indeed possible (and barely so) that some of those Clergy-men that compounded for their Effates, might not have any Livings or Preferments at all: but that must needs be a Case so rarely happening, that I believe it cannot make the Exception to the Whole of those which I shall place in this List on those Grounds. However, if any such shall hereafter appear, I will most gladly discount them. But then there is another Difficulty in this matter: When there is any Place subjoyned to the Name of the Compounding Clergy-man (as there is none for Dr. Bayly's) that I have taken for granted, was the Name of his Living; which, however, it must be owned, may be the Name only of the Parish where his Effate lay, or where he might be accidentally Reliient at the Time of his Composition: But I believe this likewise very rarely happens: For to strengthen both this and the former Conjecture, I must acquaint the Reader, that having when I first set about this Undertaking, drawn out a List of the Clergy-men mentioned in that Catalogue, I have since by other Informations, discovered from many Instances, that this Conjecture, as well concerning the Names of the Livings which they loft, as concerning the Sequestration it felf, was very right. However, I should most gladly be corrected in this latter Case also, if any Mistakes are crept in. I now only have to observe, that on this same Authority all such are placed in this List, from whom I shall hereafter make a Reference in this Note.

BLANE, ALAN, A. M. ——, . He was Son to Thomas Blane, Rector of Acton in Cumberland. He was some time Taberder of Queen's-College in Oxford, and had afterwards a Benefice conferred on him (in what County I cannot learn) which he loft in the time of the Rebellion; after which he retired to Standisto in Glocestershire, where for some time he served a small Cure. At length retiring to London, he died there; but in what Year I do not find. He published a Piece in Defence of the Observation of Christmas, and one or two Tracts more.

Or Blarney.

See one of both their Names in the Appendix

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 128.

Digitized by Google

BOLTON, ——, . ——, .
He was a very great Sufferer, being Imprisoned, Plunder'd, &c. I find his Widow afterwards supported by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

Q. Whether he was the ſame with Mr. Edward Bolton of Bramfield in Hertfordſhire, or with him at Jeſus-College, Oxon.

BONNIMAN. ——, . ——, .
I find his Widow Relieved by the Corporation ſo often mentioned, among the other Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy. If he was the ſame with that Mr Bonniman already mention'd in Eſſex, it confirms that Sequeſtration; but Quere concerning both.

Lond. Mem. f. 115. BOTELER, ——, D. D. ——, .
Somewhere in the North.

BOWERMAN, THOMAS, D. D.
——, .

Wood, Ath Vol II. p 716. * which is the only Ground we meet with I found the Conjecture of his Sequeſtration And becauſe I ſhall have occaſion to mention ſeveral hereafter on the ſame Authority, referring them to this Note, I will in this Place for all once Reaſons for it. Wood, (Ath Vol. II p 692.) Prefaces the Creations of the year 1642, in this manner: After the Battle at Edgehill the King retired to Oxon, and ſetting in Chriſt-Church, it was his Pleaſure, that there ſhould be a Creation in all Faculties, of ſuch as had either done him Service in the ſaid Battle, or had retired to him at Oxon for Shelter, to avoid the Barbarities of the Presbyterians, then very frequent throughout the Nation. Before the Creation of the following Year, to only ſaith, ſeveral of his Majeſty's Faithful Subjects, p 717. But before the Incorporations of 1644. he ſaith, divers worthy Perſons who had been formerly of Cambridge, or lately Ejected thence, retiring now to Oxon for ſafety, were Incorporated, &c. p 724. And likewiſe before the Incorporations of 1645. he again ſaith, Several Perſons who were forced to leave the Univerſity of Cambridge for their Loyalty, and others (who had formerly been of that Univerſity) their reſpective Cures and Dignities, retired to Oxon, to avoid the Cruelties and Barbarities of the Presbyterians, and were this Year either Incorporated or Created, p. 728, 730. Before the Creations of this Year he ſaith, they conſiſted partly of Military Officers, and partly of Cantabrigians that had taken Sanctuary at Oxon, p. 732. Of the Creations of 1646, he ſaith, they were made up in part of ſuch as had ſuffered for their Loyalty, p. 736. From all which 'tis plain, that few or none were either Incorporated or Created in any of thoſe Years, but what had ſuffered in ſome kind or other. Among thoſe I have mentioned only with ſuch as appear to have been in Orders, and have put none into this Liſt, but ſuch as were either Bachelours or Doctors in Divinity, and by conſequence had in all probability ſome Preferments, which they were forced to quit at leaſt, if they had not been formally Sequeſtred from them. And accordingly by other Notices, I find many of thoſe then Incorporated and Created, had been driven from their reſpective Dignities and Livings. Indeed ſome of them may not yet have been in this part of the Liſt, which contains the Parochial Clergy; but may poſſibly have been of the Prebendaries, &c. whoſe Names, in ſome of the Cathedrals, I have not been able to obtain: And others of them may perhaps be thoſe, who found ſhift up ſome of the Blanks in the Univerſities, eſpecially Cambridge; or it may be ſome of the Blank Livings in this part of the Liſt: But to be ſure there are very few of this Kind. Or if they were more, I do not know any poſſible means of Diſcovering them. Thoſe I take to be moſt Core I can to compare them with all the other parts of this Liſt, and eſpecially with that of Cambridge; ſo that I believe none of them will create any Duplicates. But after all 'tis poſſible there may be ſome few of thoſe mentioned, who either were not poſſeſſed of any Preferments at that Time, or did not loſe it: And if there are any ſuch, I ſhould moſt thankfully receive the Account of it, and moſt readily ſtrike them out. I muſt here alſo obſerve, that there were ſome Hundreds more Incorporated and Created than Wood has ever expreſs Notice of, his Buſineſs being chiefly with Writers, or Men of more than common and ordinary Figure. And it is probable that ſeveral of thoſe who were Incorporated A. M. only, had been Sequeſtred alſo, but not being able to diſtinguiſh who among them were in Orders, and who not, I have wholly left them out of this Liſt.

BRANDERY, ——, .
——, .
Somewhere, as I gueſs, about Suffolk, in or before 1644.

BRAUNTON, ——, . ——, .
Somewhere as I conjecture likewiſe in the ſame County, about the ſame Time.

C

BEDFORDSHIRE.

CROWLEY, THEODORE, . Maſterſhip and Rectory of the Hoſpital of St. John in Bedford.

John Burton ſucceeded in this Preferment in 1655.

——, ——, . Chalgrave, V.

BERKSHIRE.

CARLETON, GUY, A. M. Buckleſbury, V. worth 100 l. per Ann.
And
——, R. ſomewhere in the North, worth 300 l. per Ann.

Wood, Ath Vol II. p. 691. He was of a good and ancient Family in Cumberland, and Educated at Queen's-College in Oxford; where he became ſucceſſively Poor Child, Taberder, Fellow, and Rector. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion he faithfully adhered to his Majeſty's Intereſt, and did him conſiderable Service. He was firſt driven from his rich Living in the North; afterwards coming into Berkſhire, he was Patronized by Mr. Gravers of Hartley-Court, who preſented him to the Living of Buckleſbury, in the right of his Guard, Sir Henry Winchcombe; from whence alſo he was driven by the Tryers: After which he was likewiſe ſeized and Imprioned in Lambeth-Houſe, whither his Wife ſecretly conveyed him a Cord, by the help of which he let himſelf down through a Window towards the Thames; but the Cord not reaching to the Ground, he was forced to drop from it, and in the fall diſlocated one of his Bones; but a Boat being provided for him, he was ſoon carried off, and lay concealed during the Cure; to pay for which his poor Wife was forced to ſell her very Bed. After his Recovery he fled beyond the Seas to his Majeſty; in the mean time one of his Daughters was maintained by Mrs. Gravers; and his Wife, with Two other Daughters, were ſupported in London, partly by ſome Charities, and partly by their own Labour. Mr. Carleton returned with his Majeſty from beyond the Seas, became one of his Chaplains, D. D. Dean of Carliſle, Prebendary of Durham, and in 1671, was advanced to the Biſhoprick of Briſtol; and in 1678, Tranſlated from thence to Cliceheſter. He died in the Year 1685. In the 12th Prob.

COUSINS, WILLIAM, . Shinfield, V.

He was to be Reſtored. His Widow was after the Reſtoration, Reliev'd by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows: In her Petition for that Charity (Signed among others by the learned Dr. South) ſhe ſets forth, That her Husband was utterly undone, and her ſelf left in an extreamly poor, deſolate, and deplorable Condition.

Digitized by Google

BUCKS.

CLUTTERBUCK, THOMAS, Great-Brickhill, R.

He had no other Title to this Living, then such as those Times could allow him; being presented to it on the Death of Mr. Francis Courtest (the former Incumbent) by the Rightful and undoubted Patron, Mr. John Duncombe, in the Year 1653; at which Time he was put into the actual Poſſeſſion of it by his Patron. But Mr. Matthew Mead, the late well known Teacher of a Diſſenting Congregation at Stepney, having it ſeems entertained ſome Hopes of being himſelf preſented to the Living by Mr. Duncombe, was reſolved, when he found himſelf diſappointed of that Title, to get Poſſeſſion ſome other way; and accordingly pretends a Lapſe, and obtained the Great Seal for it. But upon Mr. Duncombe's Petition to the Commiſſioners who were then appointed to keep the Seal, he had liberty given him to ſeek his Remedy at Law: And accordingly his Clerk Mr. Clutterbuck obtains a Verdict at Aylesbury Aſſizes, and had Poſſeſſion delivered upon the Judgment. After which Mr. Mead removes the Cauſe into Haberdaſhers-Hall, endeavouring there to defeat Mr. Duncombe of his Right of Patronage, upon the account of Malignancy. But the Commiſſion of the Judges there expiring before this Caſe was finally determined, Mr. Mead is forced upon another Method, which was that of getting a Preſentation from the Protector. In the mean time Mr. Duncombe having in vain ſollicited the Commiſſioners for the Approbation of Publick Preachers to approve his Clerk, and inſtead of it thoſe Commiſſioners purpoſely delaying the Matter, that Mr. Mead might have Time to begin a new Suit, Mr. Clutterbuck being wearied out with theſe Vexatious and Chargeable Conteſts, was forced to Reſign his whole Right and Title to the Rectory, and returned Mr. Duncombe his Preſentation; and by conſequence in effect, tho' not in Form, was Sequeſtred from the Living.

See Mr. Hackett in this County. See alſo Mag. Gall. in Hertford, and Queene.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

CHANDLER, ———, B. D. Okington, V.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd of this Living by the E. of M. July 16, 1644; for his Loyalty and Affection to the Eſtabliſhed Church. See Queen's-College in Cambridge.

COLLINS, SAMUEL, D. D. Fenny-Ditton, R. worth 120 l. per Ann.

See King's-College in Cambridge: And whereas I have there ſaid, That he was Diſpoſſeſſed of his Preferments, particularly of his Provoſtſhip in the Year 1645, that muſt be underſtood of the Year 1644: For I find the Original Inſtrument of his Ejectment from the Provoſtſhip and Divinity-Profeſſorſhip (which by the favour of the learned Mr. Baker of St. John's, I have ſince ſeen under the Earl of Manchester's own Hand and Seal) Dated the Ninth Day of January 1644. That Inſtrument does not ſpecifie the Crimes for which it ejects him, but only ſays, it is in general, for ſeveral of thoſe Miſdemeanours therein before-mentioned, as juſt Grounds for Ejecting ſuch as ſhould be found guilty of them, and thoſe were ſcandalous Lives, ill-Affection to the Parliament, Diſobedience to its Ordinances, fomenting the War, &c.

CROSLAND, ———, . Botesham, V.

He was Sequeſtred March 26, 1644, by the E. of M. for paying Obedience to the Rules and Injunctions of the Church, neglect of Cure, Inſufficiency; and it will not be wonder'd at, that part of his Charge was Malignancy, ſince he had, it ſeems, uttered in the Pulpit this moſt ſhameful Falſhood, that the Party had taken up Arms againſt the King.

CHESHIRE.

CARR, PATRICK, . Audlem, V.

He was a Man of good Learning and Exemplary Life: And as I am informed, was forced to wander about for a Livelyhood till the Reſtoration; ſo that I preſume he was then Re-poſſeſs'd of his Living.

CORNWALL.

COLLINS, JOHN, A. M. Illuggan, R. Valued at 150 l. per Ann.

He was alſo Impriſoned: Afterwards he ſupported himſelf by the Practice of Phyſick, until the Reſtoration, when he returned to his Living, and died poſſeſs'd of it in 1685, in the 77th Year of his Age.

COREY, RICHARD, A. M. Gwynnap, V.

He had been of Exeter-College in Oxford, lived to be Reſtored, and died in 1680.

About 1632 he got the Vicaridge of St. Wen, which, with much Difficulty, he made a ſhift to keep until the Reſtoration.

COWLING, PETER, : Lefkard, .

In 1646: He Survived, and was Reſtored.

CREYGHTON, ROBERT, D.D. Deanery of St. Burian's.

See Wells-Cathedral. See alſo Mr. Adams at Totneſs in Devon, and Dr. Weekes in this County.

CUMBERLAND.

COX, WILLIAM, : Embleſton, V.

He was preſented to this Living by the Society of Merton College, and was kept out of it by the Iniquity of the Times, as he was alſo of ſome other Places, for no other Reaſon than his Loyalty. He was once pulled out of his Pulpit in the midſt of his Sermon.

Either in this County or Northamberland. Query.

DERBY-

Digitized by Google

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

CAREW, JOHN, A. M. Haberton. V.

He had at the time of his Sequeſtration a Wife and Nine or Ten Children; for the Support of which he could not get any Fifths from George Mortimore the Intruder. He lived to be Reſtor'd, and in 1663, Reſigned his Living, but for what Reaſons, or what became of him afterwards, I cannot ſay.

In 1655, one Nath. Mather ſucceeded in it.

CHAPLAIN, ——, . Aſhbury, R.

He got Poſſeſſion of this Rectory towards the End of the Rebellion, but in what manner I have not been able to learn; and therefore leave it as a further Quære with the Reader, whether he ought to be admitted into this Liſt. This is certain, that he was ſoon after driven from it again, and that too for his Loyalty. He was ſucceeded by one Daniel Morton an Independent, who had no other Education than that of a private School.

CHAPMAN, STEPH. A. M. Eaſt-Budleigh, V.

He was ſo much Harraſſed, that he was forced to quit the Living. What became of him afterwards I know not.

CHASE, GAMALIEL, B. D. Yarcombe, V.

See him in the following County.

CHURCHILL, CHARLES, A. M. Fennington, R. worth 140 l. per Annum.

He had been of Exeter-College in Oxford, and became Rector of this Living in 1642; of which he was again Diſpoſſeſs'd about the Year 1654, by the Commiſſioners for Ejecting Scandalous Ignorant, &c. Miniſters: but they were very hard put to it to find out any Crimes ſufficient for his Sequeſtration, as will appear by what followeth. An old Woman of a neighbouring Pariſh, was produced as an Evidence of his having been diſtempered with Liquor; and the Reaſon ſhe alledged for it was, becauſe his Face was red; whereas the poor Gentleman being troubl'd with a Scorbutick Humour, had never other than a Red Face. And when this Proof was juſtly look't upon as Trifling and Impertinent, one of the Commiſſioners, who had a greater Kindneſs for him than ordinary, demanded notwithſtanding to have it put down; becauſe, he ſaid, all would help. What paſs'd more at his Examination, I know not: But being diſmiſs'd, and going out of the Room, ſome of his Pariſhioners (who were very loth to part with him, and therefore ſollicitous about the Event) met him, and asked him how Matters went: To which he anſwered, That Major Saunders drove ſo furiouſly, there was no holding the Plough after him. By the Uſe of which homely Proverb, having reflected upon the Major's Riſe from the Plough, he was ſoon called in again, and New Evidence produc'd of his being diſtemper'd with Liquor; the Proof of which now was, that he laughed heartily, and (ſaid the Witneſs) If he was not drunk, I am ſure he was very merry. But this likewiſe being deem'd too little, even in their own ſence, to convict him; One of the Commiſſioners ſtood up, and very gravely gave in his Oath, that Mr. Churchill ſuffered his Children to play at Cards for Pins. Whether this was not the moſt Trifling Evidence of all, let the Reader judge. But, as one of the Commiſſioners had before obſerved, all helping, it made up a ſort of Accumulative Scandal; and accordingly Sentence paſs'd upon him, for a Scandalous, Ignorant, and Inſufficient Miniſter. Nor was he afterwards permitted to Preach any where, Teach School, or live as Chaplain in this County: Inſomuch that he was forced to retire to Somerſetſhire, with his Wife and Four Children; who were compelled either to Beg or Starve.

Moſt of this Relation comes from a Son of Mr. Churchill's, now or lately living in this County.

Tho' I have alſo been informd, that when they found all theſe Accuſations themſelves Trifling, one of the Commiſſioners upon Oath gave in the more material Accuſation, of his being, to his unrighteous Judge, a notorious Cavalier.

In that Condition they ſhifted till the Reſtoration, when he was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Living, which he enjoy'd many Years after. His immediate Succeſſor was one Sam. Hieron, who deliver'd up the Place again to him in 1660; altho' he be recorded in the Abridgment, as Ejected from this Living in 1662. Mr. Churchill was a Learned, Pious, and Loyal Perſon, and an admirable Preacher.

P. 306.

CLIFFORD, MATTH. B. D. Newton-Ferris, R.

He had no other than an Equitable Title to this Living; being preſented to it by the Rightful Patron, but kept out of it by the Iniquity of the Times. On the Reſtoration he got Poſſeſſion of it; and to make himſelf the more ſecure, I find he took out the Seals for it per Lapſum. He was deſcended from a Family which was Originally of the County of Cumberland, had been one of the Senior Fellows of Exeter-College in Oxford, enjoy'd this Living 25 Years after the Reſtoration, and was a Pious and Learned Man.

See Edward Elliot in this County: for I take Mr. Clifford to be a Second Sufferer in this Living.

COLLINS, THOMAS, A. M. Samford-Peverel, R. And Culliton, V. . . . . }

See Exeter-Cathedral.

COOPER, JOHN, . Lameraton, V.

He had been admitted to it about the Year 1629, and was Sequeſtred about 1642: He was alſo Impriſon'd for ſome time in Plymouth. When he was ſet at liberty, not knowing whither to betake himſelf, Providence directed him back again to Lameraton; where notwithſtanding he might have Starv'd, as I have been inform'd, for any thing his other Pariſhioners would do for him, had not the Generous and Worthy Mr. Tremain (tho' himſelf at that very time a great Sufferer for his Loyalty) Supported and Maintained him. I have been told, that he Died before the Year 1649; but I judge it a Miſtake, and think he lived to be Reſtored, but died in a little time after: For, to omit other Reaſons, I find Edmond Candy admitted to the Vicaridge in 1660, per mort. Nat. J. Cooper ult. Incumb. tho' his Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration had been one Ham, who afterwards Conformed, and would undoubtedly have kept the Living, had Mr. Cooper died before the Reſtoration.

COLTON,

Digitized by Google

COTTON, EDWARD, A. M. Shodbrook, R. worth 200 l. per Annum, And Bridisfow, R. . . . . }

See Exeter-Cathedral.

COTTON, WILL. A. M. Silverton, R. worth near 500 l. per An. And Whimple, R. worth near 300 l. per Annum. . . . . }

See Exeter-Cathedral.

Or Sitcomb. CRABBE, ——, . Sydcomb, R.
He was not Formally Sequestred, but in Effect only; being so much Harrass'd and Disturbed, that he made little or nothing of this Living.

DORSETSHIRE.

CHASE, GAMALIEL, B. D. Wambrook, R. . . . . And Tarcombe, V. in Devon. . . }

He had been Fellow of Corpus Christi College in Oxford, where he was Tutor to the most Learned and Incomparable Dr. Pocock. He was Dispossess'd of both these Livings for no other Crime than Malignancy; nor could the Malice even of those Times, pretend any other against him. His House was also thoroughly Plundered, partly by the Garrison of Lime, partly by his own Neighbours. All his Goods within and without doors were carry'd away; his Mows of Corn, his Cattle, and, what went neareſt to him, his Books (even to his very Notes and Manuscripts) which he valu'd at 500 l. were all taken from him. He had at that time a Wife and Seven Children; which indeed I cannot say were immediately Turned out of Doors; for they were thrust into the Brewhouse, where they liv'd for some time. During which, as I conceive, it was that they had a Barbarity exercised towards them which before that time was, I believe, unheard of: For Mrs. Chase having taken some Hay, which her Husband had made on the Glebe, for Fodder for one Horse and one Cow (which were it seems, as yet left them) she was accused for Felony at the Sessions at the Castle of Exeter; but by the Interest of some Friends got clear of that Trouble. After which they wander'd where they could get Sustenance; enduring, as one of his Grandchildren hath affirmed me, even the Extremity of Hardship, having often times no House to Shelter them, nor ordinary Necessaries for the Supply of Nature; insomuch that (as I have further heard) they sometimes thro' meer Hunger, were forc'd to Eat Cabbage-Stumps; and had at last their Chief Sustenance from Charity. His Temporal Estate also, worth 100 l. per Annum, was put under Sequestration; but he was at length admitted to a Composition for it at 112 l. He was likewise several times Seiz'd and Imprison'd. Once he had hid himself in a Heap of Wool, where the Soldiers soon discover'd him, by thrusting in their Swords; one of which wounded him in the Thigh. At another time, he met a Party of them who had Plunder'd from him two very good Horses; and entreating them to let him have one of them again; instead of it, they laid hands on him, mounted him upon one of his own Horses, behind the Fellow who rode it, and carry'd him Prisoner to Lyme; from whence he was hurry'd to Exeter, and from thence to the Marshalsea near London. After his Sequestration, he was not allow'd to read Common-Prayer, or to Expound a Chapter, even in his own Family, tho' none but his Wife and Daughter were present. And a neighbouring Justice of Peace requir'd him to pay 3 l. for Three Sundays Absence from Church. In a Word, his Family at this Day do in great measure feel the many Cruelties, Hardships, Damages, and Losses which he sustain'd, and which would take up many Pages to Enumerate. Nor was it one of the least of them, that tho' he spent much Money, yet could he never Recover his Fifths. He liv'd to Re-possess his Livings at the Restoration, and Enjoy'd them almoſt 20 Years after, as not dying till about the Year 1680. He was a Man of great Piety, and of deep and sound Learning; insomuch that he was justly entituled to the Character of a Great Man. He was succeeded at Wambrook on the Sequestration, by one Randal, an idle sottish Fellow, who liv'd to Deliver it up to him again in 1660. As for the Vicaridge of Tarcombe, after it had lain Void some time, one Bare came to it, who 'tis said, had scarce Learning enough to Read in the Pulpit, a Penny Sermon which he had carry'd up thither. He was also an idle sottish Fellow. Another of his Successors was one Mosi, who Or Morse. continued here about seven Years, and died. There goes a Tradition of him, that he had been an Apprentice with an Apothecary in Taunton; but running away from his Master into Ireland, he became Illuminated, and returned a Preacher, but a very sorry and impertinent one. He usually in his Pulpit told the People all the News that was going; which, however, is not so much to be wonder'd at, since a great many of them commonly told it to God Almighty himself. A Third who came to Tarcombe, was one Galpin, an Independent, who was the Person that gave up this Living to Mr. Chase on the Restoration. There was also one Sharpe here upon this Living, during some part of the Usurpation; but how to rank him in order of Time, I know not.

CLARK, EDMOND, A. M. Buchorn-Weston, R.

I have no other ground for this Sequestration, than that I find him Imprison'd (and therefore I believe Sequestred) in London. Quere.

CLARK, ROGER, A. M. Asmore, R. Or Ashmore
See Salisbury-Cathedral.

CLARK, THOMAS, . Hoſtlebury-Brian, R.

He was admitted to this Living about the Year 1618, and Dispossess'd for no other Crime than his Loyalty: For he was a Person of such an unblemish'd Reputation, that no serious Matter of Scandal could be fixed on him, even in those worſt of Times. He was also no less than Thrice Plundered, and had a Temporal Estate of betwixt 3 and 400 l. per Annum, which was likewise put under Sequestration; and this afterwards was possibly pleaded as a Bar against his Right to the Fifths, which I find he could never Recover. By these means he was reduced to such Necessities, that he could scarce get Bread for his Family. But his greateſt Loss of all, was, that of a Hopeful Son, who was in Orders, and a Person of great Courage and Loyalty; and who was shot to Death upon the Road, in the Year 1644. Between Hoſtlebury and Weymouth.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Clark dy'd during ſome part of the Uſurpation; which gave occaſion to Mr. James Rawſon the Intruder, to lay claim to the Living on the King's Return: But his Majeſty's Commiſſioners would not by any means allow him to keep it; becauſe he had ſaid in a Sermon, that the Queen Mother was a Whore, and all her Children Baſtards; and had publickly pray'd that God would Root out the Royal Family Root and Branch. Both which appear from the Original Inſtrument of the Commiſſioners, which diſpoſſeſs'd him, and which is remaining to this Day.

CROUCH, JAMES, . . Himon-Martel, R. worth 100 l. per Ann.

His Wife and Three Children were reduc'd to Great Extremity; inſomuch that they were forc'd to ſell all their Goods, and afterwards the Mother work'd hard to Subſiſt her ſelf and her Children till they were grown up, and able to aſſiſt in getting their own Maintenance. Mr. Crouch was alſo Twice in Priſon; once in the County-Jayl, and once at Weymouth; from which latter Place he made his Eſcape, and Fled to the King's Army. He liv'd to ſee the Happy Year 1660, being Supported by the Charity of the Generous Mr. Freake of North-Wiltſhire, and was with ſome Trouble Reſtor'd to his Living the Year following. So that as he was thought to be the Firſt Sufferer, he was alſo the Laſt reſtor'd in this County.

DURHAM.

CARR, THOMAS, D. D. Aickliffe, V. He had alſo the Rectory of Hugget in Yorkſhire. Whether he loſt that likewiſe, quære. See Durham-Cathedral.

CHAPMAN, ROBERT, A. M. Boldon, R. worth 150*l. per Ann.*

CLARK, GABRIEL, D.D. Erſington, R. And Gretham-Hoſpital. . . . . } .

See Durham-Cathedral.

COOPER, MATTHEW, A. M. Dalton, V.

See the Cathedral of Durham, and quære.

COSIN, JOHN, D. D. Bramepeth, R. worth 300*l. per Ann.*

See Peterborough-Cathedral.

ESSEX.

CHERRY, EDWARD, . Much-Holland, R.

He is the Sixth Perſon mention'd in White's Century, where he is Rank'd among the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts, for Obſerving and Vindicating the Rubricks and Canons of the Church, and Defending, as I apprehend, the Book of Sports; as likewiſe for Aſſerting in his Sermons, that Baptiſm waſheth away Original Sin; and that all Men may be ſaved if they will. Nor was it poſſible that ſuch a Perſon as this could be other than a common Drunkard: But the whole is interpreted by what followeth; for he had Libell'd the Earls of Eſſex, Warwick and Holland, and affirm'd that he never knew any good the Parliament did, unleſs it was to Rob the Country, and pick their Purſes. He had alſo beaken himſelf to his Majeſty's Army, which they call'd Deſerting of his Cure. But however Scandalous Mr. White thought him, two ancient Gentlemen who Perſonally knew him, aſſured me, they never heard any Charge of Immorality againſt him! Which ſeems abundantly confirm'd by what one of them further added, that he was pitcht upon to Preach before the Biſhop at the Firſt Viſitation after the Reſtoration: At which time, as he made a Learned Diſcourſe on the Occaſion, ſo the Biſhop paid him great Reſpect, as did many of the Country Gentlemen then preſent. And the whole of White's Charge againſt him ſeems ſufficiently accounted for, by the Character which they added of him; That he was a brisk bold Man, not afraid to aſſert his Profeſſion and Loyalty, nor aſhamed of his ſuffering for it. He was put under Sequeſtration about the Year 1643, by the Houſe of Commons, who at the ſame time ſubſtituted one Anth. Lapthorne in his room. During the Remainder of the Rebellion and Uſurpation, Mr. Cherry was ſupported by Charity; and when he return'd to his Living in 1660, found his Parſonage-Barn burnt down, and the other Buildings quite run to Decay: So that he could not for ſome Years at leaſt reap the Benefit of his Living after he was Reſtor'd to it. That Succeſſor of his, through whoſe Careleſneſs the Barns were burnt down, was one Dowell, who was confidently reported to have been a Weaver; as is well remember'd by this remarkable Story: When they were Reforming the Church, and among other things for that purpoſe, pulling down the Font, one of the Fellows that were preſent, had Boldneſs enough to tell Mr. Dowell, that it would make a Rare thing for him to wind Quills in.

CHERRY, ——, . Oſeth, . He is a different Perſon, as far as I can learn, from that Mr. Cherry before mention'd.

CHILDERY, JOHN, D. D. Sheinfield, R.

The Houſe put in one Henry Goodyear to ſucceed him here. See the Liſt of London.

CLAY, TIMOTHY, . ——, . About 1644, for a Scandalous Life.

CLUTTERBUCK, ——, . Woodham-Ferris, R.

He out-liv'd the Uſurpation; and was not only Reſtor'd, but got alſo the Rectory of Danbury in this County.

COLLINS SAMUEL, D. D. Braintree, R.

He had been admitted to this Living Feb. 15, 1610. See King's-College in Cambridge.

CORNELIUS, JOHN, B. D. Peldon, R. And Clavering, V. . . . . } Are one of both theſe Names in the Church of Lichfield, and quære

He was alſo Plundered of all his Goods within doors doors and without, to the Value of Four hundred Pounds. It could not indeed be expected that they ſhould ſpare his Library, but they might very well have let alone (as they did not) his Wife's Cobbled-linnen, ſeeing ſhe was great with Child, and in danger, by the Fright ſhe took at their coming, to have Occaſion to make uſe them before her due Time. Upon this, Mr. Cornelius ſends his Servant to the Mayor of Colcheſter, making Complaint; and accuſing the Plunderers by Name; The Mayor knew that ſomebody deſerved Commitment, but had the ill Luck to be miſtaken in the Perſon; for inſtead of the Plunderers, he Commits Mr. Cornelius's Man to the Jayl, where he is Lodg'd for a Malignant, until his Maſter (plundered of his Man too, came and Bailed him. After which Mr. Cornelius applies himſelf to another Juſtice, gets the Plunderers Apprehended, but could not prevent their being admitted to Bail, notwithſtanding they were taken up for Felony. When the Seſſions came, the Grand-Jury not only found the Bill, but the Fellows themſelves in open Court confeſſed the Fault; Notwithſtanding which the Petty-Jury found the Indictment againſt the King: At which the Court enraged, turned them back again; but they ſoon returned with the ſame Offenders, and brought it in Ignoramus; and in defence of ſuch ſhameleſs Perjury, told the Court, they did not think Plundering (a New name for an old Treaſon) to be Felony by Law; but being ſoon beaten out of that, and Ten of them Convinced, the other Two Honeſtly owned their Reaſons for the Verdict, to this effect; that they were Malignants Gobbs, and that the Parliament had given power to Plunder ſuch: But when they were deſired to produce that Order, they came at laſt to this Reſult, that the Men Arraigned at the Bar were honeſt Men, that they had an Intent to do them Favour, and they would do it. Upon which the Bench bind over the Jurors, and order Mr. Cornelius to Indict the Criminals at the next Seſſions on another foot, which was again done, and the Bill found again by the Grand Jury; but it came to nothing; for the Sheriff could get none upon the Petty Jury but Separatiſts, who attended there that day to be of the Jury, and profeſſed openly, that they ſtayed there to ſave the Priſoners. Happy Men theſe! that may commit Murthers, Robberies, and Theft: and yet ſcan no Condemnation, either at the Tribunal of God or Man; for it was a common Doctrine at that time, that God ſees no ſin in his Children. Mr. Cornelius ſurvived the Reſtoration, and was re-inſtated in both his Livings; but in * in 1667 quitted the former of them, and died poſſeſs'd of the Latter in 1674. His Succeſſor at Peldon, on the Sequeſtration, was one Ongue, the Lady Eden's Coachman.

Mem. Reſt. p. 28.

* Perhaps in 1662: For March 12, that Year (being then D.D.) he was Preferred to the Rectory of Meldon in Hertfordſhire. Nonc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 848. Chauncy Antiq. p. 519

CRAKENTHORP, GEO. . Bradwell, next Coggeſhall, R.

He was Charged with being a Common Tippler, and often Drunk.

CROSS, JOHN, . ——, . About the ſame time, for Scandal in Life and Doctrine.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

COKE, JOHN, . Whitborne, R. } And Roſs, R. worth 250 l. per Ann. . . . }

The Charge againſt him was a Scandalous Life, and being an Incendiary againſt the Parliament. He was Diſpoſſeſſed of the former Living by the Committee of Hereford, September 24, 1646; and ſucceeded in the latter by the famous Mr. Tombs. See Hereford-Cathedral.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

CLERK, JOHN, . * North-Mimes, V. He was alſo for his Loyalty Baniſhed into one of the Caribbee-Iſlands. Some of his Family came at laſt to be Relieved; by the Charity of the Corporation juſt now mentioned.

* This I truly take to be the Living which he Left

CRAVEN, ISAAC; B. D. Ware, V. He was a very great Sufferer, and ſeveral Times Impriſoned. His Family were reduced ſo low, that his Widow at length received the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. He was a Perſon of great Piety, Learning and Loyalty, as I have ſeen Atteſted under the Hands of ſome of our greateſt Divines, who perſonally knew him.

He had been admitted to this Vic. in 1614. Nonc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 904.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

——, ——, . Catworth Magna, R.

He died under the Uſurpation. The Intruder was one Anderſon; who kept the Living after the Reſtoration, and died Poſſeſs'd of it about the Year 1703. 'Tis very obſervable, that tho' he had the Portions of Four Wives, and an Eſtate of 20 l. per Ann. yet he always lived ſo miſerably Poor, that his Goods were ſeveral Times ſeized for Debt, and among them his Books; which were ſo very ordinary, that they were ſold for waſte Paper. Nor was his Poverty owing to the largneſs of his Family; for I cannot learn that he had more than Three Children; one of which he bound Apprentice to a Tanner; nor could he afford him Money enough to ſet up that Trade, ſo that at length he went into the Guards. His other Two Children lived moſtly on Alms.

KENT.

CASAUBON, MERIC. D. D. Ickham, R.

See Canterbury-Cathedral.

* CHASE, ——, . Stone, R. For Delinquency. See Middleſex, and Quare. One William Pierce had Stone in 1654; and in 1657, unleſs I miſtake, one John Price came to it.

* Or Chaſſe.

CONWAY,

Digitized by Google

CONWAY, THOMAS, . ——, .
Some of his Family afterwards begg'd the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, and were Relieved among the Sequeſtred Families. In the Petition for that purpoſe, he is ſaid to have been late of Wickling in Kent; whether he got that Living after the Death of Mr Culpepper (who died under the Uſurpation) and ſo made a ſecond Sufferer in it, or whether it was any other Living which he loſt, I know not. This is ſure, that he was utterly undone. And theſe are all the Grounds that I have, as well for Ranking him in this County, as in this Liſt.

Whom ſee before.

COPELY, JOHN, . Pluckney, R.
Sequeſtred by the Houſe, about September 1643; at which Time they order'd Sam. Immat to ſucceed him.

COUCH, JOHN, . Horſmanden, R.
Good old Dr. Aubery had been Sequeſtred and forced from this Living about the beginning of the Troubles; at which Time one Elleſton ſucceeded in it; but the Doctor dying about Five or Six Years after, the Patroneſs preſented this Mr. Couch, who made a ſhift ſome way or other to get Poſſeſſion of it, and kept it till about the Year * 1653; at which time he was alſo Sequeſtred from it, and ſo makes a Second Sufferer here. What his other Accuſations were I know not; but I have ſeen one of the Informations againſt him, which conſiſts wholly of his having ſhown his Diſlike of Preaching in the Afternoon; but it was made by one, who could not ſo much as write his Name. Mr. Couch had at the time of his Sequeſtration, a Wife and Six or Seven Children, but he had the Allowance of 20 l. per Ann. (which I preſume was his Fifths) badly enough paid, for their Maintenance. He outlived the Uſurpation, and demanded his Living again of the Intruder, one Edward Rawſon, a New-England-Man, and a violent Preſbyterian: This Rawſon, as he had immediately ſucceeded Mr. Couch, ſo he was reſolved to have continued in the Living if he could, and therefore gave him a great deal of Trouble to Diſpoſſeſs him. After which the Malice of the Party ran ſo high, that they got one Oſburn to indict Mr. Couch of Symony; of which he acquitted himſelf ſo well, that he recover'd conſiderable Damages of his Proſecutor, moſt of which however he generouſly remitted to him; having the Charity not only to forgive him, but alſo to be fully reconciled to him; at which the Party were not a little grieved. I have now before me one of the moſt bitter and invoterate Letters, that ever I read in my Life, from a broken Shop-Keeper, then a Diſſenting Preacher in London) wrote to one of Horſmanden-Pariſh, with a deſign to render him Implacable againſt Mr. Couch his Miniſter, and the whole Church of England. The Letter is filled with the vileſt Reproaches and Railing that can be imagined, and deeply laments the making up of that Buſineſs. Mr. Couch was a very Sober, Learned and Judicious Man; and during his Sequeſtration wrote a little Treatiſe againſt the Anabapriſts, which it ſeems to this Day abound in that Country.

Whom ſee before.

* I find Rawſon Preſented to it in 1655

CREYGHTON, JOHN, D. D. or Crichton. Greenwich, V.

He was Brother to Dr. Creyghton of Wells, afterwards Biſhop there; and very well beloved by the Gentry of this County: For which Reaſon he was choſen to be the firſt Sequeſtred in it. After which he fled in Diſguiſe to his Brother at Wells, who got him the little Place of Clupton on Mendip-hills; where ſome Soldiers with drawn Swords came to demand the Malignant Miniſter, but no Pariſhioners would diſcover him. An honeſt Smith hard by, had his Cheeks all cut down and miſerably Hack'd, for ſaying, that if he did know where the loweſt Doctor was, he would not diſcover him.

One John Creighton is reckoned among thoſe who turned Roman Catholicks, in the Time of the Rebellion. See the Legend. Lign. and Quatre.

CRISPE, HENRY, . Newchurch, R.

For his Loyalty: He was likewiſe Plunder'd of all his Goods, and threaten'd to be Hang'd. He left his Wife in ſo mean a Condition, that ſhe was forced to ſupport her ſelf by hard Labour, and came at laſt to beg Relief of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

LANCASHIRE.

CLARE, ——, D. D. Walton, R. worth, according to common Eſtimation, 400 l. per Annum.

He was Sequeſtred in 1644, was at that time (or had been) Chaplain to his Majeſty, and was a very Learned and Worthy Perſon. He died, as I preſume, before the Reſtoration.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

CAVE, JOHN, . Pickwell, R. He was the Father of the moſt Learn'd and Incomparable Dr. Cave of Windſor, and Third Son of John Cave, Eſq; He was Born in this Pariſh, and Educated at Lincoln-College in Oxford; where he was Chamber-fellow with the famous Dr. Sanderſon for eight Years. After he was ſetled here in his Native Pariſh, he attended his Miniſterial Cure with great Diligence, and liv'd in great Eſteem and Reſpect with all his Neighbours, till the Breaking out of the Great Rebellion in the Year 1642. The firſt Attack that was made upon him, was when the Parliament ſent a Regiment to be Quarter'd about that Place, where Six Troopers with their Horſes were Quarter'd upon him; who continu'd off and on for a Year or two. They firſt attempted him by way of Diſpute, concerning the Liturgy and Conſtitution of the Church of England, which paſs'd in Writing, by way of Objection and Anſwer: But finding they were like to do little Good that way, they betook themſelves to rougher Methods. They ravag'd his Houſe, and Abus'd his Children and Servants, demanded Unreaſonable Proviſions to be made for them; and would ſometimes take up a good Diſh of Meat from the Table, and Throw it upon the Ground, becauſe not Cook'd, or Dreſs'd up to their Humour and Palate; they debauched ſome of the Servants; and when Complaint was made of it to ſome of the Neighbouring Juſtices, and to ſome of their Superiour Officers, no Remedy could be had. Not content with this, when

Was not this Dragooning in the moſt literal ſenſe?

Digitized by Google

'when three or four of their Horſes were ſtolen 'one Night out of the Stable, they Accus'd him 'of the Theft, carry'd him to their Head-Quarters, 'and Tried him at a Council of War for his Life; 'and were ready to paſs Sentence upon him, when 'Colonel Ireton coming ſuddenly in, and Exa'mining into the matter, ſuſpected there was 'ſome Villany in it; as indeed it afterwards ap'pear'd, that they were ſtolen, by ſome of their 'own Party. Whereupon he put a Stop to their 'Proceedings, and diſmiſs'd him. When this 'would not do, they fell a tampering with the 'Pariſhioners, to try if they could Prefer and 'bring Articles againſt him; but at preſent they 'could find none for their Purpoſe; and becauſe 'he ſtill perſiſted in a firm Loyalty to the King, 'and unſhaken Zeal for the Church of England, 'praying for the Biſhops after they had been Vo'ted down by the Parliament, they one time came 'into the Church, and diſcharged a Piſtol at him 'then in the Pulpit: And at another time plucked 'him out of the Pulpit, and pulled his Gown over 'his Ears. After ſeveral Attempts to get Falſe Witneſſes, they at laſt corrupted Three or Four, 'a Taylor, a Miller, a Weaver, and one more: 'Whereupon Articles were drawn up, ſubſcrib'd, 'and ſworn to before the Committee of Leiceſter; 'tho' ſome of them afterwards upon their Death-Beds ſent for him, and profeſs'd they could not die, 'till they had Declar'd, that they had been Sub'orn'd to Teſtify and Swear againſt him. Some 'Years Matters hung in this Way; he being 'banded from Committee to Committee, tho' the 'Clearneſs of his Caſe was ſuch, that they could 'bring it to no Concluſion. By this time one of 'the Committee of Leiceſter had combin'd with 'one Wells an Independent Preacher, who having 'a Son brought up a Silk-Weaver in New-Eng'land, ſent for him over to be marry'd to the 'Committee-Man's Daughter, and the Rectory of 'Pickwell was pitch upon for the Portion for his 'Daughter. And now Matters were puſh'd on 'with more Vigour: But finding that little good 'would be done at Country-Committees, the Cauſe 'was remov'd to London, and brought before the 'Committee of the Houſe of Commons; where Mr. 'Cave was adviſ'd to retain Bradſhaw for his 'Counſel; who at firſt told him that his Caſe was 'Clear and Good: But being tamper'd with the 'Night before the Trial, by the Oppoſite Party, 'he told him the next Morning, he much fear'd 'how his Caſe would go; and Two of his near 'Kinſmen, both Members of the Houſe, Sir Wil'liam Armyn, and Sir Arthur Haſlerigg (the only 'Two he was related to of that Party) firmly 'promis'd him to be at the Committee, and to 'ſupport his Cauſe; but both of them thought fit 'to be Abſent. Accordingly the Cauſe went a'gainſt him; and an Order was directed to the 'Committee in the Country to Diſpoſſeſs him; 'who ſent a File of Muſqueteers, and Turned Fa'ther, Mother, and Six Children out of Doors at 'once, not ſuffering the Neighbours to take them in, 'nor to have one Bit of Bread, nor Draught of 'Drink out of their own Houſe. And now, hav'ing made clean Work of it, a Parcel of Itine'rant Preachers were ſent to Pickwell, to mock 'God with a Day of Thankſgiving, that the Peo'ple were deliver'd from ſuch an Ignorant, Un'learn'd, and Unſkilful Teacher. He and his 'Family notwithſtanding were entertained by the 'Neighbours for the preſent, though they were 'not ſuffer'd long to continue there, nor He to 'Teach School there or elſewhere. Whereupon he 'took up his Dwelling near Stamford; where 'not being ſuffer'd to abide long, he remov'd up 'to London; when being broken with Age and 'Sufferings, and worn out with long and tedious 'Winter Journeys, from Committee to Committee, 'he departed this Life about the Beginning of 'Novemb. 1657. I ſhall only add, that I am o'blig'd to his moſt Excellent Son Dr. William Cave, for this Account; and beg leave here to pay him my moſt humble Thanks for the great Favour of it.

CHAMBERLAIN, FRANCIS, . Rotherby, R.

CLEAVELAND, THOMAS, A. M. Stoke, R. And Hinckley, V. . . . . .

He was a very great Sufferer, was Father to the Famous John Cleaveland the Poet, and had at the time of his Sequeſtration Nine Children (ſeveral of which, beſides the Poet, were Sufferers alſo;) but how many of them were then provided for, I know not. He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Committee of Leiceſter, Died in Oct. 1652, and was a very worthy Perſon, and of a moſt Exemplary Life.

COTTON, SAMUEL, . North-Kilworth, R.

CRADOCK, MOUNTJOY, . Hallaughton, R.

He ſuffered much in other kinds, beſides that of Sequeſtration; his Relief after the Reſtoration not having wherewithal to pay his Debts, much leſs to ſuſtain her ſelf, was Reliev'd by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

CAMMOCK, WILLIAM, . St. Nicholas in Stamford, .

For Neglect of Cure, and Frequenting Alehouſes; but then the Sting in the Tail is Malignancy.

CHAPPELL, ——, . ——, . See the Note at Dr. Bayly, at the End of the Counties under the Letter B.

His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; for which he compounded at an Hundred Pounds.

CLERK, WILLIAM, . North-Scarle, R.

He was alſo Impriſoned, and ſo great a Sufferer, that he was quite Impoveriſh'd by his Troubles.

COOK, ——, . St. George's in Stamford, .

Sequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester about 1644, for Preaching up Obedience to his Majeſty, from Rom. 13; for Flying from the Rebels, and Refuſing to Aſſiſt in the Rebellion.

COUP, JOHN, . Corringham, V. Sequeſtred for Reading Common-Prayer. He was a Perſon of a Fair Character.

——, ——, . North-Coates, R.

See the Note at Atherton in Suſſex, under the Letter A.

Digitized by Google

CRANWELL, ADAM, . Rippingale, R.

MIDDLESEX.

CHASE, ——, . Enfield, V. I find him sent for as a Delinquent, and his Temporal Estate put under Sequestration. Which, as it is the only, so I presume, it is a sufficient Ground to conjecture, that he was Sequestred from his Living also. However, quære further; especially considering no Vicar of this Name occurs in Mr. Newcourt's Repertor. See also one of this Name in Kent, and quære.

Vol. I. p. 602.

CHESHIRE, RICHARD, D. D. Hyston, V.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 646. See him in the List of London.

CLEWET, RICHARD, D. D. Fulham, V.

Ibid. p. 609. See St. Paul's.

One Rowland Stedman was preferred to this Living in 1614.

COOK, THOMAS, . Hanwell, R. The Sequestred Rector of this Living is, unless I very much mistake, in the Books of the Commissioners for the Approbation of Publick Preachers, call'd Thomas; but no such Person occurs in Mr. Newcourt's List of the Rectors of this Church. One Jonas Cook is there mentioned, and that too in the just Period of Time, which might render him a Sufferer: So that I am inclined to believe * he was the Person who was Sequestred. But if after all, the Name of the Sequestred Person was Thomas, it may be he had only the Title of the Times; which might be the reason why Mr. Newcourt did not find his Name. See one Thomas Cook mention'd by Mr. Newcourt, Rep. Eccles. p. 53.

Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 626.

* And if so, see the Church of Wells, and quære.

This Jonas Cook mention'd by Mr. Newcourt, had also the Living of Burfled Parva in Essex. Ibid.

COOPER, ROBERT, L. L. B. Yealing, V.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 764. He had been Admitted to this Living Oct. 13, 1638. He seems to have been Ejected (for I have no direct Information of his Sequestration, and therefore quære) and to have Died during his Sufferings.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

CALLINGTON, NATH. . Caldicotte, V.

Sequestred some time before 1649. After the Restoration he had the Living of Boughton in Kent.

For his and the next Living, see the Note as Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire, under the Letter A.

——, ——, . * Caerwent, R.

——, ——, . Chepstoll, .

* Ord. CLARK, WILLIAM, . Dixton, * R. He was Dispossell by the same Commissioners, for Malignancy and Drunkenness.

CLEGGE, JOHN, . Langinby, R. He was Turned out by the Commissioners for Propagation. His Crimes are thus Express'd; for Quitting his Habitation in the time of the Wars, when ever the Parliament-Forces came near; for betaking himself to the late Tyrant's Service against the State, and sending to the Bishops in prosecution of Godly People, being an Officer under them. To which is also added, his not being able to Preach in Welch. There was a Gentleman of both these Names commended to the University of Oxford by the Chancellour, to be Created D. D. in the Year 1663, for his good Affections to the King and Church. He was not then Personally present; and so whether he afterwards appear'd, or was Diplomated, I know not. If he was the same Person with this Sufferer, as to me seems probable, then 'tis plain he not only Survived the Year 1660, but was also a Person of Note and Consideration.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811.

——, ——, . Clytha Penros, and Tregare, .

——, ——, . * Coed-Coreny, .

* For this and the former Livings, see the Note as Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire, under the Letter A.

NORFOLK.

CAMPBELL, THOMAS, . Swafield, R.

An Ancient Clergyman who Personally knew him, and that too under his Sufferings, hath informed me, that after he was Sequestred, and Driven from this Living by the Earl of Manchester, about 1643, he retired to the Neighbouring Village of Bradfield, and there lived in a Poor Cott; where this Clergyman not long after made him a Visit, in a Season of very cold Frost and deep Snow. He found him in his Study reading of Gerhard's Harmony. He had with him at that time a Wife and Four Children, without Fire or Firing. This Clergyman being weary and dry with his Walk, took the Freedom to ask him for a Draught of Beer: Upon which Mr. Campbell took him to the Window, and pointing to a little Rill which ran by the House, told him he might go there and drink as much as he pleased; for that himself had had no other Liquor to drink for some Months past. After which his Friend ask'd him for something to Eat; to which Mr. Campbell reply'd, that he had neither * Bread, nor Butter, nor Cheese, nor Fish, nor Flesh in his House; and that he had wanted all these, and Firing also, for many Weeks: But leading him to an old Churn, and opening it, he shew'd him two or three Puddings, which, he said, were made of Barley (and indeed their Colour and the Coarseness of their Looks abundantly confirm'd it;) upon which (as hard and cold as Frost could make them) and Water, Mr. Campbell assur'd his Friend he had liv'd for some time. And when his Friend seem'd to doubt how himself should bear up under such Circumstances, if God should think fit to cast him into them, Mr. Campbell, with a surprizing Chearfulness, told him, that if God once call'd him to Suffering, he would enable him, as he had himself, with Courage and Contentedness to undergo it: And the whole of his Discourse was with such an Heroical Christian Bravery, and with such an Elated Sprightliness, as if he had just then been advanc'd to some

* The Abridgment P. 321, mentions one Mr. Chadwick of Winsford in Somersetshire, who had little but Rye-Bread, &c. under which late Temptation he conformed. Mr. Campbell had no Bread at all, and confesses, of Little, God nothing but this Barley-Pudding, and not provided in his integrity

Great

Great Honour or Happineſs. Nor were theſe the worſt of his Circumſtances: For he muſt at laſt have ſtarv'd outright, had not this Gentleman with the Aſſiſtance of ſome Friends, ſupported him until the Reſtoration; the happy Effects of which he liv'd but a little while to Enjoy, as dying about a Year or two after. He had been a Soldier under Guſtavus Adolphus, and was a Stout, as well as a Prudent, and Honeſt Man, a very good Scholar in moſt Parts of Learning, very Hoſpitable whilſt he held his Living, a perfect honeſt Man in all his Dealings; very patient and chearful under the double Misery of his Sequeſtration, and the Strangury: All which made his Memory grateful in his Parish, as it continues to this very Day.

CARTER, STEPHEN, . Horſford, V.

He had a Wife and Three Children. I think alſo that he had a Leaſehold Eſtate of 5 l. per annum, which was Sequeſtred.

CATHERALL, EDWARD, . Larbruck, V.

He had a Wife and Four Children.

CATLIN. ———, . Brinton, R.

CLAPHAMSON, ROB. . Boughton, V.
And
Hamworth *, ...

* It may be Honworth, V

He was very Ancient at the time of his Sequeſtration.

CLAXTON, HAMMON, . Holt, R.
worth 100 l. per annum,
And
Rotesby, . worth 200 l. per ann.

In 1646, one John Bond was Preſented to Holt.

I find one of this Name ſent for into Cuſtody by the Houſe of Commons; but I cannot ſay he is the ſame Perſon. There are ſome Grounds for making it a Quære, whether he did not alſo loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 60 l. per annum.

COLEBY, ———, D. D. Lauſton, R.
worth 100 l. per annum,
And
Eldon, R. worth 150 l. per annum.

He had a Wife and Five Children; and, if I miſtake not, his Temporal Eſtate alſo of 200 l. a Year, was put under Sequeſtration.

* If I miſtake not, this was his Living.

COOPER, THOMAS, . * Edgefield, R.

He was alſo School-maſter at Holt in this County; was try'd at Norwich (deſignedly) on a Chriſtmas-day, about the Year 1650, as I take it, and Executed before his School-Door, for being concern'd in a Riſing in favour of his Majeſty; although the whole Evidence againſt him amounted to no more than bare Preſumption; and that too extorted from one of his Fellow-Priſoners whoſe Name was William Hobart) by a Promiſe of his Pardon; inſtead of which, the Day following they got one Armſtrong to witneſs againſt Hobart himſelf, and Executed him alſo.

CRANSHAY, THOMAS, . Hardwick, R.

Turn'd out Apr. 28, 1644, by the Earl of Manchester, for obſerving the Orders of the Church. Diſwading his Pariſhioners from aſſiſting in the Rebellion, and ſaying the Parliament are Lay-men, and have no Power to order Religion or Church-Government. He had at that time a Wife and Ten Children, the youngeſt of which was not above Three years old. He was alſo very poor, and by Conſequence when Sequeſtred, was with this Numerous Family turned a Begging.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

CANON, PETER, . Ruſhton St. Peters, R.

He was an excellent Scholar, a good Preacher, and of a good Life; and was turned out for reading Common-Prayer.

CANON, THOMAS, B.D. Brampton, R. worth near 300 l. per Ann. Quære if not D. D.

He was a Native of the County of Surrey, and Educated at Jeſus-College in Cambridge; where he became Fellow, and went through ſeveral of the Offices of that Houſe. He had been admitted to this Living in the Year 1643, from which he was again driven by the Soldiers: After which he betook himſelf to his Majeſty's Army under the Earl of Northampton, and was a Chaplain in it. In 1660, he was reſtored to his Living, afterwards became Prebendary of Carliſle, Viz. in 1632. and either Reſidentiary, or at leaſt Prebendary, of York alſo. His firſt Succeſſor in this Living was one T———, who was Preſented and Inſtituted by the ſame Power and Patrons, who had drove away Mr. Canon: He was the Son of a Poor Sadler in Northampton, was commonly known by the Name of Drunken Dick, and uſed to be Camp-Chaplain to the Garriſon, in their Plundering Excurſions. He had been Puniſhed, with ſome of his Company-keepers (which were Taſters, &c.) by the Juſtices for Drunkenneſs, and was ſo notorious for that (as well as ſuſpected for another) Crime, that the Pariſh, on a Complaint, got him removed; and had in his room one I———, a Beardleſs Boy (who had been one Year at Cambridge) and uncapable of the Living by Statute. His Father was a poor Ale-houſe-Keeper in Northampton, and had been many Years in Priſon. Theſe were the worthy Succeſſors of Mr. Canon; who was a Learned Divine, an Excellent Preacher, and of a good Life and Converſation; inſomuch that his Pariſh had not the leaſt Complaint againſt him, but deſired to have him continued among them.

He hath a Copy of Verſes Extant on ſome of the Cambridge Poems.

COLSTER, ———, . ———, .
A Gentleman of this Name was, if I miſtake not, Sequeſtred ſomewhere in this County. However Quære further.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

CLAPERTON, JOHN, . Woodborne, V. Value 120 l. per Ann.

CLERK,

I judge this is a fixed and settled Lecture, and Equivalent to a Benefice. If not, I am willing to Discount him, and Place him in the Appendix with the Curates.

CLERK, JOHN, . Curate and Lecturer of St. Andrews (I presume in New-Caſtle) worth 80 l. per Ann.

He was alſo Plunder'd.

CLERK, JOHN, . Carham, .

This is a ſmall Place worth about 30 l. per Ann. It may be Mr. Clerk before mentioned, got it after he was turned out of the Lecture, but was not permitted to tarry long in it. If ſo, being the ſame Perſon, this muſt be added to the Lecture above; and therefore Quære.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

CARRINGTON, ——, . Ruddington, V.

One Joſ. Truman ſucceeded in this Living in 1654.

OXFORDSHIRE.

CLOPTON, ROUS, . Bampton. V. The Third Portion.

COLE, THOMAS, . Heyford, R.

He was Son to Dr. Cole ſome time Preſident of Corpus-Chriſts College in Oxford, and Dean of Lincoln. He had been Fellow of that College, and was by the College preſented to this Living. He was Ouſted, as I have been aſſured, by Perjury. His Pariſhioners at this Day give him the Character of an Honeſt, Sober, Blameleſs Good Man as lived. After his Sequeſtration he retir'd to Kirtlington, where he ſpent the remainder of his Days, which did not reach to the Year 1660. I have been informed, that he hath a Son now living in the Iſle of Wight, who hath a very fair Eſtate of many Hundred Pounds per Ann. One of his Daughters was married to Biſhop Grove; and the Bleſſing of God, as I have heard, was remarkably conſpicuous upon the reſt of his Family. His firſt Succeſſor was an Army-Preacher, ' who went by the Name of Captain Butler. He lived altogether at Dadington, Three ' Miles diſtant; by which means the Parſonage-' Houſe became Ruinous. They ſay the Reaſon ' of his living there, was becauſe he kept ſome ' Vile Strumpets about that Town. He came ' over generally on Sundays, and appeared with ' his Coat and Sword: When he was to perform ' the Office of a Preacher, he diſcourſed about ' binding Kings in Chains, ſuch Honour have all ' his Saints. But he was ſo Lewd and Vitious, ' and guilty of ſo much Debauchery, that it is ' ſaid he deſtroy'd his Wife (who was a comely ' Perſon) by giving her the French Diſeaſe, by ' which means likewiſe he loſt his own Life. Afterwards one Mr. John Dodd had this Living, who was firſt in direct Oppoſition to the Statutes of the College being indeed a Native of the County of Eſſex; put into a Fellowſhip of C.C.C. by the Viſitors, and afterwards by the College, thus now Model'd, preſented to this Living. He had the misfortune not to be beloved by his Neighbours, being accounted a Contentious Perſon. He was alſo cenſured as ſevere to his Wife; and never adminiſtred the Sacrament to his Pariſhioners during his whole Stay among them; alledging that they were not fit for it: So that it ſeems all the Preachers of this ſort, have not ſo many Scales to their Miniſtry, as they commonly talk of.

COLE, ——, . Steple-Aſton, R.

He was Son of Mr. Cole now mentioned, and ſucceeded, as I preſume, on the Death of Dr. Radcliffe; ſo that he makes a Second Sufferer in this Living. He was turned out for being in the Two Newberry Fights.

Whom ſee afterwards.

COXETER, NICHOLAS, . Dunſtew, V.

One of his Succeſſors was Edward Goodwyn, and in 1655, one Tho. Quinſy was preſented to the Living.

COXON, HENRY, . Sandford, V.

I have no direct Information of this Gentleman's Sequeſtration, nor that this was his Living; but I gueſs both the one and the other, from his being mention'd as (ſometime at leaſt) of this Place, and the greatneſs of his Sufferings, inſerted at in the Petition of ſome of his Family to the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; by whom they were Relieved among the other Families of the Sequeſtred Clergy.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

CLOBBOURN, THOMAS, A.M. Moreton-Corbet, R.

He was forced to quit it. His Wife, then big with Child, was ſoon after laid, in a poor Cottage half a Mile diſtant; ſo that no doubt they had been alſo turned out of Doors. His firſt Succeſſor was one Gower, an idle, ſottiſh Fellow, whom the Pariſh ſoon after Articled againſt, and got him turned out.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

CAMPLIN, ——, . Kingſtan-Seymor, R.

He was never indeed actually Poſſeſs'd of the Living (and ſo is not to be look'd on as in an equal Rank with the reſt of the Clergy in this Liſt) but being preſented by the lawful Patron, he had an undoubted Right to it, and was utterly Deprived by the Iniquity of the Times. For going to London, to preſent himſelf before the Tryers, in order to get Admiſion to this Living, he was put off for ſome Weeks, and being at length wearyed of thoſe Delays, got a Friend to wait on Hugh Peters in his behalf, who very honeſtly asked the Gentleman this Queſtion, Hath thy Friend any Money? which Mr. Camplin took for a full, tho' not a ſatisfactory Anſwer, and preſently quitted his purſuit of the Living. He had been alſo Curate of Kilton, or Cutre, in this County; from which he was not only driven, but had alſo his Temporal Eſtate put under Sequeſtration.

CLEMENT, ROBERT, A.M. Dinnington, R. worth 100 l. per Ann.

His Goods were alſo ſeized; and he was not premitted to purchaſe them again. He was afterwards

Digitized by Google

terwards supported chiefly by the Lord Paulet of Hinton-St. George. He out-lived the Usurpation. His Loyalty is the more observable, for that his Brother was one of the Regicides, and was that Clement, who among others, had Justice done him on the King's Return.

Or Coath. COOTH, JOHN, A. M. Shepton-Mallet, R.
And
Corton, R. Both worth 200 l. per Ann. . . . . . .

See the Cathedral of Wells.

GOX, ——, . Chafcombe,
He furvived, and was Reſtored.

Or Creyghton. CRICHTON, ROBERT, D.D. —— .
Somewhere in this County. See the ſame Cathedral.

CUTHBERT, GEORGE, A. M. Stocklinch-Ottersey, R.

See the Cathedral of Wells.

CUTHBERT, WILLIAM, .
Brympton, R.

He was Admitted to this Living April 10, 1639, Vacant per Mort. Nich. Templeman; at the Preſentation of his Majeſty, in the Minority of John Sydenham, Eſq; (afterwards Sir John Sydenham, Baronet) and died before the Reſtoration.

SOUTHAMPTON.

CLERK, ——, . Andover, V.
He had alſo been ſummon'd before the Houſe for not admitting a Lecturer, and was likewiſe Impriſoned.

* See him in Surrey. * CLAPHAM, PAUL, . Martin-Worthy, R.

COTTEN, ——, . St. Thomas, .
He was alſo Plunder'd. See Winchester-Cathedral: If he was the ſame with him there mentioned, his Chriſtian Name was Edward.

COX, ——, D. D. Warnford, R.
Quere at Exeter and Chichester-Cathedrals, if he was the ſame Perſon who is there mentioned.

CROFFIELD, ——, .
Godshill, .

CROSS, ——, . Heckfield, V.

CUFFE, ——, . Fordingbridge, V. and the Chappelry of Ibſey.

One Richard Croffing had this Living.

I find one J. Cuffe Elected from Eaton to King's-College in 1614; and this Living being in the Gift of that College; I preſume he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

COOK, FRANCIS, . Toxal, R.
He ſurvived his Troubles, and Decem. 6, 1666, was admitted to the Arch-deaconry of Stafford.

SUFFOLK.

CANHOPE, ——, . Bridyard, . This Place is no other than a ſmall Cu-
He was alſo Plunderd. racy: But if it be a ſtated one, and equivalent with a Free-hold, Mr. Canhope to ſtand in their Liſt, if otherwiſe, he muſt be put in the Appendix.

CARTER, GEORGE, . Whatfield and Elmſett, R.

CATTESFORD, ROBERT, D. D.
Hadley and Monks-Ely, R.

See St. Paul's Cathedral.

CHAPMAN, SETH, . Haſketon, R.

Sequeſtred about 1644, for Popery, reading the Abſolution, and ſeveral inſtances of Malignancy.

CLARKE, ALEXANDER, .
Bredfield, V. . . . . .
Melton, R. . . . . .
And Iken, R. . . . . .

I take him to be the ſame who left all theſe Livings; and, as matters of which this probable he ſurrendred and laſt ſucceſſively: Of which kind I take Melton in particular to have been (for White mentions only Bredfield) and I ſuppoſe he obtained that Living after the Ejection of Mr. Pratt (whom ſee alſo in this County) and therefore I muſt leave it as a Quære, whether he had any other Title to it, than that of the Times, and add, that if Mr. Pratt was not dead, Mr. Clarke is to be looked on as Harraſſed only, and not Sequeſtred, with reſpect to that Living. One Alex. Clerke had ſometime the Vicaridge of Samet in Hertfordſhire. Nemo. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 283. One Richard Mayhew was Admitted to this Living in 1637.

CLAY, MATTHEW, . Chelſworth, * V.

*R. as I have been otherwiſe informed. Cent. p. 16.

He is another of White's Scandalous and Malignants Prieſts. His Charge is Non-Reſidence, Neglect and Deſertion of his Cure, keeping a Scandalous Drunken Curate, who had been ſet in the Stocks for Miſdemeanours; being himſelf alſo a Drunkard and common Swearer; and having permitted the Vicaridge-Houſe to be turn'd into a diſorderly Ale-Houſe: But then he had alſo neglected the Faſts, and expreſs'd great Malignancy againſt the Parliament, which I doubt was the only proof of all the other Articles. He lived to be Reſtored.

CLAYDON, ——, . Great Thurlow, V.

Digitized by Google

COLEMAN, NICHOLAS, : Preſton St. Mary's, .

He was Turn'd out July 23, 1644, for refuſing the Covenant, and Diſſwading his Neighbours alſo from taking it; for being given to keep Company; being overcome with Drink; ſwearing by his Faith and Troth; and being Popiſhly affected. The Proof of which laſt Article was his Holding the Lawfulneſs, &c. of uſing the Croſs in Baptiſm, and Bowing at the Name of Jeſus; but what was worſe than all, he had ſaid, that the Parliament denied the King his Rights.

* But he became ſo in 1646, which was after the Sequeſtration.

CROFTS, JOHN, * D. D. Barnham, ‡ R.R. worth 150 l. per annum, And Weſtow, R. . . . . }

‡ Viz. St. Gregory's and St. Martin's, which are ſeyned.

† Teddington in Bedfordſhire, ſaith Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 739.

He was Son to Sir Henry Crofts of † Saxham-Hall in Suffolk, and Younger Brother to William Lord Crofts; was firſt a Commoner of Lincoln-College in Oxford, from thence Elected to a Fellowſhip in All-Souls; was Preſented to thoſe Livings by his Father, and Diſpoſſeſt of the Former of them by the Earl of Manchester July 8, 1644, for Inveighing earneſtly in his Sermons and Diſcourſes againſt the Parliament and the Rebellion: Beſides which not the leaſt ſhadow of a Crime is objected againſt him. When he loſt his other Living, I do not find; but whenever it was, 'tis certain he retir'd to his Majeſty at Oxford, where he was Created D. D. June 23, 1646. After this he was wholly ſubſiſted by the Charity of his Friends, being never able more than Once to Recover any Fifths from the Intruder: But outliving the Uſurpation, he was by the Endeavours of his Brother the Lord Crofts, promoted to the Deanery of Norwich in Aug. 1660; where finding the Cathedral-Church and the Dean's Houſe much impaired, he ſpent a great Part of his Revenue in Repairing them; and moreover procured very conſiderable Sums from ſeveral of the Gentry towards the Repairs of the Former. He died poſſeſt of this Deanery July 27, 1670.

He was alſo Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majeſty.

He was a Man of a ſober Life and Converſation, no ways blemiſhed with any vicious Practices, a True and Loyal Subject to the King, and highly Conformable to the Doctrine and Diſcipline of the Church of England; as alſo a Perſon of a moſt Noble and Generous Temper. His Succeſſor at Barnham was one Legate, who had Perſonated Ignoramus in Cambridge, when that Play was Acted there before his Majeſty King James I. and continued ever after a Perfect Comedian in the Pulpit; ſeveral Stories of which kind I could let the Reader know, were it worth the while. Tho' he had never paid Dr. Crofts the Fifths any more than once, yet the Dr. Generouſly proffer'd him 50 l. a Year after he was Re-poſſeſt of his Living in 1660, on condition he would continue there and Serve the Cure. But having been inſtrumental in Bringing K. Charles I. to the Block, he was forced to Fly beyond the Seas, and ſettled in Maryland; the Governour of which Place told Dr. Crofts (who met him one Day by Chance, and enquired after Mr. Legate) that he had taken him into Cuſtody the very Morning he came away, for Heading a Faction, and, as it ſeems, Endangering a Tumult there. Dr. Crofts's Succeſſor at the other Living was one Edward Voice.

CROSBY, ——, . Laxfield, V.

SURREY.

CLAPHAM, PAUL, . Farnham, V. And Martin-Worthy, R. in Hampſhire. .

He hath moſt deſervedly a Place in White's Century, if what is there charged upon him be true; which is Adultery, and ſeveral Inſtances of Baſtardy. But whether this would have brought him under the Diſpleaſure of the Party, had he not call'd the Parliament Rebels and Traytors, and fled to the King's Army, I much queſtion. P. 46.

COMBER, THOMAS, D. D. Warpeſden, R.

See the Church of Carliſle.

CUTS, JOHN, . Barnes, R. He was Turned out by the Houſe about June 1643, and one T—— R——, by the ſame Authority, then Thruſt upon the Pariſh. He ſuffer'd in his Temporals alſo, for which I find him under Compoſition at the Sum of 40 l.

SUSSEX.

COX, ——, D. D. ——, : Somewhere in this County. See the Cathedrals of Chicheſter and Exeter. See Hampſhire alſo, and quære.

WARWICKSHIRE.

WESTMORLAND.

CURWEN, WILLIAM, A. M. Cloſeburn-Ravenſworth, V.

He had no Fifths paid him.

WILTSHIRE.

CHAFFIN, THOMAS, D. D. Fivent, R. And Meere, V. . . . . : .

See Salisbury-Cathedral.

CHARNBURY, ——, . Caſtlecomb, R.

He lived to be Reſtored.

CLARK, ——, . Maningford-Abbots, R.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Commiſſioners for Ejecting Sundry Ignorant and Inſufficient Miniſters, &c. about 1654, as I conjecture. Before his Ejectment he had Re-built great part of the Manſion-Houſe,

Digitized by Google

House, and cover'd it with Tiles; and in consideration of his Charges, he mov'd the Committee that he might continue in the House, though the Pulpit and Revenue were taken from him: But this could not be granted; only they allowed him to Name his Successor, provided he was such an one as they approv'd of. And accordingly one North was the Man, who upon the Restoration would have pass'd this Appointment of Mr. Clark's into a Resignation, and gave him the Trouble of a Suit at Law to Dispossess him. Mr. Clark was a Man of that Humility, Piety, Charity, and Universal Goodness, that his Name is not yet mention'd in those Parts without a particular Regard. He became at length one of the Prebendaries of Salisbury, but refused all further Preferment.

Or Commissioners.

It seems plain from my Informations, that he obtained this Prebend after the Restoration, but (as I believe, it is a Mistake: For I judge him to have been the same Person with Tho. Clerk, the Suffering Prebendary of Ulfcombe in that Church (written for) and who had it in 1634, was Restored, and died not till 1683. For I find no Clerk by my Abstract, admitted to any Prebend in this Church after the Restoration: But not being absolutely certain, quere.

Or Clerckey.

CLEVERLY, ——, . Beauchamp-Stoke, .

He lived to be Restored, and dy'd at length Rector of Sutton-Veney. He was a good Scholar, a great Grecian and Theologist; but if I rightly apprehend, something too warm in his Temper.

COLLIER, HENRY, A. M. Steeple-Langford, R. worth betwixt 3 and 400 l. a Year.

He was a very early Sufferer; being turned out some Years before the General Dissolution began in this County. He was also forced to Abscond, and Fly for his Life; of which he was several times in Danger. ' At the time of his Ejectment, ' and till his Return, he had Eleven Children, who ' with his Wife, were Turned out in a very deep ' Snow, and forc'd to stand, not a little while, in ' the open Street, before any Neighbours would, ' or dar'd admit them into their Houses. But ' even th n they had but cold Comfort: for they ' were forced to lie Six Nights in a Barn, before ' they could procure any thing like a Bed to lie ' on. This their Misery was not a little aggravated by its being a time (which also held a great ' while) when Wheat was at 10, 11, 12, nay, ' 13 s. a Bushel; and even Barley at 7 or 8 s. So ' that you may imagine they were happy if they ' could get Barley-Bread. But this is certain, ' that they lived almoft the whole time as poorly, ' and in as mean Cottages as any in the Parish, ' or, I believe, any where else. Her Children ' went daily to Grovely-Wood, about a Mile and ' a half off, for dry Wood, which they brought ' back in Bundles upon their Shoulders. This ' lasted till they were dispersed, either to Service, ' or to the lowest Condition in the Army, or to ' hard Labour in Jamaica; except those who ' were bound to mean Trades in London: Of all ' which my Father was the only one who met ' with Friends (being the Youngest of Eleven) ' who placed him to Winchester-School, &c. Mr. Collier out-lived all his Miseries, and Sept. 18, 1660, was Restor'd to his Parsonage, having then been about 15 Years deprived of it; during which time the bare Income of his Living was at least 500 l. The Person who robb'd him of it, was one Giles, who is to this Day a Proverb in the Parish for his Litigiousness. He used to Preach, as is said, with a Pistol about him, which most commonly hung at his Neck.

Mr. Collier's Grandson, who writes me this, now enjoyeth this Rich Living, and long may he live to do so.

——, ——, . Cradwell, R. Whoever the Gentleman was that lost this Living, 'tis certain that one of his Successors (if at least he had more than one) was William Rathband, who was admitted to it in 1657.

CREED, ——, D. D. Boyton, R. Quere if he was the same Person with Dr. Will. Creed, afterwards his Majesty's Professor of Divinity in Oxford, whom see in Wood. Soon after the Restoration one Tho. Lambert had this Living.

See Dr. Hobbs in this County.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 218.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

CHARLET, FRANCIS, A. M. Salwarp, R.

See him at the Cathedral of Worcester, and a large Marginal Note there.

COOPER, ——, . Hampton-Lovet, R.

If I do not mis-understand some very short and imperfect Notices which I have receiv'd, this Gentleman was Sequestred from this Living, and Died before the Restoration. And if so, he had for one of his Successors (if he had more than One) that Mr. Freestone who is mention'd in the Abridgment.

But quere further.

P. 142.

COOPER, ——, . Fridaysthorp, .

See Mr. Mantell in this County.

YORKSHIRE.

CARTER, THOMAS, D. D. Settrington, R. then worth 220 l. per Ann.

He was also Plundered in a Rude and Barbarous manner; himself, his Wife, and Three Children, were violently Turn'd out of Doors by the Soldiers. During his Sequestration he was partly supported by his Honourable Patron the Earl of Bridgwater, and partly, as I conceive, by his Fifths: For 'tis said that his Successor one M—— (a Kinsman of the President Bradshaw's) allowed him 30 l. per Ann. He lived to Repossess his Living, and was a very Worthy Minister.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

CICELL, THOMAS, . Lambeder and Patrishoo, .

Ejected by the Commissioners for Propagation, &c.

Digitized by Google

for being an Enemy to the Parliament, and a common Drunkard. After his Ejectment the Cure lay Vacant for 6 or 7 Years; until at length one Elias Harry, a Weaver, took upon him to Preach in the ſaid Pariſhes, and joyntly ſhared the Profits with the Commiſſioners.

One Thomas Cecil was Fellow of St. John's College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1607.

CARDIGAN.

CAERMARTHEN.

CAERNARVAN.

——, ——, . Caernarvan, .

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

——, ——, . Cayer, . See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

CHIVERS, OLIVER, . * Merthir-Dovant, R.

 See Mr. T. Lloyd in this County.*

Before 1649.

COVY, ——, . Kellygare, R. worth 120*l. per Annum.*

The Revenues of his Living were Seized in the Beginning of the Rebellion; but he was permitted to have about a Tenth Part of it for his Subſiſtence. He died about the Year 1645. After which the Pariſhioners choſe one David Davis, an Anabaptiſt, for their Teacher; who was to take the Cure as a Free Gift of the People, and not to intermeddle with the Tithes. On which Conditions he accepted of it, and moreover Preach'd down Tithes for three Years together; but the Benevolence of the Pariſhioners falling ſhort of what the Tithes would have amounted to, Mr. Davis began to be Mutinous; and turning his Tale, Preached up the Divine Right of Tithes; which gave great Offence to the Godly of that Pariſh, and occaſioned a Tumult; whereupon they gave him 160*l.* and diſmiſſed him to Propagate the Faith in ſome other Place. After that the Pariſh had no Settled Miniſter till the Reſtauration. They alſo ſold the Bells of the Church, while they had the Power of it in their hands.

CUTTS, JOHN, . Sully, R. Sequeſtred before 1649. See one of both theſe Names in Surrey, who being Sequeſtred in 1643, might poſſibly Fly to Wales, get this Living there, and be again Sequeſtred: But quære.

See Mr. Fowler in this County.

MERIONETH.

——, ——, . Corwine . And continued Void Six Years without any Incumbent.

MONTGOMERY.

PEMBROKE.

CALLOW, TOB. . Lowchurch, . See Mr. Hugh in this County.

COLLYER, EDWARD, . Lampiter, R.

Sequeſtred by the Propagaters, for Drunkenneſs.

COULTON, JAMES, . St. Winnell's, V.

By the ſame, for Malignancy.

——, ——, . Camfreſſe, R.

See the Note of Abergwyley above-mentioned. The Incumbent here, whoever he was, had I find, ſome other Livings; but whether he loſt them alſo, or if he did, whether he may be otherwiſe mentioned in this Liſt, I know not.

RADNOR.

——, ——, . Cumtoyddwr, . See the aforeſaid Note.

CAMPLESHAM, ——, . ——, . I find a Widow of this Name Relieved among the other Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy, by the Corporation before-mentioned.

GANNER, ——, . ——, . His Widow alſo was reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that ſhe was forced to ſue for the Charity of the ſame Corporation; who accordingly Relieved her among the other Families of the Loyal Sufferers.

CARY, GEORGE, . ——, . He was afterwards Dean of Exeter. I have been informed that he was Sequeſtred ſomewhere; but I cannot obtain ſo much as the Name of the County, much leſs of the Pariſh. Upon the breaking out of the Rebellion he was Poſſeſs'd of the Rectory of Clovelly in Devon, but I cannot learn that he loſt that Living.

See Quære further; for in the large Account of him in Print. Worth. of Devon, there is nothing mentioned of his Sufferings.

See p 213. of that Author.

CHANDLER, ROBERT, D. D. ——, . He was Chaplain to his Majeſty King Charles I. and loſt all his Spiritual and Temporal Eſtate, to the Value of 400*l.* per Ann. as appears by the Petition of his Children to the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; whoſe Charity they were neceſſitated to ſue for. He ſeems to have been a different Perſon from Mr. Chandler mentioned in Cambridgeſhire, who was only B. D. unleſs ſurviving the Uſurpation, he became D. D. afterwards, and is for that Reaſon called Dr. in the Petition.

CHEWNEY,

Digitized by Google

CHEWNEY, NICH. D. D. ——, .
He was a Man of great Prudence, and a Pious Life. He is said to have been a great means of preserving the Town of Margaret from Faction and Division: So that possibly that was his Living. Or if not, perhaps it was somewhere about the County of Kent.

COOK, ——, . ——, .
There was a Widow of this Name Relieved by the Coporation before mentioned.

COOK, ——, . ——, .
He was a different Person from him immediately foregoing. His Widow was likewise ranked among the other Widows of the Sequestred Clergy, who had Relief from that Corporation. Whether the one or the other of the Two last mentioned was either of the Cooks before taken notice of in the Counties, I cannot tell, because this Surname is so Common.

Complaint Brit. of Eng. Vol. 3. p. 305.

CORKER, ——, . ——, .
He afterwards practised Physick; and became such an Apostate as well as Rebell, that together with Sir Richard Willis, he discovered to Cromwell a Plot of the Royalists, upon which several were taken up and Executed: So I wish I could fairly omit the mentioning of him.

CRANFORD, ——, . ——, .
June 11, 1645, he was Imprisoned by the House of Commons, for some Words, if I mistake not, which he had spoken against them; and July the 19th following they fined him 500 l. and committed him to the Tower during Pleasure; which are the only Grounds I have for conjecturing, that he must have been also Sequestred, if at least he was possess'd of any Preferment in the beginning of the Rebellion; which seems highly probable; because he was a Man of such Note, as to be fined in such a Sum, and sent to the Tower.

One Will. Crofts, is by the Legend. Lign. ranked CROFT, WILLIAM, D. D. ——, .

He was also Imprisoned, and suffered very great Hardships among those who, were perverted to the Church of Rome. Quere.

Mem. p. 449.

CRAWLEY, ——, D. D. ——, .
I have no other Authority for this Sequestration, than that he is mentioned by Lloyd, among others, as a suffering Loyalist, where he is called Dr. Crawley of Agmondsham: Whether that was his Living, I know not. I have already mentioned one in Bedfordshire of a Name very like this.

D

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKSHIRE.

BUCKS.

DILLON, ——, D. D. Shenly, R.
See Northamptonshire.

DUTTON, ——, . Langley-Marsh, R. Or Ditton.
For Delinquency. One of his Successors was Richard Willows, who came to this Living in 1654.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

DOWNALL, HENRY, . Toft, R.
See him in Huntingtonshire.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

DEEBLE, ——; . Calstock, .

DINGLE, JOHN, . Cuthbert, .
See Wadham-College in Oxford.

DRAKE, ——, A. M. Bodmin, V. * Different, as I guess, from the former.

*DRAKE, ——, . St. Minver, .

DUNKIN, ROBERT, A. M. St. Stephens in Branwell, .
He was one of the most Learned of all the Cornish Clergy, lived to be Restored, and Preached the first Assize-Sermon at Launceston after his Majesty's Return. He Published some things against Milton.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

DAVIES, DAVID, . Painton, V.
He was also Imprisoned. He died, if I mistake not, under the Usurpation; and was look'd upon as little better, than a Person disturbed in his Reason.

DAUSON, HUTTON, . Souton, R.
An ancient Clergy-man, who lived through, and in some measure suffered by, these Times, tells me, he thinks Mr. Dauson was Sequestred. Quere.

DEEBLE, JOHN, . Maker, V.
He was also dragged out of his Pulpit: Possibly he was the same Person, who lost Calstock in Cornwall. Quere.

DODERIDGE, GEORGE, . That the Minister here was Sequestred, I am Stoke-Canon, .

sfured, but that Mr. Doderidge was the Person, is only conjecture, founded on his being the last regular Incumbent, before 1646, that occurs on the Bishop's Register.

This Place is a Curacy in the Nomination of the Dean and Chapter of Exeter; it is always looked on as a Place for Life, and Equivalent, in that Point, with any Rectory or Vicaridge. There are Three more of the same kind in this County (Two of which will be after named in this List) viz. Ide, Topham, and Honiton-Clyst.

DORSETSHIRE.

DAVENANT, EDWARD, A. M. Gillingham, V.

See the Church of Salisbury.

DICKINSON, ——, . Sturminſter-Marſhall, V.

One E. Dickinſon was Ejected from Eaton in King's in the Year 1611, and this Living being in the Gift of Eaton-College: I take him to have been the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer, but Quere.

He was a Man of an unblamable Life.

DOUCH, JOHN, A. M. Stalbridge, R. worth 300 l. a Year.

I take him to be the Perſon mention'd by Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 716: And if ſo, he was a Native of this County, and Educated at Trinity-College in Oxford. In 1649, himſelf, his Wife and Children were pulled out of their Houſes by a Troop of Horſe; who alſo Plunder'd them both within Door and without, and ſcarce left them a Bed to lie upon; inſomuch that, had it not been for the Charity of an honeſt Neighbour, he muſt, with his Wife and Five ſmall Children, have lain under a Hedge. He out lived the Uſurpation, and was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Living. His Succeſſor, on the Sequeſtration, was Sam. Fairclough, who when Mr. Douch uſed to come and knock at his own Door for a piece of Bread (i. e. for the Fifths which were allowed him by the Ordinance) to keep his poor Wife and Children from Starving, would take him by the Shoulders, and bid him go Thraſh for his Living. Whether Mr. Douch did thar, or any other ſervile Work, to ſupport himſelf, I know not; but this is certain, that his Family wanted Neceſſaries.

DUGDALE, ——, . Tarrant-Hinton, R. worth 160 l. a Year.

He died under the Uſurpation.

DYKE, JOSEPH, . Tincham, R.

DURHAM.

DAVINSON, ALEXANDER, A. M. Norham, V.

DRUMMOND, PATRICK, . Gretham, V.

He was alſo Impriſoned: His Wife was afterwards reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that ſhe was forced to beg the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

DUNSON, ELEAZER, D. D. Haughton, R. worth 250 l. a Year.

See the Cathedral of Durham.

ESSEX.

DARNELL, THOMAS, Thorp, V.

About 1642. He is one of White's Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts, who charges him with notorious Drunkenneſs, Gaming, Swearing, and Adultery: But ſubjoins likewiſe Reading and Encouraging the Book of Sports, contemning the Parliament Facts, conforming himſelf to the Decency and Order of the Rules preſcribed by the Church, and Malignancy. Cent. p. 19.

DAWES, HUMPHRY, . Mount-Nezing, V.

Ejected for diſſuading his Pariſhioners, under the Pain of Damnation, from going into the Rebellion; for reading the Book of Sports; and then to be ſure he was a notorious Drunkard. White's Cent. p. 38.

DOVE, RABOSH, . ——, R. In 1644.

DRAKE, RICHARD, (then, or after) D. D. Radwinter, R.

In 1642. He out-lived the Uſurpation, and was after Chancellor of the Church of Sarum. He obtained that Dignity March 23, 1662; as he had likewiſe the Prebend of North-Alton in the ſame Church, September 9, 1660. April 1, 1663, John Durell had that Prebend on the Reſignation of Drake, as I preſume; but he did not vacate the Chancellorſhip till his Death; which happen'd ſome time before November 7, 1681, when Seth Ward ſucceeded in it. One Rich. Drake, Fellow of Pembroke-Hall in Cambr. hath a Diſtich in ſome of the Cambridge Verſes Publiſhed in 1638, and was Tutor in 1647.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

DOBBINS, WILLIAM, . Munſley, R.

December 10, 1646. After his tedious Sufferings under the Uſurpation, he Re-poſſeſs'd his Living in 1660.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

DOWNHALL, HENRY, . St. Ives, V. And Toft, R. in Cambridgeſhire. . . .

He was taken into Cuſtody of a Serjeant at Arms, for refuſing to admit a factious Lecturer at St. Ives; of which Living he was Diſpoſſeſſed about the Year 1642: Nor doth it appear by the Regiſter of that Pariſh, that there was any other Miniſter ſettled in the Place until about 1650. He was Diſpoſſeſſed of his other Living by the E. of M. about 1643, or 1644, for keeping ignorant Curates (who alſo obſerved the Ceremonies) and for being an Enemy to the Parliament.

KENT.

Digitized by Google

KENT.

DEERING, HENRY, A. M. Newington and Halstone V.

Sequestred about 1646. He was also Harrass'd and Imprison'd; but survived the Rebellion, and was Restored.

DENN, JOHN, . Dartford, V. He is put in White's Century, for Drunkenness, Neglect of Cure, and Malignancy. P. 21.

DIXON, ROBERT, . Tunstall, R. worth about 100 l. per Annum.

'In the Year 1644, he was taken Prisoner as 'he passed through the Crown-Yard in Rochester, in 'his Return from Preaching a Funeral-Sermon at 'Gravesend, and carry'd to Knoll-House near 'Sevenoak in this County, then made a Prison 'for Malignants, as the Loyal Party were call-'ed. From Knoll he was remov'd to Leeds-'Castle in Kent, then another Prison also; where 'he was closely kept Prisoner for about Fourteen 'Months under great Hardships and ill Usage, 'by one Franklyn the pretended Governour of the 'said Castle. The Crimes laid to his Charge, 'were his Loyalty to King Charles I. and his 'Refusing to take the Oath call'd the Solemn 'League and Covenant; which he never took. 'Afterwards he was Sequestred from this Liv-'ing; where a Parliament Party came for him 'at Midnight, swearing they would cut him as 'small as Herbs to the Pot. But a Servant of 'Sir Edward Hales, Baronet (who was just before 'in the same Night, taken out of his Bed from 'his Lady, and carry'd away Prisoner) having 'given private Notice of their Approach, Mr. 'Dixon escap'd into Oak-Wood, not far from his 'House, where for about a Week he lay Night 'and Day, for fear of his Life, and was there 'supply'd with small Matters privately sent him, 'until in a Lay-Habit he fled, and so escap'd that 'storm. But his House was Rifled and Plun-'der'd, and by Degrees he and his Family quite 'undone, and was Banish'd the County. Great 'Sums of Money were Exacted of him, while 'he had any thing by Sequestrators, Committee-'Men, and such like; and he was told by one 'Sir Charles Sidley, that not one of his Coat 'should be left to Piss against the Wall, before 'he had done with them. But the same Sir 'Charles (by what Motive was never known to 'Mr. Dixon) did (after that) become so much 'his Friend, as that he brought him off from some 'other Trouble before the Committee, as I think 'they were call'd.

'When K. Charles II. was Restor'd, Mr. Dixon, 'by the Recommendation of the aforesaid Sir 'Edward Hales, was made Prebendary of Roche-'ster, and Minister of that City; and commenc'd 'D.D. at Cambridge, having been Educated in 'St. John's College there.

'He wrote divers Learned Books, particularly 'a Folio, entituled The Nature of the Two Testa-'ments, &c. He died in May 1688. His Suffer-'ings for the King and Church were many more 'than I am able to Recollect, as I receiv'd them 'from the Mouths of * Himself, and my Mother 'who suffer'd with him.

*This Account I had from her Son Mr. JAMES DIXON.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

DAWSON, RICHARD, . Congeston, R.

DIXON, JOHN, A. M. Glenfield, R.

——, ——, . Fenny-Drayton, R.

He was succeeded by Nath. Stephens, and died before the Restoration. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 472.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

DANIEL, THOMAS, . Coldbaunworth, And Snarford, R. . . . . } I think these are two distinct Livings. Quære.

He was also Plundered and Undone, and his Family reduc'd to such Miseries, that after the Restoration some of them were forc'd to beg Relief from the Corporation for Ministers Widows. One Thomas Daniel was sometime Rector of St. Andrew's in the Town of Hertford, and Vicar of Bengeho in that County. Chauncy. Ant. p. 260, 269.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

DABBIN, ——, . * Mauchans, . * I take this to be the same Living with Machen in this County; if not, there was one of that Name also under Sequestration, which must be added to this List.

Quære if he be the same Person with Mr. John Dobbings before-mentioned.

DAVID, LEWIS, . Skenfreth, V. Outed by the same Commissioners for the same Crimes.

DOBBINGS, JOHN, . Langastock-Lubonawarl *, V. *or Cubonawarl.

Sequestred by the Propagators, for Insufficiency and reading Common-Prayer.

NORFOLK.

DAVENPORT, RICHARD, Feltwell St. Nicholas, R.

Dispossest sometime at least before 1650. He lived to be Restored with his Majesty, but died soon after. He was a Charitable, Good Man.

DAVY,

DAVY, JO. . * Reningham, V.

* If I read it right.

DOBBS, EDWARD, . Great-Snoring, R.

He was alſo Forc'd to Fly to his Majeſty's Army. One of his Succeſſors was David Anderſon, who was Preſented to this Living in 1655.

DUNCON, EDMOND, . Swanningtton, R.

One of both theſe Names who was LL.B. had the Living of Frieſton-Barnet in Middleſex in 1668; and is mentioned in the Life of Mr Herbert, p 66 New Rep. Eccleſ Vol. I. p 608.

He had a Wife and Two Children. Quære if he did not loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 20*l.* a Year alſo.

DUNNE, DANIEL, . Beltborp, V.
He had a Wife and Six Children.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

DILLON, ——, Farthingſtone, R. And Shenley, R. in Buckinghamſhire. . .

Or Ditton.

He was alſo Impriſoned, and died in Jayl; was eſteem'd a Perſon of Great Learning, and of a good Life and Converſation.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

DRURY, WILL. . Berwick, .

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXON.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

DETTON, RICHARD, . Alton-Scot, R.

The Expreſſion in my Letter is, that he was put out of the Miniſtry.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

DUGDALE, JAMES, D. D. Shepton-Beauchamp, R. And Evercreech, V. . . . . .

See the Church of Wells.

SOUTHAMPTON.

——, ——, . Dean, .

DIBDEN, ——, . ——, .

He was alſo Impriſoned, and bail, if I miſtake not, a Wife and Five Children; ſome of which afterwards Petition'd for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

DICKSON, ——, . Bonchurch, .

DOWSE, ——, . Broughton, R.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

DUDSON, ——, . * Heighford, R.

* If I read it right.

SUFFOLK.

DALE, CUTHBERT, . Kettleborough, R.

He is Another of thoſe mentioned in White's Century; and the real Crimes alledg'd againſt him, are, his Denying the Satisfaction of our Bleſſed Lord; aſſerting the Mediation of Angels; being a Common Sweerer and Curſer; having been frequently drunk; neglecting and deſerting his Cure; and ſaying, that he hoped the late Lord Cook was in Hell, for maintaing Prohibitions: And to theſe are added, the Imaginary Faults of Obſerving the Decent Rules and Orders of the Church; neglecting the Parliament Faſts; calling a Fellow ſawcy, unmannerly Clown for wearing his Hat in the Church in Sermon-time; and expreſſing great Malignancy againſt the Parliament; which was always the Unpardonable Crime.

P. 16.

DALTON, THOMAS, B. D. Dalham, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

He had firſt been Plundered of his Horſe by a Party of the Rebel Troopers, and was afterwards forced to * Retire from his Living, and conceal himſelf for fear of being Seiz'd and Impriſon'd. Upon which one Barnard, a poor Smith, who had formerly lived on the Pariſh Alms, informs the Committee at Cambridge of Mr. Dalton's Abſence, and Petitions for a Sequeſtration of the Living: On whoſe bare Inſtance (though earneſtly oppoſed by the Lord of the Town, and about 40 of the chiefeſt of the Pariſh) the Committee for the Advancement of the Reformation, Sequeſtred the Living into Barnard's Hands, and appointed one Randal to ſerve the Place; with whom Barnard had before Indented for about 50 or 60*l.* a Year. This Sequeſtration was preſently after confirmed by the Committee at Weſtminſter, and Seconded by another Order upon Mrs. Dalton, to deliver up the Poſſeſſion of the Perſonage to this Randal: Whereupon the Patron of the Living haſtned to London, in hopes to get the Sequeſtration revoked, or at leaſt, in ſome meaſure mitigated, when the Committee ſhould be acquainted Mem. Ruſh. P. 124.

* Which, as I have once before obſerved on the ſame Occaſion, ſufficiently interprets the Charge of Deſerting Cure, ſo often alledg'd by White.

Digitized by Google

quainted, upon what ſlight and trivial Accuſations Mr. Dalton had been Turned out. But, contrary to his Expectation, he found the Smith courted, applauded, and to enjoy Freedom of Acceſs to the Committee, and himſelf (a Gentleman of very good Rank and Eſteem in his Country) to be ſlighted, neglected, and made dance Attendance: So that at length, deſpairing of any Succeſs, ſince he found the Men in Power made their Court to the Dregs and Scum of the People, he returns home into the Country, and takes Mrs. Dalton into his own Family; who left a Servant however, to ke p Poſſeſſion of the Paſſonage-Houſe. But upon further Complaint made to the Committee, they preſently iſſue out an Order to bring her up before them at London; whereupon ſhe is forced wholly to quit the Paſſonage. After which, they alſo ſeize upon all they could find belonging to Mr. Dalton, his Rents, his Debts, and what ſoever elſe they could Diſcover; inſomuch that at laſt they left him nothing. One Particular of which, tranſacted by Barnard the Smith, was ſuch an Exquiſite and Uncommon Piece of Villany, as I believe was hardly ever thought of before. It was this: The Fellow happen'd to be indebted about Twenty ſeven Pounds to Mrs. Dalton; and conſcientious as he was, being willing, according to the Rule of the Apoſtle, to owe no Man any thing, but Charity, he appoints Mrs. Dalton to Receive her Money at ſuch a time, in the Church Porch; whither ſhe accordingly comes, as did Barnard likewiſe, bringing the Money, which he there fairly pays her before Four Witneſſes; ſo that ſhe had then no further Demand upon him. But as ſoon as ſhe had counted it over, and was going to put it into her Pocket, the harden'd Wretch bids her Stay, and tells her, the Money was for a better uſe than ſo; it was for the Service of the Parliament. Upon which, the Troopers immediately clapt their Piſtols to her Breaſt, and took every Farthing of it from her. After this, it is ſcarce worth ſaying, that Mr. Dalton having alſo put ſome Wheat in this Fellow's Houſe, as a Repoſitory in time of Need; when Mrs. Dalton, after her Husband was gone, ſent for it; the Villain threatned to run his Pitchfork into the Meſſenger, if he ſhould come again upon ſuch an Errand. I have only to add, that before the Breaking out of thoſe Tumults, Barnard himſelf had owned, that he had been highly obliged to Mr. Dalton for many Favours: Such a Complication of the moſt deteſtable Qualities was there in the Tranſaction of this Villany.

One Tho. Dalton became Prebendary of Durham in the 17th Preb. in 1660 Quere.

DAMPORT, ——, . Stowland-Hoft, R.

DUNCOMBE, ——, . Cheddiſton, .

SURREY.

Or Danſon. DAUSEW, PETER, . Camberwell, V.

He was Diſpoſſeſt about Aug. 1643, by the Houſe of Commons; at which Time Alex. Gregory was ſubſtituted in his Living by the ſame Authority. He is one of thoſe mentioned in White's Scandalous Century, where he is charged with frequent and notorious Drunkenneſs even in the Time of Service, and ſpending the Alms of the Church in Liquor; as alſo being a common Curſer and Swearer, neglecting of his Cure, protecting a Remiſs Prieſt, Throwing the Conſecrated Bread on the Ground, and bidding one of his Pariſhioners take it up there, if ſhe would have it: To which is added his reading his Majeſty's Declarations, and bidding Defiance to the Parliament.

P 12.

SUSSEX.

DRISSE, ——, . Mundham, V.

WARWICKSHIRE.

DOUGHTIE, JOHN, . A. M. Lapworth, R.

He was Born at Martley near Worceſter, and Deſcended from a good Family of thoſe Parts. In the Year 1619, he was Elected to a Fellowſhip of Merton-College in Oxford (having firſt been thoroughly Examined by the moſt Learned Sir Henry Savile, then Warden) and made Senior of the Election. After which he became a noted Preacher, Proctor of the Univerſity, Chaplain to the Earl of Northumberland, and in 1633, was by the Society of Merton-College preſented to this Living, which he was forced to leave upon the breaking out of the Wars, to avoid Sequeſtration and Impriſonment. At that Time he retired to his Majeſty at Oxford. Afterwards Dr. Duppa made him Lecturer of St. Edmond's in Salisbury, but upon the Routing of his Majeſty's Forces in the Weſt, he quitted that likewiſe, and retired to London, where he was for ſome time ſupported by Sir Nath. Brent. After the Reſtoration he was made one of the Prebendaries of Weſtminſter, Rector of Cheame in Surry, D.D. and died at Weſtminſter on Chriſtmas-Day, 1672, in the 75th Year of his Age.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 373

Admit. Jun. 5. 1660.

See in Wood What he Wrote.

DOBSON, ——, . Welsbourn, R.

He had afterwards the Living of Hefleton in Glouceſterſhire, which had been Sequeſtred from Dr. Whittington; upon whoſe Death one Dunce obtained the Seals for it from the then Keeper Lyle, and Diſpoſſeſs'd Mr. Dobſon of it; but upon the Return of his Majeſty he was Re-inſtated in it. He had, if I miſtake not, Thirteen Children at the Time of his Sufferings.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

WORCESTERE.

DANCE, ——, . Kidderminſter, V.

He lived to be Reſtored, and was, ſaith Dr. Pierce, a Man well reported of, and a Perſon of Sincerity and Meekneſs: I have alſo heard the preſent Right Reverend Biſhop of Worceſter call him Honeſt old Mr. Dance. He was ſucceeded here (though I need not mention a thing ſo well known) by Mr. Baxter, who † gave up this Living to him again upon the Reſtoration, notwithſtanding he is the Hero of the Tragedy, and the Lives of the * other Ejected Miniſters are as Epiſodes grafted upon his. But the Truth of it is, Against Baxt. Gro: Relig. p. 134. Notwithſtanding the Account Mr. Baxter ſuggeſts of him, Abridgm. p. 21.

† Abridg. p. 170.

* Tit p. of the Abridg.

Digitized by Google

is, great Numbers of them were Ejected just as Mr. Baxter was; that is, not at all; being only obliged to Reſtore what they had too long Uſurp'd.

DURANT, GEORGE, Blockley, V. worth 160*l.* a Year.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by a Party of Horſe, who dragged his Children (whereof he had then Ten living, and moſt of them very young) out of Doors; and the Neighbours out of Charity put them into a poor Cottage in the ſame Town, and Relieved them, where a Siſter of the Ejected Miniſter was put to Nurſe them; for their own Mother died a little before. He was alſo once Plundered of his Horſe, by a Fellow who had formerly lived with him, but was then gone into the Parliament-Service. Mr. Durant died, if I miſtake not, under the Uſurpation. When he was Ejected, one Mr. G. Colliere was thruſt upon the Pariſh, who afterwards became very active in Diſpoſſeſſing others of the Loyal Clergy; tho' he conformed and kept the Living upon the King's Return.

YORKSHIRE.

DALTON, ———, D. D. Barwick in Elmet, R.

He got his Majeſty's Preſentation to the * Living during the Confuſions, and had regular Inſtitution to it; but was wholly kept out of Poſſeſſion until the Reſtoration; when he enjoyed it on his old Title.

* On the Death of Dr. Scot Dean of York.

DODSWORTH, EDWARD, A.M. Badſworth, R.

'He was Son of Matthew Dodſworth, Chancellor of York, Deſcended of the Ancient Family of Dodſworths of Wattles in the North-Riding of Yorkſhire; was bred up in St. John's College in Cambridge, where he Commenced Maſter of Arts; was about the Year 1630, preferred to that Rectory by the Right Honourable the Earl of Darby, where he Liv'd in great Reſpect and Reputation with his Neighbours; a Hoſpitable and Charitable Man; a Man of Learning and Parts; of truly Loyal, Orthodox, and Conformable Principles; of Great Integrity and a peaceable Temper; as upright in his Mind, as he was in his Perſon; and lived with great ſatisfaction and Comfort at Badſworth till the Civil-Wars broke out: During which he perſormed the Service preſcribed in the Church, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition of ſome violent Perſons; and continued ſo till after K. Charles's Martyrdom. After which Presbytery grew too Rampant, and would not ſuffer ſo Good a Man to live in Peace; and therefore for his known Loyalty to the Royal Family, his Zeal for the Church, and his Non-compliance with the Demands of ſome unreaſonable Men, then in Power, he was Sequeſtred, Plundered, and endured a great many Hardſhips; till at laſt he was forced, with his whole Family, to quit his Habitation, about the Year 1655; and make the beſt that he could out of a Shipwracke Eſtate, for himſelf, Wife and Five Children. During which deplorable Circumſtances he lived very contentedly, and in his Retirement comforted himſelf with that Moderation, which was ſo remarkably conſpicuous in his Temper; and continued to perform all the good Offices that lay in his power to his Neighbour, till the Happy Reſtoration of the King; ſoon after which he was reſtored to his Right, and lived till 1679, to the great ſatisfaction of his Pariſh, and the Love of all that knew him. He Died in 1679, Ætat. 84.

Badſworth.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

DAVIS, THOMAS, A.M. Hay, V. In 1649. He was an Able and Orthodox Miniſter. His Vicaridge lay vacant Eight Years, though it was in a Market-Town.

CARDIGAN.

DAVIS, JOHN, . Llellaw, . Sequeſtred for Drunkenneſs and Bribery, by the Propagators.

CAERMARTHENSHIRE.

DAVID, GRIFFITH, . Llanſteffan, .

The Church was kept vacant Ten Years after Mr. David was Turned out.

CAERNARVAN.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

DAVID, ———, . Aberwan and Baglan, .

He had a great Family to Maintain, and though his Capacity was not Extraordinary, yet he was a very honeſt Man. He was Sequeſtred, and with much Difficulty obtained a ſmall matter for his Subſiſtance, though not the Fifths of his Living, but only what the Rulers pleaſed. During the Uſurpation, Walters and ſome other Itinerant Preachers held forth, and poor Mr. David was not Reſtored to his Living till King Charles II. was Reſtored to his Kingdom.

DAVIES, *DAVID, gunwyd-Vawr, V. . Lan-

* Or Griffith, for I take this to be the ſame Place with Langoed; if not, there was a Living of that Name; alſo in this County Sequeſtred from Griffith Davies, who ought to be inſerted in a Diſtinct Article.

He had no Fifths, nor any thing from it to the time of the Reſtoration; when he was Re-poſſeſt of it, if I miſtake not, and Died in a few Years after.

DA-

Digitized by Google

† Or Athanasius.

DAVIES, † EDWARD, . Michaelſtone upon Ely, R.
And
St. Brides, R. . . . . .

He was Turned out of both theſe Livings before the Year 1649; and was then very old, but he was allowed the Fifths. There was no Settled Miniſter put in to ſupply the Cure of Either Living, as far as I can Learn; ſo that they had only now and then an Itinerant Preacher among them. Mr. Davies Out-lived the Uſurpation a great while, and Died at 108 Years of Age.

DAVIES, FRANCIS, B.D. Langan. R.

Wood, Ath. Vol.I.p.676.

He was a Native of this County, and Educated at Jeſus College in Oxford, of which he became Fellow, and had this Living beſtowed upon him in his Own County; but in the time of the Rebellion underwent, as Wood Rightly ſaith, the ſame Fate with other Royaliſts, this Circumſtance only Excepted, that his great Piety, Learning and Excellent Parts, had ſo far recommended him to One of the Leading Men of thoſe Times, that he was for ſome Years allowed a Fourth Part of his Living; (whereas others of the Clergy had only a Fifth) and what is more, his own Brother was permitted to be the Tenant, and Ordered to Pay him; ſo that he had no doubt the Real Proportion of his Rectory, and not what the Uſurpers were Otherwiſe pleaſed to Call ſuch. But this not being ſufficient to Subſiſt himſelf and thoſe who depended upon him (of which Sort, though a ſingle Man, he had a great many) he was forced to keep a School for his better Maintenance, and at Length the Great Man who had Ordered him the Fourth Part of his Living, growing weary in well doing, Mr. Davies was forced away to London, where by the Intereſt of ſome Friends, he was for Three or Four Years Entertained as Chaplain to the Counteſs of Peterborough. Upon the Return of His Majeſty he was Repoſſeſt of what he had Loſt, Promoted to the Archdeaconry of Landaff, Created D. D. in the Year 1667, made Biſhop of the Church now mentioned, and Died in the Latter end of 1674.

His Church was ſhut up by one of the Agents of the Sequeſtration, becauſe he would not Read the Directory, and otherwiſe Conform to the Times.

DAVIES, FRANCIS, . Pentyrch, V.

Quere if he were the ſame, or a different Perſon, from the preceding.

He was Turned out ſome time before the Year, 1649, but Allowed, if I miſtake not, to Receive ſmall Tythe of Avadyr, worth about 10 l. a Year, which Favour was continued to him for Ten Years.

I take theſe Places to be Annext.

DAVIS, ——, . Cowbridge Llanblethian and Welch-St Donats, V.

Before 1649.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

DAVIS, JOHN, . Carthbio, R.

I have ſeen the State of his Caſe under his own Hand; by which it appears, that he was not permitted to come and make his Own defence. He was alſo Impriſoned.

PEMBROKE.

DAVID, JOHN, . Bigelly, .

He was Turned out for Inſufficiency, by the Commiſſioners for Propagation, &c. and was the Second Perſon Diſpoſſeſſed of this Living. The Firſt was Mr. George Owen, whom See afterwards.

DAVIES, GEORGE, . Pontvaine, R.

In 1650.

RADNOR.

DAY, MATTHEW, A. M. ——, .

He was (ſaith Mr. Newcourt) 'if I miſtake not) a * Divine, and in the late Rebellion 'was Sequeſtred of what Eccleſiaſtical Preferments 'he had, for his Loyalty; got at laſt to be Maſter of the Free School at Lewiſham near Greenwich in Kent; but after the Reſtoration, viz. Aug. 17, 1660, he was admitted Vicar of Staines 'in Middleſex; and on the 25*th* of the ſame 'Month, to the Prebend of Neaſdon: Both which became Void by his Death before OBob. † 13, 1663.

Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 116.

* Why Mr. Newcourt ſhould make any Queſtion whether he was a Divine, or not, whilſt he is at that very time Accounting for his Admiſſion to one of the Prebends of St. Paul's, and the Vicaridge of Staines, I can't imagine; unleſs he meant to ſay, that he doubt whether he had taken Orders before the Reſtoration. I have been otherwiſe informed that Mr. Day was Elected to King's-College from Eaton-School in the Year 1629; and 'tis but ſometimes Parſon of Everdon in Northamptonſhire; and ſo poſſibly that may be Preferment, which he Loſt in the Rebellion. Quere.

† Before Oct. 10, that Year, as appears by the ſame Page of Mr. Newcourt, in the Admiſſion of his Immediate Succeſſor Richard Henchman to the Prebend of Neaſdon.

DEBENHAM, ——, . ——, .

His Family alſo was at length ſupported by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

DODSON, ——, . ——, .

His Family after the Reſtoration begg'd the ſame Charity.

DOWDESWELL, WILLIAM, . ——, .

He was of Pembroke-College in Oxford, admitted Bachelour of Law in the Year 1631, and in 1642, was Created Doctor of that Faculty, among many other Suffering Royaliſts. In 1660, he became Prebendary of Worceſter, and, 'tis probable, had other Preferments beſtow'd upon him. He died, if I miſtake not, about the Year 1671. He was Eſteem'd in his College, and more particularly by Sir Thomas Brown the Phyſician, as a Learned Man.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 670. Vol. II p. 709

DUNCON, JOHN, . ——, .

He publiſh'd the Life of the Lady Letice, Viſcounteſs Falkland; which is all that I know more of him: Only I find one John Duncon, A.M. Admitted to Frierne-Barnet in Middleſex in 1678, and died the ſame Year. Mr. Barnabas Oley, one of the Ejected Fellows of Clare-Hall in Cambridge, in his Preface to Mr. Herbert's Country Perſon, ſaith, that Mr. John Duncon was a Great Sufferer, and a very Learned and Worthy Perſon.

Vol. I. p. 503

New. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol I.

E. BED-

E.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKS.

——, ——, . Enborn, R.

BUCKS.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

EXETER, ——, . Soham, V. Value 100*l.* a Year.

Apr. 10, 1644, Sequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester for Inſufficiency, Malignancy, and particularly for not taking the Covenant himſelf; and, what's worſe, as it followeth in his Charge, becauſe not above Three or Four of his Pariſh had taken it, tho' it conſiſted of Three hundred Families.

CHESHIRE.

EATON, ——, . Aldford, R. He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by a Party of Soldiers; who moſt barbarouſly carry'd out his Wife (Siſter, or Daughter to Sir Philip Oldfield) and plac'd her on a Dunghil; where they ſo much inſulted and abus'd her, that ſhe grew diſtracted, and died in that Condition.

CORNWALL.

EDWARDS, ——, . Stratton, V.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

EDGECOMBE, JOHN, A M. Northiuſh, R.

He had been Admitted to this Living in the Year 1639. and during the Rebellion was not only Sequeſtred, but alſo much Harraſs'd and Abus'd. He was twice Impriſoned; once at Dartmouth in this County, and another time at Plymouth. He ſurvived the Uſurpation; but I am not inform'd when he died. He was a Man of Great Learning, and of an Excellent Life; and ſo Conſiderable among the Clergy of this County, that he was ſent for when his Majeſty was in theſe Parts, to Preach before him at Taviſtock; which he did on theſe Words, He came unto his own, and his own received him not.

John 1. 11.

EEDES, ——, B.D. Honiton, R. And Cliſt-St. Laurence, R. . . . .

He was a very great Sufferer for the Royal Cauſe, and died before the Reſtoration. His Succeſſor in the former of theſe Livings, was Mr. Soreton, who continu'd in it until 1662; when he Quitted it for Nonconformity. I know nothing more of Mr. Eedes, but that he had ſeveral Children at the time of his Sequeſtration; that he was very ill uſed, and that he was a very worthy Perſon, and much a Gentleman.

Abr. p. 304.

ELLIOT, EDWARD, A. M. Newton-Ferris, R.

That this Living was under Sequeſtration, appears by the Admiſſion-Books of thoſe Times; but that Mr. Elliot was the Perſon who loſt it, is only Conjecture, built upon this ground, that he is the laſt Regular Incumbent that appears on the Regiſter, before the Diſſolution of the Cathedrals. I ſuppoſe he died during the Confuſions, and that it was upon his Death that Mr. Clifford obtained the Preſentation of this Living. However, quære.

One John Hill was Ordered into this Living by the Committee of Plunderers and Miniſters in 1656.

Whom ſee before.

ENKER, NICHOLAS, . . Hitterſleigh, R.

He was Turned out for a Scandalous Life and Converſation, about the Year 1653. Either he had only ſuch a Title as thoſe Times could allow him, or elſe the Confuſions prevented the Regular Entry of his Admiſſion: For the laſt Incumbent upon this Living before the Aboliſhing of Epiſcopacy, as far as appears by the Biſhop's Regiſter, was Mr. John Biſhop.

There was no ſettled Miniſter in this Living for ſome time after his Ejectment.

DORSETSHIRE.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

——, ——, . Emſted, . The Sequeſtred Miniſter of this Pariſh was a very worthy Man, as I have been informed; but I have not yet been able to Recover his Name.

EVETT, WILLIAM, . ——, . Ejected ſomewhere in this County, about the Year 1644; for a Years Abſence from his Living.

EYRES, THOMAS, . Mile-End, near Colcheſter, . And Great Hockſley, R. . . . . .

He was a Man of good Learning and Repute, and lived to be Reſtored.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

EDWARDS, ——, . Torteworth, .

If I miſtake not. Quære further.

Mr. Towgood, One of the Suffering Prebendaries of Briſtol, was permitted to have this Living towards the latter End of the Uſurpation.

Es-

ESCOURT, ——, D. D. Beverſtone cum Kingſcote, R.

He was a worthy Perſon, and died, as I ſuppoſe, before the Reſtoration.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

EDWARDS, THOMAS, D. D. Kington, V.

Sequeſtred Dec. 17, 1646, by the Committee of Hereford. There was no other Crime alledged againſt him, than that of Malignancy. This is doubtleſs the Perſon mentioned by Wood, who in the Year 1643, had the Chancellour's Letters read in his behalf to be created D. D. at Oxford: Only Wood or the Printer miſtook Herefordſhire for Herefordſhire, the County in which his Living lay.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 723.

ELMHURST, JOHN, * B. D. Aſhton-Ingham, R.

He was ſucceeded by one Charles Stock, who had been Clerk to a Juſtice of Peace.

* So may be Ejaculated, R.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

EDLIN, PHILIP, . Buſhey, R. See London.

News Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 246.

EDMONDS, WILLIAM, D. D. Richmonſworth, V.

He lived to be Reſtored, and died not till the Year 1670; altho' he had been admitted to the Living in Feb. 1589: So that he muſt have been Years Rector of this Place; and above an hundred Years old at the time of his Death.

Ibid. p. 783.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

KENT.

EEDES, JOHN, ——, . in the Iſle of Sheppey.

He was Born in Salisbury, and Educated at Oriel-College in Oxford. After he was Turned out of his Living in the Iſle of Sheppey, he retired to his own County; where he firſt got the Curacy of Broadchalke, which with much Difficulty he was allow'd to keep about two Years; and then he obtain'd the Vicaridge of Hale in Hampſhire. He out-liv'd the Uſurpation, and did not return to Sheppey; but continuing at Hale, was about the Year 1667, Robbed, and barbarouſly Murther'd in his Houſe there. He hath a Treatiſe extant about Juſtification, in Anſwer to Eyre of Salisbury.

He afterwards got, and was permitted to keep the Vicaridge of Hale in Hampſhire.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 291.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

EDWARDS, JOHN, . Lanſtone, R. Turn'd out by the Propagators, for Malignancy, and Profecution of the Goaly in his Neighbourhood.

EDWARDS, JOHN, . Tredymock, R. Sequeſtred before 1649. He is a different Perſon from the Former.

EDWARDS, JOHN, . . Llanmartin *, . .

* Ty may be Llanmartin, R.

In 1649. Quære if he be the ſame with either of the Two before-mentioned.

EVANS, WILLIAM, . Kemeys-† Inferiour, R.

† Or Yſha; for I take them to be the ſame Place: If not, Kemeys-Yſha muſt alſo under Sequeſtration, and muſt be added to this Life as a diſtinct Article.

Depriv'd alſo before 1649.

NORFOLK.

EATON, WILLIAM, . Drayton, R.

——, ——, . Great-Ellingham, V.

See the Note at Alderton in Suſſex, under the Letter A. Whoever the Gentleman was that loſt this Living, one of his Succeſſors, if he had more than one, was Abraham Turner, who was preſented to it in 1655.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXON.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

ENGLAND, JOHN, . Ilchester, V.

He was a very conſiderable Man both for his Morals and Learning; and having the Education of One, or more Children of Colonel Pyne, a Man of the Times, he was by the Intereſt of that Gentleman, and partly, as I conceive, by the

Digitized by Google

Smalneſs of his Living, which doth not exceed 40*s* or 45 l. per Annum, preſerved from a Formal Sequeſtration; altho' in my Opinion, what he otherwiſe ſuffered, was tantamount. For which reaſon I venture to place him in this Liſt; but the Reader may, if he thinks otherwiſe, with my free Conſent, adjudge him to the Appendix. The Account which I have of his Sufferings, is in theſe Words: 'He had Soldiers quarter'd 'upon him; he was Plundered of almoſt all his 'Goods, and, amongſt other things, the beſt part 'of his Books were taken from him. He was 'more than once taken into Cuſtody, and tafted 'largely of the Favours of a Committee which 'ſate at Uxmiſter, who FORBAD HIM TO PREACH, and afterwards Sin'd him 'ſeverely; and handled him after ſuch manner, 'that he was forc'd to leave his Houſe, and ly 'conceal'd for a conſiderable time, with a Friend 'in a Neighbouring Pariſh. During which time 'his Houſe was Search'd; and once, becauſe 'they who came to Apprehend him, could not 'meet with him, they Seized his Wife, and car-'ry'd her away from her Family of Seven or Eight 'Children; and one of them threaten'd to Kill 'One of his Daughters, if ſhe did not diſcover 'where her Father was.

* From whom this Relation comes.

EVANS, GAUEN, . Weſt-Quantockſhead, R.

He was Turned out about the Year 1647; and all his Goods, to the Wearing Apparel of his Family, were Seiz'd alſo; for which he was forc'd to Compound.

EVANS, ——, . Marlbury, .
He was ſucceeded by one Counell.

He is a different Perſon, as far I can learn, from the foregoing Mr. Evans.

SOUTHAMPTON.

EDMONDSON, ——, . Holy-Rhood, R.

I find one Edmonds, Rector of Holy-Rhood, ſent for into Cuſtody by the Houſe of Commons, as a Delinquent. He was doubtleſs the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Edmondſon, whom I otherwiſe find Sequeſtred from this Living.

EASTGATE, ——, . Iwisbury, .

STAFFORDSHIRE.

SUFFOLK.

ECHARD, ——, . Yoxford, R.
It may be, Father to Dr. John Echard, late Maſter of Katharine-Hall in Cambridge. Quære.

One Ezekiel Edger was Admitted to the Rectory of Stanmore Magna in Middleſex, an. 1662; and died in 1663. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 710.

EDGAR, EZEKIEL, A. M. Hauſted, R.
About 1643.

EVANS, WILLIAM, . Sandcroft, R.
Deprived for Neglecting the Parliament-Faſts; not Preaching in the Afternoons; Profecuting his Pariſhioners for Gadding (to Eaſtious Lectures.

White's Cent. p. 88.

no Queſtion) from their own Pariſh-Church; Reading his Majeſty's Declarations; and for ſaying, they were Curſed who Gave or Lent to the Parliament: Nor was it poſſible, to be ſure, that ſuch an one could be other than a Notorious Drunkard.

EVANS, ——, . Thorington, .
I do not find the leaſt Circumſtance, which ſhould incline me to believe that he is the ſame Perſon with him who immediately Precedes.

SURREY.

SUSSEX.

EDGELEY, GEORGE, D. D. Nutburſt, R.

See Chicheſter-Cathedral.

EDSAW, JOHN, . Chaley, . worth 120 l. a Year.

He was a Younger Brother of the Family of the Edſaws of Chainton in this County. The Occaſions of his Sufferings were, as I have been inform'd, his Reading the King's Declarations, and ſending his Eldeſt Son to ſerve as a Volunteer in his Majeſty's Army. He was Impriſoned in Ely-Houſe for a conſiderable time. His Living alſo was Sequeſtred, his Children Turned out of Doors, and he was forc'd to ſell his little Eſtate in Land for a Subſiſtence; which otherwiſe, in all Probability, would have been Seiz'd by the Rangers of thoſe Times. He had at the time of his Sequeſtration, Six Children; none of which, however, by the good Providence of God, came to Want; Tho' the Rebels did what they could to bring them to it: For the Eldeſt Son having, after the Wars, married a Lady of a good Fortune, they put the Eſtate which he had by her, under Sequeſtration, becauſe ſhe had married a Cavalier. Mr. Edſaw, after he had ſpent and loſt all that he had, in the Service of the Church and his Majeſty, juſt liv'd to ſee the Reſtoration; but was prevented by Death, from Re-poſſeſſing his own Living.

I find the Wife of one Mr. Rogers (whom ſee alſo in this County) re-ceived the Fifths of the Living of Chayley in this County, from which her Husband had been Sequeſtred. If that Living be (as I take it, notwithſtanding the different Spelling) the ſame with this; then Mr. Rogers muſt have been admitted to it after the Sequeſtration of Mr. Edſaw (who, 'tis plain, left it in the Beginning of the Rebellion) and ſo cannot be look'd upon as having a Right to it, ſince Mr. Edſaw was ſtill living: And therefore Mr. Rogers muſt rather be accounted a Sufferer, than a Sequeſtred Miniſter. Quære further.

WARWICKSHIRE.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

EARLE, JOHN, D. D. Biſhopſton, R.
See the Church of Salisbury.

EARLE, ——, . Somerton-Keynes, .
He is a different Perſon, as far as I can learn, from the Former: But quære if he be the ſame with Robert Earle, who is mention'd at the Cathedral of Wells.

WOR-

Digitized by Google

WORCESTERSHIRE.

YORKSHIRE.

EDWARDS, ——, . Kirby-Overblows, . worth 150*l.* a Year.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

EDWARD, WILLIAM, D. D. Llandevylog, .

He was Turned out about the Year 1649; after which the Place lay Vacant for at least Nine Years; altho' there were 500 Souls in the Parish; only some part of that time one David-William Robert, a Yeoman, or Ploughman (abundantly qualify'd, no question, to succeed a Doctor of Divinity) did take upon him to Preach, or Teach there.

CARDIGAN.

EVANS, DAVID, . Landyfryog, V.
Depriv'd by the Commissioners for Propagating the Gospel; for Scandal and Symony.

EVANS, GRIFFITH, . Lanrhistid, V.
By the same Ravagers; for Drunkenness, Scandal, Symony, and Keeping a Common Ale-house.

EVANS, MORGAN, . Llillus, R.
By the same Commissioners; for Drunkenness.

CAERMARTHEN.

EVANS, WALTER, . Clezas (alias St. Clere's) and Llanboydy, V.

Sequestred by the Propagators. I take these Livings to be Annexed.

EVANS, WILLIAM, . Merthir, R.
By the same Commissioners; for Drunkenness and Malignancy.

CAERNARVAN.

EVANS, MICHAEL, . Llanlyfnie, .
In 1649. After which the Place lay void Ten Years.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

EVANS, RICHARD, . * Llanasaph, V. And † Prebend of Mywod. . . . . * In this County, if I mistake not. † Quere of what nature this Preb. is.

He lay Fourteen Years under Sequestration (so that I judge he was Turn'd out about the Year 1646,) during which time he could not recover any Fifths.

GLAMORGAN.

EDWARDS, WILLIAM, . Ilston, R. Before 1649. See Mr. Houghton's this County.

——, ——, . Eggloys-Brwys, .
See the same Note above-mention'd.

EVANS, JENKINS, . St. George's, R.
Ejected for Insufficiency and Drunkenness, by the Propagators.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

EDWARDS, WILL. . Llanibangel, .

EVANS, MATTH. . Pemgolle, R.

PEMBROKE.

ELLIOT, LEWIS, . Castlebeigh, R.
Outed by the Propagators, for Drunkenness.

——, ——, . St. Elvis, . See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire, so often mentioned.

EVAN, ——, . Marber, R. with the Chapel of Robeston.

RADNOR.

EVANS, WILLIAM, . Glascombe, V.
In 1646.

EDMONDS, ——, B. D. ——, .
He then was, or had been, of St. John's College in Cambridge; and was Created D. D. at Oxford in 1642. when the great Creation of Loyal Sufferers was made. See Hertfordshire, and Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 718. square.

Ed.

Digitized by Google

EDWARDS, JONATHAN, ——, .
He was Esteem'd a Learned Man; was Fellow of Jesus-College in Oxford, and was Created B. D. there in 1642, amongst the Loyal Sufferers. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, next mentioned. But since, if I do not mistake Mr. Wood, he was Fellow * at the time of his Creation, quære further if they might not be some Scholars, and not Lessees, which recommended him to the Favour of the Univerfity for his Degree.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 706.

* 'Tis quære further of that matter also.

ERSKIN, WILLIAM, ——, .
He also Compounded for his Temporal Estate at 90*l.* See Magdalen-College in Cambridge, and quære if this be the same Perſon: For I find one Mr. Erskin of that College, Created D. D. at Oxford, among the Suffering Loyaliſts, in 1642. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 715.

See alſo the Notes at Dr. Bayley at the End of the Counties under the Letter B and at Dr. Bowreman in the ſame Place.

F.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKS.

FARRINGTON, ANTHONY, B. D.
Bray, V. worth 120*l.* a Year.
He was ſucceeded in this Living by one Woodward, a Violent Independent, and Chaplain to Oliver. See Windſor-Chapel.

FULLHAM, ——, D. D. Weſt-Iſley, R.
The Right Reverend Biſhop of Worceſter, in ſome ſhort Manuſcript Notes of his on Mr. Calamy's Abridgment, ſaith, that he thinks Dr. Fullham was Reſtor'd to this Living: And if ſo, 'tis plain he muſt have been Sequeſtred from it; and then, either Dr. Goodman (whom ſee at the Cathedral of Glouceſter) did not hold this Living in Commendam long enough to Suffer in it, as he did in his Biſhoprick; or elſe Dr. Fullham muſt have obtained it after Dr. Goodman's Sequeſtration; or, at leaſt, after his Death in 1655. If the Former of theſe two laſt Conjectures was the Caſe, then the Living cannot be reckon'd to Dr. Fullham's Account, until the Year 1655; becauſe the Equitable Title to it (way in) Dr. Goodman: Nor could Fullham probably have any other than That of the Times; as neither could he, if he both Succeeded and was Sequeſtred after 1655, and was really a ſecond Sufferer in the Living.

To which Account I have reaſon'd it. But if Dr. Fullham had it in the Beginning of the Wars, it muſt be diſcounted from Dr. Goodman.

See one Dr. Fullham in the Church of Chichester, and quære.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

FOURNESSE, JOHN, . Great-Marlow, V.
He was Driven out of this Living by Tho. Scot of Little-Marlow (who was afterwards one of the Aſſeſſors on the Black Tribunal, for which he had Juſtice done him on the Reſtoration.) Mr. Fourneſſe was alſo forced by his Succeſſor to Quit the Town: After which he retir'd to Yorkshire. Upon the Return of the King, he was Re-poſſeſt of his Living, which he Enjoy'd ſeveral Years. He loſt alſo a Lecture of 80*l. per Ann.* Whether it belong'd to this Town, or any other, I know not. It is ſcarce worth mentioning, that he was alſo Plunder'd of Seven Pounds by ſome of the Ravagers of thoſe Times.

Mercr. Rust. p. 16.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

FELTON, NICHOLAS, . Stretham, R. in the Iſle of Ely, worth 200*l.* a Year.
He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester in 1644; for Obſerving the Orders of the Church; Aſſerting the King's Cauſe, and Diſowning that of the Parliament.

FURNACE, EDMOND, . Wiſbech, St. Peter's and St. Mary's, V. in the Iſle of Ely.
Mr. Lee was Sequeſtred from one of the Wiſbeches (quære if there be another beſides thoſe two, or if not, whether there might not be Two Sufferers in one of them, tho' the time of Mr. Lee's Sequeſtration is indeed much the ſame with the Date of this Order of the Committee for Plundered Miniſters. See Mr. Lee.

The only Authority which I have for this Sequeſtration, is, that I find an Order from the Committe for Plundered Miniſters, dated Dec. 23, 1643, impowering certain Perſons to take care of, and provide for, the Cure of theſe Places; and Mr. Furnace is, by the ſame Order, commanded, at his Peril, quietly to permit them ſo to do. Which, if I apprehend aright, was an Order conſequent upon his Sequeſtration. However, quære.

See Hundered

CHESHIRE.

FORD, ——, . Over, V. then worth 100*l. per Ann.*
He was Harraſſed, and Threatened out of it.

CORNWALL.

FLAVELL, THOMAS, A. M. Ruan-Major, R.
And
Mullion, V. Both worth 150*l. per An.*
This Gentleman, the Son of Dr. John Flavell, Prebendary of Exeter, and Rector of Tallaton in this County, was Educated at Trinity-College in Oxford; and marry'd a near Kinſwoman of the then Biſhop Hall. He was not only Sequeſtred, but Plunder'd alſo: And having attempted ſomething for his Majeſty's Service, was diligently ſought after to be hanged; and forced for ſome time to hide himſelf in the Rocks. He had at that time a Wife and 12 Children, Nine Sons and Three Daughters. The Sufferings of this Family differ'd however, from thoſe of many others, in this; that they were not Turned out of doors, but permitted to live in the Parſonage-Houſe: Which Favour was poſſibly allowed them by the Intruder, one Bruſe, inſtead of Fitzſe; of which he paid very little, and what he did pay, was with the utmoſt Difficulty and Trouble. Mr. Flavell out-out-lived the Uſurpation, was Reſtored to his Preferments, Collated to a Prebend in the Church of Exeter, Jan. 18, 1660, in the Place of Mr. Tom. Shute deceaſed, and died about the Year 1682. He was a very worthy Perſon, a Man of ſingular Courage and Boldneſs, and ventur'd to attend Colonel Penruddock, in Priſon at leaſt (if not on the Scaffold) and to bury him by the Common-Prayer. He was alſo a Venerable Old Gentleman; and look'd the more ſo in thoſe Times, for that he had Vowed never to cut off his Beard till the Return of his Majeſty to his Kingdoms; by which time he had gotten a very long one.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 1

Digitized by Google

FOTHERBY, CHARLES, B. D.
St. Ive, R. . . . . .
Southill, R.: . . . . . } And Callington, ... }

See Exeter-Cathedral.

FOWLER, ——, . Lenver, .

FRANK, ——, . Gwinear, V.

I think he came not in till 1647. See Mr. Wishart in this County

FROHOK, HENRY, . Withiel, R.
He was Diſpoſeſs'd in 1651. The main Article againſt him, was, that he had play'd (whether at Cards, or what other Game, I know not) a Penny wet, and a Penny dry. He was Reſtored in 1660, and died in 1681.

There was no ſettled Miniſter in this Living for near Five Years of the Uſurpation.

FURSE, ——, : Talland, .

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

FORBEST, JAMES, . Bovey-Tracy, V.
He was a Scotchman by Birth, but Educated in the Univerſity of Cambridge. He had been abroad in Germany on ſome Occaſion, and was a Chaplain in that unfortunate Expedition at the Iſle of Rhee, where he ſo much recommended himſelf to the Duke of Buckingham, and other Great Perſons, that by their Intereſt he got this Living from the Crown. He was a Man of Excellent Learning and Piety; and very Laborious in the Diſcharge of his Function. He was alſo a Perſon of moſt Firm and Inviolable Loyalty, and of an Undaunted Courage; the latter of which was a very neceſſary Requiſite in the Clergy at that time, to ſupport them under thoſe Sufferings, which the Former never failed to bring upon them.

'Tis impoſſible to expreſs how he was Haraſſed. Parties were frequently ſent out to take him; but miſſing him, they Robb'd his Houſe, Plunder'd, and Spoil'd what they could not carry off. He was Sequeſtred by the Committee (or Commiſſioners) at Exeter. Twelve Articles were drawn up againſt him; the Sum of which was, Loyalty to his Prince. One of them only was prov'd; which was, that when 30 l. was demanded of him for the Parliament, he ſaid, he would lend it them to buy Halters to hang them all. He was firſt ſucceeded by one Tucker, who had been, as it is affirm'd, a Weaver; but travelling firſt to Oxford, and from thence to the Parliament-Army, he became a Preacher, and at length obtained this Good Living; which however was not, as it ſeems, Equal to his Merit: For ſome time after, 'tis ſaid, he was promoted to a Better in Somerſetſhire. His Talents being ſuited to the Humour of the Times; for he was a moſt bitter, furious, turbulent Fellow; uſed to Preach with a Sword by his Side, deface'd miſerably the Church of Bovey; tore down, not only the King's-Arms, but the very Commandments; and with his own Hands labour'd to ſaw the Font in Pieces, which he partly did; but being weary, he deſiſted from that Enterprize, and left it, as it remains to this day, a Monument of his Sacrilege. He governed the Pariſhioners with a very high Hand; and poor Mr. Forbeſt more particularly, felt the Weight of it.

The next Intruder was one Chr. Lee, who was no Scholar, and little better than Cracky-brain'd. He had once a Deſign, as 'twas verily thought, to have murther'd his Man; but the Fellow not only prevented him, but returned the Attempt with a hearty Baſtinado. The ſame Fellow often declar'd, that he had ſeveral times kept him from murthering his Wife. He likewiſe inſulted Mr. Forbeſt, and uſed him ill, whilſt he tarried on this Living, which was about a Year. After which, the Pariſh having endeavoured to make him as uneaſie as they could, he remov'd to Bradwinck in this County, and died ſuddenly on the Road betwixt that Place and Exeter. To him ſucceeded one Joſeph Edgecomb, who had indeed ſeen Oxford, but brought nothing thence, except what little he had carry'd thither. He was a very poor, ſilly Man; and herding in with a Club of Combers, became in time ſuch a Sott, that 'twas ſaid, he was never without a Brandy-Bottle in his Pocket. He permitted a Fellow to ſell Ale in the Vicaridge Houſe, notwithſtanding he liv'd in it himſelf. This however muſt be ſaid in his Favour, that he much reſpected Mr. Forbeſt, honeſtly paid him his Fifths, and quietly Reſigned to him on the Reſtoration; for which Mr. Forbeſt afterwards profited to maintain him, but he refuſed it; and retiring to Taviſtock in this County, died there not long after. Mr. Forbeſt lived throughout the whole time of the Uſurpation in his Pariſh, and had the entire Love and Reſpect of the Pariſhioners, though the Others had the Pulpit and the Profits. He died about the Year 1670, being then 80 Years of Age.

See more of him at Mr. Pharo in the Appendix.

FOSTER, THOMAS, A. M. Fatway, R.

He was Turned out for Refuſing the Covenant: After which, he ſojourned with one Robert Cox, a Farmer in his Pariſh, till the time of his Death; which happened about three or four Years after his Sequeſtration: During which, his Fifths were duly paid him. He left a Widow, but no Child, behind him. He was a Man of ſound Learning, and unblamable Converſation.

FRANK, WILLIAM, A.M. Cruwys-Morchard, R.
And Poughil, R. . . . . }

His Caſe is ſomewhat peculiar; and therefore I ſhall ſet it down, as far as it concerns the Sequeſtration, in thoſe very Words wherein I have received it, and leave the Reader to make his own Judgment upon it. 'He was ſeveral times had 'before Ford, and other Commiſſioners at Exon; 'but being Maſter of Arts (and ſome Years

Digitized by Google

canſt not find any thing at all for the Parliament. He was at that time Sixty two Years of Age, and had a Lameneſs upon him, in one of his Hips; but without regard to either age or lameneſs, they fell on him again with their Poll-Axes; and beat him, and bruiſed him in ſuch a Barbarous manner, that they made him a very Cripple, without all poſſibility of Recovering the uſe of his Limbs. And to Enhance the Humanity of this Outrage, all this was done in the Preſence of his Wife and Children, who with bended Knees entreated Mercy and Compaſſion for him; but all in vain: for inſtead of that, ſome of the Kindred and Friends of Captain Buck, who had ſent them on this Errand, ſtood by, ſneering, and Clapt their Hands for Joy. This moſt accurſed Treatment of poor old Mr. Fowler, threw him into a Bleeding, which laſted ſix Hours; inſomuch that he was not able to ſtand. The next day likewiſe he loſt his Retentive Faculty, and his Urine came from him Inſenſibly; in which wretched Condition he continued very near a Month. Nor was this all; for by the many Contuſions and Knocks, which he Received on his Head with their Poll-Axes, he loſt his Hearing, which was not for ſometime, if ever, perfectly recover'd. At the ſame time alſo, they rifl'd his Houſe, particularly his Study, and took away all that was of value and portable.

This Uſage one would think, ſhould have ſatisfied the moſt Inveterate Rancor and Malice in the World; but it ſeems Captain Buck was not of that Opinion: and therefore ſome Months after, he comes in Perſon to Mr. Fowler's Houſe, breaks open the Window of his Son's Study, who was a Phyſician; Enters the Houſe that way, and deſtroyed ſeveral things of very great value in the way of Phyſicks as Extract of Pearl, Aurum Potabile, Confection of Amber, Pearl in Boxes, Bezoar-ſtone, Compound Waters, &c. Upon which, one of Mr. Fowler's Daughters telling Buck, he might be aſhamed to ſpoil ſuch things: He pretently call'd her Whore, and knock'd her down with his Poll-Ax; and being riſen again, knock'd her down a Second time, and after that a Third time, and would no doubt a Fourth, had ſhe then been able to riſe again. Upon which Mrs. Fowler asking him, if he thought 'twas poſſible for her to ſtand by, and ſee her Child Murdered; Buck preſently, without any regard either to her Age, or Sex, caught her by the Throat, knock'd her down; and when down, kick'd her, and trampl'd on her with his Feet. After which, he and his Rabble Plundered the Houſe, and ſo departed. If this monſtrous Barbarity exceeds Belief, let it be known, that Auguſt the 18. 1643. it was depoſed upon Oath before Sir Robert Heath, Lord Chief Juſtice of the King's-Bench.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

FABIAN, WILLIAM, . Letton, R.

He was Reſtored in 1660.

FORD, FRANCIS, . Kinnerſley, R.

He was Sequeſtred, and alſo forced to fly for his ſafety; was an able Scholar and Divine, an Excellent Preacher, and a Man of an Holy Life. At the time of his Death, he left a Widow with five ſmall Children, and nothing but a few Houſhold-Goods and Books to maintain them. I find her afterwards Supported by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

See Sir Ver-ney in that County, and a Note there.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

FALTROP, THOMAS, Little-Barkhamſted, R.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd ſome time after 1648: Two of the chief Articles againſt him, as I have been aſſured, were theſe; Firſt, that he had diſſuaded his Pariſhoners from going into the Service of the Parliament; the Proof of which was this: Philip Hill, one of his Pariſh, had an only Son, who was reſolved to go a Volunteer into the Parliament Army; upon which, the old Man comes to Mr. Faltrop, and Intreats him to diſſuade his Son from that Project; which he accordingly did, and prevailed with the Young Fellow to ſtay at Home. But ſome time afterwards, this Old Villain went and Informed againſt Mr. Faltrop, for diſcouraging the Parliament-Service, and alledg'd this Inſtance of his Own Son. The Second Article was, his having Inclaſed Six Acres of Land out of a Common, called Pound-Field; and the Informer and Accuſer in this matter likewiſe, was one William How, who was the very Fellow that had put him upon it, only for the ſake of being Imployed in the Work. After he was diſpoſſeſs'd, they would not permit him to tarry in the Pariſh, Threatening his very Life if he ſtayed; and once Surrounded his Houſe on all ſides, in order to Apprehend him: Upon which he fled to Sewell-ſtreet in the County of Middleſex, with a Lame Daughter, whoſe I think, was his only Child; 'where for * want of what Law and good Conſcience Invited him to, he was reduced to 'great Extremities, and ended his miſerable Life 'exchanging it no doubt for a better) in the 'Year 1660, juſt before King Charles the Second's 'Reſtoration.

* In plain words, he was, as it ſeems, in a manner ſtarved.

FAUCETTE, THOMAS, B.D. Kimpton, V. worth 120 l. a Year, And Aſton, V. in Warwickſhire. . .

He was Brother to Colonel Faucette, the Governor of Wincheſtock for His Majeſty; and being turned out of his Living of Kimpton, about the Year, 1643, lay 17 Years under Sequeſtration. During which the bare Income of that Living amounted to about 200 l. He was alſo twice Impriſoned, once at St. Albans; but in what Place his Second Impriſonment was, I do not know. He was a bold Man, and utterly refuſed to pay the wicked Taxes laid on him and other Loyaliſts, to carry on the Rebellion; until the King did in a manner give him Order to do it; by ſaying to Colonel Faucette, Why ſhould your Brother Ruin himſelf, when he can do me no Service by it? The Sequeſtration of this Gentleman at the former of theſe Places, hath ſomething very peculiar in it; which is, that in Truth it was rather an Act of Favour than Cruelty, to diſmiſs him; for his Wife made it appear before the Committee at Hertford, that when all the Taxes and Impoſitions laid on her Huſband were paid, he had not 10 l. a Year left; out of which alſo, he was to Quarter four Men and three Horſes. His firſt Succeſſor at Kimpton, on the Sequeſtration, was One who, God knew his Heart, took it only (if you will believe him) to keep out others, and ſave the Profits for Mr. Faucette; but had the Grace never to pay him one Farthing, ſo much as of the Fifths. Whether he had more * Succeſſors, or who they were, if any, I know not; but Mr. Faucette after his Sequeſtration did, as I find, retire into

* Till 1657, when I find Walter Walkeham Succeeded.

Digitized by Google

† The Vicaridge of Alston abovementioned, as I make no Question, from which I find, by other Informations, one Tho. Fancett was Sequeſtred, and therefore I have ſubjoyned that Living alſo to his Name.

into Warwickſhire, where he got † ſome Place, but was ſoon driven thence likewiſe: After which, about the Year 1646, he came to the ſmall Vicaridge of Harold in Bedfordſhire; where he continu'd to Perform all the Services of the Church of England, until 1660; at which happy Seaſon he returned again to * Kimpton, where he died May 27, 1667, leaving then behind him a Widow and Six Children; the Former of which, was Reliev'd by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. I have nothing more to add of him, but that he was a Pious Good Man.

* But I do not find, he claimed Alſton again. Quare.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

FAWKNER, ANTHONY, . Saltry-Moyne, R.

See Northamptonſhire.

KENT.

See Mr Harriſon in this County.

FOTHERSBY, FRANCIS, . St. Clement's in Sandwich, V.
And Lingſtead, R. . . . . .

White's Cent. P. 4.

For Malignancy, together with the Hackney-Imputations of Drunkenneſs and Swearing.

LANCASHIRE.

FAIRFAX, ——, D. D. Aſhton under Line, R.
And
Bolton-Percy, R. in Yorkſhire. . .

Barn. Oley's Preface to Herb. Country Parſon.

He was Son to the old Lord Cameron, and conſequently Younger Brother to Ferdinand, Lord Fairfax; and had been Fellow of Trinity-College in Cambridge. He was driven from the Former of theſe Livings by Threatenings, &c. After which he retired into Yorkſhire. His Succeſſor at Alſton was one Harriſon; who was Inducted at leaſt (if not Inſtituted) to this Living, according to the Mode of the Times, by a Party of Soldiers. He alſo Rifled the Doctor's Books and Papers.

Whether he got the Living of Bolton-Percy upon Event from Alſton, or whether he had it before, and ſo Retired to it, I know not.

It ſeem's probable to me, that he might be the ſame Perſon with the Prebendary of York, of this Name, aſtheſe, if I am not miſ-informed in their reſpective Degrees, they muſt have been different Perſons. Quere.

The Excellent Mr. Barnabas Oley, one of the Ejected Fellows of Clare-Hall in Cambridge, in his Preface to Mr. Herbert's Country Parſon, mentioning Dr. Fairfax's Sequeſtration from the Living in Yorkſhire, ſaith, That he was a Regular and Sober Man, and that we may well conclude, he was Sequeſtred for his good Affection to God and the King, if his Brother or Nephew could not ſecure him.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

FOE, FRANCIS, . Barkby, V.
He was a very good Man.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

FORSTER, THOMAS, . * South-Witham, V.

* This I take to be the Living which he Loſt.

He was Reduced to ſuch Poverty, that his Widow was at laſt Suſtained by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

There was One of both theſe Names Sequeſtred in Devonſhire, who died under the Uſurpation, and left a Widow behind him; But I have good reaſon to think, that he could not be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

MIDDLESEX.

†FEATLY, DANIEL, D.D. Aſton, R.

† Or Fairclough.

See the Liſt of London.

Mem. Rep. Eccleſ Vol. I. p. 372.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

FAIRIES, WILLIAM, . Naiſſ-gouldiſſe-Widſton, V.

Before 1649.

FIELD, PLAYFORD, . Penbow, R.

Sequeſtred by the Propagators, for Inſufficiency, and Reading the Common-Prayer.

FLOWR, ——, . Langatog, R.
He liv'd to be Reſtored.

‡ FOWLER, PHIL. . Languttock juxta Uſk, R.

‡ Or Hawker

Before 1649.

FRAMPTON, ——, . ‡ Bringuin, R.

‡ If I do not miſ-read it.

He alſo lived to be Reſtored.

NORFOLK.

FAWCET, GEORGE, . Reefingham, .

FLICK, NATH. . Hardingham, R. worth 120*l.* a Year,
And
* Creeting, R. in Suffolk. . . .

* Which of the ſeveral

Reſtories of this Name in Suffolk, I know not.

One of both theſe Names was Fellow of Corpus Chriſti College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1622.

He

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester in 1644; for Obſerving the Orders of the Church; Railing againſt the Parliament; ſaying, they were going to root out Popery, and bring in the Devil, but he had rather have the former than the latter; for being a Contentious Perſon alſo, as likewiſe for * having been Impriſoned for Words againſt the Earl of Eſſex, and for ſeeming to have been diſtemper'd with Drink.

* The Reader will obſerve from hence, that he had been alſo Impriſoned.

FORTH, JOHN, . Swainſthorp, R. He had a Wife and Three Children.

FRANKLIN, EDWARD, D.D. Great Greſſingham, R. worth 140*l.* a Year, And Little Greſſingham, R. . . . . }

Or Creſſingham.

He was alſo Proſecuted with the utmoſt Hardſhips from Place to Place; and at laſt, the Houſe where he was, being beſet with Soldiers, he endeavoured to make his Eſcape through a Garden; but as he was getting over the Pales, one of them run him into his Groyn, of which he ſoon after died. He had then a Wife and Four Children, was Eminent for a ſtrict Piety, and an unblemiſhed Life and Converſation, and was ſucceeded in the former of theſe Livings by an Obſcure Lecturer of Sudbury in Suffolk.

He laſt both theſe Livings; unleſs one of them be miſtaken for the other: For the Account of each is from a different Hand.

Quere if he did not alſo loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 10*l.* per Annum.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

FAWKNER, ANTH. . Bulwick, R. worth 150*l.* a Year, And * Sowtree-Maynes, R. in Huntingſhire, worth 120*l.* a Year. . . }

* Or Sabry-Maynes.

He was a Native of the County of Rutland, and Enter'd firſt of Wadham-College; from whence he was Tranſlated to that of Jeſus, in the Univerſity of Oxford, and was afterwards Chaplain to Sir Lewis Watſon of Northamptonſhire. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was forc'd away into the King's Army (where he became Chaplain to the Lord Capell) having been in danger of being Murther'd in his own Church, at the very Altar, by ſome of the Parliament Soldiers. His only Crime was Loyalty; for which he not only Suffer'd the Loſs of both his Livings, but one much greater; being for no other Cauſe Diſ-inherited by an Uncle, of an Eſtate ſo conſiderable, as to make a Family now in Rutland, who have Repreſented the County in Parliament. He was a Man of Great Parts and Learning; inſomuch that he was Promiſed a Biſhopriek, had he out-lived the Uſurpation. He hath ſeveral Sermons extant (one Preached at St. Paul's Croſs) the Account of which ſee in Wood.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 317.

FARWER, RICHARD, . Charwelton, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

He had been Fellow of Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, and was a very Learned, Grave Man, an Excellent Preacher, and of an Exemplary Life. He had then ſome things Extant, and others ready for the Preſs. His Succeſſor was one H——, a Poor, Drunken, Scotch Curate.

FOLIOT, ——, . Alderton, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

He was Son to Sir —— Foliot of Worceſterſhire, by whoſe Intereſt with the Lord Keeper Coventry, he was Preſented to this Rich Living. One of his Succeſſors was, in the ſtricteſt literal Sence, really and truly a Ballad-ſinger.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

FALDER, JOHN, . Shilbottle, V. He was Turned out in 1648, and very ill uſed after his Sequeſtration; being Robb'd abroad and Plundered at home. He was likewiſe forbid to keep School, or to uſe the Common-Prayer in a Private Congregation in his own Houſe. His Wife could never recover the Fifths; but inſtead of it, was Reviled and Abuſed. He lived to Re-poſſeſs his Living in 1660; and was a Man of Good Learning, and an Unblamable Life.

FORSTER, GEORGE, . Bolam, V. He was Turned out in the Year 1645, and Severely Fined, for not giving up the Living quietly, and without Oppoſition. He had 4*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* a Year allowed him out of it, which they called Fifths, and that ill paid. So that he was forced to take a ſmall Farm to Support his Family: Where he was frequently Dragooned and Plundered of his Hay, Corn, &c. He was twice like to have been Impriſoned at Newcaſtle, but he got Bail. He continued in private to Perform Holy Offices according to the Common-Prayer-Book, which made ſome Addition to his Subſiſtence. Some time before the Reſtoration they gave, or allowed him to take, the Small Chapel of Witton, worth about Four Pounds a Year. He was Reſtored in 1660, and died in 1694, Aged 81.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXFORDSHIRE.

FULLHAM, EDWARD, A.M. Wootton, R.

See the Church of Chicheſter.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

S A L O P.

FLEETWOD, JAMES, D.D. Preſt, V. See the Church of Lichfield.

FOWLER, THOMAS, D.D. Whitchurch, R.

He was deſcended from a Good Family in Staffordſhire; was ſome time Chaplain to the Earl of Bridgwater, and Tutor to one of the Sons of that Noble Lord. He was Turned out for Refuſing the Covenant. His Temporal Eſtate alſo Chauncy's Hiſt. p. 516. Where for his Character and Epitaph at large.

Digitized by Google

his Parishioners for not coming up to the Rails to Receive the Sacrament; Neglect of Cure; being disguised with Liquor; suspected of Incontinency; and for Malignancy.

FREEMAN, ——, . Occold, R.

SURREY.

* Or Peatly. * FAIRCLOUGH, JOHN, .——, See Lincoln-Cathedral.

SUSSEX.

WARWICKSHIRE.

FAWCETT, THOMAS, . Alston, V.

See him in Hertfordshire.

FLEETWOOD, JAMES, D. D. Sutton-Colfield, R.

See Lichfield-Church.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

FORSTER, NATH. . Allington, R. worth, as I take it, 100*l.* a Year.

He liv'd to be Restored. During the Usurpation, if I miſtake not, he kept a private School at Salisbury, and Read the Liturgy, in his own Houſe there, to a full Congregation. He was, if I conjecture right, a Peaceable Man, and of an Unblamable Life.

There are two Vicarages in this Country, and unleſs in ſuch Information which I have Received, one of them be miſtaken for the other, there were two Perſons turned out of this Living. See Mr. Kent in this County.

FORWARD, ——, . Fiſherton by Salisbury, R.

He was a very conſiderable Man.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

† I am not certain, but I have ſome reaſon to Believe, this was the Living which he loſt; Which of the ſeveral Livings of this Name in this County, I cannot gueſs.

FARLEY, RICHARD, . † Upton, .

He otherwiſe Suffered alſo for the Royal Cauſe, to the utter Ruin of himſelf and Family: Inſomuch that when he Died, he left his Widow in ſuch a poor and mean Condition, that, ſhe was forced to ſue for the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; by which ſhe was afterwards Supported.

YORKSHIRE.

FAIRFAX, ——, D. D. Bolton-Percy, R.

See Lancaſhire.

FAULKIN, ——, . Bainton, on the Wolds, .

He was Succeeded by one Robert Johnſon, who, if I miſtake not, gave up this Living to him again on the Reſtoration. I find the Committee of Plundered Miniſters ordered to bring in the Ordinance for it, in February, 1643.

FLATHERS, THOMAS, A. M. North-Grinſton, V. in the Eaſt-Riding.

He was alſo Impriſoned, Plundered likewiſe of his Corn and Horſes, Aſſaulted in his Houſe, and brought into Imminent Danger of his Life.

FOTHERGILL, ——, . Pontefract, V.

He Lived to the Reſtoration, and having gotten better Preferment, did not return to his Vicaridge, but quitted it (if I miſtake not) to Dr. Drake, who then Succeeded.

'Tis impoſſible I ſhould mention this Living, without remembring how much I am obliged to the worthy Mr. Drake, the preſent Vicar and one of the Prebendaries of the Cathedral-Church of York: from whom I have received a very great Number of moſt Ingenious, and moſt uſeful Informations, relating both to the Sequeſtrations of the Clergy under the Uſurpation, and to the Ejectment of the Intruders after his Majeſty's Return. For which I am Infinitely more Indebted to him, than 'tis poſſible for me to Diſcharge, either by doing him this Publick Juſtice, or by returning a moſt grateful ſence of that Favour as I have, or by any other way.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

CARDIGAN.

FOWKES, LEWIS, . Tregarran, V. By the Commiſſioners for Propagation; for ſeveral Scandals; among which, are Drunkenneſs and Inceſt.

If I read his Name aright.

CAERMARTHENSHIRE.

CAERNARVAN.

DENBEIGH.

FLOYD, DAVID, . Llanganhafel, R. The Place continued Six Years void, after his Ejectment.

FLOYD,

Digitized by Google

FLOYD, SAMUEL, . * Greſſford, .

* Whether this R. or the V. in this County, I know not.

FLINT.

FLOYD, EVAN, . Holywell, V.

GLAMORGAN.

FOWLER, ——, . * Lantrythyd, R.
And
Sulley, R. The Two computed at 140 l. a Year. . . . . .

* Or Llantrithydd, which I take to be the ſame Living; if not, the Incumbent of that Living alſo was Sequeſtred, and is muſt be added in a Diſtinct Article, to the Numbers of this Lift.

He was alſo uſed in a very ſevere manner by the Ravagers of theſe Parts, and Died in the midſt of his Troubles. I find that he had been Sequeſtred ſome time before the Year 1649; and if I gueſs aright, it was about the Year 1644. His Death happening ſo ſoon after his Ejectment, made way for a Second Perſon to ſucceed and ſuffer in Sulley, if I miſtake not. See Mr. Curre in this County.

MERIONETH.

FLOYD, EDWARD, . Llanyſwer, .

The Living lay Void after his Ejectment, a long time.

MONTGOMERY.

FOULKS, ——, . Wygod, .

FLOYD, THOMAS, . Llongywin, .

In 1651: But he got it again Two Years before the Reſtoration.

PEMBROKE.

FORTUNE, LAURENCE, . Dale, .

I am not certain whether he was Vicar, or only Curate. Therefore I leave it as a Quere.

RADNOR.

FENN, ——, . ——, .
Somewhere, as I conjecture, about Suffolk. He had been Ejected in, or before the Year 1644.

FLINT, ——, . ——, .
His Sequeſtration is intimated in ſome of my Informations; and I gueſs by them that it was ſomewhere in the Diocеſs of Norwich. I ſuppoſe he is a different Perſon from Mr. Flint, the Curate of † Haroden, who will be afterwards mentioned in the Appendix.

† Which I take to be in Northamptonſhire.

FOSTER, ——, D. D. ——, .
I find his bare Name Occaſionally mentioned (among thoſe of ſeveral other Sequeſtred Miniſters, whoſe Ejectments are more expreſsly aſſerted) in ſome Papers which I have received. Whether he might be the ſame with any of the fore mentioned Foſters, or Forſters, I cannot tell.

FRECKLETON, ——, . ——, .
His Widow was at laſt reduced to ſuch Poverty, that ſhe was compelled to ſeek for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

FREWEN, STEPHEN, D.D. ——, .
His Eſtate was alſo forfeited for Treaſon, by an Act of Nov. 18, 1652. In that Act he is ſaid to have been late of the Univerſity of Oxford. There is no ſuch Perſon occurs among the Ejected Heads or Fellows of that Univerſity: Nor do I find him in any of the Cathedrals; and therefore take it for granted, that it was ſome Parochial Preferment which he Loſt. For that he had been Poſſeſs'd of ſome Preferments or other, ſeems highly probable from his Degree; and that he was Diſpoſſeſs'd of it, will appear no leſs probable; when it is conſidered, that his Temporal Eſtate was declared to be Forfeited, on the Pretence of his being a Traytor. However, quare further.

Sculk. Collect. Part II. p. 120.

I ſhall have Occaſion to mention ſome others as Sequeſtred, on no other Authority than that of this Act; which I preſume, the Reader will conſider ſufficient, when he is informed, that I find by other Informations, many of the Clergymen mentioned in the Act, on the ſame Account with this Doctor, were, in Fact, diſpoſſeſſed of their Livings.

G.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKSHIRE.

GODMAN, GODFREY, D.D. Weſtbury, R.

See Gloucester-Cathedral.

BUCKS.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

GIBBES, CHARLES, . Gamlingay, R.

He was born at Hunnington in Warwickſhire, and Educated in the Univerſity of Oxford; where he became Fellow of Merton-College, and a noted Diſputant, Orator, and Preacher, there. By that Society he was Preſented to the Rectory of Gamlingbay; where he was afterwards Harraſſed into a Reſignation, to prevent a Formal Sequeſtration. After which which he retired to Canterbury, and kept a private School there. Immediately upon the Reſtoration he was made Rector of Standford-Rivers in Eſſex, and two Years after, Prebendary of Weſtminſter. He was alſo Created D. D. at Oxford, and Died in 1681. He hath a Volume of Sermons Extant; and was chiefly concerned in Collecting and Reviſing the Sermons of Dr. Walter Rawleigh, who had married his Siſter; but he died before he had ſtirred them for the Preſs; leaving behind him the Character of a Loyal and Religious Perſon, and of a Charitable and Good Neighbour.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 513.

See the Ch. of Wells, and quære. This Relation of his to Dr. Rawleigh, the ſuffering Dean above, ſeems to adhere to Gibbon there mentioned: The Wood is wholly ſilent as to any Preferment that he had in that Church.

GOADE, THOMAS, . Eaſt-Hatly, R.

He ought rather to have been Hanged than Sequeſtred, if what is Charged upon him in the Century be true: As, that he had been formerly Deprived of a Living for his Immoralities; notwithſtanding which, he continued to be moſt frequently and moſt ſottiſhly Drunk, even to Beſtiality: Inſomuch that he was not only diſabled ſometimes from Officiating, but once more particularly, when the Sacrament was to have been Adminiſtred at his Church, he came from an Alehouſe, where he had lain all Night, ſo Reeling Drunk, that he fell all along twice or thrice. He is alſo there charged with horrid Curſing and Swearing, and with often ſaying when he uſed to be drunk, Now Devil, do thy worſt. But then his Neglect of the Parliament Faſt, his Malignancy, and Obſerving the Rules of the Church, are ſubjoyned in the Cloſe of his Accuſation; which, methinks, ſhould be needleſs, had he been ſo outragiouſly Wicked and Profane, as he is there otherwiſe Repreſented.

P. 27.

Vit. 20 Years before.

GREEK, THOMAS, . Carleton-cum-Willingham, R.

He had been Fellow of Trinity-College in Cambridge, and loſt both his Life and Living by the Wars. In what manner he loſt the Former, I do not find; but his Widow, or ſome of his Family, did, I perceive, at length Petition for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

GREY, NICHOLAS, D. D. Caſtle-Camps, . worth 160*l. per Ann.*

See Eaton-College.

GRIMER, ROBERT, . * Wicken, .

* Although quære if this be not a Daughter-Church, or ſome ſort of Curacy.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, Aug. 30, 1644, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church; Diſaffection to the Parliament Cauſe; particularly, the Sin of Omiſſion, in having never exhorted the People to take the Covenant, is laid to his Charge; giving notice of the Saints Days, but not of the Parliament Faſts; and being a great Swearer.

GUNNING, PETER, A. M. Little St. Mary's, . in Cambridge.

See Clare-Hall there.

CHESHIRE.

GLOVER, THOMAS, . Weſt-Kirby, R.

Deprived for Delinquency. In 1654, one John Cartwright was Preſented to this Living.

CORNWALL.

GAMMON, ——, . Maugan and * Markin, R.

* Which I preſume is a Chapelry, or Church annexed.

I find this Living in the Hands of the Coniſh Sequeſtrators, and have this Name in a Liſt of the Sequeſtred Clergy of this County: So that I make no queſtion of his having been Ejected; altho' it muſt be owned, I have been otherwiſe informed, that he was not put under a Formal Sentence, but ſo miſerably Harraſs'd, that it broke his Heart. And ſuppoſing this alone is true, it will, I preſume, give him a ſufficient Title to a Place here. There was one Hannibal Gammon, a Londoner by Birth, and Son of a Gentleman there, who had been bred at Broadgate's-Hall, now Pembroke-Hall, in Oxford, and afterwards became Miniſter of this Pariſh. He was doubtleſs the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer; and ſo had, it ſeems, in the Beginning of the Wars, but even too much countenanc'd the Puritanical Party, and in 1643, was choſen one of the Aſſembly of Divines. But by his Sufferings 'tis plain that he could not altogether run in with them; and therefore in good meaſure taſted of that Bitter Cup, which they had mix'd for all that were not equally Rebels with themſelves. He was, as I have been informed, a very Reverend and Learned Man: and Wood ſaith, was much Frequented by the Puritanical Party (before the Height of the Rebellion, as I preſume) for his Edifying, and Practical way of Preaching.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 26.

He hath ſome Sermons Extant.

GIBBS, ——, . Gorran, .

GOLDSMITH, ——, . Keverne, V.

GOSHIP, ——, . St. Udy, .

GRILLS, FRANCIS, . Lanrith, .

CUMBERLAND.

GRAINGER, WILLIAM, . Bromfield, .

His Family, I find, were at length reduced to great Neceſſities; and ſome of them Petitioned for the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. Which is all that I know more of him.

DERBYSHIRE.

Digitized by Google

DEVONSHIRE.

GANDY, JOHN, A. M. South-Brent, V. See the Church of Salisbury.

GAY, HUMPHRY, . Gidley, R. An ancient Clergy-Man, who Lived through thoſe Times, and was himſelf in ſome meaſure a Sufferer by them, tells me, he thinks this Gentleman was Sequeſtred. But if I well remember, I have heard from the Pauſh, that there was no Sequeſtration there; and therefore I leave it doubtful. I find Mr. Gay Poſſeſs'd of this Living after the Reſtoration.

GAY, MATTHEW, A. M. Brattam-Fleming, R.

He was turned out about the Year 1645, and lay 14 Years under Sequeſtration. He was forced to fly, and for part of that time, Abſcond in Wales: But he could more eaſily convey away his Perſon than his Goods; which fell into the Hands of the Plunderers. After ſome time he Returned into this County, and Lived at South-Melton, until the time of his Death, which happened in the Year, 1659. * His Immediate Succeſſor was Mr. Anthony Palmer, who loſt this Living for Nonconformity in 1662.

* Abridg. P. 105. Mr. Adminiſtred the Sacrament but Once in 14 Years.

Or Geers, a no Common Name pronounced Getches.

GETSIUS, DANIEL, A. M. Bigbury, R.

He doth not not ſtand on an equal Foot with the Reſt of thoſe mentioned in this Liſt; as well for that he had no other Title to this Living, than ſuch as the Confuſions could allow him, as becauſe I do not find that he had actual Poſſeſſion of it: But he was Preſented to it in the Year 1650, by the Marquiſs of Wincheſter; who being a Romaniſt, Mr. Getſius took out the Broad-Seal for it; but by the Authority of Mr. Hughes of Plymouth, he was not permitted to Enjoy it. One Hammond kept it till the Reſtoration; at which time Mr. Getſius Returned, and Poſſeſs'd it upon his old Title.

One William Gibbe, A. M. was ſome time Vicar of Hitchin in Hertfordſhire, Though I preſume he could hardly be the ſame Perſon with this Subject. Chauncy. Ant. P. 192.

GIBBS, WILLIAM, . Ipplepen, V.

He was, as I have been Informed, driven from this Living by the Parliament Army; and 'twas thought they would have Murdered him, could they have caught him. He Returned and Re-poſſeſs'd it in 1660.

Culm at that Time ſtiling as the Glebe.

GIFFORD, ARTH. . Bythe-ford, . then worth 300 l. per Annum.

He was Deſcended from the Ancient Family of his Name, at Brightly in this County; and was a Brother to the moſt Loyal Colonel Gifford, who had been many times Decimated, Sequeſtred, and Impriſoned for his Loyalty and Service to His Majeſty. He was Educated at, and if I miſtake not, was Fellow of Exeter-College in Oxford; being 20 Years ſtanding there. * He was preſented to this Living by his Kinſman, afterwards the moſt Noble Earl of Bath; but was Diſpoſſeſs'd of it again about the Year 1648; for no other Crime than his Loyalty. His great Enemy (I cannot ſay without: Reaſon, becauſe he was to Succeed him in his Living, if he could get him Thrown out) was one Bartlet; who, as I have been told, had been Curate to Mr. Gifford's Predeceſſor; but was then a violent Independent, and had at that time gotten ſo much Intereſt, as in Conjunction with other Sectaries of the Town, to get Mr. Gifford Sequeſtred, and himſelf Subſtituted in his Place. However the old Gentleman did not quietly give up his Living; and therefore a Party of Horſe were Ordered to force him out of it by Violence; which they did, and uſed him barbarouſly, throwing Dirt upon him, and ſome Spitting at him, as he paſs'd along the Streets. Nor did the Malice of his Succeſſor, and other Perſecuters, ſtop here; for when he would have Sowed the ſmall Living of Weſtley, in the Neighbourhood of Bytheford, and have kept a School ſomewhere near the Town alſo, they would not ſuffer ſuch an Eyeſore; and therefore obliged him to Retire from thence. After which he went to Great-Torrington in this County, where he lived with his Brother-in-Law Mr. Harris, Recorder of that Town, until the Reſtoration. There was upon the Glebe at the time of his Sequeſtration, 500 l. worth of Culm; which they alſo Seiz'd, and deprived him of it. Upon the Reſtoration, Mr. Gifford Returned to his Livings, but found the Houſe in a miſerable condition, having been Let out to Weevers; and the very Stones of the Walls carried away to Repair Mr. Bartlet's own Houſe. Notwithſtanding which, Mr. Gifford, with a true Spirit of Chriſtianity (though he had both Opportunity and Importunity to call him to an Account for that and other Matters) cordially, and readily forgave him, both his Debts and Injuries. He died March 18, 1668, and was a Perſon of unſpotted Life, Sober, Juſt, Pious, and Meek to Admiration; as a Perſon that very well knew him, gives his Character: Or, as it is given by another hand, an able Scholar, a Conſtant and painful Preacher, an Orthodox Divine, and a Pious, Good Man.

Priaulx Worth of Devon. P. 345.

* After 1646, which the ſtrenuous Conformiſts did not permit the regular Entry of his Admiſſion, for the laſt Incumbent, which appears in the Biſhop's Regiſter, before that time, was Phil. Hiack, A. M.

Though I have been otherwiſe Informed, that he had no University Education, and therefore I ſhould think would not have been Employed as Curate, unleſs it were after the Wars broke out.

GREGORY, ANTHONY, A. M. Petrockſtow, R. then worth 100, or 120 l. a Year.

He had been Bred in the Univerſity of Cambridge. The great Inſtrument of his Sequeſtration, was Mr. Lewis Stukley, a noted Independent of thoſe Parts; who having by chance ſeen a Letter of this Worthy Gentleman's, by which it appeared, that he had been Inſtrumental in procuring Money for his Majeſty, Teſtified as much before the Committee; which effectually Rooted him out of his Living. I preſume he died under the Uſurpation. Before his Sequeſtration he had conſtantly Preach'd twice a Day, which was not then Uſual in thoſe Parts; and was in ſuch Repute, both for his Life and Doctrine, that many People from Barnſtable and Pilton, both which are 15 miles Diſtant from this Pariſh, Reſorted to hear him. So that Neglect of Cure and Inſufficiency, the Common Pretences in thoſe times, could not be the Cauſes of his Sequeſtration. One of his Succeſſors was Mr. * Trevithiack.

He afterwards got the Living of Charles in this County, which he was permitted to Keep.

* Square Trevilliack. Abr. p. 109

DORSETSHIRE.

DUR-

Digitized by Google

DURHAM.

——, ——, . Gainsford, V. See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A. One of his Succeſſors, if he had more than One, was George Sanderſon; who was Preferred to it in 1655.

ESSEX.

GOULDMAN, FRANCIS, . South-Okendon, R.

He was the well-known Compiler of the Dictionary which now commonly bears his Name. He out-liv'd the Uſurpation, and enjoyed his Living many Years after it.

In 1654, one Abraham Pinchbeck was Profeſſed to this Living.

GRAY, ROBERT, . Maſsbury, V. There was one Dr. Robert Grey, who was Deſcended from the Noble Family of Wark, great Uncle to the late Earl of Tankerville, and a Great Sufferer in theſe Times; being Plundered, Impriſoned, and almoſt Ruined. He was bred at Chriſt-College in Cambridge, under the Famous Mr. Mede. He out-lived the Uſurpation, became Prebendary of Durham, and was living in 1704, but ſince, as I hear, is dead. Quere whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Robert Gray of Maſsbury. If he was not, he ought to be inſerted diſtinctly at the End of the Counties.

GREEN, ——, D. D. Littlebury, R. See Mr. Tucker in this County, and a Note there. See alſo one Dr. Green in Hampſhire, and another in Wiltſhire, and quere.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

GRIFFITHS, THOMAS, . Canon-Pion, V.
And
King's-Pion, ... }

He was alſo Abuſed in his Church, Impriſon'd, and Plundered of all he had. He lived to the Reſtoration, but died ſoon after.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

GILPIN, ——, . Aldbury, R. But quare. One Edward Wyrby was Preferred to this Living in 1654.

Ant. Herſf. p. 496.

GOODWYN, JOHN, . Eaſt-Barnet, R. I conjecture from what Sir H. Chauncy ſays, and from the Letter in which I received the Information of this Sequeſtration, compared with Mr. Newcourt's Repertorium, that this Place hath now (in common ſpeaking at leaſt) the Name of this Rectory; tho' it be indeed no other than a Chapel of Eaſe to High-Barnet, which is the proper Name of the Living; and which was, as 'tis ſaid, put under Sequeſtration in the late Times of Rebellion, during all which, Mr. Goodwyn was the Rightful Incumbent, and conſequently the Sufferer; having been Preſented in 1639, and not Vacating it till by his Death in 1679.

P. 804, 805. Birth which ſee.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. VOL. I. p. 600.

GORSUCH, JOHN, D.D. Walkherne, . In 1652. He was the Son of Daniel Gorſuch of London, Mercer. The Charge againſt him was the Hackney one of Drunkenneſs; as alſo Gaming; ſeldom appearing in the Pulpit, and obſerving the Orders of the Church. But that which carrieth the greateſt Venom in it, is, that he had 'Endeavoured to hire one Jones to ride a Troop-'Horſe for Prince Rupert, to ſerve under him a-'gainſt the Parliament; ſaying withal, he had a 'Snotty-Noſe Jade to ſend to the Parliament to 'Poiſon the whole Band; and had publiſhed a 'wicked Libel againſt the Parliament, that 'ſome of the Lords whom he had named, were Fools, 'Baſtards, and Cuckolds. And if this be not enough to make him Scandalous and Malignant, I know not what is. He had been Preſented to this Living by his Father; who, if I miſtake not, had alſo built a new Parſonage-Houſe from the Ground, before he gave his Son the Living.

Chauncy. Antiq. p. 349.

Cens. p. 5.

Chauncy. Ant. p. 349.

——, ——, . Great Geddeſden, V. I find this Living alſo under Sequeſtration.

——, ——, . Little Geddeſden, R. See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A.

One Richard Lee was Preferred to this Living in 1655.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

GOUGE, THOMAS, . Covington, R. In 1657, One William Donne was admitted to this Living.

KENT.

GIBBON, NICHOLAS, *D. D. Sevenoak, R. ſaid to be worth 200 l. a Year.

He was Born at Pool in Dorſetſhire, Anno 1603, and Educated at Queen's-College in Oxford; afterwards Miniſter of Sevenoak in Kent; was 'Turned out of this Living of good Value. He 'and 11 Children were forced to take Sanctuary 'in a poor Cottage, which, with ſome ſmall Par-'cel of Land, he Rented at Four Pounds a Year. 'There he was obliged to throw aſide his Cano-'nical Habit, and to drive the Plow himſelf. His 'Second Son, Dr. Nicholas Gibbon, a noted Phy-'ſician afterwards at Lyme and Weymouth, hold-'ing it. He made a ſhift to Subſiſt till the Re-'ſtoration, and Enjoyed his Former Living again; 'the Perpetual Advowſon of which was his own. 'He died at Corfe-Caſtle in 1697, aged 92 Years.

One of his Succeſſors was one Cattish; who was after-wards Turned out by the Rebels, for Inſufficiency.

I have been otherwiſe informed, that Flying to avoid Impriſonment, he lived with a Farmer, under the Diſguiſe of his Servant; but being Seized, and brought before the Committee of Kent in this County, by a Troop of Horſe, among other things, they aſked him How he ſpent his time? He anſwering, that in the Day he wrought for his Maſter, but a great Part of the Night he ſpent to Study; and ſhewing them the Galls and Callows of his Hand, as an Evidence of what he had ſaid, ſome of them were moved with Compaſſion, but manerly chiding him, he ſaid, Mallem Callum in Manu quam in Conſcientiâ. After this, they tender'd him the Covenant, and which is known Living, and what other Preferments they had in their Power, but he Refuſed all.

This Account of him is given by his Grandſon; but if this Gentleman had it only from the Doctor's Doctor's own Tradition, I doubt whether it may be altogether relied upon. For an Ancient Gentleman who Personally knew him, tells me, that the Doctor after the Restoration, would talk very largely of his Sufferings: Whereas, to his own Knowledge, he kept his Living, and complied with the Times; particularly in laying aside the Common-Prayer, praying Extempore, &c. Though it may be, that Gentleman himself may be thus far mistaken; that the Living which the Doctor kept, was another Place, which he might get after he was Dispossess'd of Sevenoak. Quære.

Goughe, John, A. M. Hackington (alias St. Stephen's) V. near Canterbury.

Or Gosse. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 171. Where for what he published.

He was Son of Stephen Goughe, Rector of Seamer in Suffex, and Born in that County. He first became Demy of Magdalen, and afterwards Fellow of Merton College in Oxford. He was Admitted to this Living in 1642; but was soon after Ejected for Refusing the Covenant, and together with some other Loyal Gentlemen, Imprison'd in Canterbury; but in 1652, he was, by the Interest of his Brother, who had been one of the Regicides, admitted to the Rectory of Norton in this County; by which his Sufferings were in some measure mitigated, until the Year 1660: At which time he Re-possess'd himself of Hackington, and was anew Inducted to the Rectory of Norton: Both which Livings he kept until the time of his Death, which happen'd in the following Year.

Grimes, ——, . Hadlow, V.
He was succeeded by one who used to Preach in a Red Coat. He lived to the Restoration, and had the Vicaridge of East-Peckham in this County.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

Gibson, Thomas, A. M. Horn-Castle, V.

This very worthy Person was Born at Keswick in Cumberland, and Educated at Queen's-College in Oxford; where he continued till he took the Degrees in Arts; and then returning into his own Country, was preferred to the Free School of Carlisle, and from thence to that of Newcastle; both which he managed with great Reputation several Years; and was from the Latter of them Promoted by the Bishop of Carlisle to the Vicaridge of Horn-Castle, in the Year 1634.

That which most expos'd him to the Fury of the Party, was a Sermon Preach'd at the Election for the Convocation in 1640; which they could never forgive him; and therefore made him the first Instance of their Rage in those Parts. For about the Beginning of 1643, they Seized, and carried him away Prisoner to Hull, where he lay three or four Months. After which returning to his Vicaridge, some of his Factious Parishioners Articled against him for Ormanism (meaning Arminianism; and doubtless understood it very well, tho' they would not call it by the right Name) for which however, he was committed to the County-Jayl at Lincoln, till he was at last Exchanged for a Presbyterian Minister at Newark. After this, in the Year 1644, Colonel K——, the Governour of Boston for the Parliament, gave Orders for a Party of Horse to go and fetch him Prisoner, and Plunder his House; but John Lillbourn (who had been his Scholar, and was then Lieutenant-Colonel to Colonel King) affirming upon his own Knowledge, that he was a Good and Godly Man, got the Order with much ado, suspended for the present: But Lillbourn afterwards, upon some Disagreement with his Colonel, going to London, the Order was again Revived, and Mr. Gibson made a Prisoner, his House Plundered, and his Saddle-Horse, his Draught-Horses, and his Oxen taken from him. He continu'd a Prisoner at Boston some considerable time, and was but just dismissed from thence, before he was again Seized, and carried Prisoner (a 2d time) to Lincoln-Jayl; from whence he had been dismiss'd but Six Months before. After this he was again taken up by a Party of Horse, and carried Prisoner to Tattors-Hall-Castle, where he had very ill Usage for 17 Weeks; and when he was at last dismissed from this Confinement also, he could not return to Reside at his Parish, as formerly; because he was now Sequestred, and found an * Intruder possess'd of it. This being done, as I apprehend, during his Confinement, 'tis plain that he could not have a Hearing, much less his Accusers Face to Face, and plead for himself. The Sentence was past by the E. of M. August the 7th, 1644. And the Substance of what he was Charged with, was his paying Obedience to the Rules and Orders of the Church; defending Episcopacy; and saying that he wondered any one, that believed St. Paul's Epistles, should Oppose it; Preaching up the Possibility of Falling from Grace; refusing Lecturers, and the Covenant; Scandalizing Godly Ministers, saying that Prinn, Burton, and Bastwick Suffer'd Justly; as also that if Sir John Hotham did not fear the King's Cannon, he might well enough fear the Sentence of Damnation pronounced Romans the 13th; and calling the Scots Rebels. After this he betook himself to a Mean House about a Mile distant from Horne-Castle; where he, and his Wife, and Six Children lived very poorly; and indeed must have Begged, or Starved, for about two Years, but that he supported himself by teaching a few Scholars. At length he was made Master of the Free-School at Newark, from whence after two Years more, he removed to the School at Sleeford in this County, being presented to it by the Lady Carr: There he lived until the Restoration, and then Re-assumed his Vicaridge, in which he continued till his Death Anno 1674, in the 64th Year of his Age. He was a grave and venerable Person, of a Sober and Regular Conversation, and so Studious of Peace, that when any Differences arose in his Parish, he never rested till he had Composed them. He had likewise so well Principled his Parish, that of 250 Families in it, he left but one of them Dissenters, at his Death.

* Who that was I know not; but in 1648. one Obad. How got this Liv. ing.

——, ——, . Grimsby, .
See the Note at Atherton in Suffex, under the Letter A.

Digitized by Google

MIDDLESEX.

GRAUNT, WILLIAM, A. M. Iſleworth, V.

He is one of thoſe pickt out by White, to help fill up the Century; and accuſed of calling the Meter-Pſalms, Hopkins's Jiggs; and adding, that he had rather hear a Pair of Organs, ten to one. Several Inſtances of Malignancy alſo are laid to his Charge; among them, his ſaying, that the War was againſt the King's Perſon, and that they who went about to change the Laws and Government of the Church and Ceremonies, would at laſt change their Religion too. To this is Subjoyned, his having ſpoken in favour of Auricular Confeſſion, and the Celibacy of the Clergy; and then at laſt the common Charge of Drunkenneſs comes in to their Aſſiſtance. I do not know any thing more of this Gentleman, but that he had been admitted to the Living Nov. 8, 1639, and that no Succeſſor occurs in it by Mr. Newcourt's Account, until July 1678: So that poſſibly Mr. Graunt was Reſtor'd on the Return of his Majeſty, and died not until that Year.

P. 16.

Newc. Repert. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 678.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

NORFOLK.

———, ———, . Gaverſton, R.

See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex. Who the Gentleman was that loſt this Rectory, I cannot learn. One of his Succeſſors, if there were more than one, was Robert Purt; who was Preſented in 1654.

GILL, NATH. . Burrow, R.

He had a Wife and Four Children. Quare if he did not alſo loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 60 l. per Annum.

GREENWOOD, JOHN, D. D. Brampton, .

He was alſo well nigh Ruined for his great Loyalty. His Family was at length, if I miſtake not, neceſſitated to ſue for the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

GUNNING, PETER, . Stoke-Brewen, R.

See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

GREY, THOMAS, D. D. Pontelland, V.

He was alſo 'used in a very cruel and inhu-'mane manner: For beſides he Loſs of his Place, 'he was Robb'd, and Pundered of all his Move-'ables, Money, Linen, Houſhold Furniture, and 'Corn; of which he had a Vaſt Stock, having 'Farmed the whole Corn-Tithe of the Pariſh; 'in all, to the Value of 1500 l. Tho' he had Se-'ven Children at home, they left him not ſo 'much as a Bed for them to lie on; but he was 'glad to be beholden to the Charity of his Kind 'Neighbours for thoſe Conveniencies, which 'they brought in every Night, and carry'd out 'every Morning, for fear of their being taken 'away. Nay, ſo barbarous were the Soldiers to 'his Children, that having firſt taken all their 'Shirts from them, that were off their Backs, they 'came a ſecond time, and ſtript them of thoſe 'that were left: Which however, a Captain, in 'Pity to their Nakedneſs, oblig'd them to Reſtore. 'He was himſelf carried to Newcaſtle, where he 'met with very Harſh Uſage; and during his 'Conſtraint, was with Difficulty allowed a Viſit 'from his own Wife. He was at laſt Reſcued 'out of their cruel Hands by a Right Honoura-'ble Perſon of his own Name, who maintained 'him at one of his own Seats till his Dying 'Day.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXFORDSHIRE.

———, ———, . Glympton, R.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

GREEN, FLOWER, . Margaret-Overton, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

Aliàs Market-Orton.

He had then a Wife and Family.

GUNNING, PETER, A. M. Cotſmore, R.

See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

SALOP.

GEDON, LAURENCE, Worthington, R.

One James Breſton ſucceeded here for ſome time, and Reſigned it in 1653.

GOOD, THOMAS, B. D. St. Alkmond's, V. in Shrewsbury.

He had been Scholar, and was at the time of his Sequeſtration, * Fellow of Baliol-College in Oxford. Some time after his Ejectment, as I underſtand it, he obtained a ſmall Cure at Corſly, in this his Native County. In 1658, he Reſign-ed his Fellowſhip; and upon the Return of his Majeſty, was, as a † Sufferer for the King's Cauſe, Created D. D. at Oxford: About the ſame time alſo he was made one of the Reſiden-tiaries of Hereford, Rector of Winſtanſtow in this County, and at length Maſter of his College. He died at Hereford, April 9, 1678. He was accounted in his Younger Years, a brisk Diſputant; and whilſt Reſident in the College, was a Frequent Preacher; but always look'd upon as a Puritan, though an Honeſt and Harmleſs one.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 453.

* Wood ſaith he ſubmitted to the Viſit. of the Univerſity, and kept his Fellowſhip.

† Which Wood ſeems to doubt of, not being informed of his Sequeſtration.

Digitized by Google

Take him to have been a different Perſon both from him in Wiltſhire, and him in Hampſhire.

How he came to loſe his Vicaridge, I know not: For it ſeems he afterwards Aſſociated with the Preſbyterians in Worceſterſhire, joyned with them in ſeveral of their Meetings, and was much eſteem'd by Mr. Baxter; who gave him the Character of a Peaceable, Moderate, and Honeſt Conformiſt: But his eſteem of him was leſſen'd upon the Doctor's Publiſhing his Firmianus and Dubitantius.

What elſe he Publiſhed ſee in Wood.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

GAULER, THOMAS; . Chiſleborough, R. worth 180 l. a Year,
And
Chinnick, ... }

He was Turned out about the Year 1646, for Refuſing the Covenant; and Diſpoſſeſs'd by a Troop of Horſe. All his Goods were Seized likewiſe, and his Temporal Eſtate, worth 120 l. a Year, put under Sequeſtration. He was alſo taken up by a Serjeant at Arms, and kept Priſoner two or three Months, at the Expence of Twenty Shillings a Day, beſides other Charges. After he had been ſome time thus Impriſoned, his Pariſhioners Petitioned for his Releaſe; but it was not granted them. I have been alſo told, that he could never Recover his Fifths; and that when he demanded them, the then Intruder put him out a Couple of Spinning-Wheels (which, to note that by the Way, were part of Mr. Gauler's own Goods, that had been Plunder'd from him) and told him that he ſhould take them, and let his Daughters ſpin for their Living. His Firſt Succeſſor was one Allen; after him came one Tucker, and at length Mr. ——. Mr. Gauler lived to be Reſtored both to his Living and Eſtate, with his Majeſty; and was a very worthy Man.

Which he was forced to Rent of them again.

He had a Wife and 7 Children, and was himſelf about that time, if I miſtake not, ſix Years of Age.

GOODEN, ——, . Lydyard-St. Laurence, R. worth betwixt 2 and 300 l. a Year.

See the Ch. of Wells, and quære.

'He was Outraged in the Church, being 'dragg'd out of the Pulpit; and was reduc'd ſo 'low, that he was forc'd to ſell the Perpetuity of 'his Living, which is worth betwixt 2 and 300 l. 'per Annum, to Sir —— Portman, for what he 'could get; which was but about 100 l. Being 'in Exoream Want, he applied himſelf to him 'that Uſurp'd his Living, whoſe Name was 'Wakeley; deſiring ſomething from him, that 'might be ſufficient at leaſt, to keep his Family 'from Starving: And Wakeley's Wife taking upon her to return him the Anſwer, told him: That he had nothing to do there: and if he wanted, he muſt take his Plough, and Threſh. 'Tis agreed upon by all Hands, that this Barbarous Uſage 'haſten'd his Death.

Or, as this Part of his Sufferings is otherwiſe reckoned, Tom muſt go tell him, that They owed him nothing; but if he would go into the Barn, and Threſh, they would pay him what he there earned.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 301. Who ſeems to make a Doubt whether he was at all Sequeſtred. But I have been aſſured that he loſt both thoſe Livings.

GOVE, RICHARD, . Hinton-St. George, ...
And
Eaſt-Coker, V. . . . . }

He was Born at Taviſtock in the County of Devon, and Educated at Magdalen-Hall in Oxon. Afterwards he became Chaplain to John Lord Paulet; by whom he was Preſented to the Former of theſe Livings in 1618. After his Sequeſtration he came to Exeter, and ſerved the Daughter Church of St. David's near that City, for ſome time; but was at length driven thence alſo. About the time of the Reſtoration he Returned to Eaſt-Coker, and taught a School there, till at length he Re-poſſeſs'd that Living: But I do not find that he returned to Hinton-St. George. He died in the Year 1668.

He Publiſhed ſome few things, which ſee in Wood.

GRANT, ——, D. D. Batcombe, R.

He was driven from this Living by the Committee-Troop, and never ſeen, nor heard of after in this County. He was a Perſon Eminent for Learning and Piety. See one Dr. John Grant in London, and quære.

GRINFIELD, JOSEPH, A.M. White-Staunton, R.

He was alſo Seized, as he came out of his Church, and carried away Priſoner to Ilminſter by the Rebels; who promiſed however, to Releaſe him, provided his Son, who was the Vicar of Coombe-St. Nicholas, would come and Redeem him. This Pious Office he readily undertook for his Aged Father; but the Faithleſs and Inhumane Villains, inſtead of being mov'd, as one might expect, by ſuch a Generous and Noble Piece of Vertue, to have Releas'd both; made uſe of this Opportunity of getting both into their Power, and carrying them away Priſoners to Taunton Caſtle; where they continu'd under Confinement until the King's Army from Cornwal ſet them free. But ſome time after they had obtain'd their Liberty, the Old Gentleman was again Apprehended, and ſent up to London where he died in * Jayl.

*Or, as I have otherwiſe heard, in the Ships.

GRINFIELD, THOMAS, A.M. Coombe-St. Nicholas, V.

He was that Son of the Gentleman now mentioned, who freely came, and offer'd his own Perſon to the Rebels for the Redemption of his Aged Father. He was Bred at Pembroke-College in Oxford, ſurvived the Reſtoration, became Preacher to the Society of Lincolns-Inn, and hath a Sermon extant, and perhaps ſome other Works. He was firſt ſucceeded in this Living by one Coleprieſt, who was ſoon after Diſpoſſeſs'd of it for Scandal: After whom came in Mr. Baccolor, the Perſon mentioned in the † Abridgments.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p 685.

This Living was given, or, as I rather gueſs, Reſtor'd to him by his Father: it may be, on Proſpect of the Act of Oblivion.

gainſt Pluralities; and ſo it may in ſome meaſure, be reckoned to the man's Account alſo, until the time of his Death. † P. 320.

SOUTHAMPTON.

GAWEN, THOMAS, A. M. Exton, R.
And
Stoak Epiſcopi, R. . . . . }

I take it to be the ſame Perſon who loſt both theſe Livings. See the Church of Winchester.

GILLINGHAM, GEORGE, D. D. Chalton, R.

See Windſor.

GLYD, MICHAEL, B. D. Hawkley, R.
See Chicheſter-Cathedral.

* GOOD,

Digitized by Google

† See Henry Good in the Church of Salisbury, and quære.

† GOOD, ——, . Marshing, .

GOODMAN, ——, Freshwater, R.

GOSLING, ANTHONY, . Morestead, R.

His Temporal Estate also was declared Forfeited for Treason, by an Act of Nov. 18, 1652.

Scob. Coll. Par. II. p. 234.

* See one Dr. Green in Essex, and another in Wiltshire, and quære.

* GREEN, ——, D. D. Avington, R.

GULSTON, ——, D.D. Waltham, . See Winchester-Cathedral: For I take them to be the same; and if so, his Christian Name was Joseph.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

GILBERT, HENRY, . Clifton-Camvill, R. worth about 3 or 400 l. a Year.

His Temporal Estate also of 200 l. a Year, was put under Sequestration. He was also several times Plundered, and underwent divers Imprisonments; once more particularly, in Coventry-Jayl, where the Plague then was; which he had, but by the Providence of God, surviv'd it. He was moreover oftentimes Assaulted, and in continual Danger of his Life. He had then a Wife and Eight or Nine Children. The Whole of his Losses were computed at 10000 l.

Or Goch. One of his Successors was Richard Steedman; who was ejected in 1657.

GOUGE, HENRY, D.D. Chendle, R. Sequestred for not taking the Covenant. He was promised some Allowance out of his Living, but could never get it. He died before the Restoration.

GREENWOOD, ——, . High-Offley, V.

Quære further.

SUFFOLK.

GATFORD, LYONEL, B.D. Dennington, R. worth 200 l. a Year.

* Some say 300 l.

He was a Native of the County of Sussex, some time Fellow of Jesus-College in Cambridge, and † Proctor of that University. In 1631, he was Presented to the Vicaridge of St. Clement's, and in 1637, had the Living of Dennington bestowed upon him; of which he was again Dispossess'd in ‖ 1644: At which time he was also miserably Harrass'd and Abus'd; being Plundered, put in danger of his Life, and driven with his Numerous Family, to great Necessities; as his Worthy Successor in this Living hath inform'd me: To which his Son, the Reverend Dr. Gatford of St. Dionis Back-Church in London, adds these Particulars; 'He was Seized by Oliver 'Cromwell (then Captain of Horse belonging to 'the Militia) at One a clock in the Night, in 'his Chamber at Jesus-College in Cambridge, 'where he had been many Years a Fellow, (and 'was at that time in the College for the Conveni-'ence of the Library; he being then preparing a 'Book for the Press,) and by him brought from 'thence to London, and Committed to Ely-House, 'which was then made a Prison. There he con-'tinued about 22 Months, and from thence was 'Banished for 7 Years from England, but to no par-'ticular Place. His poor Wife could get no ad-'mittance to him, till the day before he was forced 'away, (whom he left with Child,) with five other 'small Children, in a poor Thatch-House in the 'Parish of Dennington above-mentioned. When 'she was within a Month of her time to be 'Delivered of that Child he left her big with, 'Four or Five Souldiers came armed to her 'House, demanding her Husband, and threatning 'to set her House on Fire, setting Matches to her 'Fingers, to make her discover where her Husband 'was; but by God's Providence, one Mr. Moore, 'who had been bred a Merchant at St. Malo, and 'there was acquainted with her Husband, brought 'a Letter from him at that Instant, which was 'the first notice she had of his being alive. After 'seven Years Mr. Gatford returned into England, 'and found his poor Wife with six Children, in 'the poor Thatch-House abovesaid. Presently after 'he removed to Kenningal-Place in Norfolk, 'where he had many Boarders, and kept up the 'Service of the Church of England; but in few 'Years was so disturbed, that he was forced to 'remove to Sanden-House in the same County; 'from thence to Kilbrough, and from thence to 'Swaffham, both in the same County; from thence 'to Hackney in Middlesex, from thence to Well-'Hall in Kent, and from thence to Waltham-'Green in Fulham-Parish in Middlesex; where he 'stayed till the Happy Restoration of K. Charles II. 'He then immediately took the Degree of Dr. 'in Divinity, which he could not do before. Up-'on his Return to his Living, he found the Chan-'cel and Parsonage-House in such Ruins, as he 'could not possibly Repair them, and Live there; 'and therefore he first accepted the Living of 'Creed-Church in London; and then being Invited 'to Great-Yarmouth in Norfolk, he accepted that, 'it being but 25 Miles distant from Dennington; 'and design'd in the Year ‖ 1664 to Settle there, 'had not God taken him to his Mercy in the 'common Calamity of the Plague, which Rag'd 'there very severely.

‖ 1643; as I have been otherwise informed, but I doubt whether this may not be a Mistake.

He was a very Learned and Worthy Man, and had been, as I have heard, Fellow-Chaplain with Mr. Calamy to some Bishop: At which time Mr. Gatford was deemed a Puritan, and Edmond Calamy, lookt upon as one of the Laudensian Faction, to speak in the Phrase of his Grandson. Which reminds me of another Hardship, (that, as 'tis said) was put upon Mr. Gatford. For there goes a Story, that some time during the Usurpation, he had got a Presentation to another Living; and appearing before the Tyers in order to Qualifie himself for it, they were so well satisfied of his Parts and Abilities, that they did not offer to make any Scrutiny in that kind; but then he was moreover to give an Account of his Gracious Qualifications; for which they asked him the Usual Question of those Times, When he was Converted? And to this he readily answered, when the Puritans turned Rebels. Which proved such a Demonstration to them of his being yet in sin, that it cost him the Living; being dismist without a Testimonial.

† Vide, in 1611.

His Successor in the Sequestration, was one Job Holmshead an Irish-Man, and a very mean Person, compared with Mr. Gatford: He made Havock on the Glebe, Sold as much Wood and Timber from it as came to 300 l. but with his Landing which he dies so poor, that his Daughter became the greatest Charge to the Parish which hath been known in it for many Years

* I have been otherwise informed, that he died not till 1665.

Mr. Edward Simmons, the Sequestred Rector of Bayne in Essex, in his Preface to Mr. Wodenote's, Manumes Theologus, calls Mr. Gatford, a Man of most approved Integrity.

GEARY,

Digitized by Google

GEARY, THOMAS, . Bedingfield, V.

Cent. p. 39. He was a very Scandalous Minister indeed, if what White faith of him be True, viz. that he was a moſt Prophane Swearer, and would be often Drunk, even to Spewing: A Charge of being Popiſhly Affected is alſo brought againſt him; but the Accuſation is Cloſed with the ſtanding Crimes of Malignancy; Deſpiſing the Parliaments-Faſts; Practiſing and Urging the late Illegal Innovations, and ſaying, that the Chancel was the worſe for taking away the Rails.

One Thomas Geary B. D. had been Fellow of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, and was the Firſt of Wolſtan Dixie Foundation there. Quere whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

GEAST, ——, . Garblesham, .

All that I know more of him, is, that he was a different Perſon from the following.

GEAST, ——, . St. Margarets Ipſwich, .

* Partly at Cambridge, and partly in London. He was alſo a long time * Impriſoned for his Loyalty; during which time having little elſe to do, he Counted, as 'tis ſaid, the Words of the Covenant; and found them exactly 666 †, the Number of the Beaſt. He was a Worthy Man.

† How to Counted them I know not; all the Words exceed twice that Number.

* It may be Glemsford, S.

GERNONS, LUKE, D. D. * Glemsford, .

I know nothing more of him; only I find one Dr. John Gernons, ſome time Fellow of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, was alſo ſome time Rector of this Living: Therefore quare whether the Chriſtian Name of this Sufferer may not be miſtaken.

GIBBONS, WILLIAM, . Bealings Magna, R. And Bealings Parva, R. . . . . .

I know nothing of him, but his Bare Sequeſtration.

Or Hartoft.

GIBBS, FREDERICK, . Harſet, R.

Mere. Ruſt. p. 85. He was alſo ſent for into Cuſtody by a Serjeant at Arms (for Reading the King's Declaration) on the Information of one C——, of his Pariſh, who had Impudently interrupted him in the Church, as he was Performing that Piece of Duty and Juſtice to his Majeſty. Mr. Gibbs Abſconded indeed, and ſo Eſcaped the Serjeant's Hands; but finding there would be no End of that Matter, was at length forc'd to go to London, and make his Appearance; where by the Mediation of great Friends, and paying Thirty Pounds Fees, he was at laſt Diſmiſſed; but afterwards however, Sequeſtred, as I find.

He had alſo the Living of Boxhead in this County. Quere if he did not loſe that likewiſe.

GILBERT, ROBERT, . Flixton, V.

A take this to be a different Living from Walton cum-Flixton in this County, which will be after mention'd under the Letter W.

He could get no Fifths, as I find by an Original Petition of his Wife now before me; though he had ſeveral Children to Maintain. He lived to be Reſtored.

GILPEN, ——, . Weſton, R

Of whom I do not know any thing further.

GOADE, ——, D. D. Hadley, R.

Poſſibly he was ſome way or other Related to the Goades mentioned by Wood; one of whom in 1638.

Ath. Vol. I. p. 847. had been alſo Rector of this Living, &c. and died

GOODWYN, NATH. . Cranſford, V.

About 1643, as I ſuppoſe. 'He was a Man of a Peculiar Character for his Good Life and Converſation, and alſo for his Preaching; but above all, for his Liberal Charity to the Poor. This Good Man, whether Formally Sequeſtred, or not, was obliged, for fear of Impriſonment, to leave his Vicaridge-Houſe, toge her with a Sickly Wife and Five ſmall Children, for ſome Months; but in the mean time the impatient Rebels forcibly brake into the Houſe, while the poor Woman was Brewing, and threw her, with her Children, and all her * Houſhold-Stuff, out of Doors; while ſhe (ſome tay, then big with Child) pleaded for God's ſake, and as ſhe had been ſo Inſtrumental, under God, to the Relief of the Poor, but to permit her to tarry in one End of the Houſe, till ſhe could provide for her ſelf better: But Inſatiate, fomented with Rebellious Principles, has no Ears of Pity: For tho' (according to all circumſtances) ſome of their Aſſiſtants had been but a ſhort time before Reliev'd at her Door, ſhe could not be heard; but was forc'd to remain, Expos'd to the Inclemency of the open Air, till ſhe could ſend for her Husband; who being not far off, finding his Wife, and all that were dear to him in this World, in that Diſconſolate Condition, patiently gather'd up the poor Remains of a ſhatter'd Fortune, and retir'd to his Patron's Houſe in the ſame Pariſh; who was one Mr. John Pells, a great Loyaliſt, but fled to avoid the Fury of the Rebels: But God ſent this Diſtreſſed Family a Friend of the Good Gentlewoman, who took what Care ſhe was able, of them, till her Husband came Home; privately, and ſpeedily raiſed up a Chimney in a little Barn he had ſtanding among the Woods, and with a great deal of Concern and Compaſſion, fix'd the poor Sufferers there; Lending them two or three Cows, and Letting them ſo much Ground as was proper to keep them. And here in a very Lonſome place, did Mr. Goodwyn, enclofed on every ſide with Woods, continue keeping a little School, and often receiving ſome of his Sequeſtred Brethren (particularly Mr. Sumpter of Baddingham) for about two Years. At the end of which time, whether he fear'd that ſome of the Pariſh began to caſt an evil Eye upon him (as they had upon ſome of his Brethren) for keeping School; or whether through Poverty (for in the midſt of his Troubles he was forced to Sell his All, being a Land of ſix Pounds per Annum:) or whether through the Narrowneſs of his Patron's Circumſtances, he was forced to follow his Patron to a Town called Sapſton, not far from Thorford, leaving his Wife and Children diſperſed among ſuch of his and her Friends, as were willing to take them. And at Sapſton Mr. Goodwyn continued, having nothing to Subſiſt on but a Curacy of Eight Pounds per Annum, till the Bartholomew Act took place; or at leaſt till the Reſtoration, and then being Invited to Cranſford again, but finding himſelf Old and Decrepit by his former Fatigues, his Wife being Dead, and his Children pretty well off hand, and taken Care of; Refuſed the Offer; and Retiring to ſome of his Friends, died in

* Which muſt be uſed in an a Servant; for they uſually took it every thing to themſelves.

The latter of theſe no Doubt.

a

Digitized by Google

a very short time. This account of him was given by an Ancient Gentleman, Son to Mr. Peel the Patron, and a Scholar of Mr. Goodwyn's, under his Calamities: and the Reverend Perſon who tranſmits it to me, adds, that he could have ſet forth the Sufferings of this Worthy Man with a great many more aggravating Circumſtances, without any Injury to Truth, or fear of Contradiction. After Mr. Goodwyn's Sequeſtration; the Living was Served by unlettled Curates. The firſt who tarried any time, was One Swain, who had about 7 or 8 Curacies, or Livings beſides; at all which, no doubt, he Preached twice a day; and could not be Charged with Neglect of Cure, or being a Pluraliſt. About 1650, came one J---- Broverſham (at length D. D.) who, whatever elſe he did, would often make his Congregation burſt out into a loud Laughter. In 1658, came Henry King, who loſt it again for Nonconformity, in 1662.

Abr. p. 263

GOODRICK, ROBERT, . Horninger, R.

He alſo Suffered much in other Kinds; and lying before the Reſtoration, left 6 or 8 ſmall Children, and a very diſconſolate Widow: Who was afterwards Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

GOSNAL, PAUL, . Bradford St. Clare, .

He was Turned out by the E. of M. March 23; for Inveighing earneſtly againſt the Parliament; and for being Reported to be a Drunkard. So that it ſeems, bare Report was thought ſufficient Evidence in thoſe times. I ſhould ſcarce have ventured to have told this, but that I find it mentioned in thoſe Expreſs Words, in the Proceedings againſt him before the E. of M.

GOUGE, ——, . Framlingham, R.

See the Note at Mr. Gultie who immediately followeth.

GOULTIE, RICHARD, .* Framlingham, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

* Unleſs there be two Livings of this Name, there muſt have been two Sufferers in this Rectory. And I preſume Mr. Gouge was the firſt, becauſe Mr. Goultie Poſſeſſed it in 1660.

Or Welden.

GOULTIE, MILES, . Walton, V.

Cent. p. 31.

He is another of Wcite's Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts; and Charged by him with the Outragious Crimes of obſerving the Rules and Orders of the Church; urging the Neceſſity of Parochial-Communion; refuſing to Preach twice a day; and Malignancy. So that 'twas not poſſible ſuch a Man could be otherwiſe than a Drunkard. He was firſt Sequeſtred by one of the Committees of Parliament; but being, as it ſeems, Refractory, he was again taken in hand about the Year 1643, by the E. of M. if I miſtake not; and being Accuſed before him of Murmuring at his Sequeſtration, ſaying, that he was yet Lawful Vicar, and that Weite's Centuries were all Lyes; and moreover having refuſed the Covenant, and wiſh'd Succeſs to the King's Forces; his firſt Sentence of Sequeſtration was again confirmed, and put in Execution. I cannot but obſerve, that although Weite Charges him home with Tipling and Drunkenneſs, yet there is not one Word of that, or any other Immorality, alledged againſt him in his Charge before the E. of M. which I can ſcarce think would have been omitted, had he really been ſo Scandalous, as the Century would Repreſent him.

Which it ſeems was a Character they bore in thoſe times.

GRIGGE, STEPHEN, . Whitton cum Thurliſtone, R.

He was turned out in the Year 1645, having been admitted to the Living but two Years before. His only Crime was Loyalty. He was alſo Impriſoned; but lived to be Reſtored, and died in 1677.

SURREY.

SUSSEX.

GLYD, MICHAEL, B. D. Eartham, V.

See Chicheſter-Cathedral.

GORDON, JOHN, . * Ockley, R.

* But quære if this Living be not in Surrey.

He is one of White's Scandalous Miniſters; and is charged * with ſeveral Inſtances of Malignancy and Drunkenneſs. He had a Wife and ſix ſmall Children. He was alſo miſerably Abuſed, and was not permitted to Reap his own Glebe; but Plundered of the Crop in a Violent and Barbarous Manner.

* Cent. P. 4.

GOUGH, RICHARD, . Eaſt-Grinſtead, V.

He is another of thoſe who were ſingled out by White for a Place in his Century; where he is accuſed of Swearing and Drunkenneſs, Preſſing the Neceſſity of Parochial Communion, Favouring Popery, ſaying, He hoped to ſee the time again, that there ſhould be no Bibles in Peoples Houſes; and what, I am apt to think, was in their Opinion worſe than all, that he cared not a Fig for the Parliament.

P. 44.

WARWICKSHIRE.

GILBERT, JOHN, A. M. Bourton upon Dunſmore, R.

See Lichfield-Cathedral.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

GOOD, ——, . Woodford and Wilſford, V.

See one Henry Good in the Church of Saliſbury, and quære. One Marmaduke Good had the Prebend of Min. Par. Altaris in the Church of Saliſbury, Mar. 24, 1674. Died before June 13, 1678, when he was ſucceeded by Lancelot Addiſon.

GREEN, ——, D. D. Stockton, .

See the Church of Briſtol, and quære. See alſo one Dr. Green in Eſſex, and another in Hampſhire, and quære.

Digitized by Google

One William Grove, the same Person doubtless with this Sufferer (as appears by the Coincidence of their Death) became Prebendary of North Grantham in the Church of Sarum, May 29, 1662, on the Death of John Still, died himself before Mar. 27, 1666, and was then succeeded by Rich. Hyde.

GROVE, WILLIAM, A. M. Poulshot, R.

He had been Domestick Chaplain to Bishop Davenant, and was so at the time of that Prelate's Death. He was Turned out of this Living about the Year 1644, lived to Re-possess it after the King's Return, and died in 1666.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

——, ——, . Glascwry, V.

See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire, under the Letter A.

Quære if he was the same with him in Radnorshire of both these Names.

GRIFFITH, ALEXANDER, A. M. ——, .

This I take to be the Gentleman mentioned by Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 116. And if so, he was Born in Wales, Educated in Hart-Hall, became at length A. M. and was the Author of the Hue and Cry after Vavasor Powell, and of other things relating to the Proceedings of the Commissioners for Propagating the Gospel in South Wales.

 I find* Llanvihangel-Tallylyn in this County under Sequestration also. I take it to be the same with this Llanvihangel: if not, it must be added to this List in a distinct Article.

GRIFFETH, JOHN, .  Llanvihangel*, .

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Drunkenness, and being in Arms against the Parliament. After his Ejectment, the Cure lay Vacant about Six Years; and then one Anthony Harry, a Cobler, was allowed by those Promoters of the Gospel,

To put out a Master of Arts, and put in a Cobler, how strange soever it may seem to some, was doubtless a very ready way to Propagate the Gospel

To serve his Country in a Double Capacity; To Teach and Cobble.

And what was more to his purpose than either, he was ordered by them to take the Profits of the Living.

GWYNN, ROWLAND, . Langorse, V.

Before 1649. The Cure lay Vacant after he was Dispossessed, Nine Years; saving that one John Edwards, a * Shoomaker, sometimes Preached there by the Commissioners Orders.

 How much is this better than a Cobler?*

CAERMARTHEN.

GRIFFITH, REES, . Merthery, .

Sequestred for Insufficiency, Scandal, and Malignancy, by the Propagators.

CAERNARVAN.

GRIFFITH, WILLIAM, . Llangian and Llanbedreg, .

In 1649: After which, his Livings (or at least one of them, if they are distinct) lay Nine Years Void.

GRIFFITH, WILLIAM, . Llandeinoboen, .

Quære if he be the same with him before.

In 1649. The Place lay Void Six Years after his Ejectment.

CARDIGAN.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

GAMAGE, EDMOND, . Lanharry, R.

He was Turn'd out some time before the Year 1649; and not only Dispossest of his House, Glebe &c. but the very Tythe-Corn, that he had brought in some Weeks before, was Seiz'd upon; and not a Grain of it, or any Fifths allowed him towards the Subsistence of his Large Family: So that he was forc'd to Quit the Place, and Retire to a small Pittance of his own, until the Restoration. Upon which he Returned to his Living; but Enjoyed it a very little while. One Howel Thomas, and one Thomas Joseph, both Anabaptists, Occasionally held forth in his Church, during the Usurpation.

GAMAGE, EDWARD, A. M. Rossily, R. And Llangennith, V. . . . . .

He had been admitted A. M. of St. Edmond's-Hall in Oxford, in the Year 1635, was put under Sequestration by the Propagators, for Delinquency, and Illegal Induction, and succeeded by one Higgs. He had several Children; but could not obtain any Allowance out of his Living to support them: So that he was forced to turn Farmer for some time, and afterwards went to Ireland; but lived to Return, was Restored to his Places, and at length made Arch-deacon of Llandaffe, and Rector of Cowsley, and died, if I mistake not, in the Year 1686.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 879

GA-

Digitized by Google

GAMAGE, NATH. . Elwyddlan and Lanvaabon, V.

He was Turned out about the Beginning of the Rebellion, becauſe, as they alledged, he never Preached, nor read the Homilies of the Church. He afterwards taught a Grammar School for his Subſiſtence, being allowed nothing towards it out of the Vicaridge. He ſurvived the Uſurpation many Years; but never returned to his Living.

* I find a Vicaridge ſtyled Penynyglogyn, under Sequeſtration, in this County, and take it to be the ſame Place with Aber-Penydylan.

GIBBON, WILLIAM, . * Pendylon, V.

If he had any thing at all allowed him for Fifths, it did not exceed Five or Six Pounds a Year: But he lived to Repoſſeſs the Place on the Reſtoration, and died not till ſeven or eight Years after it.

Whether this muſt be inſerted in a diſtinct Article in the Liſt.

GORDON, ALEXANDER, D. D. Portenyon, R.

He was Deſcended from the Noble Family of his Name in Scotland; born, as I take it, in that Kingdom, and was * Turned out for Delinquency, and Refuſing the Engagement. After which, he wander'd for a Livelihood; and ſettling at length in Kent, died there. He was ſucceeded by one Evan Griffith, who had alſo the Neighbouring Church of Oxwich, was a Nonconformiſt in 1662, but afterwards accepted of the Living of Addrey in Glouceſterſhire, and became, as I have been informed, as Violent a Perſecutor of the Diſſenters, as he had once been of the Royaliſts.

* Some time before the Year 1649; and therefore quere, whether his being turned out Parity for Refuſing the Engagement may not be a Miſtake.

GORE, HUGH, . Oxwich, R.
And † Nicholaſton, ...

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Delinquency, and Refuſing the Engagement. After which, he kept a School at Swanſey; and ſurviving the Uſurpation, was at length made Biſhop of Waterford in Ireland; where he was almoſt Murther'd by ſome Papiſts in the Reign of the late King James; but being recover'd of his Wounds, he return'd to Swanſey, and died there. His Succeſſor at Oxwich, was Mr. Evan Griffiths, as is juſt now ſaid.

† Quere whether theſe Places be not Nicholaſton, or Uſkſtall.

GRIFFITHS, ——, . Lanblithian, V.

He had little or nothing from his Living, as Fifths, for Eight Years together.

GRIFFITH, JOHN, . Llangoedath, .

Outed for Malignancy, and Refuſing the Engagement, by the Commiſſioners for Propagation.

GRIFFITHS, ISAAC, . Llangadwalach, V.

He had the Fifths for ſome time at leaſt.

He was Turn'd out by the Propagators, for Malignancy, and Refuſing the Engagement; and ſucceeded by one David Jenkin Richard, an Ignorant, Canting Fellow. Mr. Griffiths liv'd till the Return of his Majeſty, and was Reſtored; but died not long after.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

GRIFFITH, GEORGE, D.D. Llanchainio, .
And Llandyſſilio, ...

See the Church of St. Aſaph.

GRIFFITHS, GRIFFITH, . Llanwithiloen, R.

In 1650.

PEMBROKE.

GRIFFITH, HENRY, . Gumphreſton, R.

For Pluralities. Whether he loſt the reſt of them, quere.

GWINNE, LEWIS, . Bridle, . Or Swinne.
Turn'd out for Inſufficiency.

RADNOR.

GRIFFETH, ALEXANDER, . Glaſbury, .

Sequeſtred by the Commiſſioners for Propagation, for Drunkenneſs and Laſciviouſneſs.

GILL, ——, . ——, .
He was a very great Sufferer and Sequeſtred of all Lively Hood during the late times. He lived to ſee the Reſtoration, and had th Pariſh of Aliſham, which I take to be in Norfolk whether that be ſufficient to found a Conjecture, that he was Sequeſtred thereabout, and that he was the ſame Perſon with Mr. Noth. Gill of Burrow, before mentioned in that County, Quere.

GLEMHAM, HENRY, A.M. ——, .
Wood ſaith, he was well Beneficed before the Rebellion broke out. But doth not ſay what his Living or Livings were: But let them be what they will, it ſeems plain enough that he loſt them. For upon the Reſtoration, purely upon conſideration of his Loyalty and Sufferings, he was promoted to the Deanery of Briſtol. He was a Younger Son of Sir Henry Glemham of Glemham in Suffolk, by Anne his Wife, Eldeſt Daugh er of Sir Thomas Sackville Knight, afterwards Earl of Dorſet. He was born however in the County of Surrey, and Educated at Trinity-College in Oxford; and was at length Advanced from the Deanery of Briſtol, to the Epiſcopal Chair of St. Aſaph, by the Intereſt, ſaith Wood, of the Dutcheſs of Cleveland. He died in 1669. GOR-

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 670.

Digitized by Google

GORGES, ——, D.D. ——, .

He had been Chaplain to his Majesty, and therefore probably muſt have been poſſeſs'd of ſome Preferment or Other; but whether Cathedral, or Parochial, or both, I cannot tell. But whatever his Preferment might be, 'tis ſure he Loſt it: And from the final Prevalence of the Parliament, had (about the Year 1652) in many others of his Function had done, declined his Profeſſion, and pretended to ſtudy Phyſick. He happen'd to be at Mr. Neston's, near Briſtol, when his Majeſty came thither with Mrs. Lane, in the Diſguiſe of her Servant, after Worceſter-Fight. At which time the King pretending to be indiſpoſed, in order to go to his Chamber, the better to conceal himſelf, as well from the People of the Houſe, as from any Stranger, who might happen to come to the Family; this Dr. Gorges, not knowing any other, than that he had been in Truth Mrs. Lane's Boy, out of good Nature made him a Viſit after Supper, Examined his Pulſe, &c. little thinking what a Patient he had in hand. Whether he lived to the Reſtoration, and was Rewarded for his kind Viſit, I know not: For I take him to have been a different Perſon from Mr. Thomas Gorges the Suffering Prelendary of * Salisbury, who was not at that time, (not till 1661,) a Doctor; unleſs my Lord Clarendon calls him ſo, becauſe he then Practiſed Phyſick, or by way of Prolepſis.

Parœd. Hiſt Vol. III. p. 3.

But Quere whether or no was the ſame Perſon with Timoleon Gorge of All Souls.

* Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 822.

See alſo Timoleon Gorge at All Souls, and Quare.

GOUGH, FRANCIS, . ——, .

He was Son to Francis Gough, B. D. Vicar of Windſored in Sommerſetſhire, who was ſome time Fellow of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, as this Sufferer alſo himſelf had been. What the Living was which he Loſt, I cannot learn; but am aſſured that he was certainly Sequeſtred ſomewhere or other: Nor is it probable that he would have quitted his Fellowſhip without ſome Preferment; and I find that at the Pariſh which he had after the Reſtoration, he was always accounted as one of the Sufferers for the Royal Cauſe. After his Ejectment, he Supported himſelf (as ſeveral other Loyaliſts did, both before and after him) for ſome time at the little Vicaridge of Ninehead in Somerſetſhire, where his Hand occurs in the Regiſter in 1643; ſo early (it ſeems,) were his Sufferings. I preſume the Living which he Loſt was no very conſiderable one; becauſe after the Reſtoration I find him in Poſſeſſion of Stockland, within the County of Devon, but belonging to Dorſetſeire; which being a Living of no very great value, it is not to be thought he would have accepted of it, and not have claimed his Former Preferment, had not his Former been of leſs value. He died, if I miſtake not, at Stockland, but in what Year I am not Informed.

One Nicholas Greaves D.D. was ſome time Rector of Wellwine in Herfordſhire, GRAVES, ——, . ——, .

He afterwards died in ſuch Poverty, that his Wife was forced to Sue for a Subſiſtence, from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

admitted in 1651. Chauncy. Ant. p. 118.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 408. 100.

Ibid. p. 706

There was one Thomas Greaves, who was Brother to the moſt Learned Mr. John Greaves of Merton-College; and one Mr. Nicholas Greaves of All-Souls-College, who was created B. D. at Oxford, among the Loyal Sufferers in 1642. Quære if either of theſe was the ſame with this Mr. Graves: If not, 'tis probable that the latter of them was Sequeſtred ſomewhere or other; and ſo ought to have a diſtinct place in this Liſt.

One Thomas Greaves D. D. was Prebend of Peterborough after the Reſtora tion. Quære if he was the ſame Perſon with either of theſe. Cant Hiſt. p. 91.

See Dr. Bowerman in the Letter B. at the End of the Countries.

GURNEY, ——, D. D. ——, . Or Goornal.

Somewhere as I conjecture, about Norfolk or Suffolk. An Ancient Lady, Grand-Daughter to Biſhop-Hall, hath told me, that ſhe very well remembers a Reverend old Gentleman, whom they called Dr. Gurney, came often to Viſit her Grand-Father under his Afflictions; and added, that he had been himſelf a Sufferer and Sequeſtred, ſome where as the conjectures, about one of the two forementioned Counties. There is one Edmond Gurney mentioned by Fuller; who was Beneficed in Norfolk, and died, as he ſaith, in the beginning of the Wars. If Fuller be more exact in the Account of this Gentleman's Death, than he is of a great many others, his Edmond Gurney muſt have been a different Perſon from this Sufferer; for it was ſome time after 1650, that this Lady ſaw him. Beſides, I do not perceive by Fuller, that the Gentleman he writes of was D. D. not to mention Fuller's ſilence as to his Sufferings; becauſe he was apt enough to Conceal them, though he had known them.

Or Goornal.

Worth. in Norfolk.

Although poſſibly this old Gentleman whom the Lady mentions, might be call'd Dr for his Age, or Gravity, or ſome other Reaſon, and not be really Doctor of Divinity.

H.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKSHIRE.

——, ——, . Hemſted-Norris, .

See a Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A. One Samuel Woodward ſucceeded in 1657.

HILL, JOS. . Elinton, R. He lived to be Reſtored in 1660.

HYDE, EDWARD, D.D. Brightwell, R.

He was one of the Eleven Sons of Sir Laurence Hyde of Salisbury, Knight, Fellow of Trinity-Coll. in Cambridge, and was at length Preferred to this rich Living: From which he was Sequeſtred ſome time after the Year 1645; and was then ſucceeded by John Ley. After his Sequeſtration he retired with his Wife and Children to Oxford; and 'hiring an Appartment within the Precincts of 'Hart-Hall, lived there ſeveral Years, ſtudied fre-'quently in Bodley's Library, and Preached in the 'Church of Hallywell in the Suburbs of Oxon, 'to the Royal Party, till he was Silenc'd by 'the Faction. In 1658, he obtained of his Exiled 'Majeſty, by the Endeavours of Sir Edward Hyde 'his Kinſman (then, tho' in Baniſhment, Lord 'Chancellour of England) Letters-Patents for the 'Deanery of Windſor (in the Place of Dr. Chriſtopher Wren deceaſed) dated in July the ſame 'Year: But he never liv'd to enjoy it; dying ſome time before the Year 1660.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 809

See a Note at one Edw Hyde in Wilts, and quare

p. 150.

He hath publiſh'd ſeveral things; the Account of which ſee in Wood.

BUCKS.

Digitized by Google

BUCKS.

HARMITAGE, JOHN, . Wendover, V.

He was Turned out by the House, about Oct. 1643: At which time they substituted Samuel Wells in his room.

HOCKNELL, ROBERT, . Great-Brickhil, R.

The Equitable Right to this Living was undoubtedly in Mr. Clutterbuck, who had been Seiz'd, and Worried into a Resignation of it, by the Harrassing Vexations of those Times: And therefore unless Mr. Clutterbuck died before the End of the Usurpation (which quære) Mr. Hocknell must be deem'd a Suffering Minister only, and not a Sequestred one: and belongs rather to the Appendix, than to this Place. On the Resignation of Mr. Clutterbuck before mention'd, Mr. Duncombe, the Rightful Patron of this Living, Presented Mr. Hocknell about July 1655; but could not by any means get him Approv'd by the Commissioners for Approbation, though there was neither Scandal, Ignorance, nor other Delinquency alledged against him. Instead of it, they continue to favour the Pretensions of Mr. Mead, who still prosecuted his Cause, in order to possess himself of the Living; which at length he obtained by the favour of Major-General Packer, who was himself one of the Commissioners for Approbation: and writing to his Brethren in that Commission, that Mr. Duncombe had lost his Right of Presentation, desired them to give Mr. Mead their Instrument of Approbation, which they accordingly did; and thereupon the Major-General telling Mr. Duncombe 'that he had Order from the Protector to deliver 'Mead Possession of the Parsonage, the next day 'there came a Troop of Horse from Aylesbury, and 'Seiz'd upon the Parsonage-House by force, break-'ing open the Door; turning out the Tenants, and 'gave Mead Possession; and Seiz'd upon the 'Corn and Hay growing upon the Glebe; and 'kept the House to end it by force. Notwithstanding which, Mr. Duncombe perfisted in the Defence of his Right: Whereupon Mead, as he had before gotten Major-General Packer to Decimate him for a Malignant, so he likewise got him taken into Custody by a Messenger from the Protector, and threatned him with utter Ruin if he did not desist. But at length Hugh Peters takes the matter in hand, deals first with Mr. Duncombe, but in vain, till he told some of his Friends, that the Protector would have his Hearts blood out. Whereupon Mr. Duncombe, to prevent the Ruin of his Family, was perswaded to refer the Cause to some Persons, who came to this Resolution; that he should release Mr. Mead from all Actions, &c. and recalling all former Presentations, should Present one Mr. William Peirce a Nephew to Hugh Peters; which was accordingly done in the Year 1656; but upon the Restoration, Mr. Duncombe revives his Claim, and drawing up the State of his Case (wherein he Represents the Violent and Illegal Methods that had been taken to Extort from him the Presentation of Mr. Pierce) tenders it to the Parliament; and by that means gets his own Clerk, Mr. Hocknell, Restored as an Ejected Minister, to the Possession of this Living. Quære if the Commissioners for Approbation did not give (or at least offer) Mr. Hocknell another Living, when they put him by this? For if so, that will make a considerable Alteration in his Case, and much alleviate the Burthen of his Sufferings.

Of whom see before in this County.

And then he will make a Second Sufferer in this Living.

Of whom see before in the Case of Mr. Clutterbuck, already mentioned in this County.

——, ——, . Horsendon, R.

See the Note at Abbenton before-mentioned. One Samuel Dicks succeeded in 1655.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

HALL, STEPHEN, B. D. Fordham, V.

See Ely-Cathedral.

HILL, ——, . Coveney cum Manea, R. in the Isle of Ely.

He was turned out by the E. of M. Jan. 10, 1644. His Crimes were, Suing for a Tithe-Calf, and buying a Communion-Table with the Money, putting on it this Sentence, Go thy way, sin no more, lest a worse thing befall thee; To which is added, his having refused the Covenant, and being Instrumental in getting the Earl of Essex Proclaimed a Traytor.

HUXLEY, THOMAS, A. M. Burwell, V. Or Huntly.

See Christ-College in Cambridge.

CHESHIRE.

HARRISON, PETER, D. D. Chedle, He was likewise Plundered of all he had, to the utter Ruin of his Children. His Widow was afterwards Relieved by the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

HAYWOOD, ROWLAND, D. D. Frodsham, V.

He was Harrassed and Persecuted, and thereby driven from this Living. He lived to see the Restoration, but did not Return to the Parish. His first Successor was a Presbyterian, and the next an Anabaptist; who quitted it at the Restoration, leaving most of the Parish, either of his own Perswasion, or the Quakers.

One James Cockayne.

HUNT, RICHARD, . St. Mary's in Chester, R. then Valued at 160*l.* a Year.

See a Note at Mr. Seldon in this County.

He was turned out soon after the taking of Chester by the Parliament-Forces. He was Born in Lancashire, had been Fellow of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, and was some time Vicar of Alton in Cheshire.

See one of both these Names in the Church of Lichfield, and Quere.

HUCHINSON, THOMAS, . Astbury, R.

One John Machin was Presented to this Living in 1654.

Digitized by Google

HUTCHINGS, WILLIAM, . Gosworth, .

Scob. Collect. Part. II. p. 210.

His Temporal Estate was also Forfeited for Treason, by the Act of November, the 18, 1652. In that Act he is said to have been late of Gosworth in this County; which I take to be a Living of that Name; and presuming it to have been his own Living, I Judge from his being declared a Trayter, that he must likewise have been Sequestred from his Rectory. However Quere farther. He was Dead ar the time when that Act was passed.

I shall mention some few other Clergymen as Sequestred upon the same Grounds, of finding their Temporal Estates Declared Forfeited for Treason, by that Act. Which I am the rather Encouraged, to do, because I find by other Informations, that several of the Clergy There named were Actually Sequestred. And I must here add, Once for all, that the Livings from which they were Ejected, are the Places by which they are Described in that Act. Which makes me guess the same, of those mentioned in it, concerning whom I have not any other Notice.

CORNWALL.

HALL, GEORGE, A. M. Minhinnet, R.

See the Cathedral of Exeter.

HARDING, ——, . Bucconock, .

HARRISON, THOMAS, . Lanivet, R.

By an Account, from a Grandson of Mr. Harrison's by one of his Daughters, in the following words; it appears, that he ' Suffered as ' much in the time of Persecution as any Clergy-Man in this County; and was not only turned ' out of his Parsonage, but Imprisoned by those ' Villains at Bodmin. For they being Informed ' he was a married Man, and was about that time ' to make a confiderable Payment for an Estate ' he had Purchas'd, thought that the beft Method ' they could take to carry on their Helliſh Deſigns; Concluding that my Grandmother would ' go to ſee her Husband, which accordingly ' ſhe did; but he had no ſooner left her Houſe, ' but theſe Rogues Entred the ſame, Rifled the ' Houſe, and carried off all the Money which ' he had call'd in for the uſe aforeſaid, and ' whatever elſe was of any value; which diſabled him from performing his Contract for the ſaid Eſtate. And which was yet worſe than ' all this, he at that time quite loſt the uſe of both his Eyes; occaſioned, as 'twas ſuppoſed, ' by his Impriſonment and Inhuman Uſage. He lived ſome Years after; but died before the Reſtoration.

HATCH, ——, . Lanteglas by Fowye, R.

HELE, ——, . Filly, .

HUTTON, ——, B. D. St. Kew, .

CUMBERLAND.

HAISLY, JOHN, . Beureth, V.

——, ——, . Horſley, .

In the Admiſſion-Books of thoſe Times I find the Living of Horſley, there ſaid to be in this County, under Sequeſtration. In the Books of the Commiſſioners for the Approbation of Publick Preachers, I find the Vicaridge of Horſley, there ſaid to be in Derbyſhire. I take them to be all the ſame Living, but in which of thoſe Counties it lyeth, I muſt leave as a Quere; though I gueſs it is in the Second of them. But quere alſo if there was not more than one Living of this Name put under Sequeſtration.

DERBYSHIRE.

——, ——, . Horſley, V. One Walter Heron ſucceeded to this Living about 1651, and one Samuel Heron in 1654.

DEVONSHIRE.

HALL, PHILIP, . Upton-Pyne, R. This Worthy Old Gentleman had been Educated at Wadham-College in Oxford, and was Preſented to this Living about the Year 1637. His Family had been much Diſturbed and Harraſſed, and himſelf forced to hide and ſculk about for Shelter, before they proceeded to a Formal Sequeſtration of his Living. Once more particularly, a Party of Horſe came and Threſht out his Corn; and taking a Flitch of Bacon (when the poor old Gentleman had ſcarce Food for his Numerous Family) they wound it round with Week-Tarn, and then hanging it upon an Apple-Tree, ſet it on Fire, to Blaze and give Light to their Horſes, whilſt they were Eating the Corn they had thus Plundered. About the Year 1654, or 1655, he was ſummoned before the Commiſſioners, who ſate at the New Inn in Exeter, and there Sequeſtred, for Inſufficiency, and Charity: the Latter was indeed ſubſtantially prov'd againſt him, by this undeniable Inſtance; that he had ſhew'd Kindneſs to Colonel Penruddock and Colonel Grove, and ſent them Refreſhments, whilſt they were in Priſon. The Sentence which they paſs'd upon him, diſabled him likewiſe from Keeping a School. After his Sequeſtration, he Retir'd to an Houſe called Court-Houſe, in the Neighbour-Pariſh of Newton-St.-Cyres; where he made very hard ſhifts to ſupport his Family, which conſiſted of a Wife and 12 Children; ſome of the Children were however, grown up, and able to give ſome Aſſiſtance to their Parents, and the Younger Children. But the Fifths being very badly paid, and not obtained without much Trouble and large Deductions, he was forced himſelf to Card Wool; which he did, as I am informed, with more Chearfulneſs than ever he Poſſeſs'd his Living; and would ſit and Sing many Hours together at it. The Old Gentlewoman was conſtrain'd to turn Midwife: the Elder Children all went out to Service, and the four Younger Daughters tarried at home and Spun. Mr. Hall ſet up a School for ſome time; but they ſoon obliged him to put it down again. He out-lived the Rebellion, Poſſeſt his Living many Years after the Reſtoration, and died not till 1683. His only Succeſſor was one Edward Bine, an Independent; who never Adminiſtred the Sacrament during the whole time of his Abode there. He gave up the Living to Mr. Hall on the Reſtoration; and immediately after, (how

Digitized by Google

(how Honeſtly, is another Queſtion) became Rector of Pyworthy in this County.

HALL, RICHARD, . St. Mary Steps, R. in Exon.

He was Son to Mr. Hall, the Sequeſtred Miniſter of Upton-Pyne juſt before mentioned; was ſummoned before the Commiſſioners, and Diſpoſſed the ſame Day with his Father. He came to this Living ſome time in the Confuſions; and therefore could have no other Title, than that of the Times: Beſides, one Mr. March had been Turned out of this Living before; and if he was not Dead at the time that Mr. Hall came to it, then Mr. Hall muſt be lookt on as a Suffering Miniſter only, and not a Sequeſtred one. So that I forbear to proſecute the Account of him any further.

Whom See afterwards.

HALL, ROBERT, . Stokeintinny, R. See the Cathedral-Church of Exeter.

HAMMOND, ——, . Aiſhwater, R.

See Mr. Hoar, after mentioned. I preſume they loſt this Living *ſucceſſive*ly.

HARVEY, WILLIAM, A.M. Buriington, V.

He was, if I miſtake not, a Gentleman of a very good Family; and was alſo in great Eſteem with the Gentry of this County; being look'd upon as one of the moſt conſiderable of all the Clergy. He was very old, and had been poſſeſs'd of this Living about Thirty Years, at the time of his Sequeſtration. The main Accuſation againſt laid againſt him, was, that he had Preached a Cavalier Sermon, as they called it, at South-Moulton in this County; for which, as likewiſe for his Praying for the King, they proceeded (when thy had firſt *Revil*ed him for his Loyalty) to Sentence him not to Preach, or Read Prayers, in any Church or Chapel in the County; not to Read Prayers in any Gentleman's Houſe; nor, as it is affirmed, ſo much as to ſay Grace at a Gentleman's Table, till further Order. He was alſo Plundered to the Value of 1000 l. was forced to Buy the Corn on his own Glebe; and at length reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that his Fifths not being paid, or at leaſt, very badly, he was like to have Periſhed during the Uſurpation. His Cure was invaded by three or four Perſons; one of whom, whoſe Name was Miller, was, as I have heard, a very ſcandalous Perſon. Mr. Harvey out-liv'd the Uſurpation about Three Years, and was for that ſhort Space, Re-poſſeſſed of his Living.

After his Eſtabliſhment, the Living lay void a conſiderable time, without any Service, except now and then.

Another was ſaid ſhortly after to be Conformed, and had the Vic. of Winckley in this County

HAYCRAFT, ——, . Fruſham, R.

He was Preſented to this Living by the Right-ful Patron in * 1653, and was Actually Poſſeſſed of the Place; but Harraſſed out of it ſoon after by the Sequeſtrators; who took all due care of the Profits, but none at all of the Pariſhioners, whom they left without any ſettled Miniſter, till ſome time before the Reſtoration.

* And ſo could have no other Title to it, than ſuch as thoſe Times would allow of.

And another Living in this County

HELLIAR, WILLIAM, . Donchideock, R.

See the Cathedral-Church of Exeter.

HERNIMAN, BERNARD, A.M. Liſton, R. worth 180*l.* a Year.

He was of an Ancient Family, which had formerly a good Eſtate in it; and was Born at Winckley in this County, Educated at the Univerſity of Oxford, and Preſented to this Rectory about the Year 1632. In the Beginning of the Rebellion he left one Mr. Shaxton, an unexceptionable Man, for his Curate, and follow'd Sir Richard Granville into the Army, if I miſtake not. About the Year 1645, he returned to his Living, but was ſoon after Sequeſtred, Plundered, and Hurried away Priſoner to Plymouth, where he died in the following Year. He was ſucceeded by John Squire, B.D. who had been Fellow of Exeter-College; was Preſented by the Righeful Patron, continued in Conformity after the Reſtoration, died Poſſeſt of the Living in 1672, and was, as I have heard, a very worthy Perſon.

HERRICK, ROBERT, . Dean-Prior, V.

He was a Sober and Learned Man; and was Preſented to this Living by his Majeſty King Charles I. on the Promotion of Dr. Potter to the See of Carliſle. After his Ejectment he retired to London; and having no Fifths paid him, was ſubſiſted by Charity, until the Reſtoration; at which time he returned to this Vicaridge.

HILL, ——, . Iſſington, V. I am aſſured by an Ancient Gentleman, that he was Sequeſtred from this Living, and immediately ſucceeded by Mr. Stoak: But either he had only ſuch a Title as the Confuſions would allow him, or elſe his Admiſſion was not Enter'd: For the laſt Regular Incumbent before the Year 1646, which appears on the Biſhop's Regiſter, was Robert Dove, A.M. In 1663, William Bettenſon, A.M. was admitted to this Living, per Priv. ult. Incumb. which laſt Incumbent I take to have been Mr. Stoak before-mention'd.

Abridgm. p. 204.

HILL, JAMES, . Manaton, . I have no I have been told that one of the main Articles againſt him, was Gaming; and that ſworn to by one of the Commiſſioners, who was himſelf the Perſon, that Play'd with him for Six pence, it ſeems, at ſome Game. So the ſame Perſon was Judge, Witneſs, and equally Criminal with the Condemned Offender; which is certainly a very Uncommon Caſe. He ſurvived the Uſurpation, re-poſſeſſed his Living, but died in 1661.

I have heard that he would drink more than became him.

HOAR, JOHN, A.M. Aiſhwater, R. He was alſo Rector of Aiſhbury in this County; but whether he was Turned out thence alſo, or not, I am not informed. I gueſs it was upon his Death, that Mr. Chaplain came to the laſt mentioned Living. Mr. Hoar was ſucceeded on the Sequeſtration by Bened. Morſe; who was ordered into the Living by the Committee of Devon, in 1652, and Approved in 1654.

See Mr Hammond.

Whom ſee before.

HOLGREW, GEORGE, . Wolfardiſworthy, R.

He was Diſpoſſeſt, as ſome ſay, for Refuſing the Covenant; but, as others affirm, for Frequenting Ale-houſes. I do not find that they agree in the Pariſh about his Character: But this is certain, that he had at the time of his Sequeſtration, Five Children; although, if I miſtake not, they were were mostly Grown up. However, he lived in a Poor Cottage of Forty Shillings a Year, and in a very mean and poor Condition. He died long before the Restoration; and had been first succeeded on the Sequestration, by one Shute: But on Mr. Holgrew's Death, the Patron Presented Mr. Waldron to this Living, who Possess'd it till 1662, and then lost it for Nonconformity.

Digitized by Google

Abridg. p. 206.

HOOPER, NICHOLAS, . St. Edmond's, R. in Exon.

I find him also Curate of S. George's in this City

I suppose he died under the Usurpation; at least, he never Returned to the Living after the Restoration.

HORSHAM, JOHN, . Staverton, V.

An Ancient Clergyman, who lived thro' those Times, informed me of this Sequestration. I find Mr. Horsham Possess'd of this Vicaridge before the Wars; and there was one of both these Names Dispossess'd for Nonconformity in 1662. I hope the Old Gentleman did not mistake one of these Ejectments for the other.

HUCHENSON, WILLIAM, D. D. Cheriton Episcopi, R.

See the Cathedral-Church of Exeter.

HUNT, JOHN, A. M. Loxbear, R. See him in Somersetshire.

DORSETSHIRE.

HANDLEY, WILLIAM. . Melbuck Bury, R.

He was turned out in 1648; and also by Persecution driven from a small School at Corne-Abbas in this County. Himself, his Wife, and Children suffered great Extremity for some time after his Ejectment; and at last his Wife, by hard Working Night and Day, Supported the Family. He lived to be Restored, and died in 1677.

HINCHMAN, ———, D. D. Portland-Island, R.

He was Dispossess'd by the House, about the 4. of July 1643, who at the same time thrust in one Henry Way to Succeed him. Quere if he was the same Person with Dr. Humphry Henchman the Suffering Chantor of Salisbury, or with his Nephew Dr. Thomas Henchman, whom the first named Dr. whilst Bishop of Salisbury, Collated to the Arch-Deaconry of Wilts in 1663, and, when he after became Bishop of London, to the Church of Hadam-Magna in Herefordshire in 1669, and to the Prebend of Kentish-Town in the Church of St. Paul's in 1672. He was also Rector of St. George Botolph-Lane, which he Resigned in 1661, and died some time before Sept. 22, 1674.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 1172.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

HEARD, THOMAS, . West-Tuckley, V.

Or Timothy, as I rather believe.

He makes another of the Scandalous Century; and was Accused of the most shameful Drunkenness; and is said in one of his Drunken Fits, to have called for a Fire to be made, and Vowed he would burn his Wife and Children in it. But then he had also refused the Sacrament to such as would not come up to the Rails; and said, that he hoped to live to see all the Puritans Hanged. He had been Collated to this Living in 1629.

Vol. I. p. 49.

HOLBECH, THOMAS, B. D. Epping, V.

I make no doubt but he was the same Person with Mr. Holbech of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, who was Voted Non Socius by the House of Commons in 1642. He was Born, if I mistake not, in Warwickshire, and Benefic'd some time, as I have heard, in Oxfordshire. But be that as it will, this is certain, that in March 15, 1641, he was Admitted to this Vicaridge, and Dispossess'd of it about Oct. 1643, by the House of Commons, who at the same time Thrust one Henry Wilkinson into the Living. Upon the Return of his Majesty, he was, as I guess, Restored to it. Aug. 23, 1660, he was Collated to the Prebend of Hoxton in the Church of St. Paul; Aug. 2, 1662, the Deans and Chapter of that Church conferred on him the Rectory of St. Augustine's, towards the Pewing of which he gave 100 l. He was also D. D. made Master of his College in 1677, was Vice-Chancellour of that University, and died some time before Nov. 1680. He gave 100 l. towards the Re-building of St. Paul's Cathedral.

See what is said at the End of that College.

Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 164.

New Survey of London, p. 137.

Ibid. p. 466.

HOLMES, ———, . ———, .

He was Turn'd out about 1644, for Pluralities and Non-Residence.

———, ———, . Little-Holmbury, .

See the Note at Birchbrook in Essex, under the Letter B. See also a Note at Mr. Edward Thurman in this County.

Dissenters Lists in 1669.

HONIFIELD, GABRIEL, * B.D. . Ardley, V.

* D. D. for some Arrears which I have received: Perhaps by reason of his Preferments afterwards.

Mercr. Rust.

He was forced to Resign in 1642, by the Barbarous Usage and Treatment which he met with. He lived at that time in Colchester; the Mobb of which Place, in one of their Grand Rounds, Rifled his House of all its Furniture, took away his Bonds, Bills, and Evidences; and left not a Shelf behind them, or a Pin to hang a Hat on. Upon this the Old Gentleman goes to the Mayor, and makes his Complaint; but instead of finding any Redress, one of the Aldermen then present, told him, That he wondered he would offer to come abroad, being a Man so much hated; and so Rated him away. In his Return, he was followed through the Streets with Shouts and Hootings, and what is much worse, with Dirt and Stones: So little did either the Hoary Head, and Ve-

Digitized by Google

Venerable Age, of this grave Perſon, then 70 Years old, or the Privilege of his ſacred Function, afford him Protection from the Enrag'd Multitude. In this manner he paſſed on ſome part of the Way, till at length a Kinſman of his ventur'd to open his Doors, and give him Shelter: Upon which, the Rabble threatned to pull down the Houſe; and would, no queſtion, have been as good as their Word, had not the Good Old Gentleman, to ſave his Kinſman's Family, Expos'd himſelf a Second time to their Fury, and ſuffer'd them to purſue him again with their Clamour, thro' the Streets; which they did with ſuch Outrages and Inſults, that he was at length forced to take the Common Jayl for his Sanctuary.

HURT, JOHN, . Horndon upon the Hill, V.

Chan. p 46. He is one of White's Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts; and is charged with Drunkenneſs, Swearing, Gaming, and Suſpicion of Incontinency: But he had withal ſpoken baſely of the Parliament, and Profaned their Faſts.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

HAINES, THOMAS, A. M. Superton, R.

He was a Man of great Learning and Piety; and not only Sequeſtred, but Plundered alſo, and ſeveral times Impriſoned in Glouceſter-Jayl. He was once likewiſe carried Priſoner to London, by a Party of Horſe. The chief Crime alledg'd againſt him, was his Reading Common-Prayer. He had a Wife and Five Children, and died ſoon after his being Diſpoſſeſt. The Intruder was one Appleby; of whom I may have Occaſion to ſpeak more hereafter.

He got Poſſeſſion of this Living after Mr. Wallington (whom ſee afterwards) had been driven from it; and ſo could have only ſuch a Title as theſe Times could allow him. And if Mr. Wallington muſt then living, none at all: Therefore quere. One of both theſe Names was Sequeſtred in Devonſhire: But I cannot learn, that he wander'd into this County. However, quere that alſo.

HARVEY, WILLIAM, . Winchcombe, V.

He was alſo very much Harraſs'd; once pluckt out of his Pew at leaſt, if not of his Pulpit, and hurried Priſoner to Glouceſter-Jayl, where he lay Three Months.

HUGHES, WILLIAM, . Newland, V.

One of his Succeſſors, if he had more than one, was Fr. Ford; who was Preſented to it in the Year 1654.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

Chauncy. Ant. p. 146. HANCOCKS, HENRY, . Furnam-Pelham, V.

P. 17. He hath a Place in White's Century; becauſe he urged the Duty of Parochial Communion, Preached againſt the Puritans, Prevented the Prophanation of his Communion-Table, and Rejoyced in his Majeſty's Victory at Edgehill; after which followed the Hackney Accuſation of Tipling and Swearing.

HAUSTED, PETER, D. D. Hadham, R.

He was Born at Oundle in Northamptonſhire, Educated at Queen's-College in Cambridge, became at length, * as 'tis ſaid, Rector of this Living, as alſo Chaplain to the moſt Noble and Loyal Earl of Northampton; whoſe Fortunes he followed in the Wars, particularly at Bandbury-Caſtle, where he died in 1645. He was always accounted an Ingenious Man, and an Excellent Poet. In 1642, he was Created D. D. among the other Loyaliſts, at Oxford. See in Wood an Account of what he wrote.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 715.

* Therefore Quere further of this Sequeſtration; for he Occurs not in Mr. Newcourt's Liſt of the Incumbents of this Church: Nor could he Suffer at all there, unleſs Dr. Paſk (whom ſee at Clare-Hall) obtained the Living after his Death in 1645. Or perhaps he was only Curate at Little-Hadham, and if ſo, he belongs to the Appendix. See Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 832.

HORWOOD, ——, . Tring, R.

This is called a Rectory in the Admiſſion-Books of thoſe times; but the Tythes are Impropriate: therefore quere whether the Miniſter be other than Curate here.

Chaun. Ant.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

HAWKINS, GEOFERY, A. M. Cheſterton, R.

He was driven from this Living in the Year 1641, by the Steward of the Mannor; who took no care to put any one into his Place, but Seiz'd the whole Profits for his own Uſe, and afterwards by an Incloſure, Alienated almoſt the whole Glebe; which to this day is not Reſtored to the Parſonage. Mr. Hawkins out-lived the Uſurpation, became afterwards Rector of Water-Newton, and was Living in 1689.

KENT.

HAMMOND, HENRY, D. D. Penſhurſt, R.

See Chriſt-Church in Oxford.

HANNIGTON, HEN. . Haugham, V.

P. 48 He is another of White's Scandalous and Malignant-Prieſts. The Charge againſt him in the Century, is a very Scandalous one indeed: But whether it be any thing truer, than that againſt Dr. Horſmanden, I do not know. He is ſaid to have been a notorious Drunkard for 20 Years together; ſome times to have Wallowed in the High-ways Dead-Drunk; to have been Drunk on Eaſter-Eve, and other Saturdays, and yet to have Adminiſtred the Communion the Sundays following; to have Sung Bawdy-Songs in Ale-Houſes, and called them Catbedral-Songs; to have ſaid, that ſo his Pariſhioners paid their Offerings at Eaſter, they might go to the Devil at Whitſuntide; to have made no other Examination previous to the Sacrament, than how many Piggs, how many Lambs, &c. the young Peoples Fathers or Maſters kept. He is alſo Charged with Neglect of Cure.

But his Encouraging the Book of Sports, and Practising the Innovations, being added to those other Crimes, would tempt one to believe, that his Malignancy had no small Share in making him so great a Criminal.

HARRISON, BENJAMIN, . St. Clement's, . in Sandwich.

He had been Admitted to this Living some time during the Wars; but was, as it seems, not long after complained of to the Committee for Plundered Ministers; however without any Effect, or at least, without the desired one of getting him Disposses'd; until at last the Complaint was Revived before the same Committee, about the middle of the Year 1649: At which time they Referred it to the Committee of Parliament for the County of Kent. The Accusation then brought against him, was his not having Published the Act, Enjoyning the Observation of a Thanksgiving for Mercies in Ireland. How long his Cafe continued before this last Committee; or what they did in it, I cannot tell. This is sure, that a Charge was at length drawn up against him, consisting of several Articles. The Substance of which was this: That he had been Chosen by Malignants, and was himself a Malignant; that he had Prayed for the Progress of the Treaty at the Isle of Wight, and for the late King and his Posterity; had Preached against the King's Murther, and talked against it in private Company; that he had also Preached against the Sectaries, and the Leading Men of the Times for Suppressing them; and had shewn his Dislike of a Common-wealth. But there is not one Syllable of Immorality alledged against him. In a Petition of some of the Inhabitants of Sandwich, I find this additional Charge likewise, that he had said, (speaking of Cromwell,) that Success was no Sign of a good Man. I find also that he was further Accused of Preaching against the Engagement: But when the matter came to a Hearing, the Evidence against him, was partly Hearsays; his Words were very much Misrepresented and Perverted: And as to the matter of the Engagement, no particular Words were alledged against him; only the Witnesses affirmed in General, that they Apprehended he did Preach against it; but the contrary was Attested under the Hands of no less than 30 Persons. After this I find the Examination of his Cafe referred to the Mayor and Jurats of the Town of Sandwich; to whom the Charge against him was delivered in Writing; but they would not Examine the Witnesses Face to Face, nor permit any Company to be present, nor so much as allow a Person who was one of the Jurats, to sit among them, as of Right he ought to have done, because he was one of Mr. Harrison's Friends. These worthy Persons also insisted upon having Mr. Harrison's Witnesses Examined first in his Defence, before they would produce their own Witnesses to prove what had been alleged against him in the Charge; and at length Endeavoured all they could, to Brow-beat the Evidence which appeared in his behalf, and threatned to Prosecute them for a Mutiny; and in order to it, began to take their Names. They Revil'd Mr. Harrison likewise in a most shameful manner; call'd him Monkey, Ape, Jack-a-napes, and the like, for using his Pen whilst under Examination. Nor could he at all prevail upon them to have the Witnesses Face to Face, or so much as to receive his Defence, which he Tendered to them in Writing. After this, he was again Summoned before another Set of Sequestrators, which Sate at Sandwich, who made him pay a very long Attendance, and at last would not permit him so much as to be present; whilst they were Examining the Witnesses against him; and when he was at length called in, would oblige him to come alone, and not permit any of his Friends to come in with him: For which Reason he utterly refused to go in at all. Hereupon they proceeded that very Day, which was Aug. 1, 165c, to Sequester him; alledging then no other Reason for it, as far as I can perceive, than that he had refused to observe the Parliament-Fasts, and to Read their Declarations. It was for the Space of about a whole Year, that his Cafe was depending before these Committees: But these were not all the Sufferings he underwent; for one Sunday Morning, whether before or after his Sequestration I do not find, 'Whilst he was in his Prayer 'before Sermon, in the Pulpit, an Officer came in 'with one or two Files of Musquetiers, and Commanded him to come down; but he not regarding their Words, but continuing the Holy Office 'he was about, unconcerned; the Officer gave 'the necessary Words of Command to make Ready, 'then to Present; but perceiving him still unmoved, he did not think fit to give the last Word of 'Command; but instead of that, Commanded his 'Soldiers to go and drag him out of the Pulpit; 'which was accordingly done, and they carried 'him away in great Triumph to the Main-Guard, 'and after that, to Prison, where he remained 'some time; but how long I cannot Learn.——' But that which is most remarkable, is, that that 'very Sunday in the Afternoon, on which they 'Pulled him out of the Pulpit, knocking his Head 'against the Steps of the Pulpit and Desk, by 'a strange and unaccountable Accident, only by 'Providence, by what ever appeared, the Court of 'Guard was blown up with Gun-powder, and the 'Man that first laid his Hands upon him, killed 'Dead, by taking away his Belly at once (his 'Name I hear, was Buck) and a great many others 'of them mortally Wounded. Nor must it be forgotten, that the same day, or the day following, one Capt. Wilson came to the Church, and pulled down the Commandments. In 1653, Mr. Harrison came to South-Taunton in Devon: how long he continued there, I cannot tell; but he Returned to St. Clement's in 1660, where he continued about Six Years, and then was removed to another Living in the West. I have only to add, that this Relation is Attested by Persons of the best Fashion in Sandwich, who are now, or were lately Living in that Town: One of whom hath often heard it from his own Mouth, and others were present in the Church at the time, when those Barbarities were acted upon him there.

Mr. Fotherly was turned out of this Living in the beginning of the Rebellion. He was alive when Mr. Harrison Succeeded in it, then 300 Harrison must not be look'd on as a Sequestred, but as a Perfecuted Minister only. But if Mr. Fotherly was Dead, then Mr. Harrison makes a second Sufferer here. But Quere if he did not come to late to it in the Rebellion, that he could only have the Title of the Times.

I find Examinations taken at Canterbury, Aug. 30, 1649, relating to Mr. Harrison's Behaviour, by Order of the Committee for Plundered Ministers; but by whom, it doth not appear.

Which are now before me.

His Cafe was again before the Committee for Plundered Ministers, Mar. 8, 1649, and to the same Committee was the Return made by the Mayor and Jurats, of the Examinations which they had taken. So that I presume that Committee had re-assumed the matter and that it was by their Order that the Mayor and Jurats of Sandwich were Impower'd to Examine the Witnesses to Mr. Harrison's Charge.

HIGGONS, THEOPH. A. M. Hunton, R.

He had been perverted to the Romish Religion, but was reclaimed by Dr. Morton, then Dean of Winchester. My only Authority for this Sequestration, is what Wood saith of him; who not being positive himself, using this Expression, as I have heard, I forbear to account for him at large, and choose rather to refer the Reader to Wood for his Life. Ath. Vol. II. p. 155.

HIGOS,

Digitized by Google

HIGGS, GRIFFITH, D. D. Cliffe, R. worth betwixt 3 and 400 l. per Annum.

See the Church of Lichfield.

That there was a Sequestration here, is undoubted from Wood, Antiq. l. 1. p. 404; and that Dr. Higgs was Rector of this Living about the beginning of the Troubles, or shortly before, is plain from Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 153. Nor doth it there appear that he quitted it, either on his Promotion to the Chanterfhip of St. David's, or to the Deanery of Lichfield; nor did he Die till the Year 1659. However, if I may be miftaken in the Man, I can be pofitive as to the Sequeftration, as well from the Abridgment it felf, as from Mr. Wood.

Pag. 213.

HILLS, EDMOND, . Weftfarly, V.

HORSMANDEN, DANIEL, D. D. Ulcomb, R.

P. 36.

The Infamous Century unhappily pitch'd upon this Gentleman to fill up a Vacancy: Such Straights were they in to find out an Hundred fcandalous Minifters, among the many Hundreds of the Clergy whom they had at that time Sequeftred. His great Crime, as may be feen with half an Eye, was, affirming that the late Deputy of Ireland was put to Death wrongfully, and was facrificed, as our Saviour Chrift was, to give the People Content. But then, to prove him a Scandalous, as well as Malignant Prieft, 'tis added, that he hath been for 11 Years laft paft, a Common Haunter of Ale-Houfes and Taverns, and very often exceeding Drunk. How true this, and the other Accufations of that Pamphlet are, let the Reader judge, when he hath perufed the following Letter from this Excellent Doctor's own Son, dated at Deal, June 29, 1706:

'Sir,

'YOurs of the 19th Inftant I have received, and 'thank you for it. I cannot (without Sorrow and Amazement) hear, that a Felfe and Scandalous Pamphlet, of at leaft 60 Years ftanding, fhould now be * Trumpt up to difturb the Afhes, and befpatter the Reputation of Dr. Horfmanden (now dead about 55 Years) whofe whole Life gave him the Character of a Learned, Religious, and Loyal Divine: Which, as they were the Great Glory and Ornament of his Life, fo they were the fitteft Marks for Ignorance, Profaneneſs, and Rebellion, to ſhoot their Venom at; and which (with the Aſſiſtance of a great deal of Envy, Hatred, and Malice) brought on him thofe many Sufferings he endured all his Life-time, from the very Beginning of the Rebellion in 1641. His Life was indeed the beſt and trueſt Character could, or can be given of him: In which were Eminent in him his Meekneſs, Humility, Learning, Piety, Patience, Temperance, Reſignation, Charity, and Loyalty; from which, no Perſecution could ever in the leaſt make him Swerve. As for the foul, falſe, and ſcandalous Charge of Drunkenneſs, with which that Pamphlet is ſtuffi, it can be nothing but the Malice of the Devil that invented it: and had his Inclinations been that way, he needed not have fought it in Ale-houſes and Taverns; to whom all the Houſes of the firſt, and beſt Rank of Men in the Country in which he lived, were always open to receive him. And the Improbability of the Truth of this Charge will appear, if he be conſider'd when at the Univerſity of Cambridge; where (in St. John's College) he continued above 20 Years, and was thought

* As the Party by the Pens of their weekly Scriblers have threatned to do; one of this infamous Pamphlet, beyond Queſtion.

Where I find him Tutor in the Year 1604.

'worthy of his Degree of Doctor in Divinity, and to be Tutor to many Perſons Sons of the Firſt Quality in England: Which Honour ſeldom attends a Drunken Man. And if his Youthful Age was attended with Sobriety and Temperance, it is not at all probable, his more Advanced Age ſhould be ſullied with the quite contrary Vices, which then could afford no Reliſh or Satisfaction. Nor is it to be conceived, that (when the Doctor left the Univerſity, and married the Daughter of Sir Warham St. Ledger, with a very good Portion) he ſhould be Guilty of the charged Crime; ſuch Matches ſeldom or never falling to the Lot of a Drunken Man: But his whole Life as well before, as under, his Perſecutions, hath ſufficiently Baffled and Confuted this Aſperſion. His Sufferings were firſt Impriſonment; which he endured in Winchester-Houſe, and within the Lines of Communication of London, for at leaſt five Years; and was (with many Perſons of Quality) order'd and put on Board a Ship, to be ſent and Sold to Turkey for a Slave. 2dly Sequeſtration, and Plundering, and total Deprivation from his Benefice at Ulcomb. And to compound for his Paternal Eſtate, he was forced to ſell the greateſt part thereof; and He, his Wife, and four Children, were forced almoſt to ſtarve on the ſmall remainder, till the year 1655; when (with a good Conſcience) and in a good (but poor) old Age he Dyed, being then 73 Years Old. He out-lived the Malice of his ſevereſt Perſecutors, and had the Satisfaction to ſee them Repent, and the Charity to forgive them. His Offences againſt the then State, were nothing that was ever laid to his Charge, or Proved againſt him, but his firm Loyalty to the King, his never-to-be ſhaken Steadineſs to the Church of England as then Eſtabliſhed, and his being in Poſſeſſion of a good Living; which (in that time) were Crimes enough to undo any Man. As for his Intruder (Mr. Belchier) I ſhall ſay nothing (he being now dead) becauſe I know nothing good to ſay, either of his Morals or Divinity: But his * Preaching down of Tythes as Jewiſh and Antichriſtian, before he was ſettled at Ulcomb, made him then the Celebrated Object of the Peoples Eſteem there; till (being fixed) he gave them occaſion to know, as well as feel, what was meant by Treble Damages; by the Advantage whereof he left a Tenement in Ulcomb † ſo called, as he himſelf alſo was to his dying Day.

* By which Stratagem he wrack'd the Doctor out, and himſelf into the Affections of the Parſonage which he lived ſome time on Contributions; but theſe at length falling, he ſued for the Tithes, even from the firſt Moment of his Coming among them; beginning with one P——, a leading Man; from whom he recovered Treble Damages, which ſoon made all the reſt ſubmit.

† Treble Damages.

'I confeſs, I have with great Difficulty prevailed with my ſelf to write any thing on this melancholy Subject, which I have many times formerly refuſed (tho' importunately ſollicited) to do, for many Reaſons which I ſhall forbear to Enumerate; but eſpecially becauſe I believed that what my Father and an Act of Parliament had Pardoned, would never have been mentioned any more, either to his Honour, or his Enemies Shame.

For which thoſe alone are anſwerable who gave the juſt occaſion.

I am, &c.

The only Reflection I ſhall make upon this Letter, is, that it cannot be ſuſpected of Partiality; becauſe it was plainly Extorted from the Perſon who wrote it. To this I ſhall add a further Vindication of this very Reverend and Worthy Perſon, from ſome of his Pariſhioners, now, or very lately living, who perfectly well remembred him. The Gentleman who ſends it me, ſaith, that he made Enquiry in the Pariſh after the Grounds of that Heavy Charge brought againſt Dr.

Digitized by Google

Dr. Horſemanden and found it to be as falſe, and ſlanderous a Charge, as Hell or Malice could invent. I met (ſays he) with three ancient Perſons of the Pariſh, who were then Inhabitants there, when the Dr. was Sequeſtred; they give me a quite different Character from what the Pamphlet mentions of him; that he was remarkably Sober, one that abhorred all manner of Exceſs, eſpecially in Publick-houſes, which he always Induſtriouſly declined; that he was Charitable to the Poor; Hoſpitable, to all Goers and Comers, kept open Houſe in a manner to every one, and though abſtemious himſelf, one that loved to entertain his Friends plentifully. He was a Man likewiſe very Sober in that other Senſe of the Word, as it ſignifies free from Paſſion, being very Meek, and ready to forgive Injuries, Faithful in the Diſcharge of all the parts of his Miniſterial Function, well-beloved by all his honeſt Neighbours, both of the Gentry and Clergy. In a Word, ſuch a one (ſaid the poor old Man, Frankly enough, with Tears in their Eyes, though no great Friends to the Church of England) as the Pariſh never had ſince among them, and we fear never ſhall. The Gentleman further Subjoins, that as far as he could find, his great Loyalty, and the hopes, which his Pariſhioners had conceived, of Paying no Tithes to the Perſon, who put in for the Living, and who had Preached againſt them as Jewiſh and Antichriſtian, were the true Cauſes of his Sequeſtration. To this let me add, that the moſt Learned Mr. Stephens, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Lincoln, in ſome Manuſcript Papers of his, which I have had the uſe of, calls this Dr. an excellent Perſon. From all which 'tis undeniably manifeſt, how little Credit there is to be given to any thing, which is ſaid of the Clergy in the wicked Century. I do not meet with any more Notices, relating to the Sufferings of this worthy Doctor, than what are interſperſed in the former Letter. Only Wood ſaith, that he boaſted other Spiritualities; which however I judge may be a Miſtake, becauſe of the utter Silence of that Letter, as to any thing of that Matter.

By which we may ſee, that ſometimes the Crime of Drunkenneſs, ſo often Charged upon the Clergy in the Century, was in truth no other, than the Vertue of Hoſpitality.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 828.

LANCASHIRE.

HINDLE, CHISTOPHER, . Ribcheſter, V.

He had been Thirty Years Vicar of this Place; and continued upon it, diſcharging all the Offices of an excellent Paſtor, although it was not worth to him above 20 Marks a Year; and for the latter part of the time, ſcarce any thing at all. Which ſhews that nothing but his very great and extraordinary Merit, render'd him Obnoxious to the Rage of the Party. Juſt upon the breaking out of the Rebellion indeed he had got a Petition and Subſcriptions, from the Pariſh of Blackbourn in this County, for that Living; but the Confuſions both prevented his obtaining of it, and deprived him of that Little which before he Enjoyed. He was once, as I find, Summoned before one of the Preſbyterian Claſſes of this County; but being an excellent Scholar, and particularly well verſed in the Hebrew Tongue, he moſt ſhamefully expoſed them. Whether they thought fit to meddle with him any more, I know not; but I find that his Sequeſtration proceeded from another Quarter; and was brought about in this Honeſt manner: One Ingham, a Godly and Orthodox Man of thoſe Times, went about, and Sollicited the Pariſhioners to ſubſcribe a Certificate for him, in Order to his being ſettled in the Chapelry of Longridge, which is a Branch of this Pariſh. This they granted him, and withal made up amongſt them 30 l. to bear the Expences of his Journey to London, for that purpoſe; but upon his Arrival there, he produces his Certificate, not for the Chapelry, but like an Honeſt Man as he was, for the Vicaridge it ſelf, and gets an Order from the Committee for Plundered Miniſters, Dated if I miſtake not, May 4, 1649, to Diſpoſſeſs Mr. Hindle, and ſerve the Living himſelf. Antwerable to the Honeſty of Mr. Ingham, and his Undertaking, was that likewiſe of the Aſſiſtants, whom he had in it; all of them, as far as I can Learn, being Perjured; and one of them, who was a poor Ragged Weaver, being much mended in his Garb, after his Aſſiſtantſhip, this gave People occaſion to believe, that he had been well paid for it. However, Mr. Hindle did not deliver up his Vicaridge without ſome Reluctancy: for once I find there was a ſtruggle betwixt him and Mr. Ingham, for the Pulpit; at which time Ingham got into it; but Mr. Hindle followed him as cloſe as he could, and ſtanding upon the higheſt Stair of it; and in the preſence of ſeveral Parliament Soldiers (whoſe buſineſs there was, as I preſume, to give their Clerk Mr. Ingham Induction) made one of the boldeſt and moſt Pathetical Speeches to his Congregation, that I ever ſaw. He deſcribed the Miſerable Poſture of Affairs, both in Church and State, in the moſt lively Colours imaginable; He charged the Ruin of Each home upon the Rebels in the boldeſt and plaineſt Words that can be. He repreſented the horrid Murther of the King in its proper and blackeſt Terms; and concluded with the moſt Charitable Declaration of Praying conſtantly for thoſe involved in thoſe horrid Crimes, that God would give them Repentance, &c. What effect this had upon any of them, I know not, unleſs it was to Inrage them further againſt him: for this is certain, that his bare Sequeſtration was not thought Puniſhment enough; and therefore they once knockt him off his Horſe, betwixt Preſton and Ribchedler, and were very like to have Murthered him. He was Sixty Years old at the time of his Sequeſtration, and had a Wife and a great Charge of Children. He was poſſeſs'd indeed of a Temporal Eſtate at Cowel in this County, which contributed to his Maintenance before, and was I believe his only Support after his Sequeſtration; and that as I gueſs but a mean one: for it appears by a Petition of his to the then Councellours, that he was forced to ſue in forma Pauperis for three Years Arrears, and one Years Fifths. He died at Cowel in the Year 1657; and was a moſt excellent Scholar, very well read in the two other Profeſſions of Law and Phyſick, as well as in Divinity; and a Perſon of a very good Life. As for his Succeſſor Mr. Ingham, he was ſo far from being any way comparable to him, that he had never been at any Univerſity, and could ſcarce Write his Name; but the Vicaridge being augmented with 40 l. a Year, he Conformed on the Reſtoration, kept it, and died in Poſſeſſion of it.

To long to be inſerted.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

HALL, NICHOLAS, D. D. . Loughborough, R.

I have been Informed, that he was the ſame Perſon with Mr. Hall of Emanuel-College in Cambridge, who was, with two others, pronounced

Non

But what is said at the End of that College.

Non Scitus by the House of Commons in the Year 1642; and if so, (of which Quære further;) for I make some doubt of it) he was Born at Newcastle. But however that be, I am assured that the Sequestred Rectie of this Living was a worthy Man, and of a very good Family, being (as the Gentleman thinks, who sent me the Account of his Sequestration) by the Death of his Brother, a Baronet. Perhaps he became D. D. after his Ejectment; or it may be after the Restoration, if he Survived it; Quære.

There is no Baronet of this Name in Heylin's Aids, to the Year 1670. See his Help to History.

Or Hunt.

HAULT, WILLIAM, D. D. Kirkworth-Beauchamp, R.

One John Taxley had the Living in 1654.

HODGES, JOHN, . Shakerston, V.

HOLLAND, ——, . Frisby on the Wreak, V.

HONYWOOD, MICHAEL, D. D. Keyworth, R.

He was a Gentleman of a very considerable Family, Brother to Sir Thomas, and Sir Peter Honywood, of Kent, and one of three Hundred Sixty-seven Delcendants, which his Grandmother saw before she died. He was Educated at Christ's-College in Cambridge; where he was successively Scholar, Fellow, Taxor in 1623, Proctor in 1628, and at length a Benefactor; and Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in the Year 1621. He was very Ill-used in the time of the Rebellion; insomuch that he went beyond the Seas, about the Year 1643, and lived at Utrecht during the Perfecution. In 1660, he was made Dean of Lincoln, and died Decem. 7. 1681, in the 83th Year of his Age. He was an Holy and Humble Man, and a Loving Library for Learning; and hath left the Church of Lincoln a well built Library, replenished with many rare Books, which he Bought at Frankfort. He gave alſo 100 l. to St. Paul's-Cathedral.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 840.

New View Lond. p. 466.

HUDSON, MICHAEL, D. D. Market-Bosworth, . worth 400 l. a Year.

See him in the following County.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

HARWOOD, ANTHONY, . Barnolby, R.

He was Thrown out by the Earl of Manchester, for Absence; being in the King's Army; for Asserting his Majeſt's Cauſe; Diſwading his Parishioners from Rebellion; and Obſerving, and Defending the Ceremonies of the Church.

HASTINGS, ROBERT, A. M. East-Keele, R.

He ſived to be Reſtored.

HAZLEWOOD, ——, D. D. Fleet, R.

He was Turned out by the Houſe, June 27. 1643. His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; and he was forced to Fly for his Life.

HOLDER, ROBERT. . Claxby and Normanby, R.

Himſelf, Wife, and Children were allowed but 8 l. a Year to Live upon.

HOLLINGWORTH, RALPH, D. D. Fillingham, R.

See the Cathedral of Lincoln.

HOLT, ——, . All-ſaints, V. } in Staffordſhire, worth 150 l. a Year.
And
St. Peter's, V. . . . . .
And
Thropſton, . in Northamptonſh. worth 150 l. a Year alſo. . . . .

He left likewiſe, if I miſtake not, near 200 l. a Year Temporals, and 1000 l. in Money. Some of his Accuſations, were theſe; that he came in by the Intereſt of the Lord Keeper Coventry, that he had been abſent from his Cures, and ſent Scandalous Preachers to ſupply them; One of which had affirmed, that they were beating down the Churches with Axes and Hammers. And ſo I doubt: this was what made that Perſon Scandalous, ſo I believe it was ſomething or other of the ſame kind, which made the Reſt ſo likewiſe: 'Tis certain at leaſt, that Malignancy was alſo added as one part of Mr. Holt's Charge.

Did they ſo, in the Name of God, or not?

HUDSON, MICHAEL, D. D. Uffington, R. worth 140 l. a Year at leaſt, } Or 180 l. See Mr. South in this County.
And
Market-Boſworth, . in Leiceſterſhire, worth 400 l. a Year. . . .

He was a Native of the County of Weſtmorland, and became ſucceſſively poor Child, Taberder, and Fellow of Queen's-College in Oxford. When the Royal-Standard was Set up at Nottingham, Dr. Hudſon Repaired to His Majeſty, Adhered to his Intereſt, and after the Battle of Edge-Hill, retired with him to Oxford; where he was Created D. D. and made one of his Majeſty's Chaplains; as alſo, about the ſame time (being Eſteemed an underſtanding and ſober Perſon, and of great Fidelity) Scout-Maſter General to the Army in the North Parts of England, under the Command of the Marquis of Newcaſtle: To which General he was highly Serviceable in that Imploiment. In the Year 1646, when his Majeſty's Affairs were reduced to ſuch a paſs, that he was forced upon the deſperate Attempt, of entruſting Himſelf in the hands of the Scots; he made choice of this worthy Doctor (on whoſe Loyalty, Courage, and Knowledge of theſe Parts, he wholly rely'd) to Conduct him in Diſguiſe to Newcaſtle, which he happily (ſhall I ſay, or unhappily) performed; and was immediately upon it ſent for by the Parliament into the Cuſtody of a Serjeant at Arms: But having ſeaſonable Notice of it, he made his Eſcape at that time. However not long after, as he was croſſing the Country, in order to get to London, he was Diſcovered at Rocheſter, Apprehended, brought to London, and Committed Priſoner to London-Houſe; where he continued about four Months, and then found a means to make his Eſcape. But about three Months after, he was Seized again, ſent from Hull to London, and then Committed cloſe Priſoner to the Tower; with ſtrict Order given, that none ſhould Speak with him, but in the Preſence of his Keeper. This was in Jan. 1646; from which Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 590. Lloyd, Memb. p. 633.

See alſo Whitlock's Mem. p. 239, 308, 307.

Quære of Dr. Hudſon did not alſo loſe the Living of King-Cliffe in North amptonſhire, worth 300 l. a Year.

Whilſt he was here, he had, ſaith Lloyd, formed a notable Priſon to keep the Tower in; but he could not bring it to bear.

Digitized by Google

time, till the Beginning of 1648, he continued in that Durance, and then found a means to Escape * thence also. After which he came into this County, where he Raised a Party of Horse for his Majesty, and had Engaged some of the Gentry of Norfolk and Suffolk in the like Design. The chief Body of those who had then taken up Arms, betook themselves, to Woodcraft-House, in the Parish of † Erton in Northamptonshire; which is a strong Stone-building, and surrounded with a Moat. At this place Dr. Hudson, who was at the Head of them, and had, as tis said, a Commission from his Majesty for a Colonel, was barbarously Murdered in the following manner. ' After the ' Rebels had Enter'd into the ' House, and had taken most of ' the Royalists, Hudson with ' some of his courageous Soldi- ' ers, went up to the Bat- ' tlements thereof; where ' they Defended themselves for ' some time. At Length, upon ' promise of Quarter, they yield- ' ed; but when the Rebels had got into ' them, they denied Quarter. Whereupon Hudson ' being thrown over the Battlements, he caught ' hold of a Spout, or Out-Stone, and there Hung; ' but his Hands being bear, or cut off, he fell into ' the Moat underneath, much Wounded, and ' desired to come on Land to die there. Where- ' upon one Egborough (a Servant to Mr. Spinkes; ' the Intruder into the Parsonage of Caster, be- ' longing to the Bishop of Peterborough) knocked ' him on the Head with the But-End of his ' Musquet; which being done, one Walker a ' Chandler or Grocer in Stamford, cut out his ' Tongue, and carried it about the Country as a ' Trophy. His Body for the present was denied ' Burial, yet after the Enemy had left that Place, ' he was by some Christians committed to the ' * Earth. ——As for Egborough, ' he was not long after torn ' in Pieces with his own ' Gun, which burst while ' it was under his Arm in ' Long-Orton: And Walker since, ' through Poverty, quitted his ' Trade, and was become a ' Scorn and By-word to the ' Boys, when he pass'd through ' the Streets of Stamford. This Excellent Dr. lost by the Rebellion, besides his Life, * 2000 l. Personal Estate, and 900 l. a Year: Insomuch that his Wife and Children were from a plentiful Fortune, reduced in a manner to Beggary, and left to Charity. I have nothing more to add, as to his Sufferings, but that he was Sequestred from Ufsington, Dec. 31, 1644, for having come into that Living upon the King's Prefentation, though the Earl of Rutland was Patron; for Non Residence, and having been in his Majesty's Garrisons of Belvoir, Croyland, &c. By which the Reader will eafily obferve, how Active and Indefatigable he was in his Majesty's Service, from the very Beginning of the Rebellion, till the time of his Death. Whilst he was in the Tower, he wrote and publisfhed a Treatise, Intituled The Divine Right of Church-Government: wherein he fhewed himfelf to be a Scholar; as by his Behaviour towards his Majesty, he approved himfelf an Honest, Courageous Man, and a plain and upright Christian; always telling him his Mind, when others would, or durst not. For which the King uſed to call him, his Plain-dealing Chaplain. And as for his Loyalty and Fidelity to His Majesty, his continual Activeneſs in the Royal Cauſe, the great Services which he did it, his Courage, Boldneſs, and the Noble and Generous Greatneſs of his Mind: they are all of them ſo Evident from what hath been already ſaid of him, that it would be needleſs to remark them any further.

* In Diſguiſe with a Baſket of Apples upon his Head.

† Hapſon, ſaith Wood.

I have elſewhere been Informed, by a Reverend Gentleman (who was not long ſince, at the Place, on purpoſe to make Enquiry about this matter) that they Surrendred for Want of Proviſions, but obtained Articles, which the Rebels immediately broke, as ſoon as the Houſe was delivered up to them.

Or out of a Window.

Cut off, ſaith my other Information.

* In the Neighbouring Church of Benton from whence Hon. ſaith Mr. Charles Bertie, who had a juſt Veneration, for the Memory of Dr. Hudſon, did once intend to remove it to Uffington, but whether it was actually done, or not, I am as much uninformed as Wood himſelf was.

HURST, THOMAS, D. D. Langleadingham, R. And Barrowby, . The Two worth 350*l.* a Year. . . . . } But quere if there was not one Dr. Lewis Hurſt, who left a Living called Leading-ham, in this County.

He was of the Univerſity of Cambridge, and Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in 1623. He was Turned out of his Livings in 1644, by the Earl of Manchester: Had been at leaſt, if he was not at the time of his Sequeſtration, Chaplain to his Majesty. He was bitterly Perſecuted in the Rebellion, Impriſoned, Plunaered, and had an Eſtate of 300 l. a Year, ſome time under Sequeſtration. He was alſo ill Treated, and Abuſed in his Perſon. His Loſſes were computed at 10000 l. It was in the Year 1644, that he was Turned out of his Livings; which was done by the Earl of Manchester, for Neglect of Cure, Preaching againſt the Parliament, ſaying, that if this Damnable Work of Reformation went on two or three Years longer, all Miniſters would become Fellow-Commoners with Nebuchadnezzar; and comparing Eſſex, Fairfax, Waller, and Cromwell, to the Four Horns mentioned by the Prophet Daniel; adding, that Cromwell was the Great and Terrible Horn: Which to me, in truth, looks ſomewhat Prophetical. He lived to be Reſtored, and Died in the Year 1674.

Wood, Athen. Vol. I. p. 845. Where alſo ſee more be Publiſhed.

One of his Successors at Barrowby, was John Elwood, who got in in 1634.

Was this true or not?

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

HARRIS, WALTER, . Wolves-Newton, R.

He was Turned out for Drunkenneſs, and Aſſiſting his Majeſty; by the Commiſſioners for Propagation.

HAYWARD, ——, . Bedwas, R.

Mr. Heyward obtained this Living doubtleſs on the Death of Dr. Morgan Owen, the Suffering Biſhop of Llandaffe (who held it in Commendam) and ſo makes a Second Sufferer in it. It is Conſolidated with the Rectory of Rudry in Glamorganſhire; and ſo I preſume, Mr. Hayward was poſſeſt of, and Loſt, both. But quære.

HERBERT, CHARLES, . Bergevenny, V.

He lived to be Reſtored,

HETH, RICHARD, . Greſmont, V.

I find him Arbitrarily thruſt out of his Vicaridge Houſe, by a private Perſon: Which is all the Grounds I have, whereon to build the Conjecture of his Sequeſtration.

HOWELL, JEFFRYS, . * Matther, .

* in this County, if I muſt ariſght. Quære.

HUGHES, MICHAEL, . Usk, V.

Turned out by the Commiſſioners for Propagation; for Drunkenneſs, for Promoting the Late Tyrant's Service (as they impiouſly ſtiled the King) and for Uſing the Common-Prayer.

HUGHES,

Digitized by Google

HUGHES, WILLIAM, . . Bergaving, V.

He was alſo Turned out by the Propagators, for Drunkenneſs, and Illegal Induction.

‡ Quere if not ſet out of theſe before.

‡ HUGHS, ——, . Gwebellugge, .

HURD, WILLIAM, . Porſkurſt. † Peare, R.

† This, if I miſtake not, is the Perſh Hurſt out of which he was Turned

He was Diſpoſſeſt ſome time before 1649. Tis, I think, otherwiſe wrote Portſhurſt.

NORFOLK.

Or Harry.

HARRY, STEPHEN, . Aldborough, R.

Quere if he did not alſo loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 30 l. a Year.

* ſeques. for afterwards.

I preſume he came to this Living (unleſs there are Two of the Name in the County) on the Sequeſtration of Mr. Reeve: And if ſo, he cannot be lookt on in an Equal Rank with the other Sequeſtred Miniſters of this Liſt; ſince *Mr. Reeve, who had an undoubted Right to it, was ſtill living. Mr. Harry was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 28, 1644, for being ſtrict in Obſerving the Orders of the Church himſelf, and preſſing them on others, when Rural Dean; for ſaying, Women ought to be Church'd in a Veil; for Vindicating the Ceremonies of the Church, the Validity of an Evil Miniſter's Office, and the Book of Sports; for ſpeaking againſt the Scots, and Mr Dodd's Works; for Stopping in his Sermon, when he ſaw any with their Hats on; for being Diſtemper'd with Drink; for telling a Woman, who deſigned to give her Ring for the Parliament Service, that ſhe might chance to have a Rope for it; and ſeveral other Inſtances of Malignancy. At the time of his Death, he gave Legacies to Forty Sequeſtred Miniſters.

——, ——, . Hackford cum Whitwil, R.

See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A. One Sampſon Townſend gotthis Living in 1655.

HATLEY, CHRISTOPHER, . Mourning-Thorp, R.

HEMBLING, JO. . Hickling and * Taling, V.

* I think theſe Two are United.

He had a Wife and Two Children. Quare if he did not alſo loſe a Temporal Eſtate of Twenty Pounds a Year.

HINSON, JOHN, . Terrington-St. Clement's, R. And Terrington-St. John's, V. . . . . }

HOWES, RICHARD, . Knapton, R. He had a Wife and Two Children.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

HARRISON, JOHN, A. M. Talvertoft, R.

He lay under Sequeſtration 15 Years, was Barbarouſly dragged out of his Houſe, and forced to ſeek Shelter where he could find it. He lived to be Reſtored, but died about the Year 1662; leaving a very poor and ſuffering Family. His Son in the Year 1705, was coming to the Maintenance of the Parith.

HAYWOOD, THOMAS, . Badby cum Newnham, V.

He muſt have been Turned out about the Year 1646: For I find that he lay under Sequeſtration 14 Years. He was alſo dragged out of his Pulpit, Plundered, and Impriſoned. He had at the time of his Sequeſtration a Wife and Six Children, Two of which were ſmall: And for the Maintenance of himſelf and them, was driven to all Extremities. His Wife indeed 'kept Poſſeſſion of the Vicaridge-Houſe; but the Farmer of the Glebe and Small Tythes, uſed to carry 'away the Hay of the Cloſe by force, when it 'was ready made upon the Cock for her; and to 'gather the Fruit of her ſmall Orchard. If Good friends and Charitable Neighbours (Mr. Lance of 'Dodford, her Brother, Mr. Oneſy, Sir Richard Shugbrough) had not Reliev'd her, ſhe and her 'Children muſt have Starved: For her Husband 'went up and down on Foot, Begging from one 'Royaliſt to another; and uſed to come home 'ſometimes but with a Groat in his Pocket, and 'was glad to eat a Barley-Pudding ſtirred with 'Water. His Firſt and Immediate Succeſſor was one Dawkes, who had formerly been a Nail-Maker at Birmingham, and to very poor, that he went up and down with a Bag to ſell them. I ſhall have occaſion to ſay more of Him hereafter. After him came one Winſtan, who will be alſo mentioned in another Place. This laſt Surrender'd the Vicaridge again to Mr. Haywood on the Reſtoration; but how long he tarried in it, I know not; being ſome time after, as a Reward for his Sufferings, Preſented to the Living of Riſden. He was a Man of Learning, of a good Life, and a Diligent Preacher.

HOLT, ——, . Thropſton, . See Lincolnſhire.

HOLWAY, ——, . Kislingbury, R. worth about 300 l. a Year.

He had a very good Temporal Eſtate which was likewiſe put under Sequeſtration. The Crimes alledged againſt him, were his refuſing the Covenant, and avowing the Lawfulneſs of having two Wives: Which latter Accuſation was a Vile Calumny. For he was Speaking only of the Polygamy of the Ancients, then Tolerated, but not now allowable. All his Neighbours were for him, except one Thieviſh Miller, and one or two Paultry Fellows more. To theſe, as I have been further Informed, was added the Crime of holding Correſpondence with the King; Of which Oath was made before the Committee, by one of his Servants, to whom he had been God-Father; and whom, in Charity, he had bred up from a Boy. The unhappy Wretch was prompted to this Piece of Ingratitude, by his Maſter's having re- proved him for Imbezling his Corn and other things. Mr. Holway was 60 Years old, had 20 Children, had built very much on the Parſonage, at the time of his Sequeſtration, and had no Fifths paid him; all which are Circumſtances that do not a little aggravate his Sufferings. To which it muſt be added, that he had the Perpetuity of the Living, and had bred his eldeſt Son at the Univerſity of Oxford, till he was A. M. intending him for his Succeſſor; of which he was wholly diſappointed: For the ſame uſurped Authority which Diſpoſſeſſed him, took care to appoint his Succeſſors likewiſe. The firſt of which was one Robert Rogers, the Son of a Miller, a very Dunce, and then a poor Curate; as he muſt always have continued, in any other Times but theſe. However he was extreamly Diſliked of all the Pariſh, and by them driven away, by many Indignities and Reproaches; although afterwards he made a ſhift to plunder himſelf into another Living, belonging to Doctor Walker, near Oxon. After him came one John Wilmot, a poor Lame Fellow, who was no Graduate, either in Arts or Divinity, having never been at the Univerſity; nor did he ſo much as underſtand the Latin Tongue. He had a Baſtard before Marriage, was very ſcandalous for Drunkenneſs, being in Debt in every Ale-Houſe near him, and went often Home, Spewing-Drunk, from Northampton. Mr. Holway had been * ſequeſtred from a Living near London, and not long before he came to this Living, had Lain in the King's-Bench for Debt. He was an Ancient grave Divine, of good Life and Learning, a conſtant Preacher, and very Hoſpitable to his Neighbours.

Digitized by Google

His Death was haſtned by his Troubles, being Old and Harraſſed with Journeys, &c. inſomuch that he dyed ſoon after his Ejectment.

Whether his Living (in what County ſoever it lay) was by Lawful Authority put under Sequeſtration, for the Payment of his Debts; or whether Mr. Wilmot might be One of thoſe few Miniſters, truly Scandalous and Ignorant, which the Uſurpers hoped to ſtumble upon, as they walked the Grand-Round of a General Diſſolution among the Clergy, I cannot tell. There ſeems to be ſome ground to conjecture the former; for in what Followers of his Lying in the King's Bench for Debt. But if the latter was his Caſe, then his being afterwards placed into ſo great a Living by the Rebels themſelves, is a Plain Evidence, that even amongſt thoſe who were truly Scandalous and Ignorant, neither the Scandal of their Lives, nor their Ignorance, but ſomething elſe, which 'tis eaſie to gueſs at, was the Real Cauſe of their Sequeſtration; ſince the Names of manifeſt, that as ſoon as they approved themſelves Well-wiſhers to the Good old Cauſe, they might preſently Commence Saints, how Scandalous ſoever they had been before. However quare further of his Caſe.

'it, nor in any Place of that Pariſh; and therefore to Support his Family, which was much Increaſed by the Charge of three Orphans, left to his Care by the foreſaid Daughter, he was obliged to take a Farm in the Neighbourhood, where in leſs then half a Year, what by the Change of Paſture, and what by Thieves and Plunderers, he Loſt upon the matter, all his Cattle, and was reduced to extream Poverty. It is obſervable, that during the ſhort time of his abode in the Town, after he was forced from his own Houſe, he ſcarce dared to avow the uſe of Family Prayer; there being Spies upon him, who watched all opportunities of Informing againſt him, and none more violent, than his Succeſſor Mr. Moor, who often Threatned to Ruin him if he did not leave the Pariſh; and when upon the Reſtoration, he was Repoſſeſs'd of his Living, the ſaid Moor, who had Enjoyed the Profits of it for 12 Years together, demanded 20 l. of him for the Repair of a little Study, where his Books ſtood.

HILL, FRANCIS, . Kirkbaugh, R.

HUME, JAMES, . Tinmouth, V.

HUXLEY, THOMAS, . * Morpit, .

* I take this to be the ſame Living with Morpeth; and if ſo, Huxley was Sequeſtred from it, by Mr. Robinſon makes a ſecond Sufferer, and Succeeded, as I gueſs, on the Death (whom alſo ſee in this County) who died about 1643.

This Sequeſtration is rather a matter of Quare, than Certainty.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

HENSHAW, ——— , . Peadbury, R.

OXON.

MODGES, WILLIAM, D.D. One of the Vicaridges of Bampton.

See the Cathedral of Worceſter.

HOLIDAY, BARTON, D.D. Crowel, R. . . . . And Another Living in this Dioceſs. .

See the Arch-Deacon of Oxon.

HOUGHTON, ———, . B. D. St. Miles, R. in Oxon.

See Lincoln-College in Oxford.

HUNGERFORD, ——— , . * Heyford-Warren, R.

* Or alſo Upper-Heyford in Northamptonſhire, Quere which of the two.

He had been Fellow of New-College in Oxford, Lived to Re-poſſeſs his Living, and was a Man of a very good Character.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

HENDERSON, THOMAS, . Chatton, V.

HETCHTETER, DANIEL, . Newbourn, V.

HESLEHEAD, JOHN, . Warkworth, V. worth 100 l. a Year.

As 'he was Officiating in his Church on the 'Lords'-day, a Party of Soldiers came in a very 'rude manner, and diſturbed the Congregation; 'and one of them made up to him, holding a 'Cock'd-Piſtol to his Breaſt, threatning to Shoot 'him, if he did not deſiſt. Having thus turned 'him out of Church; the next Attempt was 'to turn his poor Wife, and Children, and his whole 'Family out of the Vicaridge-Houſe; and with this 'Inhuman Circumſtance, that they would not 'ſo much as ſuffer a Daughter of his, that ſtayed 'with him after her Marriage, and was then up'on point of being Delivered, to Lye-in in the 'Houſe, and who ſoon after died in Child-birth. 'Her Death being chiefly occaſioned, as 'twas thought, by the Hurry and Fright of her ſudden 'Removal. After his Ejectment, he Hired a Houſe 'in the Town, but was not permitted to ſtay in

RUTLANDSHIRE.

HALL, ——, . ——, .
The Living from which this Gentleman was Sequeſtred, lay, if I miſtake not, ſomewhere in this County. However quære whether he be not the ſame with ſome of the many other Gentlemen of this Name, mentioned in this Liſt.

HALLES, WILLIAM, A.M. Glaſton, R. worth 120*l.* a Year.

See Peterborough-Cathedral.

HULL, RICHARD, . Lyndon, R.
He was Preſented by the rightful Patron of this Living, and Tendered his Preſentation to the Biſhop about the Year 1648; who admitted of it, but durſt not give him Inſtitution at that time; whereupon one Barker Uſurped the Place, and kept Poſſeſſion of it until 1661; and then dying, Mr. Hull took out a freſh Preſentation from the Crown, by Vertue of which he Enjoyed the Living. He had been alſo Impriſoned in thoſe times. At his Death he left his Family in ſo mean a Condition, that I find his Wife afterwards Supported, among the other Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy, by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

SALOP.

HABBERLEY, THOMAS, Diddlebury, V. And Corfton, R.

The latter of theſe I take to be in this County, as well as the former.

† Which is in this County, if I miſtake not.

HALL, GHARLES, .† Cainham, V.

He was Succeeded by one J—— Lloyd, who was ſent thither for that purpoſe, from Eaton-School.

HIGGINS, WILLIAM, . Stoke upon Terne, R.

See Lichfield-Cathedral. One John Adams Succeeded in this Living in 1655: Who had been there before, I know not.

HIDE, RALPH, . Sydbury, R.
He Lived to Repoſſeſs this Living in 1660.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

HELE, ——, . Hemington, R.
He Lived to be Reſtored.

HEXT, AMIAS, B.D. Babcary, R.
He was alſo Impriſoned in the Year 1646, continued in Durance more than a Twelve-Month, and was likewiſe Plundered of all he had. In ſome of his Papers he drew up his Complaint in the following manner: In this Confinement I am 'Debarr'd of Seven things dear to me; '1. The Society and Company of my Wife, '2. The Company and Comfort of my Children, '3. The Fellowſhip and Comfort of my Pariſhioners, 4. The want of the Benefit of my 'Living, 5. The Reſtraint of the Exerciſe of my 'Function. 6. The Abridgement of my Liberty, '7. The want of the uſe of Books. Things dear indeed to a Chriſtian, a Parent, a Miniſter, and a Scholar. I perceive by a Petition preſented to the Committee, that his Crime was refuſing the Oath of Non-Adherence; for which he gave this very good Reaſon, that it was directly oppoſite to Other Lawful Oaths, which he had before taken: And therefore in a 2*d. Petition*, I find him urging, that even in their own Opinion he ſhould be no longer Criminous, could he diſpenſe with being Conſcientious. Both theſe Petitions were Preſented without any Effect; as likewiſe a Third, by a Relation, in his Favour; wherein he repreſents the lamentable Caſe Mr. Hext was in; and particularly, that he had a Wife and Six Children to provide for. I have ſeen a Letter which Mr. Hext wrote during his Impriſonment, directed to this Relation of his, wherein he thus declares himſelf: 'Conformity muſt be yielded: —— 'Tis not all the Livelihood I have, will bring 'me within the Terms of that Concluſion: —— 'I leave all to God's wiſe and gracious Diſpenſation and Providence, &c. It appears alſo by theſe Papers, that Mr. Hext had receiv'd the Directory and Conformed himſelf in ſome meaſure to it; but becauſe he would not do every thing, they were reſolv'd to make thorough Work with him. So little will they allow of Moderation, as much as they pretend to it.

HITE, ——, . Brampton-Ralph, R.

He liv'd to be Reſtored.

HOLT, THOMAS, . Lamiat, R. And Weſton-Zoyland, .

See the Cathedral-Church of Wells.

HOLWAY, WILLIAM, . North-Chriſton, R.

He was Seiz'd on in the time of Sermon, by ſome Fellows who Preſented their Piſtols at him, and carry'd him away before the Committee. He went at length into Shropſhire, where he got a Place; but what it was, I cannot learn. Some time after, he return'd to Viſit his Old Pariſh; and then foretold, as the Report goes, the Miſerable Death of one of his Perſecutors; who was accordingly afterwards devoured with Lice and Worms; which ſeveral of the Pariſh now or lately living, affirm upon their own Knowledge.

I judge there were two Sufferers in this Living; ſucceſſively, no doubt. I only gather the Sequeſtration, both of them and the other, from what they ſuffer'd in other kinds. See Mr Rook afterward, whom I take to have been the Firſt Sufferer.

HUISH, ALEXANDER, B.D. Beckington, R. And Hornbloton, R.

See the Cathedral-Church of Wells.

HUNT, JOHN, A. M. Exford, R. And Loxhoar, R. in Devon. . . . .

I can be positive as to his Sequestration from the Former of these Livings; but as to the Latter, it is only a Conjecture, grounded on these Reasons, that at the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was Posseſt of them both, and was afterwards forced to Fly to the King's Army. I presume he died under the Usurpation: For on the Restoration I find Mr. Henry Travers quietly Posseſt of the Living of Loxhoar.

——, ——, . Huntspil, R.

SOUTHAMPTON.

He was also Plundered.

HAGAR, JOHN, A. M. Chilcombe, R. He lay under Sequestration Thirteen Years; and during that time was reduced to such Extremity, that as he hath walked the Streets of London, if he hath seen a cast Piece of Bread in the Streets, he hath dropt his Glove on it, took it up, and eaten it with Greediness. He lived to be Restored; and dy'd, as I guess, about the Year 1671. He was a Person of a good Life, and great Learning; but had been succeeded on the Sequestration by one Gasp. Binner, who was every way inferiour to him.

HALSWELL, HUGH, A. M. Cheriton, R.

See Winchester-Cathedral.

HAMILTON, ——, . Fareham, .

HANHAM, ——, . Dogmersfield, R.

HEATH, ——, . Glanfield, .

HEYLIN, PETER, D. D. Alresford, R. And South-Warnborough, R. . . . . .

See the Church of Westminster.

HINTON, LAURENCE, D. D. Chilbolton, R.

See the Church of Winchester.

HOLLNESSE, ——, . Odiam, V.

HOLLOWAY, ——, . St. Clement's, .

He was also Plundered.

HOOD, ——, . Bentworth, R.

* It may be Abbots-Anne, R.

HYDE, ——, D. D. * Abbots-Inn, . He was likewise Imprisoned. See Wiltshire, and quere.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

HILTON, ——, . Lapley, V.

HUMPHRIES, ——, . Longdon, V.

SUFFOLK.

HART, RICHARD, . Hargrave, R. P. 14.

He hath deservedly a Place in the Century, if all be true which is there charged upon him, viz. his continuing almost a whole Week together in an Ale-house; and having his Face so Batter'd, that he could not Officiate the Sunday following; making his Parishioners drunk (and that too on Sundays) at his own House; and Tipling with them in Ale-houses; and once on a Whit-Sunday, after the Sacrament, making a Fellow Drunk, and when he was asleep, sitting up all Night in a Chamber with his Wife. To which is added, his Contempt of the Parliament Fasts, and saying, he would rather Curse the Parliament, than Pray for them.

——, ——, . Heveringham, R.

HILL, ——, : Shordon, . He was Turned out about April 1644.

HIND, ——, . Wherstead, R. He was Turned out about the same time with Mr. Hill.

HOLT, ——, . Aspal-Stonham, R.

He had been Fellow of St. John's College in Cambridge, and was by that Society recommended to the Patron of this Living, as a Learned, Worthy Man. He had also Re-built most of the Parsonage-House: But neither his Learning, nor Benefaction could preserve him from being Persecuted to such a Degree, that he was forced to Abscond, and at length to Fly into Norfolk; where he died.

HONEKIN, THOMAS, . Palgrave, R.

He was Hurried, and Frighted into a Resignation. After which, he liv'd a Retir'd and Melancholy Life, and died at Thelnetham in this County, in the Year 1646.

SURREY.

HANSLOW, JOHN, A. M. Aldbury, R. See St. Paul's Cathedral.

HILLIARD, ROBERT, . Ewell, V. P. 6.

He is another of the Malignant Priests of the Century. For I can scarce think him Scandalous; since he is only Charg'd in general with the trite and Hackney Accusations of Drunkenness and Swearing. Especially considering his Malignancy was so great, that it was not to be suppoſed, he could escape without those Imputations: For he had not only only discourag'd the Parliament Service, and said he would rather live under an Heathen Government; but also called them a Parliament for the Devil, and the Devil's Court; adding, that the Petitions of the Parliament to the King, are like the Petitions of Jeroboam to Rehoboam, Command, and not Petitions. And what is worse than all, he had jeared the Holy Spirit of Grace; saying, We have Ministers now will Preach forsooth, and Pray by the Spirit. He was Dispossess'd, if I mistake not, July 11, 1643.

Digitized by Google

SUSSEX.

HALSEY, ——, . East-Dean, R.

He was Turned out upon a Pretence of Insufficiency; but 'tis certain that he could not be so very ignorant, as not to understand his A B C. So that if their thinking him not Learned enough for the Ministry, was the Real Cause of his Deprivation, they might well enough have allowed him to be a poor School; which, however, they would not: For tho' he came with Tears in his Eyes, and fell on his Knees to a Leading Man of the Times, and desired the Favour of him to let him teach an English School as a Penny a Week to each Child, he was in a barbarous manner denied that Means of supporting his Numerous Family; which consisted of no less than Nine Children, and which must have all starved, had they not been supported by some Persons in London. The Subsistence which they had from thence, was indeed so small, that one of his Daughters complained to a Gentleman now living, that she was sometimes glad to make a Meal on Half an Egg. Such was the Extream Want in which himself and his Family lived, during the Rebellion and Usurpation; insomuch that 'tis no small Wonder how he happen'd to survive them both, and live to receive his Rectory again, from the Hands of Germain, who had been Eating the Bread of this Starving Family all that time. Mr. Halsey was a very Honest and Industrious Man.

HASLER, ——, . Bignor, R.

He was a very Loyal and Good Man, and was sent for up to London, upon some Accusations against him; one of which more particularly, was his Reading the Homilies. In return to which, when he answered, that he had read but One, which was that against Rebellion; he was for that sawcy Reply Turned out of his Rectory, and afterwards lived in great Poverty until the Restoration: When he recovered his Living again out of the Hands of the Usurper, one Peers, who was Esteemed by all, a Rank Knave.

Or Bens

HEATH, GEORGE, . West-Grinsted, R.

He was Son to the Lord Chief Justice Heath; and consequently Brother to Sir Edward Heath (whose only Daughter was Grandmother to the present Earl of Gainsborough) and to Sir John Heath (Father to the present Lady Willoughby of Brook;) And had for his Sister, the Lady Morley of Halnaker in this County, Grandmother to the present Countess of Derby. There is one Circumstance particularly observable in his Sufferings; namely, that Mr. G. Venter, the Chairman of the Committee by which he was Sequestred, confess'd he had dispatched him out of Malice: For in Discourse with John Greatwick, Esq; one of her Majesty's Justices of Peace for this County, now living, he said, He never turned out any Clergymen out of Spleen, but Mr. Heath. The Person substituted in his room, was one Mr. John Tredcroft. He Enjoyed the Living till the Restoration, and then gave it up again to Mr. Heath; who Repossess'd it at that time, to the Joy and Comfort of his Parishioners. The Worshipful Gentleman before-mentioned, very well remembers that there was in those Times a Subscription of some underhand Dealings betwixt Mr. Venter, the Chairman of the Committee, and those who succeeded in the Livings of the Loyal Clergy. And accordingly they used to call him the Lord of the Manor; and the Fatlion Intruders, the Copy-Holders, who paid Fine and Quit-Rents. Nor was the Suspicion wholly groundless, as Time hath since discover'd: For there are now before me Three Original Receipts from Mr. Venter to this Mr. Tredcroft, for a Yearly Stipend. I shall insert verbatim the Copy of one of them, as well for the Peculiarity of such a Paper, as for the great Wickedness of the Practice.

'Oct. 16, 1657.

'RECEIVED then of Mr. Tredcroft, the Sum of 'Twelve Pounds, in full of an Half Years 'Annuity, due to me at Michaelmas last. I say, 'Received by me,

'G. VENTER.

The other Two are of the 2*d* of May, 1659, and the 14*th* of Decem. the same Year; and are for the same Sum, and to the same Effect, with this now Recited; save that in the former of them this Pension is called by the general Name of a Payment; and in the Other, a Rent. Notwithstanding Mr. Tredcroft quitted the Living, as is before said, to the Right Owner, upon the Restoration, he is Ranked by the Abridgment (p. 290.) among the Bartholomew Sufferers.

HENSHAW, JOS. D. D. Lavant, R.
And Hayshot, R. . . . . .

See the Cathedral of St. Paul.

HENY, THOMAS, . Arundel, V. P. 90.

He is put into the Century likewise, for Drunkenness, Swearing, seldom Preaching, Endeavouring to introduce a Contempt of that Ordinance among his Parishioners, telling them he would make them content with a Homily; and before he had done with them, would make them glad with one Sermon in a Month. To which is added, great Malignancy against the Parliament.

HINE, ——, . Fittleworth, R.

After the most diligent Enquiry for Matter of Scandal and Accusation against this Excellent Person, nothing could be found, but his being a Notorious Sabbath-breaker; the Instance of which, was this: The Button of his Breeches, as he was stepping one Sunday over a Stile, tore off; and he got a Taylor in his Neighbourhood presently to Sew it on again. And for this he was Dispossess'd of his Living: though he was a Person Eminent for his great Learning and Charity, and particularly Useful to his poor Neighbours, in lending them Money, without taking any Intereſt for it. He was succeeded by one Walmyn, a Fellow of a Profligate Life, and one who had recommended himself to the Reward of a Sequestred Living, by going about the Country, and Riding into the Churches to disturb the Service; as he had done but the Week before he was made the worthy Rector of it, in this very Church of Fittleworth. At which time he call'd out

out aloud to the Congregation as they were Singing the Pſalm, and told them, he thought they were extreamly merry without Pot or Pipe.

HOOK, THOMAS, . New Fiſherbourn, R.

He compounded alſo at 265 l. for his Temporal Eſtate, which they had likewiſe put under Sequeſtration. There was one of both theſe Names who had been originally of the Univerſity of Cambridge, Created D. D. at Oxford, among the Loyal Sufferers in 1642. There is alſo another of the ſame Names already mentioned at the Cathedral of Chicheſter. Probably this Laſt, if not the Other alſo, was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer. Quere. But if that Theo. Cook who was Created D. D. at Oxford, be different from both theſe, then he ought to be inſerted in a diſtinct Article: For 'tis more than probable, that he was a Sufferer alſo, for Reaſons which you may ſee at Dr. Bowreman, in the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 716.

HUGGET, ANTH. . Cliff, R. And Glynd, V. . . . . .

He is another of the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts of the Century; and ought rather to have been Hanged than Sequeſtred, if the Charge upon him was ſufficiently proved: For it is there ſaid, that he had been Pox'd; and that quarrelling with his Wife about a Whore, he Kick'd her on the Belly, which occaſioned her being Delivered of a Dead Child ſoon after. But then Urging the Duty of Parochial Communion, Proſecuting his Pariſhioners for not Practiſing it, but running abroad to other Churches; Obſerving the Orders of the Church; Reading the New Canons, and going into his Majeſty's Service, compleat his Accuſations. I am informed from his Succeſſor in this Living, that he cannot find that he was guilty of thoſe Crimes that are there * laid to his Charge: Beſides, thoſe few Perſons (now, or lately living) who knew him, never heard of any ſuch that were charged upon him: ſo that they muſt be Notorious and Falſe. And indeed the ſame Letter ſeems to account ſufficiently for the whole of his Accuſation; which it very probably puts upon the ſcore of his being a Surrogate in the Eccleſiaſtical Court, and very Exact and Strict in keeping up the Diſcipline of the Church to the Height, and puniſhing all Perſons that were guilty of any Enormities and Irregularities, which are Cognizable and Corrigible by her Canons and Conſtitutions. He was Proſecuted, as will eaſily be believed, and Purſued with the utmoſt Fury and Rage, and very narrowly eſcaped the dire Effects of it: For his Enemies hunted and purſued him ſo cloſe, that he was ſecured by a Neighbour in the next Pariſh, who hid him under a Bed.

P. 31.

* In the Century.

WARWICKSHIRE.

HOLYOK, FRANCIS, . Southam, R.

He was Born in this County, and was ſometime of Queen's-College in Oxford; after which he became a Noted School-Maſter, and Rector of this Living. He was Elected a Member for the Convocation of the Clergy in the Beginning of the Reign of King Charles I, and Died in 1653, in the 87th Year of his Age. Wood ſaith that he Suffered much for the King's Cauſe, during the time of the Grand Rebellion. If that Expreſſion, doth not ſufficiently Imply a Sequeſtration, I am willing to Diſcount him here, and Place him in the Appendix. He was a Reverend and Learned Man.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 507.

See in Wood an Account of what he Wrote.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

HERN, JOHN, . Gardſen, R.

He was alſo Impriſoned; and Suffered many other Hardſhips, beſides the Loſs of his Living. He Died very Poor, leaving behind him ten Children; and a Widow who came afterwards to be Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. He was a Learned and Pious Man, and a conſtant Aſſerter of the Doctrine of the Church of England.

HICKMAN, THOMAS, . Upton-Lovell, R.

I know very little of this Gentleman, beſides what is contained in the following Petition:

'To the Right Honourable Edward Earl of Clarendon Lord High-Chancellor of England, &c. The Humble Petition of Elizabeth Hickman of 'Upton-Lovel in the County of Wilts, Widow,

'Moſt Humbly ſheweth unto your Good Honour;

'That in the Time of the late Uſurpers (of execrable Memory) your Honour's poor Petitioner's Husband, Thomas Hickman, in his Life-time was Inveſted in the Parſonage of Upton aforeſaid; and there Studious in his Function, a Dutiful Son of the Church of England, in Judgment Orthodox, conſtantly Loyal, zealouſly affected to the Royal Intereſt; manifeſted in providing Horſes and Arms at his own proper Charges, and ſending both his Sons and Servants in Vindication thereof. Our eldeſt Son Samuel Hickman, Maſter of Arts in Oxford, Captain of a Troop of Horſe in his Late Majeſty's own Reigment (which ſaid Troop alſo we Raiſed at our own proper Coſt and Charges) was ſlain at Newbery firſt Fight. Our other Sons Imployed in matters of Conſequence, in Order to, and Purſuance of, the Intereſt of his late Sacred Majeſty, of Famous and and Ever bleſſed Memory. For which your Honours poor Petitioner's Husband was Thrown out of his Parſonage (worth 120 l. a Year) Plundered of our Goods portable, his Perſon divers times, and in ſeveral places, Impriſoned and Villainouſly Entreated, and conſtrained to purchaſe his Peace and Liberty at 100 l. Which Money we was forced to Borrow, to ſatisfie the Avaricious, Covenant-Committee. All which Loſſes and Charges, beſides the Loſs of your poor Petitioner's Son, the Horſe and Staff of her old Age, amounting to more than 1800 l. And thus after 14 Years Expulſion from our Living, your poor Petitioner's Husband departed this miſerable Life; leaving your Petitioner 200 l. Indebted, and but a very ſmall Subſiſtence for your ſaid Petitioner, and her ſurviving Children. May it therefore pleaſe you, Right Honourable, to take into your Pious Breaſt, a Reſentment of your poor Petitioner's ſad Sufferings; that according to your Honour's Innate Beneficence to the Worthily Deſerving, your poor Petitioner alſo may Receive ſuch Compenſation, which may enable her to Diſcharge her Engage- ments

Digitized by Google

'ments contracted by the aforesaid Services. The 'Way and Means the Humbly leaves to your 'Honour's excellent Prudence. And your Petitioner shall ever Pray for the Augmentation of 'your Honour here, and Eternal Happiness hereafter. I am loth to tell the Reader what Success, or rather what Disappointment this moving Petition met with, from the Hands of that Great Person to whom it was Presented: And have only to add, that Mr. Hickman had a Temporal Estate of about 20 l. per Ann. on which his Wife, and 4 or 5 Children Subsisted during the Usurpation; and that his Immediate Successor was one Bradish, an Irish-Man; of whose Ridiculous Preaching (not to give it the worse Name which it deserveth) I could let the Reader have a very particular Instance, if Modesty would permit me to Relate the Story.

———, ———, . Ham, R.

See the Note at Abberton in Sussex, under the Letter A. One of his Successors, if he had more than one, was Richard Willows; who got the Living in 1658.

* See Dr. Creed in this County. They Doubtless Lost their Living successively, and if Dr Creed be the same Person, which him who was afterward Divinity-Professor in Oxford, there is no doubt but Dr. Hobbs was the Sufferer, and probably Died under the Usurpation, &c.

HOBBS, ———, D. D. * Boyton R.
And
Sherrington, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

He had been Fellow of Trinity-College in Oxford. After his Sequestration, he Lived on Charity, particularly with one Mr. John Topp of Stockton. Soon after the Restoration, one Thomas Lambert was Rector of Boyton; and one William Hobbs (probably a Relation, it may be a Son to this Sufferer) had the Rectory of Sherrington.

HYDE, ALEXANDER, D. D. Wiley, R.

See the Church of Salisbury. See also one Dr. Hyde in Hampshire, and quære if he were the same Person, either with this Dr. Alexander Hyde, or that Dr. Thomas Hyde of Mill-ston who follows.

He was a different Person from Dr. Edward Hyde who is mentioned in Berks, of I have a very Account of their Degrees; But quære

HYDE EDWARD, A. M. Grimsted near Sarum, R. worth 100*l.* a Year.

He had a Wife and three Sons, and died before the Restoration.

HYDE THOMAS, D. D. Millston, .

He Lived to be Restored. See Dr. Thomas Hyde in the Church of Salisbury, and quære.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

———, ———, . Hartlebury, R.

See the Note at Abberton before-mentioned. Whoever was the Sufferer, one of his Successors, (if there were more than one) was Tho. Wright, who got the Living in 1655.

HOLLEAD, ———, . Church-Lench, .

When the Barbarous Ravagers came to Dispossess him, his Wife happened to be with Child at least, if not near her Time, or Lying in. Notwithstanding which they proceeded to Execute their wicked Purpose, and not only Turned him and his Children out of Doors, but Dragged out the poor Gentlewoman also in that Condition; though it was a Season of bitter Cold and Snow. Upon this Mr. Holead was forced to Remove into a little House, where he died a few Years after.

HOLLINGTON, ———, . Alvechurch.

Mr. Richard Moor was Possess'd of this Living in 1661; and then gave it up to Mr Hollington, who out-lived the Usurpation. See Abridg. p. 144.

YORKSHIRE.

HANNOW, ———, . Thornhill, R. worth 250*l.* a Year.

———, ———, . Hanfworth, . worth 160*l.* a Year.

HITCH, ———, D. D. Addle, R. He Out-lived the Usurpation, and became at last Dean of York. He was forced by the Ordinance against Pluralities, to Resign this Living, having also that of Guisly in this County. Whether he was permitted to keep Guisly, or was afterwards Turned out of that likewise, quære. I find one Robert Hitch, D. D. made Arch-deacon of the East-Riding in Yorkshire, in 1662. Probably he was the same Person with this Dr. Hitch. Ibid. p. 446

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 753.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

HABERLEY, RICHARD, A. M. Talgath and Lyssuen, .

He was Turned out by the Commissioners for Propagating the Gospel, for Swearing, Scandal, and Malignancy. And yet the Sheriff of this County gave his Character to the Parliament on Oath, in these Words: That he was an Able, Pious, and Learned Man. His Cure lay Vacant, after he was Turned out of it, Nine Years: But at last one Tho. Powell of 18 Years of Age, himself pretending to be no more than Twenty, got an Instrument from the Approvers themselves, and by Vertue of it held this Place and Llanelieu; in which two Parishes were 1000 Souls.

Digitized by Google

One of Both theſe Names was of Trinity-Hall in Cambridge, and Tutor there in 1641.

HATSLY, GRIFFETH, A. M. Abereiker, V.

He was Turned out by the Propagators likewiſe, for Illegal Induction: His Vicaridge alſo lay Vacant Nine Years. He was an Able Miniſter.

HERBERT, CHARLES, A. M. Llanvillo, R.

See the Note at Abbergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

That this Living was in the Hands of the Sequeſtrators, I can be poſitive: But I am not altogether ſo well aſſured, that this Gentleman was wholly deprived of it. I find that he was forced to pay ſeveral Sums of Money, as well to the Propagators themſelves, as to the Commiſſioners Agents, to keep himſelf in. But at laſt, as far as I can gueſs, they wholly outed him (unleſs he died) or at beſt, paid him out of the Living, only what they thought fit; which (he being, as I find, ablent) 'tis moſt likely was next to Nothing. See one of Both theſe Names in Monmouthſhire, and quere.

Quere if theſe are three diſtinct Livings, whether they are all in this County; and whether he be the ſame Matthew Herbert with him in Radnorſhire.

HERBERT, MATH. . Llangattock Llanelle and Llangeve, . All worth 250 l. per Annum.

CARDIGAN.

HERBERT, EDWARD, . Nantguimble, V.

He alſo was Diſpoſeſs'd by the Propagators; for Inſufficiency, Common Fornication, and Delinquency; as they are pleaſed to aſſign the Reaſons of his Ejectment.

CAERMARTHEN.

HARRIS, WILLIAM, junior, . Llanwibangel, .

In 1650.

HUGHES, WILLIAM, . Llanarthey, .

He was Turned out for Drunkenneſs and Malignancy, by the Commiſſioners for Propagation.

CAERNARVAN.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

———, ———, . St. Hilary, V. See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire.

HOPKIN, MORGAN, . St. Mary's, V. in Swanſey.

I believe he was a Perſon of mean Abilities and Learning. He was ſucceeded by one Morrice Bidwell, who died there before the Reſtoration.

HOUGHTON, WILLIAM, . Iſton, R.

There were Two Sufferers in this Living; of whom this Gentleman was the Latter. He was Sequeſtred by the Propagators, for Delinquency; and ſucceeded by one John Miles, an Anabaptiſt. He lived to be Reſtored, and died in Poſſeſſion of this Rectory. See Mr. Edwards in this County.

MERIONETH.

HUGHES, JOHN, . Eſtymanner, V.

MONTGOMERY.

HUGHES, JOHN, . * Llanſantfyd, V.

* There are Two Llandrinio in this County, the one a Rectory, the other a Vicaridge. See Mr. Parry in this County: And if then Llanſantfyd be not the Rectory, then there were Two Sufferers in this Vicaridge.

HUGHS, JOHN, . Hyrnant .

Quere if theſe Two were one and the ſame Perſon. They are different, as far as any thing yet appears to me. In 1654, one Edmond Hall got Llanſantfyd.

HUGHS, LEWIS, A. M. Machynlleth, .

In 1647.

PEMBROKE.

HAYWARD, THOMAS, . Moylegrove, V.

For Inſufficiency.

———, ———, . Heriſmont, R. The Rector, whoever he was, had ſome one or more Livings beſides this; but what they were, or whether he loſt them; as likewiſe whether he or they may be mentioned in other Parts of this Liſt, I cannot as yet diſcover. See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire.

———, ———, . Hoberſton, R. See the ſame Note.

———, ———, . Hogdon, R. See the ſame Note; unleſs this Living be the ſame with Hodgeſton; which ſee at Mr. Owen in this County.

———, ———, . St. Howell, V. If I read it right. See the ſame Note.

HUDSON.

Digitized by Google

HUDSON, FRANCIS, . Penally, V.
In 1650. The Vicar here is ſaid to be a Pluraliſt; but what his other Living or Livings were, or whether he loſt that, or them likewiſe, I do not find.

Some ſcore are Two Livings of this Name in this County, or elſe Mr. Callow (whom ſee before) and Mr. Hughs loſt this Vicaridge ſucceſſively. Quere.

HUGHS, TREVOR, . Lowchurch, V.
He was Turned out for Drunkenneſs, by the Propagators.

RADNOR.

HERBERT, MATTH. . Revenlys, R.
Some time before 1649.

Or Cafcobb. HOWLE, EDWARD, . Caſcoband-Lanſanfred, R.

Some time alſo before 1649.

HULL, JOHN, . Dyſcoyde, .

HAVERGILS, ——, . ——, .
His Family were by his great Sufferings reduced to ſuch Poverty, that they came at length to be Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; where I find them ranked with the Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy.

HOOKE, ——, . ——, .
There was a Gentleman of this Name Sequeſtred ſomewhere in * Dorſetſhire, if I conjecture aright: And if ſo, 'tis not improbable that he might be a different Perſon from Thomas Hooke already mentioned in Suſſex.

* But quare further.

HUMES, ——, . ——, .
There was a Sequeſtred Miniſter of this Name likewiſe, who was Relieved by Mr. Baiſton, the Suffering Miniſter of Chulmleigh in Devon. I cannot poſitively ſay, that the Neceſſities of Mr. James Hume of Tinmouth in Northumberland, or of Mr. Humes of St. Dionis Backchurch, did not drive them into Devonſhire. But to me it ſeems probable, that the Gentleman relieved by Mr. Baiſton, might be one of the ſame Dioceſs (or at leaſt a Neighbouring one) with himſelf.

See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

HUNGERFORD, WALTER, D.D.
——, .
He was Created D. D. as of All-Souls-College, Nov. 16, 1643, among ſeveral other Loyaliſts who were Created at Oxford that Year. He lived to the Reſtoration, became at length Prebendary of Wells, and Rector of Buſcot in Berks, where he died in 1681.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 723.

I.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKS.

BUCKS.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

JOHNSON, EDWARD, . Milton, V.
He was Diſpoſſeſt Jan. 17, 1644, by the Earl of Mancheſter, and almoſt for the ſame Reaſons with the Gentleman next mentioned; only to his Practiſing of the Innovations, is moreover added, the uſual Accuſation of Drunkenneſs. He had a Wife and Four Children.

IZATSON, WILLIAM, . Swaffham-Bulbeck, V.
He was Turned out, Apr. 5, 1644, by the E. of M. for being zealous to put in Execution Biſhop Wren's Fancies (as the Party expreſs'd it;) and in a Word, for his Obedience to the Ordinances of the Church, his Affection to the Royal Cauſe, and Diſlike to that of the Parliament: Tho' not a Syllable even of this was depoſed on Oath.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

JACKSON, ——, . St. Mewan, .

JOHNS, HENRY, . St. Iſſy, V.
In 1651. He was a Graduate in the Civil Law, and a Man of very good Senſe. He was Reſtored in 1660, and died in 1666.

There was no ſettled Miniſter after his Eſtabliſhment, till about the Year 1688; when one Rule had the Poſſeſſion of this Vicaridge.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

JACKSON, THOMAS, . Marytavey, R.
He was Diſpoſſeſt by the Committee of this County; and ſo much afflicted with his Loſs, that it broke his Heart in leſs than a Fortnight's time. I make ſome queſtion, whether he had any other Title, than ſuch as the Confuſioners would admit of; becauſe I do not find him mentioned on the Biſhop's Regiſter before the Aboliſhing of Epiſcopacy. He was firſt ſucceeded by one Hatch, and afterwards by one Berne; who, 'tis ſaid, had never ſeen any Univerſity.

JONES,

Digitized by Google

* Or B. D. and afterwards, as I have been informed, Created D. D. at Oxford by his Majesty's Especial Command, as the Reward of his Loyalty and Good Services: Though I do not find him mentioned in Wood.

JONES, THOMAS, * A. M. Offwell, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He was a Gentleman of a good Family, and had a Temporal Estate of a conſiderable Value, which was alſo put under Sequeſtration; but he was at length admitted to a Compoſition for it. The Beginning of his Troubles was occaſioned by his Suing for one of the Portions of Tiverton in this County, the Right of Preſenting to which (for that turn at leaſt) he had diſcovered to be in the Crown. In purſuit of this he had ſpent 1000 l. and as it ſeems, Recovered it. But ſoon after, thoſe who pretended to the Right of Patronage, getting into the Parliament-Houſe, took an opportunity to be even with Mr. Jones for Diſputing their Title; for they Accuſed him of ſome Anti-Parliamentary Paſſages in a Sermon, which he had Preach'd at Tiverton; and procured the Houſe to ſend for him into the Cuſtody of a Serjeant at Arms; who accordingly Apprehended him, and kept him Priſoner at a great Expence for ſome time. By theſe and ſuch like Methods of Oppreſſion, they forced him into a Reſignation of the Portion of Tiverton, which he had lately Recovered; and in Conſideration of that, which was the Real Occaſion, they were contented to overlook his Falſe Doctrine, which was but the Pretended one, of his being taken into Cuſtody. Thus Ended his Trouble at that time. But about the latter End of the next Year, as he was Riding to Taunton with one of the Prince's Servants (who had then the Prince's Livery on) He was Immediately upon his going out of Town, Apprehended and brought back again (together with the Servant, whoſe Clothes had made both of them Malignants) and Committed Priſoner to the Caſtle; where he continued under Confinement for three Weeks. Upon his return home he was ſo continually Harraſſed and Moleſted (being ſometimes Threatned to be Hanged, and at other times, to have his Houſe Burnt) that he was obliged to think of betaking himſelf for Shelter to his Majeſty's Forces, under the Command of Sir Ralph Hopton, then in Cornwall. In order to which, he furniſh'd out three Horſes and Arms for his Majeſty's Service, and with theſe he Set out for the Army; but was unhappily Intercepted by one Captain Gull, who Robbed him to the value of 80 l. not ſparing the very Boots which he Rode in, and withal carried him away Priſoner to Lefkard in Cornwall, where they kept him three days. In which time he, and another Miniſter with him, with his Servant, had but one Pint of Beer for their Suſtenance, being kept without either Fire or Light, and for one Night had their Hands bound behind them. How long after he continued in this Durance, I know not; but this is certain, that both himſelf and his Fellow-Priſoner might have ſhorned their Confinement, upon the Eaſy and Merciful Conditions of Paying 300 l. and taking an (unlawful) Oath, viz. Never to Aſſiſt his Majeſty more. But as they refuſed thoſe, ſo they were at length Set at Liberty upon other Terms, which were much more acceptable to them. For Sir Ralph Hopton obtaining a Victory over the Rebels near the fore-mentioned Place; among the other good Conſequences of it, this of Setting Mr. Jones and the other Priſoners at Liberty, was one; after which he returned to Offwell; but having been, as it ſeems, too ſenſible of God's Mercies to him in his late Deliverance from Priſon, and giving Publick Thanks for it, he was again taken into Cuſtody. From this Confinement alſo, he was by ſome Means or other Delivered; but not long after his Troubles were renewed at the Seſſions, being Summoned thither for Neglecting the Parliament-Faſts, and Superſtitiouſly obſerving that of Good-Friday: For which he was Roundly School'd, and Threatned with being made an Example; and probably they would have punctually performed it, had not Mr. Jones prudently withdrawn himſelf. This was what he had hitherto Suffered in his Perſon: Beſides which, his Houſe was Plundered Seven times. Once they 'Threatned to carry away 'his Aged Father Priſoner, who was no leſs than '86 Years Old; and they had been as good as 'their Word (for in Mitchief they ſeldom fail 'of their Promiſes) had not the Women of the Pariſh (in Deteſtation of ſo great Barbarity) Reſcued him out of their Hands. At another time one Captain Hoſſe came with his Troop of Horſe to Apprehend him; to Eſcape which, 'he was forced to creep into a Mault-Kiln in his own Houſe, at which time, in Searching for him one of them put his Hand on part of his Cloathes, yet did not diſcover him. After which he lurked and hid himſelf where he could find Shelter in poor Mens Houſes.

A Third time of his being Harraſſed and Plundered, was when 'Four Troopers of the Rebels 'Houſe came to his Houſe, ſearched it very narrowly for him; inſomuch that he heard them 'Swear, how cruelly they would uſe that Cavalliering Prieſt, if they could meet with him; 'when they were nearer to him than they were 'aware of (had they known it) there being but an Inch Board between him and them. However, miſſing of the intended Prey, they wreck 'their Malice on the Houſhold-Stuff; what they 'could not carry away, they ſpoil; Beds, Bedſteds, Hangings, all are torn and ſpoiled: They 'Plunder the Maid-Servants, and that of their 'Smocks; and exchange in their very Preſence, 'their Louſie Shirts for their Clean Linen.

There are alſo theſe further Accounts of a Fourth and Fifth Plundering which he underwent: For a Troop of Horſe from the Garriſon of Lyme, once Rifled and Ravaged his Houſe in the following manner: 'A Fine Organ which ſtood in the 'Hall, they brake in Pieces, and ſeveral Muſical 'Inſtruments which hung up there, they carried 'away; ſeveral Feather-Beds they threw down 'Stairs; ſome they carried away, the reſt they 'trampled upon in their Boots; they drove away 'Six Oxen, Two Cows, and One Horſe; they 'carried away Abundance of Wearing-Linen, 'as alſo Pewter and Braſs. And once more, when 'the Earl of Eſſex's Army came into the Weſt, 'a Party of it came and Plundered the Houſe, carrying away almoſt all that was left, and took away all the Reſidue of the Linen, ſave what they wore; his Study of Books, which were of great Value (for the Miniſter of the next Pariſh told my Informer, that he thought no private Miniſter in the County had a Better) they brake into, ſeveral Books they carried away, ſome they denied, and many they tore in Pieces, and ſcatter'd the Leaves; many of which were ſeen torn, and ſcatter'd along the Roads, and in the Fields, for near a Mile together; many of his Choiceſt Books he had hid in a Chamber-Privy, on the Top of which a Plank was nailed down; yet the Soldiers found it out, and open'd it; many of the Books they carry'd away, more they brake: At length an Ancient Man, and an Officer, coming in, and looking over the Books, ſaid, they were very good Books; Two he took with him, and had a Servant belonging to the Houſe, to put up the Remainder in their Places again. However, afterwards they were Rifled and Imbezled by the Soldiers and others; ſo 'that he never had any of them again; and 'tis 'ſup-

Merc. Reſp. p. 107.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 689.

Which I find by the Parliament-Journals was done Jan. 23, 164⅔.

So that one of the Rich Portions of Tiverton may alſo juſtly be reckoned with Offwell, as another of the Livings which he Loſt.

I have the particular of theſe ſeveral Plunderings from different hands; If all the Circumſtances of Each, as here Related, are Punctual and exact, they muſt have been ſo many Diſtinct Times of Plundering, though under Circumſtances from to make ſome of them Co-incident.

Digitized by Google

'supposed that many of them are ſtill in the Priſmuners Houſes; and I my ſelf have ſeen a 'great many, ſome Quarto's, ſome Octavo's, and 'ſome Unbound, which I have great reaſon to 'believe were his.

By all theſe Rapines and Plunderings, Mr. Jones perceiving 'twas in vain to think of living quietly at home, was forced to ſhelter himſelf a ſecond time in Sir Ralph Hopton's Army: By which General, I find, he was not only much Eſteem'd, but Employ'd in ſome Services of Moment and Conſideration; and once particularly, ſent from the Deputies to his Majeſty then at Oxford, to deſire a Supply of Horſe, when he was about to Engage with Sir William Waller: And at that time it was, as I have been informed, that Mr. Jones was Created D. D. I had almoſt omitted to mention one Impriſonment more which he was under. It was after he betook himſelf to the Forces under Sir Ralph Hopton the * Second time, but when or how he was Apprehended, I do not find. The place where he was Impriſoned was Exeter, from whence he made his Eſcape, by letting himſelf down from his Window with a Bed-Cord. Some time after that again, 'tis ſaid, they had laid a Deſign to take away his Life, by Charging him with Murdering a Man in Cold-blood. What the particulars of that Story were, or how he got off, I cannot Learn. But at length finding there would be no End of his Perſecutions, he fled to Rotterdam, and Died there ſome time before the Reſtoration.

He had at the time of his Sufferings a Wife and ſix Children; his Wife coming to demand the Fifths for the Support of her ſelf and her Family, the Intruder told her, 'he did not know 'but that her Husband was Dead; to which ſhe 'Anſwered, that ſhe had a Letter from him but 'a Week before, and that at the Writing of it 'he was alive and in Health in Rotterdam. 'Whereupon Mrs. Jane, Wife of the Uſurper, 'Reply'd, ſhe had often heard of Rotterdam 'Beers. And in Concluſion Mrs. Jones depar-'ted Weeping, and without the Fifths. My Informer was preſent and heard all this. As for his Children, one of them Died in the Priſon, three went to Ireland, and the other two to London for a Maintenance. The firſt Perſon who Succeeded him upon the Sequeſtration, was one Mr. Robert Day, who was put in by order of the Committee, and poſſeſs'd the Living about three Years. In ſome part of which time he was Tyed for a Rope, Committed on Dorcas, the Wife of Richard Vildy, a Miller of the Pariſh. And though he was Acquitted by the Law, yet he was not ſo, in the Conſciences and Opinions of moſt that knew him. The Priſoners at length Articled againſt him, and got him Removed: At which time he returned to the ſmall Living of Buckland-Brewer, which he had left, when he came to Offwell. There he continued after the Reſtoration, and after Bartholomew-Day too; and I preſume Died there, as he had Lived, a Monument of the too great Clemency, as well of the Eccleſiaſtical, as Civil Government, at that time; Notwithſtanding both the One and the Other hath been ſo Clamour'd againſt and Rail'd at for Perſecution. The next who Succeeded, was Mr. Humphry Bradford, who Conformed, and kept the Living after the Reſtoration, and died in Poſſeſſion of it Decem. 12, 1677. I have this only to add, that Mr. Jones was reputed a Man of good Learning, and a very good Preacher; he kept a Large and Hoſpitable Houſe, and was very Charitable to the Poor: He was mightily beloved by his Neighbours, and Reſpected by the Gentry and Clergy; and was very Zealous and Induſtrious in the Service of his Majeſty.

* Vide ſect. 1. he was taken after the time when he was Impriſoned, for giving God Thanks after his Delivery from his Confinement in Cornwall

DORSETSHIRE.

DURHAM.

JAMES, WILLIAM, A. M. Ryton, R. worth 150 l. a Year.

See the Church of Durham. One Weld had this Living in 1656.

ESSEX.

JACKMAN, ——, . ——, .
Somewhere in this County. He died ſoon after his Sequeſtration.

JENKINSON, EDWARD, . Parſfield, R.

He was admitted to this Living, June 26, 1628, and diſpoſſeſt it by the Houſe of Commons, about Oct. 1643; at which time S—— Clerk was by the ſame Authority thruſt in to it & ſ. He is mentioned by Wiſbe (Cent. p. 15.) as one of the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts; becauſe he was Strict in Obſerving, and Z alous in Vindicating the Orders and Ceremonies of the Church; as like wiſe becauſe he had Countenanc'd he Book of Sports, and expreſs'd great Malignancy againſt the Parliament: Some of the Particulars I cannot forbear to mention, which are theſe; He had called thoſe, Wall-Eyd Horſes, that would not come to the Rails to Receive the Communion; he had ſaid, that the Table is God's Altar; and that thoſe who would not Bow low at the Name of Jeſus, ſhould Bow in Hell hereafter: He had alſo compared the Godly Reverend Miniſters living about him, to Salt Bitches which Dogs run after; and to Roaſted Dogs which draw away other Mens Pidgeons; becauſe his People went to hear them Preach when they had no Sermon at home; and did further ſay, that ſuch as Preach twice a day, are but Prateers.

See Mr. Spark alſo in this County. Poſſibly for Jenkinſon dying Vicar of the Sequeſtration.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

JASPER, HUMPHRY, . South-Cerney, V.

I do not find that he was ever Formally Sequeſtred; but what he Suffered, ſeems to be Equivalent to it. However, I ſhall give the Account of him to the Reader verbatim as it was tranſmitted to me, and leave him to determine whether he belongs to this Liſt, or the Appendix. Venturing to read the Common-Prayer in thoſe Times, he 'was 'Plundered of all that he had; and as he was go-'ing to Oxford for the Security of his Life, he 'was taken Priſoner by the Parliament-Forces. 'In ſome time he made his Eſcape to the City of 'Gloucester, to a Son he had there, a Clergyman; 'who entertained him privately, until Cirencester 'was taken by the King's Forces; and then com-'ing home to South-Cerney aforeſaid, he was forced 'to take Straw-Ricks and Hay-Ricks for his Lod-'ging. About which time the Parliament-Soldiers 'took him Priſoner again, and forced him to 'Preach a Sermon to a great Number of their 'Officers and Soldiers, with many of the Pari-'ſhioners; but for all that he had ſo much Cou-'rage as to ſpeak in the Pulpit againſt the then 'Parliamentary Proceedings; and made a Compa-'riſon, that if Lucifer was in Heaven, he did not 'preſume to ſit in God's Throne: But he thought 'the Devil was in the Parliament, in ſitting in the 'King's Throne. Upon which the Common Soldi-'ers would have killed him before he came out of 'the Church, had it not been for their Officers. 'However they guarded him to his own Houſe; 'and afterwards brought him over to Cirencester; 'and Captain Buck, one of their Officers, threat-'ned to hang him on the King's-Head Sign-Poſt 'there: Which had been done, if John Georges, Eſq; and Colonel Fortſiplace had not got him 'out of their Hands, and ſent him home under a 'Guard. And at other times they threatned to 'Fire his Houſe, and Kill him; and ſeveral times 'forced he was to creep out at his Back Window 'to ſave himſelf; and oftentimes he was forced 'to ly for ſeveral Hours in the Chancel of the 'Church, in the Night-time, to be out of their 'way; and many times he dared not to be ſeen 'by his own Pariſhioners, for fear of being diſ-'cover'd: for the Generality of them were for 'the Parliament Party.

ILES, ——, D. D. Toddenham, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

He was ſuc-ceeded by one Mr Wickins

Quære if this was not the ſame Perſon with Dr. Iles, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Gloucester, and Canon of Chriſt-Church: At which laſt Place ſee him.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

INGOLDSBY, WILLIAM, . Watton, R.

He was Turned out by the Houſe of Commons, about Apr. 1643; who at the ſame time thruſt one J—— W—— into the Living.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

KENT.

JEFFRIES, ——, . Feverſham, V. And Ticehurſt, V. . . . . }

He is placed among the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts in White's Century; but nothing of the former kind is alledged againſt him; and the chief Proof of the Latter, is Neglect of the Parliament-Faſts, Speaking againſt the Parliament, and Wiſhing in a Sermon of his, 'That Evil 'might befal thoſe, who went about to take away 'Government by Biſhops, which had its Platform 'from Heaven; and that the Government by Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons, under the Goſpel, was 'from God; as under the Law, the Government 'of High-Prieſts, Prieſts, and Levites; and that 'he knew not from whence the Preſbyterian Go-'vernment came, but from Corah, Dathan, and A-'biram. He had been Chaplain to Arch-biſhop Abbot, and was an Excellent Man, ſaith the Learned Mr. Stephens, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Lincoln.

P. 10.

See the Cathedral of Canterbury, and quære.

Lloyd, Mem. p. 511.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

JACKSON, VALENTINE, St. John's, R. in Stamford, And Brid-Aſhton, R. . . . . }

He was alſo Plundered. His Wife came afterwards to be Relieved by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

JAMES, LEWIS, . Llandewe-ſkirid, .

He lived to be Reſtored.

JAMES, LEWIS, . Bedwelly, V. He was Turned out ſome time before 1649. Quære if he be the ſame with him juſt before mentioned.

In the Accounts of the Welch Sequeſtrators Lewis is the Surname.

JEF-

Digitized by Google

JEFFRYS, ——, . Malberre. R.
Ejected by the Propagators, for Malignancy, and Drunkenneſs.

JEFFRY, ——, . Matherne. R.

JONES, JOHN, . Lanfoiſt, R.
He was turned out by the Commiſſioners for Propagation. The Crime they Charged upon him was Drunkenneſs.

JONES, LEWIS, . Lanthyſchwe, R.
He was turned out by the ſame Commiſſioners, for Illegal Induction; a Cauſe of Sequeſtration, which the Reader will ſeveral times meet with, in this County, and the Counties of South-Wales. The meaning of which is happily Interpreted by the Caſe of this Gentleman, as I would have the Reader here obſerve: For I find it Signifies, being preſented by a Malignant, and Admitted by the Biſhop.

JONES, *RICE, . Michleſtone-Vedoe, R.
He was alſo turned out by the Commiſſioners for Propagation, for Malignancy, and utter Inſufficiency.

As I Gueſs. Quare if he be the ſame with any of the other Jones's here mentioned. I find Michleſtone-Vedoe under Sequeſtration, and if there are more Michleſtones than one in this County, and it ſhould happen to be Either of the others which this Mr. Jones Left, then Michelſtone-Vedoe muſt have a ſeparate and diſtinct Place in this Liſt.

JONES, RICHARD, . Llandevan, V.
And Llandebir, V. . . .

I take them to be both in this County, and to be diſtinct Livings.

I have no expreſs Account of this Sequeſtration: 'tis ſaid in general of this Perſon, that he was a great Sufferer: And I find his Family afterwards wanted, and were Relieved by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, among the other Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy.

JONES, RICHARD, . Llanvair-Dyſcoed, V.

I take it to be this Llanvair which he Left; If not Llanvair-Diſcoed alſo was under Sequeſtration, and muſt be ranked in a diſtinct Article.

Quare if he be the ſame with Mr. Richard Jones before mentioned. See Montgomeryſhire alſo and quare.

JONES, WILLIAM, . Dingſton, V.

He was turned out by the Propagators; for Drunkenneſs, and being an Ignorant Reader. After his Ejectment, the Place lay vacant for ſome time; and at length, to make amends for the Ignorance of the former Vicar, one Charles Williams, a Felt-Maker, was put in; who being a Man of more than common Merit, had alſo an Augmentation ordered him.

JONES, WILLIAM, . Llandevand, R.

The' I think he was kept out of it but two Years.

Quere if he be the ſame Perſon who Loſt Dingſton, before-mentioned.

See Mr. Morgan in this County.

JONES, ——, . Magor, V.
Quere if he be the ſame Jones, with any of the former.

NORFOLK.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

JAY, GEORGE, . Bugbrook, R. worth 300 l. a Year.

See the Church of Lichfield.

JOHNSON, ——, . Paul's-Peri, R. worth 300 l. a Year.

He was a Gentleman of a Good Deſcent, Life, and Learning; and was Succeeded by an old Fellow, one C——, who tis certain had followed the Law ſome time, in the Quality of an Attorney; though his Friends affirmed him to be a Maſter of Arts.

JONES, ——, . Wellenborough, V.

The Barbarous and Unheard of Treatment which this Good old Gentleman met with from the Rebels, doth in a manner exceed Belief; and therefore the Mercurius Ruſticus, who gives a large Account of it, would not venture to relate it without making a ſort of an Apology to the Reader, and aſſuring him, that he had it from Perſons of undoubted Credit. Notwithſtanding which I ſhould almoſt have Scrupled to recite it after him, had it not been confirmed to me from ſeveral other hands; and one more particularly, who had it from the Mouth of a Perſon, that knew Mr. Jones; and affirms that his Treatment was really worſe, than the Mercurius Ruſticus hath Repreſented it. About the Year 1642, one Mr. Zouch Tate of this County, who was a Man of Power in thoſe times, ſent a Rabble of 300 Watermen to Northampton; who Committed all imaginable Plunders and Rapines about that County. Among other places, they came to Wellingborough, and having Ranſack'd the Town, they took many Priſoners, and among the reſt Mr. Jones; who had been Vicar there 40 Years; was at that time Three-ſcore and ten Years Old; and as the Mercurius Ruſticus obſerves, might have come to Fourſcore Years, had not the Barbarous Uſage which he met with, ſhortned his Days. He was Lame alſo and Sick, as well as Aged, when theſe Miſcreants Seiz'd upon him; having broken his Leg about two Years before, by a Fall. When they had got him into their Hands, neither Reverencing his Calling, nor Honouring his Age, nor Pitying his Infirmity, they Abuſed him by Scoffs and Jeers; and compelled him to go on Foot, Lame and Weak as he was, a great part of the Way between Wellenborough and Northampton. At the former of which Places, among other of their Outrages, they had Murdered a Barber, and taken away with them a Bear which he kept. As they were on the Road, they preſt poor Old Mr. Jones to make more Speed than his Age and Infirmity would admit of; and in order to it, one Lieutenant Grimes, "to ſee if Fear would add to "his Strength, forceth the Bear upon him, which "Running between his Legs, took him upon her "Back, and laying aſide the Intractableneſs of "her Nature, grew patient of her Burthen, and

P. 17, 80.

to

'to the Astonishment of the Beholders, carried 'him quietly; so that what was intended as a 'Violence, became his Ease. The Rebels overcome 'by so unusual an Example of Kindness, the savage 'Bear reproving the Madness of their Fury, they 'remove Mr. Jones from off the Bear to a Horse, 'but such a Horse, as did but vary, not better the 'Condition of his Transportation. One of the 'Rout observed to be extreamly Active in all these 'Insolencies, and to have a hand in Murdering 'the Barber, loving the Tameness of the Bear, 'as quiet under Mr. Jones, as if he had been ac-'customed to the Saddle; presumes that it was 'no more than up and Ride, and presently bestrides 'the Bear, which, as if he had been of that Race 'that did revenge the Prophet Elisha's Quarrel, 'Disnounts the bold Rider; and as if the had 'been Knowledg of her Workps, did so mangle, rend, 'and tear him with her Teeth and Paws, that 'the presumptuous Wretch died of those Hurts 'suddenly after.—Having brought Mr. Jones to 'Northampton, his Entertainment there was as 'bad, as his Usage in the way thither; though it 'was in the Depth of Winter, when old Age needed 'good Fortifications of Lodging and Diet against 'the Incursions of Cold and Wet; yet they af-'ford him nothing but a hard Mat with a little 'Straw under him; and to cover him and 'keep him Warm, nothing but one Blanket and 'his own wearing Clothes. As for his Food, they 'give him the Bread of Affliction, denying 'his own Friends leave to supply him with compe-'tent Diet, to sustain Nature, and his growing 'Infirmities. However God was pleased to sup-port him in an Extraordinary manner. In this Durance he continued about a quarter of a Year, and then was dismist from it. Some time after which he returned to his Cure; but keeping up, as he had formerly done, the Rules and Orders of the Church, with the utmost Exactness, and Preaching as boldly as ever against the Rebellion, he was, upon Information of it, soon after Ap-prehended, 'and caried Prisoner to Northampton 'a Second time; where they use him with more 'Inhumanity (if it be possible) than before. They 'would not permit his Wife to Visit him; and 'kept him so short of his Diet, not suffering his 'Wife or Friends to Relieve him, that must Bar-'barously they starved him to Death. For about 'Whitsuntide, his Spirits exhausted, and his 'Body pined by Famine, the Good old Martyr Re-'signed his Soul to God. Nor did their Ma-lice stop here: for one John Gifford (who was the Hegg-Herd's Son of Little-Houghton, had been bred a Knitter, became afterwards a Horse-Buyer, but then Mayor of Northampton, Colonel of the Town-Regiment, and as it seems, at that time also the Ordinary of the Place) Order'd, that when they came to Inter the Skin and Bones of thus starved Martyr (for Flesh he had none, as the Mercury ob-serves) that no other Form should be used, than this:

Ashes to Ashes, Dust to Dust;
Here's the Pit, and in you must.

Mr. Jones was a Man of an unblameable Life and Conversation, and extraordinarily gifted for Preaching; of which he gave ample Proof by his Labours, diligently bestowed among his Parishio-ners by the Space of Forty Years. Which Cha-racter given of him in the Mercurius Rusticus, is confirmed by the Excellent Mr. Stephens, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Lincoln, and the So-questred Minister of Weston, &c. in this County, who therefore probably knew him; and who of him, that he was a Grave Divine, a Learned and Good Preacher, and one against whom they had no Objection, but Loyalty.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

JOHNSON, HENRY, . Bothall, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

JONES, *JOHN, . Rothbury, V. worth 150*l.* a Year; or, as others say, one of the best Livings in the County.

* Or Ambrose, as others say, Vide Contin. of Ware's Hist. of Irish Bishops.

He out-lived the Usurpation, was made Archdeacon of Meath, and at length, in 1667, Bishop of Kildare in Ireland, and died Dec. 15. 1678. There was one John Jones of Brazen-nose-College in Oxford, Created D. D. there with other Loyal Sufferers, in the Year 1642. If he was not the same † Person with the Sequestred Minister of this Liv-ing, he ought to be distinctly insisted in this List: For 'tis probable he also was a Sufferer.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 915.

† As must certainly be could not, if his Christian Name was Ambrose.

One Coles, a Sequestrator in this Living, often said in his Pulpit, That there were not Three in his Parish, who could say the Lord's Prayer, but would be damned: Which made several of them turn Papists.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXFORDSHIRE.

——, ——, . Islip, R.

This Sequestration is rather a Matter of Enqui-ry, than Certainty. I have no other Authority for it, than that of Wood; whose Expression is, As I suppose, &c.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 772.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

JONES, NATH. . Chirston, R. His Temporal Estates also, one of which was worth 100*l.* a Year, were Sequestred, and his Wife and Family thereby driven to great Extremity and Want; and must have Perished, but for the Sup-port of some Relations.

JOYNER, ROBERT, . Chew-Magna, V.

See the Church of Salisbury.

SOUTHAMPTON.

JOHNSON, WILLIAM, . Broiding, V. in the Isle of Wight.

He was a great Sufferer, and died at last in so much Poverty, that some of his Family were af-terwards Relieved by the Charity of the Corpora-tion for Ministers Widows.

IM-

Digitized by Google

IMBER, ——, . Christ-Church, V.
He was alſo Plundered and Impriſoned.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

SUFFOLK.

JEWELL, ——, . St. Mary's in Bury, .

SURREY.

SUSSEX.

WARWICKSHIRE.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

JAY, *BENJAMIN, A. M. Fittleton, R. worth 160, or 200*l.* a Year.

*Or, as others call him, William.

He lay under Sequeſtration 15 Years, was Impriſoned at Langford, and much Proſecuted by his Intruding Succeſſor. He died in Feb. 1655, and was a Perſon of Good Learning, Exemplary Piety and Charity, and bore his Sufferings patiently.

JESSOP, JOHN, . Steel-Langford, .

At the time of his Death, he left a Widow and Eight Children; which latter were Relieved by the Pariſh, as his Widow was afterwards by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

YORKSHIRE.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

JONES, WALTER, . Tallaughty, R.

In 1656: After which the Cure lay vacant Eight Years without any Miniſter. There were then 200 Souls in the Pariſh.

JONES, WILLIAM, A. M. Maeſmynny, .

In 1649. The Pariſh had 400 Souls in it, and yet was permitted to lie Vacant Nine Years; except that one Tho. Evans, a Labourer, was by the Commiſſioners admitted to Preach there ſometimes, if I underſtand the Matter aright.

CARDIGAN.

CAERMARTHEN.

JENKINS, MORGAN, . Abernant and Conwill, V.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Drunkenneſs and Malignancy.

JONES, THOMAS, . Langann, . By the ſame Commiſſioners, and for the ſame Crimes.

He recovered the Living ſome time before the Reſtoration.

JONES, WILLIAM, . Lanegwad, V.
He was Turned out by the ſame Commiſſioners, for Malignancy, and Refuſing the Engagement.

JONES, WILLIAM, . Merkhyr, .

*Or Merthyr.

In 1653. He was ſucceeded here by one Jones Davis, a Labourer and Itinerant Preacher, for Six Years. Quære if this Mr. William Jones was the ſame Perſon with the Former.

CAERNARVAN.

JONES, ——, . Conway, V. In 1650.

DENBEIGH.

JERVIS, RICHARD, . Llanſilin, V.

JONES, HUGH, . Llaneweſt, . In 1656.

*JONES, ——, A. M. Llongollen, .

*See Mr. Roberts in this County.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

JONES, NATH. . Merthyr-Tydvill, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

He was not only Sequestred, but otherwise Barbarously and Tyrannically used by some of his own Parish; as appears by a Manuscript of his, which is yet preserved. He had at the time of his Sufferings, Eight Children; for whose Subsistence he was allowed but Five Pounds a Year, for Eight Years together. He was succeeded in this Living by one Jenkin Jones, a violent Anabaptist. Mr. Jones, the Sequestred Rector, lived to be Restored, and died about the Year 1662, leaving the Character of a Learned Man. The Bells of this Church were sold in those Times, by the Agents of the Sequestrators, and the general Consent of the whole Parish.

Viz. Widow, unless I mistake.

JONES, RICHARD, . Llanihangel, R.

Before 1649.

Possibly Y-stradowen.

———, ———, . Ystradowen, . See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire, under the Letter A.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

JONES, RICHARD, . Llanvaire, V.

There is one Richard Jones already mentioned as Ejected from Llanvaire in Monmouthshire. Quære if the County may not have been there mistaken, and so he might be no other than this Person.

PEMBROKE.

———, ———, . Johnson, R. See the Note at Abergwyley.

JONES, THOMAS, . St. Laurence, . By the Propagators, for Insufficiency.

JONES, WILLIAM, . Coslheston, R. By the same, for Malignancy.

———, ———, . Jordaston, R. See the Note at Abergwyley.

RADNOR.

JONES, DAVID, . Llanvihangel, . (viz. Nant-Melan, if I mistake not.)

If this be not the Llanvihangel which Mr. David Jones lost, 'tis certain Llanvihangel-Nant-Melan also was under Sequestration; and must be separately inserted.

JONES, WILLIAM, . St. Herman, V.

JACKSON, ———, D. D. ———, worth 300 l. a Year.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811.

Quære if he was either of those before mentioned.

JACKSON, JOHN, .———, .

He had been 'at first carried away with the 'Specious Pretences of the Hypocrites, of those 'Times, so as to approve of some of their Pro-'ceedings; but finding out what they aimed at, 'viz. the Intire Subversion of the Church and Mon-'archy, he in good time withdrew himself from 'that wicked Assembly; for which he was Se-'questred, and forced to retire from * London in-to the North, and whilst there, Contracted an Intimacy with Mr. William Bridges (who will be after mentioned in the Appendix) to whom he was very Serviceable and Helpful under his Sufferings. Mr. Jackson 'was a Man of great 'Parts and Learning, and of great Piety 'and Religion; which made him with great 'sorrow Lament the Irreligion, Rebellion, and 'other Heinous Sins of those Times of Confusion; 'and when those cursed Traytors proceeded to 'that Horrid Impudence, as to attempt the Arraign-'ment, Condemnation, and Murder of their Law-'ful Soveraign, the Lord's Anointed, he was so 'overwhelmed with Horrour and Astonishment at 'the apprehension of that Barbarous Wickedness, 'that in the most Solemn and Ardent manner 'he begged of God, that he might not Live to 'see that Fatal Day; which request God granted; 'for he died ten days before the Murtherdom, and lieth Buried at Berwick, Jan. 22, 1648.

* What seems to lessimate, that the Living from which he was So-questred, was in or near London

JACKSON, ———, . ———, .

Among the Papers of the Corporation for Ministers Widows, I find a Petition of this Gentleman's Widow, which is Indorsed, Sequestred; but it doth not appear from the Petition what, or where the Preferment was which he left. I am sure he was a different Person from Mr. Valentine Jackson mentioned in Lincolnshire; and I judge him to be different from the two Jacksons immediately preceding; because the former of them being D. D. if this Jackson had been such, it would probably have been mentioned in the Petition. And the latter of them being, as far as I can guess, in pretty good Circumstances, it doth not seem probable to me, that his Widow, if at least he left any, should stand in need of the Charity of that Corporation.

Because he Relieved Mr. Bridges under his Sufferings.

JEAM-

Digitized by Google

JEAMSON, THOMAS, ——, .
He was some time Rector of Shabington in Bucks, Sept. 22, 1662 (being then D. D.) he was Presented to the Vicaridge of Hackney in Middlesex; and at Mr. Newcourt miſtakes not, was a Sufferer for his Loyalty in the Late times of Rebellion. Quere further of that matter; as alſo whether Shabington was the Living in which he Suffered.

JOHNSON, WILLIAM, D.D. ——, .
Lloyd ſaith, that he was turned out of his * Fellowſhip and his Preferments in England; and ſeems to intimate, that he was forced to fly beyond the Seas, and was twice Ship-wrack'd in his Paſſage. He adds, that he afterwards became Sub-Almoner to his Majeſty King Charles II, Maſter of the Temple, and Archi-Deacon of Stamtingron, and Died in the Year 1666. He was, ſaith, the ſame Author, the moſt Witty and Pious Man Living, and Indefatigable in the Extraordinary pains he took in Expounding, Praying, and Preaching.

JONES, CHARLES, . Kennys, .
I am obliged to ſet him down, becauſe he is expreſly ſaid to have been Ejected; and yet 'tis added, that he Received the Tithes: Which I muſt own, I know not what to make of. There are two Places of this Name in Monmouthſhire; whether this be either of them, or what other Kennys it may be, quere.

K.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKS.

BUCKS.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

KITT, ——, . Gulval, R.

——, ——, . Kellington, .

——, ——, . * Kenwen and Kea, V.

One Walter Wakeham had this Living in 1657.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

KAY, RICHARD, . Holme, V.
He had the Perpetual Advowſon of this Living, and the Impropriate Tythes of it likewiſe; which together with the Vicaridge, were worth about 100 l. a Year; of all which, together with a very good Temporal Eſtate in the Pariſh of Rattery in this County, he was Diſpoſſeſs'd, and thereby reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that his Wife, who was a Gentlewoman of a good Fortune, was forc'd to Work for the Subſiſtance of her ſelf and four Children, which Mr. Kay had at the time of his Sequeſtration. An Ancient Gentleman (lately) if not ſtill, Living in this Pariſh, ſaith, that 'ſhe 'would be glad of a Piece of Bread and Cheeſe, 'whereof he had given her many pieces, and ſhe 'gladly and thankfully received them. Mr. Kay alſo met with very ill Treatment in other kinds, and was Plundered by the Soldiers, who broke open the Door of his Barn, full of Corn, and ſome took out what Corn they would, and gave to their Horſes; others turned their Horſes into the Barn. He died ſome time before the Reſtoration. His firſt Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration, was one Gaſlick; another was one Waite. Whether there were any more, or what became of theſe, I know not.

KELLOND, JOHN, . Pyworthy, R.
He was driven from this Living about the Year 1651, and firſt ſucceeded by one Legate, and then by one Taylor, who had no other than Preſbyterian Orders; but would have conformed on the Reſtoration, could he have kept the Living. Mr. Kellond did not return to Pyworthy, tho' he outlived the Uſurpation: But being at that time ſettled in a Small Cure, continued upon it, and Reſigned this Rectory to Mr. Edward Byne, who had been the Intruder at Upton-Pyne in this County.

KNOT, SAMUEL, . Combe-Raw-leigh, R. And Broad-Hembury, V. . . . . .

He was Reſtored in 1660; and living a ſort of Retired and Melancholy Life, was lookt upon by the Generality of the Common People, as a Conjurer. He pretended likewiſe to, and Practiſed Phyſick. I have been informed, that he was in truth an Excellent Scholar; but was certainly altogether unfit for any Eccleſiaſtical Cure.

DORSETSHIRE.

DURHAM.

E S-

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 848

Reſt. Hiſt. Vol. I. p. 6.

Mem. p. 75. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 797

* Viz. of Queen's-College in Cambridge that I do not find ſuch an one mention'd in the Liſt at the End of the Querela; and what it means, I cannot tell.

His Temporal Eſtate alſo was Declared Forfeited for Treaſon, by an Act of Dec. 18, 1652. Scob. Old. Part. II. p. 210.

Unleſs the Confuſions occaſioned the Regular Entry of Readmiſſion to this Living, he had no other Title, than ſuch as the Times wou'd allow of: for I do not find him on the Biſhop's Regiſter, before the Abolishing of Epiſcopacy.

* See the Note at Abbertton in Suffex, under the Letter A

Digitized by Google

ESSEX.

KINDLETON, FRANCIS, . ———, .

He was Turned out of a Living somewhere in this County, about the Year 1644, for Scandalous Doctrine.

KING, THOMAS, . Cheſil-Magna, V.

Cont. p. 21. He is one of White's Scandalous and Malignant Priests. His Crimes were, Obſerving the Orders of the Church, Deſerting his Cure, which was doubtleſs Flying to preſerve his Life, or at leaſt his Liberty; Reading the Book of Sports; to which was added, the Hackney Charge of Drunkenneſs. He died much about the time of the Reſtoration.

See Mr Thedam in this County.

KYMPTON, JOHN, . Layer-Britain, R.

He was ſo much Impoveriſhed by his Troubles, that ſome of his Family were at length Relieved by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

He could have only the Title of the Living. For he came to it in 1655, and if Mr. Thedam was not then dead, he cannot be at all look'd upon as Sequeſtred from this Living: But quære whether he might not before have loſt ſome other. If I miſtake not, he ſubmitted to the Examination of the Triers, before he could get This.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

KNIGHT, WILLIAM, . Brington. Bytherne cum Old Weſton, R. worth 240*l.* a Year.

I find his Temporal Eſtate alſo Poriſhed for Treaſon, by the Act of Nov. 18. 1652. Brok. Coll. Part II. p. 210.

He had then newly bought the Advowſon of this Living, which ſtood him in 1000*l.* for part of which Money a Brother of his Mortgaged his Whole Eſtate, which was about 50 or 60*l.* a Year: So that upon the Sequeſtration they were both of them utterly Ruined, being perfectly Impoveriſhed, and forced to live on Benevolence. At length Mr. Knight was forced to part with his Advowſon again for 200*l.* Reſerving only his own Life, if he could be Reſtored; as he was indeed at * laſt, but died the ſame Year. He had but One Daughter, whom he married to a Weaver worth little or nothing; by whom ſhe had a Son, now (1704.) a poor Taylor in Cambridge. His Succeſſor in this Place, was one Coſs; ſo mean a Wretch, that he could hardly Read; and was the Ridicule of the Pariſh. He had a Hogherd's Daughter to his Maid, whom he got with Child, and then was forced to Marry her.

At the* Reſtoration, I preſume.

Or Cock.

One William Knight, A M was ſometime Rector of Burley in Herefordſhire, Anno. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 800. And one of Both the ſame Names, is mentioned by Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 789. Quære whether this Mr. Knight be the ſame with either of them (if at leaſt theſe Two are different Perſons.) If he was the Perſon mentioned by Wood, he muſt have been very Old, when he was Reſtored in 1660.

KENT.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

KETTLEBY, ———, D.D. Scatter, . He lived to be Reſtored.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

NORFOLK.

KENDAL, RICHARD, . Sonton, . and the Stipend of Downham.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, Aug. 10, 1644, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church, Refuſing to contribute to the Rebellion, Swearing, Haunting Inns, being Diſtemper'd with Liquor, Keeping Malignant company, and for ſaying in a Sermon ſix or ſeven Years before, (ſo far back did they go for Accuſations) that the Puritans were Hypocrites. He was alſo Plundered for the Parliament Taxes; and, if I miſtake not, had ſome Temporal Eſtate alſo put under Sequeſtration.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

KILBY, ———, . Loddington, R. Unleſs I very much miſtake, he was not only Sequeſtred, but Suffered otherwiſe alſo in a very remarkable manner. But quære further concerning both theſe Particulars.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

KID, JAMES, . Longhorton, .

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXFORDSHIRE.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SA-

Digitized by Google

SALOP.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

KEMP, WILLIAM, . Puddimore, R.
He was Born at Abbots-Bromley in Staffordshire, Educated at Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, and was sometime Greek Lecturer in that Hall. In 1639, he was Presented to this Living by Sir John Horner. In 1642, he was forced from his House with Eleven Children; who, together with his Goods, were thrown into the Streets; some of his Children were Naked to their Shifts and Shoes; others of them were forced to get their Bread in Foreign Countries. His Ricks of Corn were Wasted, or Sold by the Soldiers. He was also Imprisoned, and otherwise very ill used. During the Usurpation he supported himself by the * Practice of Physick, at Hauxbead in Lancashire, and at Tachbrook in Warwickshire. His Successor was one Wyat, from whom he could recover no Fifths: But surviving the Restoration, he was Re-possess'd of his Living, became Prebendary of Bristol, and died on St. Barnabas's Day, 1664.

*He had been sometime Rector of Easton-Gray in Wilts.

* But his own Son, now Vicar of Charlcom-Adam in Somersetshire, saith, he was not permitted either to keep School, or Practise Physick.

KINGMAN, ——, . Higham, R.
His Successor was one Randal; from whom he could not obtain any Fifths. He was Restored in 1660.

KINGMAN, ROBERT, B. D. Crocomb, R.
He was Turned out by the Committee, about 1646, and succeeded by Mr. Henry James, Father to Dr. James, Master of Queen's-College in Cambridge, and Regius Professor. Mr. Kingman was never Restored; but Mr. James Conforming, enjoyed the Place after the Restoration, to the Day of his Death.

Commonly pronounced Minicard.

KNOWLES, ——, . Minehead, V.
He was succeeded by a Person, who had been but one Year at the University.

SOUTHAMPTON.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

SUFFOLK.

KEEBLE, WILLIAM, . . Ringshall, R. worth 120 l. a Year.
He was Turned out July 30, 1644, for Observing the Ceremonies of the Church; saying of the Party, they railed at the Pope, and yet are Popes themselves, doing what they list; and further, that if a Cobler or a Tinker get into the Pulpit, and Preach four or five Hours for the Parliament, those are the Men now a-days; for Refusing his Assistance to the Rebellion; saying, Strafford died unjustly; and that it was a Sin to Rebel; for wishing the King double the Forces that he had; Refusing the Covenant; having Pamphlets in his House against the Parliament, but none for it; and for Reading his Sermons. I find he was also twice Plundered, at least of his Horses.

What is a Truth, or not?

KELLO, ——, . ——, .

KEY, EDWARD, . Sotherton, R.
* Tunstal, R. . . . . } * Quere if the Two latter are not Annexed.
And
Dunninwort, R. . . . . }
He was Turned out about the Year 1644, for being a Common Swearer by his Faith and Troth; Observing the Ceremonies; Preaching in his Surplice and Tippet; Standing up at the Gloria Patri; and being a Companion of Malignants: Which is the Whole of his Accusation.

* KING, HENRY, . Haddenham, R. * See the Suffering Bp. of Chichester, and Quare.
One Gaudy Hacon got this Living in the Year 1655.

KING, NICHOLAS, . Priston and Snape, V.
He is accused in the Century, of Drunkenness, and attempting the Chastity of a Woman: But Malignancy compleats his Charge.

SURREY.

SUSSEX.

KING, HENRY, D. D. Petworth, R.
See the Suffering Bishop of Chichester.

WARWICKSHIRE.

KING, ——, D. D. Ilmington, R. worth 250 l. a Year.
He was succeeded by one Eaton.

WILTSHIRE.

KENT, RICHARD, . * Fisherton-Auger, R. * Which I take to be the same with Fisherton by Salisbury.
See a Note at Mr. Forward in this County. One Samuel Bayly got this Living in 1654. Mr. Kent out-lived the Usurpation, became Prebendary of Maj. Par. Altaris in the Church of Salisbury, June 1, 1664, on the Death of Robert Bowre; and Sub-dean of that Cathedral, Oct. 26, 1668, by the Resignation of Robert Tur. He died some time before Oct. 14, 1692; on which Day he was succeeded in the Sub-deanery by Tho. Smith; but he had quitted the Prebend several Years before, and was succeeded in it Sept. 18, 1679, by Tim. Morton. I have heard that he was a great Loyalist, and as great a Sufferer; but know not the Particulars.

By Resignation, as I presume: for the 15th of that Month he had the Prebend of Chute and Chesengbury, on the Death of Jof. Tucker; and on his own Death, was succeeded in it Oct. 14, 1692, by John Storrens.

WESTMORLAND.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

KERRY, FRANCIS, D. D. Eſſham, R. See the Cathedral of Hereford.

YORKSHIRE.

* KAY, ———, . † Rothwell, R. He was a Perſon who was exceeded by none for his Learning, Loyalty, Exemplary Piety, Incomparable Preaching, and Great Reputation: Inſomuch that 'when King Charles I. came down to 'York, he, of all the Clergy in the Diocеſs, was 'appointed by the Arch-biſhop to Preach in York-'Miniſter before the King [which he did] upon 'the 15th of the 2d Book of Samuel, the latter 'Part of the 6th Verſe; So Abſalom ſtole the 'Hearts of the Men of Iſrael. Endeavouring to 'perform that Service to the beſt, he Preached 'without Notes, and in the Middle of his Ser-'mon was at a ſtand. The King ſeeing him at a 'Loſs, roſe up, and repeated the laſt Sentence to 'him: At which, Mr. Kay humbly made his O-'beiſance, put hold of it, and finiſh'd his Diſ-'courſe without any more Heſitation. But the 'Crying Sins of Loyalty and Conformity fell upon 'this Great, Good Man; and he was Plundered 'while he had a Stool to ſit on; Sequeſtred alſo, 'and he and his Family Turned out of Doors, 'and he carried Priſoner from Place to Place; 'and had Periſh'd, had it not been for the A-'bundant Kindneſs and Charity of Sir John 'Wor*ſnam* of Noſtall, who maintained him as 'long as he lived: And there is a private Walk 'on the Back of Noſtall's Gardens, which at this 'Day is called Mr. Kay's Walk; where he reti-'red for Contemplation. After his Expulſion 'from Rodwell, he Preached at Wragby, the Pariſh-'Church belonging to Noſtall, for ſome time, till 'he was pulled out of the Pulpit, and a Lame 'Sprig, one Horncaſtle, uſurp'd his Place. He 'was alſo for ſome time one of the Loyal Preachers 'to the Garriſon of Pontefract-Caſtle, whilſt it 'held out for his Majeſty; and was in it during 'the Sieges of that Place. He was ſucceeded at 'Rothwell by one Armitage; of whom I may have 'Occaſion to ſpeak more hereafter.

* Or Key. † Or Rodwell

See T. Kaye in the Cath. of York, and quære if he was the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Kay, or Key.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

CARDIGAN.

———, ———, . * Kellarne, . See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthen-ſhire.

* Unleſs I miſ-read it for Llellan: which ſee as Mr. Davis in this County.

———, ———, . * Killie, R. See the ſame Note.

* Unleſs I miſ-read it likewiſe for Lilhie: Which ſee at Mr. Evans in this County.

———, ———, . Kilkenyn, . See the ſame Note likewiſe.

CAERMARTHEN.

CAERNARVAN.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

KIFFIN, JOHN, . Manavon, R.

PEMBROKE.

KING, JOHN, . Freſtop, R. He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Inſufficiency.

See one of the Lloyds in this County, who was alſo Turned out of this Living (unleſs there is Two Places of the Name) for his Wife, as I find, reserved the Fifths of it.

KILLEGREW, HENRY, . ———, . He was Created D.D. at Oxford, among a great many other Suffering Loyaliſts, in 1642. He was of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and the ſame Perſon, as I take it, who is alſo mentioned by Wood in the Firſt Volume of his Athenæ, p. 896. where it appears that he was a Writer. One Henry Killegrew, D. D. was ſome time Rector of Wheatamſted in Hertfordſhire; and one of both theſe Names likewiſe, who had been of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, was admitted to a Prebend of Weſtminſter, July 5, 1660. He was alſo Maſter of the Savoy, and held both theſe Preferments till the time of his Death. I make no queſtion, but both the One and the Other of theſe was the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 714.

Chauncy, Ant. p. 523.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 921.

KING, ———, . ———, . He was Created D. D. at Oxford in the ſame Year, or at leaſt nominated for that purpoſe by his Majeſty.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 744.

Digitized by Google

jesty. He was of Magdalen-Hall in that University. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman now mentioned; but quære however, if he were not the same with some one or other of those many already recited, of this Surname.

LOVELAND, ——, . Wimple, R. He was also Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, for keeping a Curate who Neglected the Parish, and Play'd at Cards; for Assisting his Majesty; Expressing his Dislike of the Parliament, and Refusing to Take, or Tender the Covenant.

One Jos. Loveland was Fellow of Caius-College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1636.

L.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKSHIRE.

LAURENCE, THOMAS, . Chilton, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II p. 1060. He was Ejected for being Non compos mentis: Whether he were so, or not, I cannot learn. It seems plain enough, that he had at least recover'd his Senses, when the Nation did theirs, in 1660; because I find he was then Restored to his Living.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

See Mr. Furnace in this County.

LEE, ——, . Wisbich, V. in the Isle of Ely.

He was Sequestred in the Year 1643, for paying Obedience to the Rules and Orders of the Church, and for Malignancy. Some Instances of the latter Part of this Charge, are these; that he had drunk Prince Rupert's Health, called a * Godly Minister, Brother Red Face, and a Parliament-Major, Rogue.

* Who was at that time an Army-Chaplain.

Either there is another Place answer to this . or else he was Sequestred from another Living also: For 'tis said, that the Two Livings were worth 190 l. a Year.

LEVET, ROBERT, . Chevely, R. He was Dispossest by the Earl of Manchester, for his Affection to the Church, and his Majesty, and his Disaffection to the Parliament. He had a Temporal Estate of 20 l. a Year, and 500 l. in Stock: Both which, I think, he also lost.

LING, ——, . Girton, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He was Sequestred by the Earl of Manchester, July 23, 1644, for Observing the Orders of the Church, and Expressing his Affection to the King, in opposition to the Parliament. He had a Wife and four small Children.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

LAND, SYMON, . Penzance, .

* LAW, SYMON, . Madern, V. He was likewise Robb'd of his Horse, which at that time was his All, and threatned with Imprisonment; which oblig'd him to Confine himself to his own House. He had no other Title than that of the Times; because he came not to this Living till 1647. I think he lived to be Restored.

* Unless I mis'read it for Land, and so be the same Person with Mr. Land of Penzance, and so of two Livings. Quare.

LEACH, ——, . St. Winnow, V. His Successor was one Hancock, a Tanner: He was afterwards allowed to keep a small Place of 10 l. a Year, in Somersetshire, and lived to be Restored.

LEGG, ——, . Enador, V.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSIHRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

LANE, WILLIAM, B D. Aveton-Gifford, R. And Ringmore, R. . . . . }

He was Educated in the Universtiy of Oxford, and Possest of the Living of Ringmore some time before he obtained that of Aveton-Gifford; to which he was admitted much about the Beginning of the Rebellion, and was not settled in it, nor had time to remove his Goods from Ringmore when the Town of Plymouth declared for the Parliament: At which time, (as a Son of Mr. Lane accounts to me for the Sufferings of his Father) the Garrison 'came out with their 'Boats, and Plundered those Parts, and carried 'off most part of the Valuable Goods in the 'House; and took, says he, Two of my Brethren, 'Richard and John, not giving them time to put 'on their Stockings, and forced them to carry 'what of the Goods they could, to Awmar (a 'Greek where Boats are kept, about a Mile from 'the Houses) where they carried off Stolen 'Sheep, and Plundered Goods, with my Two 'Eldest Brothers. They Imprisoned them in 'Plymouth some time, where they suffer'd for 'Want of Apparel and other Necessaries, for 'some some time: All which time my Father was Active with Sir —— Champernon and other Gentlemen in those Parts, for Raising Succours for his Majesty; and was raising a Fort on a Hill (Part of the Glebe of Aveton) which commanded the Bridge leading to Kingsbridge: But before it could be finished, the King's Party were destroy'd. Then did the Champions Vaunt about the Country, and made diligent Enquiry after Bishop Lane the Traytor (for to the Rabble stiled him) at which time he privily lay in the Church-Tower for three or four Months; but not being there secure, he got into other Places that I know not of. Those things being laid to his Charge by the Commissioners, he was Dispossest of both Places: Francis Barnard had Aveton, and Ford, Ringmore. My Father had a Temporal Estate in Aveton, which was also Sequestred, only a Sett of Mills excepted, where my Mother, with Five Children, took up their Residence. The Eldest Son Richard (who was bred a Divine) for his Security went to New-England; at which time, my Father, to secure himself, went to France; where he remained till he could buy his Peace. Barnard, not content to Enjoy the Place, and pay no Fifths, most maliciously cut off the Water-Courle from the Mills (he Water passing thro' the Glebe-Lands) which two of my Sisters many times with much Toil, did stop; which continued for some time. My Father returning from France, did constrain Barnard to pay the * Fifths, and remained with his Family at the Mills, the Incomes but small for his Family, removed with the second Son John, and Daughter Elizabeth, and third Son William, to a Place in Torbay, called Hope's-Nose, where he † employ'd himself, with some few Servants, in Drawing Lyme-Stones, and sold them to the Topsham Boats; where he continu'd with much Satisfaction for some time: But it so happen'd, that a Small Vessel of Brest, passing by, which had K. Charles II's Commission, landed their Men, and carried off the Working-Tools, Bedding, and Houshold-Goods, to say all that was in the small Cottage; that Work was ruin'd. My Father returning again to his Mills, found that the Water had for some time been cut off by Barnard, that the Grass was grown in the Mill-Leat, and the Remains of his Family there in a miserable Condition: One Day he walking up to view the Ruins, met with one of Barnard's Sons; who with bale Reviling Language abusing him, without any Provocation, he returned home to his Wife, saying, that Barnard could not content himself with enjoying his Estate, but maliciously hath destroyed his Mills, it being the only Maintenance remaining, which he could in part suffer; but to suffer such an Abuse from his Son, he could not bear: Was therefore resolved to make his Condition known at Cromwell's Council-Board. So with that Few Pence he had, walk'd to London (I think) in his 63d Year, and put in his Petition, was suffer'd to make known, his Condition. It being discovered, and proved he had Orders to Dispossess Barnard, and name another Person for Aveton-Gifford; which accordingly he did, naming one John Marten. Having thus settled his Affairs in hopes to enjoy some Comfort in the new Possessor, coming home on Foot from Honiton to Exon, being very dry, and Money scarce, finding Water in the Road, drank thereof; which chill'd his Blood, and threw him into an Ague (and he took up his Lodging at the King's-Head in High Street) and after into a Feaver, which deprived him of his Life. He lieth Interr'd under the Chancel-Table in Alphington-Church. This is the exacteſt Account I can give, I being the Youngeſt of the Family.

I have been informed, they threaten'd his Life.

 But with more Trouble and Charge than they were worth, as I have been told.*

† By this Expression he seems to have a Dog in the Quarry with his own Hands; but the Expression in a Letter from another Person, is, that he was forced to be Worker a Quarry Hewer, the former is more to be depended upon, as coming from his own Son.

I believe I need not observe to the Reader from this Letter, that Mr. Lane is certainly the first Instance in all English History, of a Bachellour of Divinity who was forced to turn Miller, and Dig in a Quarry for a Livelihood: But it may perhaps be requisite to let him know, that I have chosen to print this Letter, mean as it is, verbatim, that the Plainness, not to say Simplicity of it, may demonstrate, that he who wrote it, could have nothing in view, but the honest Design of giving a true Account of his Father's Sufferings. As for Barnard, who was his First Successor at Aveton-Gifford, he was for some time the Legal Incumbent of Ugborough in this County, and had been, for some Rebellious Practices, no doubt, seized, and carried away Prisoner by a Party of the King's Horse: For which, after his Release, he was rewarded with this Rich Living, and Inducted to it by a Troop of Horse, as the way then was. During his Abode there, he never us'd the Lord's Prayer, or Administred the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, as far as an ancient Person of the Parish, lately living, could remember. He was also, as I have been informed, a Man of a very Vicious Life, and fled at length to Ireland, being, as I have heard, Turned out by the Commissioners, not on Mr. Lane's Complaint only, but for his Lewdness and Debauchery. As for Marten, the other Successor, though he was named by Mr. Lane himself (with the Leave of the Commissioners) in hopes to have found some Kindness from him to his Family; yet he proved as Base to them as Barnard had before done. And as much a Man of the Times as he was, he could Conform after his Majesty's Restoration, in order to keep this Rich Living.

So plain is it, that instead of Ejecting those of the Clergy who were really Vicious, they Rewarded and Encouraged them, provided they did but Declare for their Party.

LAKE, ANDREW, . Charlton, R.
He was admitted to this Living in 1643, and Sequestred about the Year 1645, as I have been informed by Mr. Louis, the Person himself who succeeded him during the whole time of the Usurpation; and who at the Restoration Conformed, and afterwards had the Vicaridge of Hennick in this County. Mr. Lake survived the Usurpation, was Re-possest of his Living in 1660; but died before the Year expired. He was, said the old Gentleman who enjoy'd his Living, a Mean, Insufficient Man: But whether he might give that Character of him to palliate his own Acceptance of the Living after the Sequestration, may perhaps be a Matter of Quere.

LANGE, WILLIAM, . Bradworthy, V.
Of whom I know nothing more than his being Sequestred.

LAVERS, JOHN, . Morleigh, R.
His Case is exactly the same with that of Mr. Luxon.

LETHBRIDGE, JOHN, . Abbpringston, R.
He was admitted to this Living in the Year 1639. The Charge against him, was his being a Malignant, and Reading the Common-Prayer: For which he was not only Turned out of his Living, but had his Temporal Estate likewise, which was a considerable one, put under Sequestration. He was also very much Harrassed and Abused, both in his Person and Family. Once more particularly, having notice that a Party of Horse was sent out to Seize him, he Fled into a Wood, and was forced to continue there Fourteen Days.

Days. In the mean time they took up his Wife (who was a Woman of a Masculine Spirit, and resolved not to give up her Husband's Right, unless compell'd to it by main Force) in a Chair, and carry'd her out of the House, Turning out Six Children, and the Servants after her. And at the same time they Plundered the House of every thing in it. After this, Mr. Lethbridge fled to Cornwall, where he was privately supported. He died Sept. 2, 1655, and lies buried in the Cathedral-Church of St. Peter in Exon.

See Mr Pocock in this County

LETHBRIDGE, ——, . Bow, .
He was also Plundered.

LEVERMORE, WILLIAM, . Topsham, .

This is a Curacy in the Gift of the Dean and Chapter of Exeter. There are Three more of the same kind in this County, and all lookt on as in a manner Equivalent to any Place that hath Institution and Induction. See the Note at Mr. Dodderidge in this County.

Or Fleeman, for other Informations, by Mistake of the Name, as I guess.

LUXON, JOHN, . Abbotsham, V.
He was either Admitted to this Living after the Abolishing of Episcopacy; or else the Confusions prevented the Regular Entry of his Institution: For the last Incumbent that I find on the Register before the Wars, was one Nicholas Honey. After the Restoration I find Mr. Luxon again possess'd of it, without any New Presentation or Admission: So that the Title which he had to it, thereby appears to have been deemed Valid.

DORSETSHIRE.

The Sequestration of this Living is very certain; and I think, the Sufferer was Mr. Locket.

LOCKET, ——, . Whitchurch-Canonicorum, V.
He was of an Ancient and very Loyal Family; was succeeded by one Salmay (the Person, as I presume, who is mentioned in the Abridgment (p. 299.) as at an uncertain Place); and unless I mistake, had not any Fifths paid him. He was, as I have heard, a very Worthy Man.

LUKIN, JAMES, B.D. Piddletown, V.
He was Chaplain to the Right Honourable Henry Earl of Huntington, lived to be Restored, and died the Faithful Pastor of this Church, Oct. 9, 1671, in the 62d Year of his Age.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

LAUD, ERASMUS, . Little- Try*, R.

* Or Tey

He was Collated to this Living in 1631, and Turned out of it in the Beginning of the Rebellion. The Century saith, he was a Common-Drunkard; and once more particularly, sitting drinking late on a Saturday-Night, was demanded, who should Preach on the next Day: He answer'd, let the Devil Preach: Give me another Cup of Sack. He is there charged with being a Common Swearer: And the Truth of it is, as far as I can learn from this Parish, he had no good Character; although Mercurius Rusticus says, that he was guilty of nothing, but a good and honest Name. However, be that as it will, 'tis plain enough from the Century it self, that his Vices were not his Only Crimes: For Neglecting the Parliament-Fasts, and Observing the Rules and Orders of the Church, bare a main Part in the Accusations laid against him. But the Committee were not the only Persons who took him in hand: The Rabble likewise fell upon him, Spoil him of his Goods, drive away his Cattle, rob him of 20 l. in Money, his own, and his Wife's Clothes, all except those upon their Backs. Of which, when he made Complaint to the Mayor of Colchester, whom he happen'd at his Coming to find in the Town-Hall with some of the Aldermen, he could get no other Redress or Answer but this; That they knew who he was, and what Business he had there; He was the Minister of Try that was Plundered the Day before; but they had other Business in Hand, and he must be gone, for they could not hear him.

P. 12. Alluding to his Surname of Lukin, which, he saith, was enough to expose him to their Rage.

Merc. Rust. Ibid.

Ibid.

——, ——, . * Langden-Dee, .
He survived the Usurpation, and was Restored. See the Note at Birchbrook in this County, under the Letter B.

* Quære if not Langenhoo, R. Dif. Lith. in 1663.

LEVENTHORP, Sir CHARLES, . White-Rooding, . worth 200 l. a Year.

He was first succeeded by one Mr. Micklewait, and after that, by one Mr. Samford, who continued upon the Living until the Restoration; at which time Sir Charles Leventhorp was Restored to it.

——, ——, . Neither-London .
He survived the Usurpation, and was Restored to his Living. See the Note at Birchbrook in this County, under the Letter B.

Ibid.

LONG, JOS. . ——, . He was Sequestred about the Year 1644, for a Scandalous Life, and Neglect of Cure.

LOWES, NICHOLAS, . Much-Bently, V.

He was Admitted to this Living Apr. 15, 1642; and Dispossest of it, saith the Century, for Drunkenness and Malignancy; more particularly for saying, that he hoped to see them all hanged that had set their Hands against Bishops and Papists.

P. 24. One of his Successors was Thomas Beard, who got the Living in 1634.

LYNCH, SYMON, . Rumwell, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

He was Turned out about the Year 1644, for Scandalous Life and Doctrine. The Profits of his Living were afterwards enjoyed by one G——, a Broken Shop-keeper. He had the Tender made him of a Place worth 400 l. a Year, would he have Complied with the Times: But as easie as those Terms might appear to others, they seemed very Difficult to him; and therefore he utterly Rejected them. He just lived to see the Restoration, as he always wish'd, and died soon after.

He was afterwards permitted to keep the poor Curacy of Blackmore.

Digitized by Google

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

LLOYD, RICHARD, . Tibberton, R.

He died before the Reſtoration; and his very Deſolate Widow was afterwards Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

LEIGH, PHILL. . Redbourn, V.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 859. He was Turned out by the Houſe about Aug. 1643, who at the ſame time ordered one Ralph Radbourne to ſucceed him. He hath a Place in the Century, for a Drunkard, Swearer, and Malignant.

P. 6.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

KENT.

LANE, PETER, A. M. ——, .

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 302. He was a Native of the City of Norwich, Educated at St. John's College in Cambridge, of which he became Fellow, and was Taxor in the Year 1640. I do not meet with the Date of his Admiſſion, nor the time of his Sequeſtration; but he lived to be Reſtored with his Majeſty; and Aug. 29, 1662, was Preſented to the Rectory of St. Bennet-Paul's-Wharf in London; where he continued to do his Duty during the whole time of the Great Plague in 1665; but being Burnt out of his Church the Year following, he had, not long after, the Curacy of Paddington in Middleſex conferred upon him; which he afterwards held, together with his Church of St. Bennet, and that of St. Peter Annexr, for ſome time, and died in 1688, about the 75th Year of his Age.

LIGHTBOURN, EDWARD, . * Weſtfield, R.

* This, if I miſtake not, is the Living which he loſt. When his Death happen'd, I know not; but after it, either his Widow, or ſome other of his Family, were forced to beg the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

Or Harrowden, as I gueſs. ¶ LYNCH, ——, . Haneſham, R.

Ward, Arch. Vol. I. p. 631. He was Turned out about the Year 1642; but lived to Re-poſſeſs his Rectory, and died in a Good Old Age. He was ſucceeded on the Sequeſtration, by one Barton, who, as Common Report then went, had been either a Taylor, or Shoemaker in London. Mr. Lynch was a very Sober, Good, Charitable, and Hoſpitable Man, and an Intimate Friend of Dr. Horſmanden before-mentioned in this County. There was one John Lynch, a Cambridge Man, Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in the Year 1618. He was afterwards Chaplain to the Biſhop of Saliſbury, Parſon of Hertſham in Kent, and Author of the Chriſtian Paſſover, a Sermon at St. Paul's, &c. I take him to have been the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

LANCASHIRE.

LAKE, JOHN, . Preſtwich, R. I have been informed, that ſome time during the Confuſions he was Preſented by the Rightful Patron to this Living; but by the Iniquity of the Times, was Deprived of the Benefit of it, until the Reſtoration: Which however, doth not accord with what * Wood ſaith of him, viz. that he was not admitted to this Living until the Year 1668. For which reaſon I leave this Sequeſtration as a Quære; and forbear to proſecute the Account of this Great Man any further, than to add, that he was afterwards ſucceſively Biſhop of Man, Briſtol, and Chicheſter; One of the Seven Biſhops who were ſent to the Tower by K. James, and One of the Nine who refuſed the Oaths to K. William. See a further Account of this Excellent Biſhop in the Learned Vindication of his Dying Declaration, and in the Defence of that Vindication.

Only 'tis ſaid that he was allowed to Preach in one of the Chapels of the Pariſh, and take the Profits of That.

* Ath Vol. II. p. 652. Where ſee more of him; as alſo at p. 684. See Mr. Allen on this County. See alſo Newc. Eccl. Rec. Vol. I. p. 118. Lloyd, Mem. p. 456. recounts one Dr. Lake (who, he ſaith, was Sequeſtred ſomewhere in the North) among the other Loyal Sufferers. If he was the ſame Perſon with this Dr. Lake, as I am apt to think he was, then to puts this Sequeſtration beyond Queſtion. If he was not, then he ought to be Entered in a diſtinct Article; ſince 'tis from thence certain, that ſuch a Doctor was Turned out.

LEWIS, ——, . Childwall, V. He was alſo very like to have been murthered: For as he was at a Private Houſe to Baptize a Child, one Captain Hitchen came thither (as himſelf afterwards, and his Looks at that time diſcovered) with an Intent to have murthered him: But the Company having ſome Intimation of it, hid Mr. Lewis under the Table, and fate cloſe round it: So that when the Captain coming in, not ſeeing him there; and being told that he was juſt then gone, he left the Company, and went preſently in purſuit of his murtherous Intention; which however, God in Mercy to him, as well as to Mr. Lewis, was pleaſed to Diſappoint.

He is alſo ſaid to have been Dean Rural of Warrington, which poſſibly in this Dioceſs may have been a Place of ſome Profit, or uſe. I do not ſee why it ſhould have been at all mentioned.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LAYFIELD, EDWARD, . Iſbſtock, R. I have direct and poſitive Information from this County, that this Gentleman was Sequeſtred from the Rectory of Iſtock: But its plain from Wood, that Dr. Lufton was Poſſeſt of it in 1642; and no leſs plain from, the * Abridgment, that Mr. Sheffield ſucceeded upon Dr. Lufton's Sequeſtration, and kept it during the whole time of the Uſurpation. So that there can be no room for Layfield, unleſs he had been Poſſeſt of, and Sequeſtred from the Living by the middle of 1642, at leaſt: For which reaſon, I ſuſpect ſome Miſtake in the Information; and judge it might be ſome other Living, which Layfield was Turned out of. Quære.

I take him to have been a different Perſon from Dr Edward Layfield, Archdeacon of Eſſex; but quære.

* P. 165.

LERMANT, ANDREW, . Clybrook, V.

LOAD, ROBERT, D. D. Witherby, R.

Digitized by Google

*See the Note at Alberton in Suffex, under the Letter A.

——, ——, . * Lodington, V.

One John Hall got this Living in the Year 1637.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 702. Abridgm. p. 105.

LUFTON, JOHN, L. L. D. Ibſtock, R.

After he had been driven from this Living, which was upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he Fled to his Majeſty at Oxford; where he was Created L. L. D. about the latter End of 1642. He died at Ibſtock, as Wood thinks, in or near 1647. He had been always eſteemed a great Royaliſt and Epiſcoparian.

See Mr Layfield noſt before named.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

LAWSON, ——, . Swinſted, V.

LEAKE, JOHN, . Fordingham, .

See the Note at Dr. Rob. Bayly, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B

LINCOLNE, WILL. . Halton, R.

His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; for which he compounded at 186 l.

MIDDLESEX.

D D.

LANT, THOMAS, D. D. Hornſey, R.

He was a Native of the County of Salop, became Fellow of Jeſus-College in Cambridge, and was admitted to this Living in the Year 1637. In 1644, he was Turned out of it by a Committee of the Houſe of Commons; at which time one Colliere was by the ſame Authority ſubſtituted in his Rectory; 'who violently Thruſt himſelf and 'Family into the Parſonage-Houſe, turning Mr. 'Lant, his Wife (then big with Child,) and 'Three ſmall Children, out of Doors, without 'any time allow'd him to provide a Place of Re'tirement for his Helpleſs Family; and depriv'd 'of all Preſent Means of Subſiſtence, and upon 'great Penalties, prohibited to exerciſe any part 'of his Miniſterial Function. The Profits of the 'Living, and even of that Year in which he had 'ſerved the Cure, being ſeiz'd by Mr. Colliere; 'which Mr. Lant modeſtly, and with great 'Meekneſs, Claiming as his Right, and what he 'had great Occaſion for, to Subſiſt his Family 'for the preſent, was by Colliere Roughly, and 'moſt Cruelly denied, ſaying, And what muſt I have them this Year to live upon? And being aſ'ked by Mr. Lant, how he could have the Con'ſcience to rake the Benefit of another's Labours? 'Reply'd, What do you tell me of Conſcience? 'In this Suffering Condition Mr. Lant remained 'Sixteen Years; and at the Reſtoration found 'the Parſonage almoſt entirely Ruined, and out 'of Repair, and the Chancel not much better; 'which he was obliged to Repair at a Vaſt 'Charge. He became at length * Prebendary of Wildland in the Church of St. Paul, and died before May 22, in the Year 1688. He was well known to be a Perſon of a truly Primitive Temper, and blameleſs Deportment; who never ſpake Evil of any Man, even thoſe who Perſecuted him; and was ever ready to do good to all Men. In his Pariſh he did with great Solliciude and Pains diſcharge all the Parts of a Vigilant and Faithful Paſtor; particularly excelling in the Great Vertues of Piety, Temperance, Modeſty, Meekneſs, Humility, and Charity: By which he juſtly acquired the Affection and Reſpect of all his Pariſhioners. Nor durſt his Enemies themſelves charge him with any thing that was ill. Inſomuch that the only Accuſation againſt him, even in the very Inſtrument of his Sequeſtration, was that of Malignancy.

Bioue. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 227.

I have been informed, that he had by all Ten Children: Poſſibly ſeveral of them might be born after the Sequeſtration.

* To which he was admitted Sept. 22, 1662. Newc. Ibid.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

LEGG, ——, . Lanſoy, R. Before 1649, for Pluralities.

LEWIS, CHARLES, . Llanlavell, V.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Drunkenneſs; and, as is affirmed, was ſet in the Stocks at Cheſtow, for the ſame Crime after his Sequeſtration.

LEWIS, CHARLES, . Landegvagh, .

He was Turned out ſome time before the Year 1649. Quere if he was the ſame Perſon with him who immediately precedes.

——, ——, . * Llandenny-Skirid, .

* For this, and the 16 following Livings, ſee the Note at Abergwyley in Carmarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

This is a different Living from that Llandenny which will by and by be mentioned.

——, ——, . Llanvihangel-Llantornam, R.

The former part of the Word is written with an Abbreviation. I take it to be Llanvihangel.

——, ——, . Llantilio and Penroſſe, .

I think theſe are Joynt, and not Diſtinct Livings.

——, ——, . Llanyhangel-Tormyned, .

The former Part of this Word likewiſe is wrote with an Abbreviation: If I read it right, 'tis Llanyhangel.

——, ——, . Llandey-Vach, .

——, ——, . Llan-Thomas in Camcarvan, .

——, ——, . Llanvihangel juxta Uik, .

——, ——, . Llandenny, R.

——, ——, . Llahenock, V.

——, ——, . Llangna, .

——, ——, . Llanvetheren, V.

Quere if it be the ſame Living Llanmetheren, which will be after mentioned at Mr. Quarrell's, under the Letter Q. at the End of the Counties.

——, ——, . Llandegy, .

——, ——, . Llanvrechva, .

——, ——, . Llanvapleg, R.

——, ——, . Llanbilleth, .

* Quare if it be the same with Llanhenock inſt before.

——, ——, . * Llanhenwgg, .

——, ——, . Llanovor, . This I take to be an Impropriation, or rather an Appropriation, belonging to ſome Cathedral; but quare if there be not a Vicar (or it may be a Curate) belonging to it; and whether the Vicar (or Curate) was not Turned out of it; or whether the Rectory only was Sequeſtred from the Cathedral? If only a Curate belongs to this Place, and he was Turned out, then it muſt be referred to the Appendix. Quare alſo whether Mamhilad and Trevithen are annexed to Llanovor: They are in the ſame Circumſtances, and will be after mentioned in this County, under their proper and reſpective Letters.

NORFOLK.

LENEANE, ROBERT, . Scottoe, V.

LETHWAITE, JOHN, . St. Peter's-Rockland, R. And Stow, V. . . . . .

Moſt a Miniſter be turned a-ſtarving as ſoon as he is ſick, or diſabled, tho' he hath long and faithfully ſerved, whilſt God was pleaſed to give him Strength and Abilities?

He was Sequeſtred in 1644; becauſe he had not been able to Read or Preach a long time, by reaſon of an Impediment in his Mouth: As alſo for Obſerving the Orders of the Church; Wearing a ſquare Cap with a Toſſel on the Crown; Denying Godly Miniſters to Preach in his Pulpit; Keeping a Curate who had been Impriſoned for his Loyalty; Speaking many honeſt Truths, and Neglecting to Tender the Covenant to his Pariſh. He had a Wife and Six Children; but they were Grown up.

A Merciful Man doth not ſerve his Horſe, or his Dog after that Rate.

LOCK, WILLIAM, . Burwell, R.

Quare if he was the ſame Perſon with Will. Lock, inſt. before mentioned. It was one of the Living in Norwich which he loſt, as I gueſs; but quare.

LOCK, ——, D. D. ——, . in Norwich.

He was likewiſe for his Great Loyalty, Plundered, and almoſt Ruined: Inſomuch that his Family afterwards came to Poverty and Want, and ſome of them were Supported by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

LUBBIT, RICHARD, . Swanton-Abbot, R.

LUSHINGTON, THOMAS, D. D. Burnham-Weſt-Gate, R.

See the Church of Saliſbury.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

LAWSON, GEORGE, A. M. Meavies-Aſhby, V.

He was much Harraſſed and Abuſed alſo before he left his Living. He ſupported himſelf afterwards by Keeping a School at Houghton-Conqueſt in Bedfordſhire. He lived to claim his Living again on the Reſtoration, and then ſettled one Mr. Holmes in it. He was a Man of good Learning, and ſober Converſation.

LOWTHE, SYMON, . Dingley, R.

He was Sequeſtred in the Year 1655, for Reading Common-Prayer, and Bowing at the Name of Jeſus. His Succeſſor was one B——, Son to a Poor Man of Northampton, who was not in any Orders, at leaſt, not Epiſcopal ones; and his Merits were his being to marry the Daughter of a Committee-man, and Siſter-in-law to the Clerk of the Pariſh, as I apprehend; which two Perſons were his Patrons; having alſo, if I miſtake not, been chiefly Inſtrumental in getting Mr. Lowthe Sequeſtred.

LOSSE, WILLIAM, A. M. Weedon-Pinkney, V.

He was a Gentleman of good Birth and Deſcent, had been Elected from Eton to King's-Coll. in the Year 1603, and had the Firſt Preſentation from the College to this Living. His Treatment from the Rebels was very Barbarous: For on Sunday the 2d of July, 1643, Twelve of the Parliament-Troopers, under the Command of Captain R—— S——, came from Northampton to this Church; where they arrived in time of Prayer; and one of them, who, 'tis ſaid, was Groom to Sir R—— S——, Father to the Captain, came up to the Reading-Pew, where Mr. Loſſe was officiating, and commanded him to leave off his Portage, and to follow him. Mr. Loſſe deſired him but to have Patience till he had finiſhed the Service. Patience me no Patience, replied the Groom, my Buſineſs is of greater Importance, than to admit of any Delay: Come away therefore, or I will pull you out by the Ears. Whereupon Mr. Loſſe was forced to break off the Service, and follow him into the Church-Yard: And there the Fellow tells him, that he muſt go along with them to Northampton. And when Mr. Loſſe demanded by what Authority? They anſwered him, He ſhould know that when he came thither. But Mr. Loſſe alledging that he had been Plunder'd of Twelve or Thirteen Horſes by the Parliament Soldiers, and therefore had never a one left to carry him to Northampton; one of the Troopers ſwears Wounds and Blood (for, it ſeems, the Godly had that Language among them, as well as the Reprobated Cavaliers) that he would carry him behind him, and if he did not like him, he would drag him along with a halter at his Horſe's Tail. Upon this, Mr. Loſſe being mov'd with the Inſolence of thoſe Baſe Fellows, boldly told them, he would never be a Slave to Slaves: And ſo ruſhing from them, took Sanctuary in the Church, and ſhut the Door upon him. But when he came in, finding the People had open'd the other Door to get out of the Church, he made what Haſte he could to ſecure that likewiſe. However, he found one of the Troopers who was come about, and ready to enter the Church on Horſeback: Whereupon he took up the Bar of the Door, and reſolutely ran at Mem. Reſt. p. 91. I have no diſtinct Information of this Sequeſtration, but only gueſs at it from what is here related of his Perſecution. Lloyd (Mem. p. 659.) indeed equals his Sufferings with that of a Gentleman, who tho' Aged and Infirm, was thrown into a Hole with Thieves and Felons, to the Hazard of his Life. Whether he hath an Eye to what is related of him by here, Reſt. I know not. Quare further.

Digitized by Google

at the Trooper to Unhorſe him; which made the Fellow keep off, and to Mr. Leſſe gor time to Bar faſt that Door likewiſe. After which, not thinking himſelf ſecure enough in the Church, he gets up into the Belfry, locking the Doors after him, and from thence by a Ladder up into the Leads, through a little Hole, whither he made a hard Shift to get the Ladder up after him, which he laid over the Hole, and therewith Barricado'd the Paſſage againſt his Purſuers. Whilſt Mr. Leſſe was thus employed in ſecuring himſelf, the Troopers were buſie in getting into the Church at the Windows; but not being able to force the Barrs, they at length with their Poll-Axes, and ſome of the Tomb-Stones of the Church-Yard, Broke open the Doors, enter'd the Church on Horſeback, and Rid from one End of it to the other, Spurring and Switching their Horſes, purpoſely to endanger the People. 'Tis eaſie to believe, that this Outrage put the Remainder of the Congregation under no ſmall Fears, and eſpecially Mrs. Leſſe her ſelf, and her poor Children. Mrs. Leſſe fell into a Swoon in the Church, and had no Shew of Life in her for a long time. At which, the People entreated the Troopers to deſiſt, putting them in mind in what Place they were, and telling them, that ſuch Outrageous Behaviour would bring a Scandal upon their Cauſe; entreating them withal to conſider, that Mr. Leſſe was a Gentleman of a good Family. Upon which one of them again ſwearing Wounds and Blood, replied, What do you tell me of Birth and Deſcent? A Plague take him and his Gentility. I hope within this Year to ſee never a Gentleman in England. After this, they Broke open the Belfry-Doors, and made up to the Hole which goes into the Leads: But Mr. Leſſe boldly and reſolutely defended himſelf, and made good the Place againſt them: 'Notwithſtanding in the 'Reſiſtance he was in very great Danger to loſe 'his Life: For they diſcharged their Piſtols at 'him at leaſt eight or nine times; but by the 'good Providence of God, they miſs'd their Mark. 'With their Swords they wounded him in Three ſeveral Parts of his Body; yet, God be bleſſed, 'the Wounds were not Mortal. At laſt having 'receiv'd a Hurt in his Hand, having a Vein 'pricked with one of their Swords, his Blood 'flowed ſo faſt upon the Troopers underneath 'him, that, as they Bragged there, and in other 'Places after they were gone thence, they thought 'they had diſpatched him: And therefore think-'him to be a dead Man, they left him: Yet to 'embalm him to his Funeral, they pour out a 'Flood of Reproachful Names upon him; calling 'him Rogue, Raſcal, Slave, Villain, Dog, Devil, ma-'king no ſtop till their Maſter the Devil and their 'own Memories could ſuggeſt no more Names of 'the ſame Stamp; at laſt, to ſeal up all, for fear 'they had not Murthered him, they proteſt, with 'many Execrations upon themſelves, that if they 'had not now ſped him (which yet they hoped 'they had) they would return another time, 'and have him either dead or alive.

I cannot here forbear to let the Reader know, that this Noble Captain, who was at this time ſo truly Hardy, as to bid Defiance to God Almighty himſelf, and Invade his Sanctuary, had at another time likewiſe the Courage to lead his Troop into Lincolnſhire; but upon a Proſpect of Blows, Galloped back again to Northampton; where his Friends provided him with an Employ much more ſuitable to his Genius, which was that of Plundering and Deſtroying poor Harmleſs and Helpleſs Miniſters, making him a Committee-Man.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

LUDDINGTON, TIMOTHY, Eaſt-Bedford, V.

His Widow was at length conſtrained to beg the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. See the Cathedral of Lincoln, and quære. Although I take them to have been Two different Perſons.

* He was certainly Sequeſtred, and I take this to have been the Living, which he was Turned out of.

OXFORDSHIRE.

LYDYAT, THOMAS, A.M. Okerton, R.

I forbear to proſecute the Life of this Great and moſt Learned Man; becauſe I cannot be poſitive in the Sequeſtration. I ſhall ſet down all that I know of his Sufferings, and from thence leave the Reader to determine, whether he be entitled to the Benefice here, or in the Appendix. 'In the Civil War, which began Anno 1642, 'he ſuffered much at his Rectory of Okerton 'before mentioned, by the Parliament Party: 'For in a Letter written by him to Sir William 'Compton, Kt. Governour of Banbury-Caſtle, da-'ted Dec. 10, 1644, I find that he had been four 'times Pillaged by the Parliament Forces of 'Compton-Houſe (commonly called Compton in 'the Hole) in Warwickſhire, to the Value, at 'leaſt, of 70 l. and forced for a Quarter of a Year 'together to borrow a Shirt to ſhift himſelf; that 'alſo he had been Twice carried away from his 'Houſe, once to Warwick, and another time to 'Banbury: To the Firſt of which Places, being 'hurried away on a poor Jade, he was inſamouſly 'uſed by the Soldiers there; and ſo ſorely hurt, 'that he was, at the Writing of the ſaid Letter, 'not thoroughly Whole, and he doubted, ſcarce 'ever ſhould be, &c. The Cauſe of all which Ill Uſage was, for that he had denied them Money, and had defended his Books and Papers, and afterwards, while a Priſoner in Warwick Caſtle, had ſpoken much for the King and Biſhops.

He died in April 1646, which was ſoon after his Troubles; and thoſe Troubles being ſuch, that he could not enjoy his Benefice, for my own part, I look upon him as in Effect, tho' not in Form, Sequeſtred for the ſhort Remainder of his Life, after the Party fell firſt upon him. I have only to add, that Fuller ſaith, he was diſaffected to Church-Diſcipline and Ceremonies: And if ſo, he is another Inſtance, how little the Party will ſpare any who do not Run Riot with themſelves to the utmoſt Lengths, when once they have gotten it in their Power.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 47. where ſee his Life at large, as alſo an Account of his very many and moſt Learned Works.

Worth in Oxfordſh.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

Or Lake. LUKE ———, . Sheiten in the Street, R.

He was driven from this Living by the Rebellion; and his Family were at length reduced to ſuch Poverty, that after his Death, I find ſome of them Petition'd for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

SALOP.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

LOCKET, WILLIAM, D. D. Weſt-Monkton, R.

He was ſiſter-ſ, or nearly Related to, the Family of the Lockers in Dorſetſhire.

He was alſo denied his Fifth; becauſe he was dead; i. e. as the Uſurper told him, in Treſpaſſes and Sins. This worthy Confeſſ was one Mr. Elford. One George Pierce got the Living in 1655.

LONG, RICHARD, Chewton Mendip, V.

The Ancient Perſon who gave this Account, ſaith, that Mr. Long was thus uſed for Refuſing the Engagement; it muſt doubtleſs be the Covenant. Unleſs there was a very great Diſtance betwixt the ſeveral times of his Imprisonments, and the latter of them was on the Account of the Engagement.

He was Seiz'd at his own Houſe and Hurried away Priſoner to Briſtol, being then very much Indiſpoſed: His Surplice and Hood were tied to his Middle, and hung down backward at his Horſe's-Tail. He was at laſt ſet at Liberty by Prince Rupert, when that Prince came to Briſtol; but was afterwards taken into Cuſtody a Second time, and ſent to Axbridge, where he died in Priſon. His Wife, who was a Gentlewoman, and had a ſuitable Education, was with three Childr n, thruſt into one Corner of the Vicaridge-Houſe, ſupported by Charity, and forced whenever ſhe viſited her Husband, to go on Foot to Axbridge. After Mr. Long's Death, ſhe with her three Daughters, were taken care of by Colonel Popham. The four Perſons chiefly concerned in his Proſecution and Impriſonment, were John Emlin, Robert Wilcox, James Herkins, and Thomas Phillips; the Firſt of which died ſoon after; the Second was a little after taken Sp. chleſs, and never Spake more; the Third was ſomewhat Diſtracted in his Head before, and after grew downright Mad; and the laſt died in a Barn: And Two who were going to London to Swear againſt Mr. Long, died on the Road thither of the Small-Pox.

SOUTHAMPTON.

* Or Lucy. *LACY, ———, . St. John, . } And St. Peter's in Soca, ... }

† I take him to be the ſame Perſon who Left both theſe Livings. LAKE, ———, . Lukenholt, . } And † Soply, V. . . . . }

LAKE, ———, . Minſtead, R.

LAMBE, JAMES, . Titchfield, R.

This is doubtleſs the ſame Perſon who is mentioned by Wood, and was Born in the City of Oxford, Entered firſt at Brazen-Nose-College; and from thence Removed to St. Mary-Hall, in that Univerſity. Afterwards he became Chaplain to Thomas Earl of Southampton, and Surviving the Uſurpation, was not only Created D. D. but for his Sufferings as a Loyaliſt, was alſo rewarded with a Prebend of Weſtminſter, and the Rectory of St. Andrew's in Holbourn. He died in 1664; and was a Perſon who 'had a moſt exact Stile in 'Penning and Diſcourſing, was a Sententious and 'Acute Preacher; and above all, had an excel-'lent Faculty in Opening and Explaining the 'Oriental Languages; in which laſt kind of Learning he hath Publiſhed ſeveral things.

Ath. Vol II p. 328 Lloyd, Memoi p. 512.

LAMBE, ———, D. D. Botly, R. Quære if he be the ſame Perſon with him laſt mentioned.

LANEY, BENJAMIN, D. D. Buriton, .

See Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge.

LANGWORTH, JOHN, . Selbourn, V.

LEWIS, WILLIAM, D.D. Maſterſhip of the Hoſpital of St. John Croſs, } And Eaſt-Woodham, ... }

See the Cathedral of Vincheſter.

LOWMAN, ———, . Biſhops-Sutton, V.

One Richard Upſolm got it in 1657.

LUCY, WILLIAM, D. D. Burghcleere, R. . . . . } And Highclere, R. . . . . }

He was deſcended from the Ancient Family of his Name at Charlecot in Warwickſhire; but Born, as 'tis ſaid, at Huſborne in this County. He was Entered firſt at Trinity-College in Oxford; from whence, after he had taken one Degree, he Removed to Lincolns-Inn, where he Studied the Laws, for ſome time; but at length retired from thence to Caius-College in Cambridge, became B. D. there, and at laſt proceeded in Divinity, having firſt been taken into the Service of the Duke of Buckingham, upon the Recommendation of his Majeſty; who at the ſame time profeſs'd his regard to him, and Intentions of promoting him. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was often diſturbed for his Loyalty, and at length Sequeſtred. In 1660, he was promored to the Biſhoprick of St. David's, and died in poſſeſſion of that See, without any further Tranſlation, in the Year 1677. He was, ſaith Wood, a Perſon of ſingular Candor, and Vertues requiſite in a Church-Man, which in the worſt of Times gained him great Eſteem from the very Enemies of his very Order and Function.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 142.

See his Works in Wood; and more of his Character in his Epitaph, which is there Recited.

STA-

STAFFORDSHIRE.

LANGLEY, WILLIAM, A.M. St. Mary's in Lichfield, .

The chief Occaſion of his Perſecution and Sequeſtration, was his Diſagreement with Mr. Baxter, one of the Ejected Miniſters of the Bridgemont, who was his Co-Partner in the Miniſtry at St. Mary's, and whom he had diſcover'd not to be in Orders. It is alſo urged againſt him in the Articles on which he was Sequeſtred, that he had Preached on Chriſtmas-day, and Adminiſtred the Sacrament by the Common-Prayer-Book. His Family were afterwards expoſed to Want. He wrote a Piece, entituled The Perſecuted Miniſter; wherein, I ſuppoſe, he exemplifies his own Caſe: For I have not been yet able to get a Sight of it.

Poſſibly he had been thought to uſe Mr Langley; which was no uncommon thing in thoſe Times.

LATHAM, ——, . Walſoerhampton, .

The only Grounds which I have for this Sequeſtration, is, that I find it Reſolved, Feb. 27, 16$\frac{4}{5}$, that he is unfit to continue the Miniſterial Function any more. Which, if I rightly apprehend it, amounts to more than a Sequeſtration, viz. a Silencing alſo, and in a manner Degrading him: But quære.

SUFFOLK.

LARGE, ROBERT, . Charſfield, .

He was turned out about the Year 1644; for Reading part of the * Book Impoſed in the Biſhops days; taking the Covenant with The Limitation; and being Diſtempered in Drink. But quære if he was any more than Curate here.

* The Com. Prayer-Book, as I preſume; unleſs they meant the Book of Sports.

LINDSAL, SAMUEL, . Stratford, R.

Or Lindſey.

He was turned out April 12, 1644; for obſerving the Orders of the Church, diſſuading his People from the Rebellion, refuſing to Contribute to it; no. frequenting Lectures, but ſaying, the Factious Miniſters were the Trumpets of the War. He boldly came before the Sequeſtrators, and was ſo far from diſowning any of thoſe Charges, that he ſubſcribed the Articles againſt himſelf with his own Hand, as true in Subſtance.

LOVIS, ——, . Branſton, V.

He had been Vicar of this Living 50 Years; and was Executed, with about 60 more, for being a Wizard, at Bury in this County. But a Neighbour Juſtice of the Peace, and a Doctor of Divinity, who both knew him very well, altogether Acquit him of that Crime, as far as they could Judge, and did verily believe. The truth of it is, he was a contentious Man, and made his Pariſhioners very uneaſie, and they were glad to take the Opportunity of thoſe wicked Times, and get him Hanged, rather than not get rid of him; as that matter hath been repreſented to me. If this be the true State of the Caſe, and the Party were glad of any occaſion, not only to Sequeſter, but alſo to Hang up the Clergy of the Eſtabliſhment, there cannot be any Queſtion made, but that Mr. Lovis doth moſt juſtly claim a Place in this Liſt: But if any who live nearer to the Place, or have other Opportunities of ſearching to the Bottom of this Story than I have, can diſcover the contrary, I ſhall moſt gladly diſcard him, and readily joyn in acknowledging the Juſtice of his Sentence. Mr. Serjeant Godcold was the Perſon that Condemned him; but Old Calamy and Fairclough were joyned in Commiſſion with him.

Which is the Matter Recelebrat. al Index to Part II. Cap. 3

See more of him in the Life of Fairclough by Clark, as alſo in Baxter's World of Spirits, p. 52. and Dr. Huchenſon's Collections about Witches and Demoniacks.

SURREY.

LAYFIED, EDWARD, D.D. Chiddingfield, R.

See St. Paul's Cathedral.

SUSSEX.

LARGE, ——, . Rotherfield, R. worth 300 l. a Year.

He was accuſed of Sabbath breaking, and Superſtition. The Proof of the former, was his Collecting Tythes on the Lord's-Day: The whole truth of which matter was, that his Servant (without his Knowledge or Conſent, much leſs his Order) did one Sunday after Evening-Service, to ſave himſelf Trouble, ask one of the Pariſhioners who lived at a diſtant part of the Pariſh, for his Maſter's Dues. And the Proof of the other Allegation, was, his having broken a Cake over a Bride's Head: Which Mr. Large indeed owned he had done, but withal added, that it was, as he humbly conceived, a thing in it ſelf neither Good nor Bad, as many other ſuch Cuſtoms were: However his Judges were of a contrary Opinion; and without permitting ſome Council, which were preſent, to ſpeak for him, they proceeded to a Sequeſtration, though they had not one thing to object againſt his Morals; for he was a Perſon of an Unblameable Life and Converſation.

WARWICKSHIRE.

LEE, ——, . Leamington-Haſting, V. worth 200 l. a Year.

He was Sequeſtred in 1644, and died about the Year 1659. His Succeſſor was one Walden, a rigid Independent, who was diſpoſſeſs'd of the Living at the Reſtoration; not on the Claim of the former Incumbent, as the Abridgemens ſaith, but by due Courſe of Law, for having defended the King's Murder. He was very loth to let go this Living, and afterwards conformed for another near Coventry, where he died.

P. 161. Where he is called Waldron.

WESTMORLAND.

LOWTHER, [LANCELOT, . *Kirby-Thore, V.

A Gentleman of both theſe Names, who had been of Trinity-College near Dublin, was Incorporated A. B. at Oxford in the Year 1624; and one likewiſe of both the ſame Names, but of O-

*If I read that Part of the Word right.

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 849.

Oriel-College, had been admitted A. M. in the Year 1616. Quære if this Sufferer was the ſame with either of thoſe two Perſons.

and that Accuſation brought by ſome of thoſe very Perſons, who had enjoyed the Benefit of that Protection. She ſays, ſhe remembers all this; and adds, that ſhe thinks her Father was bred up in St. John's College in Cambridge.

WILTSHIRE.

LAWRENCE, THOMAS, D. D. Bemerton and Foggleſton, R.

See Baliol-College in Oxford.

LEE, SAMUEL, . Poulton, .

WORCESTERSHIRE.

Or Leigh. See Abridg. p. 344.

LEE, ——, . Chadſley-Corbet, .

One of his Succeſſors, if at leaſt he had more than One, was Thomas Baldwin. Mr. Lee was Reſtored in 1661.

YORKSHIRE.

* See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Latter A.

——, ——, . * Laſtingham, V.

LEACH, ——, . Leathley .

LISTER, JAMES, . Wakefield, V.

'At the Reſtoration, he was invited to return to 'his Former Station, from whence he was Ex-'pelled before the Martyrdom, and the Living 'afterwards Uſurped by Mr. W——. Mr. Li-'ſter was often in Danger of his Life while he 'ſtaid at Wakefield. The Ordinances of Parlia-'ment at that time coming thick one after ano-'ther, render'd his ſtaying with his Flock impoſ-'ſible, who loved him univerſally all the time of 'the Anarchy. He was Plundered, Sequeſtred, and 'Suffered all the Hardſhips of a Vagabond for ſome 'Years. His Temporal Eſtate was Good; and 'Sequeſtred as it was, he made a ſhift to live 'without Alms where he could, privately, till it 'pleaſed God to inſpire Colonel Bramley, that 'married my Lady Hopton, to take him into 'the competent Living of * Leathley; which yet 'was ſo little, that it tempted not the Enemy to 'meddle with him; he living very Privately and 'Sparingly all the while, till with Joy and Satiſ-'faction of the Inhabitants of Wakefield, he was 'called home to his own.

He was a Man of Excellent Learning, Exemplary Piety, and a Profitable Preacher.

* Poſſibly Mr. Lister was put into the Living upon the Death of Mr. Leach, whom ſee juſt above.

LOWTHER, ——, . Bentham, R.

He out-lived the Uſurpation, and died Chancellour of Carliſle.

LUCOCK, JOHN, . Acklamb cum Levening, V.

His own Daughter now living, gives this Account of him, That he was very much Harraſſed by the Faction, his Houſe often Plundered, his Horſes and Cattle Seized, himſelf carried before the Committee, and Impriſoned; and that one part of his Accuſation was, that he had procured a Protection for the Town from the King's Party,

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

——, ——, . Llanuthull .

I find a Prebend's Rent of 13 l. 13 s. 4 d. from this ſame Llanuthull, (as I take it) in the Sequeſtrators Hands. So probably this is an Appropriate Rectory, and the Corps of ſome Prebend. But whether there be a Vicar belonging to it (which to me indeed ſeems probable) or only a Curate; and whether the Rectory only was Sequeſtred, or the Vicaridge likewiſe, if there be any; or the Curate only, was Turned out, I muſt leave to further Enquiry. If the Latter was the Caſe, this Article belongs to the Appendix only.

For this, and the follow-ing Living, ſee the Note at Abergwy-ley in Caer-marthenſh. under the Letter A.

——, ——, . * Llanſſit, .

* Probably Llanymis, R.

LEWIS, THOMAS, A. M. Lanvigan and † Veynor, R.

† I take theſe to be Annexed, and not two diſtinct Livings.

He was Turned out in the Year 1647, by the Committee of Glamorgan and Monmouth, on the ſelf-ſame Articles from which he had been before cleared by the Committee of Brecon. He was a Learned and Orthodox Man, of a Godly Life and Converſation, and a Conſtant Preacher, both in Welch and Engliſh. One Tho. Pugh, a Lay-Man (or rather Boy) of 22 Years of Age, ſucceeded him, by vertue of an Inſtrument from the Approvers at Whitehall. He was ſeldom Reſident, nor of Abilities to Teach, altho' there were not leſs than 800 Souls in the Pariſh.

CARDIGAN.

LEWIS, MORRIS, . Rhoſdie, R.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Inſufficiency.

LLOYD, MORGAN, . Llanllachawn, .

By the ſame, for Drunkenneſs.

——, ——, . Llangynllo, R.

——, ——, . Llandyſſil, .

——, ——, . * Llanllwcharne, .

* For this and the two

Livings immediately preceding, ſee the Note at Abergwyley.

CAER-

Digitized by Google

CAERMARTHEN.

LEWIS, THOMAS, . [a] Hellan-Amgoed, .

[a] This I take to be the Living, which in another Place is called Henlan-Amgoed. If not, there was a Living of that Name in this County likewise Sequestred, which muſt be soon inſerted ſeparately in this Liſt.

He was Turned out by the Propagators.

——, ——, . Llandgomar, V. He was for Two Years ſucceeded by a Taylor.

——, ——, . Llangunnet, .

——, ——, . Llanglydwen, R.

——, ——, . Llanllwyn, .

For the Two laſt Livings, (viz. Llanglydwen and Llanllwyn) ſee the Note at Aberguiley, ſo often mentioned.

——, ——, . Llandillo, V. See the ſame Note.

CAERNARVAN.

——, ——, . Llanaylhayrn, .

——, ——, . Llanbingian, R.

——, ——, . Llanrhychwy and Trefew, .

LLOYD, OWEN, . Llaneingan, . In 1648; and the Place afterwards lay Nine Years Void.

LLOYD, WILLIAM, . Llanberis, R. He was Turned out in 1650.

DENBEIGH.

——, ——, . Llanvair-Diffryn-Cluid, V.

Whether theſe Places are all Annexed, or eſſe diſtinct Livings, I know not. I take them to be all in this County.

See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A.

LLOYD, DAVID, . Wardenſhip of Ruthen, if I miſtake not.

See the Church of St. Aſaph.

LLOYD, HUMPHRY, . Ruabon, V. See the Cathedral-Church of York.

LLOYD, ROBERT, . Chircke, V.

P. 12.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

LEWIS, WILLIAM, . St. Flagans, R. valued at 160 l. per Ann. And Peterſon upon Ely, R. . . . . }

He was Turned out of both theſe Livings ſome time before the Year 1649. 'He was a very 'Charitable Man, had many Children and 'Grand-children, and was alſo of a great Age: 'Nevertheleſs he was Diſpoſſeſs'd of all, pu: out 'of his Houſe at St. Flagans, and his Corn was 'ſeized upon in his Barns by one Geller; ſo that 'he was obliged to retire to a ſmall Tenement 'for Life, that his Father had procured for him in 'his younger Years, in the Pariſh of Liſvane in 'this County, where he livid contentedly, free 'from the Clamour and Hurry of Buſineſs. He 'lived to be Reſtored to his Livings, to the great 'Joy of his Friends and Pariſhioners; and after 'two Years Enjoyment of them, ended his Life 'in a good old Age. His Succeſſor at St. Flagans was one Eliis, who had 100 l. a Year paid him by the Sequeſtrators, and preached down Tythes as unlawful and Anticbriſtian; but the then Government finding it Troubleſome to take the Profits of the Livings, and pay the Miniſters themſelves, iſſued an Order that all ſuch as were Poſſeſs'd of Places which were worth 100 l. a Year, ſhould receive the Tythes: Whereupon Mr. Ellis thinking it too ſhameleſs to Preach up what he had before Preached down, ſgets one Symonds, an Itinerant Brother, to Preach for him on Mal. 3, 10. Bring ye all the Tythes into the Store-Houſe, &c. taking Occaſion himſelf to ſtep out of the Way. What Event this had, I know not, further than that the Pariſhioners were offended at both, and look'd on them as a couple of Knaves.

* One of the chief Rarities of the Clergy in this County.

——, ——, . Llanedarne, V. I take this to be a diſtinct Living from that Llanedarne, which is joyned with Reinaldſtone. See it under the Letter R.

——, ——, . Llanguelaugh, R.

——, ——, . Llangeinth, .

——, ——, . Llangunnid, .

——, ——, . Llanbaran and Llanſulyd.

Theſe are Annex'd, and not Diſtinct Livings.

——, ——, . Llanharry-Lanhilid, .

There are two Llanharrys in this County.

——, ——, . Llankarwan, .

There are Two Livings in this County of this Name; at leaſt, they diffir but very little. See under the Letter W, in this Liſt.

——, ——, . Llanmaen, .

——, ——, . Llanſamlet, .

——, ——, . Llantwitvardre, .

I take this to be a different Living from that Llantwitvardre which is joyned with *Llanwanno*w; which ſee at Mr. Baſſet in this County.

For theſe Nine laſt-mentioned Livings, ſee the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire.

LLOYD, HUGH, D.D. St. Andrew's, R. } And St. Nicholas's, R. . . . . }

He was Turned out ſome time before 1649. See the Church of St. David.

LLOYD, THO. . Cadoxton, R. } And
* Merthyr Dovan, R. . . . . }

* I take him to have been a ſecond Sufferer in this Living. See Mr. Chivers in this County.

He had a great Family, and his Fifths for ſome time to ſupport them; but was afterwards deprived of the Fifths. His Churches were after his Ejectment, ſupply'd once or twice a Quarter by the Itinerants. He lived to ſee the Reſtoration, and returned, if I miſtake not, for ſome time to theſe Livings; but had afterwards Two others, one of which was in Monmouthſhire, and the other in Brecknockſhire.

MERIONETH.

——, ——, . Llanimowthwey, .

After the Sequeſtration of the Miniſter, it continued Void Two Years.

——, ——, . Lauderwell, R. See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A. One William Hughes ſucceeded in this Living in 1657.

MONTGOMERY.

LANGFORD, WILLIAM, . Pool, V.

LAWRENCE, WILL. . Church-Stoke, .

He lived to be Reſtored.

LEWIS, EUBULUS, . Newton, .

He was Turned out in 1646: After which, the Place lay Vacant Six Years.

There is a Vicaridge alſo of this Name in this County. See below, Williams.

LLOYD, THOMAS, . Llanbrynmair, R.

He was Totally Diſpoſſeſs'd for the Space of Three Years; after which, he recover'd it, and made a ſhift to Keep it, but with much Trouble.

PEMBROKE.

——, ——, . Llaneſton, V.

Whatever his Name was, I find he was a Pluraliſt; but what his other Livings were, whether he loſt the reſt, or whether Himſelf, or the Livings, may be mentioned in other Parts of this Liſt, I cannot tell.

——, ——, . Llanichayre, R.

——, ——, . Llaniugel, R.

But quere whether this be not the ſame Living with Llanihoughel Perbeddow; from which Mr Rhoderick was Sequeſtred: Whom ſee afterwards.

——, ——, . Llanruthan, .

——, ——, . Llanvian, V.

LLEWELLING, MATTH. . Caſtlemartin, V.

He was Turned out for Inſufficiency, by the Commiſſioners for Propagation.

LLOYD, RICHARD, . Manerdavi, R.

He was Sequeſtred by the ſame Commiſſioners, for Malignancy.

LLOYD, ——, . Freſtrop, R.

See Mr. King in this County. They Poſſeſs'd, and Loſt this Living ſucceſſively. Which of them was the Firſt Sufferer in it, I cannot certainly determine; tho' I gueſs it to be Mr. King.

LOVE, EDWARD, . Tollbern, R.

See one of both their Names in the Ch. of Lichfield, and quare.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, alſo for Malignancy.

——, ——, . Ludchurch, R.

For this, and the five firſt Livings, ſee the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

RADNOR.

LAKE, THOMAS, . New-Radnor, R.

He was Sequeſtred ſome time before the Year 1649.

——, ——, . Llanbaderve-Vaur, .

Whatever his Name was, which I cannot yet learn, he was Diſpoſſeſs'd in the Year 1651.

LLOYD, RICHARD, . Glandeſtree, R.

He was alſo Sequeſtred before 1649.

LANGSTON, RICH, . ——, .

He was Created D.D. of Merton-College in Oxford, in the ſame Year with Mr. Lynch, after mentioned. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 711

LANG-

Forgive Sins, and that too, not
, but Originally, and Autocrita- ory would have it understood.
ele other Enormous Crimes are pon him; viz. That he used peant towards) the Table whilst e; and used to Read the Se- aying, God was there more hat he used to press his Pecu- liarities to the Altar; and that days ought to be Kept with the Lord's-Day; and at another Political Government belongs that the Prelates had Power even in Ecclesiastical Things; dom had been governed by hoped they would be rightly re added, his pressing the is Majesty's Declarations, Parliament, and Refusing ciate in the Rebellion.

led of Cottenham, upon sations, that Rich Puri-
Cromwell's Daughter Re- owned both it and her ho, upon his Removal been made Canon of as I have been in-ad married a Daugh-ut the Lofs of the Lin scarce be reckoned Manly suffered: for fear and exile at St.
which (to observe nverted into a Jayl.
ffol was once dis-
God's Providence, that Durance, his der Sequestration:
ll his Goods; and Children, were arry of Soldiers,
Jordan, then Go-aoler.

m, the Chief of Pioneers; one of is a Collar-Ma- en worked at John Taylor, an
Dr. Manby had e Corn in the d that which ove his Cattle lan with his
. French, the Person, and Barbarities
y entred the nd Swords Arm, with child as yet, elewoman sufferings)
all Chil-
. What
levoured,
Bread to ld have Cats (a ied the because ily to in the well him afed, ever,

's in Work

Yorkſhire, happening to die much about that time; Dr. Manby, who had the Petronage of that Living, repairs thither, and takes Poſſeſſion, hoping he might at leaſt be allowed to keep that Living: But thoſe People, from whoſe Eyes Mercy was hid, ſoon rooted him out from thence alſo, and put an Intruder into it, without allowing the Doctor (tho' in that indigent Condition with his whole Family) one ſingle Penny for Supplying the Cure, which he had done for about a Year. Whilſt the Doctor was himſelf thus Abſent in Yorkſhire, Two Meſſengers were ſent down to Cottenham from London, for his Wife, and for his Siſter likewiſe, who had been ſo bold, as to harbour the Family in their Diſtreſſes. Mrs. Manby was then Sick, and expected Death every Day; but dead or alive, the Meſſengers were reſolved to carry them both away the next Morning; when by God's Providence, the Doctor himſelf came thither, after his Sequeſtration from Yorkſhire; and ſo preſuming his own Perſon an Equivalent for that of his Wife, had the Mercy ſhewn him of being accepted in lieu of her; and was accordingly (with his Siſter) carried Priſoner to London; where he was kept ſome ſmall time only, but at great Charges, in the Meſſenger's Cuſtody; and never at laſt called before the Parliament. Nor muſt it here be forgotten, that in order to find Matter of Accuſation againſt him, they Subpœna'd his very Servant-Maids, and demanded of them what they heard at any time paſs in private in his Bed-Chamber, betwixt Himſelf and Wife: But nothing appearing againſt him, they were forced again to Diſmiſs both the Doctor and his Malignant Siſter. Nor was this of Subpœnaing the Servants, the only Method they took to obtain ſome Proof or other of the Doctor's Malignancy: For one time Wright, the Plundering Collar-maker, met Mrs. Manby, and challenged her with having receiv'd Letters from her Huſband: Nor did he ſtand upon Punctilio's, but went immediately to Rifling of her Pockets for them: Which ſo much affrighted the poor Gentlewoman, who was at that time with Child, that it prelently occaſioned her Miſcarrying, and had very like to have coſt her Life. The ſame Villain meeting the Doctor himſelf one Day on Horſeback, took his Horſe by the Bridle, led him, with the Doctor ſtill on him, into the Pound, and there lock'd the Door upon him. At another time, as the Fellow was going along before Dr. Manby's Gate, the Doctor ſent out one of his Sons with ſome Meſſage to him; but the dangerous Rogue having an Hatchet in his Hand, held it up, and proteſted, if the Child came near him, he would chop his Head off. At another time, ſome Gentlemen coming to ſee Dr. Manby on a Sunday, this Reforming Collar-maker came to the Houſe, with a Deſign to Apprehend, and ſet them in the Stocks, for Travelling on Sundays: But, as it fortun'd, they eſcaped his Clutches.

Nor did the Doctor's Troubles, or the Malice of his Enemies end in theſe Outrages only; for his Siſter having a little Houſe in Cottenham, which gave her a Right to the Common, but having no Cattle to put upon it; the Doctor bought ſome Cows for her to keep a Dairy, the better to Support her ſelf and his own Family. But the Barbarous Villains preſently drove the Cows from the Common to the Market, where they ſold them, and put the Money into their own Pockets. And even further yet did their Malice go: For their very Children were nurtured up in it, and would even Refuſe to play with Dr. Manby's poor Children: And one of them, Son to a moſt bitter Adverſary of the Doctor, without any manner of Provocation, Stabbed this very Daughter of Dr. Manby's (who gave this Relation) no leſs than Three times into the Head with a Fork, as the poor innocent Child was looking up at an Houſe, where there was ſomething, that the Children being got together, were gazing at; the Scarrs of which remain to this very Day, of the Gentlewoman be ſtill living, as a Viſible Teſtimony of the Hereditary Malice, which deſcends upon the very Children of thoſe People. After this, as may well be imagin'd, the Doctor durſt not let any of them go out of Doors.

Dr. Manby being thus more than Trebly Perſecuted from Caterham, removed with his Family to London, and there let up a School; but was not permitted long to keep it: So that he was forced to Retire from thence again, to a Little Eſtate of his Eldeſt Siſter at Hyton in this County; on which he made a hard ſhift to Support himſelf and his Family until the Happy Reſtoration; not one Farthing of Fifths having been ever paid him or his Wife.

Nor was there an End put to his Troubles even then: For Mr. Nye, altho' he had long ſuck'd the Fat Morſel, was very loth to let it go from between his Teeth; and therefore not only gave Dr. Manby the Trouble of Diſpoſſeſſing him by Law; but alſo carried away the Corn of that Harveſt into other Peoples Yards, and Threſh'd out what was in the Parſonage Barns, directly contrary to an Order of the Houſe of Lords, bearing Date the latter End of June 1660, and forbidding him to uſe any of the Profits of the Rectory during the Dependance of the Suit; as appears by the Original Breviat made uſe of at the Trial, and written with the Doctor's own Hand. However, at length the Doctor gets himſelf Repoſſeſs'd of his Living, as he had always, even in the blackeſt and moſt diſmal Times, a ſtrong Perſwaſion that he ſhould. But having had little or nothing, beſides Charity, during a great part of the Uſurpation, to Subſiſt himſelf and his Family, he was run much in Debt; and whether he hv'd long enough afterwards to get out of Debt, or whether he was Rewarded for his Leſſes and Sufferings, with any Dignity, or other Preferment, I am wholly uninformed. I cannot forbear here to add concerning the Two Chief Inſtruments of his Perſecution, that tho' they had both grown Rich in thoſe Times, yet Wright's Children and Grandchildren became wretched and miſerable; Taylor's Wife and Daughter came to be Relieved by the Pariſh, and Dr. Manby lived to Bury them both, after he Re-poſſeſs'd the Parſonage. Nor did Nye himſelf, as I have heard, enjoy his Health while he continued in the Place. He alſo Bury'd his Wife there, and all the Children Born in that Houſe, who were about Six. It would be needleſs here to add, what I have more than once obſerved already, That the Barbarities and Oppreſſions, under which very many others of the Clergy laboured, were not, as is eaſie to be gathered, any whit leſs than thoſe under which Dr. Manby ſuffered: Only the Particulars of the Former are Loſt, whilſt thoſe of Dr. Manby happen'd to be Preſerved.

MAPLETOFT, ——. . Hardwick, R.

He was Sequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester, Apr. 6. 1644, for Altar-Worſhip, Faſt-Worſhip, and Dopping-Worſhip, as they are pleaſed to Expreſs it; and, in a Word, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church, and the unpardonable Crime of Malignancy. He had a Wife and Seven Children.

Ma-

Digitized by Google

Different from the laſt-mentioned Perſon.

MAPLETOFT, ——, . Downham, R. in the Iſle of Ely.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd the ſame Day, and by the ſame Hands with his Nameſake; only upon different Accuſations. For he ſaid, that thoſe who ſhould live any time, would ſee the Rebels pull down Churches, and that they did put out good Miniſters, and put in Peddlers, Tinkers, and Cobblers. In ſhort, the Sum of what was laid to his Charge, was his aſſerting the Royal Cauſe, and ſhewing his Diſlike of the Rebels, and their Proceedings.

MARLEY, THOMAS, B. D. Eversden Parva, R.

See Queen's-College in Cambridge.

MARTEN, EDWARD, D. D. Dunnington, . And Cornington, R. . . . . }

See the ſame College.

MORDEN, JOHN, ſenior, . Fowlmer, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

He was Sequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester, June 17, 1644, for ſaying, the Parliament dare not diſpute the Matter of Religion with the Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, and the Biſhop of Ely; for Reading an Apocryphal Leſſon, and ſaying, it was a Leſſon for the Roundheads; Charging Godfathers to carry their Children to be Biſhop'd; Preaching that the Saints pray for us in general, tho' not in particular; Refuſing to Aſſiſt in the Rebellion; and ſaying, when the Parliament levy'd the Twentieth Part, they might with as good Right the next Year, take the other Nineteen. He was alſo Plundered of his Goods and his Cattle. He had a Wife and Six Children. I am not certain whether he did not ſuffer further in his Temporals, than by the Plundering now mentioned.

MUNDY, JOHN, . Willbraham Parva, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

He was Sequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester likewiſe, for Refuſing to Aſſiſt in the Rebellion, Diſſuading others from it, Flying, when like to be Apprehended for his Malignancy; and in a Word, for his Loyalty, and Obedience to the Orders of the Church. He had Three Children.

CHESHIRE.

See the Ch. of Cheſter, and a Note at the Dean there. See alſo Mr. Wyrley in that County.

MALLORY, THOMAS, B. D. Mobberley, R. And Devenham, ... }

Sir Pet. Leic. Hiſt. Collect. L. 2. Part 1. C. 3. and Part 4.

He was a Younger Son of Sir William Mallory of Studeley in Yorkſhire, and became Dean of Cheſter in the Year 1606. About 1610, he was admitted to the Living of Devenham; about Nine Years after he purchaſed the Advowſon of Mobberley, and ſhortly after ſucceeded in that Rectory. 'In Nov. 1644, he was forced (by 'reaſon of the Rebellion raiſed then in England) 'to Fly from Mobberley to Cheſter, where he liv-'ed Sequeſtred from his Parſonages, until the third 'Day of April, 1644; on which Day he died at 'the Dean's Houſe, and was buried in the Choir 'of the Cathedral-Church, aged about 78.

MORSTON, ——, . Chriſtleton, R. One Samuel Slater got this Living in the Year 1655.

CORNWALL.

MAY, JOHN, . Newlyn, V. I find he was at length alſo reduced to ſuch Poverty, that after his Death, ſome of his Family Petitioned for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

About this Time 1659, Mr. May got the Vicaridge of Walkhampton in Devon, by the Favour of the Lord Arundel of Trerice, to whom he was Chaplain; but left it again in 1662, and returned into Cornwall.

MAY, JOSEPH, . St. Neot, V, And St. Auſtell, V. The Two worth 200 l. a Year. . . . }

He was ſucceeded in one of the Livings on the Sequeſtration, by one Bond; but the Plague happening to come into the Pariſh ſome time after, Bond fled, and got to Maugan-Meneage, another Sequeſtred Living in this County: Upon which, Mr. May re-aſſumes the Care of the Pariſh, and continued to diſcharge all the Offices of it throughout the whole time of the Sickneſs: During which, the Plague came not nigh his Dwelling ſo as to Enter: For tho' it raged all around him, yet not one of his Family had it. As ſoon as the Sickneſs was over, Mr. May was again Turned out; but whether by Bond, or by Mr. Machin, whom I find at St. Neot during ſome Part of the Confuſions, or by another Perſon, I know not.

He hath a Sermon ex. tant, called Epaphras.

MANNATON, ——, . Pinnock, R.

MILL, ——, . Roch, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

MITCHEL, RALPH, A. M. Padſtow, V.

He was one of the firſt who was Sequeſtred in this County; and ſuffered, ſaith my Information, as much as poſſible. He lived to be Reſtored, died in 1670, and was an Innocent Good Man, and much eſteemed.

CUMBERLAND.

MILBOURN, LEONARD, . Skelton, R.

See the Church of St. David.

MORLAND, WILLIAM, A. M. Grayſtock, R. worth 300*l.* a Year.

He had been Bred at Jeſus-College in Cambridge, and was Sequeſtred from this Living in the Year 1650. He had no Fifths paid him; but lived to Enjoy the Whole again at the Reſtoration. He was firſt ſucceeded by one Weſt, who died in about Two Years time. After him came Dr. Gilpin, who delivered it up to Mr. Morland again upon his Majeſty's Return.

DERBYSHIRE.

——, ——, . Melbourn, V.

See St. Mary's in Bury St. Edmond's in this ſame Letter, under the County of Suffolk.

A Gentleman who was once Vicar of this Place, and afterwards Rector of St. Mary's in Bury St. Edmond's, Suffolk, did either in One or the Other of thoſe Livings, ſucceed a Sequeſtred Miniſter, whoſe Name I cannot yet recover. But this is certain, that the Suffrage was either Vicar of this Place, or elſe Rector of St. Mary's in Bury St. Edmond's.

DEVONSHIRE.

Whether he then held this Living by Inſtitution and Induction, or as the Cuſtom hath ſince been for the ſmaller Livings in this City, by Sequeſtration from the Biſhop only, I do not know.

MARCH, RICHARD, . St. Mary Steps, R. in Exon.

See Mr. Richard Hall before mentioned in this County.

MERVIN, RICHARD, B. D. Okehampton, V.

See the Cathedral-Church of Exeter.

MILLER, WILLIAM, A. M. Chriſtow, V.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd on the Ordinance againſt Pluralities; but was permitted to keep his other Living, which was that of Willan in this County. After the Reſtoration, he was again Poſſeſſed of Chriſtow.

MONK, NICHOLAS, A. M. Plymtree, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 1100.

He was Third Son of Sir Thomas Monk of Potheridge in this County, and Brother to the Renowned General of this Name. He was Educated at Wadham-College in Oxford, and after he had entred into Holy Orders, was, as Wood ſaith, (who did not know the Name of his Living) * Beneficed in his own County, and ſuffered in the time of the Rebellion, as other Loyaliſts did: Inſomuch that when he was Created D. D. at Oxford in the Year 1660, his Majeſty in his † Letters to the Univerſity, for that purpoſe, declared himſelf well aſſured of Mr. Monk's Particular and Eminent Sufferings for Himſelf and the Church, during the Late Diſtractions.

* One would be apt to think from Wood, that he had been Beneficed before the Breaking out of the Rebellion; but if ſo, it muſt have been at ſome other Place. For of the Confuſions, or ſome other Accident did not prevent the Regular Entry of his Admiſſion, as I preſume they did not, he was not Poſſeſſed of this Living till after the Year 1646: For the laſt Regular Incumbent whom I meet withupon the Biſhop's Regiſter, before the Aboliſhing of Epiſcopacy, was T. TAINE, A. M. whom ſee in this County: So that Mr. Monk muſt be a ſecond Sufferer in the Living. † Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811.

However, theſe Sufferings were in ſome meaſure alleviated by his being permitted to keep a ſmall Cure, under the Umbrage and Covert of the General's Intereſt; and at length, towards the End of the Uſurpation, to have the Rich Living of Kilkhampton in Cornwall; which was beſtowed on him by his Kinſman Sir John Granville, afterwards Earl of Bath, who had then an Eye on the General in Scotland, and who afterwards, in Conjunction with ſome other Gentlemen in the Weſt, employed Mr. Monk to Negotiate the Buſineſs of his Majeſty's Reſtoration with him: Of which I need ſay no more in this Place; becauſe it is ſo very well known to every body. 'Tis ſaid alſo, that Mr. Monk was Perſecuted by the Tryers. Whether they had put him by any other Living, or had kept him as long as they could, out of Kilkhampton, I cannot tell; but it is certain, that at laſt, by the Intereſt of his Brother, he was ſettled in that Benefice. In 1660, he was made Provoſt of Eton, and the ſame Year promoted to the Biſhoprick of Hereford; which he enjoyed but a very little while, dying Dec. 17, 1661. The Noble Earl of Clarendon ſaith, that 'thro' all the ill Times he carried 'himſelf with ſingular Integrity, and was in 'great Reputation with all thoſe who conſtantly 'adhered to the King.

Vol. III p. 181, 182.

MORE, DANIEL, . Exmiſter, R.

He was alſo Plundered, and forced to Fly, it may be, for his Life, at leaſt, for his Liberty. He had at that time a Wife and Three Children; for the Support of whom he was forced to take a ſmall Farm of Ten Pounds a Year in Cornwall, which, with the Charity of the Neighbouring Gentry, was but juſt enough to keep Life and Soul together. His poor Wife ſunk under the Burthen of her Miſfortunes, which broke her Heart. He hath a Son now living in Exeter, who is a Joyner, and was about nine or ten Years of Age at the time when his Father Rented the Farm; to Manure which, he ſaith, he often drove the Sand Horſes. He is the Perſon from whom I have this Account of his Father's Sufferings.

DORSETSHIRE.

——, ——, . Over-Moyne, R.

See the Abridgement, p. 298.

Mr. Treyle, who was in Poſſeſſion of this Rectory at the Reſtoration, is occaſionally mentioned in ſome Informations which I have received, called an Intruder, and ſaid to be Diſpoſſeſſed of it upon the King's Return. Which ſeems to intimate that this was a Sequeſtred Living. But quære further. Unleſs Mr. Treyle be called an Intruder, becauſe the Patronage of this Living might belong to another Perſon than him from whom Mr. Treyle had it: Which however, after the Miniſters Act, was not a ſufficient Reaſon to Diſpoſſeſs him.

See Mr. John Thornborough in Wiltſhire.

DURHAM.

Digitized by Google

DURHAM.

Unless there be some mistake in transcribing Mouhon for Machin (which is not very likely) then Mr. Mouhon and Mr. Machin must have successively Possessed, and Lost this Master-ship. And it was no uncommon thing in those times, to have two Sufferers in one and the same Preferment. Which of those might first be Sequestred, I cannot guess.

MACHIN, ——, . The Master-ship of Shurbourn-Hospital, . . . And Another Living somewhere in this Diocese. . . . . .

He had a Temporal Estate in Staffordshire, which was likewise put under Sequestration. He was a Person of a most excellent Conversation.

One of both those Names, then B. D. was admitted to the Vicaridge of Christ-Church in London in 1611, and Resigned it in 1617. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 330.

MARSHAL, HAMLET, D. D. Houghton in the Spring, . worth 400 l. a Year.

His Temporal Estate, also was put under Sequestration, for which he Compounded at 146 l.

MAXTON, ANTH. A.M. Walsingham, R. . . . . And Middleton in Tendale, R. worth 270 l. a Year. . . . . .

See the Church of Durham.

MOORCROFT, EDWARD, A.M. Hesleden, V.

MOUHON, JOHN, A.M. The Mastership of Shurborn-Hospital, worth 400 l. a Year.

ESSEX.

* That this, was the Living which he Lost, is only a Conjecture; therefore quere further.

MARSHAL, THOMAS, . * Finchenfield, .

After his Sequestration, he retired to the small Vicaridge of Weston in Herefordshire, (but whether he enjoyed the Profits of it or not, I am not Inform'd) where he continued to Read the Common-Prayer, and Preach, until the time of his Death; which happen'd before the Restoration. He was a very considerable Man; and 'twas thought that if he had Lived to see the Return of his Majesty, he would have been promoted to some great Station in the Church. He left a Widow and four Children in a poor Condition ——, ——, . Marston, R.

MEIGHEN, ——, . Much-Braxted, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He was also taken out of his House by the Mobb, and carried away Prisoner; and his Wife and Children were turned out of Doors. Mr. Meighen afterwards obtained his Liberty, and lived privately, upon the Charity of his Friends; for the small remainder of his Life, which was about three Years after his Sequestration. He had four Sons and several Daughters; two of the former were grown up and placed out to Trades in London, the other two were forced to follow the Plough. He was succeeded by one Lowry a Scot.

MERIDITH, JOHN, D. D. Stanford-Rivers, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

See Eton-College.

MICHAELSON, JOHN, D. D. Chelmsford, R.

When the House of Commons, in the Year 1641, had published the Order for taking away all scandalous Pictures out of Churches, the Godly Reformers in this Town, did in great measure deface the Large and Beautiful Church belonging to it; and more particularly, the Mobb in a Riotous manner, with long Poles and Stones, beat down the fair and large Window at the East End of the Church: Whereupon Dr. Michaelson thought it his Duty the next Sunday, to Inveigh against popular, tumultuous Reformations; as well because they were destitute of a lawful Authority, as because they generally ran into Extreams, and most commonly abolish'd Superstition by Sedition. This so much Incens'd the Sectaries and Factious People of the Town, that they threatned the Doctor to Ruin him, if he Preached any more on that Subject. And that he might be convinced they were in Earnest with him, 'there was a Car-'bine discharged at a Window of that Room 'where the Doctor's usual Abode was; the Bul-'let pass'd through the Place, and in all probabi-'lity had slain him, had not the Good Provi-'dence of God (without which a Sparrow falls 'not to the Ground) diverted him, unexpected-'ly, from a Business before known to be ap-'pointed for that Place and Hour. About a Fortnight after the Rabble got together again, came into the Church immediately after Divine Service, laid violent hands upon the Doctor, took him by the Throat, and would have torn his Surplice off his Back; and had not some of his Parishioners prevented it, would in all probability, have endangered his Life. However the Parishioners, though they stopped the Hands of these Ruffians, were not able to stop the Mouths which were opened very wide against Dr. Michaelson, in the usual Language of Baal's Priest, Popish Priest, and such other Calumnies as they could think of. After this they disturbed both the Doctor and his Curate, several times while they were performing Divine Service, and Even Administring the Sacrament. But a great part of the Town befriending Dr. Michaelson, they could not have their full purpose upon him, until some Forces which were Raised for the Service of the Parliament, took up their Head Quarters at Chelmsford; when the Soldiers instigated by the Sectaries of the Town, used his House as their Quarters, consumed his Provisions for his Family, and committed several Outrages upon him. In the first place, they Commanded him not to Pray for the Bishops, nor to use the Book of Common-Prayer: But the Doctor having the Courage to make light of all their Threatenings, orders his Curate to read the Prayers as before; whereupon they Sate with their Hats on in the Church, made a Noise to drown the Curate's Voice, call'd out aloud to him to come out of his Calves-Coop, and make an End of his Pottage: After which they seized the Bible, and were going to tear it in Pieces; but being prevented, they Exchanged it for the Common-Prayer-Book, which they carried through the Street in Triumph; and at last tore out the Leaves of

Mem. Rush. p. 222, &c

of it; some of which they trode under their Feet, some they Pift upon, and others they fixt upon the Tops of their Clubbs; and in that manner Marched through the Town with them. At another time when the Doctor was in the Chancel to Inter a Corps, a Party of them rush'd into the Church, with an Intent to have buried him alive in the same Grave, because he made use of the Office in the Common-Prayer-Book; and had he not been rescued by some of his Parishioners, they would, as far as I can perceive, have effected their Purpose. And once again, 'when the 'glad Tydings were brought to Chelmsford, that 'a Episcopacy was Voted down by the House of 'Commons, all usual Expressions of an exulting 'Joy were us'd; among the rest, Bonfires were 'kindled in every Street; but most of the Fuel 'was violently taken from the Doctor's Wood-yard: 'And now the Pile tailed, and the Fire kindled, 'they want nothing but a Sacrifice; this they 'resolve shall be the Doctor himself. To this 'purpose the Separatists of the Town, assisted by 'two Companies of Soldiers, in the Evening 'Assault him in his House, seize upon his Person, and are ready to carry him to the Fire, 'there to throw him Head-long into the midst 'of it; but some of his Friends having Informati- 'on of the Design, go and acquaint the Command- 'ers with the Bloody Intentions of their Soldiers, 'who presently take a Guard and Rescue the 'Doctor out of their Power, as soon as ever they 'had seized on him. By these and such other like Methods they worried him, at length out of the Living, forced him to forsake his Charge (as many other Ministers did on the same Account) and fly for his Life; leaving his Wife and Eight Children to the mercy of the Rebels; who despis'd his Family of all their Livelihood, and exposed them to extream Want. Nor were they content with that only, but several times broke violently into the House to search for him, presenting their 'Pistols cock't, and their 'Swords drawn, at the Breast, of his Children 'and Servants, in order to Extort from them a Confession where the Doctor was. And at last to compleat their Ruin, turned them all out of Doors. In whose House they sheltered themselves afterwards, I know not; but I find that Mrs. Michaelson did not presently leave the Town, as is very well remembred by this Circumstance; That the Doctor coming by stealth to visit her some time after he had been driven from the Living, was by some means or other Discovered, immediately seized upon, and clapt into the County-House of Correction. About what time this happened I know not; but the Doctor was put under a formal Sentence of Sequestration, by the House of Commons, in the Year 1643; at which time Mark Motte, was by the same Authority, thrust into the Living; who for a long time after declaim'd from the Pulpit upon that Common Thesis of the Times, Curse ye Meroz: And once during his abode there, some of his Congregation, out of their great Condescension to render Conscience, went to a Meeting of the Brownists held at Chelmsford, pulled them out by the Ears, brought them to the Church under a Guard, and there forced them to serve God in Mr. Motte's way. Dr. Michaelson's Family, after his Ejectment, partly by the Help and Charity of their Friends and Relations, and partly by their own Industry, got a mean and contented Livelihood, till the happy Restoration: At which time the Doctor was re-possels'd of his Living, had also that of * Orset in this County, and died in the Year 1674. I cannot forbear adding, that before the Calling of the Rebel-Parliament, there was not in this great Town, one to be named, either Man or Woman, who Joggled at the Common-Prayer, or refused to Receive the Sacrament kneeling; but within three Years after the Blessed Reformation was set on Foot, the Town was so filled with Sectaries, especially Brownists and Anabaptists, that a third part of them refused to Communicate in the Liturgy, and the one Half of them to Receive the Sacrament in that Reverend Posture which the Church hath appointed: Nor could it be otherwise expected, when by that time the Town was Governed by a Tinker, two Cobblers, two Taylors, two Peddlers, &c.

Which Interprets the meaning of that frequent Accusation against the Clergy, so often met with in the Century, that they had deserted their Cures.

I remember the Confirming Non Conformist, in his Pica, declaims much in it as an unheard of Piece of Barbarity, that one of the Ejected Ministers found he four in the House of Correction. I am apt to think, had he known this Piece of Dr. Michaelson's Usage, from thence which he pleads for, he would scarce have set it forth as such an Outragious Piece of Inhumanity.

* Quære if he had not this Living during some part of the Usurpation, and might not be Sequestred from thence (becaufe if so, he must have returned it, as I judge, after Mr Silcs (whom for in this County) had been dispossessed of it, and possibly was dead.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

MAIDWELL, ——, Weston, worth 200 l. a Year.

He was succeeded by one Cooper.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

MORRIS, RICE, A. M. Oche - Prichard, V.

He had been Fellow of Jesus-College in Oxford, was pulled out of his Pulpit by the Soldiers, and his Wife and Children were Turned out of Doors. He lived to Re-possess his Vicaridge after the Restoration, and died in the Year 1676. He was an Excellent Critick.

He after-wards got the Free School in Hereford, which he was permitted to keep.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

MONTFORT, JAMES, D. D. Tewing, R.

He was Brother to Dr. John Montford, next mentioned, and succeeded his Father Dr. Thomas Montfort, in this Living. He is also put into the Century to keep his Brother Company, and there Charged with the notorious Crimes of paying Obedience to the Rules and Orders of the Church, Preaching up Passive Obedience, Inveighing against the Rebellion, and Refusing to Assist in it. He was Turned out by the House of Commons, about July 1643; who at the same time thrust one Dixie into the Living.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 702.

P. 10.

No James Montfort occurs among the Rectors of this Living in Sir Henry Chancy's Antiq. but one John Montfort is there mentioned, and said to be Doctor of Laws. 'Tis more than probable, that John Montfort is there mistaken for James Montfort, who, 'tis plain, both from Wood, and the Century, was some time Rector of this Living, and if so, then I believe this James Montfort was not D. D. as is aforesaid, but L. L. D. However, quære further Chanc Antiq. p. 276.

MONTFORT, JOHN, D. D. Anstie, R.
And
Therfield, R. . . . . }

See St. Paul's Cathedral.

Newc. Rep Eccles Vol. I. p. 797.

HUN-

Digitized by Google

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

KENT.

* Tr. ſaid, the Stipend and Benefice of John Man, Curate of the Parish Ch. of Stroode, &c. is ſequeſtred. Quere of what nature this Curacy is, and whether it be not Equivalent to a Place with Inſtitution and Induction. If not, he muſt be Struck out here, and inſerted in the Appendix.

MAN, JOHN, . * Stroode near Rochester, .

He is one of White's Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts; and is charged in the Century (p. 24.) with being a Common Drunkard, and a Common Swearer: And what is worſe, (and I am apt to think, truer) than both theſe, with having ſaid, that he ſcorned the Parliament, and that the Parliament-Men were not Gentlemen of Quality.

MAY, GEORGE, . Willesborough, V.

One George May, A. M. was admitted to the Rectory of St. Dionis Back Church in London, in 1665. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 332.

——, ——, . * Mongham Parva, R.

* See the Note at Abbertun in Suſſex, under the Letter A.

MILLINGTON, JOHN, . Offpring, V.

He was Turned out about the Year 1643, by the Houſe of Commons; who at the ſame time put one Tait. C——, into the Living.

LANCASHIRE.

MORTON, ——, D. D. Seſton, R. See the Cathedral of Cheſter.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

MERIDITH, JOHN, D. D. The Maſterſhip of Wigſton's Hoſpital in Leiceſter.

See Eton-College.

Gave Jonathan Clay got this Living in 1655.

MOULD, ABRAHAM, A. M. Appleby, R.

He was alſo much Harraſſed, and put to great Expence by the Committees. He had the Adowſon of the Living likewiſe; and, if I miſtake not, was deprived of that Right alſo.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

MICHEL, BARTHOLOMEW, . Wellbourn, R.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, about the Year 1644, for Abſenting himſelf when the Parliament Forces were there, and Returning to gather his Dues when the King's Forces came; which is the Whole of his Charge; and in plain Words, amounts to thus much, That he had Fled for his Life, and Returned for his Livelihood.

MIDDLESEX.

MUFFET, WILLIAM, A. M. Edmonton, V. .

He was admitted to this Living Oct. 5, 1631, and Diſpoſſeſſed of it again about the Beginning of the Rebellion, for being, ſaith the Century, a Common Swearer, Curſer, Blaſphemer, Quarreller, and Drunkard: To which muſt be added this pleaſant Part of his Charge, That in his Quarrelſome Humour he did not ſpare even his Majeſty's Officers; and yet 'tis ſubjoyned, that he had expreſſed Great Malignancy againſt the Parliament. He was Reſtored in 1660, and died Poſſeſſed of this Living in 1679.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 600. P. 208

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

MADOCKS, THOMAS, . Marshfield, V.

A Gentleman of both theſe Names was Turned out of St. Lythan's in Glamorganſhire. Quere if he was the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Thomas Madocks.

MAPP, JOHN, . Landgome, V.

He was Sequeſtred for Drunkenneſs, by the Commiſſioners for Propagating the Goſpel, &c.

——, ——, . Mamblad, . See Llanouor under the Letter L, in this County.

See the Note at Abergwyley.

MORGAN, ——, . Magor, V.

Unleſs there are Two Livings of this Name in this County, there muſt have been Two Sufferers in this Vicaridge. See Mr. Jones before.

MORGAN, WILL. . . St. Bride's, R. and Lendevinin, .

I take theſe Places to be ſome way or other joyned, and not diſtinct Livings.

He was Sequeſtred before 1649.

MORRIS, MORGAN, . Wanſtow, R.

Or Winſtow.

He was Diſmiſſed by the Propagators, for Drunkenneſs and Inſufficiency.

NORFOLK.

In 1654, one Rich. Laurence succeeded to both these Places.

MERYWEATHER, ——— ,
Stratton St. Michael, R. . . . .
And Tasborough, R. . . . . .

He had then a Wife and Six Children; and I have some grounds to make it a Quære, whether he did not lose a Temporal Estate of 50 l. per Annum.

MOOR, JOHN, . Wroston, R.

MORTON, WILLIAM, . West-Lexham, R.
And
Rougham, V. . . . . .

It may be, these Places are Annexed. Quære. In 1654, one John Jequis succeeded to both of them.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

MALYN, JOHN, . Crick, R. He had before been Turned out of a Living in Ireland, by the Rebels there. His Family on his Death, were reduced to such Poverty, that his Widow was at length forced to beg the charitable Relief of the Corporation for Ministers Widows; and was accordingly supported by them.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

MALLORY, JOHN, . Felton, V.
His Temporal Estate also was declared Forfeited for Treason, by an Act of Nov. 28, 1652. I take Felton, the Place by which he is described in the Act, to be the Vicaridge of that Name in this County: And supposing it to be his own Living, I take it for granted, that he must have been Sequestred from it, since he was afterwards declared a Traytor. However, quære.

Book Coll. Part II. p. 215.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

I find the Estate of one Marmaduke More, who is said to be of Ordsal in this County, declared forfeited for Treason, by an Act. of Nov. 28, 1652. Most probably Ordsal there mentioned, is the Rectory of that Name in that County, and not the Living of that Marmaduke More: And since he was declared a Traytor, there is no Doubt but he was Sequestred from it. I take him to have been the same Person with this Dr. More: If not, he ought to be entered in a Distinct Article; altho' he is not called Doctor in that Act: For it may be, he became so afterwards. Book Collect. Part II. p. 215.

MORE, ——— , D. D. ———— .
He was Sequestred for Three times Playing at Cards with his own Wife.

OXFORDSHIRE.

MAYNE, JASPER, D.D. Cassington, V.
And Pyrton, V. . . . . .

See Christ-Church in Oxford.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

MASON, THOMAS, A. M. Ashwell, R.
He was also Imprisoned, Plundered, and otherwise Barbarously used. Two of his Imprisonments were at Nottingham, for Reading the Common-Prayer in Private Families. He took up Arms for his Majesty, Commanded an Independent Company at Belvoire-Castle, and conducted his Majesty from Newark to Banbury. He had no Fifths paid him.

SALOP.

MARTIN, ISAAC, . Bolas, R.
He was Turned out for Refusing the Covenant, and succeeded by one Bury, a Taylor.

MEASE, PETER, . Culmington, R.
He was Sequestred in the Year 1647, and died before the Restoration. His first Successor on the Sequestration, was one Horn; but he, 'tis said, sold it afterwards for a Year's Value, to one Meaſe, who Quitted it on the News of the King's Return. Mr. Meaſe was an Eminent Person for his Learning.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

MARKES, ROBERT, D. D.
South-Petherton, V. . . . . .
And Merriot, V. . . . . .

See Bristol-Cathedral. One Benjamin Dukes got Petherton in 1654.

MASTERS, HENRY, . Creech, V.
After his Sequestration, he lived in a poor Cottage, where his Wife died: And thereupon he removed, and set up a small School; but was soon forbid to get his Bread in that way. After which, he was driven to such Necessities, that he not only wanted Clothes, but having married again, his Second Wife, and one Child, were starved; as he himself must have been likewise, had not one Mr. Martin relieved him: For a Great Man in the Neighbourhood, would not suffer any of those who succeeded him, to pay him the Fifths. Only Mr. Bat, who was the Last of them, once gave him a Suit of Clothes. Mr. Masters lived to be Restored.

———,

Digitized by Google

MUSGROVE, ——, . ——, .
And
——, . Both somewhere in this County. . . . . .

After his Sequestration, he supported himself at the Poor Curacy of Frithelstock in the County of Devon, where he continued till the Restoration, and then Returned to his Livings.

North-Petherton, V. . . . . .

See the Cathedral-Church of Wells.

SUFFOLK.

——, ——, . St. Mary's in St. Edmondsbury, R.

See the Note at Melbourn, V. under this Letter, in Derbyshire.

MASON, ——, . * Stanmi-field, . * Probably Stoning-field, R.

MATTHEWS, ——, . Ewe-ston, .

MAYOR, EDMOND, . Finningham, R.

He was Turned out July 8, 1644, for Preaching but once a Day, and then Reading his Sermons; for saying, As sure as that was Bread, the King

Digitized by Google

King had all this while the Better of it; Praying God likewiſe to Increaſe his Majeſty's Forces; for threatening to proſecute ſome Troopers for Felony, who had only Taken (as they term it) that is in plain Words, had Stolen his Horſe; for Reviling likewiſe to Contribute towards the Rebellion; for Ridiculing Sir Nath. Barnadiſton, and ſaying, that all the Speech he made, was, Sirs, ſhut the Doors, leſt we get cold: And after ſuch heinous Crimes as theſe! we may reckon them Moderate, in adding no further Accuſation againſt him, than being Diſguiſed with Drink. Quere alſo if he did not loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 30 l. a Year.

The Perſon who had feed Mr. White ſo largely, was the then noted Mr. Lea, who ſucceeded accordingly in Charlewood; but being Poſſeſſed of Three or Four other Rich Livings, which he had procured to be Sequeſtrated, he Reſigned Charlewood; however, it was to his own Son. Mr. Mulcaſter, after his Sequeſtration, kept a School at Mitcham in this County; but he was continually Harraſſed and Perplexed by the Soldiers, and many a time in Danger of his Life.

SURREY.

MEGGS, JAMES, A. M. Newington-Butts, R.

See him among the London-Clergy.

MIDDLETON, ———, D. D. Nutfield, R.

He was alſo Impriſoned. The Widow of one Dr. William Middleton, a Sequeſtred Divine, preferred a Petition to the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, wherein ſhe ſets forth the Sufferings of her Husband in this manner: That he had not only been Sequeſtred, but was likewiſe Impriſoned four Years; and by hard and ſevere Uſage, ſoon after his Releaſement, died. The Living which he loſt, is not there mentioned; but I judge him to have been the Jame Perſon with this Dr. Middleton of Nutfield: If not, he ought to have a ſeparate and diſtinct Place in this Liſt.

MULCASTER, THOMAS, Charlewood, R.

In 1644. He was Articled againſt by Five or Six of the very Scum of his Pariſh, at the Inſtigation and Encouragement of one who had got a Commiſſion to be a Colonel in thoſe Times. Whereupon he was Cited before the Committee (either for Religion, or for Plundered Miniſters, as I conjecture:) And moſt of the Surrey Members attending, he would undoubtedly have been Acquitted, had not Mr. * White (who was in the Chair) played him a Trick, and Artfully deferred the Queſtion for that time, pretending that it would be more for Mr. Mulcaſter's Honour to be Acquitted, as he doubted not but he would, by the Whole Houſe. This was on Saturday; but Monday Morning Mr. White was the Earlieſt Riſer; and getting the Buſineſs moved betimes in a Thin Houſe, before the Surrey Gentlemen were come to it, had the Queſtion put, and the Vote carried for Mr. Mulcaſter's Sequeſtration. Upon this, Mr. Mulcaſter goes to him the next Morning, and proffers him 100 Pieces of Gold to get him Reſtored; and White alledging that it was not in his Power, Mr. Mulcaſter boldly told him, You, who got me out for 60 Pieces of Gold yeſterday, can doubtleſs get me in again for 100, to day; and withal proteſted ſolemnly, that he would detect his Bribery, and bring it before the Houſe. At which Mr. White was ſo much ſtruck, that he kept his Chamber, and the † Gentleman who ſends me this Account, thinks, he was never out of it afterwards.

* The Publiſher of the ſecretary.

† Who hath alſo many times heard Mr Mulcaſter relate the Whole Story.

I find Mr White died that Year, which was 1644. Newes London, p. 378.

SUSSEX.

MARSH, JAMES, D. D. Cockfield, V.
See Chicheſter-Cathedral.

———, ———; * Marſton, R.

One John Dunſtall ſucceeded to this Living in 1657.

* Unleſs it be the ſame with Weſt-meſton: Which ſee at Mr. Barton in this County

MILES, GEORGE, Worth, R.
Valued at 120*l.* a Year; but I have reaſon to think, it is much better.

One Eſdras Coxall ſucceeded for ſome time at leaſt. 'Tis ſaid he paid the Fifths to Mr. Miles.

MATTOCK, WALTER, Slorrington, R.

His Charge in the Century (where he makes one) is that of a Common Swearer, Drunkard, and Gameſter; finiſhed by the Enormities of Obſerving thoſe Rules and Injunctions which the Church had Enjoyned him; Speaking againſt Preaching Twice a Day; Countenancing the Book of Sports; Aſſiſting his Majeſty, and Oppoſing the Parliament. P. 35.

WARWICKSHIRE.

MANSELL, EDWARD, D. D. Aſtoe, R.

He was Born at Cropredy in Oxfordſhire, Educated at Emanuel-College in Cambridge; and having been Chaplain to the Lord Leigh, afterwards had this Living, and was at length made Chaplain to his Majeſty, whom he attended in his Marches, and particularly at Oxford; where, as he walked out one Day, he was taken Priſoner by one of the Enemy's Parties, carried to Abingdon, and died there under his Impriſonment.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

MARSH, SAMUEL, D. D. Patney, R.
See the Church of Salisbury.

MILLER,

Digitized by Google

* This I take to be too Living which to it.

MILLER, WOOLSTONE, . Barwick*, .

He was alſo Plundered, and driven from his Wife and ſeven Children, whom he left in a very deplorable Condition. Some of the Children were afterwards ſupported by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

MORLEY, GEORGE, D. D. Mildenhall, R.

See Chriſt-Church in Oxford.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

* He was certainly Sequeſtred ſomewhere; and I ſuſpect not, this was his Living.

MASTERS, BENJAMIN, B. D. Flyford*, R.

He was a Man Eminent for Piety and Learning. His Widow was after his Death, beholden to the Charity of the Corporation ſo often mentioned, for her Subſiſtence.

MOSELEY, JOHN, . Whitlady-Aſton, .

But quære further.

See the Abridgment, p. 344.

If I do not miſtake ſome very Short and Imperfect Notices which I have received, this Gentleman was Sequeſtred from this Living: And if ſo, he had for one of his Succeſſors (if there were more than one) Mr. Robert Brown.

YORKSHIRE.

MANBY, JOHN, D. D. Middleton on the Wolds, .

See him in Cambridgeſhire.

MANUEL, ——, . Berrythorp, R.

He was a Neighbour of Mr. Lucock, before mentioned; whoſe Daughter alſo remembers that this, and two others of his Father's Neighbours and great Acquaintance, Dr. Sandelin of Buttercumb, or Houſham, and Mr. Cooper of Fridaythorp, were Turned out, as well as her Father.

MARSH, RICH. . Halifax, V.
Briſtal, V. . . . . .
And
Bourſon, V. . . . . :

See the Cathedral-Church of York.

See the Note at Dr Boyle, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

MASON, SIMON, . ——, .

I cannot learn the Name of his Living; but I take it to have been in this County. His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; for which he Compounded at 48 l. Yet quære if he were not one of thoſe other Maſons who are mentioned in this Liſt, without any Chriſtian Name.

MOOR, ——, . The *Lecture*ſhip at Leeds.

I take this to be Equivalent with a Place held by Inſtitution and Induction. If not, Mr. Moor muſt be diſcounted from this Liſt, and put in the Appendix.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

MORGAN, JOSIAS, A. M. Vaynor, R.

After his Ejectment, the Rectory lay Vacant for ſome time, till at length one Reynald Morgan, a Miller, by an Order, even of the Commiſſioners for Propagation, Entitles himſelf Preſent Incumbent; tho' not Reſident, but living in Monmouthſhire.

CARDIGAN.

MERIDITH, WILLIAM, . Sillian, V.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Drunkenneſs, and uſing the Common-Prayer.

MERIDITH, RICE, . Llanveda, V.

He was Ejected by the ſame Commiſſioners, for Drunkenneſs, and keeping a Common Alehouſe.

MORGAN, GRIFFITH, . Bangor, R. and Henlan, .

The Propagators diſmiſſed him likewiſe, for Inſufficiency, Drunkenneſs, and Delinquency.

CAERMARTHEN.

MAYLARD, WILLIAM, : Pembrey, V.

But quære whether Mr. Maylard was any other than the Curate here.

——, ——, . Maynoyſchood, :

See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

CAERNARVAN.

DENBEIGH.

MAURICE, OLIVER, . Llanbedar, R.

Lloyd, Mem. P. 570. He was likewiſe a very great Sufferer in other kinds. See Weaver's Poems, for ſome of the Sufferings of his Family.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

See a Note at one of both theſe Names in Monmouthſhire. MADDOCKS, THOMAS, . St. Lythan's, V.

He had a great Family, and was with much Difficulty, allowed the Fifths to ſupport them for ſome Years; but at length they were detain'd from him, as they were from moſt of the Clergy of theſe Parts. However, he out-lived the Uſurpation, and enjoyed the Whole for ſome few Years after.

——, ——, . Merthyr-Mawr, . See the Note at Abergwyley.

MORGAN, THOMAS, . Landough by Cowbridge, V. And Colwinſton, ... ;

He was Turned out of the Former (and as I preſume, of the Latter of theſe Livings alſo) ſome time before the Year 1649, for his Obſtinacy, as they called it, that is, his Loyalty. He had a great Family to maintain; and was forc'd to live on a Small Pittance which he had at Lancarvan in the Right of his Wife; whither his Troubles followed him, his Horſes and Cattle being Seized, and himſelf continually Harraſſed and Oppreſſed. Nor had he, as far as I can learn, any Fifths from either of his Livings; neither was either of them Supplied but ſeldom, even ſo much as by the Hackney Itinerants. He lived to Enjoy his Preferments again many Years after the Reſtoration, and was a Learned Man.

MORGAN, THOMAS, . St. Donats, .

This is a different Place from Welch St. Donats. He alſo was Turned out before 1649. But quere if he was the ſame Perſon with him who immediately precedes.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

MAURR, ——, . Comes, R. In 1654, one Henry Parry got this Living.

PEMBROKE.

——, ——, . Mamendine, R.

——, ——, . St. Mary's and Michael in Pembroke, .

MASON, EDWARD, . Marlbery and * Granſtone, V. * Or Granſton.

He was Sequeſtred likewiſe by the Propagators; and one, or both of theſe Places (if at leaſt they are not Annexed) lay wholly Void for Nine Years after. He was the Second Miniſter Sequeſtred from this Living. The Firſt was Mr. Owen, in 1645: Whom ſee afterwards.

MERRICK, WILLIAM, . Llanicheth, .

He was Ejected for Keeping an Alehouſe.

MIDDLETON, THOMAS, . Llangum, V.

I find he was a Pluraliſt; but what his other Living, or Livings were; or whether he loſt it, or them likewiſe, I know not.

MILES, HENRY, . Dinas, . He was Turned out for Inſufficiency.

MORGAN, THOMAS, . Roch, V. He was Turned out by the Commiſſioners for Propagation; and the Crime they alledged againſt him, was Drunkenneſs.

——, ——, . Meſſgrove, . For This, and the Two firſt Livings in this County, ſee the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

MOUNTFORT, JOHN, . Marlebury, V.

He was Deprived by the Commiſſioners for Propagation, for Drunkenneſs. The Place lay Vacant after his Sequeſtration, to the time of his Majeſty's Return.

MOUNTFORT, JOHN, . Llandſoy, V.

He was Sequeſtred in 1650. Quere if he be the ſame Perſon with that John Mountfort next above mentioned.

RAD-

RADNOR.

Or Aberdow. MELLON, HENRY, . Aberedh and Llanvareth, .

He was Sequestred by the Propagators, for being a Common Swearer, and adhering to the King.

* In this County, if I miſtake not. MORLY, ——, D. D. * Peunant, R. The ſingle Crime alledged againſt him, was Delinquency.

MANSEL, ——, . ——, . His Family was at the time of his Death, reduc'd to ſuch Poverty, that his Widow was at long h ſuſtained by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. I take him to have been a diff rent Perſon from Dr. Edward Manſel before mentioned in Warwickſhire. But quære.

See Dr Kennet's Caſe of Impropriations p. 117. MAPLETOFT, ——, . ——, . He was afterwards, for his Loyalty and Suffe-rings, promoted to the Sub-deanery of Lincoln; and was, whilſt Sub-dean, at leaſt D. D. But whether he was the ſame Perſon with either of thoſe before mentioned in Cambridgeſhire, quære.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 713. MASON, ——, . ——, . There was one of this Name Created D. D. at Oxford, in 1642, among ſeveral others of the Loyal and Suffering Clergy; and therefore 'tis probable, that he was himſelf a Sufferer ſomewhere or other. Wood is not certain whether he was the ſame Perſon with that Charles Maſon already mentioned at King's-College in Cambridge; or if he was not, I am altogether as uncertain whether he may not have been the ſame with ſome one of thoſe Maſons mentioned in the other Parts of this Liſt: Therefore quære.

See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 715. METELER, JOHN, . ——, . He was a Cambridge Man, and Created D. D. likewiſe at Oxford in the ſame Year, among the Suffering Royaliſts. See the ſame Note at Dr. Bowreman.

Ibid. p. 882. MICHEL, DAVID, . ——, . He was Born in the Shire of Merne, was Miniſter at Edinburgh, and in the time of the Covenant, forced to Fly from thence into England; where he enjoyed ſome Benefice during his † Exile. After his Majeſty's Reſtoration, he was made Prebendary of Weſtminſter, and in 1661, Created D. D. at Oxford. In the Chancellour's Letters for that purpoſe, it is ſaid, that from the Beginning of the Troubles, he had been a great Sufferer for the Cauſe of his Majeſty and the Church. In 1662, he was made Biſhop of Aberdeen, and died the Year after.

† Some Part of it, I preſume.

That he was Benefic'd in England, is plain; and that he had loſt his Living, which is the only Ground I have for his Sequeſtration: Therefore quære whether it be not further. ſeems to be intimated by what is here ſaid of his Sufferings

MOSSOM, ——, D. D. ——, . He is mentioned as a † Silenced, Plundered, and Perſecuted Miniſter, by Dr. Kenn, the late Pious Biſhop of Bath and Wells, in his Funeral Sermon for the Lady Marg. Maynard. I take him to have been the ſame Perſon with Dr. Robert Moſſom, who was afterwards Dean of Chriſt-Church in Dublin, and in 1666, was promoted to the See of Londonderry, where he died in 1679. What the Preferments were which (as ſeems probable) he loſt, I know not: But I gueſs, that tho' he afterwards happened to be Preferred in Ireland, yet what he was Poſſeſt of upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, muſt have been in England; becauſe in the Year 1662, I find him made Prebendary of Knaresborough in the Church of York. He was Author of the Preachers Triparrite.

† And therefore, as I gueſs, Sequeſtred. P. 32.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 431.

Ware's Contin. Hiſt. of Iriſh Bish. p. 52.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 448, 449.

* MOWSELL, ——, . ——, . His Widow was Relieved, among the other Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy, by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

* Unleſs I miſ-read it for Mandel laſt mentioned.

MYNNE, JOSHUA, . ——, . He was a Cambridge Man, and Created B. D. at Oxford in 1646. But as there were ſome of the Suffering Royaliſts Created at that time, ſo there were ſome of the Factious Scholars who had Degrees beſtowed upon them; and therefore it will demand a further Enquiry of which ſort Mr. Mynne was.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 737.

MYRIEL, HENRY, . ——, . He was likewiſe a Cambridge Man, Created B. D. at Oxford among other Loyal Sufferers, in 1642, and died there in the following Year. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

Ibid. p. 766.

N.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKSHIRE.

NIXON, JOSEPH, . Shefford-Magna, .

NIXON, RICHARD, . Chively, V.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

NICHOLSON, ——, . St. Juſt, R. CUM-

Digitized by Google

CUMBERLAND.

NICHOLSON, JOS. A. M. Plumland, R.

I am obliged to mention him, becauſe he was Actually turned out of this Living: But he afterwards, as I have heard, got a Better Living, viz. that of Sanmix; which he enjoyed during the whole Remainder of the Uſurpation.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

NATION, FRANCIS, A. M. Inwardly, R.

See him in the County of Somerſet.

See one John Newel at C. C. C. Oxon.

NEWEL, JOHN, . Combe-Martin, R.

He had only ſuch a Title to this Living, as the Times of Uſurpation could Afford him; and he obtained that Title not long before the Reſtoration; until which time he was debarred of that Right, but admitted to it upon the King's Return, and had afterwards another Living in this County, which he Enjoyed, together with this, until the time of his Death.

NEWTE, RICHARD, A. M. Tidcombe, R.
And
Clare, R. Portions of Tiverton.

Prov. Worth. of Devon. p. 476.

He was Born in Tiverton, and Educated at Exeter-College in Oxford, of which he became Fellow, and was afterwards a Noted Tutor in that Houſe, as likewiſe Chaplain to the Lord Digby. In 1641, he was Admitted to to theſe two rich Portions of his Native Place, where he continued a conſtant Preacher, for about two Years, by which time the Rebellion, and conſequently the Miſeries, and Deſolations of War, having ſpred themſelves over all the Kingdom, he reſolved to Travel; and having for that purpoſe, Obtained his Majeſty's Licence, and taken care to Subſtitute a Loyal and Learned Perſon in his Cures of Tiverton, he ſet out firſt for Holland, in Company of the Moſt Learned Dr. Pocock, Dr. Lockey, and ſome other very Learned Perſons of this Kingdom: from Holland they went to Flanders, and from thence to France, where Mr. Newte made a conſiderable Stay, met with ſeveral of the Engliſh Gentry and Clergy, who had fled thither from the Rebellion, and held ſeveral Diſputes with divers Roman Catholicks, concerning the great Corruptions and Innovations, of that Church. Once more particularly, it was his Lot to manage the Argument in Company of ſeveral Popiſh Prieſts and Gentlemen of that Communion; when acquitting himſelf with great Learning and Clearneſs of Argument, one of the Company told him, that they would give him an Anſwer if they met him at Rome; which afterwards diſappointed him of the Satisfaction of ſeeing that City. For when he was in Italy, within a Day's Journey of it, and juſt taking Coach to go thither, he ſaw two of thoſe very Gentlemen Riding towards it; whereupon not thinking it fafe to proceed, he returned, and in 1646, Arrived in England, where he was ſoon after Informed that the Parſonage-Houſe belonging to the Portion of Clare, and ſtanding in the Town of Tiverton, (together with four or five other Houſes, which, as Rector of that Portion, he had a power of Leaſing) were all by the Deſolations of the War, laid in Rubbiſh, and the very Materials of them carried away. He was alſo informed, that the Plague was then very hot in that Town. Notwithſtanding which he reſolved immediately to Repair thither, as he accordingly did; and continued to diſcharge all the Duties of his Function; Viſiting the Sick, Relieving the Poor, conſtantly Preaching throughout the whole Courſe of that Diſtemper; Firſt in the Church, and afterwards (when the Country People of his Pariſh Refuſed to come into the Town) at a place in the Fields which was provided for that Purpoſe. All this time God was pleaſed to preſerve him, amidſt many Thouſands which Periſhed, notwithſtanding he was ſo frequent in his Attendance on the Sick and Infected of the Town. I do not find that he met with any Diſturbance from the Godly, during the Rage of this Sickneſs; but his Troubles began ſoon after; and from thenceforward, he continually Suffered in the Revenues of his Living, had one Mr. Stukely thruſt upon him to ſupply half the Cure (whom they compell'd him to Hire at the Rate of a 100*l.* a Year) and was frequently Harraſſed before the Triers and Commiſſers of thoſe Times; not only at Tiverton, but at Plymouth and London alſo (the Trouble and Expenſiveneſs of which I need not obſerve to the Reader) until at length he was formally Diſpoſſeſſed of both his Rectories. I cannot exactly Account for the Order, and Event, of his ſeveral Appearances before thoſe Ravagers; but the * ſingle Crime I find Alledged againſt him, was that unpardonable One of Loyalty; a Malignancy (as it was then Etteemed as well as commonly Termed) much more Fatal and Deſtructive than the Plague juſt now mentioned. Mr. Newte had one ſurewd Symptom of this Malady upon him; which was, his having perſwaded a Perſon to take, what they then called the Cavaliers Oath. Beſides which Mr. Stukely, his Intruding Partner, and ſoon after his Succeſſor, Depoſed before the Committee, that he once met a Gentleman, who told him, that he heard another Gentleman ſay, that Mr. Newte when he was in France, did very much promote the King's Intereſt there. But the moſt material Allegation againſt him, was his having taken the Cavaliers Oath himſelf; which was, I believe, a very great Truth, but how well they might be able to Prove it, is another Queſtion, and cannot be determined, without knowing what Defence Mr. Newte made for himſelf. In the mean while this is ſure, that the Party took what Care they could, to prevent him from making any; Forcibly at this, or ſome other time of his Appearance before the Committee, a Godly Sifter of the Town, Took the Door upon her Husband, and would not ſuffer him to go out, when ſhe underſtood that he was to be an Evidence on Mr. Newte's behalf. And yet Mr. Newte had Attended this very Woman, at a time when no one elſe would Venture to do ſo, and who in the flood moſt in need of ſuch a Charitable Viſit; being not only Seized with the Plague, in the time of that Common Calamity, but under ſome Diſturbance of Mind alſo. Upon thoſe, and ſuch like Accuſations, the Committee of Devon (where Sitting at that time, I know not, but judge that it was at Tiverton) Proceeded to Sequeſter him May the 31ſt 1650, and Auguſt the 22d.

* Except that ſome of his Factious Parishioners, joyn'd with Common Cry of Falſe Doctrine a-gainſt him.

22d. following, Ratified the Sentence. After this, Mrs. Newte applied her Self to the Committee, to get an Order for the Fifths, Pursuant to the Ordinance provided in that behalf. This Order was accordingly Granted her, Dec. the 4th. 1650, but no Regard being had to it, upon her Complaint, the Committee Issued forth a second Order, bearing Date Apr. the 11th. 1651, but not to much better Effect than the Former. And possibly that which prevented it, was Mr. Newte's Refusing to give up the quiet Possession of his Livings to the Usurper. For in August 1651, he was again Summoned before the Committee, at Plymouth; and about this same time, I also find his Case before the Committee for Plundered Ministers, at London; whither he had himself Removed it, by the Interest and Affiltance of some Friends. But all in vain! for in 1652, the Sequestration was confirmed to Mr Stukeley, who had depofed the Hearfay before mentioned. However he had but very little Enjoyment of it, for Mr. Newte did not prefently Quit it, upon the Sentence in 1650; and about 1653, got poffeffion of it again: But the following Year, he was Turned out a Second time, and forced to give over all Hopes of ever Returning to it. In the mean time, as the Committees performed their Part, fo the Soldiers and the Rabble were not wanting to play theirs, and by all the Methods of Violence and Outrage which they could think of, Endeavoured to Worry him out of his Poffeffion as long as he continued to defend it. To this End they Order'd fometimes Ten, fometimes Twelve Soldiers to Quarter upon him. And took Care to pick out fuch among them, as were the Lewdeft and moft Profligate Villains, and the greateft Enemies to the Clergy in the whole Regiment; And when he was at length forced by thefe and other Methods to * Abfcond, 'His Wife was Threatned by the Commiffioners 'in the Town, to be Thrown out of Doors, with 'her Tender Infants, into the High-Way, if they 'would not Depart; and the Mob of the Town 'were Encouraged to make Alarms all Night at 'the Gates and Doors of the Houfe feveral times, 'to Weary and Frighten her out by their perpe- 'tual Difturbances: All which, with many more 'Indignities, too tedious to Relate, the poor Gen- 'woman bore for a long time with a great deal 'of Patience and Courage; but at laft fhe was 'forced to Remove, though even then fhe refufed 'to Deliver up the Poffeffion, and ftoutly told 'them, fhe knew no Right they had; and if they 'Entered there, it fhould be like Rogues as they 'were. However, when they at length Broke in, notwithftanding this Provocation, they fhewed her, as it muft be owned, fuch a Piece of Mercy, as was not common in thofe Times: For they only threw out of the Barns into the Court, the Corn which, it feems, they had no occafion for till the next Harveft, and fome of it into the High-way, in the Midft of Winter: Whereas they ufed, either to give it their Horfes, or fecure it for the Intruder. But after all, it feems Mr. Newte was not wholly, but in part only, Unworthy of the Miniftry; and therefore he was by the Triers themfelves, removed to the Lecture of Ottery St. Mary in this County, worth about 20 l. a Year. By which it may be gueffed, that in their Account, the Proportion of his Merit to that of his Succeffor, was that of a Fifteenth, or a Twentieth: For what he loft at Tiverton, amounted to about 3 or 400 l. a Year. But afterwards, not improving his One Talent, it was adjudged, that even That alfo fhould be taken from him. And accordingly, he was efteem'd unworthy to hold that Small Lecture; was Harraff'd and Abus'd at Ottery, as well as at Tiverton; forced with his Family, to lodge feveral Nights in a * Wood, and at length difmiffed from thence alfo. Whilft he was in Poffeffion of that Office, the Lecture-Day once happened to be Coincident with that of Chriftmas; and Mr. Newte, who was fo bold as to Preach on the Subject of the Nativity, in profecution of his Difcourfe, happen'd to mention that Text of St. John, Abraham rejoyced to fee my Day, and he faw it, and was glad: Upon which, a Fellow in the Congregation cried out aloud (as the fafhion then was, to difturb even a Godly, as well as a Malignant Miniffer, if they did not like his Doctrine) What, dare he make Abraham a Chriftmas-Man? And, in truth, it was fuch Preaching as this, which occafioned his Removal from that Place: For his Learning and Abilities were fo well known, that feveral Perfons of Note, and many others, came as far as from Exon, about Twelve Miles diftance, to hear him.

Thefe were fome of the Troubles which this Excellent Perfon met with from the Hands of the Reformers; but all of them cannot be recovered at this Diftance of time: Only in general, it is further to be added, that he was forced in the whole, to remove his Family no lefs than Seven times: And more particularly, had once been certainly Murther'd, had not the Providence of God prevented him from going to Tiverton (the Parfonage-Houfe, where he lived, lying about a Mile out of Town) at that time to Officiate, as he had intended: For a Fellow, who afterwards confefs'd it on his Death-Bed, had Way-laid him, with a full Refolution to have Murther'd him. Nor will it be thought, that the Villain would in the leaft have Scrupl'd to perpetrate this Wicked Defign, when it is known that he had Murther'd a Man before in Tiverton. Tho' the Reader may well be amazed to hear, that he had purpofed to Bathe his Hands in the Blood of Mr. Newte alfo, when he is further informed, that the Fellow being Try'd and Condemn'd for the Murther which he had accomplifhed, was faved from the Gallows, by the Intereft of Mr. Newte and his Eldeft Brother, who procured his Pardon. How fit a March this Fellow was for the Woman before mentioned, is eafie to obferve: But 'tis not fo eafie to Parallel thofe Circumftances of Mr. Newte's Troubles, from the Hands of one, whofe Life he had fav'd; and of another, to ferve whom, he had ventured his own Life.

At length, about the Year 1656, he found fome Refpite. For Colonel Baffet of this County, having prefented him to the Living of Heanton near Barnftaple, he continued there Undifturbed, until the Happy Reftoration.

* Or out of doors in Profecution of his Caufe.

* Bringing to Mary-Key.

* Although he conftantly read the 20th Chapter of Exodus, inftead of the Commandments; which 'twas Popery then to recite in Form; Clofe the Lectern according to the Directions of the Church, and threw the Collects into one continued Prayer, as Bifhop Saunderfon, and fome others then did.

As for his Succeffors during the Ufurpation, the Firft of them, as I have before faid, was Mr. Stukeley. The precife time of his leaving it, I do not find: But when, one Cloffoul Ufurped, or rather Officiated for both the Parfons: And in the Beginning of 1654, Oliver fettled them upon John Row; but withal ordered the Profits of them to Cloffoul, during the time that he had Served them. But before the Expiration of that Year, one * Pelnabel, an Independent, got in full Poffeffion of them; and had the Mortification to deliver them up again to Mr. Newte in 1660; having firft let down the Parfonage-Houfe, quite even to the High-way. After the Reftoration, Mr. Newte became Chaplain to the Lord De la Ware, had a Tender made him, firft of the Deanery of Salisbury, and afterwards of that of Exeter; both which he refufed; and in 1666, was made Chaplain in Ordinary to his Majefty; but got himfelf excufed from Waiting, partly on Ac-

* On Mr. Row's Removal to the Preacher at Weftminfter-Abby. Abridgment. p. 208

Digitized by Google

count of his great Distance from Court, partly because he was much Afflicted with the Gout; but Chiefly, as it supposed, because of his great Love to a Retired Life, which he Enjoyed about 18 Years after the Return of his Majesty, and Died August the 10th, 1678. He was a very Learned Man, particularly Skill'd in the Eastern Languages, as likewise in the French and Italian Tongues: a Man of great Piety and Meekness, a constant Preacher, and in a Word, a very accomplished Gentleman, an Excellent Scholar, and a Polite Divine.

See more of his Character in his Epitaph, printed at large in the Worthies of Devon, before cited, p. 440.

NICHOLSON, ———, . Churchstow, V.

An Ancient Clergyman, who lived through those Times, and Enjoyed a Sequestred Living under them hath told me, that Mr. Nicholson was, * as he thinks Sequestred; but withal adds, that he was a Man of a very Scandalous Life. The last regular Incumbent on this Vicaridge before the Abolishing of Episcopacy, was, as far as appears by the Bishops Register, Mr. Robert Spark: So that if Mr. Nicholson came in Regularly, and had any other Title, than such as the Confusions would allow of; the Entry of his Admission must have been, by some Accident or other, prevented.

* Therefore quere further.

It cannot be found that the Sacrament was Administred in this Parish during the Usurpation.

DORSETSHIRE.

NORRINGTON, SAMUEL, : Charmouth, R.

His Widow was at length constrained to Beg the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows, by whom she was Relieved. In her Petition to that Corporation, it is said, that Mr. Norrington left his Wife and Five Children as poor as Misery could make them.

DURHAM.

NAYLOR, Jos. D. D. Sedgefield, R. worth 600 l. a Year.

See the Cathedral of Durham.

ESSEX.

NEWCOMEN, ———, . The Holy Trinity, R. in Colchester.

I have no distinct Information of this Sequestration; and only guess at it from the outragious Treatment which he met with from the Rebels. Quere.

He was taken at the House of Sir John Lucas in August 1642, when about two Thousand of the Rabble were got together, and committed the utmost Barbarities upon the Family of that Honourable Person. Mr. Newcomen was the † first Man they Seiz'd upon, after they had broken into the House, and they no sooner got Him into their Clutches, but they tore his Clothes off his Back, beat him with their Cudgels and Halberts, and with Infinite Exclamations carry'd him in Triumph through the chief Streets of the Town, by the way Entring into a Wild, but very Serious Consideration, not whether he should Dye (for that they had Resolved at first) but to what Death to put him; One Votes Drowning, another Stoning; another says, Beat out his Brains: At length having consulted with Alderman Cole, they carry him to the common Jayl, commanding the Jayler to put him in Strong Hold (a Place provided for the most deliberate Malefactors) affirming they would soon Return to take further Order with him: In that Dungeon he Remained for some Hours; but at length was Removed into a Chamber: A Day or two after Sir Thomas Barrington, and Mr. Grimston, two Members of Parliament, were sent down from the House to Colchester, as were likewise a Messenger from the Black-Rod, and a Messenger from the Serjeant at Arms, to bring up Mr. Newcomen and Sir John Lucas (for him the Rabble had also Seized) Prisoners to London; but when the Coaches were come to the Door, they durst not for some time bring forth Mr. Newcomen 'Because the People threatned to 'Tear him in Pieces; as afterwards they had done, 'had not Mr. Grimston's Care been very great; 'who placing a Court of Guard on each side of Sir Thomas Barrington's Coach, from the Prison 'Door, brought him forth unexpectedly, and put 'him into the Coach; the People then not daring 'to Strike or Stone him, left the Mischief intended 'Him should light on Sir Thomas Barrington. In this manner he was Carried away to London, (bitterly Cursed and Reviled by the People of those Towns through which he passed) and committed Prisoner to the Fleet; where he lay about a Month, and was then Dismissed without being ever called for by the House, which had Imprisoned Him. What became of him afterwards, I know not; only I find that before his Death he was made D. D. and 'tis Reported by some of his Relations, that he was the Author of Mercurius Rusticus; which is Doubtless a Mistake, for Wood expressly Ascribes it to Dr. Bruno Ryves, without the least Doubt, or Hesitation.

† More Ruth. p. 2. &c.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 431.

NETTLES, STEPHEN, B. D. Lexden, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

This was the Smart and very Learned Person who Answered Mr. Selden's History of Tythes. He was Dispossessed by force of Arms, but the Particulars of his Usage I cannot Learn. He had been of Queen's-College in Cambridge, and was Incorporated A. M. at Oxford in 1624.

Wood. Ath. Vol. I. p. 698.

NEWSTED, CHRISTOPHER, Stisted, R.

His Widow was at length Beholden to the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows for a Subsistence. The Petition which she preferred on that Occasion, saith, that he had been Chaplain to King Charles I. that he was reduced to great Necessity by his many Sufferings, and that he left his Wife in a very sad and low Condition. There is one of both these Names mentioned by Wood (Ath. Vol. I. p. 388,) who was born in Lincolnshire, Educated at Alban-Hall, made B. D. though he had never taken any other Degree. He out-lived the * Usurpation, was Collated to the Prebend of Cadington Minor in the Church of St. Paul, August 25, 1660, and Died some time before March 23*d*. 1662. I take him to have been the same Person with this Sufferer.

Or Stisted: for I take them to be the same Living, and judge it to be that which Mr. Newsted left: If not, 'tis certain some one else had been Sequestred from it, and so it ought to be Entered as a distinct Article, and further Enquiry made after the Name of Mr. Newsted's Living.

* He Published a small Piece, the Title of which, see in Wood.

* News. Reg. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 232.

NICHOLSON, RICHARD, . Stapleford-Tawney, R.

Or Thomas as I rather believe.

He had been admitted March 11, 1596, and was Dispossessed April 28, 1643; so that he had been Rector of this Living about 47 Years, when he was Deprived of it. He is Ranked among the Scandalous and Malignant Priests of the Century (p. 25.) for calling the Parliament a Company of Factious Fellows; and in plain Words, No Parliament; and for affirming that the Majority being with the King, THEY were the Parliament: As likewiſe, for having Three wicked and ſcandalous Libels againſt the Parliament found in his Study; one of which he had ſung in an Ale-houſe: For it is to be further known, that he was a Common Drunkard and Swearer, if the Century may be credited; tho' one would think, it was time for him to Amend, ſince he could not then be leſs than 70 Years of Age; and at that time of day, muſt needs make but a very untoward Ballad-ſinger. However Old as he was, he lived to ſee the Return of his Majeſty, if I miſtake not, and to be Reſtored to his Living; but died ſome time before July 1661.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

NICHOLAS, MATTHEW, D. D. Olverton, V.

See the Church of Briſtol.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

NAPPER, ——, . Barkhamſted St. Peter, .

He had afterwards a little Donative in Buckinghamſhire, and lived to be Reſtored.

NEWNHAM, ——, . Datchworth, R.

He lived to be Reſtored; but died ſoon after.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

NASH, ——, . Warſley, V.

He was alſo Impriſoned for Refuſing the Engagement, and died before the Reſtoration. He was a Second Sufferer in this Living, having ſucceeded on the Death of Dr. Pocklington (whom ſee after in this County) in 1642.

* So that perhaps there might be no other than a Presbyterian, who refuſed that Indulgence. Tho' Quere.

NELSON, GEORGE, . Taxley, V.

He was Harraſſed out of this Living; being Plundered, and forced to Fly in Diſguiſe.

NEWMAN, RICHARD, B. D. Homerton, R.

He had juſt built a good Parſonage-Houſe from the Ground; of which he had the Enjoyment but a very little while. He was Sequeſtred in 1643, Reſtored in 1660, and died in 1663.

KENT.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

NEEDHAM, ——, . Ratherby, R. See ſomething more of him at Mr. Rawſon in this County.

He was a Worthy Man.

NICHOLLS, SAPCOOT, . Newbold-Verdun, R.

NOBLE, WILLIAM, . ——, .

NOEL, EDWARD, . Siſſeſdon, R.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

NORFOLK.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OXFORDSHIRE.

NORGRAVE, JOHN, . Chipping-Norton, V.

One of thoſe who ſucceeded him, was one Ford; who had been, as 'twas reported, a Servant to an Head of an Houſe: Another of them was one Clerk, and a Third who Preached at Chipping-Norton, was one Werden, a Shoemaker.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

NEEDHAM, GERVAS, . Biſhops-Caſtle, V.

His Houſe, and his Goods alſo, were Burnt: Nor was he permitted to keep a Private School for the Subſiſtence of his Family: Inſomuch that had they not been Relieved by the Charity of ſome Relations, they muſt have wanted Bread.

SO:

SOMERSETSHIRE.

NATION, FRANCIS, A. M. Halley, V.
And
* Inwerdleigh, R. in Devon. . . .

* He had only the Title of the Times to this Living.

He was Born at Bishops-Liddyard in this County, Educated at Baliol-College in Oxford, and upon the Breaking out of the Wars, became Chaplain to Sir John and Sir Edward Stawell. He had likewise for some time a Military Command in the Army; and by some Misfortune or other, being taken Prisoner, he was asked, whether he were not a Major? to which he presently returned this Bold Answer, Major sum quàm cui possit Fortuna nocere.

After he had been Harrass'd, and driven from Place to Place, he went at length into Wales, where he was Seized, but found means to get off again. At length he retired into the County of Devon, and settled for some time at Atherington, where he became Tutor to several Gentlemens Sons of the Best Note in those Parts. In the Year 1655, he got the Living of Inwardleigh, which, with a great deal of Trouble, he kept about Two Years; and then being Dispossess'd of it, went into Cornwall, where he got the small Vicaridge of Lawannack, which he was permitted to keep until the Restoration; when he returned to Inwerdleigh, and towards the latter End of his Life, had the Rectory of Parkham in the same County, bestowed on him; where he continued to Preach for some time after he had lost his Sight, He was an Excellent Scholar, and retained to the very last, what he had learned in his younger Days, as fresh in his Memory, as if he had just then come from the Univerfity. He was also a Man of Great Piety, and died in the 82d Year of his Age.

One Bridgman had three Livings during some Part of the Confusions, and never administred the Sacrament there.

SOUTHAMPTON.

NICHOLAS, ———, . Wherwell, R.

See a Note at Dr. Nicholas, Dean of Briftol.

NOSE, ———, . Seckford, .
He was Imprisoned likewise.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

NASH, ———, . Kinsley, R.
He was Turned out by the Triers.

SUFFOLK.

NASH, ———, . ———, .

NEWMAN, THOMAS, . Cornard, .
He was Sequestred Sept. 2, 1644, for paying Obedience to the Orders and Injunctions of the Church; Urging the Necessity of Parochial Communion; not Encouraging his People to Assist in the Rebellion (for Crimes of Omission, as well as Commission, were frequently brought into the Account in those Times) Refusing also to lend his own helping Hand towards that good Work; and for several other Instances of Malignancy; among which, was his having said, that the Parliament raised Money to pay Pym's Debts. He had at that time a Wife and Three Children: And 'tis Matter of Quare, whether he did not also lose a Temporal Estate of 100*l.* a Year.

SURREY.

NELSON, JOHN, . Mickleham, R.
He was Turned out by the House of Commons, about Aug. 1643; who at the same time order'd William Hill to succeed him.

SUSSEX.

NUT, JOHN, . Barwick, R.
And
———, ...

See the Church of Chichester.

WARWICKSHIRE.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

NASH, ———, . Burbage, V.
One Hugh Naish obtained the Prebend of Winterbourn-Earles in the Church of Salisbury, Aug. 28, 1660, on the Death, no doubt, of John Gregory. Sept. 13, the same Year, John Gurganny was admitted to it; but I do not find how it was then Vacated.

NICHOLAS, MATTHEW, D.D.
Dean, R.

See Briftol-Cathedral.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

YORK-

YORKSHIRE.

NEILE, JOHN, B.D. Beeford in Holderneſs, R.

See the Cathedral-Church of York.

† Or Newsome. †NEWLOVE, JOHN, . Bickhill, . He was alſo Plundered, and Turned out of Doors, with his Wife and Eight Children, and died ſoon after. He was a Man of a Pious Life and Converſation, and had been a painful Preacher here near Thirty Years; as is ſet forth in a Petition preſented by ſome of his Family to the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; the Charity of which they were conſtrained to beg, and were accordingly Supported by it.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

CARDIGAN.

CAERMARTHEN.

NICHOLSON, WILLIAM, Llandilowaur, R. . . . . } And Caermarthen, V. . . . . }

See the Church of St. David's.

CAERNARVAN.

DENBEIGH.

FLINT.

GLAMORGAN.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

PEMBROKE.

See the Note at Abergwyley. ——, ——, . Naſh, R. I find the Rector of this Living, whoever he was, to have been a Pluraliſt: But what his other Living, or Livings were; whether he loſt them alſo; and whether he, or they may, have been the ſame with any of thoſe Clergymen, or Livings, mentioned in the other Parts of this Liſt, I know not.

RADNOR.

——, ——, . Newchurch, R.

——, ——, . Norton, .

See the Note at Abergwyley likewiſe for theſe Two Livings.

O.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

BERKSHIRE.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

OAKELEY, WILLIAM, . Hilſden, .

He was not only Sequeſtred; but when Hilſden-Houſe was taken by the Parliament Forces, he was made a Priſoner, and forced to go ſome Miles bare-foot in the Winter, to the great detriment of his Health: And, in a Word, he was Ruin'd by the Times. He left his Wife, at the time of his Death, with a great Charge of Children, and in Extream Poverty. She was afterwards Supported by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. Mr. Oakley was a Good Preacher, and a Learned and Religious Man.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSIHRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

ORAM, GEORGE, A. M. Kenton, R. I am not abſolutely certain of this Sequeſtration; but an Ancient Clergyman, who was himſelf in ſome meaſure, a Sufferer under the Rebellion, hath told me, he thinks, Mr. Oram was Turned out of this Living. Mr. George Kendal Enjoyed this Living during ſome Part of the Uſurpation, and continued in it till the Act of Uniformity Diſpoſſeſſed him.

DORSETSHIRE.

OSBOURN, EDWARD, A. M. Maiden-Newton, R.

He had been Fellow of Wadham-College in Oxford, and lived to Re-poſſeſs his Benefice on the Return of his Majeſty.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

Or Oſbalſton.

OSBALSTON, WILLIAM, D. D. Much-Parnden, R.

He was Turned out about Dec. 1643; at which time Jer. Dyke was thruſt into his Rectory by the Houſe of Commons, who had Sequeſtred Mr. Oſbalſton for theſe, and ſuch like Reaſons, as they are aſſigned by the Century, viz. that he had ſhewn his Diſlike of Frequent Preaching, ſaying among other things, that Once hearing of Common-Prayer, is better than Ten Sermons; and telling one of his Pariſh, that he ſtunk of Two Sermons a Day; Reading likewiſe, and Countenancing the Book of Sports; Preſſing his Pariſhioners to come up to the Rails to Receive the Sacrament; Urging upon them the Neceſſity of Attending on the Miniſtration of their own Paſtor; Affirming, that Water in Baptiſm doth waſh away Original Sin; and ſaying in his Prayer by a Child of Two Years old, That Actual Sin is had committed none; and as for Original, it was done away at Baptiſm: And what was worſe than all, having declared, that he would firſt have his Throat cut, before he would contribute to the Aſſociation of the Counties; that is, in plain Words, that he would rather Die, than ſtain his Hands with the Blood of the Rebellion. And after all this, 'tis much to be wondred at, that he was not likewiſe either a Common Drunkard, or a Common Swearer. But as ſcandalous a Place as Mr. Wood has provided for him, in ſome Manuſcript Papers of the very Learned and Worthy Mr. Jerem. Stephens (one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Lincoln, and a much more Credible Perſon than the Centuriſt) Dr. Oſbalſton is ſaid to have been an Excellent Perſon. Beſides which, I do not know any thing more of him, only that he died under his Oppreſſions.

P. 37.

See a Marginal Note at Dr. Lambert Oſbaldeſton in the Church of Weſtminſter

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

OSBALDESTON, LAMBERT, A. M. Wheathamſted, R. worth 300 l. a Year.

See the Church of Weſtminſter.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

OLEY, BARNABAS, B. D. Great-Gransden, V.

See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

KENT.

OWEN, RICHARD, B. D. Eltham, V.
See him in the Liſt of the London-Clergy.

LANCASHIRE.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

OASELEY, JOHN, . Cleypool (the South Rectory) R.

MIDDLESEX.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

OWEN, MORGAN, D. D. Badwas and Rudry, R.

See the Church of Llandaffe. This is a Conſolidated Rectory. The latter of theſe Places is in Glamorgan.

NORFOLK.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

OX-

Digitized by Google

OXFORDSHIRE.

Or Oldish, as I presume 'tis commonly pronounced.

ODIS, WILLIAM, D. D. Adderbury, V.

He had been Fellow of New-College in Oxford, and Proctor of that University. In the Year 1642, he was Created D. D. among many other Suffering Loyal Sts ; and about the Year 1644, was Barbarously Murthered by a Party of the Parliament Soldiers, in the following manner : Having by his great Loyalty and Affection to the Royal Cause, render'd himself very Obnoxious to the Rebels, it was not any longer Safe for him to stay at home ; and therefore he was forced to betake himself to the Neighbouring Town of Banbury, which was at that time a Garrison for the King ; and some time after he had fled thither, intending his Son for * Winchester-School, ' he sent ' word to his Wife, that on such a Day (which ' he named) he would go part of the Way with ' them. A Neighbour of his happening to know ' of this, sent word of it to some of the Parliament Soldiers ; who accordingly waited at a ' Place where he was to pass by, for his Coming. ' He perceiving that there were Soldiers there, and ' finding himself in Danger, sent his Wife and ' Son before, telling his Wife, that if they were ' of the King's Party, she should Hold up her ' Hand, and he would come on ; if not, she ' should pass on without any further Notice. ' She going on, without Holding up her Hand, he ' knew they were Parliamentarians, and there- ' fore Rid back as fast as he could : They per- ' ceiving this, followed him as fast as they could. ' He being to pass by his own House in his Way ' to Banbury ; when his Horse came to his House, ' he could not by all the means he could use, get ' his Horse forward ; which gave them time to ' Overtake him ; which, as soon as they had ' done, one of them discharged a Pistol at him, ' and Shot him dead. Some of the Parish have since affirmed, that the Person who had given notice to the Party of the Doctor's Journey, fell down dead upon that very Spot of Ground where the Doctor fell when he was shot. He was succeeded by Mr. Francis Wells.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 715.

*Or, as Others say, for the University of Oxford.

I have heard that he scattered his Money along the Highway, and by that Artifice deluded all of them but one, who thereby more for Blood than Plunder. And 'tis said, the Villain had been Suborned former'y by the Doctor's Charity, and that his very Comrades abhorred the Barbarity of the Action.

' befet the House at Midnight, to take him by ' Violence to the Jayl. And above all the reſt, as I do well remember, says the Son of Mr. Orpe ' (from whom I have this Account of his Father's ' Sufferings) once they came about Midnight, my ' self, my Brother, and Sister, all being asleep in ' our Beds, and called aloud to open the Door, ' that they might take the Rogue they had so many ' Journeys about ; and threaten'd to Fire, or Pull ' down the House upon our Heads, because my ' Mother did not make haste to open the Door at ' their Command ; and then came in with drawn ' Swords, and Pistols cock'd, and said, it was a ' good Deed to Shoot her forthwith. After they ' had searched, and could not find my Father, they ' Rifled the House, and took away what they had ' a mind to, and Hipped open the Beds and Bolsters, ' shaking out the Feathers and Flocks upon the ' Ground, to make Bags to carry the Corn in the ' Tithe-Barn away, to give their Horses. Not ' long after, another Party of them came upon a ' Lord's Day, thinking to find my Father at Church ' in the Morning Service ; but missing of him, ' they contented themselves with breaking open ' his Stable-Door, and Stealing his Horse.

In Nantwich.

By theſe, and ſuch like Outrages, he was forced to leave Tarperley, and go to Whitchurch ; where he ſet up a little School, but in ſome Months was driven thence likewiſe. After which, he was ſent for to Officiate at Morton-Sea, a Chapelry in the Pariſh of Hordnet ; but he was not permitted to carry long there neither : For one Colonel Clive, who lived in that Pariſh, took upon him the Patronage of the Chapel, diſplaced Mr. Orpe, and ſubſtituted one Peartree in his Place ; who, as was reported, had been formerly a Pedlar, but was at that time a Gifted, and Celebrated Preacher among the Brethren.

It ſo happen'd, that about that time Mr. Orpe's Wife was in Child-bed ; and himſelf being not only Turned out of the Cure, but forced to Abſcond, fell down Stairs at the Houſe where he was Concealed, and Broke his Leg. In this miſerable Condition he had no other Subſiſtence for himſelf and his Family, but what they received from Charity ; and that, by the good Providence of God, proved ſufficient to Support them ; being Relieved by ſome of the Family of the Corbets ; which occaſioned a uſual Saying with Mr. Orpe, that God had Fed him as he did the Prophet Elijah, by the Miniſtry of a Raven ; alluding to the Arms of the Family. It was about Four Months that he lay in this Helpleſs Condition : But as ſoon as he was able to get on Horſeback, the good Lady Corbet (Relict of Sir John Corbet) to whom Mr. Orpe was ſomewhat Related, ſent for him to Officiate at a ſmall Curacy in, or belonging to the Pariſh of Hodnet, where ſhe then lived : But one Bruce, a Lieutenant in the Parliament Service, having married the Daughter of the Intruder at Hodnet, was thereupon to lay by his Carnal Weapon, and take up the Sword of the Spirit ; his Father in Law having ordained this Curacy for him, and given him all the Tythes of it : So that poor Mr. Orpe was forced to Remove from thence likewiſe. After which, another Good Lady, the Relict of Sir Andrew Corbet, Preſented him to the Vicaridge of Staunton ; but he had not been there above half a Year, before one Rowland Kent inſtigated ſome of the Pariſh againſt him ; and got him complained of, as well at the Claſſical Meetings, as at the Committees, for not being a Soul-ſaving Miniſter, nor belonging to the Election of Grace : Beſides which, they alſo raiſed ſeveral other Scandalous Reports of him :

To the Year 1647 : ſo that he could not have any other Title to it than ſuch as the Confuſions now'd permit.

Some of the moſt Forward of his Proſecutors were one Mr. Sumerfield, and his Godly Daughters ; the youngeſt of which, who was very punctual in in attending the Monthly Lectures at Wem, with her Bible under her Arm, did, it seems, sometimes step aside at the Lodgings of a certain Captain of that Garrison; insomuch that at length she was commonly known by the Name of Captain Doll. However, Mr. Orpe did by the Testimonies of several Persons of Credit, clear himself from the Aspersions which they had thrown upon him, in such an undeniable manner, that as well the Committees, as the Classical Meetings, acquitted him. After which, he was permitted to Enjoy his Living for two or three Years; and then the Engagement being set on foot, his old Adversaries had a seasonable Opportunity of renewing his Troubles; and in the first place, refuse to pay him his Tithes, and afterwards complain of him to Mr Gilbert, at that time Rector of Edgmond, Dam flick Chaplain to Oliver Cromwell, and a Man of great Power and Authority in these Parts; who presently took upon him to send for Mr. Orpe; and after a Pretence of great Friendship and Kindness to him, having been his Old School-fellow, he tampers with him, and endeavours to perswade him to take the Engagement; urging one very considerable Argument amongst the rest, which was that of Two or Three Hundred Pounds a Year Preferment, in case of his Compliance: But Mr. Orpe utterly rejecting the Temptation, Mr. Gilbert sends to London, and gets the Broad Seal for one Mr. Henry Churchlow, who had been, as was commonly reported, a Gentleman's Butler, but was at that time Mr. Gilbert's Curate. This worthy Person thereupon comes, and demands Possession of the Vicaridge; but Mr. Orpe, unwilling to part with the Whole Subsistence of his Family (which was at that time encreased to Eight Children, all unprovided for) sends word of it to his Patroness; who accordingly brings the matter to a Hearing before the Committee at Salop; the Issue of which was this, that if the Lady persisted any further to protect her Clerk, she should her self be deemed a Malignant, and put under Sequestration: And if Mr. Orpe continued to make any Resistance, he should be forthwith Imprisoned. There happen'd at this time a Passage which I cannot forbear to relate: When the poor Gentleman found he was to be Dispossessed of all he had in the world, and left with his Numerous Family, either to Beg, Steal, or Starve, as he went out of the Committee-Room, he was heard to say, That since Matters stood thus with him, he found that he should be obliged to put himself in a Way for a Subsistence, which he doubted might cost the Life of many a Man: Whereupon he was immediately complained of to the Committee, as having threatned to make an Insurrection, and was instantly sent for back again, and order'd to tell what he meant by those Threatenings: To which he replied, that his Meaning was, that he should be forced to Practise Physick, and he feared he should Kill Ten, before he should Cure One. After this, he was dismist again, and Churchlow put in full Possession of the Vicaridge; who proved very Cruel to him, Reaped the very Corn which Mr. Orpe had Sowed, and did not so much as allow him one Penny out of it. Soon after this, —— Pelham, Esq; sent for him to Battlefield, a small Place of Five Marks a Year, which his Patron advanced to Five Pounds. After this again, he removed to Preston-Bulalls; but his Patron was forced to engage himself to the Parishioners there, that Mr. Orpe and his Family should not become Chargeable to them, before they would Receive him. In some time after, he also got another little Chapelry in the Neighbourhood; but all these Three (for he still continued to Officiate at Battlefield once a Month) did not amount to above 20 l. a Year; although by the Help of that, and his Practice of Physick, he made a shift to live on about seven Years, at the End of which, his Majesty was Restored to his Kingdoms, and Mr. Orpe, with many others of his Suffering Brethren, to his Living, much to the Regret of Churchlow, the Intruder; who gave the Under-Sheriff the Trouble of Dispossessing him: And not being content with having eaten the Bread of this Starving Family, for seven Years, could not forbear dropping these Bitter Words when he was Turned out of the House, that he hoped he should shortly do the same again for Mr. Orpe and his Family. But the poor unhappy Man was much mistaken: For he died in a few Years after, whilst Mr. Orpe lived about 16 Years in the quiet Possession of his Living, and died Dec. 9, 1677, in the 67*th* Year of his Age.

Digitized by Google

OWEN, WILLIAM, . Powderbach, R.

In 1654, one Robert Wilward succeeded in this Living.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

OWEN, HENRY, . North-Curry, V. He was, as the Gentleman who gives me this Information, expresses it, a Bitter Sufferer; tempted, (but not overcome) both with Difficulties and Rewards, with long Imprisonments, and forced at length for a Subsistence, to stoop to a very mean and Servile Employment. He must, as I suppose, have been a Second Sufferer in this Living: the First I take to have been Dr. Seb. Smith whom for as the Cathedral of Wells) and who, I guess from hence, died early enough in the Troubles to make way for Mr. Owen, both to Succeed and Suffer.

His House was Plundered of all, even to the very wearing Apparel of the Family. He was himself thrown into the Common Prison for the Vilest Criminals, and was supported there by what his Wife, and Children (of which he had Seven at that time) begged for him Publickly. After his Release, he Practised Physick; but what he got in that way not being sufficient to Support him, he was forced, for the maintenance of his Family, to make Flaskets.

Some time after his Sequestration, he got the Curacy of Broomfield in this County, but was turned out of that also.

SOUTHAMPTON.

STAFFORDSHIRE.

SUFFOLK.

SURREY.

SUSSEX.

WARWICKSHIRE.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

YORK-

Digitized by Google

P.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

PAYNE, ROBERT, . Little-Barkford, R.

Quære further of this Sequestration.

POCKLINGTON, JOHN, D. D. Yelvedon, R.

See the Church of Windsor.

BERKS.

BUCKS.

PEEL, ——, . Wickham, V. His Case is the same with that of Mr. * Latham in Staffordshire, before mentioned. The House came to that Resolution concerning him, Jan. 16, 164⅔; so that he is absolutely the First Man of all the Clergy, whom the Party began to fall upon, as far as I can yet learn.

* Whom see, as also Dr. Cosin, Dean of Peterborough, Mr. Taylor at the End of the Counties, under the Letter T, Mr. Withers, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter W, and a Note at Mr. Fitch, in the List of the London Clergy.

Which I take to be but one Living.

PHILPOT, THOMAS, . Turvefton and Akely, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 719.

He was Born at Dover in Hampshire, Educated at Winchester-School, and from thence Elected Fellow of New-College in Oxford, * In the Beginning of the Civil War, he suffered much for his Loyalty and a good Conscience; suffered also by the Loss of his Goods, and Imprisonment; and therefore retiring to Oxford, was there Actually Created D. D. He was Restored to his Living, as I presume, in 1660: For he died not till about the Year 1669, and was then Buried, as Wood thinks, at Turvefton. He hath several Sermons extant.

* I have no other Account of this Gentleman, than what I find in Wood, and ground this Sequestration on those Words of that Author, who doth not expressly mention his Ejectment.

POOL, ——, . Stony-Stratford, R.

He was also Plundered, and forced to Fly from his Wife and Children; and dying in his Majesty's Service, left them in a very poor, deplorable Condition. His Widow was afterwards supported by the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

PRESS, FRANCIS, . Moulsoe, R. And Castly-Ashby, R. in Northamptonshire, worth above 100 l. a Year.

He lived to Re-possess both his Livings on the Restoration. His First Successor at Moulsoe, was Mr. Capon; and after him, came one Mr. Jolliffe, whom Mr. Press found in Possession of it in 1660, and afterward kept as his Curate on that Living. At Castle-Ashby he was succeeded by one Austin, who continued there till Mr. Press claimed it again on the Return of his Majesty.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

PAVEY, WILLIAM, . Marham, .

He was Turned out about the Year 1644, for Assisting his Majesty, Discouraging the Rebellion, and for Drunkenness.

PEACOCK, ——, . Swaffum-Prior, V.

One Richard Peacock, A. M. was admitted to the Rectory of Shepershon in Midd. in the Year 1660, and died in 1683. Quære. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 726.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, for Observing the Orders of the Church, Defending Episcopacy, Asserting the Cause of his Majesty, Disuading the People from Rebellion, Accusing the Parliament of Covetousness, because they took away Mens Goods, instancing in the Sequestrations. He lived, if I mistake not, to Re-possess his Vicaridge in 1660.

PERSON, CUTHBERT, B. D. Kingston, R.

He was Born in Yorkshire, Educated at Eton-School; from whence he was Elected to King's-College in the Year 1610; where he afterwards became Vice-Provost of the College. He was put under Sequestration by the Earl of Manchester, April 15, 1644, for doing his Duty to his Majesty, and Preaching up Damnation to Rebellion; that is, I presume, saying, that Rebellion was a Sin. He had a Wife and Seven Children; and 'tis a Matter of Quære, whether he did not also lose a Temporal Estate. The Intruder was one Robert Brand.

CHESHIRE.

CORNWALL.

——, ——, . Perranzabulo and St Agnis, V.

PETERSON, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Breock, R. worth betwixt 3 and 400 l. a Year.

See the Church of Exeter.

PHIL-

Digitized by Google

CUMBERLAND.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

PADFIELD, JOHN, A. M. Hunsham, R.

He was Accuſed of having a Baſe Child; but it was generally thought to be a moſt Vile Slander; he being not only a Perſon of great Learning, but of Exemplary Piety. After his Sequeſtration, he Fled to Ireland; but on the Reſtoration, returned to his Living; which he ſoon after Quitted, and went back again to Ireland, where he had ſome Preferment; but what it was, I cannot learn.

PARSONS, ———, Uffculme, V.

PETERSON, WILLIAM, D. D. Dipford, R. — One Edward Noſworthy got it in 1657.

He was ſucceeded in it by Wil. Walplate. See the Cathedral-Church of Exeter.

PIERCE, GEORGE, A. M. Portion of Pit, R. in Tiverton, And Another Living in Kent, worth 160 l. a Year, ... }

He was Born at Richmond in Surrey, about the Year 1600; and his Father had been Keeper of the Wardrobe to Queen Elizabeth, King James and King Charles I. He was Bred at Eton-School, from thence Elected to a Fellowſhip of King's-College in Cambridge, in 1622, and afterwards admitted to this Living in 1634. I find him Articled againſt, Dec. 11, 1646, before the Standing Committee of the County of Devon, for having taken the Cavaliers Proteſtation, and for Exhorting others to it; and for having ſaid, that the Parliament had Deformed, inſtead of Reformed; and and comparing the pretended Reformation to an Unskilful Barber, who, instead of taking off the loose Hairs, let out the Blood. That same Day, as I guess, or much about the same time, the Committee proceeded to Sequester him, and I believe, upon those very Articles now mentioned, and no other; because I find that he Wisely demanded, and had the good fortune to obtain this uncommon Piece of Justice from the Committee, to grant him a Certificate, that he was Sequestred only for his Disaffection to the Parliament, and not for Deserting of Cure, or Scandal of Life and Conversation. He had also a Temporal Estate of 80 La Year, in London, which was likewise Seized, and put under Sequestration.

However, these may in some sense be look'd on as the least Part of his Sufferings: For he was also Abused and Outraged, both in his Person and Family, in a very Cruel and Barbarous manner. His House was Plunder'd no less than Three several times, to a very great Value; his Children were thrown out of their Beds on the Floor; and not only those Beds, but every thing else, was taken from them, besides their Wearing Clothes. The Soldiers offer'd their Pistols cock to the Breast of his Wife, then Big with Child, and ask'd if she would have a Brace of Bullets in her Body. He was likewise Seiz'd himself several times, and Hurried from Place to Place with the Army; and his poor Wife hath been forced to Trudge 14 or 15 miles on foot to her Husband (for they had Plunder'd him of all his Horses) whilst she was Soliciting his Release. In a Word, he was reduc'd to such Necessities, that his Wife and * Six Children were dispersed up and down 2 or 300 Miles asunder, and lived on Charity. The Wretch (Chisbul) who succeeded him, utterly refusing to pay one Farthing of Fifths (or so much as the Arrears due before the Sequestration) for the whole Fourteen Years that he was Devouring of their Substance: Of which, this Remarkable Passage can never be forgotten, That poor Mrs. Pierce one Day applying to him 'for her Fifths due to her by the then 'Ordinance of Parliament, or for something to 'supply the Necessities of her Family, pleading 'with him the Number of her Children, who 'were Six at that time, and all very Young and 'Helpless, and wanting Relief; he instantly 'replied, that he had a Pair of Geldings in the 'Stable, and a Groom too, which must be maintain'd, 'and were more chargeable than all her Children.

* Which he had at the time of his Sequestration, and of towards more.

This Godly Minister was one Mr. Chisbul, who was the Son of a Taylor in Kent, and had been some time a Tapster, or Drawer at the Black Boy in Kensington; tho' he was not the First Intruder: For before he came, Mr. Stukely, who afterwards succeeded in Mr. Newte's Two Portions, had been in Possession of this Living; but he soon after going to Exeter, and Dr. Manton refusing the Proffer of it, the Place fell to the Share of this Worthy Gentleman; which Mr. Stukely having Notice of before he had wholly left the Place, condescended to become his Harbinger, and told the People in his Farewel-Sermon, that there was a Glorious Star from the East coming to them: Of the Heat of which, tho' not much of the Light, I may perhaps have Occasion to speak more hereafter.

As for Mr. Pierce, upon his Sequestration, he went first to London, and by some means or other, got himself Presented to a Living in Kent, where Hugh Peters, his Old Acquaintance in the Universities, soon discovered him, and got Major-General Harrison with a Party of Soldiers, to Dispossess him, and put in his Groom, as 'tis reported, for his Successor.

After this, Mr. Pierce got another Living in Hertfordshire, and at length the Vicaridge of Caddington in Bedfordshire, worth about 80 l. a Year, where he continu'd till the Restoration, and then returned to Tiverton; but was forc'd to quit his Claim to all his Arrears and Fifths, in order to obtain the Possession of it without a Contest at Law. So sensible was the Intruder of the Injury which he had done him, even on the foot of their own Ordinances, and so loth was he to part with that Luscious Morsel, if he could by any means have still kept it between his Teeth. How long Mr. Pierce survived the Usurpation, I do not find; but I judge that before his Death, he became D. D. because I sometimes find him called Dr. Pierce. He was a Person of singular Diligence and Industry in the Ministry, a Man of great Temperance and Sobriety; and as well in his Life-time, as at his Death, an especial Benefactor to the Poor, leaving some of them an Annual Stipend for their Lives.

PINSON, JOHN, A. M. Tallaton, R. Or Pinsent.
See the Cathedral-Church of Exeter.

POCOCK, EDWARD, A. M. (at least)
Bow, .

He was Presented by the Rightful Patron, after the Ejectment (and perhaps the Death) of Mr. Lethbridge, as I guess; but was not permitted to Enjoy it till the Restoration: So that he was a Second Sufferer in it. I have heard that he was also Harrass'd, and forc'd to Fly: But quære further of these matters. Where see before.

POTE, RICHARD, . Lydford, R.

I receiv'd the following Account of him from the Reverend Mr. Daniel Berkenshaw, Rector of Clyst-St. Lawrence in this County:

'He was born of good Yeomanly Parents, at Broadwood-Widger in Devon, a * Graduate of Glocester-Hall, Oxon, a Man of a good Life, compleat Abilities, and zealously Affected to the Establish'd Church and Monarchy. At his Entrance on the Ministry, he became Chaplain to Sir James Smith, a Colonel in the King's Army, who in a short time procured for him the Rectory of Lydford in Devon, valu'd at that time at about 140 l. per Annum; into which he was legally Instated, to the Good-liking of the Parishioners in general. * Se it.

'But his Firm Adherence to the King's Party, and his siding Visibly and Openly to the Loyal Gentry in that Country, particularly Colonel Tremayne, Justice Wood, Mr. Bidlake, &c. distasted some few of his disaffected Parishioners, and some Committee-men of the Parishes adjoining; insomuch that one Valentine Cake, a Leading Man there, and a great Time-Server, put one Mr. Richard Potter, a Holy Brother, and a Gifted Man, upon a desperate Attempt, of Turning Mr. Pote out of his Church and Rectory: Of which Mr. Potter (he failing in his Project, and dying, as I am informed, soon after) I know no more, than the Discovery he himself hath left us, in a Letter under his own Hand, and yet in Being: Which, to shew the Spirit of the Man and his Party, is fit to be here inserted. 'He directed it to the said Mr. Cake, and it is as follows:

Mr. Cake,

'HAppiness attend you, &c. I have been lately at Lydford, thinking to have met with you; but according to your Wifes Diriction I passed Dart: and unhappily missed you where I supposed to have found you: The Forresters in the Moors are backward in Arrackling against the Party;

Digitized by Google

'Man of a great Sway in those days, in that Part 'of the Country, obtain'd an Order of Committee 'for Mr. Pote's Place; which he forcibly took, 'and kept for 15 Years, viz. from 1647, to 1662. 'During all which time, this Rightful Incumbent 'was forc'd to shift from Place to Place in Corn-wall, to Teach a few Children, where he could 'be Admitted, for Bread, and necessary Sustenance.

'And after the Restoration, Mr. Pote being 'grown so Poor and Stricken in Years, Hatch 'thought fit to Conform, and endeavour'd all he 'could to keep him still out of his Living: But 'Mr. Pote found some of his Old Friends yet a-'live, who help'd him to bring down a Trial 'upon an Ejectment against this Intruder, and ob-'tained a Fair Verdict, and soon after, the Re-possession of his Church and Rectory.

'And now Hatch's Wrath and Malice raging 'more than ever, carried him into Dart-Moor, 'among the Forresters there (whose Moor-Tithes 'making up Two Thirds of the Profits of the 'whole Rectory of Lydford) he made it his Busi-'ness to Possess these Moor-men, that their Tithes 'were not due to the Church of Lydford; that 'they were great Fools if ever they paid one 'Farthing more there; that Pote was grown 'very Poor and Old, and not able to contend 'with them. This hath been given in Evidence

DORSETSHIRE.

PYE, JOHN, B. D. Charleſtock, V. See Wadham-College in Oxford.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

PERCIVAL, ROBERT, . Wickford, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

He was also Perſecuted in ſuch a manner, that he was forced to Fly to his Majeſty's Army; where, it ſeems, he did very good Service.

PINDAR, WILLIAM, D.D.* Stock, R

* Or Stoak.

His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; which he redeemed at the Price of 443 l. 8 s. 8 d. Compoſition. He lived to ſee the Reſtoration, and therefore I preſume, was Reſtored to his Living.

Digitized by Google

PLUMIN, JOSEPH, . Black-Notley, R.

Cent. p. 16. He was a Common Ale-house and Tavern-haunter, and had been frequently drunk, according to the Centurist. Nor is it to be doubted, since he uſed to Bow at the Name of Jeſus, Expreſs'd great Malignity againſt the Parliament, and had betaken himſelf to the Army of the Cavaliers, for Protection, beyond all diſpute.

* I judge, he lived to the Reſtoration.

PULLY, RICHARD, . Fordham, R.
He was Turned out in the Year 1644; becauſe upon Enquiry, his Living of Fordham appeared to be a better Living than that of Wakes-Colne: For one of the Two, it was Reſolved ſhould be given to a certain Independent of New-England; and Mr. Pully was accordingly Diſpoſſeſs'd, to make way for him. I gueſs, he Out-lived the Uſurpation, and returned to his Living. He was a Perſon of great Learning, Religion, and Sobriety.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

POEL, ——, . Pockle-Church, R. cum Weſterley & Abſon.

He was ſucceeded by one Fox; which occaſion'd Mr. Poel's writing theſe Verſes on the Mantle-Piece of one of the Chimneys, as he was going to leave the Houſe:

Tecta Sacerdotum fuerant hæc Vulpibus Antra:
Væ miſeræ pecudi! quibus eſt Vulpecula Paſtor.

In 1654. one Tho. Pitchard was Ordain'd into Albinghall, by the Committee for Scandalous Miniſters; and in 1655. One Tho. Smith got the Vicaridge of Longhope.

POTTER, EDWARD, . Albinghall, . And Longhope, V. . . . . .

He was Turned out for Scandal and Delinquency.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

PEMBER, JOHN, B. D. Bodhenham, V. See the Cathedral of Hereford.

PRICE, PHILIP, . Weſton under Penyard, V. And Roſſe, V. . . . . .

See the ſame Cathedral.

PROLFE, ——, . Tadington, V.
He was met by a Party of Rebels, as he was coming from Hereford; and owning himſelf to be for the King, was inſtantly Shot dead upon the Place.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

PASKE, THOMAS, D. D. Hadham Magna, R.

He was Turned out of this Living by the Houſe of Commons, about Dec. 1643, and H—— H—— was at the ſame time appointed to Succeed him. See Clare-Hall in Cambridge.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol I p. 812.

POOLEY, RICHARD, A. M. Eſſendon, R.

After his Sequeſtration, he muſt have been Reduc'd to great Neceſſities, had he not been Reliev'd by the Charity of ſome Gentlemen. His Firſt Succeſſor was one J—— Wynne; after whom came one Mr. Stalybraſſe, who was forced to Reſign this Rectory to Mr. Pooley on the Reſtoration.

POREY, ROBERT, . Thorly, R.
See him among the London Clergy. Ibid. p. 658.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

PAGE, SIMEON, . Hemingford-Abbots, R. worth 160 l. a Year.

One of his Succeſſors was John Heath, who got the Living in 1654

He was Turned out in the very Beginning of the Rebellion, and continued under Sequeſtration 17 or 18 Years: Nor was he permitted ſo much as to Keep a Small School.

POCKLINGTON, JOHN, D.D. Warſley, V.

See the Church of Windſor: And ſee Mr. Naſh in this County.

KENT.

PIERCE, GEORGE, A.M. ——, . See him in the County of Devon.

PLATE, JAMES, A.M. Pitborough, .
He was likewiſe Plundered of his Books.

——, ——, . Pluckley, R. See the Note at Abberton in Suſſex, under the Letter A. One Tho. Daffe ſucceeded to this Living in 1657.

LANCASHIRE.

PARR, RICHARD, D. D. Eccleſton, R.
See the Biſhoprick of Man.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

PELSANT, JOHN, . Market-Boſworth, R.

PESTELL, THO. . Packington, V.

PESTELL,

a Sufferer.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

PRESTLAND, PAUL, . Market-Deeping, R. worth 180*l.* a Year.

'When King Charles I. set up his Standard at 'Nottingham, and Commanded the Train-bands 'to his Assistance, one Thorp that then kept the 'Crown in Market-Deeping, hundred those of that 'part of Lincolnshire, from going in; which 'being known to the King's Army at Nottingham, 'Captain Armstrong was sent with a Party to fetch 'the said Thorp to Nottingham, which he accord-'ingly did, who was there in a fair way to be 'Hang'd; but by Chance meeting there Mr. 'Saulter, then Rector of Bridge-Casterton, who 'had married the Sister of Captain Armstrong, and 'whose Sister was the Wife of the aforesaid 'Paul Prestland, he makes him his Friend, by 'assuring him of his future Fidelity, and of the 'great Services he and Mr. Prestland would be 'able to do his Majesty in that Neighbourhood; 'upon which the Captain and Mr. Saulter become 'Petitioners on his behalf, and procure his Par-'don and Liberty to return. Thorp was no sooner 'returned, but instead of serving the King, or 'to a Necessity of melting his Plate, and 'selling a Handsome Estate left him by his Father, 'to supply his own Wants, and his Family's else-'where. When Rebellion had fully prevailed, 'that Things were in a more Settled, tho' Bad 'Order, he bought a Little House over against 'the Church, and maintained his Family, by 'Teaching of a School, till the Happy Restoration 'of King Charles II. restored him, to the great 'Joy of all that knew him, to his Undoubted 'Rights, from which he had been Sequestred 17 'Years. And now one would expect the Malice 'of Intruders was at an end; but such a Ruinous 'House and Barns, the Sequestrators having done 'nothing at them, could hardly with great Charge 'be Repaired in the Eight Years that this Wor-'thy Man enjoyed the Living after his Restoration 'to it: Insomuch that his Widow met with 'great Trouble and Charge about Dilapidations, 'occasion'd by these Sanctified Intruders, who made 'no Conscience of taking the Profits, and leaving 'the Burthen to those they had made unable to 'bear it.

Mr. Prestland was 'a Man of Exemplary So-'briety, and all other Vertues; which were so E-'minent in him while at School at Huntington, 'that that Villain Oliver was, for his Society, sent 'after him to Sidney-College in Cambridge.

PRIC:

PRICKARD, THOMAS, . St. Mary's in Stamford, R.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester about the Year 1644, for Malignancy, and Frequenting Inns and Tobacco-Shops.

MIDDLESEX.

Newc. Repl. Ecclef Vol. I. p. 703.

PALMER, GEORGE, . Northall, V. See the Cathedral of Gloucester.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

——, ——, . St. Peare, . See Mr. William Hurd in this County.

See the Note at Abergwyley.*

——, ——, . * Penchawdd, .

See the same Note.

——, ——, . Pendath and Llangynog, .

I take these to be Places Annexed.

——, ——, . Penrose, . See Llantilio in this County.

——, ——, . Penroi, . See Clytha in this County.

PHILLIPS, ——, . Skenfrith, R.

There is both a Rectory and a Vicaridge of this Name in this County, unless I miſtake: Or there were at leaſt Two Sufferers in this Living. See Lewis David before mentioned.

POWEL, ——, . Lanferring, . He lived to be Reſtored.

PRICE, FRANCIS, . Llanvaches, V. He was Sequeſtred in the Year 1648.

Or Crit: Corney; for I take them to be the ſame Living; if not, there was ſuch a Benefice likewiſe under Sequeſtration, which muſt have a diſtinct and ſeparate Place in this Liſt.

PRICE, OWEN, . Lanhangel-Kil-Comey, V.

Ejected by the Propagators, for Malignancy and Drunkenneſs.

I take theſe to be but One Living.

PRICE, WILLIAM, . Comgey and Oldcaſtle, V.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Inſufficiency and uſing the Common-Prayer.

PRICE, ——, . Carlion, V.

Whether there be a Place of Diſtinction belonging to this Lanvihangel, and conſequently whether it be the ſame with any of the other Llanvihangels mentioned in this County, I know not. Quære.

PRICHARD, DAVID, . Lanvihangel, V.

Ejected by the Propagators, for Malignancy and Drunkenneſs.

PRICHARD, HUGH, . Llanwenerth, .

This Living is in this County, if I miſtake not.

NORFOLK.

PIKE, ——, . All-Saints Rocklaud, R.

He was ſequeſtred about the Year 1644; for Inſufficiency; ſaying Obedience to the Orders and Injunctions of the Church; preſſing the Neceſſity of Parochial Communion; and being diſcompetred with Drink. He had been Miniſter of this Living 40 Years, and was at that time ſo Old, that he could not attend the Committee, and conſequently muſt have been ſequeſtred without being heard what he had to ſay in his Defence. Quære if he did not alſo loſe a little Temporal Eſtate.

This Caſe is the ſingle one which I have Obſerved, in all the Proceedings againſt the Clergy in the Aſſociated Counties, where Malignancy did not make up one part of the Charge.

PLUMMER, RICHARD, . Alby, R. And the Curacy of Suſted, .

He was ſequeſtred by the Earl of Manchester, Auguſt 13, 1643; for being a looſe Intemperate Man, ſeldom Preaching, Inveighing againſt the Rebels, Refuſing to pay Money for ſupporting the Rebellion, and for Aſſiſting his Majeſty. He had a Wife and four Children.

PORTER, EDMOND, B. D. Heveningham, .

See the Cathedral of Norwich.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

PHILLIPS, ——, .. Whitton, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

He was Articled againſt by one L—— of his Pariſh, becauſe he would not let him have the Tythes of his Eſtate at his own Rate. The Perpetuity of the Living was his own, but his Right of Preſenting to it was by Court ſuperſeded. He had at that time 22 Children and 18 Grand-children, ſome of whom were reduced to ſuch Neceſſity, that they were forced for meer Hunger to eat Graſs and Roots; as the Excellent Mr. Fr. Stephens, one of the ſuffering Prebendaries of Lincoln (who was himſelf ſequeſtred in this County, and therefore could not but be well Informed in what he ſaid) hath Affirmed. His Succeſſor was one M——, a Welch, Drunken Curate, and not Reſident upon the Living. Mr. Philips was a Man of Good Deſerts and Abilities.

In ſome Manuſcript Papers of his, which I have had the uſe of.

PRESTON, GEORGE, . Thrup, V.

Sir R—— S——, (a bitter Enemy to the Clergy) ſent a Party of Soldiers for him (and of all the days in the Year, choſe Eaſter-Day for this good Deed) who ſeized him as he came out of the Church after Evening Sermon; and not ſuffering him to go home to his Houſe to put off his Gown, hurried him to Northampton-Goal. He had then ſeven Children, and his poor Wife made earneſt Inſtances for his Liberty, which ſome of the Commitee were willing to grant; but his Patron Sir R—— S——(for he had the Preſentation of Thrup, and himſelf Preſented Mr. Preſton to it) was his Enemy, and would

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

PHILLIPS, AMBROSE, A. M. Westbury (First Portion) R.

The Profits of his Living were Sequestred Aug. 2, 1645; but the Order for Ejecting Mr. Phillips, is dated Sept. 10, 1646, both issued by the Committee of Salop, and the Latter put in Execution by a Party of Soldiers. He had then a Wife and Ten Children, who were Turned out of Doors. He was after permitted to Rent his own Parsonage; but when his Barns were full, the Committee themselves sent an Order, and seized all the Tythes and Profits. So that his Family subsisted chiefly by Charity; but partly, by a small Tenement of 30 l. per Annum, his Wife's Joynture, of which he saw but 6 l. per Annum clear. He after Officiated at a Place called Shipton, in this County, worth 6 l. per Annum; but was driven from this likewise, and denied also the Liberty of a Private School. He lived to be Restored, but not without Great Opposition from the Party.

Memory; and by his private Conversation and Practice, did Encourage and Confirm them in the same: And when Bridgwater was Besieged, he went into that Town, and acted as a True Subject should do, to Vindicate his Rightful and Lawful King. At the same time the Parliament Army possessed Taunton; and when this Clergyman repaired to his own House, he was forced to place People to Watch, whether any of the Parliament Army was coming; who had often searched his House, and thrust their Swords through his Beds to find him. And when Bridgwater was deliver'd up to the Parliament, all those Clergymen who would not take the Covenant, were driven away on foot to Portsmouth; amongst whom was this Mr. Powell; and there they were put on board a Ship, to be carried to London: And upon a Sunday, when they were there on Ship-board, the Clergy being at Prayers upon the Deck, the Children of the Town came as near as they could to the Ship, calling them Baal's Priests, and throwing Stones at them: And it was observed, that one of the Children, as he was throwing Stones, and calling them Names, fell down dead, and never more could be restored to Life.

When they were taken Prisoners in Bridgwater, before they drove them away like Dogs, they searched their Pockets, and would let them have but a very small Parcel of Money with them.

Digitized by Google

After that they went from Portſmouth, they were carried to London, and there put into a Peſthouſe, and allowed no other Lodging than the Hard Floor: And fearing leſt the Plague would not kill them faſt enough, they ſend them a Diſh of Capons, with Delicate Sawce, as they pretended. The poor innocent half-ſtarved Clergymen, thinking this Diſh to have come from a Friend; and being very hungry, eat very freely of it: But one of them, viz. Mr. Collier, Miniſter of Aſſcott upon Polden-Hill, near Bridgwater, bid them have a care, fearing there might be Poiſon among it; and upon that, takes a Spoonful of the Sawce, and gargling it in his Mouth, preſently ſpit out all his Teeth. Immediately upon this, all of them died, except Mr. Collier; who afterwards had the Plague in the Peſt-Houſe in which they barbarouſly placed him; but by the Providence of God, he out-lived both the Plague and the Rebellion; and was ſettled again in his own Parſonage after the Happy Reſtoration of King, Church, and State.

'Twas from this ſurviving Gentleman that I had theſe, and many more like Words; who with Tears concluded the Relation, ſaying, That he only was eſcaped alone to tell me.

After this, when Mr. Powell was thus barbarouſly Murthered, their Malice was not yet ſatisfied: For they were not contented with his Death; but would Starve his Family: And in order to that, they denied his Son, who had the next Preſentation to Spaxton; and was then a Student at Oxford, and fit for Holy Orders, to be admitted into it; and declared poſitively, that no Powell, nor any of his Relations, ſhould ever be admitted into that, or any other Place: Which wicked Reſolve was put in Execution, and poor Mr. Powell's Wife and Six Children forced to live upon what little Eſtate he had left them. And when * I was, a long time after, in a Proſpect of ſucceeding my Grandfather, the ſaid Mr. Powell, the above-mentioned Mr. Collier never ſaw me, but he brake forth into thoſe Words of David, which, he ſaid, he could confirm from his own Experience, viz. I have been young, and now am old; yet ſaw I never the Righteous forſaken, nor his Seed begging their Bread.

* Viz. Mr. H. Carlile, Rector of Spaxton, from whom this Relation came, and who is ready to atteſt the Truth of the ſame upon Oath.

SOUTHAMPTON.

PAGE, ——, . Hamnilon, .

PAYNE, ——, . Warblington, .

PINKE, ——, . Stoke-Charity, R.
He was alſo Impriſoned.

POWRE, JOHN, . Ireheſter, . And ſome of his Family were reduced at laſt to the Neceſſity of Receiving the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

PRESTON, ——, D.D. Drexford, R.

PRICE, ——, . Gatſcombe, .

STAFFORDSHIRE.

PICKIN, ——, . Swinerton, .

PYOT, ——, . Stow, V.

SUFFOLK.

PARSONS, PHILL. . Great-Finborough, V.

He was Sequeſtred Feb. 1, 1644, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church; ſaying, that it was againſt his Conſcience to pay the Parliament-Taxes; and for being Abſent in his Majeſty's Army.

PEARSON, ——, . ——, .

PEPPER, ——, ; South-Cove, R.
He was alſo Plundered of all that he had in the World, and had nothing left him but the bare Walls of the Parſonage-Houſe, and Four or Five Acres of the Glebe, to maintain himſelf, his Wife, and Two Children; who muſt unavoidably have Starved, had they not been Relieved by the Charity of William Glover, Eſq; of Freſtenden in this County; in which Pariſh Mr. Pepper left Orders to be Buried, that his Bones might Reſt near thoſe of that Gentleman, who had been his Support and Preſervation.

PHILLIPS, ——, . * Fornham, R. * Which of the Fornhams, I know not.

PIERCE, ——, . Wetherſfield, .

PLAYTERS, LIONEL, A. M. Uſhall, R.

He was the Son of Sir Thomas Playters of Satterly, Knight and Baronet; which Honour he afterwards enjoy'd himſelf, upon the Death of his Elder Brother Sir William Playters; and the Eſtate and Title are at this Day in his Eldeſt Son Sir John Playters, a Worthy Gentleman, and a True Friend to the Church of England. His Troubles began with the Rebellion: For in 1642, they brake open his Stable-Doors, Plundered him of Two very good Horſes; and when he had the Confidence to demand by what Authority they did it, they reply'd, Piſtol the Parſon; and Fired Two or more Piſtols at him. June 20, 1644, Articles were Exhibited againſt him before the Sequeſtrators under the Earl of Mancheſter; the Subſtance of which, as Enter'd in the Proceedings of thoſe Sequeſtrators, was his Obſerving the Rules and Orders preſcribed by the Church, Preaching up Submiſſion to his Majeſty, Inveighing earneſtly againſt the Rebellion, Refuſing the Covenant, Keeping company with one, who afterwards, as 'twas reported, went to the Cavalier, Popiſh Army, and ſaying, that he had a Parcel of Hemp to ſell, and hoped it would bear a good Price; becauſe, if the Times continued, a great many would want Hanging; and, that rather than fail, he would give it to the King to Hang up the Round-heads. I have been alſo informed, that one Chief Article againſt him (which was ſo much inſiſted upon before thoſe Sequeſtrators, that it was look'd upon as a Prime Cauſe of his Ejectment) was, his Eat-

Quitted their Farms? And although by that means the Eſtates lay Untenanted for Two Years together, yet they compell'd him to pay the Taxes even of thoſe unoccupied Eſtates. About the Year 1646, one Henry Younger ſucceeded in the Living; but it pleaſed God that Mr. Playters lived to Receive it of him again on the Reſtoration, and Enjoy'd his Living, as well as the Title and Eſtate of his Family, for many Years after, and conſtantly Preached in his Church till the Day of his Death. He was a Perſon of a Meek and Peaceable Temper, and of a Regular Converſation. I had almoſt omitted to ſay, that the Sequeſtrators let ſeveral of the Out-Houſes belonging to the Parſonage, fall quite down to the Ground.

PRATT, WILLIAM, . Melton, R.

See Mr. Alex. Clarke his Preface to this Country, and a Note there.

He was Sequeſtred for Neglecting his Houſe, Reading his Sermons, Giving 100 l. for his Living 33 Years before (for ſo long he had been Miniſter there) and for Malignancy.

It doth not appear in the Articles, whether this (ſuppoſing the Fact to be true) was any other, than his Reading his next Adviſation, or not.

PROCTOR, ——, . Striddeſhall, R.

He was Turned out about the Year 1644, for Obſerving the Rules and Orders of the Church, Aſſerting the Duty of Parochial Communion, Permitting his Servant to Bake on the Day of one of the Parliament Faſts, For Swearing by his Faith and Lane died in 1663; and if ſo, he could not be the ſame with him who was Prebendary of Sarum. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 354, 849.

PECKHAM, JOHN, . Horſted Parva, R.

He was Turned out by the Houſe of Commons, about Sept. 1643: At which time Joſ. Briggs was, by Order of the Houſe likewiſe, appointed his Succeſſor. The Crimes alledged againſt him, were Uncleanneſs, Beaſtly Carriage towards Women, Neglect of Cure, and Malignity. How true thoſe Particulars are, or how well they were proved, I know not: But I have been informed, that in general he was really a very Scandalous Fellow: And if ſo, he is one of thoſe very few Perſons, who have juſtly a Place provided for them in the Century; and the only thing to be complained of in his Sequeſtration, is, that it was not done by a Competent Authority: For which reaſon I could be very glad to Shut him out of this Liſt, if the Faithfulneſs and Integrity of an Hiſtorian would permit me: And I ſhould willingly hear, that our Adverſaries think his Crimes ſuch, that I ought to Diſcount him.

Cent. P. II.

WAR-

Digitized by Google

WARWICKSHIRE.

PHILPOT, JOHN, . Lighthorn, R.
He had a Temporal Eſtate, which was alſo Sequeſtred; but he was permitted to Compound for it at 73 l. See the Note at Dr. Bayly, juſt now mentioned.

PRETTY, RICHARD, A. M. Hampton in Arden, V.

He loſt this Living about the Year 1648, on the Ordinance againſt Pluralities. He was permitted to keep his other Living, which was the Rectory of Aldridge in Staffordſhire.

WESTMORLAND.

WILTSHIRE.

PARRY, WILLIAM, . Devereil-Lanbridge, V.

He was Turned out for his Eminent Loyalty. When he died, I know not; but this is certain, that at the time of his Death, he left a Numerous Family in a Mean and Low Condition; inſomuch that his Widow was at length forced to beg the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, and was accordingly Supported by them.

PELLING, ——, D.D. Strabridge, R.
I am obliged to mention this Gentleman, becauſe he was Actually Diſpoſſeſſed, Plundered, and Turned out of Doors with his whole Family; but he was immediately Reſtored, which render'd his Sufferings very much inferiour to thoſe of the reſt of the Clergy. The manner of his being Re-inſtated, was this: Paſſing along the Street with his Wife and Children, juſt as the Order for his Ejectment had been Executed upon him, he fortunately met with a Colonel of the Parliament Army, who had been his Old Friend and Acquaintance; to whom the Dr. upon the Coloneſs Enquiry, makes his whole Caſe known: By which the Colonel finding that he had been Ejected for not taking the Covenant, ſends for the Fellow who had been Ordered to Tender it to the Dr. (and who, upon his Refuſal, had then Turned him and his Family out of Doors) and taking the Copy of it from him, gives it to the Dr. and bids him put it into his Pocket; which he accordingly did: Whereupon the Colonel left him; and going to ſome of the Men then in Power, aſſured them upon his own Knowledge, that Dr. Pelling had Taken the Covenant; and ſo gets an Order for Re-inſtating him in his Living, which he was afterwards permitted to Enjoy. He was Father to the Learned Dr. Pelling of Petworth in Suſſex.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 307.

——, ——, . Pewſey, R.

PICHANER, ——, . Winterbourn-Cumner, R.

* Or Eaſleg-Queen.

One Walter Norman had this Living during ſome Part of the Uſurpation.

PROBY, ——, D. D. Broughton, R.
He lived to have it again in 1660.

PRIOR, CHRISTOPHER, D. D. Collingbourn, .

I am not ex-poſed to be informed which of the Col-lingbourns there was;

See the Church of Selisbury.

but take it to be Collingbourn Ducis. And if ſo, it is a Rectory worth 3 or 400 l. a Year; and Daniel Burgeſs (Father to the Nonconformiſt of Both their Names in London) was the Laſt of the Sequeſtrators in it. For I find by ſome other Notices, that Daniel Burgeſs got his Brother Cornelius to procure his Removal from the Sequeſtred Living of Sutton in this County (ſeeing the Reſtoration of Mr. Swaddon, the Ejected Loyaliſt) of Collingbourn Ducis, worth 3 or 400 l. a Year, when the excluded Incumbent (viz. of Collingbourn) was dead, and ſo there was no fear of a Right Claimer to Claim that Rectory. Now Dr. Prior died in 1659 (as we have it in Dr. Burgeſs myſtical Key, ſeized the Return of the King) and before, and not in Oct. 1660, the Firſt Intruder after Dr. Prior, died about the ſame time (Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 210.) which (tho' the Gentleman who gave me the Information ſeems ignorant of this Circumſtance) made a Vacancy for Burgeſs's Succeſſion to it. How unchriſtianly the Burgeſs's purſued ſuch the Living in 1662, I ſhall have Occaſion to ſay further in another Place.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

PILKINGTON, ——, . Ombersly, V.

YORKSHIRE.

PENNYMAN, ——, D. D. Stokesly in Cleaveland, R.

He was Brother to the Renowned Sir William Pennyman * Governour of Oxford, for K. Ch. I. His Living was Uſurped by Mr. —— Kay, the Rebellious Son of a very Loyal Father, Mr. —— Kay, Rector of Topcliff in this County: But the Dr. liv'd to be Reſtor'd with the King: All which is Atteſted upon his own Knowledge, by a Nephew of that Mr. Kay, a Perſon of very great Learning, and very Eminent for his Loyalty.

* vide Clar. Hiſt. Rebl.

PICKERING, ——, . Swillington, R. worth 200 l. a Year.

PRICE, ——, . Fetherſton, V.

WALES.

ANGLESEY.

BRECON.

PERROT, JOHN, . Kethedin, R.

He was alſo Turned out by the Propagators, for Swearing, Drunkenneſs, and Aſſiſting his Majeſty! But the Sheriff of this County gave in upon Oath to the Parliament, that he was an Able Miniſter. This Place, which had in it 200 Souls, lay Vacant no leſs than Nine Years after his Ejectment.

POWELL,

Digitized by Google

GLAMORGAN.

PARRY, GEORGE, A.M. Cheriton, R. And Landmadock, R. . . . . }

He was Turned out of the Former of these Livings before the Year 1649 : Whether it was done by the Propagators or not, I am not certain, but guess that he was Dispossest of the Latter at least, by those Ravagers. He was succeeded by an ignorant Fellow, one Jones ; but lived to enjoy his Rectories again many Years after the Restoration. The Two were worth upwards of 100 l. a Year. He was also Prebendary of Landaffe ; but whether before, or after the Rebellion, quære.

——, ——, . Penmark, V.

——, ——, . Penllyn, .

Unless this be an Impropriate Rectory, and it was Sequestred from the Impropriator. Quere.

——, ——, . Pentrich, R. There are Two Livings, or at least, Two Portions of this Name.

——, ——, . Ponvilstone, .
Whether this be a Rectory, Vicaridge, or Chapelry only, I know not ; but whatever else it may be, I believe 'tis a miserable small Place.

——, ——, . Pyle and Cumfge, .

I take them to be but One Living.

For these Five Places last mentioned; see the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenshire.

† for Chemelston. POWEL, DAVID, . † Clemenston, R.

He was Sequestred some time before 1649.

PRICE, EVAN, B.D. St. Athan's, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He was a Gentleman of a very good Family, an Excellent Scholar, and more particularly well Versed in the Civil Law. He was also a Man of Great Piety. All which good Qualifications had so much recommended him to the Favour and Esteem of the then Bp. of Landaffe, that he seldom did any thing without him : For which reason he was commonly called Bishop of Landaffe. He had been a very long while Minister of this Place, had a great Family, and was no less than 80 Years of Age when they Turned him out of it. Himself, and some of his Sons, who were Clergymen, lost several Livings ; and this of St. Athan's was also put under Sequestration ; altho' the Profits of it were after order'd among the Family, in lieu of the Fifths for the Whole which they had been deprived of. Tho' possibly this was continued for some time only ; which was the Case of most of the Clergy in those Parts : For I have been otherwise informed, that Mr. Price had no Fifths out of St. Athan's. He died before the Restoration.

PRI THEODORE, A.M. Cardiff, V. CE, and * Rith, .

* Whether this be a distinct Living, or only a Chapelry, I know not.

He was not only Sequestred, but also fought after to be Hanged : However, it pleased God to preserve him, and he made his Escape to Bristol in Disguise. He had at the time of his Sequestration about Eight Children, and afterwards Four more : So that he had Twelve Children in all when he came to Re-possess his Living upon the Restorn of his Majesty. He was a very good Scholar, and a Man of an Excellent Life.

One Mr. Flower succeeded in the Living, who was a Gloucestershire-Man, and after the Restoration returned into his own County, Conformed, as I have heard, and had a Benefice there.

PRICE, THEODORE, . * Lafleston and Tithegston, Newcastle and Bettus, V. And Marcras, R. . . . . }

* That's Four are Annexed. I have otherwise been informed, that Old Mr. Evan Price himself left the Four former of these, as well as St. Athan's and Bettus. Quere.

He was Dispossest of these before the Year 1649. It may be, this Mr. Theodore Price was one of the Sons of the Old Mr. Evan Price, and these were some of the Livings which his Family lost, and for the Fifths of which the Profits of St. Athan's were allotted them : And if so, this ought not to make a Distinct Article, but to be joyned to Mr. Theodore Price before mentioned. Quere.

One Morgan John, an Anabaptist, succeeded in the Former United Places

PRITCHARD, GEORGE, . Llanfawr, .

He was Turned out for Delinquency.

MERIONETH.

MONTGOMERY.

PARRY, GABRIEL, . Llanfanfryd, .

See Mr. John Hughes in this County, and a Note there.

Quere if he be the same Person with him of both these Names before mentioned in Denbeighshire.

PREES, WILLIAM, . Llanbillieth, .

PEMBROKE.

PARDUE, MARMADUKE, . St. Davids, .

He was Sequestred for Drunkenness, by the Propagators.

PHILLIPS, JOHN, . Llandeloy, V. and Llanhowell, V.

Whether these be Distinct, or Annexed, I know not.

He was Turned out by the same Commissioners, and for the same Crime.

——, ——, . Penrith, R.

——, ——, . * Penwyrych, .

* See the Note at Abergwyley.

PRICE,

Digitized by Google

der the Letter B.

PINDAR, ——, B. D. ——, .
He was also a Cambridge Man, Incorporated B. D. at Oxford at the same time with Dr. Peake, and on the same Account; and therefore see the Note also at Dr. Bowreman.

Wood, Ath. Vol II. p. 729.

PITTS, ——, . ——, .
His Family were also reduced to such a mean Condition, that his Widow was at length supported by the Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

See one Edw. Pitts in Salop. The I have not the least reason to think, that he was the same Person. As also one Nich. Pitt at Q. Coll. Oxon.

Q.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

QUARLES, EDW. B. D. Ruiston (All Saints, if I guess aright) R.

See the Cathedral-Church of York.

What other Hardships were put upon him, I know not. Wood saith in general, that he suffer'd much for his Loyalty. On the Return of his Majesty he was Restored to his Living, made Arch-d. of Winchester, and died about the Middle of March 1660. He was, saith Lloyd, and Wood after him, a General Scholar and a most Accurate Preacher. He was succeeded in his Living upon the Sequestration, by an Independent, who never Administred the Sacrament in that Church during the whole time of his Abode there.

Mem. p. 538.

One Goodcare.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

ROW, CHENEY, D. D. Orwell, worth 100 l. a Year.

See Trinity College in Cambridge.

CHESHIRE.

ROBINSON, JOHN, . Brereton, .
His Temporal Estate also was Declared Forfeited for Treason, by an Act of Nov. 18, 1652. I take this Brereton to be the Rectory of that Name in this County: And seeing he is in that Act called led John Robinſon of Brereton, Clerk, I ſuppoſe that was his Living; and take it for granted that he was Sequeſtred from it, ſince he was declared a Traytor. However, quære.

Scob. Coll. Par. II. p. 216

CORNWALL.

ROSINGTON, JAMES, . St. Alan's, V.
He was born ſomewhere in the Diocеſs of Norwich, Educated at Exeter-College in Oxford; and being nearly Related to the moſt Pious Biſhop Hall, was brought into this Country by that Prelate. His Sufferings began Early in the Rebellion: For he was Sequeſtred among the firſt of the Clergy in this County, and narrowly ſearched after by a Party of Horſe to have been Impriſoned, and probably otherwiſe ill-uſed, if they could have caught him, (for they threatned his Wife and Children to Baniſh them) but he concealed himſelf in the Fire-hole of a Mault-kiln. However, though they miſt the Maſter, they found the poor Servants, to his ſorrow, whom they abuſed, and beat moſt unmercifully, becauſe he would not diſcover where his Maſter was; Mr. Roſington had at that time no leſs than Eight Children, as likewiſe a Siſter in his Family, whom he Maintained, but was never able to recover the Fifths for their Support: So that they were forced to Live on the Charity of his Relations in the Diocеſs of Norwich, to whom he himſelf Fled for Shelter, and continued there ſome time; but afterwards returned into Cornwall, and ſettled firſt at Cranbeck, and afterwards at Probus in that County; at which latter Place he continued till the Reſtoration. He was once, as I find, under Examination before the Tryers (and poſſibly it was to get himſelf ſettled in one of thoſe two Places) who owned That he was fitter to Examine them, than they him. However, or rather for that Reaſon, they would not allow him to Preach at his own Living, becauſe it was ſo near to the Market-Town of Truro, where a Man of his Parts and Learning would have got a greater Auditory, than they cared to allow him. One Hardſhip more which they put upon him, I cannot forbear to mention; 'twas this: There was an Eſtate lying in a Neighbouring Pariſh, that always paid Tythes to the Vicar of St. Alan; but it being then Poſſeſs'd by one of the Godly, the Men of the Times, not content with having Sequeſtred Mr. Roſington, obliged him likewiſe to Refund what he had Received from that Eſtate, which he was forced to do by Sixpence a Week for ſome time; when his Family all the while, as his own Daughter aſſured me, had hardly Bread to Eat. 'Tis obſervable however, that the People to whom this poor diſtreſſed Gentleman was forced to pay the things which he had never unjuſtly taken, came afterwards to Beggary, and were Relieved at Mr. Roſington's own Doors: for he out-lived the Uſurpation, returned to St. Alan's, had the Living of St. Clement's likewiſe in this County, and died about the Year 1688. He was Succeeded upon his Sequeſtration, by one Dingle, a Weaver, but one of the better Sort, a Cloth-Weaver: After whom, one Stoneham Uſurped the Living.

But his Family continued in Cornwall.

ROUSE, ———, . Hellan, R.

ROW, ———, . Cambourn,

CUMBERLAND.

RATCLIFFE, PERCIVAL, * Croſſwaite, V.

* This I take to be the Living which he Left. Quære.

Some of his Rabells were after his Death reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that they were forced to Sue for the Publick Charities of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, which they received.

ROBINSON, BERNARD, . A. M.
Torphenhow, V.
He had no Fifths paid him.

DERBYSHIRE.

DEVONSHIRE.

RAYNOLDS, RICHARD, † A. M. } † If not B. D.
Stoke-Flamming, R. . . . . }
And
Woodley, R. . . . . }

He was born at Cheriton-Fitz-Pain in this County, bred at Exeter-College in Oxford, of which he became Fellow (had, as I gueſs, the Chaplain-Fellowſhip, and at length was made Chaplain to the Royal Conſort Queen Anne. About what time he Quitted the Service of that Princeſs, or was admitted to either of theſe Livings, I know not; but find that his taking Orders debarred him of a very good Temporal Eſtate: for his Father having deſigned him for the Law, was ſo much diſpleaſed with his Reſolutions of ſtudying Divinity, that he Diſinherited him. About the Year 1644, this Reverend old Gentleman, who had thus once already forſaken Houſes and Lands for the ſake of the Goſpel, began to ſuffer a Second time for it; and in the firſt place was Plundered of his Plate, Goods, Books and Papers to the value of 1500*l.* nor did they ſpare the very Servants of the Family, but Rifled them of what they could find. Mr. Raynolds was likewiſe forced to Abſcond, and Conceal himſelf for Fear of being Impriſoned, at leaſt, if not Outraged and Abuſed in his Perſon, as well as in his Goods. Nor was one Plundering thought enough for ſuch a Malignant, and therefore a Party of Horſe was ſent from Plymouth to Plunder him a Second time; but the Diligence of the firſt Plunderers made it, as I apprehend, hardly worth their Labour: for I do not find that there was much left for the ſecond Party; and that poſſibly was what put them upon playing the ſmall Game of even picking Mr. Raynolds's Pockets. However there was one Circumſtance which rendered the Villainy of this ſecond Plundering very peculiar; for the Party was Conducted to Mr. Raynolds's Houſe by a Fellow who had Eaten not a little of his Bread, and had been in ſome ſort ſupported by him. Whether theſe Two were the only Inſtances that he was thus uſed, I know not; but this is certain, that underſtanding where no leſs than ſeven of his Horſes were, after he had been Rifled of them, he Petitioned to have One of them again; but inſtead of the Horſe, he had this Anſwer returned him. That he was a Malignant, and had too much in having an Houſe over his Head. Others of the Party were, it ſeems, of another Mind; and deſigning a Great

Houſe

Digitized by Google

Base and Ungrateful in the laſt degree, ſince they Refuſed ſuch a fair and generous Offer; they were ſo much offended at him for what he had done, that they reſolved a-new to attempt the Diſplacing of him: In order to which, they complained to the Committee at Exeter, before which he was three times Summoned, and as often Acquitted. But though that Puny Committee, and the very Army it ſelf, had ſpared him; yet there was a Committee at London (as much above all Law and Juſtice, as they were without Mercy or Conſcience) who had provided a Scourge for him: It was the Committee for Plundered Miniſters, who by their Order of Auguſt 15, 1644, had Sequeſtered him, not only without Summoning or hearing him, but even without his knowing, or ſo much as ſuſpecting that they had taken him in hand. However, there is no queſtion but what they did, was for weighty Cauſes and Conſiderations, one of which was in Effect, his being Eighty Years of Age, Paralytick, and ſo not able to Preach himſelf; and another was his keeping ſcandalous Curates; which * two Joyned together, made up the Crime ſo commonly objected among the Clergy in thoſe Times, viz. Neglect of Cure. I need not ſay any thing of the former of theſe, ſince to make a Man's Age and Infirmities the Reaſons of Starving him, is ſuch a piece of Oppreſſion and Barbarity, as needs no Comment; but as to the ſcandalous Curates, that part of the Charge was, for ought I know, juſt enough; though of all People alive, theſe

From Stoke-Flemming.

* Though I am not certain whether the Letters of theſe Two, was not alledged againſt him at the time when he was Sequeſtred from his other Living of Woodley thoſe in the Pariſh who were full fraught with Malice againſt him, (inſomuch that one Fellow ſaid, he hoped to have the Parſon's Guts to Garter his Hoſe with; and another, whom Mr. Raynolds had formerly taken to task for Oppreſſing a poor VVidow, Ranſacked the whole Pariſh for Accuſations againſt him) yet not one of them all could pick up any thing Material, and therefore none of them Appeared before the Committee, and ſo he was diſmiſt. However, he who was to Succeed, did not thus give over his Suit; but by Threatnings, and other Methods, compell'd Mr. Raynolds at laſt to Quit the Living. 'Tis very Obſervable, that when his Troubles began, as he foreſaw that he ſhould certainly be Turned out; ſo though he were then 80 Years of Age, he had a ſtrong Perſuaſion upon him, that he ſhould live to poſſeſs his Benefice again; and therefore as ſoon as the Order of Sequeſtration was firſt ſerved upon him, he forthwith ſet himſelf to put his Houſe in very good Repair; ſaying, They will always fear being diſpoſſeſt, and ſo let my Houſes run to Ruin; which was what moſt of the Clergy who lived to be Reſtored, found to ſad Experience to be a great Truth.

Theſe were Mr. Raynolds his Sufferings at Stoke-Flemming. As for his Living of VVoodley, the true Reaſons of his Sequeſtration were much the ſame with thoſe for which he had been Turned out of his Other. For the Brother of a certain Juſtice of Peace in thoſe Times, had the

Digitized by Google

Advowſon of this Pariſh; and dying before Mr. Raynolds, left a Wife and Child who wanted to be provided for: Nor was Mr. Raynolds, as Old as he was, like to pay them the Complement of Dying, to make a Vacancy ſoon enough. So that the Juſtice being quite out of Patience, gets an Order from the Committee for Plundered Miniſters, dated June 26, 1646, to Diſpoſſeſs this Ill-natured old Gentleman. Mr. Raynolds, according to the Uſage of that Committee, was not Summoned, much leſs Heard in this Sequeſtration neither; and therefore complaining of it to them, Sept. 10, 1647, they Suſpended their Ord r of Sequeſtration, until Mr. Binmore (who I ſhould before have ſaid had married the Widow) had ſhewn Cauſe why Mr. Raynolds ſhould not be Continued. He was now upwards of 80 Years of Age; and as Old as he was, was forced in defence of his Right, to take a Winter's Journey to London, which, going and coming, was well nigh 400 Miles. When the Day of Hearing came on, no one Appeared againſt him; whereupon the Committee gave him a Verbal Order to go down into the Country, and poſſeſs himſelf again of which of the Livings he thought fit: Woodley being the leaſt of them, and conſequently not ſo likely as the other to create him further Trouble, he made choice of that; and at his return Home, ſets himſelf about repairing the Parſonage-Houſe, in hopes to abide quietly in it for the remainder of his Life. But the day after he had finiſhed it, he was ſerved with another Order from the very ſame Committee for Plundered Miniſters, to Quit the Living to Mr. Binmore, who was not content with that only, but ſeized his Goods likewiſe, and all that he had, and turned him and his Family out of doors. Mr. Raynolds had at that time a Wife and ſix Children: two of which however were in part provided for; and was by this means reduced from a plentiful Eſtate (Spiritual and Temporal) of well near 300 l. a Year, to the poor Pittance of 30 l. (nor had he any Fifths paid him from either Living) inſomuch that one of his Daughters was forced to Spin to help out the Maintenance of her Aged Father and Mother. In this condition Mr. Raynolds lived till the happy Return of his Majeſty; at which time he quitt'd Woodley to the Uſurper; on Condition that he ſhould pay him the whole Arrears of Fifths for 13 Years, and make him Reparation for the Goods which he had ſeized at the time of his coming in; but as for Stoke-Flemming, on t'other hand, he freely quitted the Fifths, which he might have recovered and took the Living again, tho' he Reſigned preſently after to a Gentleman who had married his Daughter. Mr. Raynolds lived about two or three Years after the time which he was always perſuaded he ſhould ſee, and then died very near the 100th Year of his Age. He always bore his Sufferings with great Patience and Magnanimity; and once in the midſt of them pleaſantly ſaid, he did not know that he had by any Intemperance deſerved to be Starved. He was a Man of great Judgment and Integrity, and on that account was frequently Imployed in Arbitrations, both Parties ſometimes leaving the Matter to him, and reſting ſatisfi'd in his Determination. He always kept ſtrict Orders in his Family; was very conſtant in the two Duties of his Function, Preaching and Catechiſing, as long as his Age and Infirmities would permit him, he fed the Poor of his Pariſh thrice a Week; nor would he on thole days allow his Children to take a bit of Meat, until the Poor had been firſt ſerved; he likewiſe Imployed ſeveral aged Men, whom no one elſe would ſet on Work, becauſe their Labour was done; inſomuch that the Pariſhioners uſed to ſay, Mr. Raynolds gave Men Wages to eat up his Meat; nor can I forbear to mention another Inſtance of more than common goodneſs in him; which is, that the Soldiers who Plundered his Houſe, as aforeſaid, not forbearing to riffle his very Servants, Mr. Raynolds, tho' he ſuffered ſo much himſelf, yet made good the Servants Loſſes.

See the Abridgment, p. 305.

REED, EDMOND, . * Maryanſ-leigh, R.

* The Tithes of this Living are Impropriate, although the Miniſter of it writes Rector, and it is generally eſteemed a Place for Life. Mr. Reed particularly, is called Rector, and probably had taken

He was once Interrupted, and Abuſed in the Pulpit, and at length Sequeſtred; when he had been near Forty Years Miniſter of this Place. The Chief Accuſation againſt him, as far as I can learn, was his Preaching, as well as Approving the Book of Sports. His Firſt Succeſſor was one Reeve; after whom came one Bullhead. Mr. Reed lived to be Reſtored, but died ſoon after.

Inſtitution after the Reſtoration

DORSETSHIRE.

RYVES, JOHN, D. D. Gunvill, R. I ſuppoſe, Turrent-Gunvil.
See the Church of Chich-ſt.

DURHAM.

ESSEX.

READE, ALEXANDER, D. D. Fifield, R.

He was Turned out about Apr. 11, 1643; at which time one Conſtant * Jeſſop was put into the Rectory.

* Or Joſeph.

ROGERS, NEHEMIAH, B. D. Meſſing, V.

See Mr. Smith in this County. Th y Poſſeſs'd and Loſt this Living ſucc ſſively, as I preſume. I have the Account of them both in the ſame Letter: So that it cannot be a Miſtake of mine. See alſo Ely-Cathedral.

RUSSEL, JOHN, . Chinkford, R.

He was Turned out about the Year 1644; and Out-living the Uſurpation, was Re-poſſeſs'd of his Rectory in 1660. He publiſhed a Vindication of Two Pieces of Dr. Gauden's, concerning the Covenant.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 209.

Two of his Succeſſors during ſome Part of the Uſurpation, were Robert Plume, who came to this Living in 1655, and Tho. Whitham, who got it in 1617.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

ROBINSON, HUGH, D. D. Durſley, R.
See Glouceſter-Cathedral.

ROWDEN, ROBERT, . Notgrove, R.

He was afterwards Rector of Corbarley in this County, was living, and almoſt 90 Years old Oct. 8, 1706; at which time he gave the following Account of his own Sufferings, viz. That he was Turned out of his Living by Desborough, (who alſo Threaten'd to ſend him for a Slave to Jamaica) and ſucceeded by one D——. About what Year this happen'd, I know not; but in 1643, as he was dalous Converſation in general (without ſo much as intimating any one Particular) and Refuſing to pay Obedience to their Summons.

ROADES, JONAH, . Pixley.
The Tythes of his Living were put under Sequeſtration by the Committee of Hereford, Aug. 4o 1646, for Scandal in his Converſation in general likewiſe, without Alledging or Suggeſting ſo much as any Particular, and for Abſenting himſelf many Years; which, I make no Queſtion, was occaſioned by his not daring to appear at his Living for fear of Impriſonment, or worſe Uſage. I find the Widow of one Roads a Sequeſtred Clergyman, ſupported by the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. He is ſaid to have Suffered as much for the King, as any Man that wore the Gown. Poſſibly he was the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Roades of Pixley; but if he was not, he ought to be Entered in a Diſtinct and Separate Article at the End of the Counties.

ROGERS, HENRY, D. D. Stoke-Edith, R.

See the Cathedral of Hereford.

mended and Preſt the Obſervance of the New Canons, and Aſſerted the Authority of the Biſhops as Superiour to that of the Parliament. There was a Gentleman of both theſe Names, who was Curate to Mr. Downhall at St. Ive's, and was, together her with him, Driven from that Place. Poſſibly this Mr. Reynolds of Houghton, after he had been Turned out of that Living, was glad to take up with a Curacy under Mr. Downhall: But if he be not the ſame Perſon with that Curate, then one Mr. John Reynolds muſt be inſerted in the Appendix among the Suffering Curates.

If he did indeed ſay any ſuch thing, I make no queſtion but he was talking of Matters purely Eccleſiaſtical.

KENT.

READING, JOHN, B. D. St. Mary's in Dover, .
Chartham, R. . . . . . } And
Cheriton, R. . . . . . }

See the Church of Canterbury.

LAN-

LANCASHIRE.

ROTHWELL, WILLIAM, A.M. Leyland, V.

He was alſo Violently Dragged out of his Church in a barbarous manner, and Perſecuted from Place to Place, until at length he ſettled near Denbeny in Cheſhire; where he lived with his Family in a Poor, and it would have been a Starving Condition, had he not been Relieved by the Charity of one Mr. Daniel. He Survived the Uſurpation, and Returned, if I miſtake not, to his Vicaridge. The Party had ſuch an Implacable Hatred to him, that a Dying Zealot left a Sum of Money, by his laſt Will, to his Friend, to the expreſs End, that he ſhould be enabled by it to Proſecute Mr. Rothwell; as Mr. Rothwell himſelf told the Perſon who gave me this Information.

ROWLEY, FRANCIS, . Coppenhall, R.

'He was a very great Sufferer in the time of 'the Civil War, upon the Account of his Loyalty, 'the greater Part of the Pariſh being on the Par- 'liament ſide. He received a great deal of ill U- 'ſage from them as ſoon as the Wars brake out: 'And when the Parliament Party began to get 'the better, they ſtill more barbarouſly Abuſed and 'Inſulted him. His Horſes had their Legs cut 'off as they went in the Paſture; and ſoon after, 'they Fired the Perſonage-Houſe over his Head, 'with the Barns and Stables, &c. conſiſting in all 'of 16 Bays of Building, many of them full of 'Corn; and being Fired in the dead time of the 'Night, he could ſave none of his Goods, and 'had like to have been Burnt in his Bed, with 'his Wife and Family: In which Villainous A- 'ction the Chief Agent was ſuppoſed to be one 'Wettinghall, his next Neighbour, who after- 'wards came to the Extremeſt Poverty, and died 'miſerably (being Eaten to death with Lice.) In 'ſhort, they ſo Harraſſed and Abuſed poor Mr. 'Rowley, that he was forc'd to Quit his Living, 'and went afterwards to Madeley in Staffordſhire, 'and Taught a Small School, where he lived for 'ſome Years in a low Condition, and there end- 'ed his Days ſome time before the Reſtoration.

'After they had forced Mr. Rowley out, Sir William Brereton, a Parliament Commander, put in one Mr. Anderton, a ſordid Complier with thoſe Times, who never would allow poor Mr. Rowley any thing of the Living that ever I could hear of. Mr. Rowley dying before the King came in, Anderton Conformed, and kept the Living for many Years; but ſuffer'd all the Buildings to ly in Aſhes; which were after his Death, moſt of them Re-built by my immedi- ate Predeceſſor, Mr. John Harriſon. and the reſt by *my ſelf: And in all the time of Anderton's Intruſion and Incumbency, he taking in a manner 'what the People were pleaſed to give him; this 'hath introduced ſo many Diſadvantageous Cu- 'ſtoms and Preſcriptions againſt the Church, as 'to deprive it of no leſs than one Half of the 'Profits, being now worth but little more than '50 l. per Annum, though the Annual Rent of 'the Pariſh is little leſs than 1500 l. So that all 'the ſucceeding Rectors are like to be Great Suf- 'ferers, as well as my Worthy Predeceſſor; who 'was a Man of good Learning, ſtrict Sobriety, and 'of great Integrity.

*Mr. Griffith Vaughan, Rector in the Year 1705; from whom I have this Account.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

RAWSON, THOMAS; *A.M. Hoaby, R. worth 160 l. per Annum. *As 'tis thought.

He was Admitted to this Living July 6; 1642, and had married the Daughter of Sir Roger Nevilon, Kt. a Gentlewoman whoſe Education was ſuitable to her Birth and Quality; and who lived with him in a manner no way beneath it, until the Breaking out of the Rebellion: At which time he being forced to Abſcond to avoid the Miſeries of a Priſon, they ſoon after put his Living under Sequeſtration, and appointed one Smith to Succeed him; who being denied the Poſſeſſion of the Perſonage-Houſe by Mrs. Rawſon, he got a Party of Horſe from Leiceſter, which by Force in a Barbarous and Inhumane Manner, dragged her out of the Houſe, and turned her into the Church-yard; and for ſome Days and Nights, ſhe and her Family lay in the Church-Porch and Belfry, until Mr. Needham, Rector of Rotherby, having Notice of this ſad and deplorable Condition of Mrs. Rawſon and her Children, gave them leave to dwell in the Perſonage-Houſe of that Living. But not long after, Mr. Needham himſelf falling under the ſame Calamity of Sequeſtration, the miſerable Woman, with her Numerous Family, was Turned out of Houſe and Home a ſecond time, and forced to ly in the Church-Porch at Rotherby, as ſhe had before done at Hoaby. However, at length ſhe was admitted within the Doors, and lived in ſome part of the Church (poſſibly in the Belfry here alſo) where they put up Blankets for a Skreen betwixt the Family and the Congregation. In this Habitation ſhe continu'd for ſome time; and then Sir Thomas Hartopp gave them leave to dwell in ſome Out-Houſes belonging to a Tenement which he had in Rotherby; where they entirely Subſiſted upon the Charity of their Neighbours, and ſome other Friends, who ſent them Relief. She had then no leſs than Nine or Ten Children, which were too many to be long maintain'd in that manner; and therefore were at length reduc'd to the Proviſion which the Law had made; and in plain Words, brought to the Pariſh of Hoaby, not for Habitation only, but for Relief and Maintenance. Here then Mrs. Rawſon was put into a very mean Houſe, and had but one poor pitiful Room there for her whole Family. After which, they bound out one of her Children Apprentice to a Lace-maker. Two more of them were taken off at length, and Tabled at the Charge of ſome of her Friends, in a Widow's Houſe of the Pariſh, for Eight Pounds a Year: Sir Henry Hudſon of Melton-Mowbray in this County, kept Two more of them; and other Two were Boarded with one Matthias Wolfe, the Lace-man with whom the other Brother was Apprentice, but at whole Charge I know not. One piteous and unhappy Child likewiſe, whoſe Name was George, being Lame, was forced to be put into an Hoſpital by the Pariſh. It may well be thought, that even after Mrs. Rawſon was Eaſed (if I may ſo call it) in this manner from the Burthen of moſt of her Children; yet the remaining part of her Afflictions could not but ſit very Heavy upon a Perſon, who had been Born and Educated as ſhe was. But before the Children were thus taken off from her, their Miſeries were Inexpreſſible. Let the reſt be gueſs'd at by this one Inſtance: There are at this time, or were very lately living, ſome who have ſeen Mrs. Rawſon and her Children ſtand round a Sieve of Horſe-Beans, eating them by Handfuls: To thoſe they Whom ſee in this County alſo.

Where they had no Beans, but were in the Upper Rooms by a Ladder.

Digitized by Google

'seen 20 Years, for a Teſtimony of the Barbarity of the Parliament Party. They add alſo, 'that he was immediately carried away to Leiceſter-Jayl, where he lay a whole Twelve-month. 'At the Reſtoration he returned to his Benefice, and 'Enjoyed it ſeveral Years.

Had permitted him to Dreſs himſelf, in order to go with them, before they ſhut-out-buſied him.

ROBINSON, HENRY, A M. Long-Whatton, .

He was Son to Dr. William Robinſon (whom ſee in the Church of York) Half-Brother to Archbiſhop Laud. Another of that Doctor's Sons, and conſequently Brother to this Sufferer, was Sir John Robinſon. Mr. Robinſon outt-lived the Uſurpation, and was Reſtored to his Living.

ROGERS, ———, . Blaby, R.

RUSTED, THEOPHILUS, . Old-Dalby on the Woulds, .

He was Brother to the well known, and moſt Charitable Mr. Tobias Ruſted; beſides which, and his Sequeſtration, I cannot learn any thing more of him.

For theſe Three laſt Livings, ſee the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire.

NORFOLK.

REEVE, THOMAS, . Alborough, R. And Coleby, R. . . . . } See Mr. Harry in this County.

He was Ejected by the Earl of Mancheſter, Aug. 13, 1643, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church, Diſſuading his Pariſhioners from Rebellion, and Refuſing to Aſſiſt in it himſelf: As likewiſe for Refuſing the Covenant. The Account of ſome part of what himſelf and his Family Suffer'd, beſides the Sequeſtration and its Conſequences, is ſent me in theſe Words by his own Son, who is yet, or was very lately living:

'One Major Raims, his Neighbour, having 'Raiſed a Troop of Horſe for the Parliament, got 'a Warrant from the Committee of Sequeſtration 'at Norwich, to take away the ſaid Dr. Reeve's 'Cattle, and to bring him Priſoner to Norwich-Jayl: Which he Executed with all the Rigour 'he could; ſearching the Bed where the Wife of 'the ſaid Dr. Reeve had layn in but three Days, for 'the ſaid Dr. Reeve: And when the Women rebuked him for his Barbarity; telling him, he acted more like a Beast than a Man; he drew his Sword, and ſtabb'd it through the Bed in ſeveral Places, pretending to Stabb the ſaid Dr. Reeve as hid in the Bed. After that, he cauſed all his Troopers to pull the Bridles off their Horſes, and whip them round the Garden, to Tread all under foot. After that, he brake open the Barn-Door, and turned the Whole Troop to the Sacks of Corn, to fill their Bellies. Some * few Days after he came with another Warrant, and brake open the Doors with a Plow-Share, being denied Poſſeſſion, and turned my Mother and Six Children into the Street; and brought Carts, and carried away my Father's Library, and all the Houſhold-Goods, and ſold them for what he pleas'd, and gave no Account to the Committee. Then my Father (having lain Obſcure for near three Years) attempted to go to Oxford to the King; and within ſeven Miles of that Place was taken Priſoner by a Troop of the Parliament Horſe, and ſtript Naked in very Cold Weather, and his Clothes ripp'd all in Pieces to ſearch for Letters; inſtead of which, they met with near Threeſcore Pieces of Broad Gold, which were Quilted into ſeveral Places, for his Support; but he could get none of them again. Then he was brought Priſoner to London, where his Country-man Miles Corbet (who was afterwards one of K. Charles the Firſt's Judges) ſate Chairman of the Committee; who pretended at firſt to ſend him in Exchange to Oxford; but after that, told him, he knew him to be an Old Malignant, and promiſed to ſee him Hanged; ſo ſent him Priſoner to the Gate-Houſe, Weſtminſter, where he was very hardly uſed for Three Years. But the ſaid Corbet being ſent into Ireland, by the Interceſſion of many Friends, he at laſt got his Liberty out of that Noiſome Place; and his Eſtate Spiritual and Temporal, being Sequeſtred about Eight Years, and ſwallow'd up by the Committee at Norwich, and no Delinquency in Eight Years proved againſt him, my Mother Petitioned the Grand Committee here at London, that the Committee at Norwich might produce Articles againſt him, for what reaſon his Eſtate was Sequeſtred, and no Return made thereof to the Committee at London; and there being no ſuch Articles returned, with much Soliciting, many long Journies, and great Friends, procured an Order from the, then ſo called, Barons of the Exchequer, to Reverſe the * Sequeſtration in the Year 1652.

* So that probably She had not been delivered of her Child above a Week, when She was thus Turned out of Doors.

* Of the Temporal Eſtate only, and not of the Living.

I have choſen in this, as in ſeveral other Caſes, to give the Reader the Accounts Word for Word, as they were Tranſmitted to me, tho' in a very plain and homely manner, for Reaſons which I have more than once already mentioned; and have only to add, that I believe he ſurvived the Uſurpation, and ſuppoſe he became D. D. after 1660; becauſe in the Original Order for diſcharging the Sequeſtration of his Temporal Eſtate, he hath no other Title given him than Mr. Reeve: And therefore I judge that he is in this Account called Dr. Reeve; not becauſe he was ſo at the time of his Sufferings, but becauſe he became Dr. ſome time before his Death.

RIGGS, CHARLES . Thwaite, R.

ROBERTS, FOULK, B. D. St. Clem.nt's in Norwich, R.

See that Cathedral.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

ROBSON, JOHN, . Morpeth, R. worth 250 l. a Year.

See the Church of Durham. See Mr. Huxley alſo in this County.

ROCHESTER, EDWARD, . Wooler, . worth 100 l. a Year.

His Family were afterwards reduced to ſuch Neceſſities, that they were conſtrained to beg the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows; by which they were accordingly Relieved and Supported.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

RUSTED, ROGER, . Widmore-Pool, R.

He was likewiſe a Brother of the moſt Charitable Mr. Tobias Ruſted before mentioned.

RUSTED, ———, . Holme-Pierepont, R.[1]

This Gentleman was alſo Brother to Mr. Tobias Ruſted; but whether he was the ſame with Mr. Roger Ruſted laſt mentioned, or with Mr. Theophilus Ruſted of Leiceſterſhire, or elſe was a Third Brother of that moſt Pious Perſon, I know not. Quære. He lived to be Reſtored, and Enjoyed his Rectory many Years after.

OXFORDSHIRE.

RADCLIFFE, SAMUEL, D. D. Stapleton, R.

See the Second Vol. Cole in this County.

See Brazen-Noſe-College in Oxford.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

SALOP.

RAWLINS, GYLES, . Higley, V. He lived to the Reſtoration, and was Reinſtated.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

RALEIGH, WALTER, D.D. Cheddar, R. } And
Streat cum Walton, ... }

See the Church of Wells.

READE,

FORDSHIRE

…FFE, SAMUEL, D.D. Stoke [illegible]
…ssam, R.

…N. Coll. College in Oxford.

LANDSHIRE

O P.

…s, GYLES, . Hyde, V.
…o the Restauration, and was R…

IERSETSHIRE.

…, WALTER, D.D Chedzoy, R.
And
…m Hacon, ...

…of this Reign.

REYNOLDS, MARK, . Wixoe, R.

He was Turned out July 23, 1644; for Preaching against the Covenant, Observing Ceremonies, Calling Godly Ministers Rebels, Shewing his utmost Dislike of the Parliament, and saying, they had now the better of the King indeed, for they had his Hand and Seal to it, that they would have his Crown. And, in the Name of Christ! did the Event Evidence the Truth of what he said, or not?

RINGSTED, FRANCIS, . Havant, R.

His Temporal Estate also was put under Sequestration, for which they brought him to a Composition of 40 l. In some Manuscript Papers of the Excellent Mr. Jeremiah Stephens, which I have several times mentioned, I find one Mr. Ringsted (If I read it right) a Sequestred Minister, had obtained Thirty several Orders for Fifths, but could never get one of them Obeyed; insomuch that it broke his Heart. Quære if this was the Gentleman.

ROLFE, ———, . Bramdean, .
He was also Plundered.

Commonly pronounced, of Imistake for, Alverstoke.

ROLFE, ———, . Alver-Stoke, .
He was Turned out by the House of Commons about Nov. 1643; and Anthony Prout was at the same time, and by the same usurped Authority, thrust into his Living. Mr. Rolfe was also Plundered. I suspect that he may be the same Person with him who immediately precedes; and if so, both the Livings ought to be Enter'd there, and not put into distinct Articles. Quære.

*ROBINSON, HENRY, . Hollesby, R.
And Brandsey, V. . . . . .

* Unless Robinson be mistaken for Rawlinson, (whom see just before) and Hollesby for Hollesly, of which quære.

He was also Sequestred about the Year 1644; for observing the Rules and Orders of the Church; Praying for the Bishops after they were Voted out; saying, the Parliament Votes were * no Law; Preaching up Obedience to the King; Preaching against the Parliament; and for saying that those Conventicle-Lecturers in Houses and Corners were Schismaticks.

* And are they?

ROGERSON, THOMAS, A.M. Monksoham, R.

He was put under Sequestration in 1642; and in the following Year his Wife and Children were were turned out of doors: After which Mr. Rogerson lived with a Country-man in a very mean Cottage upon a Heath, for some Years, and in a very low and miserable Condition. At the time when they sequestred him, they not only seized the Profits of the foregoing Year, which was a Customary thing with them; but to this they added also the less common (though not altogether unusual) Barbarity, of making him pay the Taxes for that whole Year, and distrained his Goods for default of Payment. He had been prosecuted altogether out of Malice; and therefore the Neighbouring Gentry and Clergy, and the Inhabitants of the Parish Petitioned the Committee for Plundered Ministers, and the Assembly, that he might be Restored, testifying withal his Abilities, Orthodoxy, and good Life; but they were deaf to any thing of that Kind.

SURREY.

ROGERS, ———, . Chayly, R. See Mr. Edsaw in this County, and a Marginal Note there.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 877.

WARWICKSHIRE.

RILAND, JOHN, A. M. Exhal, R. He was born at Over-Quinton, in the County of Gloucester, Entered first of Magdalen-Hall in Oxford, and soon after removed to the adjoyning College of that Name; where he became Fellow in the Year 1641. In what Year he obtained the Living of Exhal I know not. It was in the Gift of the Crown, and Confistent, as I presume, with his Fellowship, because he was Turned out of it about the Year 1647, at which time 'tis plain he had not left the College, if Wood be rightly Informed; who saith, that he submitted to the Parliament Visitors in the following Year. He was dispossest of Exhal by a Party of Soldiers, from the Town of Warwick, who at the same time settled one Moor, a Jersey-Comber, in his Rectory; which gave Mr. Riland hopes, that he should soon recover it out of the Hands of such a scandalous Intruder. But he found himself much mistaken; for though he spent several Years in prosecution of his Right, it was all in vain. Some time after he had been thus Dragooned out of his Living, he was in very great danger of his Life also: for meeting some of those Soldiers upon the Road, one of them rode up to him, and discharged a Pistol at him so near, that the Fire of it burnt both his Hair and his Hat, but by the good Providence of God, the Ball mist him; in Memory of which Deliverance he kept that Day as long as he lived, setting it a part every Year for Religious Duties. Neither was this all that he Suffered: for his Study at the College was likewise broken open, and not only all his Books, but what he valued much more, all his Collections and Papers, were taken away. As for the former of them, they came into the Hands of a certain * Person, who with the Plunder of this and some other Studies, set up two of his Sons for Booksellers; but both of them broke, and came to nothing. How long Mr. Riland tarried in the College (if at least what Wood saith of his submitting to the Visitors, be true) I cannot Learn. By the Account which I have of him, he doth not seem to have been Resident in this College at all after his Ejectment from his Living; for immediately after his giving over the Pursuit of his Benefice, 'tis said, he lived a very private, retired Life still 1660: At which time he was presented to the Rectory of Bilton in this County Dec. 6, 1661, he was promoted likewise to the Archdeaconry of Coventry, as also about the same time to a Prebend in the Church of Lichfield, and in 1665, he had the Rectory of Bloxwich conferred upon him; where he continued till the time of his Death, which happned March 3, 1672, in the 53d Year of his Age. A Gentleman of both his Names, and (as I presume) his Son, gives his Character in these Words. He 'was a very Learned and Humble, Pious and 'Peaceable, Charitable and Heavenly-minded 'Man. He was of unwearied Industry and Application in Studying the Holy Scriptures, Primitive Fathers and Philosophers, in their Original Languages; out of which he made very 'Large and Elaborate Collections, and useful Observations; all which were lost in that general Ravage before mentioned. He was very 'constant in his Meditations and Devotions, both 'Publick and Private; which he Delivered with 'that Plainness and Simplicity of Speech and Deportment, that there was not the least appearance of any unnatural and forced Fashis and 'Enthusiastick Raptures. There was such a strict 'and Universal Holiness in his Life and Conversation, that he is now called at Birmingham, That Holy Man. He was so very Affable and Humble, that he never past by any one without some particular Regard and Friendly Salutation. He was such a Lover of Peace, that he Laboured much for it; and when he could not perswade those that were at Variance, to abate any thing of the Height of their Demands, 'he many times deposited the Money out of his own Pocket, that he might make One of two contending Parties He was so Charitable, that he carried a Poors-Box about him, and never reckon'd himself poor, but when that was Empty; and it was not a single Charity which he gave them, because he not only fed their Bodies, but their Souls: for when he gave them a Doe of Bread in the Church, he called them together, and then framed a Discourse to them particularly suited to their poor Circumstances: And indeed his Exhortations on these Occasions were so Excellent and Edifying, that several of the Chief Inhabitants came to Hear them, and went away as well satisfied with those, as the Poor with his Bread. Such Qualifications as these seldom fail of good Encouragement, which he found at the Restoration, as was before observed; all which was freely conferred on him, without any seeking of his; nor did he any ways enrich himself, or his Family, by them.

Poft virum variisque locis & plagis infignis, in memorum pervenham, &c. Saltem hic Epitaphii.

He hath several Sermons Extant.

How this Fact accords with his submitting to the Visitors, I cannot perceive, but I am very sure of the Truth of it.

* Old Gilbert, if I guess right.

———, ———, . Rowington, V.

WESTMORLAND.

READ, ———, D. D. Lugershall, . worth 160 l. a Year.

He out-lived the Usurpation, and was Possest of his Benefice again.

RYLY, CHRISTOPHER, B. D. Newton-Tony, R. worth 200 l. a Year. Or Rerly

He died before the Restoration, and had a Wife and several Children.

WOR-

WORCESTERSHIRE.

YORKSHIRE.

RAWSON, ———, . Whitton, worth 100*l.* a Year.
He was also Imprisoned.

* Query, Is he not the same Person with Mr. Will. Richardson before mentioned to Lincolnshire.

* RICHARDSON, WILLIAM, ———

See the Note at Dr. Robert Bayly, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

I have some Information which seems to insinuate that he left the Rectory of Swillington, as also his Curacy: However, I believe I am a Mistake. Or if he did leave it, we can tell but for a very little while: For it appears by his Epitaph, that he took out the Profession of it till about 1659, but quare further of that matter.

ROBINSON, HENRY, B. D. Leeds, V. worth about 200*l.* a Year.

He was a Native of this Town; Educated at St. John's College in Cambridge, and some time Chaplain to the Noble Earl of Southampton, Lord Treasurer of England. 'Tis said, that before the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was look'd upon as a Puritan, and much Reflected on by that Party for Direction and Advice in the way of his Function; but in 1642, when Leeds was taken by the Parliament Forces, he was forced to Fly for his Safety, and his Vicaridge was put under Sequestration. The Person whom they substituted in his Room, was one Peter Smith, an Enthusiastical Incendiary, and Remarkable there for nothing but Ignorance, Scurrility, and Stirring up the People to Rebellion. Mr. Robinson, 'tis a mistake not, suffered very much likewise in the Revenues of his Living some Years before he was actually Turned out: For I have been informed, that the Party always took Occasion to give him some Disturbance just before Easter, and so Deprived him more than One or Two, of Considerable Sums of Money. He Suffered very much likewise in his Private and Personal Estate; the Damage he sustained that way, by a modest Computation, amounting to above 1500*l.* After he was thus driven from Leeds, he had no settled Abode, but was forced to seek for Refuge and Shelter where the King's Garrisons and Forces lay; or among those Loyal and Worthy Gentlemen, whose Houses were then Sanctuaries for the Ejected and Persecuted Clergy. However, I find they could not always Protect him: For he was once taken up, and Imprisoned at Middleham, and another time at Cawood-Castle. Whilst he was in Durance at this Latter Place, he had the Misfortune to break his Arm; which unhappy Accident his poor Wife took hold of, and hoped to have made it the Occasion of his Enlargement; but being disappointed in her Suit, she fell into an Expostulation with the Men then in Power, and desired to know what her Husband had done? She was answer'd to this Effect, that he was a Learned, Godly Man, of a blameless Life, and therefore his Example did them a great deal of Dis-service: Which extorted this Exclamation from the poor, Afflicted, Good Gentlewoman; Nay then, God deliver us from you all! How long it was before he obtained his Liberty, I do not find; but during some part of his Troubles, he often waited, with several others of the Sequestred Clergy, on the Lady Hutton, and the Lady Savile at Hutton-Pagnel; where they always found a very Bountiful Reception: And once the Latter of those Ladies offering a Present to Mr. Robinson, he modestly refused it, saying, God be thanked, he had something wherewith to subsist; when he stood in need, he would apply himself to her Ladyship for her Charity: But at present he thought it his Duty to request her to bestow it on the more Needful. I could not forbear taking notice of this Act of Mr. Robinson; because it appears by the Story, that he had no certain Maintenance, and only happen'd at that time to have received a Supply for his present Support. And having mentioned these two Generous Ladies, it re-minds me of a Piece of Barbarity, which one Mr. Clayton (about that time the Chairman of the Sessions) shew'd towards the Suffering Clergy of those Parts; who endeavour'd as much as in him lay, to starve them outright: And for that purpose, in his Charge to the Grand-Jury, Did them take notice of two Ladies, who received the Malignant, Vagabond, Cavalier Ministers into their Houses: Which the Lady Savile having notice of, took an Occasion soon after, to make Mr. Clayton (when he came to wait on her) Tarry a long while before she came to him; and being a Lady of Spirit, when she came into the Room, applyed her self to him in this manner: Is it you, Mr. Clayton, that have wasted here so long? I thought it might have been some Malignant, Vagabond, Cavalier Minister. Upon which, his Conscience soon interpreted the Lady's Meaning, and discovered his Knowledge of it in his Looks. Whereupon the Lady followed her Blow, and Expostulated, with him in these plain Words: Is this fair Play? To bring poor Men out of their House and Harbour, and in your Learned Speeches to set Marks upon them as Vagabonds? with much more to the same purpose.

But to return to Mr. Robinson: He out-lived all his Troubles; and about the Year 1659, as is before said, had the Living of Swillington in this County; being Preferred to it by the Honourable Conyers Darcy, afterwards Earl of Holdernesse; where he continued after the Restoration, without returning to Leeds, and in Possession of which he died the 29th of March, 1663, in the 64th Year of his Age. He lies Buried in that Church under a decent Monument, with an Inscription too large to be here inserted. The Reverend Mr. Kidenbeck, his present Successor in the Vicaridge of Leeds, gives him this Character: 'He was 'a Person generally esteemed and admired for his 'Extraordinary Abilities, and Knowledge in all 'sorts of Useful Learning; a judicious, and well-'study'd Divine, a celebrated and most accomplished 'Preacher. His Natural Temper was Peaceable, 'Affable, and Obliging; his Conversation Grave, 'Prudent, and every way suitable to his Cha'racter and Function; his Life Regular, Exemplary, 'and Primitive: In short, he was a Shining Light 'in his time, and a Great Blessing to this Town, 'where his Memory is yet Dear and Precious.

His Library also was Sequestred, and detained in the Hands of Mr. Shaw of Hull.

Helped him in Manuscript a Treatise against the Antinomians, and another in Defence of the Liturgy of the Church of England.

ROBINSON, ———, . Thornton, R.

He had also a very good Temporal Estate, which was put under Sequestration. He was likewise Imprisoned for his Zeal and Loyalty: His Successor was one Bradley.

WALES.

CARDIGAN.

ROBERTS, HUMPHRY, . Llansanfread, V.

He was Turned out for Drunkenness and Insufficiency, by the Commissioners for Propagating the Gospel.

ROBERTS, JOHN, . Aberporth, R.
He was Turned out by the same Commissioners, for the Former of those Crimes.

CAERMARTHEN.

REES, JOHN, . Llangomar, .
He was Ejected by the Propagators, for Insufficiency and Scandal.

RUTHER, HENRY, . *Llanwihangel-Torrol, V.

* Or Yatroth.

He was Dismift by the same Commissioners, for Drunkenness and Maligvancy.

CAERNARVAN.

ROBIN, MAURICE, . Llanbeblig, V.

He was Sequeftred in 1650.

ROBINSON, HUGH, . Caerhan, V.
He was Turned out the same Year.

Whether these Places be Dismift or Annexed, I cannot tell.

ROBINSON, HUGH, . Treffrois, Llearby-Clwyn, and Bettus-Tcced, .

He loft these Livings likewise in 1650.

ROBINSON, HUGH, . Lambeder-Kenin, .

Quere if this, or the preceding Gentleman, be the same with one another, or with him first named.

DENBEIGH.

ROBERTS, EDWARD, . Llangollen, V.

He was Turned out for Scandal and Negligence. Unless there are Two Livings of this Name in this County, there must have been Two Sufferers in this Place. See Mr. Jones before.

FLINT.

ROANE, JOHN, . Hanmere, V.
He was also very ill used. After the Restoration, he became Bishop of Killallow in Ireland.

GLAMORGAN.

——, ——, . Radyr, R. For this, and the new Living, see the Note at Abergwyley in Carmarthenshire, under the Letter A.

——, ——, . Reinaldstone, R. and Llanedarne.

I take them to be Annexed, and not Distinct Livings.

REYNOLDS, CHRISTOPHER, . † Llandaffe, with the Chapel of Whitchurch, V.

† He was the Vicar here, unless I mistake. Quere whether the Vicar of Llandaffe performs the Ordinary Service at the Cathedral: For if so, Mr. Reynolds must be placed in that Cathedral, and the Two supplied Vicars there struck out.

He was also several times Imprisoned; and once 'being desired to Administer the Sacrament 'on Easter-day, he came for that purpose, and 'had almost finish'd his Duty, having Consecrated 'the Bread and Wine, and administred the Bread 'to a great many of the Communicants, when the 'Troopers came in, furiously seized upon the 'said Reynolds, drank the Wine that was Consecrated, carried him and some of the Communicants to the Jayl. Soon after his Departure, one 'Walter the Weaver, who pretended to the Spirit, mounted the Pulpit, and Preached (more suo) three Hours together, running down the 'Decent Ceremonies of the Church, and putting up as well as he could, a Slovenly Outward Worship, beginning in Genesis, and ending in the 'Revelations. This Man (if he knew what he 'was himself, who was formerly a common Country Thatcher) was a Presbyterian, had a vast 'Memory to retain the Scriptures, and delighted 'very much to exercise his Faculty in Llandaffe-'Pulpit: In short, he was a Hackney Itinerant 'Preacher five Miles round about. Mr. Reynolds had but Five Pounds a Year allowed him till the Restoration, when he was himself Restored, and Enjoyed his Vicaridge about four or five Years.

MERIONETH.

ROBERTS, ——, . Llanvawr, .

He was Turned out in 1651; after which, the Place lay Void three Years.

MONTGOMERY.

*RYFFIN, JOHN, . Mavowen, .

* Possibly to be found in Kyffyn.

PEM-

1642, among several other Loyal Sufferers. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

One Tho. Risden was Admitted to the Rectory of Allhallows-Bread-street, London, in RISDEN, ———, . ———, .

His Family was also reduced to such Poverty, that his Widow came at last to be Relieved by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

1662, and died in 1671. Newc. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 246.

* In what County, I know not.

ROWLAND, JOHN, . * Foots-Bray, .

I find him sent for into Custody as a Delinquent, and his Temporal Estate put under Sequestration: Which, as it is the only, so I presume, 'tis a sufficient Ground for me to Conjecture, that he was likewise Turned out of his Living, if at least, he had any: Of both which quære further.

CHESHIRE.

SARING, JOHN, A. M. Nampt-wich, R.

He was also forced to Quit the Country. He was a very worthy Man; insomuch that the Inhabitants have at this Day a great Veneration for his Name.

SEDDON, WILLIAM, A. M. Eastham, V. *
———, . in Chester;
And
Grapnall, R. worth 130*l.* a Year.

* The Gentleman who informs me of this Sequestration, thinks that the Living which he Left, was St. Mary's: but that must be a Mistake; for Mr. Hum (whoever he) was Turned out of that Living; unless it so happened, that Mr. Hunt and Mr. Seddon were successively Ejected from it.

He had been Educated at Magdalen-College in Cambridge, and about the Year 1636, had a Living in the City of Chester bestowed on him, with which he likewise held the Vicaridge of Eastham about six Miles distant from that City. Upon the Breaking out of the Rebellion, and the 'Approach of the Siege of Chester, 'he was compelled, (says his Son) to withdraw his Family 'and Effects into the City for Succour; where his great

SAVAGE, ARTHUR, . St. Nicholas, R.

See a Gentleman of both these Names in Westmorland, and quære if he was the same.

DERBYSHIRE.

———, ———, . Sedsworthy, R.

See the Note at Abberton in Sussex, under the Letter A.

DEVONSHIRE.

SALKELD, JOHN, B. D. Church-Taunton, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 156

Fuller's Worthies in Cumberland

He was a Native of Cumberland, born at Corby-Castle, and Lineally Descended from Sir Richard Salkeld, Kt. Lord Warden of Carlisle in the time

(Who was grievously mistaken in his Conjecture (or else very much misinform'd) about the time of his Death.

SAVAGE, ARTHUR, . St. Nicholas, R.

I have no absolute Certainty of this Sequestration; and therefore quære further.

SATERLY, WILLIAM, A.M. † Ide, .

† See the Note at Mr. Doderidge in this County.

I have received the following Account of his Sufferings from his Son, a Clergyman of this County:

'I (being a Child in those Times) can give 'you but a slender Account of his Usage from 'my own Memory. I have heard him say, that 'he was a Master of Arts of Pembroke-College in 'Oxford; that he was Sequestred by Mr. * Jo-'shua Gillard, a Presbyterian Minister; when he 'had a Wife and Nine or Ten Children living, 'and no Temporal Estate (besides a small Cot-'tage of about 40 s. Value per Annum) to sub-'sist on: But by the Favour of Mr. Bear of 'Bearscomb, he was suffered to Teach a School at 'a Village called Coldridge, in the Parish of Sto-'kenham; and to serve a small Place called Sher-'ford, an Appendix thereunto; where he and his 'Family were not a little supported by Edmond 'Reynall of Malson of the same Parish, Esq; I 'have heard him often complain of his Imprison-'ment in Exeter, and of his Hardships and ill

* Robert, (saith the Abridgment p. 306.) For they were doubtless the same Person

Digitized by Google

' Treatment there. In particular, I was inform' ed (some few Years since) by John Roope, Gen' tleman (then of Tatsley in the Parish of Hal-
' well, since of Wood in the Parish of Blackawton)
' who was a Fellow-Sufferer with my Father, that
' they lay in Dung, were with great Threats
' forbid (tho' they had Paul and Silas for Exam' ples) to sing Psalms at Midnight, that a Loyal
' Gentleman was Threatned the like Usage for gi' ving them a Bottle of Wine to refresh their ' drooping Spirits. I have heard my Father com-
' plain, that the Allowance of a Fifth ordered by
' the Parliament, was also detained. From Sher-
' ford (being hunted like a Patridge on the Moun- ' tains) he and his Family fled to a small Place
' near Holsworthy, called Clawton, where he conti' nued till the Restoration, and then Returned to ' his Own. He lived above 20 Years after the ' Restoration, and lieth interred in the Parish of ' St. Sydwell near Exon.

Possibly they had the Conscience to plead that miserable Pittance of a Temporal Effate which he had, as a Bar to his Claim of that kind.

SCLATER, WILLIAM, D. D. St. Stephen's, R. in Exon.

See that Cathedral, and a Note there.

SCOT, WILLIAM, . Morehath, V.
He was accused before the Commissioners, for being, as 'tis said, once Drunk. Whereupon seeing a Storm like to overtake him, he rather chose to Resign his Living, than to Undergo those Troubles and Harraffings which he knew would certainly End in the Loss of it: And accordingly, when he was summoned to appear before the Commissioners, he pleaded that he was not Vicar. He afterwards removed with his Family to * Wirkypoole in Somersetshire, where he died.

If I mistake not, I have heard that he was a Man of no good Character.

* Which Living, as I have been informed, he got during some Part of the Usurpation; and being better than Morehath, it renders his Sufferings inconsiderable.

SELLY, EDWARD, A. M. Warkleigh and Satterleigh, R.

He was also miserably Harrassed by the Men of the Times, often forced to Abscond, and Hide himself in the Roof of his House; and was sometimes, when Apprehended, very shamefully Treated by them, in order to make him discover where he had conveyed his Money and Goods. Once more particularly, being surprized in his Parsonage-House by a Party of Horse, Christopher Stibbling, one of the Troopers (and a Parishioner of his own) dragged him down Stairs by the Hair of the Head. He was at that time about 80 Years of Age. However, he lived to Re-possess his Benefices on the Restoration; and was, as I have heard, an ingenious Man.

SERLE, RICHARD, A. M. Denbury, R.
He was Admitted to this Living in the Year 1642, and Turned out of it not long after. In 1646, one Mr. Bickie came to the Living, who lost it again in 1662, for Nonconformity.

SHORT, ANTHONY, D. D. Drewsteington, R.
And Rings-Ash, R. . . . . .

About the Year 1646, he was Articled against before the Committee of the County of Devon, (if I mistake not) for Speaking in Derogation to the Parliament and the Assembly; for Assisting his Majesty; for Constantly reading the Epistles, Gospels, and Litany; Wearing his Doctor-like Ornaments at the Communion-Table; and for other Matters of the like Nature; but there was not the least Immorality alledged against him in the whole Charge. The precise time of his Sequestration I do not find; but I have seen an Order from the Standing Committee of the County of Devon, bearing Date March 9, 1646, requiring him to remove from the Parsonage-House that it must have been about that time, that he was put under Sequestration. I have seen the Defence likewise which he made to the Allegations brought against him; some of which were downright Falsehoods, and others of them the vilest Misrepresentations, both of his Words and Actions, imaginable. Nor was any thing (hardly his Loyalty it self) proved against him in such a manner, as the Laws, under a Just and Regular Government, would have allowed for sufficient Evidence. His Successor in the first of these Livings, was one Richard Herring, who refused to Obey the Orders of the Committee for paying the * Fifths, and put the Doctor's Wife to Infinit rable trouble before the could Recover any of them. There goes a common Story in this County of this Intruder, that being one day Catechising the Children, and having before Instructed them among other things, that the Minister stood in the Place of God; as he came to Examine them whether they remembred what he had told them, he asked one of the Boys this Question among several others, In whose Place do I stand? The untoward Boy, having quite forgot his Lesson, and having always, until of late, seen Honest old Dr. Short in the Place where Mr. Herring then was; with his Hands behind him (as may be supposed,) and a Country Nod, very readily answered him, In Dr. Short's Place, Sir; which could not fail of making the Congregation smile, though it cast a very different Aspect over the Countenance of Mr Herring.

* Infamuch that the Committee themselves after the matter had descended some Years, were forced to put his Tithes under Sequestration for the Payment of them, nor do I know whether even that Method took Effect, and whether it was any other than a Copy of their Countenance; for I find by an Original Letter from the Clerk of the Committee (of I mistake me) that the Order paid with much Difficulty, and after much Delay (which no doubt Mr. H---- well knew, inasmuch that the Clerk himself, though otherwise a great Villain (as for in the Case of Mr. Blake of this County) declares he was ashamed of it.

This rich Living, which is worth several hundred Pounds a Year, would however make amends for that, and a great many other Taunts and Flouts, had he met with them; and therefore he kept fast hold in it until the Restoration, and would undoubtedly till the day of his Death (unless he could have got a better, which is scarce to be found in this County) had not the Commissioners and Justices of the County Dispossest him in the Year 1660, for Preaching against King Charles II. and his Right and Succession to the Crowns of these Realms; more particularly, saying after Worcester-Fight, That he was a Tyrannizing and Usurping Prince to Invade the Land; and we ought to give God thanks we were Delivered from him and all such blood-thirsty Enemies; and divers other particular things duly proved, &c. Although the Abridgment Recounts him among the Bartholomew Sufferers. As for the other Living, the first Person who Succeeded in it upon the Sequestration, was one Amiel Slade, who had a Bastard by a Midwife which he kept in his House, and for the Proximity of Sound to the Christian Name of the Father, they called the Child Emanuel. After him came one Mr. Hart a Presbyterian, who was himself supplanted by one Bulstrad an Independent, at Oliver's Presentation, in the Year 1655. This Bulstrad was a meer Layman, a sorry Illiterate Fellow, who never offered either to Marry (except one Couple) or to Bury, or to Administer either of the Sacraments whilst he tarried there. He got into the Parish by a Trick; was the Jest of it while he continued among them, and the Subject of their Poetry after he was gone; for they made Ballads on him, and commonly called him

Pursuant to the Act for the Confirming and Restoring of Ministers, &c.

P. 305.

him Redſhanks, becauſe he uſed to wear Red-Stockings. He is another of the Bartholomew Sufferers mentioned in the Abridgment; but under the miſtaken Notion of one, who afterwards Conformed. As for the Learned and Worthy Dr. Sherr, he died before the Reſtoration, and lies buried on the Outſide of the North Wall of St. Mary's-Church in Exon.

P 306.

SHUTE, JOSEPH, . Meavie, R.

The beſt Account I can maturally get of this Matter, is, that though he was not Formally Diſpoſſeſſed of the Living, yet he was, by his Sufferings, and Harraſſings, deprived in great Meaſure of the Profits of it

It is not eaſie to determine by the Account which I have of this Gentleman's Sufferings, whether he ought to have a Place in this Liſt; or elſe to be Ranked among thoſe in the Appendix. I ſhall let down the Relation Word for Word as it was Tranſmitted to me, and leave the Reader to determine that matter. ' My immediate Predeceſſor ' was one Mr. Joſeph Shute, Cambridge bred, who ' Lived in Meavy 60 Years, and in the Times of ' the Rebellion had many great Affronts and In- ' juries done to him; although he was a Man ' Eminent for Learning, and had a curious Faculty ' of Preaching. He was ſeized, and carried Priſoner ' to Plymouth, often Plundered, and once eſpeci- ' ally thinking to ſecure his Money and Goods ' the better, he let a conſiderable Parcel of Wooll ' and Money in the Church-Tower, which was diſ- ' covered by ſome of his mitchievous Neigh- ' bours, and ſeized and carried to Plympton-Mor- ' rice, and there told for a ſmall matter to Wi- ' dow Snell, who by the Bargain became Rich. ' But the moſt notorious Affront was on a Sunday; ' when the greater part of the Pariſh had Con- ' ſpired to keep him ſout of his Church, he at- ' tempted the Chancel-Door, and a Fellow called ' John Blanchard, caught his Leg in it, and he ' begged he would not break it. This Fellow was ' immediately ſmitten with an Incurable Ulcer ' in his own Leg, which brought him to his ' Grave. Thence Mr. Joſeph Shute afore- ' ſaid, goes to the great Door, and was met by ' the Rabble; and from the Porch by one Richard ' Moſes was puſhed back; which Fall had like ' to have killed him. Then he went and Preached ' upon the Croſs, alluding to the Plot againſt St. ' Paul, that there were more than Forty that ' made this Conſpiracy. After the King's ' Return he brought his Action againſt Richard ' Moſes, and out of his Religious Nature forgave ' him upon eaſy Terms.

* That very Afternoon as I have otherwiſe heard.

SHUTE, TIMOTHY, A. M. The Holy-Trinity, R. in Exon.

See that Cathedral.

SMITH, HENRY, A. M. Cornwood, V.

He was born, as I have reaſon to think, at Great Torrington in this County, where his Father, who was a Merchant, lived, and bore all the Offices of that Corporation. He was Educated in the Univerſity of Oxford. When he was admitted to this Living, I do not find; but being a Man of Worth and Learning, and a zealous Loyaliſt, he became very obnoxious to the Party, and was accordingly treated by them in a moſt Barbarous and Inhuman manner; often forced to Fly for his Safety, and once very like to have been Murdered: for his Perſecutors having diſcovered that he uſed to make his Eſcape at a Garret-Window which lookt into the Fields, they ordered three or four Fellows to befet that Place, one (or more) of whom as I have been Informed, ſnapt his Piece at him as he was getting off. His Houſe was alſo Plundered by a Party of Soldiers from the Garriſon of Plymouth, who did not ſo much as leave him a Diſh or a Spoon: At the ſame time they Plundered him of his Books alſo. The preciſe time of his Sequeſtration I cannot Learn; but himſelf, his Wife, and five or ſix Children, were all turned out of Doors, and ſubſiſted for ſome time by the Charity of the Neighbouring Gentry, and at length ſome of them were forced to live in Service, and others of them to go beyond the Seas; for his Temporal Eſtate, which was worth about 80 l. a Year, was put under Sequeſtration alſo: Nor was he allowed to Compound for it, until reduced, by his Troubles, to ſuch Poverty, that he was conſtrained to Sell it to pay the Compoſition. He was alſo kept a Priſoner for a long time, ſomewhere as I conceive about Plymouth, or thoſe Parts, and at length ſent to a Common Jayl in Exeter, where he died ſoon after the Martyrdom of his Prince; the News of which, as I have been Informed, contributed not a little to haſten his End. His Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration was one W—— Shute, who had been indeed ſome time at the Univerſity, but was, if I am right Informed, a very Ignorant and Gluttonous Fellow. Upon the black and villainous Murder of the King, he had, as 'tis ſaid, this Expreſſion in his Sermon the Sunday following; Now I plainly ſee that Hell is paved with the Skulls of Kings and Princes! And at another time in Deriſion, of the Lord's-Prayer, told his Pariſhioners, they might go to Hell with Our Father which art in Heaven, in their Mouths. However he Conformed at the Reſtoration, and was by the Clemency of that Government, as bitterly as it hath been Railed on for Perſecution, allowed to continue in the Living, to the Ruin of the Vicaridge-Houſe and Glebe. He had alſo permitted the Church to be much abuſed, the Rood-Loft to be pulled down, and the painted Windows to be broken all in pieces. Mr. Smith was generally beloved by his Pariſh, much eſteemed by the Neighbouring Gentry, and had the Diſtinguiſhing Honour of a Viſit from Prince Charles, when he was in thoſe Parts.

SMITH, ZECH. Newton-Tra- gy, R.

I believe he had only the Title of the Times; becauſe one Edward Snow, A. M. was Admitted here in 1644; but I find this Smith in Poſſeſſion of it immediately upon the Reſtoration.

SNELL, JOHN, A. M. Thurleſtone, R.

He was a Perſon of firm and unſhaken Loyalty, and Inſtrumental (with Sir Edward Forteſcue) in holding out the ſmall Fort of Slapton in the Neighbourhood of this Pariſh for his Majeſty; and when it was at laſt taken, this among the other Articles of Surrender, was one, That he ſhould be allowed the quiet Poſſeſſion of his Parſonage; but Articles, like Oaths, in thoſe days were only Matter of Form, and accordingly (about the Year 1646) he was ſoon after Plundered of his Cattle and other Goods without doors, and ſeveral times Forced to fly for his Life. His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration for about four or five Years, and was at laſt, as I preſume, redeemed by a Compoſition. I cannot tell preciſely of how long continuance his Troubles were before he was actually diſpoſſeſt of the Living; but am aſſured that he was Turned out of it about the Year 1646. He had feldom any Fifths paid him, but poſſibly his Temporal Eſtate, or rather his Title to it, whilſt it was in the Hands of the Sequeſtraters, debarred him of that Claim. His Succeſſor was one Buckly, who lived long enough to deliver up the Benefice to him again on the Reſtoration (but took care to Conform and get himſelf another): after which Mr. Snell became Canon Reſidentiary of the Cathedral-Church of St. Peter in Exon, and was at the time of his Death Suc-

Succeeded in this Living by one of his Sons, who had been Fellow of Exeter-College, and afterwards the very Worthy Arch-Deacon of Totneis. His eldeſt Son is yet Living, an Alderman of the City of Exeter, which he hath, as well to his own Honour as that of the City, ſeveral times repreſented in Parliament.

This Little Vicaridge was then held by Inſtitution, tho' worn by a Licence only.

STILES, JA. . Bramton, V. He was actually Turned out of this Living, but had afterwards, as I have been Informed, another; which however was not, I preſume, equal to this, as little as it is; becauſe, unleſs I very much miſtake, he returned to it again after the Reſtoration.

STILES, JONAS, A.M. Stokenham, V. cum Chivelſton & Sherford.

He had been Admitted to this Living Dec. 25, 1632, and was Turned out of it about the Year 1648. He had been very ill uſed, and Impriſoned; inſomuch that he was forced to Fly beyond the Seas, and was made M. D. at Padua. I am informed, that he had no Fifths paid him; that is, as I ſuppoſe, during his Stay in England after his Ejectment. He was ſucceeded by Mr. Benjamin Cleveland; who was not only forced to give up the Living again to Dr. Stiles in 1660, but to pay him ſomething in lieu of Fifths alſo.

STRODE, FRANCIS, B. D. Cadely, R. } And Ideford, R. . . . . }

For which ſeveral Reaſons I make no ſcruple to put in Ideford alſo as one of the Livings in which he Suffered.

He was Educated at Wadham-College in Oxford, and had been Fellow of it almoſt twenty Years. He was Admitted to the Former of theſe Livings, in the Year 1639; but when he obtained the Latter of them, I do not find. He was diſpoſſeſſed of Cadely on the Foot of the Ordinance againſt Pluralities, and was alſo actually under Sentence of Sequeſtration for Ideford, but Compounded that Matter for a 110*l*. However he was afterwards continually Plundered, in hazard of his Life, and forced to Abſcond a great part of every Year for ſome tract of time, eſpecially during the Summer, when the Concourſe of People at a Mineral-Water in that Pariſh, made it unſafe for him to Appear; and at thoſe Seaſons his Pulpit was always filled with ſuch Scroulers as thought fit to Uſurp it; but in the Winter Mr. Strode conſtantly returned to his Cure. He had at the time of his Sufferings, a numerous Family. After the Reſtoration he enjoyed Ideford in Peace, but returned not, nor laid any Claim, as far as I can learn, to Cadely. He was a Man of conſiderable Learning and Piety; which won him the Eſteem of the Neighbouring Gentry, and more eſpecially of his own Pariſh.

STRODE, JOHN, A.M. Dittiſham, R. } And Little-Kempſton, R. . . . . }

In this County.

He was 'a Gentleman of the Family of the 'Strodes in Newnam, of about 19 Years ſtanding 'in Oxford, probably of Exeter-College, a good 'Scholar, an Excellent Preacher, and a Perſon (theſe are the very words of a Learned Man ſtill living, that knew him well) 'who in all his Con-'cerns with all ſorts of Men, took all Occaſions to 'ſhew Juſtice and Mercy. Being very Zealous in his 'Loyalty for the King (as were alſo ſeveral of his 'Relations, his two Brothers being Officers 'in his Majeſty's Army) He not only diligently 'Preached againſt Diſobedience and Rebellion in 'his own Pariſh, but took an occaſion to Deliver 'the ſame Doctrine at the Neighbouring Town 'of Dartmouth, where he knew there were many 'too much diſpoſed to thoſe Sins; but for this 'Offence he ſome time after ſeverely paid: For 'that Town being then of the Parliament's Quar-'ters, the Mob and ſome Soldiers came and Plun-'dered his Houſe, burnt his Books, and ſcratched 'diligently for his Perſon, declaring that if they 'found him, they would kill him, and Hang up his 'Quarters before his Gate. Such a Malignant as 'this was not long to enjoy a good Rectory: One 'Edmund Tucker therefore, a Man never known 'to be of any Univerſity, obtained the Sequeſtra-'tion of it, and got Mr. Strode's Wife (the Daugh-'ter of George Reynell, Eſq;) and ſix Children 'violently Dragged out of the Parſonage Houſe; 'her Husband being Fled before to avoid the 'Purſuit of them that ſought his Life. This, his 'Son and Daughter believe to have been about the 'Year 1645: So that being at the ſame time Turn-'ed out of another Living he had, there remain-'ed nothing but a ſmall Temporal Eſtate to Main-'tain himſelf and his large Family for about 'fifteen Years, no Fifths being ever paid to him. 'To add to his Affliction, Tucker vexed him with 'ſeveral Law-Suits relating to ſome Eſtates 'Mr. Strode had granted on ſome Parcels of 'the Manner annext to his Rectory; which Suits 'were even according to the Law of thoſe Times, 'ſo manifeſtly unjuſt, that Mr. Strode had ſtill 'the Verdict; but Tucker, by the Intereſt of his 'great Friends, always ſecured himſelf againſt the 'Payment of Damages. Upon the Return of 'the King, Mr. Strode brought his Action againſt 'Tucker as an Intruder, and got him Removed 'long before Bartholomew-day. Enjoying his Right 'again in a ſickly and weak Condition, (occaſi-'oned by the Hardſhips he had undergone) for 'about ſeven Years, till his Death, to the Com-'fort and Satisfaction of his Pariſhioners, who 'Loved and Honoured him; whereas Tucker had 'been ſtill to the greateſt part of them, a Man both 'Odious and Contemptible. As for his other Li-'ving of Little-Kempſton, his Succeſſor in it was 'one Tho. Friend, who enjoyed it during the whole 'time of the Uſurpation, at the Expiration of it, gave up again to Mr. Strode, and was a very 'honeſt ſober Man: Nor was there, as far as ever 'I heard, any Exception to be made againſt him, 'the Intruſion only Excepted, and his not Admi-'niſtring the Sacrament (as far as it appears from 'the Pariſh-Accounts) for the ſpace of nine Years.

Little-Kempſton.

Although he be mentioned in the Abridgment as one of the Bartholomew Sufferers. P. 503.

DORSETSHIRE.

SADLER, ANTHONY, . Compton-Hayway, .

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 503

He was a Native of the County of Wilts, and Educated at Edmond-Hall in Oxford: After which, he was ſome time Chaplain to a Gentleman of his own Name in Hertfordſhire; then Curate of Biſhops-Stoke in Hampſhire, and at length Chaplain to the Lady Paget, who Preſented him to this Living in 1654; but he was kept out of it by the Tryers; which occaſioned his writing the Pamphlet Intituled Inquiſitio Anglicana: Out of which, I have already, on another Occaſion, given the Particulars of his Sufferings before thoſe Inquiſitors. After the Reſtoration he had the Vicaridge of Mitcham in Surrey, became D.D. Chaplain in Extraordinary to his Majeſty, and died about the Year 1680; leaving behind him the Character, ſaith Wood, of

He publiſhed ſeveral other things, the Account of which ſee in Wood of a Man of a Rambling Head, and Turbulent Spirit.

Digitized by Google

SWINE, ——, . Sturminster, . One John Duperier got this Living in 1657.

DURHAM.

SHERWOOD, CHRISTIAN, D. D. Bishops-Wearemouth, R. worth 200 l. a Year.

There was a Gentleman of this Sirname, a Cantabrigian, who was Created D. D. at Oxford among many other Loyal Sufferers, in the Year 1642: Poſſibly he was the ſame Perſon with this Dr. Chriſtian Sherwood; or if not, 'tis probable (for the Reaſon alledged at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties under the Letter B) that he was Sequeſtred ſomewhere or other: Therefore he ought to be Enter'd in a Diſtinct Article. But there will be alſo one Nicholas Sherwood mention'd in Norfolk, and ſo quære if he were not the Perſon who Fled to his Majeſty at Oxford, and was there Created D. D. Though if either of them was that Perſon, the Former ſeems to me moſt likely to have been ſo.

Wood, Ath. Oxon. Vol. I. p. 710.

One Chriſtopher Sherwood is in the Catalogue of Twenty-Miniſters in 1641. Neal's Hiſt. Puritans, Vol. I. p. 320.

SMITH, ELIAS, . Bedlin, V. See the Cathedral of Durham, and a Note there. See alſo Northumberland, and a Note there.

ESSEX.

——, ——, . Samfield, . I preſume he lived to Re-poſſeſs his Living. See the Note at Birchbrook in this County.

Dissent. Lib. of 1642. Thinks this to be the ſame Living with South-Hampfield, (Which ſee at Mr. Stevens) Or to miſtake but a few mentioned.

SENIOR, ROBERT, . Feering, V. He is Charged by the Century (p. 34.) with Drunkenneſs and Diſorderly Marriages; for the Former of which 'tis ſaid, he had been ſuſpended. And indeed, as far as I can learn, he was a Man of no good Character. Though, on the other hand, I cannot believe that was the chief Cauſe of his Sequeſtration: For I am ſatisfied he might have enjoyed his Vices without Diſturbance, had he not Poſt the Parliament Faſt, and diſcovered his Affection for the Cavalier Army; which are alledged as Part of his Crimes.

SERLE, ——, . Widdington near Newport, R.

SILES, ——, . Orſet, R. worth 300 l. a Year.

See a Marginal Note at Dr. Michaelſon in this County.

SNELL, ROBERT, . Maching, V. He is one of the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts of the Century; where he was provided with a Place, becauſe he obſerv'd the Orders and Rules of the Church, and was againſt the Parliament.

SMITH, ——, . Meſſing, V. He was a Perſon of a fair Character. See Mr. Nehemiah Rogers in this County.

SOWTHEN, SAMUEL, . Malendine, V.

He is likewiſe one of thoſe who help to compleat the Century; and is accuſed of Drunkenneſs, and drawing others into that Crime; of Swearing and Curſing alſo, with Suſpicion of Incontinency and Adultery; and farther of having Adminiſtred the Sacrament in one kind only; and of other Matters which make him a downright Papiſt: As likewiſe of having ſhew'd a Diſlike to Frequent Preaching; of Practiſing the late Innovations, and of Malignancy. P. 48.

SPARK, ROBERT, . Panfield, R. See Mr. Jenkinſon in this County, and the Marginal Note there.

STAPLE, THOMAS, . Mundon, V. He is another of the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts mentioned in the Century; where he is Charged with Drunkenneſs and Whoring, Neglect of his Pariſh, Keeping Drunken Curates, and ſaying, that Children dying without Baptiſm, are all Damned, but after Baptiſm, are all Saved. P. 45.

STEVENS, ——, . South-Hampfield, R.

I have no direct Information of this Sequeſtration; nor any other Grounds for it than his Sufferings mentioned in Mercurius Ruſticus; which I ſhall give the Reader in the Words of that Author, and then leave him to judge, whether Mr. Stevens ought to continue in this Liſt, or ſhould rather be put into the Appendix. P. 15.

'Mr. Stevens, Parſon of South-Hampfield, in 'Eſſex, bearing that the Plunderers of that Coun-'ty were coming on him, took Horſe, and Fled, 'and ſo ſaved both Himſelf and his Horſe: For 'he knew that Both were fought after. The 'Father being Fled, the Children, left to their own 'Providence, bethink how to ſecure thoſe little 'Pieces of Plate, which each had receiv'd from 'the Bounty of their Godfathers and Godmothers: 'Neither Time, nor Acquaintance could give 'them Latitude of much choice where to hide it; 'and thinking any Place ſafer than their own 'Houſe, they ran to a poor Woman, their Neigh-'bour, and there with her they depoſit their whole 'Treaſure. When the Plunderers came, and found 'that the Birds were flown, having Intelligence, or, 'as ſome ſay, but ſuſpecting that the Poor Wo-'man's Houſe might hide Mr. Stevens's Goods; 'they go to her Houſe, and demand them: The 'Woman denies that ſhe hath any of Mr. Ste-'vens's Goods: Hereupon one of the Plunderers 'ſtrikes her on the Head with a Club, with ſuch 'Violence, that her Brains came out at her Noſtrils. 'The poor Woman being thus Murthered, the 'Bloody Murtherers inſult over her, and ſay, That 'the juſt Hand of God was upon her for Lying a-'gainſt her Knowledge; and denying thoſe Parcels 'of Mr. Stevens's Goods that were in her Poſſeſ-'ſion. So uſual a thing it is with theſe Men to 'Blaſpheme God, and Intitle him to all thoſe Wic-'kedneſſes, which they commit on others.

STEWARD, ROWLAND, . ——, .
He was Turned out about the Year 1644; for Scandal.

STRUTT, EDWARD, . ——, .
He was alſo Turned out about the ſame time; for Malignancy and Swearing.

SWENO, WILLIAM, . Goldhanger, R. worth 140*l.* a Year.

He lived to be Reſtored.

SYMMONS, EDWARD, A.M. Rayne, R.

An Ancient Clergyman of the County of Cornwall, hath told me, that he thinks Mr. Symmons was ſettled ſome time at Foy in that County, and driven thence likewiſe.

This very Learned and excellent Perſon was born at Cottered in Hertfordſhire; and Educated at Peter-Houſe in Cambridge.

Fuller's Worth. in Hertfordſhire.

He was Admitted to this Living Dec. 31ſt, 1636, where he continued a Diligent and Faithful, as well as Excellent Preacher, until the Breaking out of the Rebellion. Soon after which he fell under th Diſpleaſure of the Party, who Harraſſed and Abuſed him in a moſt oppreſſive and barbarous Manner; a ſhort Account of which he Drew up himſelf, and Prefixt to the Loyal Subject's Belief, which he publiſhed in the Year 1643. The firſt Part of his Sufferings, which he there Relates, is very Remarkable: for ſome of his Factious Pariſhioners (even ſome of thoſe very Perſons, who but ſix Weeks after Complained of him to the Parliament for a Malignant) got him convened before a Juſtice of the Peace, for Omitting the Croſs and Surplice, and urged the Juſtice to Inflict the Penalty of the Statute upon him, for that Omiſſion, When as nurmiſſtanding, ſaith he, at that Time, in other Places, to other Perſons, they did Rail upon me for uſing the Common-Prayer-Book at all, which ſoon after they rent in Pieces. So evident was it, that nothing but Rankor and Malice was at the bottom of the Proſecution, ſeeing they lay ſuch things to his Charge, and aggravated them as Crimes unpardonable, which themſelves at the ſame time approved of in the higheſt degree, and were much more ready to have accuſed him for the contrary Practice.

Athen. Ruſt. p. 15, &c. Epiſt. Pref. to the Loyal Subject's Belief.

Nor can I look upon it as an Inconſiderable part of his Sufferings, that they Arbitrarily thruſt a * Lecturer upon him alſo, (as they did upon very many others of the moſt Learned and Orthodox Clergy) with a deſign, no doubt, to Countervail the Influence the Loyal Sermons, which Mr. Symmons, as his Office, in thoſe Times more eſpecially, required, had then lately Preached in his Pariſh: Although they had much leſs Pretence for placing a Lecturer in his Church, than in moſt others of the Kingdom; becauſe he conſtantly Preached twice on the Lord's Day, and oft on Holy-days, when he could get this People to come to Church. This Lecturer (to note that by the way) was ſuch a very ſcandalous Fellow, that upon his firſt coming to the Pariſh, ſome could not but own, and acknowledge, That had he been good, the barren Country from whence he came, would not have parted with him; for the Truth of which Mr. Symmons appeals to the Conſciences of thoſe who ſaid it; and then goes on to give a further Account of him in theſe Words. He is 'in brief, by Education a Maſter, of no Univerſity, yet one that hath a Charge 'of Souls in Nottinghamſhire, from which, ever 'ſince the Parliament began, he hath been a conſtant

* One Lemuel Toke.

'Non-Reſident: For his Pariſh then framed a Bill 'againſt him to the Houſe of Commons, Articling 'him to be Negligent and Inſufficient in his Place, 'to be guilty of Barretry and Battery, to 'be Famed of Drunkenneſs, Whoredom, and di-vers other ſuch (as they are now accuſtomed in 'ſome) ſmall Offences; upon which he fled the 'Country into our Parts: And being more ſuitable to the Temper of my People, than I am, 'they made choice of him; among whom he Blaſphemeth God's holy Word, Preacheth Sedition 'and Rebellion, telleth in the Pulpit many falſe 'Lyes and ridiculous Tales, bamboozleth againſt the Re-verend and Learned Miniſters of the Country, and 'Raileth upon the Worſhipful Gentry, and to ma-'ny ways he Poiſoneth the Souls of them that are 'Committed to my Cure, which is my greateſt Grief of all. It muſt not be alſo unknown, that Mr. Symmons offered the Chair-man of the Committee to keep a Lecture himſelf on the Week-day; if any did deſire it, rather than leave his Flock infected with ſuch Seditious and Wicked Doctrines; but he could not be heard. Theſe however were but the Preliminaries to his Troubles; and accordingly, as is before intimated, not long after, he was Complained of to the Parliament, and 'upon he 'bare Information (I Repeat Mr. Symmons's own Words) 'of one malicious * Varlet (whom 'many of you know to be moſt Notorious for 'falſe Swearing, publick Drunkenneſs, and Reſpaſ-ſory; for which the laſt Year at the publick Aſſi-ſizes he was bound to his good Behaviour) 'was Voted a Delinquent by ſome of the Members 'of the Houſe of Commons, and Publiſhed in a 'Diurnal over the Nation, to Preach ſuch Ironſh 'Stuff, which none (I hope) that know me, inſu ch 'of me. Hereupon being ſent for by a Meſſen-'ger, and Commited to Cuſtody, I was at laſt 'referred to the † Committee for ſcandalous Miniſters; that ſo I might afterwards be reckoned in 'that Number, and diſabled thereby from doing 'Chriſt any more Service: For a Miniſter marked 'with that Badge by them, they call the Paſtor-'ment, is more odious, than he that is made ſuch 'an one by Sin or Satan: So that when I return-'ed Home, the drunken Crew (whoſe vicious 'Lives I had oft Inveighed againſt) and their 'Children too, would point at me, as I went in 'the Streets, and ſay, there goes a ſcandalous Miniſter; there goes he that was in the Jayl with 'his Fellow Rogues, the other day.

And among other things, that ch ſome Cafes it was Lawful, not only to Reſiſt, but to Kill the King. Athen. Ruſt. p. 17.

About the middle of p. 19. of the Loyal Subject's Belief, that nothing had happened ſo Aggravating his Sins, was the Boon of his Sufferings.

He alſo in another Place repeats his Complaint of being Vexed by a Delinquent on the bare Word of this Fellow.

† Before whom he was Arraigned for Reproving him to the Houſe as a Man deſerving their Favour: And another Leading Member owned, That it was Truth; but enforced in Eſſect, that it was unſeaſonable; and ſo he was Diſmiſſed for that time, but not long after Sequeſtred.

Frankly owning what he had Preached, divers of the Members were for

'After this, when by Mr. Marſhall's Friendſhip 'and Teſtimony of me, I obtained to put in Bail, I was forced to make many Journeys this laſt Winter to London (being almoſt forty 'Miles from mine Habitation) for Preaching 'againſt Lying and Slandering, Pride and Malice, Sins notorious in my Neighbours, who 'had now got the Trick (becauſe all was believed againſt me, which they ſaid) to affirm, 'that whatever I Preached, was againſt the Par-'liament; ſo making that, and their own Sins, 'all one: for that indeed I was able to do me more 'hurt than they. And though I never failed upon 'the leaſt Intimation, to Appear; yet I was ſent 'for again, by a Purſevant as if I had not been 'Bailed) becauſe that was moſt Chargeable; where-'by a great Part of that little Money, which in ten Years ſpace I had ſaved to keep my Wife and 'Children (if I ſhould die) was Expended.

See this a-gain Complained of. P. 59. of the Loyal Subject's Belief. And Athen. Ruſt.; in Relating this Part of his Sufferings, ſtiles him when he came to London, he was never called to Anſwer to the Accuſation. P. 18.

It muſt alſo further be known, that as Mr. Symmons was Noted a Delinquent upon the bare Information of Burrowes, without being Heard or Summoned to Appear, and make his Defence; ſo when when he was afterwards taken into Custody, and did ſtill appear before the Committee, his Charge was only of a Sermon Preached the Lord's-Day AFTER he had been Voted a Delinquent: So that the very Crime of which he was Accuſed, was Subſequent to his firſt Condemnation. Nor muſt it be forgotten, as another peculiar Hardſhip which he underwent, that becauſe he refuſed to contribute Voluntarily to the Rebellion, his malicious Neighbours reſolved to Extort it from him; and accordingly in the Rates, they Raiſed him far beyond his Proportion: In the firſt Rate they Aſſeſſed him twice as much, and in the 'Second, almoſt thrice as much, as themſelves; 'and contrived their Buſineſs ſo cunningly, 'that they cauſed him to be ſent for up to the 'Parliament, while theſe things were in do-'ing.

Mr. Symmons being thus Hurried to and fro, and uſing to Preſerve the Subſiſtence of his poor Family, his debauched Adverſary was no leſs diligent in the Purſuit of his utter Ruin, and by Threatning the Pariſhioners with 'Plundering, and the Im-'putation of being accounted Cavaliers, forced 'many of them to make a Purſe to bear his 'Charges; and knowing, as ſhould ſeem, the In-'tentions of his powerful Friends, laid Wagers 'that he would quite put him by from Preaching, 'and Turn him out of his Living: Nor was he 'miſtaken, as the Event afterwards ſhewed, in 'what he ſaid.

See this repeated alſo, p. 80. of the Loyal Subject's Belief.

The true Reaſons of Mr. Symmon's Sufferings were plainly no other, than becauſe he was an honeſt Man; as indeed he was flatly told to his Face in theſe Words, 'You muſt ſuffer the 'Puniſhment of an Hundred Knaves, becauſe 'being an honeſt Man, you do more hurt to 'the Cauſe, than ſo many. But the pretended Crimes were, his Preaching againſt the Parliament; Preaching up Loyalty and Obedience to his Majeſty; Inveighing againſt the Tumultuous Reformations of thoſe Times; Hindering the Proceedings of the Parliament in the Aſſociation; and their gathering of Money in the well Affected County of Eſſex; and Laſtly, becauſe the King, forſooth, as ſome of them ſaid, had Turned out thoſe Miniſters who were for the Parliament.

Partly, as I conceive, alluded before to Pariſhioners, or Communers, and partly, to common Aſſeſſments.

The firſt of theſe Accuſations was taken upon the bare Imagination of his lewd Proſecutor; who could not alledge any higher Teſtimony than this: We THINK that in his Preaching he meant the Parliament; but if Mr. Symmons himſelf may be Heard, he declares, 'When I Preached againſt 'Treaſon, Rebellion and Diſobedience, then they 'ſaid (no queſtion but) I meant the Parlia-'ment; afterwards I Preached againſt Lying, 'Slandering, and Malice, and this they ſaid, was 'againſt the Parliament too; and got me to be ſent for up again by a Purſevant about the 'ſame: Nay, (Sir) when I did but Quote 'thoſe Words of our Saviour, Wide is the Gate, and Broad is the Way that leadeth unto Death, and many go therein; this, they ſaid, was againſt 'the Parliament, becauſe the Major part of the 'People in thoſe Parts are for the ſame: And 'when I quoted that Place in the 130th Pſalm, 'where David ſays, that He was for Peace, but 'others were for War; when he ſpake of That, they 'made them ready for Battel: This alſo, they ſaid, 'was for the King, and againſt the Parliament: 'When I Preached againſt Vain-glory upon thoſe 'Words of our Saviour, I ſeek not the Praiſe of 'Men; they ſaid, I Preached againſt that Mem-'ber, unto whom, in my behalf, you writ your 'Letter; when I proteſt I never thought of him 'all the while I was upon that Subject (that I 'know of) ſave only when I prayed for mine 'Enemies. How much it was for the Honour of the Parliament, to ſay, that when a Man Preached againſt Treaſon, Rebellion, Diſobedience, Lying, Slandering, and Malice (although he Named no body, nor pointed out any one) he meant the Parliament, let others Judge; in the mean time 'tis ſure, that though Ten of his Neighbours, ſufficiently furniſhed with evil Affections, were Summoned up to Witneſs againſt him, not one of them could ſay, that they ever heard him ſpeak a word of Evil, either in Publick or Private againſt the Parliament.

Mere Ruſt. p. 18.

As for the ſecond Accuſation, it was very true, that he Preached up Obedience to his Majeſty in the higheſt degree; and in Juſtification of that Doctrine, ſoon after publiſhed the little Treatiſe, Intituled, The Loyal Subject's Belief; in the ſeven firſt Sections of which is the ſubſtance of thoſe Sermons on which he was Accuſed: Although his Adverſaries had before taken Care to hand up and down, out of the Copy of his Sequeſtration, the Expreſſions alledged againſt him; which were ſo falſe and ſo fooliſh, that he thought it not worth his while to Confute them. And as for the Laſt of thoſe Reaſons, which they aſſigned for his Sequeſtration, he declares, unto this day, I cannot hear (though I have inquired) that 'the King had Sequeſtred any Li-'ving, or Turned any Miniſter out; perhaps 'ſome, whoſe Conſciences accuſed them for 'Preaching Treaſon and Sedition, did run away 'when his Majeſty's Forces approached; and in 'pity to the Peoples Soules, ſo forſaken, ſome 'might be appointed by his Majeſty to Preach 'unto them.

Which is Questionleſs a true Reaſon of his Perſecution, although never ſuch a Pretence, tho Committee for Plundered Miniſters was firſt appointed, which afterwards ſo much Hurraffed and Abuſed the Loyal Clergy.

Loyal Subject's Belief. p. 92.

But the pretended Accuſations brought againſt him, were not the only Hardſhips and Oppreſſions under which he Laboured; They put others upon him likewiſe, peculiar to the Spirit of thoſe Men and Times: For when he would have invalidated the Teſtimony of his chief Adverſary Burrowes, by ſhewing what a Looſe, Drunken, Perjured Fellow he was; the Chairman of the Committee told him, 'That it was 'not the Cuſtom of that Court to permit ſuch a 'thing, which he called Recrimination, becauſe 'it had been a Practice in the High-Commiſſion. And at another time, when he complained to ſome of the Miniſters of thoſe Times, which had been his former Friends and Acquaintance, of the Straits and Hardſhips which he was under, they Barbarouſly anſwered him. 'You muſt 'practice your own Doctrine of Paſſive Obedi-'ence; for if your way be God's, no doubt but he 'will carry you through it: which, as he righte-ly obſerves, was exactly like the Anſwer that Julian the Apoſtate returned to the 'Suffering 'Chriſtians: 'Tis according to your Religion 'to ſuffer wrong, you muſt turn the other 'Cheek.

Loyal Subject's Belief. p. 72.

But theſe were ligh: and trivial Things, compared with what was Intended (and had it not been by God's Providence prevented, would no doubt, have been Executed) againſt him, which was his Murther: For upon his Return from London, 'Oath was made before a Juſtice of 'Peace, that at Halſtead in Eſſex, it was con-'cluded, that an Hundred Men from Coggſhal 'and Colcheſter-ſide (ſome of that Crew that 'Plundered Sir John Lucas's Houſe) ſhould 'ſuddenly ſurprize Mr. Symmons in his Houſe, 'Plunder his Goods, and cut off his Perſon, as 'one not fit to Live, becauſe he was (as they ſaid) 'againſt the Parliament; but by the good Pro-'vidence of God, this Conſpiracy was diſcove-'red, and prevented. And when he complained of this to one of the Members of the Houſe, and deſired that he might rather be brought to ſuffer in Publick as the Martyrs in Queen Mary's days did,

Mere Ruſt. p. 18.

See alſo Loy. Sub. Bel. p. 94. referred to in the Preſat. Epiſt. to it.

Digitized by Google

did, than he Murthered in Private, as he had been Threatned; he was scornfully answered with a Tush, there was but one Man that had said it.

These were the Troubles of this Excellent Person which were previous to his Sequestration: for he was not Dispossest of his Living till * March 3, 1642: About which time his Old Adversary, on the Charges of the Common Purse which is before mentioned, renewed the Prosecution; and obtained a Sequestration to be granted to some of Mr. Symmons's Deadly Enemies, to seize upon his Parsonage-House, Glebe, and Tythes, and a Power without to apprehend his Person, to do with him God knows what.

* As appears by the Copy of the Sequestration (although in the Parliament Journals I find an Ordinance of the House of Commons for that purpose, bearing Date the February foregoing. Possibly it then past that House only, and was afterwards sent up to the Lords: For the Sequestration runs in the Name of both Houses. This, and other such Circumstances, may, I doubt, have occasioned several Mistakes in this Life, relating to the Dates of several Sequestrations.

Concerning which it must be further known, That this Sequestration was obtained in Mr. Symmons's Defence, and without Hearing his Defence, or so much as any further summoning him to Appear: As likewise that it was issued Five Months after he had been Called, and Answer'd before the Committee, without any regard to what he had then Pleaded in his Defence; or, to use his own Words, as if he had never answered at all. And further, That it ran, as is before said, in the Name of the Lords (as well as of the Commons) before whom he had never appeared at all, nor had been so much as Cited by them. On which oppressive Circumstances he makes this just Remark, That the Bishops, as much as they were cried out upon for Persecution, used to hear People first, told them what they would do beforehand, and for what Cause; and then subjoyns, Well fare Stephen Gardiner and Edmond Bonner; for they laboured by their Chaplains to Convince Men, before they would Condemn them: Nor do I read, they did them put Power into the Hands of their professed Enemies and Accusers, to afflict and hurt them: But the Case of the Clergy of those Times was much like that of John Hus; of whom 'tis said, Combustus est, non confutatus Hussius.

Mem. Rosh. p. 19.

Loyal Sub. Bel. p. 91.

As to the other Power, besides that of Sequestration, which he saith, was put into the Hands of his Enemies, it was a Warrant, or what else you will call it, to Take him, and carry him Prisoner to Cambridge, or otherwise to Abuse him as they should please: But upon Information given, he withdrew himself; and leaving all to the Mercy of his Enemies, was forced by Flight to secure his Person.

Ibid. p. 89.

Mem. Rosh. p. 19.

Mr. Symmons himself being thus got out of their reach, the Barbarous Wretches still proceeding in their Persecution, 'Wreck their Master on his poor Wife and Children, and his Aged Father: They threaten to beat down the 'House about their Ears, unless they would yield 'Possession to Mr. Atkins. His Father, for Cutting down Three Trees on the Glebe for necessary Uses, and an Honest Parishioner, for loving Mr. Symmons, and Ploughing his Land, were most maliciously Handled, and sent for up before the Committee in the Exchequer-Chamber: And 'when after all those Threats and Oppressions, they 'still keep Possession of the Parsonage-House, having to Place else wherein to put their Heads, 'At last, May 15, War. Tyler, I mean, War. Long, 'whom some call Colonel Long, came with some 'Troops of Horse, and Cast his whole Family out 'of Doors, his Aged Father, his Wife, and Three 'Children, the Eldest but Seven Years old, and 'his Servants, and so gave Possession of the House 'to Mr. Atkins; who had been appointed his Successor by the same Usurped Authority of the House which had Dispossest Mr. Symmons. This Usage of his Family was so very Outragious, that some of his Enemies did, as is reported, upon the Occasion say, If Mr. Symmons hath offended the Parliament, yet what hath the poor Woman and her tender Infants done?

Mem. Rosh. p. 20.

Loyal Sub. Bel. p. 91.

After he was thus Forced to Fly for the safety of his Life, to use his own Expression, he Wander'd about to Worcester, Exeter, Barnstaple, and at length Fled beyond the Seas to France. He died, if Fuller was rightly informed, about the Year 1649; but where, I cannot learn. The Reader may easily guess from the Earliness of his Sufferings, that he was a very considerable Man: And indeed those Pieces of his which I have seen, plainly discover him to have been such. Fuller saith, that he was an Excellent Preacher, and Conscientious in his Calling; and Dr. Hollingworth in his Dedication of the Vindication of the Royal Martyr from the Calumnies of the Cabinet opened, Published by Mr. Symmons in 1648, and Reprinted by the Care of that Dr. in 1693, saith, He was certainly a Man of as great Courage and Piety, as he was of Learning and Wisdom, as that Age and those Times almost did afford.

Ibid.

Fuller ubi supra.

Before I proceed to the next Sequestration, I must again repeat the Observation which I have more than once already mention'd on the like Occasions, viz. That the Reader is not to look on these Oppressions of Mr. Symmons as peculiar to himself, either in Number or Degree; but as the Common Fate of the Clergy in those Times: Only the Particulars of the Barbarities exercised upon most others, are wholly lost; whilst Mr. Symmons himself took care to Transmit the Memory of his own Sufferings to the latest Posterity: And for that very reason, as I cannot forbear further to observe and subjoin, it may very well be made a Standard by which to judge of the Proceedings against the rest of the sequestred Ministers.

Thus in the Instance of Mr. Lemuel Take, we may see what the Godly Lecturers were, and for what reasons they were Thrust into so many Parishes; and may very well guess, upon what Account it was, that the Clergy insisted so much on the Duty of Parochial Communion; Inveighed against their Peoples Rambling to Other Churches, and Spake against so much Preaching (each of which is in the Century made such a frequent Article against them) viz. That they might not be Corrupted by those Preachers of Faction and Sedition. We may also see in the Instance of the same Person, that whatever Pretences the Party made, and whatever Clamours they raised about Scandal and Immorality; they were so far from Turning out such of the Clergy as were ready and ruly Scandalous (provided only that they would but come into their Measures, which, 'tis most probable, such Persons, of all others, would) that instead of it, they Advanced and Promoted them. And, on the other hand, this whole Case of Mr. Symmons is a plain Evidence, that many of those Ministers whom they did thus sequester and turn out, were so far from being scandalous or insufficient, as they were then generally represented, that on the contrary, they were Men of the best Learning and Character in the Kingdom.

'Tis true indeed, Mr. Symmons himself was not Accused before the Committee, either of Ignorance or Immorality; but however, as himself observes and complains, his Case was referr'd to the Committee for scandalous Ministers, that so he might afterwards be reckoned in that Number; and the Order for his Sequestration ran in those Terms: for the better Supply of an able and Godly Man in the said Church, &c. whereby they intimated unto the World, that he whom they cast out, was not to be accounted such a one.

See also Rosh. p. 16.

What is here said of Burrowes, shews, that those who Prosecuted the Clergy, were Persons of the most upon the Clergy, are just the same with those of which Mr. Symmons was Accus'd: More particularly, that something or other which they had Preached, was commonly brought into the Articles against them; and no doubt, upon as slender Evidence, and as much perverted, as Mr. Symmons's Preaching here appears to have been. I have only this one Word more to add, that Mr. Symmons's Friendship with Stephen Marshall, and Omitting the Cross and Surplice, plainly insinuate his having been something inclinable to the Puritans; but his not being able to go Hand in Hand with them in the Rebellion, brought all those Miseries upon him. So little will they allow of Moderation among themselves, or favour those who will not go the utmost Lengths with them, when once they have got the Power in their own Hands: A Truth, which I could with deeply Imprinted upon the Mind and Heart of every Clergyman!

HEREFORDSHIRE.

SHERBOURN, WILLIAM, D. D. Pembridge, R.

See the Cathedral Church of Hereford.

SMITH, THOMAS, . Richards-Castle, R.

'He was for his Fidelity to Church and State, where the Earl then was, some ten Miles from her own Home, to Petition him that no Violence might be offered by his Soldiers to her House or Goods; He most Nobly, and according to the Goodness of his Disposition, threw the Petition away, and swore no small Oaths, that she should be Plundered To morrow. The good Gentlewoman being out of hope to Prevail, and seeing there was no good to be done by Petitioning him, speeds home as fast as she could, and that Night removed as much of her Goods, as the Shortness of the time would permit. Next Morning, to make good the Earl of Stamford's Word, Captain Kirle's Troop, consisting of 70 Horse, and 30 Foot which were Hangers on (Birds of Prey) came to Mr. Swift's House: There they took away all his Provision of Victuals, Corn, Houshold stuff, which was not convey'd away: They empty his Beds, and fill the Ticks with Malt: They rob him of his Cart and six Horses, and make this Part of their Theft the Means to convey away the rest. Mrs. Swift much affrighted to see such a Sight as this, thought it best to save her self, tho' she lost her Goods: Therefore taking up a young Child in her Arms, began to secure her self by Flight; which one of the Troopers perceiving, he commanded her to stay, or (holding his Pistol at her Breast) threaten'd to Shoot her dead. She (Good Woman) fearing Death, whether she went on, or returned, at last, shunning that Death which was next unto her, she retires back to her House where she saw her self Undone, and yet durst not Oppose, or ask Why they did so? Having thus fit match for a Rectory.

'Rifled

Rifled the House and gone, next Morning early she goes again to Hereford, and there again Petitions the Earl to shew some Compassion on her and her TEN CHILDREN; and that he would be pleased to cause her Horses, and some Part of her Goods to be Restored unto her: The Good Earl was so far from Granting her Petition, that he would not Vouchsafe so much as to Read it. When She could not prevail her self, She makes use of the Mediation of Friends; these have the Repulse too, his Lordship remaining Inexorable, without any Inclination to Mercy: At last, hoping that all Mens Hearts were not Adamant, Relentless, She leaves the Earl, and makes her Address to Captain Kirle; who upon her Earnest Entreaty, grants her a Protection for what was left; but for Restitution, there was no Hope of that. This Protection cost her no less than 30 s. it seems Paper and Ink were dear in those Parts. And now thinking her self Secured by this Protection, She returns home, in hope that what was left, She might Enjoy in Peace and Quietness. She had not been a long time at home, but Captain Kirle sends her word, that if it pleased her, She might Buy Four of her own Six Horses again; assuring her by his Father's Servant and Tenant, that She should not fear being Plundered of them any more by the Earl of Stamford's Forces while they were in those Parts. Encouraged by these Promises, She was content to Buy her Own, and deposited Eight Pounds Ten Shillings for Four of her Horses: And now conceiving the Storm to be blown over, and all Danger past; and placing much Confidence in her purchas'd Protection, She causeth all her Goods secur'd in her Neighbours Houses, to be brought home; and since it could not be better, rejoyced that She had not lost All. She had not enjoy'd these Thoughts long, but Captain Kirle sent unto her for some Vessels of Cyder, wherein to have tasted, but not liking it, since he could not have Drink for himself, would have Provender for his Horse: And therefore instead of Cyder, he demands Ten Bushels of Oats. Mrs. Swift fearing that the Denial might give some Grounds of a Quarrel, sent him word that her Husband had not Two Bushels of Oats in a Year for Tythe; nor did they Sow any on their Glebe; both which were most true: Yet, to shew how willing She was (to her power) to comply with him, that the Messenger might not return Empty, She sent him Forty Shillings to Buy Oats. Suddenly after, the Captain of Goodrige Castle sends to Mr. Swift's House for Victual and Corn: Mrs Swift instantly repairs to him, and shews him her Protection. He, to answer, shews her his Warrant; and (so without any regard to her Protection) seizeth upon that Provision which was in her House; together with the Cyder which Captain Kirle refused. Hereupon Mrs. Swift writes to Captain Kirle, complaining of this Injury, and the Affront done to him in slighting of his Protection: But before the Messenger could return with an Answer to her Letter, some from the Castle came a second time to Plunder the House; and they did what they came for. Presently after comes a Letter from Captain Kirle in answer to Mrs. Swift's; telling her, that the Earl of Stamford did by no means approve of the Injuries done unto her; and withal, by Word of Mouth, sends to her for more Oats. She perceiving, that as long as She Gave they would never leave Asking, resolved to be drilled no more. The Return not answering Expectation, on the Third of December, two Hours before Day, Captain Kirle's Lieutenant, attended by a considerable Number of Horse and Dragoons, comes to Mrs. Swift's House, and demands Entrance; but the Doors being kept shut against them, and not able to force them; they broke down two Iron-Barrs in a Stone-Window; and (to with Swords drawn, and Pistols cocked, they Enter the House: Being Entered, they take all Mr. Swift's and his Wife's Apparel, his Books, and his Childrens Clothes, they being in Bed; and those poor Children that hung by their Clothes, unwilling to part with them; they swung them about, until (their Holdfast failing) they dasted them against the Walls. They took away all his Servants Clothes, and made (o clean Work with one, that they left him not a Shirt to cover his Nakedness. There was one of the Children, an Infant, lying in the Cradle; they rob'd That, and left not the little poor Soul a Rag to defend it from the Cold; they took away all the Iron, Pewter, and Brass; and a very fair Cupboard of Glasses, which they could not carry away), they brake to pieces; and the four Horses lately redeemed, are with them Lawful Prize again, and left nothing of all the Goods, but a few Stools, for his Wife, Children and Servants, to sit down and bemoan their distressful Condition. Having taken away All, and being gone, Mistress Swift in compassion to her poor Infant in the Cradle, took it up almost starved with Cold, and wrapped it in a Petty Coat which she took off from her self; and now hoped, That having nothing to lose, would be a better Protection for their Persons, than that which the Parliament of Captain Kirle for 30 s. but as if Job's Messengers would never make an End, Her three Maid-Servants, whom they of the Castle compelled to carry the Poultry to the Castle, return, and tell their Mistress, that they in the Castle said, that they had a Warrant to seize upon Mrs. Swift, and bring her to the Castle; and that they would make her three Maid-Servants wait on her there; Threatning to Plunder all under the Petty-Coat and other uncivil, immodest Words, not fit for them to speak, or me to write. Hereupon Mrs. Swift fled to the Place where her Husband, for fear of the Rebels, had withdrawn himself: She had not been gone two Hours, but they came from the Castle, and bring with them three Teems to carry away what was before designed for Plunder, but waived means of Conveyance: When they came, among other things, there was a Batch of Bread hot in the Oven; this they seized: Ten Children en their knees, intreat but for one Loaf; and at last, with much Importunity, obtain it; but before the Children had Eaten it, They took even that one Loaf away, and left them destitute of a Morsel of Bread amongst ten Children. Ransacking every Corner of the House, that nothing might be left behind, they find a small Pewter-Dish, in which the dry Nurse had put Pap to feed the poor Infant, the Mother, which gave it Suck, being fled to save her Life; this they seize on too: The Nurse Intreats for God's sake, that they would spare that; pleading, that in the Mother's Absence it was all the sustenance which was, or could be provided to sustain the Life of the Child; and on her Knees intreated to shew Mercy unto the Child, that knew not the Right Hand from the Left: A Motive which prevailed with God himself, though justly Incensed against Nineveh: But to shew what Bowels of Compassion and Mercy are to be expected in Bellarmes, and how far they are from being Disciples to him, who says, Be ye Merciful, as your Father which is in Heaven is Merciful: They transgress that Precept of our Saviour in the Letter, and Take away the Childrens Meat, and give it unto Dogs: For throwing the Pap to the Dogs, they put up the Dish as lawful Prize. Mr. Swift's eldest

* Swift no less than 300 l.

Thus far the Mercury; which being written about a Year after the Tranſacting of theſe Barbarities, could not account for Mr. Swift's Sequeſtration; becauſe that was not formally Iſſued until about Three Years after, viz. in 1646; and July the 5th, that Year, I find the Committee of Hereford Sequeſtred, and Ordered the Profits of Gotheridge into the Hands of Jonathan Dryden, Miniſter, until the Chriſtmas following. This Mr. Dryden was to ſee the ſaid Cure duly Officiated; and to Receive, Gather, and Diſpoſe of the Dues of the Living. When his other Living of Bridſtow was put under Sequeſtration, I know not; but Sept. 25. that Year alſo, the ſame Committee Ordered his Ejectment from it, for Scandal and Delinquency, and for his being in actual Service againſt the Parliament. At the ſame time likewiſe they Ordered Mr. Jonathan Smith, the then Curate, to be Inducted in his Cure.

What became of him afterwards, I know not; but in 1654, One John Somers got this Living.

The 24th of March following, the Committee Ordered his Ejectment alſo from Gotheridge, and the Inducting of Giles Rawlins to Succeed him in that Pariſh; and aſſign the ſame Reaſons for it, as they before had done for the Turning him out of Bridſtow. Mr. Swift was alſo Impriſoned by the Committee, as ſoon as the Garriſon of Hereford fell into the Hands of the Rebels, and continued Priſoner a long time. I find him in Cuſtody at Rogland-Caſtle when the Committee Ordered his Ejectment from Gotheridge. He had a Temporal Eſtate in Gotheridge, and Marſtow, which his Enemies would frankly own, that he was a very good Man; and that they had no Objection againſt him, but that he would Read the Common-Prayer, which he had been heard to ſay himſelf; his Zeal for which he has ſhewn to his Devotion digeſted, p. 16. where he complains of the Liturgy being laid aſide, and clearly vindicates Set Forms of Prayer; and ſhews, that they who Pray with Set Forms, may more properly be ſaid to Pray by the Spirit, than ſuch as Pray Extempore: But his Zeal for the Church of England was ſhewn as much againſt Popery, as againſt Fanaticiſm; as is Evident, not only from his Book entituled, The Church of Rome not ſufficiently Vindicated, but likewiſe from his having the Courage to enter into a Diſpute with K. James, when Duke of York, as he was going into Scotland, while he lay at the Houſe of Sir Richard Grahme, Unkle to the late Lord Viſcount Preſton, then living in his Pariſh of Wath, on the Subject of Tranſubſtantiation: Upon which the Duke, willing to put an End to it, ſaid, Doctor, I do not profeſs my ſelf a Scholar; when ſeveral other Clergymen, particularly Dr. Cartwright, afterwards Biſhop of Cheſter, were Silent on the Occaſion. In the following Reign he was very Active againſt Popery; and when conſulted by the Clergy in Yorkſhire, his Advice ſo influenc'd them againſt the Reading the Declaration for Liberty of Conſcience; that he incurr'd the Diſpleaſure of Dr. Cartwright, then Biſhop of Cheſter; to whom, during the Vacancy, the Care of the Dioceſs of York was committed, in ſo high a Degree, that he was ſaid to be in great danger of Loſing his Livings.

In 1654, One William Tringham was Admitted to it.

At

At the Revolution, he without ſcruple took the Oaths of Allegiance to King William and Queen Mary, and wrote a Letter on that Occaſion, (which is ſtill in being) which influenc'd many of the Clergy to take them; yet he ſoon after refuſed the Biſhoprick of Bath and Wells, which I am credibly informed, he was very much preſs'd to accept; and was very Charitable to the Non-Jurors, eſpecially to the Epiſcopal Clergy of Scotland.

He was intimately acquainted with the moſt eminent Perſons for Piety and Learning, both in Church and State; with whom he held a great Correſpondence; particularly, Arch-biſhop Uſher, with whom he Lived in the Family at the time that the Arch-biſhop died there; and alſo with the Learned Dr. Iſaac Barrow, and with Arch-biſhop Sancroft, with whom he always Lodg'd at the Palace at Lambeth whenever he came to London.

But this his Zeal for the Church, both againſt Popery and Fanaticiſm, is moſt clearly Evident from the following Paſſages of his laſt Will and Teſtament, relating to his Faith, and the School he Founded at Wath.

'Whereas it has been my Lot, through the 'gracious Providence of God, to have receiv'ed my Baptiſm in the Communion of the Church 'of England, I do profeſs my ſelf infinitely 'obliged to the Goodneſs of God in this behalf; 'and I bleſs his Holy Name, for preſerving me 'from the dangerous Errors of the Church of 'Rome, on the one Hand, and from the Schiſm 'which hath been made by contentious Perſons 'amongſt our ſelves, on the other. I do believe 'the Settlement of our Church, under the Government, Diſcipline, and diſtinct Orders of 'Biſhops, Preſbyters and Deacons, to be moſt agreeable to the Holy Scriptures, and conformable to 'the Practice of the Primitive Church, immediately after the Apoſtolical Times; and that they 'who made, and ſtill continue to keep wide the 'great Breach amongſt us, to the Deſtruction as 'much as in them lies, of this Government, highly Sinned againſt God, and ſhall bear their Burden, except they repent, and return to the Unity 'of our Church; which I pray God, they may 'timely do. The bad Adminiſtration of our 'Church Diſcipline, I have look'd on, as a thing 'very deplorable, and particularly, the Neglect 'of due ordering Matrimonial Contracts; by 'Reaſon whereof Inceſtuous Marriages have been 'contriv'd at, if not encouraged in Places ordered by Epiſcopal Juriſdiction; tho' that and 'ſome other Miſcarriages are chiefly imputable 'to ill Perſons, intruſted too far with the Church's 'Authority: Yet I conceive that the beſt way of 'Amendment would be, a further Communication of Power to the Clergy, yet with due 'Subordination to their reſpective Biſhops in 'their ſeveral Pariſhes; which, I believe that no 'King, who ſhall own the Reformation Eſtabliſhed in the Church of England, will refuſe to 'Grant upon a due Application made unto him: 'And O, that I might ſee ſuch a glorious King'dom in my days, or the Nation at leaſt, enjoy ſo 'great a Bleſſing when I am gone.

The Paſſage relating to his School, is as follows; 'Provided always, that the Education 'of the Children be according to the Principles 'of the Proteſtant Religion, Eſtabliſhed in the Kingdom now at the Date above written; otherwiſe, I Will and Order, that the whole Rent of 'Bellerby-Lands, [viz. The Eſtate ſeuled for 'the Support of the ſaid School] after-mentioned, ſhall be given by equal Portions to my 'Kinſmen Mr. Joſeph and John Sammaires, to 'be Enjoyed by them till the Proteſtant Religion ſhall be publickly Profeſſed and Enjoyed by 'the Supreame Power of the Nation, during their 'Natural Lives, and after their Deaths, to be 'given to the Poor of Bedel and Wath.

As to the Diſcharge of his Miniſterial Function in his Pariſhes of Bedel and Wath afore-mentioned: His conſtant Practice during his being Rector of them (they being about ſix Miles diſtance from each other) was to Preach on the Mornings, and to Expound the Goſpel for the Day in the Afternoons; and during Lent, to Catechize the Children, and to Expound the Catechiſm inſtead of the Goſpel of the Day. In which Epiſtles he ſet up a Monthly Communion at Bedel the firſt Sunday, and at Wath the Second, which he conſtantly Adminiſtred himſelf; inſomuch that he generally reſided at Wath thirteen Weeks in the Year, and the remainder at Bedel, excepting ſome time, which he ſpent at York, where his Prebend required but little Reſidence. He never would condeſcend, notwithſtanding his great Abilities, to Preach or Expound without Notes, which he bequeathed by his Will to his two Curates at Bedel and Wath, with all his other Manuſcripts.

But he was herein Remarkable in nothing ſo much, as in the bold and honeſt Reproof he was wont to give to Licentious Perſons; inſomuch that no one, tho' of never ſo great Quality, would venture to Swear, or talk Profanely in his Hearing. Nay, in the Reign of King Charles II, he took the freedom to write a Letter to a Member of Parliament, that ſerved in that County; recommending it to him, as his Duty to promote an Act of Parliament for the Suppreſſing of Whoring, then ſo flagrant at Court. Nay, he even ventured to write a Letter to a conſiderable Nobleman, reproving him for his Licentiouſneſs; to which the Nobleman return'd a very Civil and Submiſſive Anſwer from his Seat, whither he ſent his Letter to him, which was in theſe Words, in his own Hand-writing.

Reverend Sir,

'I Received your very Kind, Pious, and Learned 'Letter with great Satisfaction; not only becauſe I believe it to be the Iſſue of your ſincere 'Charity, and well Wiſhes to my Good in the beſt 'Things; But for the great Learning, Primitive 'Piety, ſeaſonable and grave Advice, and hearty 'Devotions, which Breath forth in every of 'the Periods to that degree, as to make it dubtous in which of them you moſt excel. The 'truth is, I am much obliged to you, for your 'excellent Advice and Prayers; to which the 'beſt Return I can make you is, (which I know 'will be moſt grateful to you) that I intend to 'govern my ſelf by them, as having long ſince reſolved with my ſelf upon mature Conſideration, 'and the Experience I have had in the World, 'that what you Adviſe, is the ſafe way to Temporal, as well as Eternal Happineſs: And I am 'the more your Debtor, for your Counſels and 'Devotions; becauſe by the Hand of God in a 'Complication of great and Invincible Diſcouragements, I am deprived of the Advantage of the 'publick Miniſtry in the Church; ſo that I have 'greater need, and hope I ſhall reap greater 'Benefit by your Letter, which will ſupply me 'oft in my Solitudes with fit Meditations, inſtead of ſuch Homilies, and Sermons as the 'Church affords to thoſe in Health, who are better able to attend them. From our firſt Acquaintance, I ever had a great Opinion, (and 'now more confirmed in it) of your Piety, Learning, and exemplary Life, in the whole Circle 'of Chriſtian Vertues; and on that Account 'do more value you, and my ſelf alſo, by the 'ſhare I have in your Counſels and Prayers, in 'which if you pleaſe ſtill to give me an Intereſt, version digested; which is mostly an Explication of the Lord's Prayer; the Explication whereof is closed with a very Pious Prayer. 2. In his Prayer, entitul'd The Penitent's Humble Address; on the Back of the Title-Page of which, he has wrote these Words, This Address to God Almighty was drawn by P. Samwaies, through the Assistance of the Spirit of Grace. Glory be to God alone. Besides, it was his constant Practice during his Residence at Bedel, which was for 32 Years, as his Curate said in his Sermon at his Funeral, to have Prayers twice a day, both at Church, and in his Family; and he is known to have spent no small time in his Closet-Devotions. 3. In his Care of his Parishes, and of the orderly Management of the School he founded at Wath.

There was one of both these Names, who wrote an Expostion on Catechistical Principles. Whether he was the same Person with this Sufferer, I know not.

Seaton, George, D. D. Bushey, R. then worth 300 l. a Year.

News. Rep. Eccles. Vol 1. p. 616.

He was Presented to this Living by his Majesty King Charles I. Dec. 19, 1631; and in 1642, was by the Party threaten'd into a Resignation of it; which he made to Mr. Phill. Edlin (whom see among the London-Clergy) in exchange for another Living, the Name of which I cannot learn. Nor do I know whether he was allowed to keep that Living, or might be afterwards, as is not improbable, Sequestred from it. This in the mean

Spencer, Abraham, A. M. Idlestrea, R. And St. Michael's near St. Alban's, V.

He was Presented to the Rectory of both Livings by his Majesty King James I. No 25, 1618. and to the Latter of them Febr. 13, 1616, by Sir Francis Bacon, then Keeper of the Great Seal. News. Rep. Eccles. Vol. I. p. 781, 841.

He was Turned out about the Beginning of the Troubles, and not permitted so much as to keep a Reading School. He was a Person whom Malice it self would blush to accuse of any Vice. He lived to see his Majesty's Return; but having lost his Senses, was uncapable of Subscribing at Bartholemew-day 1662: Whereupon * John Cole, A. M. (afterwards Arch-deacon of St. Alban's, &c.) was Admitted to St. Michael's, March 3, that Year; and Idlestrea was bestowed upon Arnold Spencer, A. M. who was however, Admitted to it, as I find, May 25, 1663, per mortem Abr. Spencer, &c. at which time he had been very lately dead.

* Per non Subscript. ult. Vic.

Strange, Alexander, B. D. Layston, V.

See the Cathedral-Church of St. Paul.

Sydal, John, , Kenilworth, V.

He is another of Mr. White's Scandalous and Malignant Priests; by whom he is charged with Drunkenness, and the heavier Crimes, of Observing the Orders of the Church; of Asserting the Duty of Peoples attending upon their own Minister; and of saying, when the Rails of his Communion-Table were taken off, That the Abomination of Desolation was begun. He had also expres'd great Malignancy against the Parliament. After his Sequestration, he offered to Officiate in his Church; but was Dragged out of it by the Parishioners and at length driven out of his House likewise, and died in Two Months after; hastened to his Grave as all believed, by his Sufferings. Soon after his Vicaridge was supplied successively by a Weaver and two Plow-men.

Cont. p. 12.

HUNTINGTONSHIRE.

SHEPPARD, THOMAS, . Graftham, R.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester March 3, 1643, for a scandalous Life, and Neglect of Cure. His Successor was one Williams.

KENT.

SATTERTHWAITE, PHIL. D. D. Berling, V.

He was Sequestred in the Year 1642, as well from his Goods, and all he had; as from his Living; and was otherwise also most Barbarously used for his Loyalty to the King, and exact Conformity to the Church. He was a Person of Approved Learning and Abilities, and of an Unblamable Life.

SHRAWLEY, JOHN, . * Bearsted, V.

* In this County, if I mistake not; or else in Sussex.

He was Articled against by two hot-brained Dissenters; who drew in a Woman to Witness against him; who afterwards declared, that she wished she had parted with her right Head, rather than to have given Witness against so good a Man. He was maintained during the Usurpation, by William Cage, Esq; lived to see the Happy Year 1666, and had afterwards the Living of Hollingbourn.

SMITH, JOHN, . Wickhambreux, R. In 1654 one Edward Alexander was Admitted to this Living.

LANCASHIRE.

SIMMONDS, ——, . Middleton, R.

I am informed in general, that he was a very great Sufferer; but cannot discover any of the Particulars of his ill Usage, further than that he was Imprisoned, and not allowed to go to the Funeral of his Wife, who died during his Confinement: And that he was much Harrassed, and at length Silenced by the second Classis of this County, in which the Presbyterian Discipline forsooth, was set up. I find he was much Valued and Beloved by his Parish; who Petitioned the Classis no less than Three times in his Behalf; but were as often denied: Altho' the last time they only desired that he might continue among them until another should be placed there. After the Classis had Silenced him, they did not put any one in his Living for some time; notwithstanding they had a little before Refunded the want of the means of Grace in that Congregation. At length, however, they made it up to them, and appointed one Fulgate to Succeed; against whom the Parish Petitioned, as being a Man perfectly unknown: Only 'twas said, he was an Irishman, and very Ignorant. Who certified for him to the Classis, as the Custom then was, I know not: But they placed him at Middleton as a Probationer, and permitted him to continue there Fifteen Months, the Unordained Minister of that Place: For all that while he was only a Candidate for their Orders, and missed even of these at last, being utterly, and in fine, Disapproved of by them, for Clandestine Marriages. Mr. Simmonds was, as I have been assured, a most Excellent and Extraordinary Person.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

SACHEVERELL, CLEARE, . Rearsby, R.

He was descended of an Ancient Family; was Turned out about the Year 1644, or 1645 (for no other Crime than his Loyalty) and lived to be Restored with his Majesty.

SINKIN, ——, . Nelson, R.

SQUIRE, FRANCIS, . Quinchborough, V.

I have some reason to fear, that he was a Man of no good Life: But quære of that matter.

STANDISH, FRANCIS, . Swepston, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

He was, with his Wife and Children, Turned out of the Parsonage-House also, and reduced to great Straights. He died before the Restoration, and was, as I have been informed, a very Ingenious Man.

STAPLESFORD, EDWARD, . Great-Peslin, V.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

SALTER, ——, . * Stamford, . And. A Living at † Brigcasterton, worth 180 l. a Year. . . . . .

* One of the Livings in Stamford, as I suppose.

† Whether in This, or in some other County, I cannot say.

He was Sequestred for Frequenting Inns, &c. for being in the King's Garrison, Observing the Ceremonies, Preaching but once a day, and Suffering a Crucifix in one of the Windows of his Church; insomuch that the People of Stamford shewed much Bitterness and Malignancy, being never instructed in their Duty. I find Mr. Salter was also carry'd Prisoner to London, being taken in Burleigh-House by the Parliament Forces.

SAN-

…, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

… with his Wife and Children. The Par…onage-House also and reaso…ughes. He died before the Rebe…as, as I have been informed, a…e Ma…

…EFORD, EDWARD, Great-Penne, V.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

…, ——, Sta…
…ford, . . .
And
Ea…ing alias Brigsteram, worth …0 l. a Year. . . . . .

…ppointed for Engineering Jobs, &c. …the King's Garrisons. Obtaining the …. Preaching but once a day, and …ix in one of the Windows of his …ounded that he People of Newa… …h Buttments and Mahogany, pre… …ded in their Place. I am told he …s Prisoner to London, being take… …e by the Parliament Forces.

…ES…

News Rep Eccles. Vol. I. P. 714, 715.

Hist, in which the Parliament were Proclaim'd Rebels; and his being Once seiz'd by the Parliament Soldiers, and carry'd away a Prisoner. As to the Latter of which Allegations, I cannot but observe, that those certainly were the First times whenever the unavoidable Misery of any Person was made his Crime; especially by the very Men who brought that Misery upon him.

STRATFORD, GEORGE, B. D. Basingham, R.

See Corpus Christi College in Oxford.

——, ——, . Swaffield, R.

One John Weston had it during some Part of the Usurpation.

MIDDLESEX.

SOAME, THOMAS, D. D. Stanes, V.
And
Twickenham, V. . . . . .

See the Church of Windsor.

SMITH, THOMAS, . Lackenham, V. and the Curacy of St. Thomas in Norwich.

He had a Wife and Two Children.

STAINES, NIC. . Filby, R. One Will. Palmer got this Living in 1655.

STARLING, HENRY, . Hamersfield, R.

He was forced to Fly, and died in his Passage to Virginia; at which time he left his Wife in a very forrowful and Indigent Condition; who thereby becoming a distressed and sad Object of Charity, was likewise, at length, Supported by the Corporation for Ministers Widows.

STOKES, THOMAS, : Carleton-Road, R.
And
Higham, R. . . . . :

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, April 28. 1644; for Absence; keeping an Insufficient Curate; Observing the Rules of the Church; Refusing to Contribute to the Rebellion; and being an Ale-House-Haunter. He had a Wife and Three Children.

Quere alſo, if he did not loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 30 l. a Year.

NORTH-

Digitized by Google

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

SELLAR, ———, Stow, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

He had been Fellow of Merton-Coll. in Oxford, and was a very Learned and a very Good Man. There was this peculiar in his Sufferings, that a little time before his Sequestration, he had built a good House on the Parsonage. His Successor was one ———, a young Fellow of no Reputation, nor any Merit, besides his having been Tutor to the Children of a Great Man in those Times.

SIBTHORPE, ROBERT, D.D. Burton-Latimers, R.

See the Church of Peterborough.

SOME, ———, . Orlinbury, R.
I much mistake, if he was not both Sequestred, and otherwise Ill used. However Quære.

STEPHENS, JEREM. B.D, Wotton, R.
And
Quinton, R. . . . . }

See the Church of Lincoln.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

SHAW, JOHN, . Whalton, R.
And
The * Lecturer of All-Saints, . . }
The Two worth about 180 l. a Year.

* In Newcastle as I presume. See the Note at J. Clerk in this County.

He was the Son of a Clergy-Man, born at Bedlington in Durham, and was first of Queen's-College, from whence he removed to that of Brazen-Nose, in Oxford. In the Year 1645, he was both Instituted and Inducted to the Rectory of Whalton, but not permitted to Enjoy it: however with much ado he afterwards got the Church of Bolton in Craven in Yorkshire; which being but half the value of Whalton, they allowed him to keep it. In 1651, he returned to Whalton; was made Preacher also of the Parochial Chappel of St. John's in Newcastle; twice Chosen a Member of the Convocation for Yorkshire; and if I mistake not, served once for the Clergy of the Archdeconry of Northumberland. 'He was a Man of 'good Learning, and of an Unblameable Life; 'a strict Observer of the Orders of the Church; 'somewhat warm in his Temper; equally Zeal-'ous against Popery, and Presbytery, with its Brood 'of Sectaries; as appears by his Writings. The 'Gout confined him to his House, and at last to 'his Bed, some Years before his Death. He 'bare his Affliction with Christian Fortitude, 'being Patient, Resign'd and Chearful under it; 'more Solicitous for GOD'S Church, than for 'himself; and died in a good Old Age in the Year 1689. I had almost omitted to say, that he was Imprisoned, no less than four Years, by the Rebels.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 811. Wherefore, how what he wrote.

SMITH, ELIAS, . Bedlington, . worth 100 l. a Year.

See both the County, and Church of Durham, and a Marginal Note at the Latter.

SNAPE, JOHN, . Hartbourn, V. worth 130 l. a Year.

He was also Plundered and Harrassed from Place to Place; and being a Weak and Infirm Man, died, as I have been Informed, under his Troubles; although the Abridgement saith, that the former Incumbent of this Sequestred Living, Re-possessed it on the Restoration.

P. 418. Thing to be more fully observed. Snape died Early enough to the Troublers to make way for a Second Sufferer in this Living, which might be the Person who Dispossess'd the Intruder on the Return of his Majesty, and if so, That second Person, ought to be added to this List. Quare.

STEHENSON, THOMAS, D.D. Stamfordnam, .

He was also Plundered, and several times Imprisoned.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

———, ———, . Staunton, R.
See the Note at Abberton in Suffex, under the Letter A. One John Flower was Admitted to this Living in 1655.

OXFORDSHIRE.

———, ———, . Somerton, R.

———, ———, . Souldern, R.

SALOP.

SAGE, MARTIN, Great-Bolas, R.

SEDDON, LAUR. D.D. Worthen, R.
He had been 'twenty Years a Member of 'Brazen-Nose-College in Oxford, whence his great 'Learning and Piety, recommended him to the 'very valuable Rectory of Worthen, in the County 'of Salop: There for several Years he Exerted 'those Endowments, with which he was En-'riched; and his constant Application to his 'Studies, assiduous Preaching, and regular Perfor-'mance of all other Duties of his Function, made 'him very much Esteemed amongst all that knew 'him. There he continued in great quiet till the 'breaking out of the Civil Wars; but then the 'Honesty of his Principles made him Obnoxi-'ous to the prevailing Faction; by whom he was 'Dragg'd out of his Pulpit; and sent a Prisoner 'to Shrewsbury, where he continued till the Roy-'al Party, made a Reprizal of one of the Factio-'us Preachers, for whom he was Exchanged. In 'them ean time, they Robb'd him of all his Per-'sonal Estate, and Ejected him from his Ecclesi-'astical; whence he was forced to Fly to Lon-'don, to avoid further Persecution. One Betton 'Curate of St. Mary's in Salop, is by the Faction made

And there follows, as time.

And in 1614 I find one Edw. Gyles Admitted to this Living.

made Rector in his Place at Worsbam, and by a Troop of Horſe put in Poſſeſſion of the Parſonage-Houſe, and valuable Glebe. His Wife, then big with Child (a Gentlewoman of a good Family) being with her Children, moſt Inhumanly dragg'd out, and rudely Affronted. The Doctor in the mean time, takes Sanctuary in a poor Printer's Houſe in London, where he Corrected his Preſs, to purchaſe a Coverture for his Head; and tho' he Rightful Owner of a very conſiderable Eſtate, Eccleſiaſtical and Secular yet was forced to Walk on his Feet every Lord's-Day, about ſeven Miles, to Officiate in an obſcure Place, for a mean Subſiſtence: Here the Meanneſs and Obſcurity of the Place, gave him ſome Years ſhelter; but at laſt, being diſcovered, he is forced to Retire into unknown Places to ſeek his Bread: Thus continued he till the Reſtoration of the King and Church; Officiating in the private Houſes of the poor Sequeſtered Royaliſts, after the Canons of the Church of England (as far as was Conſiſtent with his Perſecuted Condition) and to live upon the narrow Exhibitions that thoſe Plundered and Sequeſtered Gentlemen were in Capacity to afford; till upon the Return of the Captivity, he ſhared in the Common Bleſſing, and died Canon-Reſidentiary of Hereford, if I miſtake not.

SEWARD, JOHN, . Somerton, V.

He was Turned out ſome time about, or before, 1648; and Succeeded by one Roger Derbie; and has the Character of a Man of an upright Converſation, a moſt Elegant Preacher, and of an undaunted Courage.

SEWARD, SAMUEL, D.D. Norton, R. And Yeovilla, V. The Two worth about 200*l.* a Year. . . . . }

There were no other Pretences, as far as I can Learn, againſt him, beſides his Loyalty, and Affection to the Eſtabliſhed Church. He was alſo very much Harraſſed and Inſulted; he had his Houſe Plundered, and particularly his Study of Books, which was very Valuable, and all his Manuſcripts were violently taken from him, and never Reſtored; which the good Man often and deeply Lamented, as a thing that went near him: And in ſhort, the Rude and Cruel Uſage he met with, in a little time broke his Spirits, and his Health, and put an End to his Life. He was a Man of good Learning, very Peaceable, an excellent Preacher, and of an unſpotted Life.

One Humphries got this Living in 1613.

SMALLMAN, ——, . Northclobury, R.

He out-lived the Uſurpation, and was Reſtored to his Rectory.

SOOTHILL, ——, . Monford, R.

He was a great Sufferer for his Loyalty. After his Death, ſome of his Family were at length Neceſſitated to beg Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

STUDLEY, PETER, . The Second Portion of Pontesbury, R.

I find him alſo fine for into Cuſtody, by the Houſe of Commons, as a Delinquent, in the Beginning of the Rebellion.

He was 'Turned out of his Rectory, and Houſe well Furniſhed, and ſo hardly dealt with, that he was denied the Uſe of one of his own Books, which he deſired he might borrow for a ſhort time. He writ a Book intituled, A Looking-Glaſs for Schiſmaticks, and had the Character of a Pious and good Man.

SHARP, EMANUEL, . Bathalton, R.

If I miſtake not, his Father, who was the Rector of this Place, died in Poſſeſſion of it, ſome time after the breaking out of the Troubles; and having the Advowſon in his own Right, it came to this Son, who was wholly Deprived of it until the Reſtoration; nor could he get ſo much as the Fifths * from one Binden, who had Uſurped the Rectory: Whereupon he was with his Family, driven to the greateſt Hardſhips; ſome of them being forced to Card and Spin for a Livelihood †. During the greateſt part of the Uſurpation, he wandered up and down in Devonſhire; for I find him at Dipford, Ugborough, Dartmouth and Marlden: But he was not permitted quietly to continue at any of thoſe Places, except the laſt; which was, as I gueſs, towards the latter End of the Uſurpation; being ſundry times Convened before the Committee, and twice Impriſoned at Exeter, where One of the Accuſations againſt him was, That his Wife had ſaid, He was a Cavalier, and would Live and Die a Cavalier; but that which lay at the Bottom of his Proſecution, was his Preaching up Loyalty and Obedience, wherever he came.

 I preſume, he had not been Admitted, which poſſibly was the Reaſon as to his Claim of them.*

† Having at that time a Wife and five Children. I have been told alſo, that there was one Emanuel Sharp Turned out of Berdhoe in that County. That alſo was, it may be, one of the Places in which he Wandered.

He was Driven both from Dipford and Dartmouth by the Famous Mr. Flavel: At the Latter of which Places he was Curate to the Vicar there, and Officiated according to the Cuſtom of that Pariſh, at Townſtall, the Pariſh-Church, which ſtands a little way out of the Town. He kept a School likewiſe; but was not long permitted to Support himſelf there, either as Curate or Schoolmaſter; though it muſt be confeſſed, that he was by a great Man of thoſe Times, offered any Preferment, if he would have Complied with them: Whilſt he was at Ugborough, a Bonfire happen'd to be made there for ſome Advantage which the Rebels had obtained over his Majeſty's Forces; and one of Mr. Sharp's Children being got in among the People which were round it, an Inveterate Fellow of the Company Reviled and Abuſed the poor Child, calling him Prieſt's Baſtard, &c. Which Mrs. Sharp, then big with Child, hearing of, and coming to the Place to Reſent it, ſhe met with ſo much Provocation, as occaſi-

Digitized by Google

SOMERSETSHIRE.

SCLATER, ——, . Currey-Malet, R.

He was Succeeded by the Clerk, or ſome ſuch Dependent or Retainer to a Colonel.

SELLICK, ——, D. D. Elworthy, R.

One John Sellick had the Prebend of Roſcombe in the Church of Salisbury, June 19, 1660, per Mort. Sam Marſh jun. and Died before Auguſt 25, 1690; when he was Succeeded by William Lake. Sparr.

He was Preſented to this Living, ſome time during the Conſuſions; but kept out from the Admiſſion to, and the Poſſeſſion of it by the Iniquity of thoſe Times. He ſurvived the Uſurpation, and Enjoyed the Living upon his Old Title.

oned her Miscarrying: Upon which, some of them had the Chutzpa to lay, That the Calf was Dead; and if the Cow was too, they would make a Bonfire, which should reach Heaven; I am sure, the Tongue which could utter such an Unchristian Speech, must needs be fet on fire of Hell.

But to go on, Mr. Sharp; as is before said, retired at last to the Chapelry of Maridon, belonging to the Vicaridge of Paunton in Devon; where he found some Quiet and Support, until the Return of the King; at which time he got Possession of his Living of Bathalton; and upon the Ejectment of Mr. Newton in 1662, had also this Vicaridge of St. Mary Magdalen in Taunton. When he died, I know not; but he was, as the Dissenters themselves own, a Learned Man, of a Sober, and very exemplary Conversation. As for Mr. Binden, the Usurper at Bathalton, I may have occasion to speak more of him hereafter.

SMITH, ——, D. D. North-Curry, . See the Cathedral-Church of Wells, and Quare.

STANDFAST, RICHARD, . Christ-Church, R. in Bristol.

See the Note at Mr. James Reade in this County.

He was, as I have heard, very Ill used; but I cannot obtain any other Particulars of his Sufferings than this, That once, when he was sought after, he Disguised himself in the Habit of a Thatcher, and was when they came to look for him, actually upon the House, pretending to be very busie at that Work. He was Succeeded by one Ewens a Taylor; but whether it was He, or any other Person, that gave up to Mr Standfast upon the Restoration, I cannot tell: For he not only Lived to be Restored, but became Prebendary of that Cathedral-Church also. When he died, I know not; but am assured that he was a Reverend, Learned, and Pious Man.

STERNE, RICHARD, A. M. Yeovilton, R.

See Jesus-College in Cambridge. After what is there said, of the Sufferings of this excellent Person, was printed off, I Received this further Account of them in the Copy of a Letter written by himself, while under Confinement; and Communicated by Mr. Sayer, Fellow of Queen's-College in Cambridge (to whose Grandfather it was written) with this farther Notice, that Dr. Sterne, when afterwards Lord Arch-Bishop of York, did largely requite the Kindness of his Pupil, mentioned in this Letter, by Conferring upon his Son a Dignity in the Church. The Letter Corrects one Particular in the former Account, which makes the Number of those Imprisoned in the Ship to have amounted to Fourscore; whereas, it seems, it wanted One or Two of Threescore. It here follows Verbatim:

Good Mr. Sayer,

'UPon Saturday last I Received your Letter by the same Hand to which you delivered it: In it I read that loving and good Affection which I ever found in you, and from you; and together which it, I receiv'd the Real Expression of it, whereby I am more ways than one become your Debtor. The Seasonableness, and Especially the Freeness of the Courtesie, made it Double and Tripple to it self, and wou'd have bound me to entertain it, though I had less occasion than at this time I have, as things are, and have been with me. This is now the fourth Month of my Imprisonment; Nineteen Weeks in the Tower, Thirty Weeks in the Lord Peter's House, Ten Days in the Ships, and Seven Weeks here in Ely-House. The very dry Fees and Rents of these several Prisons have amounted to above 100 l. besides Diet and all other Charges; which have been Various and Excessive, as in Prisons is usual. For the better Enabling me to Maintain my self in Prison, and my Family at Home, they have Seized upon all my Means which they can lay their Hands on. At my Living near Cambridge they have not only taken the whole Crop, that is in a manner the whole Benefit of the Living (for the rest is very little) but Plundered and Sold whatever Goods of mine they found there, even to the Poultry in the Yard; allowing me not so much as to pay for his Dinner that serv'd the Cure. They have Robb'd also the Child that is yet unborn, of the Clothes it should be wrapp'd in. But upon my Wife's Address to the Committee at Cambridge, they had so much Humanity, as to make the Sequestrators (tho' with much ado) restore them to her again. They have also forbidden our College-Tenants (all within their Verge) to pay us any Rents (for the better Upholding of Learning and the Nurseries thereof) If I have any thing else that Escapes their Fingers, it is in such Fingers out of which I cannot get it: And that also I owe to the fame Goodness of the Times. So that if my Friends Love had not made my Credit better that it deserves to be, and supply'd my Occasions, I should have kept but an hungry and cold House both Here and at Home. And all this while I have never been so much as spoken with bal, or called either to give or receive an Account why I am here. Nor is any thing laid to my Charge (not so much as the General Crime of being a Malignant) no, not in the Warrant for my Commitment. What hath been wanting in Human Justice, hath been (I praise God) supply'd by Divine Mercy. Health of Body, and Patience, and Chearfulness of Mind, I have not wanted, no, not on Shipboard; where we lay (the first Night) without any thing under, or over us, but the bare Decks, and the Clothes on our Backs; and after we had some of us got Beds, were not able, (when it Rain'd) to ly dry in them; and when it was Fair Weather, were Sweltered with Heat, and stifled with our own Breaths; there being of us in that one small Ipswich-Coal-Ship (so low-built too, that we could not walk, nor Stand Upright in it) within one or two of Threescore; whereof six Knights, and eight Doctors in Divinity, and divers Gentlemen of very good Worth, that wou'd have been sorry to have seen their Servants (nay, their Dogs,) no better Accommodated. Yet among all that Company, I do not remember that I saw one sad or dejected Countenance all the while; so strong is God, when we are weakest.

'But to return to your self: You see what a good Debtor you are like to have of me; tho' of that I gave your Friend fair warning when he was first with me; telling him (and that truly) that I was never in a Condition less deserving to be Trusted with Money. I have only given him a Note of my Hand for the Receipt of so much borrow'd of you. As you have limited me no time of Payment; so neither have I prescribed you a time of Forbearance; but do acknowledge it due upon demand. If you please to set any time, or to require any further Obligation (for Mortality's sake) I shall upon Notice from you, observe and perform accordingly.

Digitized by Google

SHAWE, ———, . Blendworth, R.

SHINGLEY, ———, . East-Meane, V.

He was likewise Imprisoned.

SMITH, MICHAEL, . Bagburſt, R.

SOUCH, WILLIAM, . Amport, V.

He was also Imprisoned.

* SQUIRE, ———, . Dibden, R.

* See Mr. Baxter in this County, and a Note there.

STANLEY, EDWARD, * Moſſom, R. } And † Hinton-Ammer, R. . . . . }

* Or Montfiſſount, if I guess aright: But if theſe are two different Livings, they muſt both be reckoned to the Account of this ſame Dr. Stanley.

See Winchester-Cathedral. In 1654, one John Crofts was Admitted to the Former of theſe Livings.

†Wood (Ath. Vol. II. p. 117.) mentions the Ejectment of a Loyal Perſon from the Rectory of Hinton. If he means this Hinton, then this Perſon was that Dr. Stanley; but if to more any other Hinton, then it ought to be Entered in a Diſtinct Article, as being another Sequeſtration.

couraging his Man to Fight againſt the Scots.

SCRIVENER, SAMUEL, . Weſtthropp, R.

He likewiſe hath a Place provided for him in the Century, for Drunkenneſs and Adultery; as likewiſe for Obſerving the Rules of the Church, Preaching againſt the Rebellion, and ſaying, That the County of Suffolk had choſen ſuch Factious Fellows for their Knights, that the Parliament was not like to hold. P. 49.

SELLER, JOHN, . Great Welthan, R.

SHADLOE, ———, . Beccles, R.

In 1655, I find one John Clark got Poſſeſſion of this Place.

SHEPARD, ROBERT, A. M. Hepworth, R.

He was Turned out of his Living in 1642, and afterwards Thruſt into the Century, for Drunkenneſs, Great Suſpicion of Inconſiſtency, Subornation, Calling his Pariſhioners Names; And, what ſeems to interpret the whole, Paying Obedience to the Injunctions and Rules of the Church, and ſaying, That the Parliament were but a Company of Factious Spirits. He was Reſtored to his Living Dec. 7, 1660; and was, as I have been informed, a very Learned Man. P. 49.

SKINNER,

SKINNER, ——, . Lexfield, V.

SMITH, ——, D.D. Mendlesham, V.

* A different Perſon from Dr. Smith, who immediately precedes. SMITH, ——, . Cavendiſh, R. One Tho. Gray was Admitted to Cavendiſh in 1615.

SPARROW, ANTHONY, B.D. Haukdon, R.

See Queen's-College in Cambridge.

STONEHAM, NICHOLAS, . Eyke, R.
He was Sequeſtred about the Year 1644 for Haunting of Taverns; Swearing; Obſerving the Ceremonies; and divers Inſtances of Malignancy; among which, was his ſaying, that if ſome of the Parliament did not get to their Legs, their Necks might feel the Weight of their Bodies. Quere alſo if he did not loſe a Temporal Eſtate of five Pounds a Year.

The Wiſdom of one Stoneham a Sequeſtred Miniſter, was not found, Reſerved in the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. Quere whether he was the ſame Perſon with this Mr. Stoneham of Eyke. If he was not, he ought to be Entered in a ſeparate Article, and added to this Liſt.

SUGDEN, ROBERT, . Benhall, V.
He was Turned out for Haunting of Ale-Houſes; Suſpicion of Incontinency; Obſerving the Orders of the Church; Refuſing to ſign the Petition againſt the Biſhops; Supplying his Cure with Outed Miniſters; and telling his Pariſhioners, who went to hear Godly Miniſters, that they went to hear Fellows Pray Blaſphemy, and Preach Treaſon: To which are added ſeveral other Inſtances of Malignancy.

SUMPTON, SIMON, B.D. Badingham, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

SURREY.

* This I take to be the Living which he loſt; but Quere.

STREET, EDWARD, . * Thorp, R.
He was alſo Plundered and had a Temporal Eſtate, which was likewiſe put under Sequeſtration. At the time of his Death he left his Widow in very great Poverty; inſomuch that ſhe was afterwards Supported by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

SUSSEX.

SEFTON, ——, . Burton cum Coates, R.

The chief occaſion of his Sufferings was his continuing to Preach up Loyalty and Obedience to the King after the Rebellion brake out; for which he was threatned with Impriſonment: Notwithſtanding which he boldly perſiſted in the Diſcharge of his Duty, until Sir John Fagg, a Colonel in the Rebel-Army, came with a Troop of Horſe to Apprehend him; but Mr. Sefton having timely Notice of it, Fled and Abſconded for almoſt half a Year, in a poor Lodge belonging to a Warren; with a poor Boy, under pretence of carrying Victuals to the Servants which work'd upon a Neighbouring Farm, brought him his Meat.

After he had lain Concealed there about Five or Six Months, he Fled to the Eaſt-Indies; from whence he lived to Return before the End of the Uſurpation; and repairing again to his Living, was, upon the News of his being come back, ſought after a ſecond time by a Great Man of thoſe Parts; who miſſing of him (notwithſtanding the Care and Pains he had taken to come over the Hedges to his Houſe by a Back Way) went into his Study, and Rifled it; taking away among other Papers of Value, a Dialogue which Mr. Sefton had Writ in the Eaſt-Indies; being the Sum of a very Learned Diſcourſe, containing the Diſputes he had with ſeveral Heathens, in order to Convert them to the Chriſtian Faith. Whether that Curioſity be ſtill Preſerved, or elſe Periſhed in theſe Times, and under thoſe Hands which deſtroyed every thing that was Rare and Valuable, I know not: But I find Mr. Sefton lived to ſee the Reſtoration; was made Reſidentiary of Chicheſter, Rector of Stoke in this County, and of Winchfield in Hampſhire: So that, it may be, he did not return to Burton. He was a very Learned and Pious Man; and was ſucceeded in the Times of Confuſion, by an Illiterate Mechanical Fellow.

One John Sefton, Clerk, Gave an L. a Year to St. Paul's Cathedral.

SHEPPARD, HENRY, . Kingſton near Lewes, V.
And Pedinghove, V. . . . . }

I take it to be the ſame Mr. Sheppard who loſt both theſe Livings.

STAMP, JOHN, . Ovindean, V.

WARWICKSHIRE.

STAPLETON, WILLIAM, . Monks-Kirby, .

He lay under Sequeſtration Sixteen Years, and lived to be Reſtored.

——, ——, . Sutton-under-Brailes, .

Quere further however, of this Sequeſtration.

WESTMORLAND.

SAVAGE, ARTHUR, A.M. Broughham, R.

He was firſt, Diſpoſſeſt of this Living in 1644; and about Three Years after got into it again, and kept it till the Year 1655; but without receiving any of the Profits all that time, except One Year. What became of him afterwards, I know not.

See Cumberland.

WILTSHIRE.

SHIPMAN, WILLIAM, . Whaddon, R.

——,

TON, WILLIAM, Monk-Kirby, .

Sequestration Sixteen Years ago

———, . Sutton-under-Brailes, .

never, of this Sequestration

TMORLAND.

ARTHUR, A.M. Brough-ham, R.

D ejected of this Living it is Three Years after promotion to the Year 1653; but with the Priests at that time.

What became of him after

ILTSHIRE

, WILLIAM, Wick-ham, R.

—,

dren.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

He was Succeeded in this Living by one Mr. Durham

SMITH, WILLIAM, D.D. Tredington, R. valued at 550 l. a Year.

See the Cathedral-Church of Worcester.

See Abridg. 344

SPICER, ———, . Stone, V.
He was indeed Turned out of this Living, but Succeeded, with his own Content, by Mr. Richard Serjeant, who had married his Daughter: Which makes his Sequestration hardly worth taking Notice of.

See Abridg. p. 16.

SUTTON, ———, . Breedon, R.
He was Restored on the Return of his Majesty; at which time one Breston Surrender'd the Living to him.

———, ———, . Old-Swinford and Stourbridge, R.

See the Note at Alberton in Sussex, so often mentioned. Though I have been also assured in other Notices, that this was a Sequestred Living. One Gervase Bryan got this Living in 1655. See Abridg. p. 344.

STONEHOUSE, ———, . Darfield, R. worth 250*l.* a Year.

He was also Imprisoned.

STYLES, WILLIAM, . Hessle cum Hull, .

He was Turned out about the Year 1647, for Preaching against the designed Murther of the King; and was Succeeded by one Hibbert, who, as it was thought, was not in Orders, until after the Restoration. I am further Informed concerning Mr. Styles, that 'He was of the Parliaments Party once, and was in Hull, when Sir John Hotham 'Excluded the King, and was present when at 'his Majesty's Demand of his Town and Garrison 'of Hull, Sir John denied him Admittance; at 'which (as I was told by a Drum Major who 'stood by) Mr. Styles clap'd Sir John upon his Shoulder, and said, Honour should sit 'upon his Shoulders for that day's Work. Whether he spoke Ironically or Seriously, I know not; 'but this I am informed, that he never appeared 'in the Commission against scandalous Ministers (as they called them) but for the Safety and Deliverance of some Persons that were Loyal and 'Episcopal; and this I am sure of, he died a very 'great Penitent, and openly declared in his last Sermon, for Conformity and Loyalty. I am Informed that after his Sequestration, he was Invited to the Vicaridge of Leeds; but whether he Accepted

Which look as if he had been again taken into the Favour of the Party; unless he had been Employed by them in one Commissions of that kind before the Year 1647, The

I must confess, I guess the Commissioners in 1654. are here meant.

of it or not, I do not find; nor do I know when he died; but this is certain, that on the Reſtoration Mr. Todd was in Poſſeſſion of that Vicaridge ——, ——, . Stangrave, . in the Eaſt Riding.

His Living was Uſurped by one Mr. Hickes, a great Enthuſiaſt; in whoſe ſtead the worthy Perſon who gives this Account, remembers to have once ſeen a Man in Grey Clothes preaching in the a Pulpit.

SYKES, ——, . Kirkheaton, R. worth 220 l. a Year.

WALES.

GLAMORGAN.

SEDBURY, ——, D. D. Coychurch, R. with the Chapelry of Peterſton, worth 160 l. a Year.

He was Turned out ſome time before the Year 1649, and ſeverely uſed by the Rulers of thoſe Times; was not allowed the Fifths of his Living for Eight Years together, and died before the Reſtoration. His Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration, was one Harry Nicholls, who had not only the Profits of this Great Living, but an Addition of 100 l. a Year.

* Vic. Major. I think, theſe are two diſtinct Livings.

SLUGG, ——, . * Llantwit and Lyzworny, V.

He was Turned out ſome time before the Year 1649; tho' poſſibly he was afterwards Reſtored. Quære: For I have been told, that he was a Trimmer, and a Favourite of the Times. At this Place was kept a Court of Tryers once a Fortnight; where both Laymen and Clergymen were doomed to Sequeſtration, and Ruined, &c.

* Or Swinglehurſt, as I ſuſpect; and therefore quære if he was the ſame Perſon with him at Llanrael.

* SWINGLAS, ——, . Llanmace, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He had the Fifths of his Living for One Year; but afterwards was obliged to take what the Rulers pleaſed: Sometimes a Small Sum at their Pleaſure, and ſometimes Nothing at all, at leaſt, for Four Years: But being Rich, the Loſs of his Living was leſs Conſiderable to him, than to others of his Brethren. He lived to Re-poſſeſs it after the Reſtoration.

SWINGLEHURST, RICHARD, . Llanrael, .

Sequeſtred by the Commiſſioners for Propagation, for Delinquency, and Refuſing the Engagement.

PEMBROKE.

——, ——, . Steynton, V.

See the Note at Abergwily in Carmarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

RADNOR.

SARE, JOHN, . Old Radnor, V.

SMITH, ——, . ——, .

Some of his Family did at length Petition for Relief from the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. Whether he was the ſame Perſon with any of thoſe of this Sirname before mentioned, I cannot gueſs; not having the leaſt Circumſtance which can give me any Light, what the County, much leſs what the Living, was from which he was Sequeſtred.

SMITH, RICHARD, B. D. ——, . See the Church of Carliſle.

STANYON, ——, . ——, .

He was Created D. D. among other Loyaliſts at Oxford, in the Year 1642. See the Note at Dr. Bowreman, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B. There is one of this Name already mentioned in the County of Suffolk, Quære if he be the ſame Perſon with this Doctor.

SUDBURY, ——, . ——, .

There is a Gentleman of this Name mentioned as a Sequeſtred Divine, by Dr. Pierce, in his Anſwer to Baxter's Grotian Religion. Whether he was the ſame Perſon with Mr. Sedbury of Coy-Church in Glamorganſhire, before-mentioned, or (which ſeems moſt probable of the Two) with Dr. John Sudbury, who became Dean of Durham after the Reſtoration, I know not. Quære. P. 144. Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 732.

T.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

THORNE, GYLES, B. D. St. Cuthbert's, R.

See the Cathedral-Church of Lincoln.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

TYRINGHAM, ANTHONY, . Tyringham, R.

See the Cathedral-Church of Worceſter.

* move his Effects: By which time his Provisions, * whereof he had Store by him, were all in a man- * ner spoiled: So that (being then likewise De- * stitute both of Money and Estate, which, it * seems, a Large Family, and Hospitable Tem- * per, had not suffer'd him to lay up) he was for- * ced to be beholden to some well disposed Neigh- * bours, not only for a Roof to shelter himself * and Children, but in a manner, for whatever * else was necessary for their present Subsistence. However, some time after, he was Order'd his Fifths; and at length, in lieu of them, was allowed a Small Vicaridge in the Neighbourhood, where he was not long permitted to Continue; but forced to content himself with Another which was much worse, and at a much greater Distance from the Place of his Abode. On the Happy Return of his Majesty he Re-possess'd his Living; but when he Died, I know not. He was a Person every way qualified for his Office, of great Probity and Sincerity; of a very mild, peaceable, courteous, and generous Temper. The Person who succeeded in this Rich Living upon the Sequestration, had never seen any University.

One of these Vicaridges, (but whether the First or the Last, I know not) was that of Gulval in this County.

TORR, HENRY, . Probus, V.

There are Two Maugans in this County, and of them is already mentioned at Mr. Gammon; and I take this to be the Other: If not, Mr. Gammon and Mr. Trevillian Possest and Left this Maugan successively.

TREVILLIAN, ——, . Maugan-Meneage, R. valued at 200*l.* a Year.

He was succeeded by one Bond.

CUMBERLAND.

TODD, THOMAS, . Hutton, R.

When he was before the Committee, one of them, who was a Tradesman, undertook to Examine him in point of Learning; and very judiciously, among other Questions, ask'd him Who was the best Interpreter of Scriptures? and Whether he used the Lord's Prayer, or not? Soon after this, he was Sequestred, and one Jackson, a Bawling Illiterate Fellow, put into his Rectory; who held This and another Parish, during the whole time of the Usurpation. Mr. Todd (with others of the Clergy) was also Imprisoned at Carlisle: And the only Crime alledged against them, was, That they Baptized Children, Visited the Sick, and sometimes Preached privately to their Parishioners and others.

TOR-

TONSTAL, FREDR. A. M. Caldbeck. R.

See the Cathedral-Church of Carliſle.

DEVONSHIRE.

——, ——, . Thornton, V.

There is a Report in the Pariſh, that in the Time of the Wars the Vicar was forced to Fly, and Quit this Living; if ſo, it muſt have been ſoon after the Breaking out of the Rebellion: For in 1644, 7 Bragg was Admitted to it, and kept it, during the whole Courſe of the Uſurpation.

Quere for-ther.

TIDBALL, SAMUEL, . Aſhburton, V.

I have no abſolute Certainty of this Sequeſtration; but an Ancient Clergy-Man who lived through theſe Times, tells me, he thinks Mr. Tidball was Sequeſtred. Quare. I believe Mr. Tidball died under the Uſurpation.

TRAVERS, JOHN, A. M. Brixham, V. then worth upward of 100 l. a Year.

The Cauſes and Reaſons of this excellent Perſon's Sequeſtration, were not all of the ſame Kind. The Chief and Fundamental One, was his unſhaken Loyalty; which, as it was of it ſelf, enough to have Render'd him Obnoxious in thoſe Times; ſo it was more eſpecially Criminal in Him, after he had by a Handſom and becoming Reproof, for ſome ill Things which fire had done, ſtirred up the Reſentment of a certain Gentlewoman of his Pariſh, who was nearly Related to ſome of the great Men then in Power, and made uſe of that Alliance, to the wicked Purpoſe of Gratifying her Revenge, by getting Mr. Travers Turned out of his Living. And to this muſt be added a Third Cauſe; which was, that a certain Perſon who could Comply with the Times, had married the Waiting-Maid of a Family nearly Related to ſome of the leading Men in thoſe Days, and wanted a good Living; and accordingly Brixham was pitched upon to Gratify him.

Before Mr. Travers was actually Turned out, he had been diſturbed in his Church during the time of Divine Service, by ſome of the Parliament Soldiers; and after he was Diſmiſſed from it, his firſt Succeſſor Mr. Morris, would not allow him to Reſide in a ſmall part of the Vicaridge-Houſe, ſo long as till he could Conveniently remove his Family; and more particularly, as I have been further told, denied him ſo much as to ſet his Books remain in the Vicaridge-Houſe, at which 'tis ſaid the good Old Gentleman Wept; though in Truth, this very Hardſhip was a Favour not common in thoſe Days: For Others of the Intruders would not allow, either the Books, or any other of the Goods to go out of the Houſe. This Mr. Morris continued in the Living about two or three Years; and then dying, was Succeeded by one Kempſter, a very ſorry Fellow (eſpecially if compared with Mr. Travers) and one of the Sufferers mentioned in the Abridgment. Nor can I find, that he was a whit leſs Cruel to the Family of his Sequeſtred Predeceſſor, than Mr. Morris had been: For when poor Mrs. Travers (who if I Conjecture right, had by her ill Uſage been provoked to ſpeak ſome hard Words of him) attended him for her Fifths, he offered to pay her Five Pounds, if ſhe would Keep a better Tongue in her Head: To which, when ſhe Replyed, That ſhe thought the Loſers might have leave to Speak, he Turned her away, without either paying her the Five Pounds, or any other Fifths for ever after.

But although the two Intruders dealt thus unmercifully with him, while they were Eating his Bread, and that of his Wife and ſeven Children; yet his Great excellent Chancellor exerted a Reſpect from ſome of thoſe very Gentlemen of the Neighbourhood, who wiſhed as well to the Rebellion, as either Mr. Morris or Mr. Kempſter had done. And accordingly the very Brother-in-Law of the Gentlewoman, whoſe Revenge had been a chief Occaſion of Mr. Travers's Sufferings, took Compaſſion on him; and though otherwiſe Covetous enough, yet he open'd his Hand to pour Mr. Travers under his Sufferings: And indeed he gave a very good Reaſon for it; having declared That he believed him to be as good a Man as lived on God's Earth. By the Charity of this Gentleman, and the Help of a ſmall School, firſt at Chriſton-Ferrars, and afterwards at King's-Weare, (two Daughter-Churches of this Pariſh) he lived ſome time with his Numerous Family; until at length another Gentleman (a Relation likewiſe to the very Lady, who had got him Turned out, and a Well-wiſher alſo to the Rebellion) procured him the Liberty of Preaching at a little Place near Brentford in Middleſex.

This the Gentleman meant him as a Favour; and therefore Mr. Travers was no leſs Obliged to him, than if he had reaped the Benefit of it, which he did not. For ſome time after, the Gentleman meeting him, aſked what he had for Supplying the Cure; to which Mr. Travers readily Anſwered, That he had very much: For, ſaid he, I never Preached to a more attentive People in my Life; but, ſaith the Gentleman, what do they Pay you? Sir J. Harvey, Replyed Mr. Travers, Thrice Invited me to Dinner; but that, returned the Gentleman, is no Maintenance. Sir, ſaid Mr. Travers, to this Effect, I thank God, and you, that I may Preach the Goſpel: I have Dined to day, and God will Provide for to Morrow. At this Place the Perſon who ſent me theſe Informations, ſaw him, With a few Buttons to his Doublet, a great Pin to keep his Breeches together, and a Blue Leather-Point to keep the Sole and the Over-Leather of one of his Shoes together: Notwithſtanding which, he was at that time, one of the moſt chearful Men in the Company; ſo much Reſignation, Humility, Contentedneſs, Sweetneſs of Temper, and Calmneſs of Mind diſcovered it ſelf, both in his Countenance, and Actions.

How long he continued at that Place, I know not; but at length his great Learning and excellent Qualities became known to Mr. Reas of Eaton, who got him removed to a ſmall Place of 40 l. a Year in the Iſle of * Wight, where he died. He was a Man of a Primitive Simplicity, incomparably Learned, and Painful in his Calling, of an Humble, Affable, and Courteous Temper, of a moſt ſweet and Peaſant Converſe, of moſt ſtrict Temperance, and of a moſt exemplary Life: All which excellent Qualities made him exceedingly beloved, both at this Living, and that where he Died; inſomuch that the People of the latter Place wrote a Letter of Thanks to Mr. Reas, and deſired him to ſend them another ſuch, if he could tell where to find him.

* Or Man: for my Information differs from this Point.

He was Conſtantly Read the Morning and Evening Service at his Church of Brixham, before he was Sequeſtred.

TRAVERS, SAMUEL, A. M. Thorverton, V.

He was Sequeſtred by the Committee of Devon, for Delinquency, about November 1646. He was alſo, also barbaroufly Turned out of his Houſe, when he was in, ſuch a very Weak and Languiſhing Condition, that he was forced to be ſupported by two Perſons, and Died in about a Fortnight after it. He was Succeeded by one Preſton, who was thruſt into the Living by the ſame Committee that had Diſpoſſeſt Mr. Travers. He came from Mary-Tavy in this County, and had an Augmentation of 50 l. a Year granted him by the Committee for Plundered Miniſters, April 4, 1647, out of the Lands of the Dean and Chapter of Exon.

Digitized by Google

TRIGGS, ERIZEUS, . Sydenham-Dammerel, R.

He Quitted his Living on the Approach of the Storm. I am informed that he was a Man of no good Life, and believe he died before the Reſtoration.

TROSSE JOHN, * A. M. Aſhcombe, R.

He was Born about the Year 1618, Educated at Corpus Chriſti College in Oxford, was one of thoſe Scholars who took up Arms for his Majeſty in that Univerſity; but on the Declining of the Royal Cauſe, fled to Dartmouth in this County, where his Mother then Lived; and from whence he was ſoon after Driven by an Order to Apprend him: Whereupon he Fled to one of the King's Pariſes, and became a Trooper under Sir Tho. Hele of Fleet. But tho' they miſt him, they ſeized his Mother, Plundered her of all ſhe had, and threw her into Priſon; where partly with Trouble and partly with hard Uſage, ſhe became both Conſumptive and Dropſical; in which ſad Condition ſhe continued Languiſhing ſome time, and then they Diſmiſt her; juſt ſoon enough to ſave themſelves the Charge and Trouble of Burying her. When the Wars were finded, Mr. Troſſe wander'd for ſome time where he could find a Place: But having obtained from a Nobleman (to whom the King had given it) the next Preſentation to the Rectory of Aſhcombe in Devon; the then Rector, Mr. John Shenton, underſtanding it, ſent for him to Officiate as Curate there; becauſe he was himſelf Old and Infirm. Mr. Shenton dying ſoon after, Mr. Troſſe ventured to declare his * Right to the Living, at which the Pariſh were much Alarm'd; becauſe he was a known Malignant, and had actually born Arms for the King. On this, he was ſoon Summoned up before the Tryers, where he Attended ſeveral Weeks, and had nothing but hard Words for his Labour: At length he returns again into Devon; and was no ſooner got down, but he was Summon'd up a ſecond time; and after the ſame fruitleſs Attendance for ſeveral Weeks, was at laſt aſked an Hundred ridiculous Queſtions, called abundance of Names, and ſo diſmiſt: After which, he was forced again to turn Wanderer.

In this Journey he ſpent 50 l. in Gold, beſides all the Silver he could procure; and had hardly enough left to keep him from begging in his Return. At laſt he got to the School of Otery-St-Mary in Devon, where he lived till the Reſtoration; and had then ſome thoughts of Suing for his Rectory; but dropt them again, in hopes that the Perſon who then poſſeſt it, would have Conformed; and if ſo, he was unwilling to give him any Trouble: But in the mean time, another ſteps in, Sues out his Majeſty's Title to the Living, and diſappoints them Both; which, (to Note that by the way) ſo much ſoured him, who was by that means Turned out of it, that it was, as I have been informed from good Hands, the chief Cauſe of his Non-conformity. The Year following Mr. Troſſe was Preſented to the little Vicaridge of Dawliſh in this County, where he Died, as he had Lived, a very Worthy and Valuable Perſon.

TROSSE, ROGER, A. M. Roſe-Aſh, R. worth about 120 l. a Year.

He was a Gentleman of a good Family in this County, and Educated at Chriſt-Church in Oxford. He was Sequeſtred by the Committee at Exeter; ſome time during the Wars, and Diſpoſſeſt by a Party of Horſe. The chief Crime alledged againſt him, was his ſupplying an Horſe for his Majeſty's Service. His Houſe was likewiſe Plundered of his Plate and other Things, to the value of ſome Scores of Pounds. They alſo ſeiz'd his Perſon, ſtript him of his Cloathes, and carried him in that Paſture, even without Shoes, two Miles from his Houſe, where they diſmiſſed him, and Turned him back again. He had at that time a Wife (who 'tis ſaid broke her Heart, and died under thoſe Troubles) and ſeven Children, Five or Six of which were then at Home with him. With theſe he was Crambed into a nafty Kitchin and one Chamber over it, belonging to the Parſonage-Houſe, but a little diſjoyned from it. This Kitchin one of the Intruders made what uſe he pleaſed of for the Conveniencies of his own Family likewiſe; and having once Baked ſome Tarts in the Oven there, the hungry Bellies of poor Mr. Treſſe's Children put them upon Plundering of it (as the Rebels had before done their Father's whole Houſe) and Eating one or more of the Tarts. At which the Uſurper, or ſome of his Family being very Tarty, and making a Noiſe about it, one of the poor Lads, with a ſorrow-ful Look and Tone, Replyed, You need not be ſo Angry; for I am ſure the Apples were Ours: And he might Juſtly enough have added, that the Flower was ſo too; only he had probably ſeen them gather the One out of his Father's Orchard, but had not Senſe enough to conſider from whence the other came.

Mr. Troſſe was firſt Succeeded by one Lee, who was, it ſeems, little better than Crackbrained. After him came one who pulled down a Noble Hall belonging to the Parſonage, and ſold the Timber of it. Whilſt he continued there, he once alſo bid a Sacrament for the Afternoon, but finding his Pariſhioners did not Reliſh it very well, he Altered it again. He afterwards Conformed, and had a Benefice in this County; where he was living at the time when King James's Toleration came out; and then told his Pariſhioners (as I have heard) that they might go to Conventicles though he could not. As for Mr. Troſſe, he removed at length from his Kitchin, and Rented a Farm in the Pariſh, of about 17 l. a Year, where he Endured great Hardſhip, eating Barly-Bread and Ewes Butter. After this he removed to another Farm: And at laſt Surviving, his Oven, and the Nations Troubles, he was with his Majeſties Reſtored to his undoubted Rights; which he Enjoyed till the Year 1674; and then died. He was a Perſon of Noted Learning, Charity and Meekneſs, of an unexceptionable Life and Converſation, and bore his Afflictions with admirable Reſignation and Chearfulneſs.

TURNER, ANTHO. . Tedbourn-St. Mary[2], . worth 120 l. a Year.

He was forced to Fly for the Security of his Perſon; but was at laſt Apprehended and Imprifoned; his Houſe was alſo Plundered. He died either under, or ſhortly after his Confinement.

DURHAM.

TRIPLET, THOMAS, A. M. Whitbourn, R. worth 150 l. a Year, And Waſhington, . worth 130 l. a Year. } See the Cathedral of Salisbury.

* As I ſuppoſe, becauſe he had only an Equitable Title, the Dignity of thoſe Times not allowing him any more.

* See what is ſaid of him as Fellow of that College.

* He Died in 1661.

Digitized by Google

ESSEX.

THEDAM, EDWARD, . Layer-Breton, R.

See Mr. Kympton in this County. They were ſucceſſively Deprived.

——, ——, . Thoydon-Mount, R.

Diſſent. Liſe of 1663. I preſume, he lived to be Reſtored. See the Note at Birchbrook in this County, under the Letter B.

THURMAN, EDWARD, . Hallingbury, R.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 149. F. 1. He was Turned out by the Committee of Religion, about June 1643. and hath a Place in Mr. White's Century, for Obſerving the Orders of the Church, Endeavouring to prevent his People from gadding abroad (to Factious Lectures, by ſound all Queſtion) and for Deſerting his Cure: To which is alſo added the Hackney Charge of Drunkenneſs. He was ſucceeded by one Will. Halls.

If this be Little Hallingbury, it is before mentioned in this County, under the Letter H, and muſt be ſtruck out thence. Quere.

TOMLINSON, JOS. . High-Ongar, R.

He was Turned out about Oct. 1643. After his Death (which happen'd before the Reſtoration) his Family were reduc'd to ſuch Miſery, that they were forced at length to beg the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows. His Succeſſor was one John Lavender, who continued in it until he was Diſpoſſeſt by the Act of Uniformity.

Or Dagenham, if I miſtake not. TRUE, CHARLES, . Dagen, V.

He was Sequeſtred about Oct. 1643, by the Houſe; who at the ſame time appointed one John Bowyer to ſucceed him.

* There is both a Rectory and a Vicaridge of this Name in this County. Poſſibly this is the Vicaridge: But if not, Mr. Tucker was, as I gueſs, a Second Sufferer in the Living. (See Dr. Green before in this County) although, if Dr. Green was not Dead at the time of Mr. Tucker's Admiſſion, Mr. Tucker muſt rather be ſaid to have been Marralled than Sequeſtred.

TUCKER, ——, . * Little-Ilford, .

He was Sequeſtred in the Year 1643: He was alſo Beaten, Abuſed, Impriſoned, and had ſeldom any Fifths paid him, as is reported in the Pariſh. He died in 1657.

TURNER, EDWARD, . St. Laurence, R.

P. 29. He is another of White's Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts; and is charged in the Century with Drunkenneſs, Practiſing and Preſſing the late Illegal Innovations, and Deſerting of his Cure.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

* In this County, if I miſtake not, or elſe in Salop. TEMPLE, ——, D. D. * Alſcot, R.

See him in Staffordſhire. Quere.

If this Place be not Annexed Equal to one held by Inſtitution, it muſt be Diſcontinued from this Liſt, and Added to the Appendix. ——, ——, . Tewkeſbury, .

He was ſucceeded by one Wells.

THORNBURY, ——, D. D. Long-Marſton, R. worth 160 l. a Year. See the Catalogue of Sarum and Worceſter (for I take it to be the ſame Manor with Thornbury) and quere.

His Succeſſor was one Cooper.

HEREFORDSHIRE.

TAYLOR, JOHN, A. M. Mackes, R. And Upton-Biſhop, V. . . . . } One John Crogn was Admitted to this Living in 1634.

He was alſo Turned out of Doors, Plundered of all his Goods and Cattle, and reduced to ſuch Poverty and Miſery, that he muſt with his Family have Periſhed for Want, had he not been ſupported by the Charity of the Lord Scudamore. He ſurvived the Uſurpation, and died about 1670.

HERTFORDSHIRE.

TAYLOR, JOHN, . Hemel-Hempſted, . See one John Taylor at Jeſus-Coll. in Cambr. who, if I am rightly informed in the Date of the Sequeſtration, muſt however, have been a different Perſon from this Mr. Taylor: Mr. Taylor was alſo in Berkſhire Man. quere further.

He was Turned out by the Houſe about Mar. 1642; who at the ſame time appointed George Kendal to ſucceed him. He was alſo ſent for as a Delinquent.

TAYLOR, RICHARD, D. D. Weſtmill, R. And Aſpenden, R. . . . . } See the Cathedral-Church of St. Paul.

THORNTON, RICHARD, . Little-Munden, R.

He was Sequeſtred in the Year 1643: He was alſo Beaten, Abuſed, Impriſoned, and had ſeldom any Fifths paid him, as is reported in the Pariſh. He died in 1657.

KENT.

TAYLOR, RICHARD, . High-Hadden, R.

He had been alſo frequently Abuſed in his Church in the Time of Divine Service; and once a Fellow cried aloud to him, You lye. His Houſe was likewiſe Broken open, and he was Abuſed in his Perſon. He was a Man of a ſober and pious Life. His Succeſſor refuſed to Baptize, ſaying, He was ſent, not to Baptize, but to Preach the Goſpel.

TOURNAY, THOMAS, . Wittreſham, R. in the Iſle of Orkney.

The Reverend Perſon who ſent me the Account of this Gentleman, made it his Requeſt that his Letter might be Printed Word for Word, as he Tranſmitted it to me; and particularly, with the Repreſentation at the End. And accordingly, I here give it the Reader. SIR,

...athedral Church of St. Paul.

...TON, RICHARD, . Late
Meadon, R.

...equestred in the Year 1643: He was Absent, Imprisoned, and has since
...and Death, as is reported in the Parish
...ty."

KENT.

..., RICHARD, . Elect
Hadlow, R.

...seems also frequently Assisted in his
...e Time of Divine Service; for one
...d to him, You Sir. His Hour
...Eyes open, and he was Absent a
...ide was a Man of a sober and pious
...ho often resorted to Baptesty, impug-
... Baptesty but to Drink in
...

...S, THOMAS, . Minis-
... R. in the Isle of Orkney.

... Person who sent me the Account
...ion, made this Request as to ...be Printed Word for Word, as he
...s to me, and particularly, that the
... at the End. And accordingly I ...ill
...Reader.

on the Ground, and worshipped the Chapel. After this, his Enemies still follow'd him with Accusations, till they got him sent to Prison. When this was done, a Man of a Neighbouring Parish meeting with one of the Zealots of the Times, and a great Instrument of his Mischief, and, I think, the Person who had sworn to the Accusation against him concerning his Drunkenness, and Worshipping the Chapel, that Person said to this Wretched Man, I hear, you of Wittresham have got your Parson into Prison. Yes, said he, we have done so, and boasted of it. But surely, said the other, you design to let him out again quickly. No, saith he, I'll warrant it, he shall never come out again so long as my Eyes are open. This Person, a little while after he had said this, was following some Ducks in the Level; and having shot some, he ran upon the Sand, which he thought firm enough to bear him, to catch his Game; but coming upon it, he found it soft, and sunk in it so deep, that he could not presently get out of it; and while he was labouring to do so, as is supposed, the Tide, which was coming in, carry'd him up with it, and he was drowned. Within a few Days after, he was found Dead, when the Tide was out, upon the Sand: And on that Day, as I think, or within a few Days after it, Mr. Tournay was deliver'd out of Prison, and came home to his Family.

Yet after this, he was within a little while Sequestred, being Plundered of all that could be taken from him; and he was forced with a Wife and Three young Children, to take a little Broadbick into the Living; but Mr. Tray having got Possession of it, contested the Matter with him; which occasioned his being Harrassed as well by the Soldiers, as by the Courts and Committees of those Times: As likewise the Taxing of his Temporal Estate for Delinquency, and the Burning of his Barns, with above 300 l. worth of Corn in them: Which last Piece of Outragious Villainy was committed one Night by the Order of Sir Mich. Lievesley, to whom Mr. Broadbick having been Chaplain, he would therefore have undertaken the Patronage, as well of his wicked Cause, as of his Person: And this Method, had the Flame crept from the Barn to the Dwelling-House, would have been much more Expeditious than a Writ of Ejectment. In the mean time Mr. Broadbick not being able either to Harrass or Burn Mr. Tray out of the Parsonage-House, came at length, and Broke it open, Seiz'd and Sold the Corn (which was, as I apprehend, the Crop of another Year) and kept Possession of the Living for some time: But quitting it at length, the Committee for Plundered Ministers order'd one Mr Stanley the Possession of it; which, as far as I can learn, he Presently obtained: But Sept. 15, (or 16,) 1659, Mr. Tray still pursuing his Right to the Benefice, obtained a Presentation to it under the Great Seal; and from that time forward, or very soon after, as I presume, had the Quiet Enjoyment of it; and was on his Majesty's Return, if I mistake not, Restored likewise to the Living of St. Mary's. He was, as I find, a very considerable Man: For the Lord Chief Justice Bridgeman, in a Letter to the Bishop of London, dated July 11, 1661, recommends

Digitized by Google

Whether he obtained it, or not, I do not know.

mends him to that Prelate, for a Prebend of Rochester; and withal acquaints his Lordship, That he had Preached an Assize-Sermon before him in his First Circuit in Kent, and That he had the Fullest Recommendation from the Gentlemen of the King's Party, of any that had been known.

LANCASHIRE.

TRAVIS, ——, . Bury, R. worth 250 l. a Year.

He was Educated at Trinity-College in Cambr. and afterwards became Chaplain to James Earl of Derby. Having rejected the Covenant, and Refused to comply with the Presbyterian Discipline, then set on foot in this County, he was to those Reasons ' Turned out of his Living, and ' his Personal Estate not only Sequestred, but to ' the worth of a Farthing, entirely taken from him, ' his Wife and Three Children left to the Mercy ' and Charity of his Neighbours, not having a ' Morsel of Bread, but what was given them, nor a ' Bed to lie on, but what was lent them. They ' Robb'd him of 150 l. worth of Corn, and Hay, ' and other Goods in his Out-Houses; they spoi- ' led him of all his Goods in the House, to the ' Value of a Wooden Spoon. What became of ' him, and his Wife and Children afterwards, I ' cannot learn; but Thirty Years ago, I remem- ' ber to have heard, that one of his Sons at that ' time got his Bread by Making and Selling Bro- ' ſoms somewhere in this County; which course ' of Life is indeed but Begging. One Mr. Alte, ' (who had formerly been his Curate) and one ' Mr. Latham, ſucceeded * here, and behaved ' themſelves like True, and Pure Presbyterians. ' They had not that Juſtice (call it Charity, if you ' pleaſe) to allow Mrs Travis, his Wife, or Chil- ' dren, one Penny towards their Support. Mr. ' Travis was a Man of good Fame and Eſteem; ' nor can I hear that he was Tax'd with any Vice; ' a good Preacher, and a kind Man to his Neigh- ' bours, and Liberal to the Poor, and well belo- ' ved by moſt of his Pariſhioners.

Some ſay Six.

So, it ſeems, in the moſt liberal Senſe, he cried Brooms.

* Viz. at Bury.

Viz. For Fifths, as I underſtand it.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

THORNBOROUGH, WILLIAM, . Syleſy, V.

TONGUE, GEORGE, . Kingcotte, R. One Benjamin Southwood got himſelf Poſſeſs'd of this Living in 1653.

TOREY, NATH. D. D. Lutterworth, R.

* Or Ridington.

* TREDINGTON, FRANCIS, . Poſton, R.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

THOMAS, JENKIN, . Llavihangel-Rogiate, .

He was Sequeſtred before 1649.

THOMAS, WILLIAM, . Lanwarn, R.

He was alſo Turned out before 1649.

THOMAS, WILLIAM, . Itton, R. Ejected about the Year 1649. Quere if he was the ſame Perſon with him of both theſe Names, juſt now mentioned.

——, ——, . Trewethin, . See what is ſaid at Llanvoir in this County, under the Letter L: For the ſame is to be ſaid of this Place likewiſe. See alſo the Note at Abergwily in Carmarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

——, ——, . Treleg, Grange, and Llangovin, . See the ſame Note at Abergwily.

I take theſe to be Advow. and not Dis. Bench. Livings. If ſo may be, they are only Chapelries. Quere.

——, ——, . Timarne, . See the ſame Note.

NORFOLK.

TALBOT, ——, . Metton, .

TAYLOR, * RICHARD, . Stanfield, R.

* Or Nich.

He was Turned out for Delinquency. In 1654, one Samuel Alexander got this Living.

TENISON, ——, . Mundeſley, .

He was ſucceeded by one Gubbard, who was ſome time afterward diſcovered to be a Roman Catholick, and again diſmiſſed by the ſame Committee at Norwich, who at firſt Thruſt him into the Living. The preſent Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, is Son to this worthy Sufferer.

Ex. Dedic. to the Conf. with Pref.

TITE, ROBERT, . St. Julian's, V. He had a Wife and Two Children.

——, ——, . † Tenſted cum Scroſton, V.

† See the Note at Ashwellthorp in Suffolk.

One John Green ſucceeded to it in 1657.

TUBBING, THOMAS, . Bayfield, R.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

TEMPLE, JOHN, . Iſton, R. He died before the Reſtoration; and leaving a Widow and Six Children, one of them, at leaſt, was forced to follow the Plough and Cart. The Widow was at length Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

TOWERS, WILLIAM, B. D. Barnack, R. See the Church of Peterborough.

NOR-

was, by Edward Lord Conway, Settled at Portmore in Ireland; upon the Restauration of the King, promoted to the Bishoprick of Down and Connor, and on June 21, 1661, had the Administration of the See of Dromore, Granted to him by his Majesty, in Consideration that he had been the Church's Champion, and that he had Suffered much in Defence of its Cause. He died Aug. 13, 1667. Dr. George Rust, who Preached his Funeral Sermon, and Succeeded him in his Bishoprick, gives this Character of him: 'This great Prelate had the good 'Humour of a Gentleman, the Eloquence of an 'Orator, the Fancy of a Poet, the Acuteness of a School-Man, the Profoundness of a Philosopher, 'the Wisdom of a Chancellour, the Sagacity of a 'Prophet, the Reason of an Angel, and the Piety of a Saint: He had Devotion enough for a 'Cloister, Learning enough for a University, and 'Wit enough for a College of Virtuosi; and had 'his Parts and Endowments been Parcell'd out 'among his poor Clergy that he left behind him, 'it would perhaps have made one of the best 'Dioceses in the World.

See the Account of his many and Excellent Works in Wood.

S A L O P.

TYLER, JOHN, . Greet, R.

He was Sequestred in the Year 1652, and had at that time been Forty Years Incumbent on this Living. He was Succeeded by an Un-ordained Person.

Charity shewn them, not very Common in those Days, That they were permitted to have the Meat which was Dressing for the Family when they were Turned out into the Streets. At the same time Mr. Tarlton's Books, and all his Goods were Plundered, most of which were possest by Mr. Timothy Batt, the Intruder, who had not the Conscience however, to pay him for them, so much as in the Fifths, although he forgot not to Carry them away with him, when he removed from Ilmister.

Mr. Tarlton, and his Family being thus Turned out of Doors, and forced to lie in the Streets, as is before said; because most of the Neighbours were not only afraid to take them into their Houses, but would not venture so much as to Relieve them, lest their own Families should be used in the same manner. A certain poor Woman (encouraged to it probably by her having nothing to lose) ventured to bring poor Mrs. Tarlton and her young Children an Earthen-Pitcher of Water. This Pitcher being, as I presume, all the Houshold-Goods which Mr. Tarlton had at that time, carried away with his Family, when they removed out of the Shambles; and happening to be preserved (I do not mean from the Hands of the Plunderers, because it was not worth taking) but from being broken, it is to this Day kept by the Son of Mr. Tarlton before mentioned, as a Monument of his Father's Sufferings; and I have often heard him say, he was resolved to Tip it with Silver: Though he might have done his Father's Memory more Justice, and Raised him a much better Monument, if he would have taken the pains to Collect, and Transmit to Posterity, a faithful Account of the many Outrages and Barbarities which were Exercis'd upon him.

But to proceed with the remainder of his Sufferings: He was once had before the Committee, for Christening this very Son of his now mentioned, by the Name of Charles, and for doing it according to the Orders of the Church of England; he was also with his Family, reduced to such Necessities, that his own Daughter Affures me, she hath often seen her Father, Mr. Pierce, the Arch-deacon of Taunton, and others of the Clergy, when they have Met, Eat Dry-Bread and Salt, and Drink Water, not having one Penny to buy Beer; and if those were their Feasts and Entertainments, what must we think, their Common and Ordinary Living was? But these were not All the Hardships which Mr. Tarlton underwent: For he, and Eleven other Clergymen, were driven on Foot to Weymouth, like a Flock of Sheep, as my Informer expresses it, to be Imprisoned there on Board the Ships; and in their way thither were Beaten by the Soldiers, if they did not keep on the Pace which they would have them.

Or, as others say, Nine; one of which, if the Conjecture in the Margin below be Right, was Dr. Archyl: ...And perhaps another might be Mr Joseph Grinfield. See Both of them before in this County.

In that Journey there was one piece of Cruelty shewn to Mr. Tarlton, which must not by any means be forgotten. His poor afflicted Wife accompained him on the Road; and perceiving the Rigor of the Soldiers to Force them on, as is just now said, took it for granted that the great Favour of being permitted to Tarry and Drink, though it was miserable Hot and Soultry Weather, would not be allowed them; and therefore that they might not be hinder'd, the went before and got a Flaggon of Ale, ready at the Door for her Husband to Drink, when he should come by, which accordingly she gave him; and he had no sooner put it to his Mouth, but Mr. Adrian Scrap beat it out of his Hand with his Cane, and would not permit him to Drink it. This, I believe, will be Esteemed a piece of Barbarity not Common; but it falls much short of what Mr. Tarlton and the rest of his Fellow-Prisoners underwent, after they were clapt on Board: For they were Thrust down into the Hold; and in that floating Dungeon, their not being able to distinguish Day from Night, was the least part of what they Suffer'd; since they were in a manner Choaked and Stifled for want of Air; and either with the Naſtineſs of the Place; or as some have said, through Deſign, were all of them Poyſoned, and Died soon after, Mr. Tarlton and * One more, as is before said, only Excepted, who very hardly Eſcaped with their Lives; Mr. Tarlton more especially, being not only very Ill on Board; but losing his Nails, &c. after he was fet on Shore.

* Or, as some say, Two more. I have been informed, that one Mr. Torrington, a Member of this Diocese, was with Nine Other Clergymen sent to London, and kept Prisoner under the Black-Rod, where they were all Poysoned, and Died, except this Mr. Torrington; and that he Escaped, after a long and tedious Fit of Sickness, with the Loss of his Hair and Nails, and other Symptoms of Poyson. I believe, Mr. Torrington to Mistaken for Tarlton; but if not, Mr. Torrington ought to be inserted in the Body of this List as a Distinct Article. Quere.

This Sickneſs of Mr. Tarlton occaſioned another Paſſage, which muſt not be omitted; becauſe it ſhews, that even Charity it ſelf, if Exerciſed towards a Loyal Clergyman in thoſe Days, was eſteemed a Crime never to be Pardoned, and therefore to be done in Secret, not to avoid the Imputation of vain Glory, according to the Precept of our Saviour; but to Eſcape being Hanged for it. The matter was this; Mr. Tarlton's Illneſs had procured him the Favour of being brought up upon Deck; where one of the Crew did perhaps as bold an Action, conſidering (as is now ſaid) how Criminal it was to be thus Charitable, as was ever performed by a ſtout Seaman: For he Adventured to give this Malignant Miniſter a Dram of the Bottle. But then his Conduct was equal to his Courage in this Undertaking; or elſe as he well knew, he would have been more Puniſhed, than others uſed to be Rewarded for their Mercy and Compaſſion; and therefore he happily thought on this Stratagem: He puts on the Rage and Malice of a true Zealot, and falls foul upon poor Mr. Tarlton, with the faſhionable Names of Popiſh Dog, &c. and then running to him, takes him up in his Arms, and Swears he would throw him over-board, or diſpatch him ſome other way, if there were never a Rogue left in England: But inſtead of that, he Hurried him away to his own Cabbin; where he paſſionately Lamented his Condition, and gave him the beſt Cordial that he had.

After what has been already Related, and other Ill Uſage on Board; they were at length, thoſe of them at leaſt, who Survived, ſet on Shore at London; but how long Mr. Tarlton, was detained a Priſoner there, or by what Means he at laſt obtained his Liberty, I know not; nor any thing more of him; unleſs that ſome time after, he got the ſmall Living of Wembworthy in the County of Devon; which, not without Trouble and Difficulty, he made ſhift to keep until the Reſtoration; at which time he Returned to Univerſity, and died there; but in what Year I am not Inform'd.

TITLEY, PETER, . Halſtebury-Blackmet, . .

Some of his Family were at length Relieved by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, and are Ranked with the Families of the Sequeſtred Clergy. In the Petition to that Corporation, it is only ſaid in general, that he Suffered much; nor can I otherwiſe Learn any of the Particulars of his Troubles.

TOWGOOD, RICHARD, B.D. St. Nicholas, V. in Briſtol.

See that Cathedral.

See the Note at Mr. James Read in this County.

SOUTHAMPTON.

TAYLOR, WILLIAM, . St. Mary Calendar, . And St. Lawrence, R. . . . .

See the Cathedral-Church of Winchester, and Quare.

TRUSSEL, ———, . Week, .

* TULL, ———, . Fanly, .

* Unleſs he be Miſtaken, in the Copy which I have Returned. For Mr. Tutt was immediately Followed by, and then Mr. Tim Leſtbeth the Living, and they muſt be accordingly Reckoned to his Account.

† TUTT, ———, . Wimbal, R. † See in Wiltſhire, and Quare.

STAF-

cated to Beg Relief from the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

TICKLE, PHILL. . Wallingworth cum Southold, .

He was Turned out in 1643.

TURNBAL, ———, . Eſon, .

TURNER, JOHN, . Reed, R. He was alſo Impriſoned, together with ſeveral other Clergymen, for the ſpace of Three Months, at Wisbich, and then diſmiſſed without either Accuſation or Trial. He had at the time of his Sufferings, a Wife and Five or Six Children, whom the Uſurper Turned out of Doors, and afterwards endeavoured to Starve; ſo far, I mean, as his paying no Fifths would contribute towards it. Mr. Turner was a Man of Known Piety and Learning.

One John Turner was ſome time Vicar of Layſton in Hertfordſhire, and died Poſſeſt of that Living in 1663. Mercu. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I. p. 141.

TYLLOT, THOMAS, A. M. Depden, R.
And
Saxom, R. . . . . .

He was Sequeſtred Apr. 15, 1644, for Promoting Wren's Articles, Defending the Uſe of the Surplice, Affirming that we ought to Obey the Commands of the Church in all things, and that we ought to Offer our Prayers to God by Chriſt; which they perverted to his his having affirmed that we ought to Offer them to Chriſt by Saints and Angels. As to what he in his Livings, I know not; but this is certain, that Two of them, who had Depden (if I miſtake not) ſucceſſively, could not write, either Senſe or Engliſh, as the Pariſh Regiſter at this Day teſtifieth, throughout the whole Space of their Uſurpation.

SURREY.

THOMPSON, ———, . Hedly, R.
He was Sequeſtred in the Year 1644; and tho' he was at that time near 70 Years of Age, yet he Out-lived the Uſurpation, was Re-poſſeſt of his Rectory, and Enjoy'd it for Ten Years afterwards. He was a Man of Good Learning, and of an Exemplary Life.

TURNER, THOMAS, D.D. Fetcham, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

See the Cathedral-Church of Canterbury.

SUSSEX.

TANTON, RICHARD, . Ardinly, R.

He is another of the Scandalous and Malignant Prieſts of the Century; and is there accuſed of Drunkenneſs, of Reading his Majeſty's Declarations.

P. 2[illegible]

tions, Stirring up his Parishioners to joyn with the King's Forces, Wifhing that every Knee might Rot that would not Bow at the Name of Jefus, and Obliging his Parishioners to Receive the Sacrament at the Rails of the Altar.

TOMLINSON, ——, . Ereford, R.

The Account which I have received of his Sufferings, is a very peculiar one; and therefore I fhall give it the Reader Verbatim as it was Tranfmitted to me.

' Mr. Tomlinfon was a very Harmlefs, Honeft, ' and Inoffenfive Man; his Living about Thir- ' ty Poundz a Year; very well belov'd by his ' Parifhioners. He had a Son of the Phanatick ' Strain, who inform'd againft his own Father, and ' Accufed him of feveral Crimes which the poor ' Old Man was not fuppofed to have Sence e- ' nough to Commit. Upon which Information ' of his Son, he was Turned out, and lived by the ' Charity of his Neighbours, his Son taking his ' Living, and would not fo much as fee his Father, ' nor contribute to his Relief in his greateft Wants: ' Which in a fmall time Broke the Old Man's ' Heart. The Villain was the Hotteft Man a- ' gainft the Ceremonies, and the very Firft that ' came over to the Church of England after the ' Reftoration: At which time he had a Living ' given him, and came to Bifhop Morley for In- ' ftitution; who hearing the Horrible Barbarity ' ufed to his own Father (tho' the Rafcal at firft ' deny'd himfelf any Relation to him) turned him ' away with Indignation, and gave his Character ' to all the then Bifhops. He afterwards went ' into the Army, and died a Trooper. This Lite- ' ral Account I have from an Intimate Acquaint- ' ance of the Old Man's.

TUTSHAM, ZECH. : Dallington, V.

He is another of thofe mentioned in the Cen- P. 18 tury; where he is charged with Drunkenneſs, Attempting the Chaſtity of a Woman, Quarrelling, Neglect of Cure, Speaking difgracefully of the Earl of Eſſex, and having expreſs'd great Malignity againſt the Parliament. He was Turned out by the Houſe about Sept. 1643; at which time one John Zechary was Thruſt into his Vicaridge by the ſame Uſurped Authority.

WESTMORLAND.

THOMPSON, JOHN, ſenior, : Greſwiſe, R.

I find John Thompſon, junior, Admitted to it in 1657.

WILTSHIRE.

THORNBOROUGH, GYLES, : Orcheſton, R. worth 140 l. a Year.

His Sufferings were indeed Alleviated in ſome meaſure; foraſmuch as his Son was permitted to ſucceed him. When his Death happen'd, I know not; but at that time he left his Wife and Children in ſuch a poor Condition, That his Widow was afterwards conſtrained to beg the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters

He was Son, as I ſuppoſe, to the Biſhop's ſon Thornborough, Brother of Dr John Thornborough, ſome time Bp. of Worceſt. who I mention'd to have found his Wife, Vol. II. p. 3. which ſee Widows; which makes me think that he could not be the ſame Perſon with Dr. Giles Thornborough, one of the ſuffering Canons of Worceſter.

THORNBOROUGH, JOHN, * Lavington Ep. V. And † Helperton, R. . . . .

* Or Weſt-Lavington, about 3 Miles to the South ward of Devizes.

† To which he was only Curate.

He was Son to Dr. Edward Thornborough, the Suffering Arch-Deacon of Worceſter, Biſhop educated at Chriſt-Church in Oxford, where he was Pupil to the Famous Mr. Gregory; and became at length one of the Petty-Canons of that Houſe. He had the Vicaridge of Lavington beſtowed upon him by Dr. Duppa; but had not Enjoyed it many Years, when he was Sequeſtred from it. However, being ' a Man of Eminent ' Learning, of a Sweet and Obliging Temper, and ' beloved of all that knew him, and converſed ' with him; Sir John Danvers (though a Regicide) ' who was of his Parifh, did after his Expulſion ' from his Vicaridge, get him the School there; ' which yet by the Violence of his Perſecutors, and ' Iniquity of the Times, he could not long Hold, ' but was thence alſo Expulſed. His Name (be- ' ing the Son of Dr. Thornborough) was enough to ' Expoſe him to the Fury of the Sequeſtrators. At- ' ter which, Sir John Danvers, procured him the ' Rectory of Hilperton, in the ſame County; but he ' (though very Powerful in thoſe Times) was not ' able to Protect him there: For one Teagood, a ' Taylor by Trade, who formerly had been a Pariſh- ' Clerk, was put in his Place. In this Condition ' he continued a conſiderable time, reduced to ' Neceſſities, by an increaſing Family of Children; ' and was privately Relieved with Wheat, Malt, ' Cheeſe, Bacon, &c. by Perſons unknown to him, ' whom he never had the Happineſs to thank ' for their Charity, to his Death. At length he ' happen'd to hear of a ſmall Place near Frome ' in Somerſetſhire, ſo Inconſiderable, that it was ' not ſubject to Tithes; the Name of the Place I ' do not remember; where he ſpent his time ' till the Return of King Charles, by whoſe Re- ' turn he had the Opportunity of Claiming, and ' being Poſſeſſed of the Rectory of Over-Moyne in ' Dorſetſhire; and Diſpoſſeſſed the Intruder, ' whoſe Name was Tryte; where he continued ' (after Thirteen Years being Unjuſtly keept out ' of his Right, which he had from his Father) ' for the ſpace of about Forty Years, and there ' Died. He was offered his Doctor's Degree by ' the University of Oxford, after the Reſtoration; ' but he declined that Honour. His Name how- ' ever, is mentioned with Honour to this day, at ' his Living of Over-Moyne.

I do not remember where he was Parſon of the Manor, mention'd by Edward Thornborough, Biſhop of Briſtol, in the Regiſter of Parchmarke in Over-Moyne; and was Deprived of it in the Conſulſion, &c.

TOWNSON, JOHN, D. D. Bramble, V.

He is doubtleſs the ſame Perſon who is mentioned in the Catalogue of the Compounders, and appears there to have Redeemed his Temporal Eſtate, which was alſo, as it ſeems under Sequeſtration, with the Sum of Three Hundred and Twenty Pounds; although the Pariſh is there ſpelt Bramhall. He lived to be Reſtored.

Quere if he be the ſame with Dr Townſon of the Suffering Profeſſion, Archdeacon of Salisbury. Though I think there is no Doubt to be made of it.

TUTT, ROBERT, A. M. Barford-St. Martin, R. worth about 200 l. a Year.

Son of Gentleman of that Surname in Hampſhire, and Quere.

He was, as I preſume, Deſcended from a Conſiderable Family, becauſe he had been Gentleman-Commoner of St. Edmund's-Hall in Oxford.

He

Barnes got himself Poſſeſt of it in the Year 1655.

THORNTON, ———, . Berks, R. worth 200*l.* a Year.

He was alſo ſeveral times Plundered; and Tyed to an Horſe-Tayle, and Dragged in that manner Priſoner to Cawood-Caſtle. He Survived the Uſurpation, and was Re-poſſeſt of his Living.

WALES.

BRECON.

THOMAS, HOPKIN, * A. M. Yſtradginlais, R. . . . . } in Glamorganſh.
Biſhopſton, R. And Landilo-Talybont, V. }

* Or B. D. at leaſt he was ſo ſome time before his Death.

Although Quere whether he who left Ystradginlais, was not called Tho. Hopkin, and was a Different Perſon from this Mr Hopkin Thomas.

By the Propagators; and Succeeded by one Moor Pye.

He was a Gentleman of a conſiderable Family in Wales, and his Eldeſt Brother was Poſſeſt of an Eſtate, of Five or Six Hundred Pounds a Year. He was Ejected from the Former of theſe Livings in the Year 1649, but had been Turned out of the Other ſome time before. After his Sequeſtra- of Worceſter, where he died in the Year 1689; about the Time when he muſt have Suffer'd another Deprivation for refuſing the New Oaths. He had been, ſaith his Epitaph, Sanctiſſimus & Deſtiſſimus Præſul, Pietatis ergâ Deum, ergâ Regem Fidelitatem, Charitatem ergâ Proximos illuſtre Exemplum.

What he published, See in Wood

———, ———, . Treyllan, .

See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

CAERNARVAN.

THOMAS, HENRY, . Dwygylgyvylchic, .

———, ———, . Trefew, .

GLAMORGAN.

THOMAS, HOPKIN, . Biſhopſtown, R. And Landilo-Talybont, V. . . . . }

See him before in Brecon.

MERIONETH.

THELWALL, ANDREW, . Llanderfell, .

The Place lay void after his Ejectment, for Three Years.

THOMAS, HENRY, . Festiniog and Maentwrog,

PEMBROKE.

THOMAS, OLIVER, . Lamphey, R.

He was Dispoſſeſt for Malignancy, by the Propagators.

———, ———, . [a] Trogarr, .

[a] Unleſs this be the ſame Living with Treſgwyrr (which See at 3dly Richard Williams in this County) and One or the Other of them is Sequeſtr. The Miniſter have not, as I find, a Plurality; but whether he Lyes the Beſt of his Livings; and if ſo did, whether He or They may be mentioned in other Parts of this List, I know not.

———, ———, . Tenbeigh, .

———, ———, . St. Thomas in Llandſondweſt, R.

For theſe Three laſt Places, See the Note at Abergwyley in Caermarthenſhire, under the Letter A.

TAYLOR, ———, . ———, .
The only grounds I have to Conjecture the Sequeſtration of this Gentleman, are, that I find it Reſolved by the Houſe of Commons, Jan. 25, 16$\frac{4}{5}$, that he was Unfit to Hold any Eccleſiaſtical Promotion: And therefore Quere further; as alſo, whether he may have been the ſame Perſon with any of the other Taylors mentioned in this Liſt.

TENISON, PHILL. . Heberſet, .

This Living I take to be either in Norfolk or Suffolk; but which of thoſe two Counties, I know not. There was a Gentleman of both theſe Names made Arch-deacon of Norfolk, immediately upon the Reſtoration; which I take to have been the ſame Perſon with the Sequeſtred Miniſter of this Living, and a Different one from that Teniſon already mentioned in the Former of thoſe Counties.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 184

THORNTON, ———, . ———, .
A Perſon of this Name, is mentioned in the Life of Dr. Heylin, as Ejected either from a Living, or from the Univerſity of Oxford; but I muſt leave this alſo as a Quare with the Reader, whether he might be the ſame with any of thoſe already mentioned at Merton-College in Oxford or in Herefordſhire, and Yorkſhire: Though I preſume, it could hardly be the Former; becauſe he was no other than Poſt-Maſter of that College; and the Gentleman mentioned in the Life of Heylin, ſeems to be a Man of ſome Note and Years.

TOMPSON, ———, ———, .
The Widow of this Gentleman was Supported by the Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows, among the many other Widows of the Sequeſtred Clergy. Quere whether he was the ſame with the Prebendary of St. Paul's of this Name, or with any of thoſe already mentioned in Northumberland, Surrey, and Weſtmorland.

TUCKER, FRANCIS, D.D. ———, .
He was alſo Plundered for his Loyalty; and by that means Himſelf, Wife, and Children, were reduced into a ſad and deplorable Condition. When he died, I do not find; but his Widow was at length Supported by the Charity of the ſame Corporation.

V.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

VAUDREY, ———, . Elmore, V.
He was ſucceeded by a Boddice-maker; who agreed with the People to Preach to them for Ten Pounds a Year.

DEVONSHIRE.

VEN, RICHARD, A.M. Otterton, V.
The Sufferings of this Worthy Old Gentleman were, as I have often heard, very great, and well deſerv'd to have been made known to more Generations than that wicked one which brought them upon him, and were Eye-witneſſes of them: And indeed, he had taken care to Tranſmit them to Poſterity, as far as a Manuſcript of his own drawing up might contribute to that End: But that being unhappily loſt, the Reader muſt content himſelf with this Imperfect Account of his Troubles, which were wholly occaſion'd by an Unpardonable Crime of Loyalty; and which, as it muſt be confeſs'd, none was more Guilty of than himſelf. Notice of this being given to the Lord Fairfax, when he had his Quarters at Tiverton in this County, that General 'ſent a Troop of Horſe 'to bring Mr. Ven before him; who were ſo Se'vere in Executing their Orders, that they took 'him as they found him, not permitting him 'to put on no more Cloaths than carried him a'way with them in a Wet and Cold Day, it be'ing but two Days before Chriſtmas-Day. When 'he was come, they made a Fire to warm him; 'but having Rid ſo long, and ſo thinly Clad, in 'the Cold, he fainted away. The next Day he 'was brought before the General, who told him 'what things had been alledg'd againſt him, and 'particularly, that he read Maſs in his Houſe, 'meaning the Common-Prayer; and charg'd him with

Digitized by Google

EVONSHIRE.

R. CHARD, A. M. Oxon. V.

Injury to it. How this poor Infant, and some other of the Children were afterwards supported, I cannot learn: But this I am inform'd, they liv'd in a poor, mean, and miserable Condition; and that one of them was taken, and kept by an Old Servant of Mr. Ven; another was bound Apprentice to a Chandler, and a Third was maintained, and kept at School by an Honest Farmer, whom he ever after, to his dying Day, called his Father.

I must here add another Particular of Mr. Ven's Sufferings; tho' I cannot say whether it was Precedent or Subsequent to his Sequestration; and it is this: That he was once Seized, as I conceive, by a Party of the Parliament-Soldiers, who were going to Execute him; But one of the King's Parties coming up in the very Instant of time, put a stop to the Commission of that Barbarous Outrage.

Mr. Ven being thus Dispossest of his Living, he wander'd to find where he could get a Place; which after some time he did, near Leskard in Cornwall: But he was hunted from thence also. After which, he got another little Place in this County, called Black-Averon; which he was as little permitted to Enjoy, as he had been to Keep that in Cornwall. How he made a shift to Subsist himself afterwards, I cannot learn: This only I am sure of, that he was not Actually Starved (which is the more to be wonder'd at, because he had no Fifths paid him) but lived to Re-possess his Vicaridge after the Restoration; and what is more, to Recover the Fifths from the Intruder Mr. Conant; who could not forbear discovering

VINCENT, CLEMENT, Danbury, R.

He is another of the Scandalous and Malignant Priests of the Century; and that which made him so, was his Practising the Innovations, and Countenancing the Book of Sports: So that of course he could not be other than a Drunkard and a Swearer, in the Opinion of those Times: Altho' I have been otherwise informed, that he was a worthy Divine. P. 14.

UTY, EMANUEL, D. D. Chigwell, R.

He had been Admitted to this Living, Jan. 31, 1615. May 17, 1641, the House of Commons (or a Committee of that House, I know not which) Resolv'd him Unworthy to hold any Benefice, &c. for Superstition, and some Words against the Parliament; and about July 1643, they proceeded to Sequester his Living, and substituted one Peter Watkinson in his Cure.

The Reasons of his Ejectment, as assigned by the Century, were his having said such Words as discover'd his Inclination to the Romish Religion; and particularly, That he loved the Pope with all his Heart; his Asserting the Just Rights and Dignity of the Priesthood and the Episcopal Authority; and Denying, saith the Century, the King's Supremacy: Which in plain Words, was, I doubt not, Setting the due and proper Bounds of it, as any one may plainly see, who reads his Charge: Though the Words in which 'tis said he did it, P. 19.

are,

and Urging the Observation of them upon his Parishioners; for speaking against Preaching in the Afternoon, and Pressing the Duty of Parochial Communion; Affirming also, that to Preach nothing but Scripture without the Authority of the Fathers, was like the Devil's sheering of Hogs, a great Cry, but a little Wooll. After these Crimes, to be sure, he must be a Drunkard; but that, I doubt, which made him so, and which put into his Mouth those Contemptuous Words about the Scripture, was, his having said upon the Dissolution of the then Late Parliament, That the Members of it were a Parcel of Laggerheaded Fellows.

The Expression in the Century is, the Benefice of Thomas Vaughan, Curate of the Parish-Church &c. And therefore Quaere of what nature the Holding of this Place is. If it be not Equivalent to an Institution, it must be Discarded from hence, and put into the Appendix.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

UNDERWOOD, WILLIAM, . Hairby, .

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, for Preaching seldom, and when he did, being not above Half an Hour in the Pulpit; as also for being a mean Scholar, and having no Books, had, and sent out some Plunderers to take Possession of it; but it so happen'd, that Mrs. Vaughan fell in Travail that very day; and the People about her Earnestly beseeching them not to disturb her; they contented themselves at that time to set Locks on the Barn-Doors (which, it being soon after Harvest, were then full of Corn) and so went their way. But before the Month was out, they returned again, and Plundered all the Goods, even to the very Weaning-Linen. This Mrs. Vaughan bearing with Patience and Fortitude well becoming a Christian (feeling, as she after said, a secret Joy within her all the time they were thus Robbing and Plundering her) some of the Villains, had the Impudence to say to her, What will not you Cry yet? We will make your proud Heart come down. However, the good Gentlewoman, not Discouraged with those Threatenings, betook her self to Northampton in Pursuit of her Goods; where she obtained the Favour of having her Wearing-Linen and some other things returned to her; but offering to buy some other of her Goods, she was answered, that Mr. Robbins (if I mistake not the Name) one of the Committee, had made Choice of them himself. It seems they proved a Canker to what he had before (if at least he had any thing) thor Mr. Vaughan, is wholly Silent, as to any thing of this Living, or of his bearing Arms for the King; which are Circumſtances, that as he can hardly be ſuppoſed to have miſs, (conſidering how full his Intelligences appear to have been concerning him) ſo beyond Queſtion, he would not have failed to inſert them.

RADNOR.

VAUGHAN, JOHN, . Lowes and Landewey, .

He was Turned out for Drunkenneſs, by the Propagators.

VAUGHAN, RICHARD, . Llanthewy-Vach, .

He was Sequeſtred in the Year 1650.

VAUGHAN, ROWLAND, . Caergay-Morion.

Mem. 1676. This Perſon is mentioned by Mr. Lloyd, as a great Sufferer for his Majeſty; and particularly, as having his Houſe burnt. I take him to have been a Clergyman, and Caergay-Morion to have been his Living; and I gueſs at his Sequeſtration from what Lloyd here ſaith of his Sufferings; but Quære farther. He Tranſlated the Practice of Piety, Biſhop Uſher's Catechiſm, and other uſeful Books, into the Welch-Tongue, if I rightly underſtand that moſt Unſatisfactory, and moſt Confuſed of all Writers; who alſo adds, that he was an Excellent Welch Poet and Antiquary.

W.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

WALSAL, FRAN. D.D. Sandy*, R.
And
Another Living ſomewhere.

* I have no other Authority for mentioning This as One of the Livings he held, than that he appears Poſſeſt of it in 1660.

He was of the Univerſity of Cambridge, and Fellow of Corpus Chriſti there, as I Conjecture; becauſe I find one of both theſe Names, Taxor of that College in the Year 1635. Feb. 21, 1642, he was Incorporated, D. D. at Oxford, having been Forced away from his Benefices by the Severity of the Presbyterians; at which time he firſt retired to his Majeſty at Oxford, and afterwards Participated of Afflictions with other Loyaliſts. But he out-lived the Uſurpation, and Sept. 1, 1660, was made Prebendary of Weſtminſter. He hath ſome Sermons Extant; but when he died I know not.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 602 to 605. See what he writes Bishop Richd. Vol. I. p. 621.

WARREN, JOHN, A. M. Welchbourn, V.

He was put under Sequeſtration for his Fidelity to the Crown. He died in ſo much Poverty, That his Widow was at length Supported by the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

BERKS.

WILDE, GEORGE, L.L.D. St. Gyles's in Reading, V.

See St. John's-College in Oxford.

WORRALL, THOMAS, A.M. Brimpton, V.
And
Waſeing, R. Both worth 120 l. a Year.

He Suffered moſt deeply in the Rebellion, being concerned in Grove's and Penruddock's Riſing; at which time he made a very difficult Eſcape, and retired afterwards into Wales; where for a Livelihood he became a Warrener to an Ancient Gentlewoman; and went in a Gray Welch-Coat, a Knit-Bonnet, and his Pike-Staff in his Hand. In this Condition he continued till about the time of the Reſtoration. In the mean time, they Plundered him of all that they could lay their Hands on, and Turned his Wife and Children out of Doors. He was Succeeded at Waſeing by one Singleton; but who Succeeded at Brimpton, I know not. He had indeed at the time of his Sequeſtration, Five or Six Children; but they were Diſpoſed of before his Troubles. He was Re-poſſeſſed of Waſeing; and I preſume, of the other Living alſo, upon the Return of his Majeſty; but ſome body who owed, or at leaſt, wiſhed him an Ill-Turn, Fired his Houſe one Night about his Ears, and was very like to have Burnt him in his Bed. When he died, I know not; but it was about the Eighty Second Year of his Age, and after he had been Forty two Years Rector of Waſeing. I have nothing to add concerning him; but that the Gentleman, who gives me the Account of his Sufferings, ſaith, he Perſonally knew him, and had it from his own Mouth; as alſo, that it could be Atteſted by ſeveral of the Pariſh, who are ſtill Living, or at leaſt, were ſo at the time of his Writing.

WRIGHT, ——— . Buckland, V.

He found a means to keep Poſſeſſion of the Vicaridge-Houſe, notwithſtanding his Sequeſtration; and Surviving the Uſurpation, was again Poſſeſt of the Profits alſo. The Cure was, for ſome time at leaſt, of the Sequeſtration, ſupplied by one from Oxford, whoſe Name I cannot learn.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

WAKE, THOMAS, . Burrough-Green, . worth 120*l.* a Year.

One of both theſe Names was Fellow of Caius-College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1606.

The Earl of Manchester Diſpoſſeſt this Gentleman July 10, 1644; for Swearing, Drinking, Quarrelling, and Riding over a Woman, of which ſhe died. The truth of theſe Allegations againſt him cannot be doubted, when it is known, that he uſed to pay Obedience to the Orders of the Church, and had ſaid, that he ought rather to ſhorten his Sermon, than neglect Reading any of the Prayers; and that the Collects were better than Preaching; and had alſo Prayed for the Biſhops, notwithſtanding he had taken the Covenant.

One of theſe was Ejected during the Uſurpation, was Samuel Bircheridge, who got the Place in 1654.

WATTS,

WODENOTE, THEOPH. B. D. Lankenborne, R.

Wood, Ath. Vo. 1. p.915. He was Defcended from an Ancient Family in Cheshire, but Born in this Parish of which his Father, who had been Fellow of King's-College in Cambridge, was Rector. He was Educated in Grammar-Learning at Eton; in 1608, he became Scholar of King's College, and upon the Death of his Father, fucceeded in the Rectory; of which he was Deprived in the Times of the Rebellion. What became of him afterwards, and particularly, whether he liv'd to be Reftor'd in 1660, I am not informed. He published fevefal Small Things, the Account of which fee in Vol.

In 1606.

See a large and excellent Character of him by Mr Edw. Simmons.

(the Sequeftred Rector of Rayne in Effex) in the Preface which he Writes to Mr. Wodenote's Sermon Theologus.

CUMBERLAND.

WEST, LEWES, A. M. Adenham, V. See the Church of Carliste.

DEVONSHIRE.

WARREN, HENRY, . Loddefwell, .

I believe he had only fuch a Title as the Confufions would allow him. He furvived the Ufurpation, and was at the Charge of fome Hundreds of Pounds, as I have been informed, to Difpoffefs Mr. Hind the Intruder; who is however, recounted in the Abridgment, as Ejected for Nonconformity at St. Bartholomew's Day.

WASHER, THOMAS, . Weft-Anftey, V.

He had been of the Univerfity of Oxford, and was in tolerable good Circumftances as to Matters of Worldly Affairs, when he was put under Sequeftration; and thefe, together with his Fifths, which were duly paid him, fupported his Family very well, which conlifted, if I miftake not, of a Wife and Five Children. He lived to be Reftored, and was a Perfon of very commendable Morals and Learning. His immediate Succeffor was one Mr. George Hazel, an Ingenious, Good, and Regular Man; who fome time after the Reftoration had the Living of St. Mary Anftie in this County, where he died. Whilft he continu'd at Weft-Anftie during the Ufurpation, he duly Adminiftred the Sacraments in that Parifh: Which I particularly mention, becaufe of the great Rarity of it in thofe Times.

WEEKS, JOHN, B. D. Sherwill, R.

An Ancient Clergyman of this County, who lived through thofe Times, tells me, he thinks Mr. Weeks was Sequeftred: Tho' I have been informed from the Parifh, that it was not put under Sequeftration; and therefore I leave it as a Matter of further Enquiry. I find Mr. Weeks Poffeft of the Parifh after the Reftoration.

WILSON, AARON, D. D. Plymouth, V. See Exeter-Cathedral.

WILSON, HENRY, . Buckland and Filleigh, R.

He was Collated to this Rectory in the Year 1614, by Dr. Cotton, then Bifhop of Exeter. The precife time of his Sequeftration I know not; but judge it to have been pretty early in the Rebellion. After his Ejectment, he kept a little School in, or near Biddiford in this County; and notwithftanding he was at that time fo far Advanced in Years, he lived to fee the Return of his Majefty, and to Re-poffefs himfelf of his Benefice; but Refided not upon it, being unable to perform the Duties of his Function, by reafon of his great Age and Infirmities: So that he was forced to fettle a Curate upon the Living, who was one Mr. Thomas Bawden, the Gentleman whom the Abridgment (P. 305.) makes Ejected from this Rectory: Whereas it appears from hence, that he was no other than Curate to the poor Sequeftred Minifter of this Place, who had lived to be Reftored. 'Tis true indeed that Mr. Bawden refufed to Conform, at St. Bartholomew's Day; but he continu'd a Non-conformift, as he hath affur'd me with his own Mouth, for a few Weeks only; and upon the Death of Mr. Wilfon, which happen'd about Two Months after, endeavouring to get this Living, and miffing of it, he went into Cornwall, from whence, after fome time, he return'd again into Devon, and is the prefent Worthy Rector of Affton in this County.

As for Mr. Wilfon, his Firft Succeffor (the Firft, at leaft, that was fettled here) on the Sequeftration, was one Owen Williams, who came to this Living in 1651, and continued upon it till the time of his Death, which happened in the Year 1655. He lies buried at the Weft End of the Church, on the Outfide of the Belfry-Door; over which, there is in the Wall a Stone with thefe Words inferibed on it by his own Order, Mid Goda Gida. After him, came one Nonfcine, a Perfon utterly unknown to any in the Parifh, and thought by fome to have been a Romifo Prieft. On the Reftoration he left his Wife and Children, and went to Ireland: Nor can I learn that he was ever heard of after. Mr. Wilfon was, according to the beft Account that I can get of him, a Grave, Reverend, and Canonical Man; and got himfelf much Odium in thofe Times, by the great Efteem which he expreft for the Liturgy and Homilies of our Church. Nor muft it be omitted, that attending the King's Army in the Quality of a Chaplain, at Stratton-Fight; and waiting on Sir Bevil Granvile to congratulate him after the Victory, Sir Bevil told him, That it was more owing to his Good Prayers, than to any thing elfe.

WINNEL, JOHN, . St. * John's, R. } * In the Bifhop's Regifter I find him called Curate; which poffibly was becaufe that Living is a member of the others in this City were ever might be told by Sequeftrators.
And
St. Leonard's, R. near Exon, . . }

This Gentleman's Widow, of 90 Years of Age, was living in London in 1704; and then gave an Account of her Husband's Sufferings: The Subftance of which is as follows. Upon my Lord Stamford's coming to Exeter, an Oath was Tendered to Mr. Winnel (whether the Covenant, or any other private Teft of their own deviling, I cannot tell) for Refufing of which, he was Seized, and carried before that Lord; who after a great deal of rough Language, threatened at laft to Hang him. And when Mr. Winnel took upon him to tell his Lordfhip, That he hoped he fhould

Digitized by Google

Afflictions. And left I should be thought to have given an Invidious Turn to the Story in Relating it, the Reader shall have it in the very Words of that Loyal and Worthy old Gentleman.

'The Parliament, who began the Rebellion, having given a Commission to one Mr. Robert Morton of Wareham in Dorset, a Bastard Son of that Family, who had been some time in the Low-Countries, for to Fortify that Town, having an old Rampire about it, and Garrison it for the Parliament; upon a Sunday in the Afternoon, at the Close, there being a great Number of the Inhabitants got together, he made a Declaration of the Power given him, and his Resolutions to proceed on the Fortifications; and Encouraged the Inhabitants to Assist him. My Father being by'en Foot, and Morton on Horseback, with his Pistols, or Peternels, before him; my Father spake to the People not to give Credit, and be Misled by a pretended Authority of Mr. Morton's: Upon which, Morton drew out one of his Pistols, and taking the Barrel in his Hand, struck my Father with the Lock, over the Head, somewhat to his Detriment; which was all that passed at that time. The next Day, Morton, with his Faitious Assistants, proceeded on the Fortifications; and my Father and one Mr. Harding having been out at the End of the Town, taking the Air, at his return without the Works, met Morton on Horseback, who Questioned my Father for what he had said the Sunday; and drew out a Pistol, Charged with great Shot; and Fired in his Face, and presently drew out his other Pistol, Charged with Bullets, and Shot him in the Head, and one of the Bullets Lodg'd in his Forehead at the Breaking of the Hair; with which he fell to the Ground; when Morton call'd to his Boy, that was a poor Child, that he had taken of the Town, and bid him to make an End of him as he lay on the Ground; which the Boy refused to do, having had many times Relief at my Father's door: Upon which, Morton drew his Sword, and gave him two Cuts over the Head, very large, which he thought had Dispatched him; but Life was remaining, notwithstanding he had by the Hail-Shot, Bullets, and Cuts, Eleven Wounds in his Head, many of which Probed one to the other. Then the Standers-by got a Chair, and carried him Home: Mean time, one Susan Belke, a Servant of my Father's, being in a Field hard by, Fetching of Peafe, came, and with her Cow-Pike, made at Morton; who rode from her, and was by her Pursued into his own Doors. There was no Surgeon nearer than Corfe-Castle, one Mr. Palfry, who was sent for to take care of my Father; but was by the Guard placed by Morton on the South-Bridge, denied Entrance: Upon which, a Boat was got for him to get over the River, as he did; and came to my Father, and by God's Blessing upon his Endeavours, recovered him; who was hardly got Well before Major Sidenham, by Order of the Committee, Seized him, and Committed him, with several Others, close Prisoners in the Black Rod at Dorchester; and in short time after, were in all likelihood Poysoned; several Dying, and my Father, one Mr. Ware, Mr. Gardner, and Mr. Moone, taking a Quantity of Plague Waters, threw out a slimy Scabb all over their Bodies, which was supposed, Saved their Lives; but notwithstanding Purging, and what else they were Advised to, my Father had for above a Year after, several Beeches and Boils that rose and broke upon him; and I attended him daily, and Plaistered him, to draw off the Corruption, which remained several Years upon him. In the mean time they Plundered and Sequestred my Father, continu'd him in Prison, and Turned my Mother and Three Children out of doors, letting what Goods they had remaining. So soon as my Father got his Liberty, my Father went into the King's Army, and was in Sherborn-Castle when it was Taken, and after a Prisoner in Custody, was stripped naked, and led with several others, Men and Women, in Triumph through all the Town; which was near Half a Mile from the Castle to the upper Part of it; and from thence sent a Prisoner to Poole, where the Plague then was, and there continu'd until Exchang'd to Corfe-Castle; in which Castle, when that was Retra'd, he was again Taken, and Barbatously dealt with. During all this time, his Estate was under Sequestration, and my dear Mother and Sister enforced to work for Bread for themselves, and Children, and my dear Father, who was for the most part a Prisoner. And after the King's Army were all Suppress'd, and Garrisons Taken, and Surrender'd, my Father came to live in Blandford; and with Mr. Hooke, a Sequester'd Divine, and others, kept up the Discipline of the Church of England at Brinston-Chapel; and when prevented there, constantly in his own House; out of which, Major Pelham, Davy, Lee, Cheshe, and others, picked him out of his Bed, and kept him; a very infirm Man, on their Guards, and daily moved him with them, as they were commanded from Place to Place. They afterwards brought a Troop of Dragoons to seize him, and such as frequented the Prayers of the Church, and Barbarously murthered one Walter Elkins, a Cutler, who made good his House, and refused to be their Prisoner; and then again Seiz'd my Father, and mounted him behind a Dragoon, to carry him to Dorchester-Prison; when, being on a Market-day, the Town and Country rose, and pursu'd 'em; and after 2 or 3 Miles Pursuit, I got up with them, and by the Assistance of Major Woodale, coming then from Dorchester-Assizes, Rescued him, and brought him back: But in a little time after, was again Seized, and carried a Prisoner to Dorchester; where he continu'd a Prisoner until those Villains were thrown out of Commission. He was Nineteen times a Prisoner in the time of the Rebellion, and all that time under Sequestration.

'His BLOOD was the FIRST SPILT in Opposition to the REBELS in the West of England; Receiving the Wounds before-mentioned, before the Commission of Array came down, or the Action of the Worthy Sir John Strawell at Matocks-Tree in Somersetshire; and was enforced to sue for his Estate after his Majesty's Restoration; to throw out one Chaplin that Possess'd it by Sequestration. Morton above-mentioned, had a Great Sickness before the Rebellion, and was SUSTAINED by my Mother's Milk. He was taken Prisoner by the King's Party, and brought into Bridgwater, and there, by a Court-Martial, for his Villainy, Condemned to be Hanged; my Father got him off, and sent him home to Wareham; where my Mother was then again living; who in little time after his Return, put her and her Children out of the Town a second time, and caused her to be Plundered. This, I avert to be a True and Just Account, to my Knowledge, and Perfect Remembrance; who was in the time of the Rebellion, Eighteen times a Prisoner, and Twice Condemned to be Hanged, Drawn, and Quartered; got off from the Post by a Rebel-Uncle, and the Second time by the Articles I made with Capt. Crooke at * Southmolton.

* In Devon.

Digitized by Google

from his Majesty King James I. Admitted Fellow of Jesus-College in that University; and in the Year 1607, became A. M. and Senior of the Act in the Publick Commencement of that Year. In 1613, he was one of the Preachers sent out by the University; in 1615, he was made B. D. was the same Year by the Governours of Christ-Church-Hospital in London, Presented to this Vicaridge, and had afterwards the Rectory of Leighton Magna also in this County; being likewise Chaplain to the Marquis of Huntington. He died at the last mentioned Place in the Year 1663. I do not find whether he claimed his Vicaridge again, or not, after the Restoration. He hath a Treatise extant against the Anabaptists.

* Which I presume, he was permitted to Enjoy during the Usurpation. But quære.

WEMYSS, LOD. D. D. Lambourn, R. See the Church of Westminster.

WESTROP, AMBROSE, . Much-Totham, V.

P. 30. He is mentioned in the Century, and is the Last of all that Scandalous and Malignant Hundred. The Allegations there brought against him, are, his having uttered Ridiculous things in his Sermons, and very Indecent ones, if they are rightly represented, concerning Women and Marriage; as likewise his having played several Pranks and Ridiculous Tricks with Women whom he had Courted, altogether unbecoming the Character of a Minister, had they been true: But I am affured of the contrary, from Two Persons who remember'd him: The First a Woman; who faith, that She had seen a Printed Paper under his Name, wherein were several Indecent things against Women; but She believ'd it was the Work of his Enemies. The other Person is the Old Gentleman before-mention'd in the Account of Mr. Waplington; who declares, that he did not remember to have heard that he ever vented Immodesties in his Pulpit, or that he was any ways Vicious; nor did he believe that he was guilty of any thing that was malum in se, or of any thing that might cause his Sequestration, other than that he was of the Loyal Party: Only I find by him, that Mr. Westrop always declar'd against Matrimony, not in general, but only as to himself. And according to the best Judgment I can make on the Whole, was a Man of a Warm, not to say Unsetled, Brain; in plain words, a Talkative, Maggoty Person; who, as he made the Subject of Marriage his Chief Topick; so he would make himself more Merry with That (whatever he might do with Other matters) and talk of it with more Levity, than did possibly become his Function.

He adds also, that he entirely disbelieved one of the Chief Particulars which the Century charges him with.

WIBOROW, THOMAS, A. M. Pebmarsh, R.

He was Admitted to this Living Dec. 3, 1634 and Turned out of it by the House of Commons about Apr. 1643: the Famous Mr. John Waite was in the Chair of the Committee which came to the Resolution of Sequestring him; to which the House afterwards agreed upon the Report.

The Profits of his Living were given to one Burrows; but his Ejectment was the least Part of what he Suffer'd: For both in his own Person, and in his Family, he was otherwise most Barbarously and Inhumanly Treated by the Rebels.

Abere. Rast. p. 16. As to the Former, a Party of the Parliament Mobb came to his Church one Sunday, and Disturbed him in the time of Divine Service; one of them beating with his Stick against the Pulpit to Interrupt him, as he was in his Prayer before Sermon; and others of them, whilst he was Preaching, talking almost as loud as himself. However, they laid no Hands on him in the Pulpit; but their Patience would hold no longer than till he got into the Reading Desk, where 'They laid Violent Hands upon him, Rent his 'Clothes, and threaten'd to Pull him in Pieces in 'the Church: With much Intreaty, they spare 'him there, and permit him to go into the Church-Yard; he is no sooner come thither, but they 'Assault him more Violently than before. Mr. Wiborow seeing the Constable (who all this while 'stood a Spectator of his Hard Usage) calls unto 'him, and charges him in the King's Name, to 'keep the King's Peace. At his Request, they 'did a little forbear him; but before he could get 'half ways home, they Assault him again, and 'demand his Book of Common-Prayer which he used in the Church (that which was found by the 'Parish, being torn in Pieces before) which he 'refusing to deliver up unto 'em, they wreck their 'Fury on him, they Tugg, and Hale him, and 'vow to Kill him, unless he Deliver up the Book of Common-Prayer to their Pleasure. He stoutly 'Refuseth. Hereupon they Fall upon him, Strike 'up his Heels, and take it from him by Force, and 'so carry it away in Triumph.

'By this, and such like Usage, he was forced to Fly for his Safety, and put himself under the Protection of his Majesty; which, those Wretches, who had driven him thence by their Outragious Treatment of him, soon after made the * Occasion of his Sequestration.

Abere. Rast. P. 121.

* And not of the Pretences of it also.

as I make no Question, which, by the way, interprets the Meaning of those Expressions so frequently met with in the Century, and other Articles against the Clergy, viz. for Absence, and Neglect of Cure.

And tho' Mr. Wiborow had taken care to get his Cure supply'd during his Absence; yet they proceeded to Frame a Bill of Faisbood and Lies against him; or, in other Words, Accused him before one of the Committees; who, as is before said, immediately Dispatched him, and gave away the Bread of his poor Wife and Children to a Stranger.

After which, June 10, 1643. 'a Troop of Rebels came to the Parsonage-House, and planted a Guard 'Entrance. Mrs. Wiborow and the Children being alone in the House, she Barred up the doors 'against them; and for her better Safety, retired 'to an Upper Room, to which the Passage was 'through a Trap-Door, which likewise she made 'as fast as she could. All this Information could 'not keep those Rebels out. They Broke up the 'Doors, and make away to the Room where Mrs. 'Wiborow and her Children thought to Secure themselves. When they came thither, Three 'of those Rebels set their Pistols at her Breast, 'threatening to Shoot her, if She and her Children 'would not suddenly depart the House, and leave 'it to a New Master. Mrs. Wiborow replied, that 'She would rather be killed within Doors, than perish without; but with all earnestly entreated, that She might Enjoy so much of her Husband's Right, as his House, to shelter her and her Children; who, poor Souls, stood about their Mother crying, and in their Natural Oratory, craving Compassion towards their Mother; whom at every word the Rebels threaten to Pistol. But neither the Earnest Entreaty of the Mother, nor the Pitiful Outcries of the Children, could prevail with them. They remain as Deaf Men, void of all Pity, or Bowels of Compassion: Nay, they violently seize on her, drag her down the Stairs, and out of the House into the Yard: the poor Children being almost distracted, and at their wits end, for fear what would become of their Mother.

Ibid.

Being,

nally Acquainted with him. That Gentleman's Words are these. ' Henry Wotkins, D. D. and Rector of Sutton-Underbrailes, in the County of Gloucester, unto which he was preferred by the moſt Reverend Dr. John King, Biſhop of London, whoſe Houſhold-Chaplain he then was) in the Year 1617, conſtantly Reſided upon his ſaid Living for many Years, never ſeeking for any other Preferment, ſpending the whole Income of his Eſtate in Hoſpitality, Re-building of the Parſonage-Houſe, which he found very much Decayed, and the Breeding up of his Children there. He continued Quiet and Undiſturbed, Beloved and Reſpected by the Neighbouring Gentry and Clergy, and People of all Sorts and Conditions, until the time of the Grand Rebellion; and for ſome Years after, the Place being in the Midſt of the King's Garriſons, Oxford, Banbury and Worceſtock, eſcaped Plundering by the Parliament-Forces: But the War being Ended, about the Year 1646, one of his Pariſhioners, Tho. Billing by Name, (Elder Brother to Edward Billing the late Noted Quaker, who was Apprentice to a poor Country Taylor) unto whom, being left an Orphan, the Doctor had been inſtead of a Father; giving him the Education of his Houſe, and Table, as if he had been one of his own Family, or Children; and by his Intereſt in the Lord of the Mannor, into whoſe Hands the Living which the Anceſtors of the ſaid Billing had been Poſſeſt of, being of about 40 l. per Annum, was then Fallen; obtained the Favour, that he might Renew the ſaid Eſtate; and that upon much eaſier Terms than was Uſual, or were then offered by Others; and afterwards prevailed with a Friend to lay down the Money for the Fine: Yet after all, this very Perſon became a Monſter of Ingratitude, and the Doctor's implacable Enemy. The Occaſion was this: The ſaid Billing, being for ſeveral Years together Conſtable of the Pariſh, Collected, and carried in the Quarterly-Taxes and Contributions to the Garriſons, on both ſides; and by his Craft and Cunning, pretending * Poverty, and Inability to Pay, would Impoſe upon the Governors of the ſaid Garriſons, ſo as commonly to get ſome conſiderable Abatement of the Money ſo Collected; which ought to have been Refunded proportionably to every Man; but he would either Releeve the ſame to his own Uſe, or Diſpoſe of it as he pleaſed: Which being Diſapproved by the Doctor, the ſaid Billing in a great Rage (with many horrid Oaths, that it ſhould be, as he himſelf would have it) left the Doctor, and never came at him more. This was the Ground of the Quarrel; but the deſign of it, as it ſoon afterwards appeared, was to get the the Doctor Turned out of his Living, in hopes to have their Tythes at an eaſier Rate of his Succeſſor, whom themſelves ſhould Nominate: And in Order thereunto, the ſaid Billing combined with Two or Three more of the Pariſhioners, to Proſecute the Doctor upon Articles of Delinquency, Maligniſty, &c. before the ſeveral Committees, where the Doctor had any Concern: By all which, after a Tedious and Vexatious Proſecution, he was Acquitted and Diſcharged, partly for want of Evidence, partly, becauſe Thoſe very Perſons who were now his Accuſers, had not long before, with many others, certified to the contrary in his behalf. Hereupon his reſtleſs Adverſaries apply themſelves to the Committee for Plundered Miniſters at Weſtminſter; where the Doctor, then Aged and Infirm, retained for his Counſel, John Bradſhaw of Gray's-Inn, then Solliciter-General for the Parliament, who Pleaded in the Doctor's behalf, that he had been Acquitted, upon full Hearing of the Cauſe, by the Committee of Gloucester; and that they were no Committee of Appeals, and therefore ought to Diſmiſs it; boldly telling them, that if they did Proceed, he would Demur on their Judgment: This Hearing was in Michaelmas-Term, about the latter End of November 1648; when the Parties withdrawing into the next Room, the ſaid Bradſhaw, laying his Hand on the Doctor's Shoulder, us'd theſe Words, Knock an Old Man on the Head fairly; but if they (meaning the Parliament and the Army) go on in the way they are now in, to the Trial of the King (which then began to be talk'd of) what great matter will they make of Cutting a poor old Man out of his Living? And accordingly, without any farther Hearing, it being impoſſible for the Dr. to bring up ſo many, and ſome of them very Aged, Witneſſes, above 60 Miles, for his Defence, in the Month of February following, ſhortly after the King's Death, he was actually Ejected out of his Living by the ſaid Committee, and one Mr. Tho. Whateley put in his Place; where he continued till the Doctor's Death, which happen'd about Ten Years after, A. D. 1658, and the 72d of his Age.

So that he had been Rector here about Thirty four Years when he was Turned out.

* Of the Country, dunkirks.

I have inſerted the whole of this Letter, that the Reader may ſee at large by what Miſcreants, and on what Occaſions, as well as with what Juſtice, the Clergy were in thoſe Times brought before the Committees, and Sequeſtred.

WHITTINGTON, ——, D. D. Haſleton, ... } See the Broad in this County.
And Riſſington, R. . . . . }

The Crime for which he was Sequeſtred, was, his ſending an Horſe and Arms to the King. He died before the Reſtoration; was a Generous Man, and much belov'd in his Pariſh.

About the Year 1651, as I conjecture.

WILD, THOMAS, Painſwick, V. } Painſ-
And
Shipton-Sollers, R. . . . . } See Mr. Atkins in this County, and a Note there.

He was Son of John Wild, ſome time Vicar of Remesbury in Wiltſhire, and Educated at Trinity-College in Oxford. The Firſt of his Sufferings that I meet with, was, his being Plundered by a Party of the Garriſon of Glouceſter, and Impriſoned in that City Five Months. After which, about the Year 1644, ſome Factious Fellows of his Pariſh, Exhibited Articles againſt him to the Committee of that Place; On which he was Summoned before them; And attending accordingly, he could not at the time of his Tryal (or rather Condemnation, I am ſure I cannot ſay Hearing, for they would not ſuffer him) to be Heard, or ſo much as obtain the Favour of having an Anſwer, which he had drawn up to the Articles preferred againſt him, Read by the Committee, notwithſtanding; or perhaps becauſe, there was a Cloud of Witneſſes appeared in his Favour. Nor did the Committee, as far as I can learn, make uſe of their Common Stratagem, and defer the Tryal till they might find an opportunity of Turning him out with leſs Shew and Appearance of Oppreſſion; but proceeded directly to Sequeſter him at that very time.

Prophecy mainmain'd, p. 1, &c. This, if True, deſtroyed a-right, proceeded not Sequeſtration.

It was in the extremity of Winter, when Mr. Wild was thus Cited before the Committee: And as they had Condemned him without the needleſs Formality of a Hearing; ſo the Fellow who waited for the Living of Painſwick (on which Mr. Wild Reſided) proceeded, as far as I can learn, to Execute the Sentence on him, or his Family at leaſt, without ſtaying to Hear it, or attending the Orders of the Committee upon it: And accordingly, taking

* At last.

WILLINGTON, JOHN, *A. M. ——, . somewhere in this County.

He was alſo forc'd to fly for his Life, and dy'd of a Feaver at Lichfield, during the Siege of that Place. He left at the time of his Death, ſaith a Daughter of his now, or lately living, * a Library which was at his Living-valu'd at 600 l. and his Widow was offer'd 250 l. for it, which ſhe refuſed; but within a Fortnight, there came thoſe that were then in Authority, and ſet a Piſtol to her Breaſt, and told her, that ſhe ſhould ſare the worſe for her Husband that was dead and gone; and ſo ſeiz'd on her Husband's Library, and All ſhe had, for the Uſe of the Parliament, and Turned her out of the Houſe; and ſhe was forced to ſeek for Bread; and ſhe might have Starved, had not Mr. Chartham of Grindon-Hall in Warwickſhire, taken her into his Houſe on the Account of meer Charity.

One John Willington was Fellow of St. John's College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1625.

* This, if I miſtake not, was the Living which he left.

WITHAM, JOHN, : * Miſley, : He had at the time of his Sequeſtration, Nine Children, and nothing but Charity to Support them. Some of his Family alſo were afterwards Suſtained by the Corporation above-named.

WOOD, JOHN, : Marden, V. He hath a Place in the Century; where many and grievous Accuſations are brought againſt him; how well they were proved, I know not. The Firſt of them, in which, I believe, he was not Injured, was, his Countenancing the Book of Sports: After which follow * Adultery, Drinking, Gaming, Quarrelling; and then the whole is compleated with his having ſaid, That the Parliament hath no Power to do any thing in the King's Abſence, no more than a Man without a Head.

P. 10.

One John Wood had St. James Dukes Place in London, in 1650. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 917.

* The Words of the Century are, Notoriouſly Infamous for ſeveral Adulteries: For one of which, 'tis there added, He had been Puniſhed at a Quarter-Seſſions.

WOODCOCK, JOHN, : Elham, V. He was Sequeſtred by the Houſe of Commons, about Oct. 1643; who then ordered S. Salmon to ſucceed him. He is put into the Century for a Frequenter of Alehouſes, a Swearer, a Curſer, a Perſon Negligent of his Cure; and, what was worſe than all, a Malignant.

P. 19.

LANCASHIRE.

† This Place is neither a Rectory nor a Vicaridge: But if I underſtand aright, it uſeth to be Held (or, at leaſt, was ſo Held at that time) in ſuch a manner as is deemed Equivalent to an Inſtitution, and Looked on as a Place for Life. If not, Mr. Warriner muſt be Diſcommoded here, and put into the Appendix.

WARRINER, JOHN, A.M. † Colne, : He was, it ſeems, well known to that moſt Incomparable Prelate, Arch-biſhop Laud, and by him ſent to this Place in 1636. About the Year 1643, he was in the time of Service, dragged out of the Desk by Two Soldiers, who purſued him down the Iſle, and owned, they intended to have Fired upon him as ſoon as he came into the Church-Yard, had not ſome of the Congregation Detained them. After this, he Fled into Yorkſhire, where, I preſume, he died; for he never returned to Colne afterwards.

He was Succeeded by one Horroths, a Perſon ſo notoriouſly Vicious in his Life, that he was forced plainly to tell his People, They ought to do as he ſaid, and not as he did: And yet even that would have gone but a very little way towards the Reformation of his Pariſh, if his Preaching may be gueſs'd at from his Praying; in which, it ſeems, he was but a moſt ſorry Performer. A Thouſand ridiculous Stories of him in that kind, are Current in the Pariſh to this Day. However, he was permitted to Tarry here no leſs than Ten Years after the Reſtoration; which was, as I apprehend, to the time of his Death. Mr. Warriner was a Perſon of an Unexceptionable Life, and pretty well Advanced in Years, at the time of his Sequeſtration.

WILDBORE, AUGUSTINE, : Lancaſter, V.

He was Diſpoſſeſs'd by the Houſe of Commons, about Oct. 1643; who at the ſame time Ordered Nehemiah Barnet to Succeed him.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

WAYBRED, JOHN, : Skeffington, R.

WELDON, ROBERT, . Stony-Stanton, R. worth 100 l. a Year.

He was alſo Harraſs'd, and Perſecuted to ſuch a Degree, that he was forced to leave the Country. He died before the Reſtoration, and was a very Learned Man.

He hath a Treatiſe Entitled The Original of Monarchy, Entituled, The Doctrine of the Scriptures concerning the Dominion: Wherein God's perpetual Propriety in the Sovereignty of the whole Earth, and the King's Great Charter for the Adminiſtration thereof, are juſtified by the Authoritative Records in both the Teſtaments. Printed for R. Royſton, 1648.

LINCOLNSHIRE.

WEMMYS, LOD. D.D. Gedney Donative.

See the Church of Weſtminſter.

See the Vicaridge of this Name at Mr. Rith in this County.

WILLIAMSON, JOHN; . Saltfleeby, R.

He was Turned out by the Earl of Manchester, Aug. 29, 1644, for Abſenting himſelf from his Pariſh, and Betaking himſelf to his Maj.ſty's Garriſons.

WILSON, HENRY, : ——, : His Temporal Eſtate alſo was put under Sequeſtration; which he Redeemed at the Price of 140 l. See the Note at Dr. Robert Bayly, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

MIDDLESEX.

* WIMPY, WILLIAM, A. M. Tottenham, V.

* Or Wimpee. He was Admitted to this Living Sept. 1, 1638, and died ſome time before Jan 23, 1667. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Vol. I. p. 715.

He was Seventeen Years under Sequeſtration; and by conſequence, muſt have been Turned out in the Year 1643. His Family were at laſt brought to ſuch Neceſſities, that they were compelled to Beg the Publick Charity of the Corporation for Miniſters Widows.

MON-

Digitized by Google

'fired from Fornset, as the very Articles againſt 'him did Specifie, for Preaching often on a Ma-'lignant Pſalm, viz. the 79th, O God, the Heathen 'are come into thine Inheritance, &c. They might 'Quarrel with him for his Holineſs, but Evil 'they could not find in him. After he was Se-'queſtred, Cromwell ſuppreſſed him from Teach-'ing Grammar to a few Boys at Low-Layton, in 'Eſſex.

Lately of the Grammar-School, and barely over (aw the University.

WILSON, THOMAS, } Falmouth, R.

He had a Wife and one Child. Quere alſo if he did not Loſe a Temporal Eſtate of 4 l. per Annum.

WYTHE, ——, } Poſtwick, R. D. D.

I know nothing more of him, but that in general, he was a very great Sufferer.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

WHITFORD, WALTER, D. D. Walgrave, R. worth 200 l. per Annum.

He was the Biſhop of Brechen in Scotland; from whence being Baniſhed for Refuſing the Covenant, he came into England, and was by his Majeſty Preferred to this Living, upon the Promotion of Doctor Williams (who held it in Commendam with his Biſhopſick of Lincoln) to the Archiepiſcopal See of York. But the ſame Bitter, and Implacable Spirit Poſſeſſing the Brethren in England, as well as thoſe in Scotland; he was in a ſhort time, Diſpoſſeſt of his Living, as he had before been of his Biſhopſick; although his great Age, Gravity, and Learning, had deſerved much better Treatment. His Firſt Succeſſor, was one Wingham; who married himſelf, without a Miniſter, or ſo much as a Juſtice, to his Maid Beſt. After him one H---- got Poſſeſſion of this Living; who was the Son of a Taylor in Northampton, and had been for ſome time in Virginia; but having after his Return, married one of the Claypoles, and thereby becoming Related to Cromwell, he got what Preferment ſoever he thought fit to Ask for.

Vide Athenæ.

WHITFORD, JOHN, A. M. Aſterton, } worth 140 l. a Year.

He was Son to the good Old Biſhop of Brechen, laſt mentioned, and Turned out by the Committee of Northampton in 1645. The ſame Committee ordered him to be Plundered alſo, as well as Sequeſtred; for which purpoſe ſeveral Waggons were ſent to Carry off his Goods, and it was accordingly done; only his Books were at that time Concealed from them; but afterwards Diſcovered, and Plundered likewiſe. After his Sequeſtration, he Reſided with his Father at Walgrave; but the Old Gentleman himſelf not long after undergoing the ſame Fate, Mr. Whitford retir'd to a Village in the Neighbourhood, where he Lived in a very Contented, as well as Private Condition. He endeavoured after his Eaſe by but the many Delays and Difficulties that he met with, Obliged him to drop his Purſuit of them. He lived to be Reſtored to the Rectory in 1660. He was Succeeded by one William Clever; who (unleſs there were more than one that Intruded into this Living after the Sequeſtration) was a Boy ſcarce Eighteen Years Old: But whether this Clever was the Boy, or not, this is ſure, that he was a Perſon of very a Ill Life, and very Troubleſome to his Neighbours. One Inſtance of which, I cannot forbear to mention; which was his Indicting a Gentlewoman for Stealing his Horſe; but the Proſecution at the time of Hearing, appeared to be ſo very Baſe and Malicious, that the Court obliged him to make a Publick Recantation, and Submiſſion to the Injured Gentlewoman. He went afterwards to Croydon near London, where he Lived a very Scandalous Life, for Perjury, Litigiouſneſs, and Immoralities. When Mr. Whitford died, I cannot learn; but he was a Perſon of Good Life and Learning.

WILBROUGH, ——, } Whitring, R.

WILCOX, ——, } Naſſington, V.

He was Turned out for Refuſing the Covenant. He had a Wife and Eight Children, who were Maintained by Charity; and ſome of them bound out to Apprentiſhips with a Charitable Gift of 4 l. to 1. which, as I apprehend, belonged to the Pariſh. There was no Settled Miniſter on the Living for a great while after his Ejectment; but at laſt one W---- was Placed in it, who was a very Vicious Fellow, and ſoon after Pled for Debt. Mr. Wilcox died before the Reſtoration, and was a Man of a very Good Life, and Great Learning; nor did he want any thing, but a higher Station to have made him known to the World, for a very conſiderable Perſon.

WILLIAMSON, CÆSAR, B. D. Wapenham, R.

He had been of Trinity-College in Cambridge, Wood, Ath. Pre-Orator of that Univerſity, and in 1642, was, among many other Loyaliſts, Created B. LL. at Oxford. Having been Admitted to this Rectory, Jan. 13, 1640. 'He was a very Learned and 'Loyal Man; and took up Arms in Defence of King Charles I. againſt the Rebels, and was at the Battle at Edge-Hill, in the Year 1642. For which Loyalty of his, he was ſoon obſerved by the Rebels, and his Ruin determined; which was Effected in the manner following, viz. Robert Wallop, Eſq; who was Lord of the Mannor of Wapenham; and afterwards, 'Famous for promoting the Rebellion, and being one of the pretended High-Court of Juſtice, for Trying King Charles I. this Wallop, was reſolved to Eject Mr. Williamſon out of his Living; and to that End, had a mighty Influence upon, and Intereſt with the Committee of Sequeſtrators, who Sate at Northampton: To them he recommended one Theophilus Hart, a Young Man, who was Born at Dacet in Warwickſhire; and was deſigned by his Parents for an Apothecary, and did for ſome time Serve as an Apprentice to that Trade; but ſoon took up a more Gainful, and then more Faſhionable Trade, of Praying Extempore; which got him into the Favour of a certain Old Zealous Gentlewoman, who Recommended him to the aforeſaid Mr. Robert Wallop, who Recommended him to the Committee of Sequeſtrators for the firſt Benefice, that ſhould become Vacant by Sequeſtration; and had the Promiſe of all poſſible Favour from the Committee: And in Proſpect of this, 'tis ſaid, Mr. Hart went to Oxford, and ſtayed there, at ſeveral times, near Two Years. In the mean time, Mr. Wallop took care to have Mr. Cæſar Williamſon, Convened before the Committee of Sequeſtrators; and Accuſed for being a Malignant,

Vol. I. p. 709.

Bishoprick of Edinburgh, where he died about the Middle of the Year 1671. He was a Person of Great Religion, and very Charitable to the Poor; and having been a Prisoner, he was always careful at each Dinner that he made, to send the First Dish from his Table to the Prisoners. He wrote the Compleat History of the Wars, &c. under the Marquis of Montrose.

OXFORDSHIRE.

Quare whether it might be Dr. Thos. Walker, the Suffering Master of University-College in Oxford.

WALKER, ——, D.D. ——, somewhere near Oxon, and so, I presume, in this County.

One of his Successors was Robert Rogers, the Son of a Miller, &c. of whom see at large, in the Account of Mr. Holway in Northamptonshire.

RUTLANDSHIRE.

WARD, ROBERT, B.D. Barradon, R. worth 120 l. a Year.

He was Turned out in the Year 1646, and had been Driven from his Church in time of Divine Service. He had 15 l. a Year allowed him, and lived to Re-possess his Rectory in 1660. There was one Ward, who about the Year 1649, got Possession of Liddington and Caldecot in this County; but had the Profits of the Latter, which were about 30 l. a Year, taken from him, and put into the Hands of one Woodcock, a Layman; who, with Tha. and an Augmentation out of some of the Cathedral-Lands, Hired Preachers to Supply the Place: But he was permitted to Receive the Dues of Liddington, which amounted to about 20 l. a Year. If he was the same Person with this Mr. Robert Ward (of which quære) then, it may be, the 15 l. a Year which, 'tis said, he had, was the Profits of Liddington: But if he was a different Person, he ought to be inserted in a Distinct Article. He was, I find, Countenanc'd and Supported by that Loyal Knight, Sir Eusebius Pelsant.

One Robert Ward alias was Fellow of Queen's-College in Cambridge, and Proctor in 1625.

* WATTS, RICHARD, Morcot, R.

He lived to be Restored.

* One of both those Names is already mentioned in Cambridge-shire. Quere. Although I have not the least reason, further than the Coincidence of their Names, to think that they might be the same Person.

* At least, as I conjecture.

WRIGHT, ABRAHAM; * A. M. Okeham, V.

Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 646.

He was a Native of the City of London, Educated partly at Mercers-Chapel-School; but chiefly in Merchant-Taylors-School, and from thence Elected to a Scholarship of St. John's College in Oxford; where he afterwards became Fellow; and being an Excellent Orator, often Preached before the University, and before his Majesty King Charles I. whilst he Resided there in the Time of the Rebellion; as likewise at St. Paul's before, in the City of London. In 1645, he was, by the Favour of Dr. Juxon, Preferred to this Vicaridge; to which he was Admitted by Institution, but refused to be Inducted, to Avoid taking the Covenant: Whereupon one Benjamin King was Thrust into the Living. After which, Mr. Wright went to London, where he lived in a retired Condition, till about the Year 1648; at which time he removed to the House of Sir George Graham, in Surrey, became Tutor there to the Son of that Honourable Gentleman, and Read the Common-Prayer on all Sundays and Holy Days, and on the Principal Feasts, used to Preach and Administer the Sacraments.

About 1655, he went back again to London, where he was chosen Minister of St. Olave's-Silver street; being allowed to Perform the Duties, and Receive the Profits of that little Parish, without taking a Formal Possession of it, to avoid the Oaths and Obligations of those Times.

During his Continuance there, he Baptized, Buried, and Administred the Sacrament according to the Liturgy of the Church of England; which occasioned him some Trouble. About a Year before the Restoration, he was at last obliged to leave that Parish; being no longer permitted to tarry there, without Submitting to some New Impositions and Engagements that were then Offered. Whereupon he applied himself again to his Private Studies; and in the following Year returned to Okeham, although he was offered to be Chaplain to the Queen of Bohemia; but he refused That, and several Other Preferments afterwards, for the sake of Privacy and Retirement, and died at Okeham, very Aged, in the Year 1690. He was a Person of Open and Profest Affections for Conformity, and no Favourer of Sectaries and their Conventicles. His Life and Conversation was Sober and Reserved. He was very Charitable to Widows and Fatherless Children; and gave Money to Them and Others, amounting to the 20th Part of the True Value of his Living.

See in Wood what he Wrote.

SALOP.

WOOD, FRANCIS, Kimberton, R. He was Sequestred in the Year 1649.

WOOD, RICHARD, 27, V. And Cound, R. ; Shawbu-

I take it to have been the same Mr. Rich. Wood who had both these Livings: Two quare fors ther.

He was Turned out in the Year 1643, Imprisoned in Shrewsbury, and died there soon after; the sooner, it may be, for the Hard Usage, which, in general, I am told, he met with; but I cannot learn any of the Particulars. He was a Learned, and very Charitable Person.

WYNNE, ——, Oswestry, V.

He lived to be Restored; but his Church had been Burnt down in the Rebellion. He was Uncle to the present Lord Bishop of Hereford.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

WEAR, HUMPHRY, Kingston,

His Temporal Estate also was declared Forfeited for Treason, by an Act of Nov. 18, 1650. He is there said to be of Kingston in the County of Somerset: Which I therefore take to have been his Living: And if so, there can be little question made whether he was Sequestred from it, or not, since he was declared a Traytor.

Scob. Coll. Part II. p. 114.

There are several Livings of this Name in this County. See one of them at Yeov. Camp.

only Proof of all this, was what followeth in the Close of his Charge; That he said, That the Land was Governed by wicked Men, &c.

WHITBY, ——, : Earl-Stonham, R.

He was a very Honest Man, and a Diligent Preacher. There is this observable Story of the Person made choice of to Succeed him, which was Transmitted to me by a Gentleman, who Transcribed it from some loose Papers of the most pious Bishop Hall's own writing, as, saith the Gentleman, I have good Reason to believe. 'The 'Parishioners (having power to Choose for themselves) came to one Mr. Clark, a Schoolmaster in 'Ipswich, and Tendered him the Place. He con'descended to them; and coming thither on the 'Saturday Evening, was welcomed by some of the 'Parish; who staying Late with him, were Partakers of his Prayers in his Chamber, where he 'prayed to God, that if his Calling to that Place 'were not Lawful, and according to his Will, he 'would shew some Sign or Token upon him; and 'the same Prayer he renewed the Sunday Morning 'in the Pulpit before his Intended Sermon to the 'Congregation: Which done, he no sooner Read 'the Text, but he was stricken Dumb, and was not 'able to Speak to the People. When he had endeavoured it in Vain about half an Hour, he 'no sooner laid his Hand upon the Pulpit-Door 'to go away, but his Voice came to him, and 'he then told the People, that according to his 'Prayer, God had shewed this Token upon him, in 'their Sight, of his Dislike of his Calling to that 'Place, profess'd that he would not Meddle with 'it any more; Willed them to Receive their own 'Ministers, &c. Neither would he be Entreated by all their Importunity, to Attempt his Work any more.

WHITING, JOHN, : Hintlesham, V.

WICHERLY, DANIEL, B. D. Hemingstone, R.

See Queen's-College in Cambridge.

WITHERS, ——, : Wetheringset cum Brockford, R.

He was also violently Pulled out of his Pulpit by some of the Rascally People of his Parish, who had been daily Fed from his Table. Five or Six of the more substantial Freeholders, who were Instrumental in his Sequestration, came afterwards to nothing. He was a good Divine, much a Gentleman, and a Person of Great Hospitality.

SUSSEX.

WESTON, BRYAN, D. D. *——, : His Temporals were also under Sequestration; for which he Compounded at 35 l. See the Note at Dr. Robert Beely, at the End of the Counties, under the Letter B.

* Somewhere in this County, if I mistake not, but I have it not.

WHITINGTON, ——, : Upwaltam, R.

I am also Informed, that he Suffered much; but know not the Particulars.

WILSHAW, THOMAS, : Rusper, R.

He was Turned out in the Year 1644, and Reduced to such Straits, that he had certainly Perished in his Extremity, had he not been Relieved by one Mr. * Nut, who was afterwards very severely Used for shewing Compassion to him.

* William Nut, long in town born Mr John Nut, the Suffering Prebendary of Chichester, See that Church, and Quarr.

WILSON, JOHN, : Arlington, V.

He happeneth, according to the Order of the Alphabet, to be Rank'd in this Lift the Last of all the Scandalous and Malignant Priests of the Century, though he is the very fifth Person mentioned by Wilson, and placed in the Front of that Pamphlet, for a double Reason, no doubt; viz. in the First Place, to make a Cursory Reader (who just casts an Eye on the Title-Page, and perhaps, One or Two more) believe, that all the Rest of the Sequestred Ministers were Equally Scandalous with Mr. Wilson: And in the next Place, that those who should proceed to Read the whole, might at their Entrance on it, be Pre-possessed with such an Abhorrence and Detestation of the Clergy, as should cast a Mist before their Eyes, and Tincture the Rest of the Stories, which they must, by that means, go over with the Prejudicate Impressions of this Relation. And accordingly, it seems to have had the desired Effect: For as the Established Church hath by Two late Profligates (New Test of the Church of England, &c. Observator Revived, N°. 11.) been Threatened with an Account of the Blasphemies, Sodomies, &c. of her Clergy; so do those Accursed Suggestions seem to be taken almost Verbatim from this single Instance of the Century. Nor can I forbear, on this Occasion, to say, that I believe no Nation, whether Heathen or Christian, since the Foundation of the World, affords an Instance like to That under which the Church of England hath Suffered these late Years: For was there ever any People which Permitted Men of Prostitute Consciences to Hire out themselves (under the Directions and Pensions of some Great Men, more Scandalous even than themselves) to Invent and Publish the most detestable Calumnies, in order to Villifie the very Establishment under which they Lived?

Whether this Mr. Wilson's Character may not for the same Reasons also, have been Painted out in Colours, Blacker'd beyond the Standing and Ordinary rate of Lying, and Forgery, I cannot Determine; but this I will venture to say, that if the one Half of what is there Charged on him be True, the Inflicting of the worst of Deaths upon him (I mean by a Lawful Authority) would have been a most Commendable Action: And indeed, his not being Hanged, instead of Sequestred, is one Inducement to make me think, that the Two worst Accusations mentioned in the Articles against him, were altogether Forgeries. The Particulars as they are Related in the Century, are these: That he had 'Divers times Attempted 'to Commit Buggery with Nathanael Brown, 'Samuel Andrews, and Robert Williams, his Parishioners; and by Perswasions and Violence laboured to draw them to that Abominable Sin, 'that (as he shamed not to Profess) they might turned Poet, as it ſeems, in his Old Age, and publiſhed ſeveral Anagrams, Epigrams, &c. after the Reſtoration; which, Trifling as they are, I ſhould be glad to have a Sight of; becauſe a good Part of them, as I hear, is ſpent on the Biſhops and Clergy, among which probably, he was not unmindful of his Fellow-Sufferers; and therefore, I preſume, they contain the Names of ſeveral of the Sequeſtred Clergy (ſome of which perhaps, I am as yet uninformed of) and a great many Hints and Inuendo's relating to their Troubles.

* make

WHITNEY, JAMES, D. D. Dunhead St. Andrew's, R. worth about 240*l.* a Year.

He had been Fellow of Brazen-noſe-College in Oxford, was Sequeſtred about the Year 1643, or 1644, by the Committee of Saliſbury; after which he was with his Wife, Supported by Charity until the Reſtoration, when he was Re-poſſeſſed of his Living. His Succeſſor on the Sequeſtration, was one Legg, who was the Son of a Butcher, and had been a Scrivitor at Magdalen-College in Oxford. His Name is at this day, and is like to be for a great while, remembred in the Pariſh, by an uſual Saying of Mr. Whitney's (who could act it ſeems make himſelf Merry under his Misfortunes:) for when he was ask'd How he did, he would often ſay, Very well, I thank God, only I am troubled with a bad Legg; and that Legg was very Bad indeed, if all be True, that is ſaid of him: For beſides that he had the Character, of a Turbulent, Haughty, Ill-natured Fellow, and that he refuſed to pay Mr. Whitney the Fifth it is affirmed, that he 'Treated the Old Butcher, his Father, in a Barbarous and 'Inhumane manner; that he was aſhamed to own 'him, and for that Reaſon kept him Confined 'in his Houſe, where the poor Old Man in a Dark 'little Hole, either Hanged himſelf, as the Son 'ſaid; or, as the Neighbours ſay, was Hanged by 'the Son, or his Order. Mr. Whitney, was a Learned, Sober, and Charitable Man.

WILSON, ——, . Biſhops-Stone, V.

In 1654, one John Prous got this Living.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

WARMESTRY, THOMAS, D. D. ——, .

He was a Native of the City of Worceſter, had been Student of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and about the Year 1632, obtained a Living (or Livings) in this County, the Name of which I cannot learn. In 1640, he ſerved the Clergy of this Dioceſs in Convocation; and though he had always before been Accounted a Puritan, and had in a ſet Speech oppoſed the New Canons, the Oath, &c. in the Convocation; yet ſoon after the Breaking out of the Rebellion, he was forced for his Security, to Retire to the King at Oxford, where he was Created D. D. and afterwards Loſt what he had before Obtained in the Church. 'After the King's Cauſe declined, he lived moſtly 'in London, was the Diſtributer of Money (obtained from generous Loyaliſts) to Sufferers for the Royal Intereſt, was chief Conſeſſor to Loyal Malignants, a Conſtant and Indefatigable Viſitor, and Comforter of the Sick and Diſtreſſed Cavaliers (for ſo the Royaliſts were called) very 'Zealous alſo in Converting Infidels, Induſtrious in 'Reclaiming the Looſe, and Eſtablishing the Wa-'vering, Zealous and Careful in Preparing his Au-'ditors for the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and 'for Death. After the King's Return in 1660, he was Reſtored to what he had Loſt, was made Pre-'bendary of Gloucester, and in the Year following 'Dean of Worceſter, where he Died in the Year 1665.

Wood. Ath. Vol. II. p. 230. Lloyd, Mem. p. 604. See Heylin's Hiſt. of Laud, p. 431. Mala in Hiſtoria I. Jack Lamb Wood, in his Ath. Ox. p. 1170. Lloyd ut ſupra. Wood ut ſupra. Pope and Bernard Sir Francis, Grant Arch. of Worceſter, Vol. II. p. 1[illegible]

See more of his Character in the Epitaph recited at large in Wood.

Am. 26th Sept. See his Will in Wood.

WOODFORD, WILLIAM, . Upton upon Severne, .

He was Admitted to this Living, Feb. 9. 1624, and was Succeeded in it after the Sequeſtration (but whether Immediately, or not, I cannot ſay) by Mr. Benjamin Baxter; who Surrender'd it to him again in 1660. Mr. Woodford died in the Year 1664.

See Abridg. p. 349.

YORKSHIRE.

WALKER, ——, . Silkſton, V.

* WHETTERD, GAMALIEL, . Kirkburton, V. worth 100*l.* a Year.

* Or Wheherd.

He was Turned out by the Houſe of Commons about the Beginning of March 1642; at which time one Daniel Clerk was Order'd to Succeed him.

See the Name at Mr. Whitakres, who immediately ſucceeded him.

WHITAKRES, ——, † Kirkburton, V.

† He muſt have ſucceeded this Living after Mr. Wheterd (who immediately Preceded) had been Sequeſtred from it, and ſo makes a Second Sufferer in it. he had any other Title, than ſuch as the Times would allow him: Quere whether Mr. Wheterd was Dead at the time of Mr. Whitakres's Sequeſtration. If not, he is to be deemed as one who was Harraſſed only, rather than Sequeſtred.

His Wife was alſo Murther'd by the Rebels, and Himſelf drag'd over her Dead Body:

† WILKINSON, CALEB, A. M. Carnaby, V.

† But quere further of this Sequeſtration.

WOOD, ——, . Kirkby-Whisk, R: One Seth Elcock got this Living in 1655.

WOODGROVE, ——, . Darrington, V.

He was alſo Plunder'd, 'and Harraſſed from 'Seſſions to Seſſions, for Reading the Common-'Prayer, and in ſteady Adhetion to his Royal Maſter; was carried to Naiſborough-Seſſions, and 'there Sworn againſt by a Neighbour, that he 'heard him ſay in the Church, Almighty God, our 'Heavenly Father, and Our Father, which art in 'Heaven; which, he was ſure, was Common-'Prayer: For which he was Fined, and Imprion-'ed till the Payment.

WRIGHT, ——, . Eccleſfield, V. worth 120*l.* a Year.

Abridg. p. 410.

He lived to be Reſtored.

WALES.

Digitized by Google

WILLIAMS, WALTER, ; Neath-Town, V.

These last Three were all Turned out some time before the Year 1649.

WILLIAMS, HENRY, ; Flemingston, .

He had no Fifths paid him, and so was reduced to very great Hardships; Living up and down, as occasion served, among the Royalists, to whom he was very acceptable, as well for his Loyalty, as his Wit and Conversation. He Out-lived the Usurpation some Years, and was Restored to his Rectory. His Successor on the Sequestration, was one Rees David Markwell.

WILLIAMS, JENKIN, . Lancarvan, V.

He was Sequestred some time before the Year 1649, and put into the Hands of one Hugh Jones, the greatest Tyrant in all these Parts; who Ruled with an absolute Sway over all the Loyalists which Lived within his Reach: For he would drive away whole Herds of their Cattle, and Exercise what Barbarity and Oppression he pleased, over them. Mr. Williams Suffered under him in a more particular Manner, was sufficiently Persecuted, and Compelled to take up with six or seven Pounds per Annum (which was called Fifths, although the Living was worth about 80 l. a Year) or be without any Allowance at all; and even that was with-held from him for five Years before the Restoration. In the mean time his Church was shut up, and the Parish had Sermons but very seldom. Mr. Williams Lived to see the Return of his Majesty, and had afterwards two other Livings bestowed upon him.

Make these Places to be Annexed.

WILSON, JOHN, ; Portkerry and Barry, R.

He was Turned out by the Propagators, for Scandal and Delinquency.

MONTGOMERY.

WILLIAMS, EDWARD, ; Llanbrinmair, V.

He was Totally out for Three Years; and then Recovering his Living, continued in it, but with much Difficulty.

WILLIAMS, JOHN, ; Llandissil, ; This Living is in this County (if I mistake not) where I also find a Rectory and a Vicaridge of this Name: Which of them this may be, quere.

WINNE, RICE, ; Castle-Creynion, R. He was Turned out in 1650. One Thomas Jones got this Living in 1654.

———, ———, . . . } Townships.
Woolfannire, ...
Rowston, ...
And Rosegough . . . . .

All these were Sequestred, if I mistake not, from the same Person.

PEMBROKE.

———; ———; ; Whitchurch, V. See the Note at Abergwyley, under the Letter A.

WHITE, NICH. ; St. Issel, V. The Propagators Turned him out for Insufficiency.

WILLIAMS, DAVID, ; Amblefton, V.

He was Turned out for Drunkenness, by the Propagators.

WILLIAMS, HENRY, ; Carew, V. And Castlebright, ... } But Quere whether these be Distinct Places. If Castlebright be the same with Castlebigh, mention'd I find in this County, then 'tis plain, they are Distinct.

He was Turned out by the same Commissioners, and for the self-same Crime.

WILLIAMS, HENRY, ; Llandilliart, .

Quere whether he was the same Person with the Preceding.

WILLIAMS, HOWEL, ; Llandrich, V.

He was Sequestred for Drunkenness, by the Propagators.

WILLIAMS, PHIL. ; Robeston, R. Unless there are Two Livings of this Name in this County, there must have been Two Persons who Suffered on it respectively. See Dr. Evan Owen in this County.

The Propagators Dispatched him likewise, for Malignancy. I have seen an Original Letter of this Gentleman's, by which it appears, that he had been Twice Imprisoned (once in the Ships;) That he had paid 400 l. and that his Parsonage-House had not only been Demolished, but even the very Stones of it had been cast away.

WILLIAMS, RICHARD, . Treffgar*, R. If I read it right.*

He was Turned out for Insufficiency, by the Propagators.

RADNOR.

WALTER, PHINEES, ; Whitton, R. Or Walter.

He was Sequestred in the Year 1650.

WALDROND, AMOS, ; ———, .

He had been Scholar of Trinity-College in Cambridge, and afterwards obtained a Rectory somewhere; but I cannot Learn the Name of it; nor so much as the County in which it Lay. How-

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p.

AN APPENDIX:

Containing an Account of

Some few of the School-Maſters, Lecturers, Curates, &c. who were Turned out:

And of OTHERS of them; Who with

Some of the RECTORS and VICARS, were Brought into Trouble, Harraſſed, and Ill uſed, tho' not Wholly Diſpoſſeſs'd, in the ſame Times of REBELLION and CONFUSION.

John 6, 12. Gather up the Fragments that remain, that nothing be loſt.

A.

Perſec. Und. p. 42. ANTHONY, ——, Curate at St. James-Garlick-Hith in London.

ATMES, JOHN, . Curate of Lovis in Kent.

He was Turned out by the Houſe of Commons, Apr. 18, 1643.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 706. AYRY, CHRISTOPHER, B. D. He ſeems to have been a Sufferer in ſome kind or other; becauſe he was Created B. D. at Oxford in 1642, among a great many other Loyal Sufferers: Although Wood in accounting for him Ibid. p. 141. among the Writers, is wholly Silent as to any thing of that Matter: And in his Epitaph I find this Clauſe, Difficiliimo Seculo inter Æſtuantes rerum Fluctus, clavum rectum tenuit. Which, it muſt be, was Trimming, and Complying: And Quere ſee-ther. for theſe Reaſons I have Omitted him in the Parochial Liſt, and Place him here. He was Born in Weſtmerland, Became Fellow of Queen's-College in Oxford, at length Vicar of Milford in Hampſhire, and Died in 1670. See his Character and Writings in Wood.

B.

BARTHOLOMEW, WILL: He was the Vicar of Campden in Glouceſter-ſhe. The Gentleman who Immediately ſucceeded him in 1660, ſaith, that 'he was not Turned out of 'his Living; but miſerably Harraſſed, Articled a-'gainſt by Factious People, to his great Trouble; 'and, as I have been Informed, to the Expence of 'two Hundred Pounds. One thing was very re-'markable; not one of thoſe his Enemies, as I 'have heard, but had ſome Signal Misfortune, 'or came to an Untimely End. The ſame Gen-'tleman adds, 'I well remember, of Ten Lectu-'rers at Campden, Eight of them were in Sequeſtred Livings: Which ſufficiently ſhews, what ſort of People the Godly and Orthodox Lecturers were in thoſe Times. And it is no leſs Obſervable, that not one of all theſe Eight Livings in which they Succeeded, was of leſs Value than 140*l.* a Year, and One of them 550*l.*

BAR-

CARTER, ——, . He was Master of the School at Highgate, and Reader at the Chapel there; and was Turned out of his House whilſt his Wife was in Labour; inſomuch that ſhe was Delivered of a Child (for I cannot well ſay ſhe was Brought to Bed) in the Chapel-Porch.

CHALLIS, ——, . He was Miniſter of Teingrace in Devon; and though not Formally Sequeſtred, yet he met with a great deal of Diſturbance and Trouble there. The Living is a very ſmall one, which Contributed not a little, as I make no queſtion, towards his keeping it during the Rebellion; but I have heard, that he purpoſely let the Houſe go to Ruin, in order to diſcourage any one from ſeeking for, and accepting of it. I could with that Stratagem had been altogether as Innocent, as another, which I am told he made uſe of, to preſerve himſelf in his Living, which was this: He had not a few Children of his own; and underſtanding that ſome of the Sequeſtrators, or their Agents, were coming to his Houſe, he got ſeveral of his Neighbours Children likewiſe into his Kitchin; all theſe together made up a conſiderable Number: And the Fellows imagining that all of them were Mr. Challis's Children, had at that time a Qualm of Compaſſion, not very common in thoſe days, and were unwilling to ſend ſo many poor Innocent Creatures a Starving.

CLARK, EDMOND, . A. M. He was the Curate of Buckhorn-Weſton in Dorſetſhire, Impriſoned a whole Year in London, and, as I believe, Turned out of his Curacy.

CLARK, ROGER, A. M. He was Rector of Tother in Dorſetſhire; which being worth but 40 l. a Year, he was not Sequeſtred from it, notwithſtanding he always uſed the Common-Prayer; but he was once moſt Barbarouſly Treated by the Party. The Account of which I have Received in theſe Words: 'In the time of Penruddock's 'Riſing, Mr. Dewes of Blockford in the County of 'Dorſet, and one —— Baker, came about his 'Houſe, about Midnight, with a Company of Foot, 'and a Troop of Horſe, in Order to take Hen- 'cock Clark his Son; upon the Notice of which, 'Hancock Leapt out of a Back-Window into the 'midſt of the Horſe in the Orchard, with his 'Drawers, Shirt, and one Stocking on; and be- 'ing Set upon, he with an Iron-Pin of an Axle, 'gave Dewey a very dangerous Blow, and the reſt 'being in the Dark, were ſtruck off their Horſes 'by a Limb of an Apple-Tree: Hancock Eſcaped 'to one Mr. Nicholas, Rector of Stanwell in Sa- 'merſetſhire. Then the Doors being opened, they 'took the ſaid Roger Clark the Father, and Bound 'him Neck and Heels, as the Age of Seventy, till 'the Blood came forth of his Eyes, and carried him 'immediately afterwards to Sturminſter-Newton- 'Caſtle in Dorſet; and not Confeſſing any thing 'of his Son's Deſign, they Burnt his Fingers 'with Matches, of which Torture he was about 'Half a Year in Recovering; and kept him in 'Priſon for a Month, or more. Mr. Roger Clark, one of the Suffering Prebendaries of Salisbury, was another of his Sons.

* Whom See in that County. His Servant was alſo Murthered at the ſame time.

CLARK, WILLIAM, . He was Son to Mr. * Tho. Clark the Sequeſtred Rector of Haſtlebury-Brian in Dorſetſhire; and Murthered ſomewhere upon the Road betwixt Haſtlebury and Weymouth, by a Party of the Rebels Army.

CLEMENT, PAUL, . He was Rector of Cliffeton, and had likewiſe the Living of Lower-Compton, both in Dorſetſhire. He was very much Harraſſed for his Loyalty, both at the Aſſizes, and before ſome Commiſſioners of thoſe Times; and to much Wearied and Exhauſted with continual Proſecutions, and Vexations, that he was juſt going to Remove himſelf, and his Family into Norfolk, when the Dawnings of the Reſtoration began to Appear; which put a ſtop to his Reſolutions, and at length to his Troubles. He was once Actually ſerved with a Warrant for his Eſtabliſhment; but being a bold Man, and threatening to uſe the Fellow, who brought it according to his Deſert, the Execution of it was prevented. He had once the Courage likewiſe to tell Mr. Ben (who had provoked him by ſome reproachful Language) when in the Chair of one of thoſe Gaulds's, before which he was brought, that if all his Sins in the Univerſity, had been written in his Forehead, he would appear more fit for another Place than that, which he then filled; which Saying of his, Mr. Ben's own Conſcience Commented upon in ſuch a manner, that it put both Himſelf and his Brethren into very great Confuſion.

He was afterwards Rector of Cliffeton, though in Yorkſhire, and had the Sine-Cure at Yeoville in that County, and Died not many Years ſince.

†COLEBY, DANIEL, . He was Curate (and probably Related) to Dr. Coleby, at one of his Livings in Norfolk (where She that Doctor) and was Turned out of his Curacy. He had at that time a Wife and Four Children.

† In ſome Papers I have ſeen Coleby: but certainly that muſt be a Miſtake.

COREN, JOHN, . He was Miniſter of Southmolton in Devon, and School-Maſter there. He Removed from thence to the Rectory of Weſtford-Pyne in the ſame County; but in Both theſe Places met with Diſturbance and Trouble for his Loyalty. Once, more particularly, he was had before the Tyrers, and Pleaſantly ſaid, when he came from them, that he had Anſwered their Queſtions; but They could not Anſwer his. He Survived the Reſtoration, and died at the Rectory laſt mentioned.

COSTER, JOHN, . He was Rector of Bruſhford in Somerſetſhire; had been Educated in the Univerſity of Oxford; was Three ſeveral times had before the Commiſſioners; and though Preſerved from a Formal Sequeſtration by the Intereſt of ſome of the Sydnhams, yet he was ſometimes forced to Abſcond; and Once particularly, lay in a Furſe-Brake ſeveral Days and Nights, a Reward being Promiſed to any that ſhould Diſcover and Apprehend him. At another time he was like to have been Murther'd by Two Dragoons, who Beat him Unmercifully, and after he had got from them, threw down his Wife, Trampled upon her; and one of them Kicking her in the Breaſt with his Spur, gave her ſuch a Mark, as ſhe carried to her Grave. Mr. Coſter was at length Forced to Fly into Wales for his Security; but ſtill, if I miſtake not, found out ſome means or other to Preſerve the Profits of his Living.

CRAIG, JOHN, . He was Removed from his Miniſtry and School in Monmouthſhire, ſomewhere in the Hundred of Bergevenny. He lived to be Reſtored, and was an eminent Scholar and Divine.

CREECH,

tee; acknowleging that he had saved him from Ruin. It was also Pleaded in his behalf, that he was a Man of a moſt unexceptionable Life: Whereupon the Door-Keeper cried out, Let this Man go, and let all go. I preſume, he was likewiſe a Man of conſiderable Learning; becauſe he was Appointed to Preach before Prince Maurice at Dartmouth, whilſt that Prince lay there. He died in 1659, and was in the following Year Succeeded by his Son Edmund, who afterwards Loſt the Living for refuſing the Oaths to King William and Queen Mary.

F.

If I conſider aright, he was then a Schoolmaſter in the Time of his Troubles.

FARNABIE, THOMAS, A. M. The Noted School-Maſter.

He was as I find, Ordered into the Cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms, by the Houſe of Commons, July 25, 1643; and being Apprehended, was the 28th of the ſame Month Committed cloſe Priſoner to Newgate for the Riſing in Kent. Wood adds, that having been from thence removed on Shipboard, it being then urged in the Houſe of Commons, whether they ſhould be ſent to America (further) by ſome of his good Neighbours in Kent; Nay, and by ſome that had been his Scholars, as I have heard, who Sate in the Two Houſes) but at length it being Rejected, he was removed to Ely-Houſe in Holbourn, where he Remained for about a Year before his Death, which happened in 1647.

Ath. Vol. II. P. 14. Where See more of him at large.

——, ——, . He was Curate of Farnham in Surrey. The Parliament Ordered him into Cuſtody, for Oppoſing a New Lecture, that had been Set up there, to be held on the Market-day.

FEREBEE, JOHN, . He was Rector of Woodcheſter in Glouceſterſhire; and as he was one day at the Font, a Party of Colonel Maſſey's Soldiers came in with drawn Swords, pulled off his Surplice (which one of them putting on, Wore in his way back) Tore the Common-Prayer Book, Stript him of all his Cloaths, except a Pair of Drawers, and Drove him (with many others) Bare-footed and Bare-Legged, thro' Thick and Thin, in Cold, Wet and Dirty Ways, and Weather, Priſoners into Glouceſter; where they were kept for many Days in a Damp, Low Room, under the College-School, without Fire. Three Daughters of one Mr. Portlock of Cirencester, hearing of his Miſery, made up a Sum of Money to Ranſome him, which they ſent by one J. Greenway, a Parliament Soldier (and a Kinſman to them) who had the Conſcience to keep every Farthing of it himſelf. This Greenway, was a poor Butcher; but by Plundering had gotten a conſiderable Eſtate, which after Wafted almoſt as Faſt as he had Got it; and his Children wanted before they Died. Mr. Ferebee was not Sequeſtred.

FITZ-GEOFFRY, ——, . He was Son to Charles Fitz-Geoffry, Rector of St. Dominick in Cornwall (mentioned by Wood, Ath. Vol. I. p. 516) and a Sufferer in ſome Kind or other, by thoſe Times, as I have been Informed. Quære if he was not Sequeſtred from a Living. After the Reſtoration, he became Miniſter of Tamerton in Devon, where he died.

FLAVIN, ——, . There was a Gentleman of this Name, who was for ſome time Curate of St. Sidwell's in Exon, and was Turned out from thence. I believe, he came to the Place ſome time in the Confuſions, and was not Regularly Nominated to it.

FLINT, ——, . He was Curate of Harrawden (in Northamptonſhire, if I do not miſtake the County.) His Head was Cleft down to his Eyes with a Poll-Axe, by one Capt. Francis Sawyer, at Wellingborough in the ſame County, without any manner of Provocation given him by Mr. Flint. This was done in Dec. 1642. Merc. Ruſtic. P. 169

G.

GARNET, WILLIAM, A. M. He was Vicar of Dunſford near Exeter; and after the Surrender of that City to the Parliament, was Plundered, Beat, and highly Abuſed by the Soldiers: Which, together with the Declining of the King's Cauſe, ſoon after Broke his Heart, viz. about the latter End of Febr. 1646.

GAUDEN, JOHN, D. D. afterwards Biſhop of Exeter.

He is by Lloyd ranked among the Loyal Sufferers: But as Lloyd himſelf, according to Cuſtom, gives not one Particular of his Sufferings; ſo neither do I find any thing of it in Wood, or elſewhere; and therefore quære. Mem. p. 602

GILBEY, ——, . He had the Chapelry of Holcome in Lancaſhire, the Tithes of which were Sequeſtred from him by the Second Claſſis of that County.

GLISTON, ——, . He was Rector of Mawnhull in Doſſetſhire. I have ſeen the Copy of an Order from the Committee of Lords (for Seizing the Fifth and Twentieth Part of Mens Eſtates) directed to this Gentleman, and requiring him to bring into Dorcheſter 150 l. Quære whether that Money was demanded for his Benefice, or for a Temporal Eſtate.

GOCH, BARNABAS, . He was Curate of Woodbury in Devon; was Harraſſed, and Impriſoned in Exeter, and Died about 1646.

GOODWYN, ——, . He was a Curate ſomewhere; and had Preſented a Petition (on what Occaſion doth not appear) to the Houſe of Commons; but not meeting, as it ſeems, with an Anſwer to it, he gave uncivil Words to divers Members of the Houſe: And afterwards Preſenting a Second Petition, it was Reſolved, That the Petitioner had no Cauſe of Complaint, but deſerved Puniſhment for his Scandalous Petition. Whether they proceeded to Inflict any, or what elſe he might ſuffer, quære. Wilſ. Mem.

GOULD-

HATCH, ——, : There was a Clergyman of this Name ſent for into Cuſtody by the Houſe of Commons; Quere whether he were the ſame Perſon with him already mentioned in the County of Cornwall.

HILL, ——, : He was Curate of Burgrove in Suſſex, Turned out, and Suffered much; but I know not the Particulars.

HILL, THOMAS, : He was Turned out from the Curacy of St. Thomas in Salisbury. See one of both theſe Names at Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and quare. One Thomas Hill alſo, became Prebendary of Bytton in the Church of Saliſbury, Jan. 23, 1663, on the Death of Anthony Hawles; Died himſelf before December 15, 1671, and was then Succeeded by Richard Watſon. It ſeems not Improbable that he might be the ſame Perſon with this Sufferer.

HINSON, ——, : He was Curate of All-Saints in Hafting, in Suſſex; was in July 1643, Seized by ſome Perſons, who had firſt been forced by the Jurors of the Town, to take a General Oath to do what they would have them. Their Authority they derived from a Warrant, under the Hand of a Rebel-Colonel, one Morley; And hereupon, Mr. Hinſon was firſt kept a Priſoner one or two Nights in the Town-Hall, thence Removed to the Common-Jayl, in a loathſome Room, where there was but one ſhort Bench, and a Timber for his Companion; Who, being a Surly Fellow, kept the Bench wholly to himſelf. Here Mr. Hinſon lay three Weeks on the bare Floor, whereon alſo he was forced to do the Neceſſaries of Nature; but, by great Difficulty, he was at laſt ſo much Favoured, as to be ſent Priſoner to London, and was there kept under the Cuſtody of a Meſſenger; from whom, after ſome time, he made his Eſcape to Oxon. The Crime mentioned againſt him, was the Reading his Majeſty's Declaration. Four of thoſe drawn into the Oath above-mentioned, afterwards confeſſed it to Mr. Hinſon.

Mere. Ruſh. P. 141. Oct.

HOBBES, ——, : He was in Deacon's Orders, and ſo muſt have a Place in this Liſt; Although he was no other than Pariſh-Clerk of Plymouth: And having one Day Buried a Corpſe by the Common-Prayer, he was Threatned, that if he came again with his Maſs-Book, to Bury any body, he ſhould be thrown into the ſame Grave: Which worked ſo much upon his Spirits, that partly with Fear, and partly with Grief, he Died ſoon after.

HODGES, ——, : He was Rector of Hiſhom in Northamptonſhire, and Impriſoned by Colonel Okey, for Preaching againſt the King's Murther. He is mentioned in the Abridgement; But belongs not to that Liſt, as I ſhall have occaſion to ſay hereafter.

P. 111.

HOOLE, CHARLES, A. M. He was the Noted School-Maſter of this Name, and as Noted a Royaliſt; For which he Suffered in the Beginning of the Wars. He died March the 7th, 1665. I think, he kept a School in London, when his Sufferings Began.

See Athen. Oxon. Wood, Athen. Oxon. Vol. II. p. 372.

HUET, JOHN, D.D. He was Beheaded on Tower-Hill: But ſince moſt of the Hiſtorians of thoſe times, give an Account of his Sufferings, I ſhall ſay no more of him in this Place.

See Athen. Oxon. Wood, Athen. Oxon. Vol. II. p. 372. and Biog. Brit. Vol. III. p. 1830.

HUGHES, LEWIS, A.M. He had the Rectory of Shipperton in Middleſex; Was Impriſoned, as I find, for Words againſt the Parliament, and it may be, was afterwards Sequeſtred; But quære.

Hewas Preſented to this Living Dec. 14. 1638. and died, as I judge, under the Usurpation, ſome time at leaſt, before July 30, 1660. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Vol. I p. 714.

HUGHES, THOMAS, : He was Curate of Aſton-Eyre in Shropſhire, and Turned out from thence.

HURST, ——, B. D. He was Miniſter of Halling in Glouceſterſhire; Had been Fellow of New-College in Oxford, and was Accuſed before the Committee, for Inſufficiency, by ſome of his Pariſhioners. Being Examined as to his Abilities, he firſt Anſwered in the Words of St. Paul, ωφε τοῖσι εἰς ἐμοὶ ἐμοὶ; and afterwards drawing out a Horn-Book, declar'd, that he would Admit all thoſe of his Accuſers as Competent Judges of his Inſufficiency, who could but Read that Book; which, it ſeems, none of them could, and ſo Mr. Hurſt Eſcaped, for that time at leaſt; But quære, whether he was not afterwards Sequeſtred. He was betwixt 70 and 80 Years of Age when he was thus carried before the Committee of Glouceſter, whither he Trudged fifteen Miles on Foot, in Order to his Examination; And lived till he was near an Hundred: Which is all that I know of him.

HUTTON, ——, : He was Curate of St. Gyles's Cripplegate; was Aſſaulted in the Church, and Impriſoned by the Houſe of Commons, July the 13th, 1642, for Reading the King's Declaration.

Perſec. Undec. p. 41.

I.

JACKSON, HENRY, B. D. He was Rector of Merſey-Hampton in Glouceſterſhire, and a very Learned Man. He had his Houſe Rifled by the Soldiers in 1642; and ſome Curious and Learned Collections which he had made, were ſo Scatter'd and Diſpers'd at that time, that they could never be Recover'd. Nor was this all that he Suffer'd: For on a Falſe Petition of the Inhabitants, the Village of Marſton-Merſey, belonging to his Rectory, was in the Year 1648, Erected into a Diſtinct Pariſh; whereby Mr. Jackſon was deprived of the Whole Profits of it, as Corpus Chriſti College in Oxford was of their undoubted Right of Patronage.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 116. where ſee more at large.

JEFFRY, EDWARD, : He was Vicar of Southminſter, and was brought before the Houſe of Commons for Words againſt the Parliaments.

In which County. I know not.

——, ——, : He was the School-Maſter at Uminſter in Somerſetſhire; and, as I have been aſſured, was Turned out in thoſe Times of Rebellion and Confuſion.

K. KAY,

Rest of his Brethren. See the Account of him at large in Wood; who is however, wholly Silent as to any thing of his Sufferings; but, saith when the War brake out, he Sided with the Presbyterians.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 26.

NORRIS, WILLIAM, : He had the Vicaridge of Bramford-Speak in the County of Devon; where he Read the Common-Prayer; and therefore 'tis not to be wondered at, That it was with much Trouble and Difficulty, that he was Allowed to keep it; which however, he did by the Intereſt of Hugh Peters, who had been his Servitor in the University. He died before the Reſtoration.

I have been Informed by his Grandſon, that he was once Plundered by the Rebels, and by That and Other means Loſt to the value of ſeveral Hundred Pounds

M.

MORGAN, EYNON, : He was Curate of Lamſon in Pembrokeſhire; and Turned out by the Propagators, for Drunkenneſs.

MORRIS, JOHN, : He was Rector of Combe-Martin in Devon; never Totally Deprived indeed, but miſerably Harraſſed, and Impriſoned in the Ships; from whence he Purchaſed his Releaſe with a Round Sum of Money, which his poor Wife was forced to Borrow. He died in 1659, and was, as I have been Informed, a very good Man.

* If I miſtake not. Wood. Ant. L. L. p. 304, 307. See ſomewhat more of him. Ath. Vol. I. p. 727.

MORRIS, *JOHN, D.D. He was one of the Canons of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, Profeſſor of the Hebrew Tongue in that Univerſity, and Harraſſed by being brought before the Committees, &c. in the Beginning of the Viſitation: But Death put an End to his Further Suffering.

Perſec. Undec. p. 42.

MOSS, ——— : He was Turned out of the Curacy of St. Martin's-Ongars in London.

——— : ——— : Mynthiſtloyn, in Monmouthſhire.

I find this Place in the Hands of the Welch Sequeſtrators. The Tythes are Appropriated, and belong to the Biſhop of Landaffe (but were then out upon Leaſe) and the Place is Served by Curates; who are generally Readers only. And of this Sort therefore muſt this Curate have been; who was, I preſume, Turned out, when the Revagers ſeized upon the Living. Quere. The Bells of this Pariſh were alſo Sold in thoſe Times.

N.

Although I cite This Subject to Anſwers an Older Enquiry in this Dr. Nalſon; whom Some Somewhat confound, in their Cath. Tr. II. p. 645.

NALSON, ——— : I find him Impriſoned in the Gate-Houſe; but it doth not Appear what his Crime was. He is called Dr. Nalſon; and if he was the ſame Perſon with the Late Prebendary of Ely; he was L. L. D. Quare. Perhaps he might be alſo Sequeſtred from ſome Living, but That I muſt alſo leave as a matter of further Inquiry.

O.

OSBOURN, AUGUSTINE, : He was Vicar of Culmeſtock in Devon; and met with ſome Diſturbance from the Men of the Times. I cannot learn the Particulars of it, nor any thing elſe of him, but that he died during the Wars.

OXLEY, AMOR, : He had the Free-School at New-Caſtle upon Tine, which was worth 100*l.* a Year. He was both Sequeſtred and Plundered.

P.

PAGE, WILLIAM, D.D. He was Born at Harrow on the Hill in Middleſex, became Fellow of All-Soul's-College in Oxford; and by the Favour of Dr. Laud, then Biſhop of London, had the * Rectory of the Free-School at Reading conferred upon him; from which he was Sequeſtred by the Committee of Parliament in 1644; but was Allowed to keep the Rectory of Eaſt-Locking in this ſame County; to which he had been Preſented by the Society of his Own College. He died in the latter End of the Year 1663; and was Eſteemed well Verſed in the Greek Fathers, a good Preacher and Diſputant; and appears by his * Writings, to have been a Zealous Advocate for the Eſtabliſhed Church.

Wood Ath. Vol. II. p. 222.

* I muſt own my ſelf Ignorant of the Nature of this Preferment. If there be an Eccleſiaſtical Cure belongs to it, it ought to be removed into the Parochial Church.

* The Account of which See in Wood.

PARSONS, WILLIAM, L. L. B. He had the little Rectory of Birchanger in Eſſex; he had been of New-College in Oxford, Sub-Warden there, was a great Sufferer by the Presbyterians, and kept in Jayl at Cambridge Nineteen Weeks, for his Loyalty to King Charles I. during the Rebellion. He afterwards retired to his Living, uſually Read the Common-Prayer there, was after the Reſtoration Created D. D. made Prebendary of Cloſchefter, Rector of Lambourn, and Great Dunmow in Eſſex, and Died at the laſt mentioned Place in the Year 1671.

Wood Ath. Vol. II. p. 1018.

PAWLING, RICHARD, : He was Rector of Wallingford in Berks; And ſent for into Cuſtody, as a Delinquent, by the Houſe of Commons, for ſome Words againſt the Parliament. Quere if he were not afterwards Sequeſtred.

PAYNE,

Digitized by Google

or whether he had any, or if he had, whether he were not afterwards Sequestred, I know not: Quare.

R.

RANDAL, ALEXANDER, . He Lived at Shepton-Montague in *Somerset*shire, (though he was not Minister of that Place,) * being forced to fly in the time of the Wars. Coming Home in the Night, in the Winter-time, a little before the King's Murther, the House was Beset by the Rebel-Soldiers, as soon almoft as he was Enter'd; and the Maid-Servant opened the Back-Door, while he was Escaping out of the Fore-Door, and the Soldiers Entring, Shot him in the Dusk-Light, and he Fell Dead, over the Threshold of the Fore-Door; and then they Drew him in, and threw him before his Wife, saying to her, there is the Old Rogue, and thou shalt be served the same, if thou dost not give us the Keys, and so carried away All, Linen and Plate, and all that was Valuable: And the Wench that opened the Door, Fled, and was never seen there more; and was suspected therefore to have Betrayed her Master. These are the Words of his own Niece.

* To what pafsity he had been Sequeftred from a Living immediately before or after. Quere.

ROBERTS, ——, . He was Curate of Alhallows-Barking in London; Turned out, and Imprisoned, for Delinquency, by the House of Commons in 1642.

ROSS, JOHN, A. M. He was Rector of Ogathorp in Lincolnshire; and by the Interest of some Friends, saved from a Formal Sequestration; but was however, Miserably Harrassed for many Years, sometimes Imprisoned, (perhaps only to be Exchanged for a Parliament-Officer) and oftentimes forced to Abscond; so that his Condition was much the same, as if he had been utterly Dispossest. He was a Man of good Life and Learning.

ROTHWELL, ——, . He was Curate to Mr. Travis, the Sequestred Rector of Bury, in Lancashire; and himself Abused, Plundered, and Turned out.

RUSSEL, ——, . He was Rector of St. Erwan in Cornwall, a Person well Esteemed; and though not Sequestred, yet it was with Trouble and much Difficulty, that he made a shift to keep his Living, till his Death, which happened about 1650.

S.

SHUGBOROUGH, ——, . He was Minister of Chawley in Devon; and Ill Used, tho' never indeed Sequestred.

SIMPSON, ——, . He was Turned out of the Lecture at Aldgate in London, by the House of Commons, in 1643. There is a Clergyman of this Name mentioned by Westlock, who had been Silenced, for Disagreeing in Opinion with the Assembly, in some Points, but was afterwards Restored to his Liberty. Quare, whether he were the same Person with this Sufferer. Memoirs, P. 210.

SKARGIL, ——, . He was Curate to Dr. Hakin at St. Aiplage, London; and by the House of Commons, February 22, 1643, Voted unfit to hold that Curacy.

SMITH, ——, . He was Vicar of St. James's Dezpng, in Lincoln; and was by the House of Commons, June 23, 1643, Imprisoned in the Gate-House. Quare, whether he were not afterwards Sequestred.

SMITH, ——, . He was Curate to Dr. Dukefon at St. Clement-Danes, as I suppose; and Ordered into Custody by the House of Commons, for Reading his Majesty's Declaration.

STRATFORD, ——, . After the Sequestration of Mr. Sydall from the Vicaridge of Kensworth in Hertfordshire, Mr. Stratford Officiated in that Cure; but by what Authority, I do not find: This in the mean time, is certain, that he was a Loyalist, and by Ill Treatment forced to leave the Place.

STUBBINGS, JOHN, D. D. He was Vicar of Amersden in Oxfordshire; and from a Senior Studentship of Christ-Church, had accepted that poor Vicaridge, for the sake of doing Good upon it; and Built a noble House upon it, for a Manse to the Vicar, at above 800*l.* Expence, in the Year 1638; and kept a very Hospitable Table in it, till about the beginning of the War, he was taken out of his own House there, by a Party of the Parliament Soldiers, and carried away to * Gloucester, and kept there a Close Prisoner, till Exchanged for a Rebel in the Garrison of Oxford. When he came back to Amersden, he often Suffered for a Malignant, and the Phanatical People, would pay him no Tythes; nay, the Inhabitants of Pidington, who were Bound by Composition, to pay the Vicar of Amersden one Quarter of the best Wheat Yearly, Detained it from him for some Years; till at last he Invited them to a plentiful Dinner of Meat, and set no Bread at Table; and told them, he could not make Bread without Corn; and to by that pleasant Reproof, he got them to promise that they would never fail, for the time to come, to bring his Quarter of Wheat on Simon and Jude's Day, as it still continued. But the poor Doctor was so Persecuted and Impoverished, that he was forced for an Annuity for Life, to sell his Estate, which he had Otherwise designed to settle after his Death, for an Augmentation to the small Vicaridge for ever. He lies Buried in the Chancel of that Church, with a large Ground-Stone over him, upon which the Reverend † Dr. White Kennet (now Dean of Peterborough) who for some time had that Vicaridge, Ordered a Latin Inscription to be Engraved.

* Being Lieutenant to Sir Thomas Wyde of Bedfordshire, and Built Brasen on Record to that Place. Bull, p. 133.

† To whom I am obliged for this Relation, but for a great many others which he was pleased to Collect for me in his Arch-discovery of Brittingeon: For which I return him these Publick Thanks and Acknowledgments.

STUCKEY, ——, . He had the Curacy of St. Sidwell's in Exon, during some Part of the Confusions: How he got Possession of it, I know not; but am sure that He was Turned out of it, of the Parishioners, which was the common Pretence in those Times, he was permitted to Officiate in the Cure, so long as the Tydesman might Receive the Profits. One of his Daughters Married a Taylor, another of them Married a Day-Labourer. At the Restoration, he had the Living of Ashcomb in this County, bestowed upon him, where he Died in a very poor Condition, some few Years After.

T.

* If I Miss take not.

WEBBER, *JOHN, . He was Rector of Bradwood-Kelly in the same County; Brought into Trouble, and Harrassed, but not Sequestred.

WELCHIER, ——, . He was brought before the House of Commons, for a Scandalous, that is, to be sure, a Loyal Sermon, Quære what his Preferment was, and whether he was afterwards Sequestred.

Whitl. Mem. p. 168.

Persec. Und. p 41.

WELD, ——, . He was Curate at St. Michael's Cornhill in London; Assaulted, and Beaten, in the Church, and Turned out.

WELSMAN, ——, He had the Vicaridge of Atisbiere in Devon; and was Harrassed by the Commissioners, of those Times. He would often Drink to Excess; but the Living being Small, he was not Turned out; although Innocence it self, was not Sufficient to Protect those, who had better Places.

Ath. Vol. II. p. 824.

WEST, RICHARD, A. M. Wood faith, that he Suffered for the Royal Cause. He had been Student of Christ-Church in Oxford. In 1660, he was Created D. D. at that University, much about the same time, he became Rector of Shillingston in Dorsetshire, and afterwards Prebendary of Wells. He hath an Assize-Sermon Extant.

WEYBOROUGH, ——, . He was Minister of Stoke in Worcestershire; and had like to have been Murther'd by one of the Parliament * Officers, who befet the Church with a Party of Horse, came himself into it, and Fired his Pistol at Mr. Weybourgh, as he was Reading the Service.

* I have been told such a thing was done somewhere in this County by one Somers, a little Attorney, who was in the Service of the Parliament. I presume 'tis the same Action here mentioned, and that Somers was the Officer, Quære.

WHITBY, OLIVER, A. M. He was Curate to Dr. King the Suffering Bishop of Chichester, at the Rich Living of Petworth in Suffex; and being a Loyalist, 'was often in danger of his Life, by the Fanaticks; one of which, Shot at him with a Pistol, while he was Preaching in Petworth-Pulpit, but missed him; upon which, to avoid further Danger, he Escaped to a Poor House nigh Petworth, and lived there six Months Privately; but being Discovered by the Rebels, he was forced to take his Lodging several Days in a Hollow Tree, which the † Old-woman had shewed him, and there Fed by her a long Time, on a Pretence of her going to gather Wood. He lived in great Want till the Restoration, and was then Preferred in Chichester-Church. I take him to be the Person mentioned by Wood (Ath. Vol. I. p. 837) who was a Bedfordshire Man Born, had been Educated at Trinity-College in Oxford, was a great Admirer of Mr. Chillingworth, and made the Epitaph, which is Engraved upon the Tomb of that meek Extraordinary Person,

† Of the poor House, suppose, where he had Almes.

Wood, Ant. L. 2. p. 257.

WHITE, WILLIAM, A. M. He was Master of the Free-School near Magdalen-College in Oxford; and Turned out of it in the Year 1648, but permitted afterwards to Enjoy the little Rectory of Pensey in Berks.

See more of him in Ath. Vol. II. p. 429.

WIDOWS, THOMAS, A. M. He was Born in Gloucestershire, Entered first at Gloucester-Hall, and from thence Elected Demy of Magdalen-College in Oxford, by the Favour of Dr. Frewen, who in the Year 1640, got him made Master of the College-School, at Gloucester; from which, he was soon after Turned out, for his Loyalty. He was afterwards Minister of Woodstock, Master of the School there Likewise, and at length Removed to the Free-School at North-Leech in his own County; where he Died in the Year 1655.

Wood, Ath. Vol. II. p. 115.

See in Wood what he Published.

WILFORD, ——, D. D. He is by Lloyd Ranked among the Loyal-Sufferers; but wherein, or what he Suffered, Mr. Lloyd*, according to Custom, is not pleased to tell us; nor have I met with any other Account of it, and therefore I must leave it wholly, as a matter of Quære.

See Peter-House in Cambr. and Quære.

Mem. p 615. That indeed one Wilford, or Wilsford, Ejected from Peter-House in Cambridge. I am satisfied he was not D. D. at the time of his Ejectment: But whether he Survived the USURPATION, became D. D. afterwards, and for the same Fact with this Gentleman here mentioned by Lloyd, quære.

WILLIAMS, JOHN, A. M. He had a Living somewhere in Buckinghamshire; and was forced to purchase his Peace from the Commissioners Agents, with a Sum of Money. He was a Learned and Orthodox Minister.

WITHRINGTON, FRAN. . He was Rector of * Bridgesford; and taken into Custody by the House of Commons. Quære if he was not afterwards Sequestred.

* In Nottinghamshire, as I believe.

FINIS.

Digitized by Google

Alphabets. For all which Reasons (and some others not worth mentioning particularly) the comparing of these Two Alphabets together, will not, as is said, by any means help the Reader to make an Exact Computation of the true Number of Sequestrations mentioned in the Lift.

A.

Abraham, Edward, 71
Ackland, Arthur, 233
Adams, Robert, 50
Adams, Peter, 102
Aglionby, George, 81
Ashworth, Martin, 88
Aids, Robert, 75
Alden, Thomas, 30
Alexander, Francis, 57
Alexander, 183
Alexander, Thomas, 228
Alford, Melchin. 109
Allen, William, 17
Allerby, Richard, 106
Ambler, Bryan, 157
Ambrofe, John, 149
Amner, 96
Andrews, Nicholas, 87
Ankehill, Henry, 74
Anfcell, Thomas, 147
Anfley, I. 171
Appleby, 152
Appleby, 181
Archard, William, 123
Archer, 153
Arway, John, 49
Arundell, 126
Athburnham, Edward, 58
Athens, Roger, 111
Athon, 161
Aftwell, George, 117
Aftell, Thomas, 82
Athon, James, 118
Aufield, 101
Atkins, 216
Awbrey, John, 111
Aylward, Richard, 78
Aylworth, Henry, 128

B.

Baber, John, 108
Babington, Humphry, 161
Bachcraft, Thomas, 143
Baddeley, Thomas, 41
Baker, Samuel, 7
Baker, John, 104
Baker, 137
Balantyne, Walter, 15
Baldero, Edmond, 161
Baldwin, Tim. 180
Bainbridge, Ralph, 81
Bambridge, 144
Bampfield, Francis, 11
Banger, Bern. 134
Bankes, William, 81
Bankes, William, 111
Bankes, Chriftopher, 111
Bardfly, George, 122
Bargrave, Isaac, 5
Bargrave, John, 161
Barker, Henry, 82
Barker, Joleph, 113
Barker, William, 103
Barkfdale, William, 85
Barlow, John, 71
Barlow Barnabas, 84
Barlow, Barnabas, 161
Barlow, William, junior, 82
Barnard, John, 74
Barnes, 83
Barnfton, John, 80
Barter, 167
Bardet, Richard, 102
Barton, John, 120
Barrey, 161
Barrow, Isaac, 112
Barwick, John, 20
Barwick, William, 169
Bafkerv, Isaac, 19
Bafker, 133
Baffet, 16
Baffin, William, 98
Baffin, Thod. 120
Bayly, Thomas, 72
Bayly, John, 160
Bayly, John, 110
Bayly, Richard, 116
Bayly, William, 123
Bayly Francis, 130
Baynham, Ralph 146
Beal, Henry, 147
Beal, William, 158
Beaumont, Jo. 115
Beefley, John, 126
Beefton, Henry 124
Bell, William, 222
Bell, John, 119
Bem, John, dead.
Benfon, George, 14
Benfon, George, 55
Benfon, Thomas, 61
Bere, Edward, 113
Berkley, John, dead.
Berkley, William, 108
Bernier, Stephen, 71
Berry, John, 118
Berrie, Robert, 118
Bettars, 121
Betton, Robert, 121
Betts, John, 121
Bew, 118
Bidgood, John, 111
Bimar, William, 134
Bing, Andrew, 84
Bing, 143
Birdal, Aaron 132
Birkenhead, Henry, 160
Bisby, John, 41
Bifham, William, 51
Bifs, William, 84
Bifket, 7
Blackman, John, 132
Blagrave, John
Blakftone, Thomas, 84
Blake, Amber, 121
Blakeftone, Ralph, 147
Blakifton, 111
Blank, John, 115
Blechynden, Thomas, 5
Blechynden, Francis, 7
Blincow, 111
Blont, Charles, 109
Benjaman, 86
Bodurda, William, 140
Bogan, Zechary, 111
Bohan, Hugh, 100
Bois, John, 22
Bockenham, Anthony, 155
Bold, Warren, 111
Bold, Henry, 111
Boles, 26
Bolton, Humphry, 111
Bollwick, Robert, 122
Boerler, 64
Bouch, Phil. 111
Boughen, Edward, 5
Bourchier, 147
Bower, Robert, 111
Bowles, 84
Bowles, John, 111
Bowman, Robert, 128
Box, 111
Braddock, 42
Brafs, Charles, 81
Brathwaite, Thomas, 111
Brawe, William, 131
Bray, William, 6
Bray, Charles, 71
Brealy, William, 131
Brereton, 126
Brevice, Daniel, 140
Brewer, William, 161
Brierow, 123
Brickenden, Thomas, 132
Brickenden, 132
Bridgman, Jo. 16
Briggs, Thomas, 143
Bricoe, 141
Broad, William, 32
Broad, Francis, 127
Brook, Peter, 81
Brooker, Richard, 116
Brooks, Nicholas, 120
Brother, Jo. 102
Brough, William, 32
Broughton, 96
Broughton, 134
Brown, Jonathan, 81
Brown, Thomas, 82
Browning, Ralph, 82
Bryan, R. 110
Bryan, Thomas, 114
Bryan, 137
Bucanan, James, 113
Buckeridge, John, 83
Buckeridge, Arthur, 119
Buckner, William, 63
Bulkley, Richard, 148
Bullock, William, 150
Burby, Edward, 76
Burges, Bluras, 22
Burges, Edicus, 61
Burges, William, 162
Burnell, Laurence, 25
Burton, 66
Bury, John, 112
Bury, Giles, 15
Bury, Arthur, 213
Bushy, John, 141
Busby, Richard, 74
Buffey, Charles, 15
Buxton, 111
Buxton, dead.
Byam, Henry, 118
Byron, Ralph, 72

C.

Cacot, ——, ——,
Campian, 161
Canopius, Nat. 111
Capel, 111
Carelefs, Thomas, 134
Carpender, John, 84
Carr, Thomas, 143
Carrell, Blafe, 150
Carrick, John, 161
Carfe, John, 41
Carter, Andrew, 70
Carr, 84
Carwardine, Walter, 87
Carwright, William, 122
Dead. Carwright, William, 64
Cary, 84
Catlefton, Merie, 123
Caftillione, John, 7
Cave, 161
Cavin, Thomas, 42
Chalfont, 7
Chamberlain, Richard, 116
Chamberlain, Henry, 131
Chamberlain, 109
Chandler, Richard, 86
Chandler, 117
Chaplain, Robert, 21
Chappel, John, 60
Chirker, Francis, 61
Chefter, Granado, 111
Chibnal, Anthony, 121
Chidley, William, 111
Childrey, William, 111
Childrey, Joshua, 122
Chillingworth, William, 68
Chilmead, Edmond, 116
Church, Thomas, 121
Chyley, Nat. 121
Clarke, Gabriel, 13
Clarke, Roger, 67
Clarke, James, 124
Clarke, Robert, 120
Clarkfon, Gam. 128
Clarkfon, Robert, 111
Clay, 142
Clemens, John, 81
Clemens, Thomas, 131
Clerk, John, 116
Clerk, Thomas, junior, 4
Clerk, Tim. 71
Clerk, 141
Clerkfon, 126
Cleaveland, John, 140
Clewett, Richard, 46
Clibrow, 123
Clun, William, 128
Clutterbrook, Thomas, 131
Coake, George, 84
Coke, Richard, 84
Coke, John, 161
Coke, William, 32
Coldham, William, 127
Coldham, 131
Colebrand, 116
Coleman, 141
Coleman, 102
Coles, Gilb. 32
Coles, John, 96
Coles, William, 134
Coller, Farrer, 81
Collet, William, 84
Collins, Thomas, 58
Collins, Daniel, 81
Collis, William, 114
Comber, Thomas, 137
Complin, Henry, 113
Coniart, William, 114
Cook, 119
Cock, Jonas, 74
Cock, ——, fenior, 161
Cook, ——, junior, dead.
Cooper, Matthew, 21
Cooper, Benjamin, 122
Cooper, Richard, 61
Cooth, John, 162
Coppinger, ——, 115
Coppinger, Robert, 76
Cornelius, John, 41
Coffin, John, 58
Coxefield, Robert, 82
Cotton, William, 84
Cotton, Edward, 16
Cotton, Edward, 78
Coventry, Henry, 99
Coward, Thomas, 137
Cowley, Abraham, 190
Cox, William, 17
Cox, Richard, 17
Cox, 84
Cox, 141
Cox, 117
Cox, dead.
Crack, George, 129
Crake, 190
Crane, 121
Cranaw, Richard, 152
Crawley, 182
Creed, William, 118
Creffey, Hugh, 95
Crefwell, 161
Creyghton, Robert, 72
Croft, Herbert, 34
Croft, Thomas, 32
Crofts, 126
Crook, John, 78
Crofsball, Richard, 124
Croucher, Nat. 189
Crowder, Jof. 30
Crufo, Aquila, 23
Cuffe, 139
Culpepper, Thomas, 89
Cumain, Chriftopher, 123
Cupeinger, Ambrofe, 65
Curle, Walter, 76
Curtbert, George, 42
Curtbert, George, 75
Cutler, John, 11

D.

Daffy, ——, 136
Dale, John, 174
Dale, Thomas, 118
Darby, 121
Darrel, Thomas, 98
Darrel, William, 62
Davenant, Edward, 106
Davenant, Edward, 117
Davenant, Charles, dead.
Davis, William, 78
Davis, James, 110
Davis, John, 111
Dawes, Lancelot, 18
Day, John, 116
Dayrell, Walter, 104
Dean, Ralph, 144
Deighton, Henry, 119
Denne, John, 85
Dewy, 151
Diggle, Edmond; 62
Dingle, John, 146
Dipden, 114
Dixon, Francis, 111
Dobfon, John, 113
Dod, Thomas, 88
Dodwell, John, 107
Dough, 154
Doughty, John, 131
Drakup, John, 112
Drake, Samuel, 150
Drope, John, 122
Drope, Edward, dead.
Drope, Francis, 122
Drury, Thomas, 110
Drury, 104
Duckworth, Charles, 46
Dugdale, James, 73
Dummer, John, 132
Duthwile, 107
Dunglafs, Francis, 140
Duncomb, John, 112
Duncombe, Eleazer, 89
Duncombe, 134
Duncop, Eleazer, 20
Dupps, Bryan, 62
Durfley, 104
Dutton, Henry, 111

E.

Ales, Edward, 118
Earle, John, 65
Earle, Robert, 75
Eaton, Byram, 102
Eaton, Richard, 102
Edgar, George, 15
Edgeley, George, 18
Edmonds, Henry, 210
Edwards, Charles, 100
Edwards,

Digitized by Google

Matthews, ——— 144
Mathin, Francis 65
Mauclin, John 316
Maurice, Anthony 21
Maxwell, ——— 111
May, ——— 114
Mayland, John 130
Mayne, John 32
Mayne, Jasper 197
Mead, Robert 168
Mead, ——— 161
Mees, ——— 114
Meetkirk, Edward 87
Meredith, John 83
Meredith, Hugh 111
Meredith, ——— 150
Merlaine, ——— 117
Merryn, Richard 28
Mesfred, James 111
Mews, Peter, 114
Meyrick, Peter 121
Michaelfon, ——— 116
Middleton, John 28
Milbourn, Leonard 15
Milfon, Richard 7
Miller, George 119
Minifie, John 53
Mines, Gabriel 89
Moorcroft, Ferd. 21
Moorcroft, George 1bid.
Moore, ——— 117
Morgan, Robert 13
Morgan, Thomas 120
Morgan, William 149
Morris, ——— 56
Morley, John 74
Morley, George 105
Morle, William 113
Morton, Edward 11
Morton, Thomas 32
De Moulin, Peter, fenior, 7
Mountague, Richard 55
Moyels, Richard 58
Moyle, Richard 62
Mufgrave, Chriftopher 105
Myers, ——— 127

N.

Napper, John 13
Nappyer, Nath. 29
Nafby, ——— 17
Naylor, Joſ 26
Neale, Humphry 113
Neale, John 83
Neville, ——— 161
Nealin, Robert 111
Newlin, ——— 114
Newberry, John 116
Newell, ——— 1
Newell, Robert 81
Newell, John 117
Newman, Francis 99
Newton, John 105
Nicholas, Matth. 3
Nicholas, ——— 110
Nicholls, ——— 161
Nicholl, William 11
Nicholſon, William 14
Nicholſon, ——— 121
Nicolls, Henry 120
Norgate, Thomas 102
Northinge, ——— 121
Norton, Edward 240
Norton, ——— 141
Nourſe, John 113
Nun, John 52

O.

Oates, ——— 174
Offley, ——— 161
Okley, ——— 111
Oldſworth, Giles 161
Olley, Barnabi. 161
Oliver, John 122
Onflow, Edw. 66
Onſlow, Sam. 81
Oſbaldſton, Lamb. 1
Oſbalton, Henry 113
Oſborn, Gilbert 33
Oſborn, William 62
Oſgood, Richard 125
Oswsy, John 149
Oughterd, William 14
Owen, John 1
Owen, Morgan 17
Owen, William 174
Owen, William 317

P.

Palgrave, Edward 143
Palmer, George 33
Palmer, Lewis 111
Palmer, ——— 114
Panter, ——— 162
Parish, ——— 161
Parker, Timothy 114
Parr, Barth. 28
Parr, Richard 14
Parr, ——— 161
Parrs, William 113
Party, ——— 16
Paſcall, Robert 87
Paske, Thomas 147
Pate, Jo. 114
Paul, William 52
Pawſon, Samuel 118
Payne, Robert 104
Peake, Humphy 8
Pearſon, Richard 87
Pearſon, John 67
Pember, John 18
Pemble, Stephen 119
Penniman, Thomas 155
Pennington, ——— 124
Perry, James 120
Perſon, Richard 111
Perrut, Richard 61
Peterſon, William 54
Petney, John 140
Petringhall, ——— 16
Petty, John 101
Pewe, Thomas 137
Peyton, William 47
Philips, Stephen 56
Philips, John 1bid.
Philips, John 1bid.
Philips, Edward 124
Philips, ——— 117
Pickarell, ——— 124
Pierce, ——— 88
Pierce, Thomas 1
Piers, William 20
Piers, William 1
Piers, James 23
Pierſon, John 131
Pinet, Lion. 131
Pitt, ——— 111
Pinſon, John 82
Pitwich, John 100
Pitt, Nicholas 133
Pitt, John 135
Pockſington, John 91
Pocock, Edward 104
Poley, ——— 1
Polwheel, Degor. 1
Porter, Edmond 47
Potter, ——— 148
Porter, Chriſtopher 79
Potter, Humfrid 133
Potter, Richard 137
Potter, ——— 143
Potts, ——— 144
Povey, James 61
Power, William 143
Powrall, John 114
Poynderare, ——— 124
Prefton, William 114
Price, Philip 16
Price, John 1bid.
Price, John 226
Price, William 120
Price, ——— 1
Prichard, Rees 16
Prickard, Thomas 17
Prickett, ——— 127
Prideaux, John 75
Prideaux, Matthias 116
Prior, Chriſtopher 48
Prodtor, ——— 1
Pott, Henry 121
Pullen, ——— 114
Pulleſton, Hamlet 161
Pulley, ——— 114
Pury, Daniel 1

Q.

Quales, John 60
Quarles, Edward 51
Quarles, James 120
Quales, ——— 114

R.

Radcliffe, Samuel 161
Radford, William 134
Rainbow, Edward 111
Raleigh, Walter 71
Ramſden, William 62
Randall, Matth. 115
Randall, ——— 114
Rattcliffe, Thomas 114
Rawlings, James 18
Rawſon, Ralph 161
Raymond, Thomas 160
Raynsford, Robert 67
Read, James 1
Read, ——— 1
Read, John 1
Reading, John 1
Richardſon, William 111
Richardſon, William 111
Richardſon, William 149
Richmond, ——— 8
Ridding, Amias 113
Rivers, Edward 67
Rivers, Thomas 113
Roberts, William 1
Roberts, Foſh. 15
Roberts, ——— 102
Robandſon, Hugh 84
Robinſon, ——— 63
Robinſon, ——— 111
Robinſon, ——— 54
Robinſon, William 140
Robinſon, Anthony 128
Roſdon, John 121
Rogers, Nehemiah 87
Rogers, Henry 31
Rogers, John 68
Rogers, Edward 123
Rogers, Edward 1bid.
Rogers, William 125
Rogers, ——— 1
Roole, John 113
Rook, Chayney 161
Rowlandſon, John 43
Rowlandſon, R. 1
Rudd, Robert 17
Rutter, Sam. 21
Ryves, Bruno 32
Ryves, John 11
Ryves, John 64

S.

Scheverell, Ambroſe 18
Salmon, ——— 161
Salter, ——— 145
Samways, Richard 117
Samways, ——— 114
Sancroft, William 115
Sanders, Richard 137
Sandeſon, Robert 158
Sandeſon, Thomas 117
Sandeſon, Rand. 113
Saltonſtall, John 13
Sandys, ——— 113
Savage, Andrew 114
Saunders, John 61
Say, Robert 113
Sayer, ——— 116
Scarborough, Charles 114
Scarlet, ——— 161
Sclarry, William 61
Sclarer, Thomas 1bid.
Scoles, Jaſper 226
Scott, John 120
Scriven, George 161
Scaife, Andrew 16
Scrimſhaw, Edward 17
Serle, ——— 127
Shaw, Peter 78
Shaw, ——— 116
Sheldon, Gilbert 48
Sheldon, Sharrington 116
Sheppard, ——— 123
Shepley, Barth. 151
Sh-born, William 137
Sheringham, Robert 122
Sherley, ——— 41
Sherlock, Richard 151
Sherman, John 126
Short, ——— 166
Shute, Timothy 145
Shute, Timothy 32
Sh tr, Joſias 62
Sibthorp, Robert 60
Singleton, Isaac 20
Sifmith, Thomas 162
Skinner, William 5
Skinner, Robert 15
Skinner, Math. 114
Skypar, Paul 111
Skywiffe, ——— 119
Slater, Edward 118

Smith, Richard 10
Smith, Elias 78
Smith, William 1bid.
Smith, William 81
Smith, William 66
Smith, Sebaſtian 78
Smith, Sebaſtian 78
Smith, Laurence 58
Smith, Thomas 1bid.
Smith, Thomas 1bid.
Smith, George 110
Smith, ——— 119
Smith, ——— 127
Snell, George 17
Snelling, ——— 119
Soame, Thomas 28
Sone, ——— 1
Sowby, Robert 146
So esm, ——— 118
Sparkes, Noel 114
Sparrow, Anthony 156
Speed, Sam. 111
Speed, John 119
Sperling, Abraham 114
Spencer, ——— 111
Spenser, Jacob 114
Spendlow, John 17
Spooner, ——— 111
Spooner, George 119
Spurway, Richard 102
Squire, ——— 116
Stacy, ——— 161
Stamp, ——— 26
Stamp, William 114
Standish, ——— 76
Staples, ——— 127
Stanhope, George 83
Stanley, Edward 77
Stanley, Edward 128
Stanly, Nicholas 129
Stanly, Jeremy 41
Stephens, ——— 111
Stephens, Richard 114
Stratte, Richard 166
Steverton, ——— 119
Still, John 74
Stiles, David 93
Stone, Benjamin 1
Stone, John 146
Stonehide, Walter 113
Stonevile, William 15
Stradling, George 80
Strange, Alexander 11
Strangeways, ——— 15
Stratford, George 113
Stringer, Henry 127
Stuart, Richard 48
Stubbs, ——— 131
Sugar, Trifle. 116
Sumner, Robert 61
Sutton, Thomas 112
Swete, John 114
Sweet, ——— 116
Swift, Goodwin 119
Swimmok, John 55
Swaffer, ——— 117
Sylvanus, Humphry 76
Sylvefter, ——— 117
Sylvefter, Thomas 118
Symmes, ——— 114
Symſafe, ——— 113

T.

Talbot, Francis 28
Tame, Thomas 111
Taylor, Richard 11
Taylor, William 78
Taylor, John 113
Taylor, John 147
Terrick, Thomas 114
Terrent, Thomas 210
Terwhitte, Thomas 148
Thiſtle, Chriſtopher 15
Thackeris, James 101
Thomas, William 114
Thomas, ——— 127
Thorn, Giles 66
Thornborough, Edward 89
Thornborough, Giles, 1bid.
Thornbyke, Herbert 160
Thorneh, ——— 123
Thornton, Thomas 148
Thorkinorton, Raphael 43
Thorkinorton, Hieron 102
Thurcroffe, Timothy 84
Tichbourn, James 139
Tiffell, Edward 118
Tolly, John 118
Tolſon, John 54
Tomkins, Nath. 81
Tomſon, Robert 164
Tonis, Thomas 110
Tonſtall, Frederick 10
Tonſtall, William 113

Tom-

T.

Digitized by Google

AN INDEX OF THE LIVINGS of the Sequestred, &c. CLERGY, which are mention'd in the LIST:

As also of the PLACES mention'd in the APPENDIX.

Note, That where more Places than One go to make up a Living, in the Welch Counties more especially, the First of them only is set down in this INDEX, under the Initial Letter of its Name; and the Rest, tho' beginning with different Letters, are wrote in afterwards.

A.

ABBAS Roading, R. 206
Abberton, R. 287
Abbotsham, V. 283
Abbots-Inn, 274
Abercde and Llanfeirnith, 311
Abercuker, V. 272
Abergele, V. 227
Abergwyley, V. 182
Aberiddwyth, 222
Abermarn and Conwill, V. 281
Aberporth, R. 218
Abervran and Foglan, 224
Acklamb cum Leverige, V. 280
Ackworth, 84
Acton, R. 168
Acton, V. 263
Acton Scot, R. 234
Adderbury, V. 243
Addle, R. 272
Adenham, V. 20
Ackliffe, V. 281
Adwarter, R. 284
Item, 1 Ibid.
Akeham, 139
St. Alen's, V. 240
St. Alban's Woodstreet, R. 71
Albinghall, 188
Alborough, R. 271
Item, 344
Alby, R. 232
Alcannings, R. 211
Aldbury, R. 42
Aldbury, R. 213
Aldenham, V. 164
Alderley, R. 231
Alderton, R. 240
Aldford, R. 264
Aldgate, 414
Allhallows Barking, V. 45
Item, 222
Allhallows Leenhall-Street, R. 180
St. Alkmond's in Shrewsbury V. 213
Allerton, North, 42
Allington, R. 221
Allington Eath, 1
All Saints, V. in Bristol
All Saints, in Hastings, 418
All Saints, in Newcastle, 413
From the Lecture there, 188
All Saints Rockland, R. 233
All Saints in Stamford, V. 260
Alner-Stoke, 247
St. Alphage, R. 251
Item, 252
Alresford, R. 80
Alsoe, R. 182
Alterton, V. 151
Alton, R. 311
Alton Priors, 1 412
Alve-Church, 177
Alvington, 241
Ambleston, V. 410
Ambrosh, V. 189
Amersden, V. 232
Ampori, V. 151
Andover, V. 225
St. Andrew's, R. 82
St. Andrew's Holborn, R. 14
St. Andrew's Hubbard, R. 148
St. Andrew's in Newcastle, the Curacy and Lecture there, 2 266
St. Andrew's Rockland, R. 268
St. Andrew's Undershaft, R. 183
Item, 184
St. Andrew's VVardrobe, R. 107
St. Ann's Aldersgate, R. 45
Anstie, R. 86
Anstie VVell, V. 200
Appleby, R. 200
Appleton, 414
Ardingly, R. 154
Ardley, V. 264
Arkesden, 190
Arlington, V. 268
Arundel, V. 205
Ash Bocking, V. 208
Ashbirtle, R. 76
Ashburton, V. 156
Ashbury, R. 226
Ashcombe, V. 272
Ashmore, R. 86
Ashor, R. 221
Ashprington, R. 251
Aston, 402
Aston, 413
Aston-Keynes, V. 244
Aston-Underline, R. 188
Aswell, R. 110
Aspal-Stonham, R. 276
Aspenden, R. 31
Astbury, R. 261
Atton, V. 781
Atton-Eyre, 417
Atton-Ingham, R. 237
St. Athan's, R. 152
Audlem, V. 211
Averton Gifford, R. 201
St. Augustin's, R. 187
St. Augustin's Little, R. 1
Avington, R. 412
Awbry, R. 189
Axlecombe, V. 242
St. Auftle, V. 151
Axminster, 224
Aylesbury, 1
Aylsbere, 272
Aymes-St. Laurence, R. 248
Aysford, V. 1

B.

BAbcary, R.
Badby cum Newnham, V. 231
Badingham, R. 172
Badworth, R. 200
Baghuft, R. 160
Bampton, V. 414
Item, 154
Bampton, V. 264
Brinton on the VVolds, 190
Bandley, V. 268
Bangor, R. 205
Bangor, R. and Henlann 1
Bancombe, R. 74
Barford St. Martin, R. 156
Barkby, V. 226
Barkford Little, R. 1
Item, 2
Barkhamsted Kinton 1

Barkhamsted St. Peter's, 1 219
Barkley, R. 207
Barnack, R. 67
Barnes, R. 236
Barnett Eath, R. 218
Barnham St. Gregory's, and St. Martin's, R. 236
Barnsley, R. 269
Barnstaple, V. 196
Barrodin, R. 268
Barrington, 1 118
Barrow, R. 190
Barrow, V. 208
Barrowby, 270
St. Bartholomew the Great, R. 9
St. Bartholomew Exchange, R. 170
Bartlow, R. 190
Barton, 207
Barton in Fabie, 2 209
Barton-Stacy, V. 218
Barwick, 218
Barwick in Elmet, R. 82
Item, 218
Item, 418
Basingham, R. 118
Basingstoke, V. 405
Batley, V. 408
Batley Hertis Rifca, V. Ibid.
Batcombe, R. 254
Bath, V. 318
Bathalton, R. 219
Barley, 218
Battersly, R. 210
Bayfield, R. 280
Bealings Magna, R. 236
Bealings Parva, R. Ibid.
Beardwel, V. 266
Beaworthy, 415
Beccles, R. 178
Beckington, 76
Beddingfield, V. 236
Bedford Eath, V. 297
Bedhampton, R. 185
Bedlon, V. in the Margin, 22
Bedlington, Ibid.
Bedwas, R. 270
Bedwas and Rudry, R. 57
Bedwerdy, V. 284
Bedwin.

Bolton Percy, R.
Bonchurch,
Bondon, V.
Boothby, R.
Boothby Pagnell, R.
Borely, R.
Boreton upon Dunsmore, R.
Borgrone,
Bourcham, V.
Bonhall, R.
Boxly, R.
St. Botolph's Aldersgate,
St. Botolph's Aldgate
St. Botolph's Billingsgate, R.
St. Botolph's Bishopsgate, R.
Bovey-Tracy, V.
Boughrood, R.
Boughton, V.
Bourton, V.
Bow,
Item,
Bow, V.
Boyton, R.
Item,
Bradeley, V.
Bradford St. Clare.
Bradninch,
Bradwell near Coggeshall, R.
Bradwell juxta Mare, R.
Bradwood-Kelly, R.
Bradwumby, V.
Braidley, V.
Braintree, R.
Brancleas,
Bramfield, R.
Bramford Speak,
Brampton, R.
Brampton,
Brampton Ralph, R.
Brancepeth, R.
Brandon, V.
Brafferd, R.
Bratton, R.
Bratton Fleming, R.
Braunton, V.
Bray, V.
Brayton, R.
Brecknock,

Bridgeton, V.
Bridgwater,
Bridgwater St. Mary, R.
Bridlington,
Brigham,
Brigham-Westgate, R.
Brinkworth, V.
Brinsop,
Brinsop Court,
Brinsop Granges,
Brinsop Hall,
Brinsop Rectory,
Brinsop Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood,
Brinsop Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges, Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Court,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Granges,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Hall,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Rectory,
Brinsop Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Wood Vicarage, Brinsop Wood

D.

Dagen, V. 373
Dalby Old on the Wolds, 141
Dale, 143
Dalham, R. 233
Dallington, V. 226
Dalton, V. 421
Danbury, R. 367
Darfield, R. 472
Darrington, V. 408
Dartford, T. 211
Datchworth, R. 182
St. Davids, 127
St. Davis, 238
Dean, R. 1
Dean, 232
Deanchurch, 182
Dean Row, R. 262
Dean Prior, V. 182
Debden, R. 89
Debenham, V. 209
Denbury, R. 214
Denbury, 211
Donnington, R. 182
St. Dennis, 182
Devon-cil-Landbridge, V. 316
Depden, R. 202
Dereham East, V. 203
Devenham, 203
Devenock, 408
Dibden, R. 268
Iter, 272
Dicklebrough, R. 284
Diddlebury, V. 272
Diess, 214
Dingley, R. 286
Dingthon, V. 282
Dinnington, R. 224
St. Dionythus Backchurch, R. 272
Dixford, R. 84
Dilcrith and Bettus, 82
Ditchet, R. 207
Ditcham, R. 216
Diston, R. 202
Dodbrook, 488
Doddiscombeleigh, 1
Dodenham, R. 182
Dogmersfield, R. 274
St. Donats, 116
Dovercale, R. 222
Downham, R. 307
Iter, 417
Drayton, R. 237
Drayton-Fenny, R. 231
Drewthington, R. 214
Drinkston, R. 409
Droxford, R. 224
Dunchideock, R. 207
Dunhead St. Andrews, R. 468
Dunnington, 156
Dunnowant, R. 182
Dunsford, 216
St. Dunstans in the Eaft, R. 166
St. Dunstans in the Weft, V. 272
Dunflow, V. 214
Durfley, R. 11
Dwrpdyrrydylhic, 1
Dyfcopdre, 272

E.

Earle-Soame, 246
Earl-Stoneham, R. 408
St. Earth, V. 121
Eartham, V. 14
Eaftbridge-Kilredon, 200
Eaftbergate, R. 14
Eaftham, R. 167
Eaftham, V. 182
Eaftham, V. 182
Eaton, 1
Ecclefwell, V. 408
Eccleston, R. 14
Edburton, R. 414
Edenfield, V. 282
Edgefield, R. 202
Edmonton, V. 108
St. Edmonds, R. in Exon, 182
St. Edmonds Lombard Street, R. 182
Edrachland, P. 182
Egerton, 182
Egglifke, 15
Egloya-Rewys, 1
Eglinham, V. 134
Eglwys Han and Llanyabbon, P. 182
Elden, R. 221
Elham, V. 206
Ellingham Great, V. 206
Ellingham Parva, R. 408
Elmerton, 202
Elmore, V. 216
Eltham, V. 182
St. Elvis, 228
Elwardby, R. 182
Embleton, V. 214
Emfled, 256
Enadow, V. 182
Enborn, R. 236
Enfield, V. 221
Enfton and Highchorp, V. 268
Epping, V. 264
Erwall High, V. 246
Erlington, R. 19
St. Ervan, R. 232
Efton, 182
Effendon, R. 230
Eltham, R. 14
Ethylmanner, V. 272
St. Ethelborough, R. 182
Eton-School, 416
Eton, R. 188
Everton, V. 72
Everiden Parva, R. 182
St. Ewe, R. 182
Ewell, V. 274
Ewelton, 211
Exford, R. 272
Exhall, R. 148
Exminfter, V. 188
Exton, R. 72
Eye, V. 226
Eyke, R. 272

F.

Facombe, R. 405
St. Fagons, R. 201
St. Faith, R. 1
Fambridge-South, R. 252
Fanfy, 272
Farlham, V. 216
Iter, 416
Farringdon, R. 282
Farningthoe, R. 182
Farway, R. 241
Fearham, 272
Feering, V. 217
Felton, V. 210
Felwell St. Nicholas, R. 232
Fennifton, R. 216
Fenny-Ditton, R. 210
Fethnop and Meanerwrog, 216
Fetcham, R. 6
Fetherfton, V. 216
Fetcham, V. 282
Fiddington, R. 242
Fifield, R. 242
Filby, R. 167
Fillingham, R. 46
Filly, 262
Finborough Great, V. 182
Finchenfield, 207
Finningham, R. 216
Firard and Llanondae, 212
Fifherbourn-New, R. 272
Fifherton, R. 242
Iter, 272
Fiskerton, R. 182
Fittleworth, R. 271
Fleet, R. 182
Flemingfton, 416
Fleshy-Salt, R. 490
Flixton, V. 272
St. Florence, 224
Foncis, 282
Foyford, R. 182
Folkftone, V. 182
Fonnereau, R. 224
Fordham, V. 22
Fordham, R. 230
Fordingbridge, V. 224
Fordingham, 282
Fornham, R. 234
Forncis, 282
Fofton, V. 224
Fofton, R. 230
Fovent, R. 66
Fowlefham cum Themilthorp, V. 209
Iter, 1664
Fowlmer, R.
Framlingham, R. 232
Iter, 272
Freefingfield, V. 246
Freeton, 182
Freford, R. 182
Frenington, V. 182
Freshford, R. 182
Freshwater, R. 221
Frethorp, R. 230
Iter, 272
Fridaythorp, 227 See the Errata.
Frisby on the Wreak, V. 268
Friskney, V. 264
Friston and Snape, V. 289
Frodham, V. 261
Froom-Cannon, R. 182
Frothenham, R. 284
Fulham, V. 48
Falmondfton, R. 252
Funtmill, R. 233
Furle, 133

G.

St. Gabriel Fenchurch, R. 167
Gainsford, V. 211
Gamlingbay, R. 248
Ganarewe, V. 182
Garblesham, 272
Garsden, R. 276
Garshbibio, R. 182
Gasthorpe, V. 182
Gatcombe, 182
Gaverfton, R. 182
Geddelston, R. 182
Geddelston-Great, V. 233
Geddelston-Little, R. 1664
Gedney, V. 242
Gedney Donative, 272
St. George's, R. 232
St. George's Borough-Lane, R. 272
St. George's Southwark, R. 272
St. George's in Stamford, 222
Gidley, R. 250
Gilden Morden, 182
St. Giles Criplegate, V. 18
Iter, 418
St. Giles in the Fields, R. 82
St. Giles in Reading, V. 182
Gilford, R. 182
Gillingham, V. 93
Gilmorton, R. 182
Girton, R. 182
Glafcombe, V. 182
Glafebury, V. 182
Glafbury, 216
Glafton, R. 62
Glaudefthee, R. 282
Glenfield, R. 211
Glenaford, 216
Gloucefter-School, 182
Glympton, R. 182
Glynd, V. 272
Godalming, V. 182
Godfhill, 182
Goldthanger, R. 182
Gonerby, 182
Gofworth, 182
Gotheridge, V. 182
Gotham, R. 182
Grafton Regis, R. 182
Grandcheefter, V. 182
Granaden Great, V. 182
Grapnall, R. 182
Gravely, R. 202
Grays-Inn Lecture, 182
Grayftock, R. 182
Greenwich, V. 182
Iter, 272
Greet, R. 182
St. Gregory's by St. Paul's, 272
Grefsford, 182
Greimere, R. 182
Greinfeild, R. 182
Grefmont, V. 182
Greflingham Great, R. 182
Greflingham Little, R. 1664
Gretham Hofpital, 18
Gretham, V. 182
Gretton, R. 182
Grimfhead, R. 182
Grimhead Eaft, V. 182
Grimfted Weft, R. 182
Grimfton North, V. 182
Grundisburgh, 272
Gurnfey, R. 182
Guernfey Deanery, 182
Gulval, R. 182
Gumbrefton, R. 182
Gunvill, R. 182
Guffage Middle, 182
Gwehelliggie, 182
Gwincar, V. 182
Gwynnap, V. 182

H.

Hackenham, 201
Hackford cum Whitwell, R. 272
Hackington, alias St. Stephen's, V. 182
Hackney, R. 182
Hackenham, R. 182
Hadden-High, R. 182
Hadham, R. 182
Hadham Magna, R. 182
Hadley and Monks Ely, R. 182
Hadlow, V. 182
Hadly, R. 182
Hadftock, 182
Hei by, 182
Hakifax, V. 182
Halling, 418
Hallingbury, R. 178
Hallooghton, 202
Halfey, V. 182
Halton, R. 202
Ham, R. 182
Hambledon, R. 182
Hamerton, R. 182
Hampfield South, 182
Hampton-Bifhop, R. 182
Hampton in Arden, V. 182
Hampton Lovett, R. 182
Hamworth, 182
Handfworth, R. 182
Hanneftham, R. 182
Hannover, V. 182
Hannilon, 182
Hanwell, R. 182
Harbertown, V. 182
Hardingham, R. 182
Hardwick, R. 182
Hardwick, R. 182
Hargrave, R. 182
Harrifmoor, R. 182
St. Harmon, V. 182
Harrowden, 182
Harrow on the Hill, 182
Harfen, R. 182
Harfbourn, V. 182
Harford, 182
Hatchill, R. 182
Hartingfordbury, R. 182
Iter, 182
Hartlebury, R. 182
Harvington, R. 182
Harwich, V. 182
Haskeron, R. 182
Haftlebury-Brian, R. 182
Haftlebury-Hackneet, 182
Hafdeton, 182
Hatly Eaft, R. 182
Hatnar, R. 182
Haughton, R. 182
Haughton and Witton, R. 182
Haukdon, 182
Hauffed, R. 182
Haufworth, 182
Hawkly, 182
Hay, V. 182
Heybour, R. 182
Headborne, V. 182
Heanfted, R. 182
Heathfield, R. 182
Heavitree, V. 182
Iter, 182
Iter, 182
Hecklefield, V. 182
Hedly, R. 182
Helgham, R. 182
Helghford, V. 182
Helhierfet, 182
Helham Ampoed, 182
Hellan, R. 182
St. Helliens, 182
Hembury-Broad, V. 182
Hemel-Hemftead, 182
Hemingford-Abbots, R. 182
Hemingthorp, R. 182
Hemington, R. 182
Hempnall, V. 182
Henarfton-Little, R. 182
Hendred-Norris, 182
Henningham, 182
Henry, R. 182
Hepworth, R. 182
Herbert cum Hull, V. V. 182
Herfleden, V. 182
Herfet, R. 182
Herlton, V. 182
Heverringham, R. 182
Hevingham, R. 182
Heyford, R. 182
Heyford-Warren, R. 182
Hickling and Paling, V. 182
Higham, R. 182
Highclere, R. 182
Highgate School, &c. 182
Highley, V. 182
Hikeham, 182
St. Hilary, V. 182
Hilperton, R. 182
Hilden, 182
Hinkley, V. 182
Hindelfam, R. 182
Hinton, R. 182
Hinton-Ammer, R. 182
Hinton-St. George, 182
Hinton-Martel, R. 182
Hitham, 182
Hitcham, R. 182
Hitterfleigh, R. 182
Hoaby, R. 182
Hobfelton, R. 182
Hockley-Great, R. 182
Hodgefton, R. 182
Hodnet, R. 182

Digitized by Google

Idesley, . 438
Idlesfica, R. 163
Ighborough, . 204
Ightfield, R. 40
Iken R. 215
Ilam, V. 288
Hebridges, V. 217
Illogan, R. 225
Illsington, R. 289
Ilmister, V 381
Ilminster School, 418
Ilmington, V 261
Ilsley West, . 31
Item, 240
Ilsley East, R. 280
Ilton, R. 239
Item 278
Ingram, R. 181
Inwardleigh, R. 290
Inworth, . 281
St. Johns, . 209
St. John Baptist, R. 190
St. John in Bedford Mastership of the Hospital, 284
St. Johns R. in Exe, 191
St Johns in Newcastle, . 180
St Johns, R. in Stamford, 285
St. John Zachary, R. 286
Johnston, R. Ibid
Jordanston, R. 288
Ipsing, R. 288
Ipsepen, V; 250
Irchester, . 284
Ireworth, V. 253
Irlington, V. 271
Irlington School. 423
Irlet, R. 284
St Ifels, V 416
St Ifly, V. 290
Ifradown, . 284
Itchenstoke, P 278
Itton, R. 288
St. Ive, R. 31
St Ives, V. 230
St. Julians, P. 290
Kirkby-Beadon, R. 167
Kirkhaugh, R. 371
Kirkbraton, R. 374
Kirkworth-Beauchamp, R. 260
Kirkenbury. R. 278
Knayton, R. Ibid
Knutshall, R. 208
Knyghtwick, R. 385
Knowstone and Molland, V. 143
Kynston Deverel, R. 118

L.

LAckenham, V. 167
Laddock, R. 182
Laleston and Tythegston, Newcastle and Bonton, V. 285
Lambeder and Parrifio, . 227
Lambeth, R. 268
Lambourne, R. 38
Lamerton, V. 216
Lamas, R 74
Lampter, R 228
Lamerney, R. 288
Lamfon, . 442
Lanarmon, V 335
Lanavanwen, R 408
Lanbithian, V. 244
Lancarvan, V. 410
Lancaffet, V. 409
Lawthe, R. 168
Landeffy R. 418
Landeply, V. 283
Landegveth, . 185
Land vally and Criedaane, V. 429
Landgone, V. 358
Landillo Gerflens, V. 345
Landilo-Tal Bont, V. 185
Landmadock, R 338
Landough by Cowbridge, V. 324
Landyf yge, V. 219
Lanegwad, V. 284
Lanellen, V 425
Lanferning. . 280
Lecqueth cum Landough, &c R. 283
Leedham, . 183
Leeds Lectureship, 313
Leeds, V. 142
Leet, R 201
Lenves, . 441
St Leonard Feliebam, R. 167
St Leonards near Penn, R 168
St. Leonard Foster Lane, R 186
St Leonard Shoreditch, V. 174
Lefreuth, R. 175
Leverington, R. 190
Lewsfon, 213
Leyham Weft, R. 110
Leaden R. 218
Leyland, V. 344
Lidiard, R 284
Lichfield, R. 336
Lindridge, R. 31
Lingfield, R 244
Linkard, 211
St Lithans, V. 336
Litchbury, R 202
Item, 208
Limon, R. 241
Llanbeder Kenin, . 176
Llanarmon, 439
Llanarth, . 234
Llanalgh, V. 239
Llanath, . 217
Llanaylhayrn, . 261
Llanbadarne Vaur, 107
Llanbeldig, P. 210
Llanbedars R. 416
Llanbeder, R. 180
Llanberis, R 101
Llanbermaur, V. 476
Llanbyrnmaur, R. 302
Llanchamio, . 1
Llandaff with Whitchurch, P. 230
Llandebie, V. 281
Llandeby, . 337
Llandeinoholem, . 218
Llandeloy, V. 233
Llandough, L R. 286
Llanmonthwy, . 103
Llanngel, R. Ibid.
Llankewen, . 101
Llanlowell, V 295
Llanllachaun, . 340
Llanllwchaune, . 182
Llanllwny. . 401
Llanlyfnio, . 239
Llanmaes, . 174
Llanmaen, . 190
Llanmarun, . 227
Llanmethern, . 239
Llanovye, 206
Llanrael, . 174
Llanrhaiade, . 409
Llanrothen, 300
Llanry hwy and Trefow, . 301
Llansaddr, . Ibid.
Llansanfread, P. 150
Llansanfraid, V. 208
Llansantfyd, . 118
Llanfantread, R. 189
Llanfantwit, . 118
Llanfawyre and Tfadowin, 117
Llanfilin, V. 215
Llanfyrhaf, . 417
Llanfaiolen, V. 158
Llanfiffan, . 234
Llanfreey, R. 409
Llanfhangy Varh, . 190
Llan Thomas in Carmarvan, . 205
Llanthyfaure, R. 289
Llantillo and Penros, . 295
Llantrwit and Lyfwerny, V. 174
Llanwirwardine, . 102
Llanwood, V. 110
Llanwrthen, V 218
Llanvair-Dyffryn Clwid, V. 201
Llanvair Dyfcoed, V. 218
Llanvihre, V. 296
Llanvrahrer, R 217
Llanvelog, . 211
Llanvinoe, . 210
Llanvapleg, R. 205
Lan-

Digitized by Google

Llanvaylon, R. 409
Llanvela, V. 313
Llanvetherin, V. 293
Llanvian, V. 302
Llanvihangel, 235
Llanvihangel, 278
Llanvihangel-Lantornam, P. 291
Llanvihangel Nant Melan, 246
Llanvihangel juxta Usk, 291
Llanvihangel Yorrel, V. 330
Llanvihangely Gioythii, V. 478
Llanvillo, R. 478
Llanuda, 409
Llanvrehva, 491
Llanuthil, 300
Llanwenneth, 332
Llanwethlion, R. 478
Llanyhangel-Tornyord, 295
Llanyowel, 345
Llanyly 300
Llarby Chwyn, 110
Llellor, 114
Llilior, R. 219
Llynogaver, 409
Llyfweo, R. 382
Loddefwell, 382
Loddington, R. 288
Lodington, V. 305
London-Nether, 293
Longbenton, 331
Longdon, V. 171
Longford, R. 246
Longhope, V. 380
Longhouton, 288
Loughborough, R. 268
Lougher, R. 212
Lovat in Kent, 412
Lowchurch, 228
Lowchurch, V. 279
Lowes and Llandewey, 290
Loxhoar, R. 274
Luckham-Eaft, R. 28
Ludchurch, R. 304
Ludgevan, R. 175
Lukenholt, 298
Lurgibal, 348
Lutterworth, R. 380
Lydde, V. 183
Lydford, R. 328
Lydyard St. Laurence, R. 214
Lyndon, R. 271
Lynton, V. 181

M.

St. MAbin, R. 328
Machin, V. 317
Madern, V. 292
Madingley, 283
Magdalen-College School in Oxford, 424
Magor, V. 283
Item, 309
Maidftone, V. 201
Maker, V. 280
Malberrie, R. 283
Malendine, V. 317
Malpas, 191
Manendine, R. 334
Manhyfad, 309
Manaton, 261
Manaven, R. 290
Manchefter Free School, 203
Manchynlleth, 278
Manerdary, R. 302
Manningford-Abbots, R. 216
Maperton, R. 311
Marber, R. 239
Marcras, R. 118
Marden, V. 400
Margars Overton, R. 283
St. Margaret Patrona, R. 316
St. Margarets Ipfwich, 316
St. Margarets, V. in the Borough of Louerher, 280
St. Margarets Lothbury, R. 178
St. Margarets-New-Fish-ftreet, R. 174
St. Margarets Weftminfter, V. 1
Marham, 326
Marhfield, V. 309
Markbury, 418
Market-Bofworth, 269
Market-Drayton, R. 380
Market-Deeping, R. 311
Markigh, R. 313
Markwe Great, V. 290
Marnhull, R. 416
Marfon-Long, R. 308
Marfton, 309
Marfton, 312
Marfton Long, R. 20
St. Martins in Eaton, 31
Item, 677
St. Martinsin the Fields, V. 6
St. Martins Ironmonger-Lane, R. 175
St. Martins Ludgate, R. 171
St. Martins Organs, R. 13
Item, 420
St. Martins Outwich, R. 674
St. Martins Vintry, R. 11
Martin-Worthy, R. 243
Marthery Grandeftone and St. Nicholas, V. 317
Marthery and Granftone, V. 314
Marthefmoy, V. 1616.
Martwood, R. 187
St. Mary Abchurch, R. 72
St. Mary Aldermary, R. 163
St. Mary Andrigh, R. 142
St. Mary Bothaw, R. 174
St. Mary Le Bow, R. 169
St. Mary Calendar, 78
St Mary-Church, V. 392
St. Mary-Church, R. 409
St. Mary-Hill, R. Item, 156
St. Mary-Hill, V. 180
St. Mary Magdal. Bermondfey, R. 142
St. Mary Magdal. Milk-ftreet, R. 174
St. Mary Magd. Old Fifh ftreet, R. 178
St. Mary Mounthaw, R. 178
St. Mary the Mover in Eaton, R. 792
St. Mary Somerfet, R. 167
St. Mary Steps in Exon, 263
Item, 306
St. Mary Tavey, R. 279
St. Mary White Chapel, R. 172
St. Mary Wool-Church, R. 178
St. Mary Woolnoth, R. 48
St. Mary's in Bury, 283
St. Mary's in Chefter, R. 261
St. Mary's in Dover, 1
St. Mary's in St. Edmondsbury, R. 311
St. Mary's in Hoo, R. 279
St. Mary's in Lichfield, 199
St Mary's Little, 143
St. Mary's in Nottingham, 306
St. Mary's and St. Michael's in Pembroke, 314
St. Mary's in Reading, V. 190
St. Mary's in Stafford, 208
St. Mary's in Stamford, R. 338
St. Mary's, V. in Stanley, 318
St. Mary's in Warcham, 415
Mafbury, V. 251
Mather, 278
Matherne, R. 283
St. Matthew Friday-ftreet, R. 161
Maxaron, 298
Maachans, 231
Maugio, R. 423
Maugan and Martin, R. 246
Maugan-Menegar, R. 377
St. Mauritce, 116
Maynoichoed, 311
Meane-Eaft, V. 371
Meavie, R. 311
Meavies-Abby, V. 216
Meere, R. 66
Meelbourn, V. 304
Meelbury-Bubb, R. 264
Melford-Long, R. 181
Mells, R. 74
Melton, R. 281
Item, 811
Menaffy, R. 375
Mindlefham, V. 372
Merkbry, 281
Merrin, V. 191
Merriot, V. 4
Merthyr, R. 380
Merthyr Sorao, R. 228
Item, 302
Merthyr-Maur, 314
Merthyr-Tydvill, R. 286
Meffing, V. 42
Item, 319
Methley, 188
Mexton, 289
St. Mewan, 279
Mexbrough, 213
Meyfey-Hampton, 418
St. Michael Baffifhaw, R. 170
St. Michael Carthais, R. 280
St. Michael Queen-hithe, R. 171
St. Michael Querne, R. 283
St. Michael Royal, R. 174
St. Michael's, 321
St. Michaels near St. Albarbs, 163
St. Michaels Cornhill, R. 181
Item, 474
St. Michaels in Oxford, R. 51
Michaelftone upon Ely, R. 231
Michelmerch, R. 311
Michelftone-Vedoe, R. 283
Mickleham, R. 810
Middleham-Bifhops, V. 199
Middleton, R. 740
Middleton, 166
Middleton on the Woulds, 303
Middleton-Cheyney, R. 102
Middleton in Tendale, R. 21
Middenhall, R. 201
Middefhall, V. 191
St. Midhred Bread-ftreet, 164
St. Midhred Poultry, R. 172
Mile End near Colchefter, 236
Millefh-m, 277
Milton, 208
Milton, V. 279
Mimes North, V. 219
Minchin Hampton, R. 312
Minchead, V. 289
Minhinnoer, R. 268
Mindread, R. 293
Minnerne Magna, R. 391
Minnet, 679
Miffey, 278
Mobberley, R. 397
Item, 1
Mockas, R. 278
Modbury, V. 191
Modbon Weft, R. 216
Mongham Parva, R. 805
Monk-Soham, R. 247
Monmouth, V. 274
Monnington, 339
Monnford, 169
Monroe, 267
Moreheath, V. 314
Morefchat, R. 215
Morton-Corbet, R. 279
Morlaye, 407
Morleigh, R. 292
Morpeth, R. 331
Morpit, 278
Morthry, 418
Morvil, R. 8
Mofligrove, 114
Mofton, R. 77
Mouch-Lonongee, 311
Moulice, R. 310
Moulton, V. 210
Mounidley, 181
Mount Nezing, V. 171
Mount Sion near Tyrrels crofs, V. 1616.
Mowell, R. 160
Oleth, 218
Olgathorp, 422
Olgrove, V. 309
Olwelly, V. 404
Ontenon, R. 286
Onon Beckamp, R. 199
Over, V. 240
Orindean, P. 272
Orwath, R. 219

N.

NAmpwich, R. 317
Nanguenhle, V. 278
Narberth and Robeftion, R. 252
Narbonow, R. 203
Nath, R. 241
Nath Gouldiffe- Widfton, V. 244
Naffington, V. 400
Neath-Town, R. 381
Nelfon, R. 366
St. Neot, V. 367
Nedeld-Verdun, R. 282
Newborn, V. 272
Newcaftle, V. 184
Newcaftle School, 420
New-Church, R. 240
New-Church, R. 322
Newingnon-Lefture, 273
Newington-Butts, R. 271
Newington and Hallfene, V. 231
Newington Stoak, R. 371
Newland, V. 261
Newlyn, V. 801
Newnoo, R. 280
Newnon, 302
Newnon-Ferris, R. 212
Item, 236
Newnon-Maiden, R. 232
Newnon-Nottage, R. 213
Item, 1616.
Newnon-Tony, R. 84
Newnon-Tracy, R. 281
St. Nicholas, R. 26
St. Nicholas Hofpital, 1
St. Nicholas Acon, R. 184
St. Nicholas, V. in Briftol, 4
St. Nicholas Cole-Abby, R. 166
St. Nicholas Lecture in Newcaftle, 471
St. Nicholas Olaves, R. 161
St. Nicholas on Standard, 221
Nicholaftun, 276
Ninehead, V. 331
St. Ninians, R. 253
Ninifton, 166
Nonbourn, V. 203
Norbury, V. 230
Normanton, V. 873
Northall, V. 33
Northfolk, R. 236
Norton, 321
Norton, 389
Norton near Briftol, 381
Norton Fitzwarren, R. 235
Norgrove, R. 224
Notley-Black, R. 330
Nowton, R. 211
Nuneton, R. 312
Nuthanft, R. 13

O.

OCold, R. 247
Ockley, R. 217
Odington, V. 308
Odcombe, R. 76
Oddington, R. 83
Oddington, V. 382
Odham, V. 274
Offley-High, V. 265
Offwell, R. 260
Okeford, R. 473
Okeham, V. 404
Okehampton, V. 28
Okhampton-Monk, 417
Okington, V. 317
Okindon-South, R. 211
Okerton, R. 297
St. Olaves in Exon, R. 293
St. Olaves Hart-ftreet, R. 171
St. Olaves Jewry, R. 278
St. Olaves Silver-ftreet, R. 164
St. Olaves Southwark, R. 6
Olvas-ton, 3
Olvefton, V. 116
Ongar High, 178
Orchefton, R. 384
Orchin-Priary, R. 166
Orfet, R. 317
Orton Coe, R. 117
Orton Super monem cum Tyrrels crofs, V. 1616.
Orwell, R. 160
Oteth, 218
Otgathorp, 422
Otgrove, V. 309
Otwelly, V. 404
Otterton, R. 286
Otton Belchamp, R. 199
Over, V. 240
Orindean, P. 272
Orwath, R. 219

P.

PAckington, V. 310
Packington, 407
Paddlow, V. 305
Painfwick, V. 182
Item, 186
Painton, V. 240
Palgrave, R. 278
St. Pancras in Exon, 264
St. Pancras Soper-Lane, R. 168
Panfield, R. 282
Item, 288
Pantegy, V. 388
Paradon-Much, R. 310
Parney, R. 48
St. Paulan Bedford, P. 389
St. Pauls Covent-Garden, 417
St. Pauls in Exon, 417
Pauls Perry, R. 282
Pauls-Pury, R. 148
St. Peare, 288
Pebmarch, R. 296
Pedinghow, V. 372
Peedbury, R. 372
Pehrenbury, P. 422
Pelton, R. 318
Pelham-Furneux, 302
Pembrey, V. 288
Pembridge, R. 338
Penally, V. 297
Penarth and Lavernock, V. 237
Penbryn, V. 287
Penchawdd, 332
Pendark and Lapenog, 1616.
Pendergeft, R. 219
Penderin, R. 400
Pendilney, V. 317
Pendylon, V. 210
Penegoffe, R. 230
Penhow, R. 240
Penllyn, 246
Penmark, V. 1616.
Pennorra, R. 317
Pennans, R. 288
Penreth, V. 262
Penrith, R. 318
Penros, 322
Perfede, 1616.

Penfe-

Digitized by Google

Praghill, R.
Poulshot, R.
Poulstead, R.
Poulton, .
Powderham, R.
Powell, R.
Pres, P.
Preston St Mary's,
Prestwich, R.
Item,
St Price and Offenhill, .
Probus, V.
Puddimore, R.
Pulborough, R.
Pulborow, R.
Purleigh, R.
Pyecombe R.
Pyle and Cumfgg, .
Tyrton, V.
Pyworthy, R.

Q.

Quarrockhead Vell, R.
Quaneborough, V.
Quinton, R.

R.

Ackheath, R.
Radnor-New, R.
Radnor-Old, V.
Radwinter, R.
Radyr, R
Ragland, V.
Ramsey, .
Ranworth, V.
Ratherby, R.
Rattery, V.
Rawreth, R.
Rayne, R
Reasby, R.
Redbourn, V
Reed, R.

Samfield, .
Samford Peverel, R.
Sandal Magna, V.
Sandiron, R
Sandford, V.
Sandon, R.
Sandy, R.
Sannia, .
Sannon,
Saperton, R.
Savoy Mefterfhip,
Savoy Lecture,
Sawtree-Maynes, R.
Saxom, R.
Scarborough, R
Scarle North, R.
Scarter, .
Scartue, V.
Scargave, R.
Scakford,
Scalgheld, R.
Scfton, R
Selbourn, P.
Selby, .
Selworthy, R.
St Sepulchers London, Lecture,
St. Sepulchers in Norwich, .
Selworthy, R.
Setterington, R.
Seven-Oak, R
Shakerston, V.
Shaw, .
Shawbury, V.
Shebbear, V.
Sheffield, V
Item,
Shefford Magna, .
Shemfield, R.
Shenly, R.
Shepton Beauchamp, R.
Shepton-Mallet, R.
Shepton Montague,
Sherbourn, V.
Sherborn, .
Shereneg, R
Sherington, P.

Stanton-Scorey, R
Stanton upon Wye, R.
Stanwell, V.
Staple, R.
Staplefond-Tawney, R.
Staplegrove, R.
Staplehurft, R.
Staring, .
Starston, R.
Staverton, V.
Staunton, V.
Staunton, R.
Staunton-Lacy, .
Staunton Quinton, R
Staunton-White, R.
Steel Langford,
Steeple-Afton, R.
Item,
Steeple-Langford, R.
St. Stephens in Branwell, .
St. Stephens in Faon, R.
St. Stephens Walbrook, R.
Stepney, V
Steyerton, V.
Stifted, R
Stoak Epifcopi, R.
Stoak-Long, .
Stock, R.
Stockley-Pomery, R.
Stockleigh-Oterley, R.
Stocktre, .
Stoddesden, V.
Stoke, R
Stoke, .
Stoke Beauchamp, .
Stoke Brewen, R. 142. Marg. Note.
Stoke Canon,
Stoke-Charity, R.
Stoke-Climsland, R.
Stoke-Damarel, .
Stoke-Edith, R.
Stoke-Fleming, R
Stoke-Gurfity, V
Smkerintinhead, R.
Smkenham, V
Stokefley, R

Talland, .
Tallaton, R.
Tarrant-Hinton, R
Tarborough, R.
Tarenal, R.
Tedbourn St Mary, R.
Teingrafe, .
The Temple, .
Temple,
Tenbeigh, R.
Terington St. Clements, R.
Terington St. Johns, V.
Tewing, R.
Tewkabury, .
Thelbridge, R.
Thelnorham, R.
Therfield, R.
St Thomas, .
St. Thomas the Apoftle, R.
St. Thomas in Llandfordweft, R.
St. Thomas in Salisbury .
St. Thomas Southwark, Hofp. &c.
St. Thomas Southwark,
Thorington, .
Thotly, R.
Thornhaugh, R.
Thornhill, .
Thornton, R.
Thornton, V.
Thorp, V.
Thorp, V.
Thorpe, R.
Thorpton, .
Thorverton, V.
Theydon-Garnon, R.
Theydon-Mount, R.
Thrup, V.
Thurlton, R.
Thurlftone, R.
Thurlow-Great, V.
Thurnfcoe, .
Thwaite, R
Tibberton, R.
Ticehurft, V.
Tidcombe Portion of Tiverton, R.

Tighl

Tr[illegible] R. 184
Tilbrook, R. 187
Tinsbar, R. 230
Tingmouth Weſt, 411
Tinmouth, V. 272
Tintagel, V. 313
Tintern, 310
Tiverhaiel, R. 298
Toddenham, R. 230
Tofts, R. 230
Tollerry, R. 301
Tolsbury, V. 232
Tonfield cum Scrridton, V. 330
Topham, 203
Torpenhow, V. 340
Torrington-Great, 329
Tortsworth, 216
Tothery, R. 414
Totham-Moch, V. 296
Tower, V. 282
Towerton, V. 400
Teddington, 81
Treslynnock, R. 237
Trefew, 331
Treffgary, R. 410
Trefcien, 310
Tregarran, V. 247
Treleg-Grange & Llangoren, 380
Tremley St. Martin's, 208
Tremly St. Mary's, R. 244
Trenglois and Warbethow, V. 371
Trent, R. 111
Tregillas, 315
Trevethin, 380
Trim, R. 265
H. Trinity in Colcheſter, R. 318
H. Trinity in Kaon, R. 30
Item, 413
H. Trinity Gotheram-Gate in York, R. 36
H. Trinity the Leſs, 171
Tugar, 324
Truron, R. 208
Trulham, R. 265
Try Little, R. 291
Tudely, V. 399
Tuely Weſt, V. 264
Tunbridge, V. 281
Tunſtall, R. 231
Tunſtal, R. 256
Turcton and Akely, 326
Twickenham, V. 92
Tyringham, R. 81

V.

VAgove, R. 311
St. Ude, 240
St. Vedaſtus Foſter-Lane, R. 164
Ufculm, V. 327
Uffington, R. 269
Item, 367
Uphall, R. 324
Upcomb, R. 267
Undy, V. 343
Upavey, V. 397
Urban, R. 401
Uppingham, R. 381
Urſborne, R. 419
Upminſter, R. 387
Upton, 247
Upton-Bishop, V. 373
Upton-Lovell, R. 276
Upton-Pyne, R. 262
Upton upon Severne, 408
Upwaltham, R. 262
Usk, V. 270

W.

WAdwell, R. 407
Wakefield, V. 300
Waldingfield Magna, R. 208
Waigrave, R. 402
Waltrare, R. 216
Walſingford, 420
Wallington, R. 101
Wallingworth cum Southold, 183
Walloy-Over, R. 76
Walsingham, R. 22
Walsham, 77
Walton, R. 220
Item, 455
Walton, V. 237
Walton on the Woulds, R. 203
Wambrook, R. 217
Wanſted, R. 381
Wanſton, 76
Wanſtow, R. 309
Wapenham, R. 402
Wapingbury and Weſton, V. 607
Warbington, 314
Wardle cum Belton, R. 184
Ware, V. 219
Warcham, 318
Warkeleigh and Satterleigh, R. 314
Warkworth, V. 272
Warley, R. 203
Warmington, R. 402
Warnborough-South, R. 90
Warnford, R. 221
Warpelden, R. 9
Warley, V. 81
Item, 319
Wafeing, R. 300
Wathington, 48
Watton, R. 310
Watton, 282
Wearemouth Biſhops, R. 317
Wedmore, V. 403
Wedon-Pinkney, V. 256
Week, 382
Well-bourn, V. 300
Wellbourn, R. 109
Wellbourn V. 382
Wellenborough, V. 281
Welsbourn, R. 211
Wetham Great, R. 371
Wendlow, R. 302
Wendover, V. 266
Wenham Parva, R. 37
Wenſaſton, V. 183
Wethuy (Firſt Portion) R. 347
Weſt Farly, V. 343
Weſtfield, R. 294
Weſtbrop, R. 371
Weſt-Meon, 208
Weſt Merica, V. 267
Weſtmeſton, R. 210
Weſtmill, R. 51
Weſton, R. 216
Weſton, V. 308
Weſton upon Avon, R. 200
Weſton Longville, R. 205
Weſton under Penyard, V. 36
Weſton Zoyland, 74
Weſtwick, 293
Weſtrow, R. 226
Wetheringſet cum Brockford, R. 406
Wetherſfield, 314
Whaddon, R. 172
Whatfield and Elmſett, R. 225
Whalton, R. 363
Whatton Long, 161
Whatatere-All Saints, R. 401
Whatatere St. Peter's, R. 404
Wheatfead, R. 216
Whetwell, R. 310
Whethamſtead, R. 91
Whilbrom, R. 363
Whickham, R. 195
Whimple, R. 24
Item, 472
Whitborn, R. 36
Whitbourn, R. 68
Whitchurch, R. 241
Whitchurch, V. 410
Whitchurch Canonicorum, V. 283
Whitcombe, R. 389
White-Roading, 283
Whit-Lady Aſton, 311
Whitton, R. 332
Whiteing, R. 412
Whitton, R. 349
Whitſbone, R. 192
Whitton, R. 410
Whitton cum Thurlſtone, R. 217
Wichling, R. 220. See the Errata.
Wicken, 249
Wickford, R. 319
Wickham, V. 316
Wickhambreaux, R. 366
Wickhing, R. 399
Widdington near Newport, R. 317
Widmore Pool, R. 316
Wigſton's Hoſpital Maſterſhip, 82
Wilbie, R. 208
Wilbraham Parva, R. 103
Wilcock, R. 401
Wiley, R. 64
Wilian, V. 339
Willesborough, V. 292
Willingdale-Doe, R. 303
Willoughby, V. 211
Wilton, R. 331
Wimy le, R. 191
Winchefter-School, 421
Winchcombe, V. 265
Item, 397
Winford, R. 403
Winhal, R. 332
St. Winnell's, V. 218
St. Winnow, V. 201
Winſtanflow, R. 183
Winſtan, V. 403
Winterbourn-Gunner, R. 116
Wisbech St. Peter's and St. Mary's in the Iſle of Ely, V. 240
Wiſbich, V. in the Iſle of Ely, 291
Wiſford Great, R. 211
Wiſlow, R. 202
Wirham, V. 307
Wiſham-South, 244
Whitecomb in the Moor, 413
Witherby, R. 296
Withiel, R. 241
Item, 392
Witteham, R. in the Iſle of Canvey 378
Witton, R. 347
Wolfardiſworthy, R. 262
Wolverhampton, 299
Woberby, V. 210
Wolves Newton, R. 270
Woodborough, R. 218
Woodbury, R. 216
Woodchetter, 204
Woodchurch, R. 191
Wondchurch, R. 203
Woodford and V. Wilford, V. 217
Woodham Eaſt, 77
Woodham Ferris, R. 218
Woodhouſe, V. 273
Woodley, R. 240
Wooler, V. 266
Wool, V. R. 183
Woolavington, V. 113
Woolen, 401
Woolpit, 405
Woollavington Bowton and Roſe-garth, 410
Woollaſtonton, V. 371
Woulton, 208
Wooton-Nareh, V. 401
Wooton, R. 15
Wooton, R. 312
Worcheſter, R. 168
Worthing, R. 186
Worthington, R. 218
Wroxton, R. 45
Wooton-Courtney, R. 74
Wooton-Rivers, R. 407
Wreſtle, V. 185
Wrexhin, V. 225
Wrington, 245
Wyke-Regis, R. 195

Y.

YAtcombe, V. 216
Item, 217
Yarlington, 207
Yarmouth, R. 295
Yaxley, V. 319
Yealing, V. 222
Yelverton, R. 92
Yelvertoft, R. 271
Yeoville, V. 169
Yeovilton, R. 146
Yermouſter, R. 298
Yiarſbefton, V. 417
Yorreland, 147
Yoxal, R. 225
Yoxford, R. 238
Ychordi-Mayne, 4
Yſtrad, 41
Yſtradgiſlain, L. 385
Yſtrad Vely, 409

FINIS.

Digitized by Google

Y.

Yarmouth, P. Com.
Yelverton,
Yeomans,
Yeates, P.
Yeoking, P.
Yelverton, S.
Yeomans, S.
Yelverton, S.
Yarborough,
Yeomans, S.
Yeomans, S.
Yeomans, S.

XXXX XXXX XII.30

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google